ſo ſupernaturall and diuine In is ſilfe, and withall ſo lowe and baſe for our ſakes, by the ſhewe of the formes of theſe terrene elements vnder which it is, and we eate it: that the vnfaithfull and infirme doe ſo ſtumble at Chriſt in the Sacrament, as the Iewes and Gentiles did at Chriſt in his humanitie. For, the cauſes of contradictions of the Incarnation and Tranſubſtantiation be like. And it may be verily deemed, that whoſoeuer nowe cannot beleeue the Sacrament to be Chriſt, becauſe it is vnder the formes of bread and wine, and is eaten and drunken, woulde not then haue beleeued that Chriſt had beene God, becauſe he was in ſhape of man, and crucified. To conclude, it was not a figure nor a myſterie of bare bread and wine, nor any Metaphoricall or Allegoricall ſpeache, that coulde make ſuch a troupe of his Diſciples reuolt at once. When he ſaide he was a doore, a vine, a way, a Paſtor, and ſuch like (vnto which kinde of ſpeaches the Proteſtants ridiculouſly reſemble the wordes of the holy Sacrament) who was ſo mad to miſtake him, or to forſake him for the ſame? For the Apoſtles at the leaſt would haue plucked them by the ſleeues, and ſaid, Goe we away my maſters, he ſpeaketh parables. The cauſe therefore was their incredulitie, and the height of the myſterie, for that they neither knewe the meanes howe it might be preſent, nor would beleeue that he was able to giue his fleſh to be eaten in many places. And euen ſuch is the vnbeleefe of the Heretikes about this matter as this day.

wine: as the Iewes beleeued not his Godhead becauſe of the ſhape of a poore man.

The diſciples reuolting at Chriſts words, proue that he ſpake not metaphorically, as at other times.

Fulke. 15 In the 13. ſection, you confeſſe the wordes of Chriſt to be figuratiue: now forgetting your ſelfe, you ſay the Diſciples reuoking, proueth that he ſpake not metaphorically, vpon a fond imagination, that his Apoſtles would haue plucked them by the ſleeues &c. which we neuer reade ẏ they did at any time. But in deede the cauſe of their reuolt, was for that they vnderſtood literally, that which he ſpake of eating and drinking figuratiuely. Which is one cauſe alſo, that the Papiſtes long ſince haue reuolted from the Church of Chriſt, and the faith of the auncient fathers, who vnderſtood the wordes of the inſtitution of the Supper, as theſe alſo of the ſpirituall or heauenly matter of the Supper, to be figuratiue. For if Chriſt had ſpoken here of eating and drinking literally, (as the elements are receiued in the Sacrament,) how was it poſſible that they could haue vnderſtonde him, before the Sacrament was inſtituted? for their infidelitie had then bene excuſable. But when he had ſaid verſ. 47. he that beleeueth in me, hath eternall life, they might (if they had not beene obſtinate) haue vnderſtood, that the maner of eating and drinking of his fleſh and blood to haue eternall life, was by faith and beleeuing in him: and not after any groſſe maner, as they imagined, and the Papiſtes likewiſe: whereby they deſtroy the trueth of his naturall body, in taking from it the eſſentiall properties of a body, as quantitie, place, ſhape, and ſuch like.

The wordes of Chriſt figuratiue.

Rhem. 16 68. Peter anſwered.) *Peter anſwereth for the Twelue, not knowing that Iudas in hart was already naught, and beleeued not Chriſtes former wordes touching the B. ſacrament, but was to reuolt afterward as well as the other. * Wherein Peter beareth the perſon of the Church and all Catholikemen, that for no difficultie of his worde, nor for any reuolt (be it neuer ſo generall) of ſchiſmatikes, Heretikes, or Apoſtates, either for this ſacrament or any other Article, will euer forſake Chriſt. And when company draweth vs to reuolt, let vs ſay thus: Lord, whither or to whom ſhal we goe, when we haue forſaken thee? to Caluin, Luther, or ſuch: and forſake thee and thy Church with the vnfaithfull multitude? No, thou haſt the words of life, and we beleeue thee, and thy Church will not nor cannot beguile vs.* Thou haſt (ſayth S. Auguſtine) life Tract. 27. in Ioan. euerlaſting in the miniſtration of thy body and blood. and a litle after. Thou art life euerlaſting it ſelfe, and thou giueſt not in thy fleſh and blood but that which thy ſelfe art.

As Iudas of all vnbeleeuing heretikes, ſo Peter beareth the perſon of all beleeuing Catholikes: namely in the B. Sacrament. Cypr. ep. 55. ma. 3.*

Fulke. 16 Peter worthely beareth the perſon of all true members of the Church, when for no cauſe he wil reuolt from Chriſt, who only hathẏ wordes of eternall life, from which if Caluin, Luther, or an Angel from heauen would drawe vs, we muſt hold him accurſed. To the ſaying of Auguſtine Tr. 27. in Ioan. we muſt adde that which he ſayth in the ſame place, as the concluſion of the whole matter. Hoc ergo totum ad hoc &c. Let all this (we beſeech) auaile thus much vnto vs, that we eate not the fleſh of Chriſt, & drinke the blood of Chriſt only in ſacrament, which many euill men doe, but let vs eate and drinke vnto the participation of the ſpirite, that wee may abide in the Lordes body as members, that we may be quickened by his ſpirite, and not be offended, although many doe eate and drinke the ſacraments temporally, which in the ende ſhall haue eternall tormentes.

The wicked eate not the body of Chriſt nor drinke his blood.

CHAP. VII.

The Iewes (of Ieruſalem) ſeeking his death, he walketh in Galilee: where he ſignifieth to his brethren, that not in this feaſt Scenopégia, but in an other (to wit, Paſche following) the Iewes ſhould kill him: that is, not when they would, but when he will. 10 In ſo much that at this feaſt he teacheth openly in the Temple, and conuerteth many, 14 both in the middle day 37 and the laſt day thereof, without any hurt, though alſo the Rulers ſend to apprehend him.

The Goſpel vpon Tueſday in Paſſion weeke.

AFter theſe things IESVS walked ‖ into Galilee, for he would not walke ‖ into Iewrie: becauſe ẏ Iewes ſought to kill him.

‖ in Galilee. ‖ in Iurie.

2 And the feſtiuall day of the Iewes, * ‡ Scenopégia, was at hand.

Leu. 23. 34. ‡ Scenopégia (Leuit. 23. eſtque feſtum ſuprà) is the feaſt of Tabernacles, which ẏ Iewes kepte from the 7. Octob. for eight dayes together, by Gods commandement, for a memorie that their fathers dwelt by Gods protection fourtie yeeres in tabernacles or tentes, and not comming out of Egypt. See Leuit. 23. 34.

3 And his brethren ſaide to him, Paſſe from hence, and goe into Iewrie: that thy Diſciples alſo may ſee thy workes which thou doeſt.

4 For no man doeth any thing in ſecrete, and ſeeketh him ſelfe to be in publike. If thou do theſe things, manifeſt thy ſelfe to ẏ world.

5 For neither did his brethren beleeue in him.

6 IESVS therfore ſaith to thẽ, My time is

AFter theſe thinges, Ieſus went about in Galilee: for he woulde not goe about in Iurie, becauſe that the Iewes ſought to kill him.

*2 The Iewes feaſt of tabernacles * was at hand.* Leui. 23. 34.

3 His brethren therefore ſaide vnto him, Get thee hence, and goe into Iurie, that thy Diſciples alſo may ſee the workes that thou doeſt.

4 For there is no man that doeth any thing in ſecrete, and he him ſelfe ſeeketh to be knowen openly: If thou doe ſuch things, ſhewe thy ſelfe to the world.

5 For neither his brethren beleeued in him.

6 Then Ieſus ſaid vnto them, My time is not not yet come: but your time is alwaies ready.

7 The worlde cannot hate you. but me it hateth: becauſe I giue teſtimonie of it, that the workes thereof are euill.

*I will not yet goe vp.

8 Goe you vp to this feſtiuall day: *I goe not vp to this feſtiuall day: becauſe my time is not yet accompliſhed.

9 When he had ſaid theſe thinges, him ſelfe taried in Galilee.

10 But after his brethren were gone vp, then he alſo went vp to the feſtiuall day, not openly, but as it were in ſecrete.

11 The Iewes therefore ſought him in the feſtiuall day, and ſaid, Where is he?

12 And there was much murmuring in the multitude of him. For certaine ſaid, That he is good. And others ſaid, No, but he ſeduceth the multitudes.

13 Yet no man ſpake openly of him for feare of the Iewes.

The Goſpel vpon Tueſday in the 4. weeke of Lent.

14 And when the feſtiuitie was nowe halfe done, IESVS went vp into the temple, and taught.

15 And ỹ Iewes marueiled, ſaying, Howe doth this man know letters, whereas he hath not learned?

16 IESVS anſwered them, and ſaide, My doctrine is not mine, but his that ſent me.

Io. 5, 18.

20 *Why ſeeke you to kill me? The multitude anſwered, and ſaid, ‡Thou haſt a deuil, who ſeeketh to kill thee?

21 IESVS anſwered, & ſaid to them, One worke I haue done: and you doe al marueile.

24 Iudge not according to the face, but iudge iuſt iudgement.

25 Certaine therefore of Hieruſalē ſaide, Is not this he whom they ſeeke to kill?

7 The worlde can not hate you, but me it hateth, becauſe I teſtifie of it, that the workes thereof are euill.

*8 Goe ye vp vnto this feaſt: I goe not vp yet vnto this feaſt, * for my time is not yet full come.* Iohn 8. 20.

9 When he had ſaid theſe wordes vnto them, he abode ſtill in Galilee.

10 But when his brethren were gone vp, then went he alſo vp vnto the feaſt, not openly, but as it were priuily.

11 Then ſought him the Iewes at the feaſt, and ſaid, Where is he?

12 And much murmuring of him was there among the people: For ſome ſaide, He is good: Other ſaide, Nay: but he deceiueth the people.

14 Nowe when halfe of the feaſt was done, Ieſus went vp into the temple, and taught.

15 And the Iewes marueiled, ſaying, Howe knoweth he the ſcriptures, ſeeing that he neuer learned?

16 Ieſus anſwered them, and ſaide, My doctrine is not mine, but his that ſent me.

17 If any man will doe his will, he ſhall knowe of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I ſpeake of my ſelfe.

18 He that ſpeaketh of him ſelfe, ſeeketh his owne glorie: but he that ſeeketh his glorie that ſent him, the ſame is true, and no vnrighteouſnes is in him.

*19 * Did not Moſes giue you the lawe, and yet none of you keepeth the lawe? * Why goe ye about to kill me?* Exo. 24. 3. Iohn 5. 18.

21 Ieſus anſwered, & ſaid vnto them, I haue done one worke, and ye all marueile.

*22 * Moſes therefore gaue vnto you the circunciſion (not becauſe it is of Moſes, * but of the fathers) and yet ye on the Sabboth day circumciſe a man.* Leuit. 12. 3. Gen. 17. 10.

21 Then ſaide Ieſus againe vnto them, I goe my way, and yee ſhall ſeeke mee, and ſhall die in your ſinnes: Whither I goe, thither can yee not come.

22 Then ſaid the Iewes, Will he kill himſelfe, becauſe he ſaith, Whither I goe, thither can ye not come?

23 And he ſaide vnto them, Ye are from beneath, I am from aboue: ye are of this world, I am not of this world.

24 I ſaide therefore vnto you, that ye ſhall die in your ſinnes. For if ye beleeue not that I am he, ye ſhall die in your ſinnes.

25 Then ſaide they vnto him, Who art thou? And Ieſus ſaith vnto them, Euen the very ſame

26 Many things I haue to ſpeake & iudge of you. but he that ſent me, is true: and what I haue heard of him, theſe things I ſpeake in the world.

27 And they knewe not that he ſaid to them that his father was God.

28 IESVS therefore ſaid to them, When you ſhal haue exalted the ſonne of man, then you ſhal know that I am he, and of my ſelfe I doe nothing, but as the Father hath taught me, theſe things I ſpeake:

29 And he that ſent me, is with me: and he hath not left me alone, becauſe the things that pleaſe him I doe alwaies.

30 When he ſpake theſe things, many beleeued in him.

31 IESVS therfore ſaid to them that beleeued him, the Iewes: If you ‡ abide in my word, you ſhal be my diſciples in deede.

32 And you ſhal know the truth, and the truth ſhal make you free.

33 They anſwered him, We are the ſeed of Abraham, and we neuer ſerued any man: how ſaieſt thou, You ſhal be free?

34 IESVS anſwered them, ‖ Amen, amen I ſay to you, that *euery one which committeth ſinne, is the ſeruant of ſinne. Ro.6,16. 2.Pet.2,19.

35 And the ſeruant abideth not in the houſe for euer: the ſonne abideth for euer.

37 I know that you are the children of Abraham: but you ſeeke to kill me, becauſe my worde taketh not in you.

38 I ſpeake that which I haue ſeen with my father: and you doe the things that you haue ſeen with your father.

39 They anſwered, and ſaid to him, Our father is Abraham. IESVS ſaith to them, If you be the children of Abraham, ‡ doe the workes of Abraham.

40 But now, you ſeeke to kill me, a man that haue ſpoken the truth to you, which I haue heard of God. this did not Abraham.

41 You doe ỹ works of your father. They ſaid therfore to him, We were not borne of fornication. we haue one father, God.

42 IESVS therfore ſaid to them, If God were your father: verely you would loue me. for from God I proceded, and came: for I came not of my ſelf, but he ſent me:

43 Why doe you not know my ſpeach? Becauſe you can not heare my word.

44 You are of your father the Diuel, and the deſires of your father you wil doe. he was a ‡ man-

26 I haue many things to ſay, and to iudge of you: Yea, and he that ſent me is true, and I ſpeake to the worlde thoſe things which I haue heard of him.

27 Howbeit, they vnderſtoode not that hee ſpake to them of his father.

28 Then ſaid Ieſus vnto them, When ye haue liſt vp on high the Sonne of man, then ſhall ye knowe that I am he, and that I doe nothing of my ſelfe: but as my Father hath taught me, euen ſo I ſpeake theſe things.

29 And he that ſent me, is with me: the Father hath not left mee alone: for I doe alwayes thoſe things that pleaſe him.

30 As he ſpake thoſe wordes, many beleeued on him.

31 Then ſaid Ieſus to thoſe Iewes which beleeued on him, If ye continue in my word, then are ye my very diſciples.

32 And yee ſhall knowe the trueth, and the trueth ſhall make you free.

33 They anſwered him, Wee be Abrahams ſeed, and were neuer bond to any man: how ſaieſt thou then, Ye ſhalbe made free?

*34 Ieſus anſwered them, Verily, verily I ſay vnto you, * That whoſoeuer committeth ſinne, is the ſeruant of ſinne.* Rom.6.20. 2.pet.2.19.

35 And the ſeruant abideth not in the houſe for euer: but the Sonne abideth for euer.

36 If the Sonne therefore ſhall make you free, then ye ſhalbe free in deede.

37 I knowe that ye are Abrahams ſeede, but ye ſeeke meanes to kill me becauſe my word hath no place in you.

38 I ſpeake that which I haue ſeene with my Father: and ye doe that which ye haue ſeene with your Father.

39 They anſwered, and ſaid vnto him, Abraham is our Father. Ieſus ſaith vnto them, If ye were Abrahams children, ye would do the works of Abraham.

40 But now ye goe about to kill me, a man that hath tolde you the trueth, which I haue heard of God: this did not Abraham.

41 Ye do the deedes of your father. Then ſaid they to him, Wee be not borne of fornication, we haue one Father, euen God.

42 Ieſus ſaid vnto them, If God were your father, truely ye would loue mee, for I proceeded foorth, and came from God: neither came I of my ſelfe, but he ſent me.

43 Why doe ye not know my ſpeach? euen becauſe ye can not heare my word.

CHAP. IX.

To shew that by his Baptisme (being the Sacrament of illumination or faith) he will take away the blindnes of the world, he giueth with strange ceremonies sight to one borne blinde. 8 By which wonderful miracle (the attestation of the partie him selfe and of his parents concurring) first the neighbours, then also the Pharisees them selues are plainely confounded. Yet so obstinate they are, that because it was the Sabbath when he wrought it, they inferre that he is not of God: yea and throw out of their Synagogue the partie for confessing him. 35 But our Lord receiueth him: 39 and foretelleth by this occasion, the execution of the Iewes (because of their wilful obstinacie) and illumination of the Gentiles who confesse their owne blindnes.

The Gospel vpō wenesday in the 4. weeke of Lent.

AND IESVS passing by, saw a man blinde from his natiuitie:

2 And his disciples asked him, Rabbi, who hath sinned, this man, or his parents, that he should be borne blinde?

‡ Though many infirmities fall for sinne, yet not all, some comming for probation, and some sent that God by ¶ cure thereof may be glorified.

3 IESVS answered, ‡ Neither hath this man sinned, nor his parents: but that the works of God may be manifested in him.

4 I must worke the workes of him that sent me, whiles it is day. The night cōmeth, ‡ when no man can worke.

5 As long as I am in the world, I am the light of the world.

6 When he had said these things, he spit on the ground, and made clay of the spettle, and spred the clay vpon his eies, c This was a figure of Baptisme, to which al men borne in sinne & blindnes are sent for health and sight. Ambr. li. 3. c. 1. de Sacramentis.

7 And said to him. Goe, c wash in ỹ poole of Siloć, which is interpreted, Sent. He went therefore, and washed: and he came seeing.

8 Therefore the neighbours, and they which had seen him before, that he was a begger, said, Is not this he that sate, and begged? Others said, That this is he.

9 But others, No, not so, but he is like him. But he said, That I am he.

10 They said therefore to him, How were thine eies opened?

11 He answered, That man that is called IESVS, made clay: and anointed mine eies, and said to me, Goe to the poole of Siloé, & wash. And I went, and washed, and saw.

12 And they said to him, Where is he? He said, I know not.

13 They

AND as Iesus passed by, he sawe a man which was blind from his birth.

2 And his disciples asked him, saying, Master, who did sinne, this man or his parents, that he was borne blinde?

3 Iesus answered, Neither hath this man sinned, nor yet his parents: but that the workes of God should be made manifest in him.

4 I must worke the workes of him that sent me, while it is day: The night commeth, when no man can worke.

*5 As long as I am in the worlde, * I am the light of the world.* Ioh. 1. 9. & 8. 12. & 12. 35.

6 When he had thus spoken, he spat on the ground, and made clay of the spittell, and he anointed the clay vpon the eyes of the blinde,

7 And said vnto him, Goe wash thee in the poole of Siloe (which by interpretation is as much to say, as Sent.) He went his way therefore, and washed, and came againe seeing.

8 The neighbours therefore, and they that had seene him before when he was blinde, said, Is not this he that sate and begged?

9 Some said, This is he: Other said, He is like him. He himselfe said, I am euen he.

10 Therefore said they vnto him, How were thine eies opened?

11 He answered, and said, The mā that is called Iesus, made clay, and anointed mine eies, and said vnto me, Goe to the poole Siloe, and wash: and when I went and washed, I receiued my sight.

12 Then said they vnto him, Where is he? He said, I can not tell.

31 They

13 They bring him that had been blinde to the Phariſees.

14 And it was the Sabboth when IESVS made the clay, and opened his eies.

15 Againe therfore the Phariſees asked him, how he ſaw. But he ſaid to them, He put clay vpon mine eies, and I waſhed: and I ſee.

16 Certaine therfore of ỹ Phariſees ſaid, This man is not of God, that keepeth not the Sabboth. But others ſaid, How can a man that is a ſinner doe theſe ſignes? And there was a ſchiſme among them.

17 They ſay therfore to the blind againe, Thou, what ſaieſt thou of him that opened thine eies? And he ſaid, That he is a Prophet.

18 The Iewes therefore did not beleeue of him, that he had been blinde and ſaw: vntil they called the parents of him that ſaw, 19 And asked them, ſaying, Is this your ſonne, whom you ſay that he was borne blinde: how then doeth he now ſee?

20 His parents anſwered them, and ſaid, We know that this is our ſonne, and that he was borne blinde:

21 But how he now ſeeth, we know not, or who hath opened his eies, we know not, aske him ſelf: he is of age, let him ſelf ſpeake of him ſelf.

22 Theſe things his parents ſaid, becauſe they feared the Iewes. for the Iewes had now conſpired, that if any man ſhould confeſſe him to be CHRIST, he ſhould be ‖ put out of the Synagogue.

23 Therefore did his parents ſay, That he is of age, aske him ſelf.

24 They therefore againe called the man that had been blinde, and ſaid to him, ‡ Giue glorie to God. we know that this man is a ſinner.

25 He therefore ſaid to them, whether he be a ſinner, I know not: one thing I knowe, that wheras I was blinde, now I ſee.

26 They ſaid therfore to him, What did he to thee? how did he open thine eies?

27 He anſwered them, I haue now told you, and you haue heard: why wil you heare it againe? wil you alſo become his diſciples?

28 They reuiled him therefore and ſaid, Be thou his diſciple: but we are the diſciples of Moyſes.

29 We know that to Moyſes God did ſpeake: but this man we know not whence he is.

30 The man anſwered and ſaid to them, For in this it is marueilous that ỹ know not whence he is, and he hath opened mine eies.

31 And

13 They brought to the Phariſees him, that a litle before was blinde.

14 And it was the Sabboth day when Ieſus made the clay, and opened his eies.

15 Then againe the Phariſees alſo asked him how he had receiued his ſight. He ſaid vnto them, He put clay vpon mine eyes, and I waſhed, and doe ſee.

16 Therfore ſaid ſome of the Phariſees, This man is not of God, becauſe he keepeth not the Sabboth day. Other ſaid, How can a man that is a ſinner doe ſuch miracles? and there was a ‖ ſtrife among them. [Or, Schiſme.

17 They ſay vnto the blinde man againe, What ſaieſt thou of him, becauſe he hath opened thine eies? He ſaid, He is a Prophet.

18 But the Iewes did not beleeue the man how that he had bene blinde, and receiued his ſight, vntill they called the parents of him that had receiued his ſight.

19 And they asked them, ſaying, Is this your ſonne, whom ye ſay that he was borne blinde? how doeth he now ſee then?

20 His parents anſwered them, and ſaid, We know that this is our ſonne, and that he was borne blinde,

21 But by what meanes he now ſeeth, we can not tell, or who hath opened his eies, cannot we tell, he is of age, aske him, he ſhall ſpeake for him ſelfe.

22 Such wordes ſpake his parents, becauſe they feared the Iewes: for the Iewes had agreed alreadie, that if any man did confeſſe that he was Chriſt, he ſhould be excommunicate out of the ſynagogue.

23 Therefore ſaid his parents, He is of age, aske him.

24 Then againe called they the man that was blinde, and ſaid vnto him, Giue God the praiſe, we know that this man is a ſinner:

25 He anſwered, and ſaid, Whether he be a ſinner or no, I cannot tell: One thing I am ſure of, that whereas I was blinde, now I ſee.

26 Then ſaid they to him againe, What did he to thee? How opened he thine eies?

27 He anſwered them, I tolde you yer while, and yee did not heare: wherefore would you heare it againe? Will yee alſo bee his diſciples?

28 Then rated they him, and ſaid, Thou art his diſciple: we are Moſes diſciples.

29 We are ſure that God ſpake vnto Moſes: as for this fellowe, we knowe not from whence he is.

30 The man anſwered, and ſaid vnto them, This is a marueilous thing, that ye wote not from whence he is, and yet he hath opened mine eies.

31 And we know that ſinners God doth not heare. but if a man be a ſeruer of God, and doe the wil of him, him he heareth.

32 From the beginning of the world it hath not been heard that any man hath opened the eies of one borne blinde.

33 Vnles this man were of God, he could not doe any thing.

34 They anſwered, and ſaid to him, Thou waſt wholy borne in ſinnes, and doeſt thou teach vs? And they did caſt him forth.

35 IESVS heard that they caſt him forth: and when he had found him, he ſaid to him, Doeſt thou beleeue in the ſonne of God?

36 He anſwered, and ſaid, Who is he Lord, that I may beleeue in him?

37 And IESVS ſaid to him, Both thou haſt ſeen him: and he that talketh with thee, he it is.

38 But he ſaid, I beleeue Lord. And falling downe he adored him. ¶

39 And IESVS ſaid to him, For iudgement came I into this world: ‡ that they that ſee not, may ſee: and they that ſee, may become blinde.

‡ By this we ſee that this miracle was not only maruelous and beneficial to the blinde, but alſo ſignificatiue of taking away ſpiritual blindneſſe.

40 And certaine of the Phariſees that were with him, heard: and they ſaid to him, Why, are we alſo blinde?

41 IESVS ſaid to them, If you were blinde, you ſhould not haue ſinne. but now you ſay, That we ſee. Your ſinne remaineth.

31 For we be ſure that God heareth not ſinners: but if any man be a worſhipper of God, and doeth his will, him heareth he.

32 Since the world began was it not heard that any man opened the eyes of one that was borne blinde:

33 If this man were not of God, he could doe nothing.

34 They anſwered, and ſaid vnto him, Thou art altogether borne in ſinne, and doeſt thou teach vs? And they caſt him out.

35 Ieſus heard that they had excommunicated him: and when he had found him, hee ſaid vnto him, Doeſt thou beleeue on the ſonne of God?

36 He anſwered and ſaid, Who is he, Lord, that I might beleeue on him?

37 And Ieſus ſayde vnto him, Thou haſt both ſeene him, and it is hee that talketh with thee.

38 And he ſayd, Lord, I beleeue: and he worſhipped him.

*39 And Ieſus ſaid vnto him, * I am come vnto iudgement in this world, that they which ſee not, might ſee: and that they which ſee, might be made blinde.* Ioh.3.17. and 12.47.

40 And ſome of the Phariſees which were with him, heard theſe wordes, and ſaid vnto him, Are we blinde alſo?

41 Ieſus ſaid vnto them, If ye were blinde, ye ſhould haue no ſinne, but now ye ſay, We ſee: therefore your ſinne remaineth.

For no leſſe difference is there betweene,* Heretical miſlation. Caſting out of Synagogue.

Synagogue, and Excommunication. Beſides that, not euery one which was not of the Iewes Synagogue, was therefore out of the communion of the Faithfull, many true beleeuers being in other parres of the world not ſubiect to the Iewes Synagogue, Law, nor Sacraments. And therefore it was not all one to be out of the Synagogue, and to be excommunicated. as now, whoſoeuer is out of the Churches communion, either by his owne will, or for his iuſt deſerts thruſt out of it by the ſpirituall Magiſtrate, he is quite exiled and out of all the ſocietie of Saincts in heauen and earth, ſo long as he ſo continueth. The Churches Excommunication. See in the Annot. Mat. 18, 17.

As for the cauſe of thruſting this poore man and ſuch other out of the Synagogue, and excommunicating Heretikes, there is as great odds as betwixt heauen and hell: he being vſed ſo for following Chriſt and his Church, theſe for forſaking Chriſt and his Church. Some more agreement there is betweene that corrupt ſentence of the Iewes againſt the followers of Chriſt, and the pretended excommunication executed againſt Catholike men by our Heretikes. although in truth there is no great reſemblance. For, the Iewes though they abuſed their power ſometimes, yet had they authoritie in deed by Gods law ſo to puniſh contemners of their Law, and therefore it was feared and reſpected euen of good men. But the excommunication vſed by heretikes againſt Catholikes or any offenders, is not to be reſpected at all, being no more but a ridiculous vſurpation of the Churches right and faſhion of the ſame for out of their Synagogues al faithful men ought to flee, and not tarie to be thruſt out: according to the warning giuen againſt Coré and Dathan. Be ye ſeparated from their tabernacles, leſt you be wrapped in their ſinnes. The Heretikes ridiculous Excommunication.

Fulke. 4. Many wordes to litle purpoſe. Our tranſlation hath not ſimply excommunicate, but adding out of the ſynagogue. And the Iewes before Chriſt, had the ſame diſcipline that the Church now hath, of caſting them out of the fellowſhip of the faithfull, that for their diſobedience deſerued it. The true Church onely hath true excommunication, the hereticall aſſemblies, ſuch as the popiſh Church is, counterfeict cenſures.

He continueth his talke to the Phariſees, ſhewing that they and all other that will not enter in by him, are Wolues: and that they which heare them, are not the true ſheepe. 11 But that him ſelfe is the good Paſtor, and therefore to ſaue the ſheepe from theſe wolues, he will yeelde his life: which otherwiſe no might of theirs could take from him: foretelling alſo his Reſurrection, and vocation of the Gentiles. 22 Againe an other time, he telleth theſe Iewes openly, that they are not of his ſheepe, and that no might of theirs ſhall take from him his true ſheepe, becauſe he is God, euen as his Father is God. 31 Which by his miracles and by Scripture he ſheweth to be no blaſphemie: and they in vaine ſeeking to ſtone and to apprehend him, 40 he goeth out to the place where Iohn Baptiſt had giuen open witneſſe of him.

AMEN, amen I ſay to you, he that entreth not by the doore into the folde of the ſheepe, but climeth vp an other way: he is ‡ a theefe and a robber.

‡ The theefe, is the Heretike ſpecially, & any other that violently breake in vpon the ſheepe to kill & deſtroy them by falſe doctrine and otherwiſe.

2 But he that entreth by the doore, is the Paſtor of the ſheepe.

3 To this man the porter openeth: and the ſheepe heare his voyce: and he calleth his owne ſheepe by name, and leadeth them forth.

4 And when he hath let forth his owne ſheepe, he ‡ goeth before them: and the ſheepe folow him, becauſe they know his voyce.

‡ That is the faſhion of Iewes & other countries, ſignifying that the paſtor or heard muſt teach the ſheepe, & not they him.

5 But a ſtranger they folow not, but flee from him: becauſe they know not the voice of ſtrangers.

6 This prouerbe IESVS ſayde to them. But they knew not what he ſpake to them.

7 IESVS therefore ſayd to them againe, Amen, amen I ſay to you, that I am the doore of the ſheepe.

8 And how many ſoeuer haue come, are theeues and robbers: but the ſheepe heard them not.

9 I am the doore. By me if any enter, he ſhall be ſaued: and he ſhall goe in and ſhall goe out, and ſhall find paſtures.

VErily, verily I ſay vnto you, He that entreth not in by the doore into the ſheepefold, but climeth vp ſome other way, the ſame is a theefe and a robber.

2 But he that entreth in by the doore, is the ſhepheard of the ſheepe.

3 To him the porter openeth, and the ſheepe heare his voyce, and he calleth his owne ſheepe by name, and leadeth them out.

4 And when hee ſhall put foorth his owne ſheepe, he goeth before them, and the ſheepe folow him: for they know his voyce.

5 A ſtranger will they in no wiſe follow, but will flee from him, for they know not the voyce of ſtrangers.

6 This prouerbe ſpake Ieſus vnto them: but they vnderſtood not what things they were which he ſpake vnto them.

7 Then ſayd Ieſus vnto them againe, Verily, verily I ſay vnto you, I am the doore of the ſheepe.

8 All, euen as many as came before me, are theeues and robbers: but the ſheepe did not heare them.

9 I am the doore: by me if any man enter in, he ſhall be ſafe, and ſhall goe in, and goe out, and find paſture.

10 The theefe commeth not but to ſteale & kill & deſtroy. I came that they may haue life, and may haue more aboundantly.

11 I am the good Paſtor. * The ‖good Paſtor giueth his life for his ſheepe.

12 But the hireling and he that is not the Paſtor, whoſe owne the ſheepe are not, ſeeth the woulfe comming, and leaueth the ſheepe, and fleeth: and the woulfe raueneth, and diſperſeth the ſheepe.

13 And the hireling ‖fleeth becauſe he is a hireling: and he hath no care of the ſheepe.

14 I am the good Paſtor: and I know mine, and mine know me.

18 No man taketh it away from me: but *I yeld it of my ſelfe. and I haue power to yeld it: and I haue power to take it againe. This commaundement I receiued of my father.

23 And IESVS walked in the temple, in Salomons porche,

24 The Iewes therefore compaſſed him round about, and ſaid to him, How long doeſt thou hold our ſoule in ſuſpenſe? if thou be CHRIST, tell vs openly.

25 IESVS anſwered them, I ſpeake to you: and you beleeue not. the workes that I doe in the name of my Father, they giue teſtimonie of me.

26 But you doe not beleeue, becauſe you are not of my ſheepe.

27 My ſheepe heare my voyce: and I know them, and they folow me.

Fulke. 1. Caluine and Luther had lawfull calling both of God and the Church. But the lineall ſucceſſion of Catholike biſhops in euery country, is not neceſſarie. For many heretikes haue ſucceeded good biſhops, many good biſhops haue ſucceeded heretikes in line and place, but not in doctrine. It is the ſucceſſion of doctrine therefore, that is to be regarded, and not of place or perſons: and that is the true meaning of all the doctors, which you quote. Irenæus ſpeaketh of continuance of doctrine, from the Apoſtles vnto his time, againſt the new heretikes Valentinus and Marcion. Thankſgiuing to God, for reſtitution of the temple, after the horrible prophanation thereof, is a thing approoued by Gods law: but a memoriall thereof, is an indifferent ceremonie, which was not inſtituted by Ezechias, after the prophanation of the temple by Achaz and Vrias, nor by Ioſias, after the ſame was moſt horribly polluted by Manaſſes and Amon, nor by Zorobabel and Ieſus, Eſdras or Nehemias, after it was reedified, when it had bene vtterly deſtroyed by the Chaldees. As for your popiſh halowing of Churches hath nothing like vnto it but the name, the vayne ſhadow whereof pleaſeth you ſo much, that contrary to your cuſtome and profeſſion, you are bold to tranſlate the Grecke Encænia (which your vulgar Latine text reteineth) Dedication, and durſt not tranſlate Scenopegia, cap. 7. the feaſt of Tabernacles. 25 IESVS ſaid to her, I am the reſurrection and the life: he that beleeueth in me, although he be dead, ſhal liue.

14 Then ſaid Ieſus vnto them plainly, Lazarus is dead:

27 She ſaith vnto him, Yea Lord, I beleeue that thou art Chriſt the ſonne of God, which ſhould come into the world.

28 And

28 And when ſhe had ſaid theſe things, ſhe went, & called Marie her ſiſter ſecretely, ſaying, The maiſter is come, & calleth thee.

29 She, when ſhe heard, riſeth quickely, and commeth to him.

30 For IESVS was not yet come into the towne: but he was yet in that place where Martha had mette him.

31 The Iewes therfore that were with her in the houſe and did comfort her, when they ſaw Marie that ſhe roſe quickly & went forth, folowed her, ſaying, That ſhe goeth to the graue, to weepe there.

32 Marie therfore when ſhe was come where IESVS was, ſeeing him, fel at his feete, and ſaith to him, Lord, if thou hadſt been here, my brother had not died.

33 IESVS therfore when he ſaw her weeping, and the Iewes that were come with her, weeping, he groned in ſpirit, and troubled him ſelf, 34 And ſaid, Where haue you laid him? They ſay to him, Lord, come and ſee.

35 And IESVS wept.

36 The Iewes therfore ſaid, Behold how he loued him.

37 But certaine of them ſaid, Could not he that * opened the eies of the blinde man, make that this man ſhould not die? Ioh.9,6.

38 IESVS therfore againe groning in him ſelf, commeth to the graue. and it was a caue: and a ſtone was laid ouer it.

39 IESVS ſaith, Take away the ſtone. Martha the ſiſter of him that was dead, ſaith to him, Lord, now he ſtinketh, for he is now of foure daies.

40 IESVS ſaith to her, Did not I ſay to thee, that if thou beleeue, thou ſhalt ſee the glorie of God?

41 They tooke therfore the ſtone away. And IESVS lifting his eies vpward, ſaid, Father, I giue thee thanks ‡ thou haſt heard me.

42 And I did know that thou doeſt alwaies heare me, but for the people that ſtandeth about, haue I ſaid it, that they may beleeue that thou haſt ſent me.

43 When he had ſaid theſe things, he cried with a loude voice, Lazarus, come forth.

44 And forthwith he came forth that had been dead, bound feete and handes with winding bandes, and his face was tied with a napkin. IESVS ſaid to them, ‡ Looſe him, and let him goe.

45 Many therfore of the Iewes that were come to Marie & Martha, and had ſeen the things that IESVS did, beleeued in him.

46 And

28 And when ſhe had ſo ſaid, ſhe went her way, and called Mary her ſiſter ſecretly, ſaying, The maſter is come, and calleth for thee.

29 As ſoone as ſhe heard that, ſhe ariſeth quickly, and commeth vnto him.

30 Ieſus was not yet come into the towne: but was in that place where Martha met him.

31 The Iewes then which were with her in the houſe, and comforted her, when they ſaw Marie that ſhe roſe vp haſtily, and went out, followed her, ſaying, She goeth vnto the graue, to weepe there.

32 Then when Marie was come where Ieſus was, and ſaw him, ſhe fel downe at his feete, ſaying vnto him, Lord, if thou haddeſt bene here, my brother had not bene dead.

33 When Ieſus therefore ſaw her weeping, & the Iewes alſo weeping which came with her, he groned in the ſpirit, and was troubled in himſelfe, 34 And ſaid, Where haue ye laid him? They ſay vnto him, Lord, come, and ſee.

35 Ieſus wept.

36 Then ſaid the Iewes, Beholde how he loued him.

*37 And ſome of them ſaid, Could not this man, * which opened the eyes of the blinde, haue* Iohn.9.6. cauſed that this man alſo ſhould not haue died?

38 Ieſus therfore againe groning in himſelfe, commeth to the graue: It was a caue, and a ſtone laid on it.

39 Ieſus ſaid, Take ye away the ſtone. Martha, the ſiſter of him that was dead, ſaith vnto him, Lord, by this time he ſtinketh: for he hath bene dead foure dayes.

40 Ieſus ſayth vnto her, Said I not vnto thee, that if thou wouldeſt beleeue, thou ſhouldeſt ſee the glory of God?

41 Then they tooke away the ſtone from the place where the dead was laid. And Ieſus lift vp his eyes, and ſaid, Father, I thanke thee that thou haſt heard me.

42 Howbeit, I know that thou heareſt me alwayes: but becauſe of the people which ſtand by, I ſaid it, that they may beleeue that thou haſt ſent me.

43 And when he thus had ſpoken, he cried with a loud voyce, Lazarus, come forth.

44 And he that was dead, came forth, bound hand and foote with graue clothes: and his face was bound about with a napkin. Ieſus ſaith vnto them, Looſe him, and let him goe.

45 Then many of the Iewes which came to Marie, and had ſeene the things which Ieſus did, beleeued on him.

46 But

46 And certaine of them went to the Phariſees, and told them the things that IESVS did.

The Goſpel vpon friday in Paſſion weeke.

47 The cheefe prieſts therfore and the phariſees gathered a councel, and ſaid, What doe we, for this man doeth many ſignes.

48 If we let him alone ſo, al wil beleeue in him: and the Romanes wil come, & ‡ take away our place and nation.

‡ Al men, but ſpecially Nations muſt take heed, that whiles to ſaue their temporal ſtate, they forſake God: they loſe not both as the Iewes did. Aug. 49 in Io.

49 But one of them named Caiphas, being the high prieſt of that yere, ſaid to them, You know nothing, 50 Neither doe you conſider that it is expedient for vs that one man die for the people, and the whole nation periſh not.

51 And this he ſaid not of him ſelf: but ‖ being the high prieſt of that yere, he prophecied ỹ IESVS ſhould die for the nation:

52 And not only for the nation, but to gather into one the children of God that were diſperſed.

53 From that day therfore they deuiſed to kil him.

54 IESVS therfore walked no more openly among the Iewes, but he went into the countrie beſide the deſert vnto a citie that is called Ephrem, and there he abode with his Diſciples.

55 And the Paſche of the Iewes was at hand: and many of the countrie went vp to Hieruſalem before the Paſche to ſanctifie them ſelues.

56 They ſought IESVS therfore: & they communed one with an other, ſtanding in the temple, What thinke you, in that he is not come to the feſtiual day? And the cheefe Prieſts and Phariſees had giuen commaundement, that if any man ſhould know where he was, he ſhould tel, that they might apprehend him.

46 But ſome of them went their wayes to the Phariſees, and tolde them what Ieſus had done.

47 Then gathered the high Prieſts and the Phariſees a councell, and ſaid, What doe we? for this man doeth many miracles.

48 If we let him ſcape thus, all men will beleeue on him, and the Romanes ſhall come, and take away both our roome, and the people.

49 And one of them, named Caiaphas, being the high Prieſt that ſame yeere, ſaid vnto them, Ye perceiue nothing at all,

*50 * Nor conſider that it is expedient for vs,* Iohn 14.8. that one man ſhould die for the people, and not that all the nation periſh.

51 This ſpake he not of himſelfe: but being high Prieſt that ſame yeere, he prophecied that Ieſus ſhould die for that nation:

52 And not for that nation onely, but that alſo he ſhould gather together in one the children of God that were ſcattered abroad.

53 Then from that day forth, they tooke councell together for to put him to death,

54 Ieſus therefore walked no more openly among the Iewes: but went his way thence vnto a countrey nigh to a wilderneſſe, into a citie which is called Ephraim, and there continued with his diſciples.

55 And the Iewes Eaſter was nigh at hand, and many went out of the countrey vp to Hieruſalem before the Eaſter, to purifie themſelues.

56 Then ſought they for Ieſus, and ſpake among themſelues, as they ſtoode in the temple, What thinke ye, ſeeing he commeth not to the feaſt day?

57 Both the high Prieſtes and the Phariſees had giuen a cõmandement, that if any man knew where he were, he ſhould ſhew it, that they might take him.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. XIII.

Rhem.1. 5. Began to waſh.) This lotion was not only of curteſie, ſuch as the Iewes vſed toward their gheſtes, nor only for example of humilitie: but for myſterie and ſignification of the great puritie that is required before we come to receiue the holy Sacrament, which ſtraight after this waſhing was to be inſtituted and giuen to the Apoſtles. Ambr.li.3.de Sacra.c.1. Bernard.de cœna Domini Serm.1. Puritie required to the receiuing of the B. Sacrament.

Fulke.1 The doctrine is very true, yet not ſo aptly gathered out of the text.

Rhem.2. 10. To waſh his feete.) The foulneſſe of the feete, when all the reſt is cleane, ſignifieth the earthly affections and reliques of former ſinnes remitted: which are to be cleanſed by deuout actes of charitie and humilitie, as S. Ambroſe lib.3.de Sacr.c.1. and S. Auguſtine ep.108. & tract.56.in Io. doe note. And becauſe this was onely a ceremonie, and yet had ſuch force, both nowe and afterward vſed of the Apoſtles, that it purged ſmaller offenſes and filthines of the ſoule, as S. Ambroſe and S. Bernard gather, it may not ſeeme ſtrange that holy water and ſuch ceremonies may remit veniall ſinnes. Venial ſinnes taken away by ſacred ceremonies.

Ambroſ. & Ber. locis citatis.

Fulke.2. That the reliques of former ſinnes remitted, are to be cleanſed by deuoute actes of charitie and humilitie, none of the fathers whom you cite, doe teache in any one worde. Ambroſe contendeth for a ceremonie of waſhing the feete, of them that are newly baptized, which the Church of Rome did not obſerue in that time. And anſwering this obiection why the feete neede to be waſhed, when all ſinne is waſhed away in Baptiſme, he ſaith: Becauſe Adam was ſupplãted by the deuil, and poiſon was ſhed vpon his feete, therfore thou waſheſt thy feete, that in the ſame part, in which the ſerpent deceiued, greater aide of ſanctificatiõ may be added, that he may not ſupplant thee afterward. Therefore thou waſheſt thy feete, that thou mayeſt waſh away the poyſon of the ſerpent. Alſo it profiteth vnto humilitie, that we ſhould not be aſhamed in a myſterie, of that we do not diſdaine in obedience. This ſaith Ambroſe to maintaine ỹ ceremonie of waſhing of feete after baptiſme. Auguſt.ep.108. gathereth no more of this text, but ỹ Peter was baptized, & denieth ỹ he did penance, as they which were called penitents vſed to do for hainous offẽces: but as all Chriſtiãs had need to repẽt, or to do penãce daily for their daily ſinnes & trãſgreſſiõs, which he proueth by the Satisfaction for ſinne.

ordinary vſe of faſting, almes, and prayer, in which we ſay, forgiue vs as we forgiue, thereby manifeſting that we haue ſinnes to be forgiuen, and with theſe wordes humbling our ſelues, we ceaſe not after a ſort, to doe dayly penaunce: but of cleanſing of ſinne remitted he ſpeaketh not. Tr. 56. in Ioan. he ſayth: that in baptiſme a man is waſhed wholy, feete and all. But when he liueth afterward among men, he treadeth on the earth, therefore humane affections, without the which in this mortalitie we liue not, are as it were feete, when we are affected with humane matters, and ſo affected, that if we ſay we haue no ſinne, we deceiue our ſelues, and there is no truth in vs. Therefore he waſheth our feete dayly, which maketh interceſſion for vs: and that we haue neede dayly to waſh our feete, that is, to direct the wayes of ſpirituall ſteppes, we confeſſe euen in the Lordes prayer when we ſay, forgiue vs our debts, as we forgiue our debters: for if we acknowledge our ſinnes as it is written, verily he which waſhed his diſciples feete, is faithfull and iuſt to forgiue vs our ſinnes, and to cleanſe vs from all ſinne, that is, euen to our feete, in which we are conuerſant on the earth. What impudent merchants are theſe, to quote theſe places for cleanſing of ſinnes remitted? And if this ceremonie had bene vſed of the Apoſtles for purging of ſmal offences and filthineſſe of the ſoule (which is falſe) yet why ſhould holy water and ſuch ceremonies, as the Apoſtles neuer knewe, remit veniall ſinnes as they call them? What Ambroſe ſayth you haue heard before, but if Bernards auctoritie in this caſe be ſufficient, you muſt make ablution of feete the eight ſacrament. For hee affirmeth and endeuoureth to proue, that it is a ſacrament, as Ambroſe doth, that it is a ceremonie meete to be reteyned, and continually to be vſed after baptiſme.

Holy water & like ceremonies.

The eight ſacrament.

Rhem. 3. 14. You alſo ought.) Our Maſter neuer ſpake plainer, nor ſeemed to commend more preciſely, either of Baptiſme or the Euchariſt or any other Sacrament: and yet by the Churches iudgements directed by the Holy Ghoſt, we know this to be no ſacrament nor neceſſarie ceremonie, and the other to be. And why doe they beleeue the Church in this, and doe not credite her affirming the chalice not to be neceſſary for the communicants?

The Church defineth which are Sacraments and which not &c.

Fulke. 3. Not onely by the Churches auctoritie, which neuer accepted this ceremonie for a ſacrament, but by the Scripture it ſelfe, we knowe that it is none: becauſe it is no ſeale of Gods grace, nor hath any promiſe annexed vnto it, as Baptiſme and the Lords Supper hath. Therefore it was onely an example of humilitie, as the plaine wordes of Chriſt are, although by occaſion of that example, other doctrine was inferred of our ſpirituall waſhing by Chriſt, once wholy vnto regeneration, and dayly of our feete for our dayly tranſgreſſions. Wherefore there is no reaſon why we ſhould beleeue the Popiſh Church, that the cup is not neceſſarie for the communicants contrary to the manifeſt inſtitution of Chriſt, & the practiſe of the Apoſtles expreſſed in the Scriptures.

The auctoritie of the Church

Rhem. 34. A newe commandement.) The commandement of mutuall loue was giuen before, but manifoldly miſconſtrued, and abridged by the Iewes to friendes onely, to this life onely, for earthly reſpects onely: but Chriſt renewеth it and enlargeth it after the forme of his owne loue toward vs, and giueth grace to fulfill it.

Auguſtine de Ciu. Dei li.22.c.8. and other Fathers heretofore haue written. No man therefore needeth to marueil that the very Image of our Lady, and the like doe miracles, euen as Peters ſhadowe did: nor wonder if ſuch things ſeeme ſtranger and greater then thoſe which Chriſt him ſelfe did: whereas our Sauiour to put vs out of doubt, ſaith expreſly, that his Saincts ſhall doe greater things then him ſelfe did.

We may and muſt eaſely beleeue the miracles of Saincts and of their relikes, when Chriſt him ſelfe foretelleth they ſhall doe ſuch wonderfull things. Ide Babyla mart. To.5. *Act.5,15. 19.12. *See Annot. Mat.17,20.

The Heretikes as faithles in this point, as the old Pagās.

Fulke.3. All miracles that ſerue to confirme the doctrine deliuered in the holy Scriptures, we receiue and admit, although we be not bound to beleeue any mans report of miracles, but onely the writings of the Apoſtles and Euangeliſts. But all miracles that ſerue to mainteine falſe doctrine or ſuperſtition, which is not taught in the Scriptures, we eſteeme as Auguſtine did of the miracles of the Donatiſts, that eyther they were fables, or illuſions of euill ſpirits, by what man ſoeuer they be recorded, or written. de vnit, Eccl.cap.16. — Miracles.

Rhem.4. 16. For euer.) If the Holy Ghoſt had beene promiſed onely to the Apoſtles, their ſucceſſors and the Church after them could not haue challenged it. but it was promiſed them for euer. Whereby we may learne, both that the priuileges and promiſes made to the Apoſtles were not perſonall, but pertaining to their offices perpetually: and alſo that the Church and Paſtors in all ages had and haue the ſame Holy Ghoſt to gouerne them, that the Apoſtles and primitiue Church had. — The HOLY GHOST is promiſed to y CHVRCH for euer.

Fulke.4. The holy Ghoſt ſhall euer remaine with the Church, and with euery true member thereof: Yet not euery true member of the Church, nor euery miniſter thereof, which is a ſucceſſor of the Apoſtles, may challenge all priuileges, that the Apoſtles had, neceſſarie for conuerſion of the worlde, but not for the perpetuall gouernement of the Church. — The Church and miniſters thereof may erre.

Rhem.5. 17. The ſpirit of trueth.) They had many particular gifts and graces of the Holy Ghoſt before, and many vertues by the ſame, as all holy men haue at all times: but the Holy Ghoſt here promiſed to the Apoſtles and their ſucceſſours for euer, is to this vſe ſpecially promiſed, to direct them in all trueth and veritie: and is contrary to the ſpirit of errour, hereſie, and falſhod. And therefore the Church cannot fall to Apoſtaſie or Hereſie, or to nothing, as the Aduerſaries ſay. — The Spirit of trueth ſhall aſſiſt the CHVRCH alwayes.

Fulke.5. The true Church of Chriſt, can neuer fall vnto Apoſtaſie, Hereſie, or to nothing, and therefore it is an impudent ſlander, to affirme that we ſay ſo. Yet many of the viſible Church, ſhall fall from the faith, into Hereſie and Apoſtaſie, 2.Theſſ.2. 1.Tim.4. — Slander.

28. Father

28. Father greater then I.) There is no place of Scripture that ſeemeth any thing ſo much to make for the Sacramentaries, as this and other in outward ſhewe of wordes ſeemed to make for the Arians, who denied the equalitie of the Sonne with the Father. Which wordes yet in deede rightly vnderſtood after the Churches ſenſe, make nothing for their falſe ſecte, but only ſignifie that Chriſt according to his Manhood was inferior in deede, and that according to his Diuinitie he came of the Father. And if the Hereſie or diſeaſe of this time were Arianiſme, we ſhould ſtand vpon theſe places and the like againſt the Arians, as we now do vpon others againſt the Proteſtants, whoſe ſecte is the diſeaſe and bane of this time. The Arians alleage as plaine Scriptures as the Proteſtãts.

Rhem. 6.

Fulke 6. This place is true of the humanitie of Chriſt, which ỹ Arians blaſphemouſly applied to his diuinitie: which in many other places is proued moſt plainely, to be equal with his father. So conference of Scriptures, (if the Papiſts would giue ouer their preiudicate opinions,) would ende all controuerſies betweene vs: As wel, that of the corporall maner of preſence of Chriſt in the Sacrament, as other. For theſe wordes, This is my body, muſt be ſo vnderſtoode, as they be not contrary to other places of Scripture, that auouche the trueth of Chriſtes humanitie. Conference of Scriptures.

CHAP. XV.

He exhorteth them to abide in him (that is, his Church, being the true vine, and not the Synagogue of the Iewes any more) 9 and in his loue, louing one an other, and keeping his commandements: 13 ſhewing how much he accounteth of them, by this that he dieth for them, 15 and reuealeth vnto them the ſecrets of heauen, 17 and appointeth their fruite to be perpetual: 18 confirming them alſo againſt the perſecutions and hatred of the obſtinate Iewes.

The Goſpel for one Martyr.

I Am the true vine: and my father is the huſband-man.

2 Euery ‡ branche in mee, not bearing fruite, he wil take it away: and euery one that beareth fruite, he wil purge it, ‡ that it may bring more fruite.

3 Nowe you are cleane for the ‡ worde which I haue ſpoken to you.

4 Abide in me: and I in you. As ỹ branche can not beare fruit of it ſelf, ‖ vnles it abide in ỹ vine: ſo you neither, ‖ vnles you abide in me.

5 I am the vine: you the branches. he that abideth in me, & I in him, the ſame beareth much fruite: for without mee you can doe nothing.

6 If any abide not in me: he ſhall be caſt foorth as the branche, and ſhall wither, and they ſhall gather him vp, and caſt him into the fire, and he burneth.

‡ If a Schiſmatike pray neuer ſo much, he is not heard, becauſe he remaineth not in the body of Chriſt.

7 If you ‡ abide in me, and my wordes abide in you: you ſhal aske what thing ſoeuer you wil, and it ſhal be done to you.

8 In this my father is glorified: ỹ you bring very much fruite, and become my Diſciples.

9 As my father hath loued me, I alſo haue loued you. Abide in my loue.

10 If you ‖ keepe my precepts, you ſhal abide in my loue: as I alſo haue kept my fathers precepts, and doe abide in his loue.

11 Theſe things I haue ſpoken to you, that my ioy may be in you, and your ioy may be filled.

Io. 13, 34. 12 *This is my precept, that you loue one an other, as I haue loued you.

The Goſpel vpon S. Barnabees day, and on the eue of an Apoſtle.

13 Greater loue then this no man hath, that a man yeld his life for his frendes.

14 You are my frendes, if you doe the things that I commaund you.

15 Nowe I call you not ſeruants: for the ſeruant knoweth not what his Lord doth. But you I haue called frendes: becauſe al things whatſoeuer I haue heard of my father, I haue made known to you.

I Am the true vine, and my Father is the huſbandman.

*2 Euery * branche that beareth not fruite in me, hee taketh away: and euery branch that beareth fruite, hee purgeth, that it may bring foorth more fruite.* Matt. 15, 13.

*3 * Nowe are ye cleane through the worde which I haue ſpoken vnto you.* Iohn 13. 11.

4 Abide in me, and I in you: As the brãch can not beare fruite of it ſelfe, except it abide in the vine, no more can ye: except ye abide in me.

5 I am the vine, ye are the branches: Hee that abideth in mee, and I in him, the ſame bringeth foorth much fruite: For without me can ye doe nothing.

6 If a man abide not in mee, he is caſt foorth as a branche, and withereth, and men gather them, and caſt them into the fire, and they burne.

7 If ye abide in mee, and my words abide in you, ye ſhall aske what ye will, and it ſhalbe done for you.

8 Herein is my father glorified, that ye beare much fruite, and become my diſciples.

9 As the father hath loued me, euen ſo haue I loued you: continue you in my loue.

10 If ye keepe my commaundements, ye ſhall abide in my loue, euen as I haue kept my fathers commandements, and abide in his loue.

11 Theſe things haue I ſpoken vnto you, that my ioy might remaine in you, and that your ioy might be full.

*12 * This is my commandement, that ye loue together, as I haue loued you.* Iohn 13. 34. 1. Iohn. 3. 11. 1. Theſ. 4. 9.

13 Greater loue hath no man then this, that a man beſtowe his life for his friendes.

14 Ye are my friendes, if ye doe whatſoeuer I commaunde you.

15 Henceforth call I not you ſeruants, for the ſeruant knoweth not what his lord doeth, but you haue I called friendes: for all things that I haue whatſoeuer I heard of my father, I haue notified vnto you.

16 You choſe not me, but I choſe you: and haue appointed you: that you goe, and bring fruite: and your fruit abide: that whatſoeuer you aske the father in my name, he may giue it you.

17 Theſe things I commaunde you, that you loue one an other.

The Goſpel vpon SS. Simon and Iudes day.

18 If the world hate you: know ye that it hath hated me before you.

19 If you had been of ỹ world, the world would loue his owne. but becauſe you are not of the world, but I haue choſen you out of the world, therfore the world hateth you.

20 Remember my word that I ſaide to you, * The ſeruant is not greater then his maiſter. If they haue perſecuted me, you alſo will they perſecute. if they haue kept my word, ‡ yours alſo wil they keepe.

Io.13,16. Mt.10,24. Lu.6,40.

‡ He foreſheweth that many wil not obey the Churches words. and no maruel, becauſe they contemned Chriſts owne preceps.

21 But al theſe things they wil do to you for my name ſake: becauſe they knowe not him that ſent me.

22 If I had not come, & ſpoken to them, they ſhould not haue ſinne: but nowe they haue no excuſe of their ſinne.

23 He ỹ hateth me, hateth my father alſo.

24 ‖ If I had not done among them works that no other man hath done, they ſhould not haue ſinne: but now both they haue ſeen, and they doe hate both me and my Father.

25 But that the worde may be fulfilled, which is written in their law: That they hated me gratis.

Pſ.24,19.

The Goſpel vpon Sunday after the Aſcenſion, and in a Vorſe of the B. Trinitie. Act.2.1.

26 But when the Paraclete commeth ‖ whom I * wil ſend you from the Father, the Spirit of truth, which proceedeth from the Father, he ſhal giue teſtimonie of me:

27 And ‖ you ſhal giue teſtimonie, becauſe you are with me from the beginning.

haue heard of my father, haue I made knowen vnto you.

*16 * Ye haue not choſen me, but I haue choſen you, and ordeined you, that you ſhould goe and bring forth fruite, and that your fruite ſhould remaine: that whatſoeuer ye ſhall aske of the father in my name, he may giue it you.* Matt. 28.19.

17 This commaunde I you, that ye loue together.

18 If the world hate you, ye knowe that it hated me before it hated you.

19 If ye were of the worlde, the worlde would loue his owne: howbeit, becauſe ye are not of the worlde, but I haue choſen you out of the worlde, therefore the world hateth you.

*20 * Remember the worde that I ſaide vnto you, The ſeruant is not greater then the lorde: if they haue perſecuted mee, they will alſo perſecute you: if they haue kept my ſaying, they will keepe yours alſo.* Iohn 13.16. mat.10.24.

21 But all theſe things will they doe vnto you for my names ſake, becauſe they haue not knowen him that ſent me.

22 If I had not come, and ſpoken vnto them, they ſhould haue had no ſinne: but now haue they nothing to cloke their ſinne withall.

23 He that hateth me, hateth my father alſo.

24 If I had not done among them the workes which none other man did, they ſhould haue had no ſinne: but now haue they both ſeene, and hated both me and my father.

35 But this commeth to paſſe, *that the worde might be fulfilled that is written in their lawe, * They hated me without a cauſe.* Pſal.35.19.

*26 But when the comforter is come, * whom I will ſend vnto you from the father, euen the ſpirit of trueth, which proceedeth of the father, he ſhall teſtifie of me.* Iohn 14.26. luke 24.49.

27 And ye ſhall beare witneſſe alſo, becauſe ye haue bene with me from the beginning.

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. XV.

Rhem. 1. 2. Branch in me.) Chriſt hath ſome branches in his body myſtical that be fruitles, therfore il liuers alſo may be members of Chriſt and the Church.

Fulke 1. Wicked men may be members of the viſible Church for a time, and ſo of Chriſt, being engraffed to Chriſt Sacramentally, but not in deede. He that bringeth no fruit, cannot be in the Vine, (ſaith Chryſoſtome) Hom. 75 in Ioan. Although by faith he ſeemeth to be ioyned to Chriſt. Euthym. in 15. Ioan. Wicked men no true members of Chriſt & his Church.

Rhem. 2. 2. That it may bring.) Man may continually increaſe in iuſtice and ſanctification, ſo long as he liueth.

Fulke 2. The true members of Chriſt may continually encreaſe by his grace in the fruites of faith, which are holines and righteouſnes.

Rhem. 3. 3. Word which I haue.) S. Auguſtine expounded it of the Sacramental word of Baptiſme, and not as Heretikes doe, of preaching only. Tract. 80. in Io.

Fulke 3. S. Auguſtine doth not ſo expound it, but ſheweth how water doth cleanſe in Baptiſme, namely by vertue of the word. His words are theſe, Quare non ait mundi eſtis, &c. Why doth he not ſay you are cleane for Baptiſme, wherein you are waſhed? but he ſaith for the word which I haue ſpoken vnto you, but becauſe euen in the water, the word doth cleanſe. Take away the word, and what is the water but water? The word commeth to the element, and it is made a Sacrament, euen the ſame as it were a viſible word, &c. Opus operatum Worke wrought.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. XV.

Rhem. 4. 4. Vnles you abide.) Theſe conditional ſpeaches, If you remaine in the vine, If you keepe my cõmandements, and ſuch like, giue vs to wit that we be not ſure to perſiſt or perſeuere, nor to be ſaued, but vnder conditions to be fulfilled by vs. Aug. de corrept. & gra. c. 13. No man ſure of perſeuerance.

S. Auguſtine

Fulke 4. S. Auguſtine ſaith not, that no man can be ſure of perſeuerance, but that theſe ſpeaches are vſed by him which knoweth who ſhal perſeuere, that no man through ſecuritie fall into pride or preſumption. But of perſeuerance he affirmeth, Cap. 12. Primo itaq; homini, &c. To the firſt man, which in that good in which hee was made right, had receiued that he might not ſinne, that he might not die, that he might not forſake that good, an aide of perſeuerance was giuen, not whereby it ſhould come to paſſe that he ſhould perſeuere, but without the which he couldo not perſeuere by free will. But now, vnto the Saincts predeſtinated by the grace of God vnto the kingdome of God, not only ſuch an aide of perſeuerance is giuen, but ſuch, that euen perſeuerance it ſelfe, is giuen to them, not onely that they cannot perſeuere without this gift, but alſo that by this gift they are not but perſeuerant. For he not onely ſaid: without me ye can doe nothing, but alſo he ſaide: You haue not choſen me, but I haue choſen you, and haue appointed you that you may goe and bring forth fruit, and that your fruite may abide. By which words he ſhewed, that he had giuen them not only iuſtice, but alſo perſeuerance in it. For when Chriſt ſo appointeth them that they goe and bring forth fruite, and that their fruite ſhould abide, who dare be bold to ſay, peradventure it ſhall not abide? All Chriſtians therfore, ought to be aſſured that they ſhall remaine in the Vine, keepe his commandements and ſuch like conditions as be required of them. For as S. Auguſtine ſaith, He that maketh men good, maketh them alſo to perſeuere in good. Certeintie of ſaluation.

Rhem. 5. 4. Vnles it abide.) Whoſoeuer by Hereſie or Schiſme or for any other cauſe is cut of or ſeparated from the Church, he can doe no meritorious worke to Saluation.

Fulke. 5. Whoſoeuer is not a liuely member of Chriſt, can doe no good worke, but meritorious to ſaluation (which is the gift of Gods grace) no man can doe any thing. Merits.

Rhem. 6. 10. Keepe my præcepts.) This careful and often admonition of keeping his commandments, proueth that a Chriſtian mans life is not onely or principally in faith, but in good workes. Not onely faith.

Fulke. 6. The iuſt man, (ſuch as the true Chriſtian man is) ſhall liue by faith, that is, ſhalbe iuſtified before God vnto eternal life by faith only. Which faith, throughout ỹ courſe of his temporal life, can not be vnfruitful of good workes, and is neuer alone or ſolitarie, although a man be iuſtified before God by faith without workes. Rom. 3. Iuſtification by faith only.

Rhem. 7. 24. If I had.) If the Iewes had not ſinned by refuſing Chriſt, in caſe he had not done greater miracles then any others then were it a great folly of Catholikes to beleeue Luthers or Caluins new opinions without any miracles at all.

Fulke 7. So farre forth as Luther and Caluine teach nothing but that Chriſt taught, the Papiſts are as deepely in ſinne in not beleeuing them, as the Iewes, though they worke no miracles: ſeeing the doctrine they teach, is already confirmed by all the miracles of Chriſt and his Apoſtles. Miracles.

Rhem. 26. Whom I wil ſend.) The Holy Ghoſt is ſent by the Sonne, therfore he procedeth from him alſo, as from the Father: though the late Schiſmatical Greekes thinke otherwiſe.

Rhem. 8. 27. You ſhal giue.) He vouchſafeth to ioyne together the teſtimonie of the Holy Ghoſt, and of the Apoſtles: that we may ſee the teſtimonie of truth ioyntly to conſiſt in the Holy Ghoſt and in the Prelats of the Church.

Fulke 8. Prouided alwayes, that the Prelates of the Church teach nothing but that which is agreeable to the holy Scriptures, inſpired by the holy Ghoſt.

CHAP. XVI.

The cauſe why he foretelleth them their perſecution by the Iewes, is, that they be not afterward ſcandalized thereat. 6 Though they thinke this heauie newes, it is for their vantage that he departeth, becauſe of the great benefites that they ſhal receiue by the comming then of the Holy Ghoſt, who ſhal alſo be his witnes againſt his enemies. 16 Although in this world they ſhal ſo be perſecuted, yet to his heauenly Father they and their praiers made in his name, ſhal be moſt acceptable. and at length the childe (that is Chriſt in al his members) being borne, their ioy ſhal be ſuch as no perſecuter can take from them. 31 Howbeit at this inſtant of his apprehenſion, they wil al forſake him.

THeſe things haue I ſpoken to you, that you be not ſcandalized.

2 Out of the ſynagogs they wil caſt you: but the houre cõmeth, that euery one which killeth you, ſhal thinke that he doeth ſeruice to God.

3 And theſe things they will doe to you: becauſe they haue not knowen the Father, nor me.

4 But theſe things I haue ſpoken to you: that when the houre ſhal come, you may remember them, that I told you.

5 But I tolde you not theſe things from the beginning, becauſe I was with you. And now I goe to him that ſent me, and none of you asketh me: Whither goeſt thou?

The Goſpel vpon the 4. Sunday after Eaſter.

6 But becauſe I haue ſpoken theſe things to you, ſorow hath filled your hart.

7 But I tell you the truth. it is expedient for you that I goe. For if I goe not, the Paraclete ſhal not come to you: but if I goe, I wil ſend him to you.

8 And

THeſe things haue I ſaid vnto you, becauſe ye ſhould not be offended.

2 They ſhall put you out of their ſynagogue: yea, the time commeth, that whoſoeuer killeth you, will thinke that he doeth God ſeruice.

3 And ſuch thinges will they doe vnto you: becauſe they haue not knowen the father, neither yet mee.

4 But theſe thinges haue I tolde you, that when the time ſhall come, ye may remember them that I tolde you: Theſe thinges ſaide I not vnto you at the beginning, becauſe I was preſent with you.

5 But nowe I goe my way to him that ſent mee, and none of you asketh mee, Whither goeſt thou?

6 But becauſe I haue ſaide ſuch things vnto you, ſorow hath filled your hearts.

7 Neuertheleſſe I tell you the trueth, it is expedient for you that I goe away: For if I goe not away, that Comforter will not come vnto you: but if I depart, I will ſende him vnto you.

8 And

8 And when he is come,he ſhal argue the world of ſinne,& of iuſtice,& of iudgement.

9 Of ſinne: becauſe they beleeue not in mee.

10 But of iuſtice: becauſe I goe to the Father: and now you ſhal not ſee me.

11 And of iudgement: becauſe the prince of this world is now iudged.

12 ‖Yet many things I haue to ſay to you: but you can not beare them now.

13 But when he,‖the Spirit of truth,commeth, ‡ he ſhal teach you al truth. for he ſhal not ſpeake of him ſelf: but what things ſoeuer he ſhall heare, he ſhall ſpeake: and the things that are to come he ſhal ſhew you.

14 He ſhal glorifie me: becauſe he ſhall receiue of mine,and ſhal ſhew to you.

15 Al things whatſoeuer the Father hath, be mine. Therfore I ſaid,that he ſhal receiue of mine,and ſhal ſhew to you.

The Goſpel vpon the 3. Sunday after Eaſter.

16 A litle while, and now you ſhall not ſee me: and againe a litle while,and you ſhal ſee me: becauſe I goe to the Father.

17 Some therfore of his diſciples ſaid one to another, What is this that he ſaith to vs: A litle while, and you ſhal not ſee me: and againe a litle while,and you ſhal ſee me, and, becauſe I goe to the Father?

18 They ſaid therfore, What is this that he ſaith,A litle while? we know not what he ſpeaketh.

19 And IESVS knewe, that they would aske him: and he ſaid to them,Of this you do queſtion among your ſelues,becauſe I ſaid to you,A litle while,& you ſhal not ſee me: and againe a litle while, and you ſhal ſee me.

20 Amen,amen I ſay to you,that you ſhal weepe,& lament,but the world ſhal reioyce:

The Goſpel for many Martyrs.

and you ſhal be made ſorowfull,but your ſorow ſhal be turned into ioy.

21 A woman when ſhe trauaileth, hath ſorow,becauſe her houre is come: but when ſhe hath brought forth the childe, nowe ſhe remembreth not the anguſh for ioy, that a man is borne into the world.

22 And you therefore, now in deede you haue ſorow, but I wil ſee you againe, & your hart ſhal reioyce: and your ioy no man ſhall take from you.

The Goſpel vpon the 5. Sunday after Eaſter.

23 And in that day me you ſhal not aske any thing. Amen, amen I ſay to you, if you aske the Father any thing ‡in my name, he wil giue it you.

24 Vntill nowe you haue not asked any thing in my name. Aske & you ſhal receiue: that your ioy may be ful.

8 And when he is come, he will † rebuke the worlde of ſinne, and of righteouſneſſe, and of iudgement. † Or, convince.

9 Of ſinne,becauſe they beleeued not on me.

10 Of righteouſneſſe, becauſe I goe to my father, and ye ſee me no more.

11 Of iudgement, becauſe the prince of this world is iudged already.

12 I haue yet many things to ſay vnto you,but ye can not beare them away now.

13 Howbeit, when he is come which is the ſpirit of trueth,he wil leade you into all trueth. He ſhall not ſpeake of himſelfe: but whatſoeuer hee ſhall heare, that ſhall he ſpeake: and he will ſhewe you things to come.

14 Hee ſhall glorifie me, for he ſhall receiue of mine, and ſhall ſhewe vnto you.

15 All things that the father hath,are mine: therfore ſaid I vnto you, that he taketh of mine, and ſhall ſhewe vnto you.

16 After a while,and ye ſhall not ſee me: and againe after a while,and ye ſhall ſee me: for I goe to the father.

17 Then ſaid ſome of his diſciples betweene themſelues, What is this that hee ſaith vnto vs, After a while,and ye ſhal not ſee me,and againe, After a while,and ye ſhal ſee me: and,That I goe to the father?

18 They ſaid therefore, What is this that he ſaith, After a while? wee can not tell what hee ſaith.

19 Ieſus perceiued that they woulde aske him,and ſaide vnto them, Doe yee enquire among your ſelues of that I ſaid, After a while,and ye ſhall not ſee mee: and againe, After a while, and ye ſhall ſee me?

20 Verily, verily I ſay vnto you, that yee ſhall weepe & lament,but the world ſhall reioyce: yee ſhall ſorrowe, but your ſorrowe ſhalbe turned to ioy.

21 A woman, when ſhe trauaileth, hath ſorowe, becauſe her houre is come: but as ſoone as ſhe is deliuered of the childe, ſhe remembreth no more the anguiſh, for ioy that a man is borne into the world.

22 And yee nowe therefore haue ſorowe: but I will ſee you againe, and your heartes ſhall reioyce, and your ioye no man taketh from you.

*23 And in that day ſhall ye aske me no queſtion: Verily, verily I ſay vnto you,Whatſoeuer ye ſhall aske the father in my Name, he will giue it you. Matth.7.7.

24 Hitherto haue yee asked nothing in my Name: aske, and ye ſhall receiue, that your ioye may be full.

25 Theſe

25 Theſe things in prouerbes I haue ſpoken to you. The houre commeth when in prouerbes I wil no more ſpeake to you, but plainely of the Father I wil ſhew you.

26 In that day you ſhal aske in my name: and I ſay not to you, that I wil aske the Father for you.

27 For the Father him ſelf loueth you, becauſe you haue loued me, and haue beleeued that I came forth from God.

28 I came forth from the Father, and came into the world: againe I leaue ỹ world, and I goe to the Father.

29 His diſciples ſay to him, Behold now thou ſpeakeſt plainely, and ſaieſt no prouerbe.

30 Now we know that thou knoweſt al things, and thou needeſt not that any man aske thee. in this we beleeue that thou cameſt forth from God.

31 IESVS anſwered them, Now do you beleeue?

Mt.26,31. Mr.14,27. 32 *Behold the houre commeth, and it is now come, that you ſhal be ſcattered euery man into his owne, and me you ſhal leaue alone: and I am not alone, becauſe the Father is with me.

33 Theſe things I haue ſpoken to you, that in me you may haue peace. In the world you ſhal haue diſtreſſe: but haue confidence, I haue ouercome the world.

25 Theſe things haue I ſpoken vnto you by prouerbes: the time commeth when I ſhall no more ſpeake vnto you by prouerbes, but I ſhall ſhew you plainely of my father.

26 At that day ſhall ye aske in my name: and I ſay not vnto you that I wil pray vnto my father for you:

27 For the Father him ſelfe loueth you, becauſe ye haue loued me, and haue beleeued that I came out from God.

28 I went out from the Father, and came into the world: againe, I leaue the world, and goe to the Father:

29 His diſciples ſay vnto him, Loe, now talkeſt thou plainely, and ſpeakeſt no prouerbe.

30 Now are we ſure that thou knoweſt all things, and needeſt not that any man ſhould aske thee any queſtion : therefore beleeue we that thou cameſt from God.

31 Ieſus anſwered them, Doe yee now beleeue?

Matth.26,31. mar.14,27. *32 Beholde, the houre draweth nigh, and is alreadie come, that ye ſhalbe ſcattered, euery man to his owne, and ſhall leaue me alone: and yet am I not alone, for the Father is with me.

33 Theſe wordes haue I ſpoken vnto you, that in me ye might haue peace, for in the world ye ſhal haue tribulation: but be of good cheare, I haue ouercome the world.

MARGINAL NOTES. CHAP. XVI.

Rhem. 1. 2 Caſt you.) The Heritikes tranſlate, Excommunicate you. See what corruption this is. and the reaſon thereof, Annot.c.9,22.

Fulke. 1. The tranſlation of Geneua which ſo tranſlateth, hath in the margent, or put you out of the Synagogues. The one in effect is as much as the other.

Rhem. 2. 13 He ſhal teach.) If he ſhall teach all truth, and that for euer (as before c.14,16:) how is it poſſible, that the Church can erre, or hath erred at any time or in any point?

Fulke. 2. The Church can neuer erre in any point neceſſarie to ſaluation, nor any true member thereof, to continue therein. For this promiſe is to euerie one of the Apoſtles, and ſo to euerie Chriſtian man and woman, to their comfort, vnto eternall ſaluation. Yet were the Apoſtles deceiued for a time in ſome things, as in the calling of the Gentiles, and true Chriſtian men may erre, but not finally to their damnation. Therefore the full accompliſhment of this promiſe, S. Auguſtine referreth vnto the life to come: I thinke (ſaith he) that this cannot be fulfilled in any mans minde in this life, for who liuing in this bodie, which is corrupted and weigheth downe the ſoule, can know all truth, When the Apoſtle ſayth, We know but in part. Tract 96. in Ioan. How ỹ Church & true Chriſtians may erre.

Rhem. 3. 23 In my name.) Vpon this the Church concludeth al her praiers. Per Chriſtum Dominum noſtrum, euen thoſe alſo that be made to Sainctes.

Fulke. 3. To aske of Sainctes in the name of Chriſt, is to make Chriſt a mediator betwene vs and the Sainctes: But Chriſt ſaith, What ſoeuer you aske the father in my name, he will giue it you, not whatſoeuer you aske of Sainctes in my name, the Father or the Sainctes ſhall giue you. We may ſee vpon what ground the Popiſh faith is builded. And yet you ſay vntruely of all your praiers to Sainctes, for many in your Portice conclude not, with per Chriſtum Dominum noſtrum: By Chriſt our Lord. For example among a great number, take a few. In that Office which you call Seruitium beate Marie. There be three leſſons which be all praiers to the virgin Marie, which begin. Sancta Maria virgo virginũ &c. Sancta Maria piarum piſſima &c. Sancta Dei genetrix &c. In which this concluſion is not. And yet no leſſe is asked of her, then eternall life. And becauſe they be verie blaſphemous, it ſhall not be amiſſe, for the ignorant in the Latine tongue to tranſlate them. The firſt is, Holy Marie virgine of virgins, mother and daughter of the king of all kings: beſtowe thy comfort vpon vs, that by thee, we may deſerue to haue the reward of eternall life, & to reigne with the elect of God for euer. The ſecond. Holy Marie, of all godly women moſt godly, make interceſſion for vs, of al godly women the moſt godlie, that by thee oh virgin, he may receiue our praiers, which being borne for vs of thee, reigneth aboue the heauen, that by his loue our offences may be put out. The third. Holie mother of God, which worthilie haſt deſerued to conceiue him whom the whole world could not comprehend, by thy godly inſtruction waſh Inuocation of Sainctes.

away our ſinnes, that being redeemed by thee, we may be able to clime to the ſeate of eternall glorie, where thou remaineſt with thy ſonne without end of time. And what cal you this but a praier? By the blood of Thomas which for thee he did ſpend, make vs Chriſt to clambe, whether Thomas did aſcend. The Popiſh Poet forgat per Chriſtũ dominũ noſtrũ, or els it needed not, when the blood of Thomas was added to the blood of Chriſt. Againe, Per te Thoma peſt leuæ manera amplexetur nos Dei dextera. By thee Thomas after the gifts of the left hand, let the right hand of God embrace vs, left the enemie, the world, or the workes of the fleſh doe carie vs away captiue to hel. Againe, Opem nobis: &c. O Thomas reach thy helpe vnto vs, rule them that ſtand, liſt vp them that lie, correct our maners, actes, and life, and direct vs into the way of peace. Moreouer in a prayer to S. Oſmũd: &c. Cõfeſſor domini. Thou confeſſor of our Lord, helpe the people with thy praiers, that being void of vices, they may be aſſociate vnto thee, and whome thou findeſt preuenting thy ſolemnities, thou teacher of people, cauſe that they may accompanie thee. To S. Anne: Thou that waſt happie, being conceiued with ſuch a virgine, make vs in the laſt houre to die without ſinne. Againe, Anne, thou healthful mother, make vs to liue to Chriſt. To S. Katherine. Haile virgine worthie of God, haile ſweete and gentle virgine, obtaine for vs the ioyes, which thou doeſt poſſeſſe with glorie. By theſe few, among a ſhamefull rable of Popiſh praiers, you may ſee how true it is, that their Church concludeth all her praiers, Per Chriſtum dominum noſtrum, euen thoſe alſo that be made to Sainctes.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. XVI.

Rhem. 4. 12 Yet many things.) This place conuinceth that the Apoſtles and the faithful be taught many things, which Chriſt omitted to teach them for their weakenes: and that it was the prouidence of God that Chriſt in preſence ſhould not teach and order al things, that we might be no leſſe aſſured of the things that the Church teacheth by the Holy Ghoſt, then of the things that him ſelf deliuered. Chriſt left many things to be taught by the Church.

Fulke. 4. Though the infirmitie of the Apoſtles, could not yet beare, that he had to ſay to them, it followeth not that thoſe things are not conteined in the holy Scriptures. S. Auguſtine vpon this place ſaith: Quum ipſe tacuerit. &c. When he him ſelf hath not vttred theſe things, which of vs can ſay, theſe and theſe they are? Or if he dare be bolde to ſay, how doeth he proue it? Yea he proceedeth further and ſaith: If we had read anie of theſe things in the bookes eſtabliſhed by Canonicall auctoritie, which were written after the Aſcenſion of our Lord, it were not ſufficient to haue read it there, except it were alſo read there, that the ſame is one of theſe things, which our Lord would not then tell his diſciples, becauſe they could not beare them. By this ſaying of S. Auguſtine you come ſhort, to tell vs of any thing, that is not conteined in the Scriptures, that it is in the nomber of thoſe things, which Chriſt would not tell his diſciples. The ſufficiencie of the Scriptures.

Rhem. 5. 13 The ſpirit of truth.) Euer note that the Holy Ghoſt in that he is promiſed to the Church, is called the Spirit of truth, which Holy Spirit for many other cauſes is giuen to diuers priuate men and to al good men, to ſanctification: but to teach all truth and preſerue in truth and from error, he is promiſed and performed onely to the Church and the cheefe Gouernor and general Councels thereof. The Spirit of truth.

Fulke. 5. The ſpirit of truth, is promiſed to all the Church, and to euery member thereof, for whome our Sauiour Chriſt praieth, ſaying, Sanctifie them in thy truth, thy word is ỹ truth Ioan. 17. 17. and is not reſtrayned, to anie one gouernour (which is not ordeined by Chriſt,) nor yet to general councels, which if they erre from the word of truth, are not led by the ſpirit of truth. And yet are generall councels, a good meane, in matters of queſtion, where the miniſters of the Church, which haue the ſpeciall giftes of knowledge and vnderſtanding, in the Scriptures, may by mutuall conference of the word of God, finde out the certaine truth, as in the councel of the Apoſtles. Act. 15. Councels may erre.

CHAP. XVII.

After his Sermon of farewel, he prayeth to his Father, that ſeeing he hath now finiſhed his worke, he will giue him his appointed glorie, for the conuerſion of all nations, 6 and preſerue his Apoſtles, and his Church after them in vnitie and veritie (that is, from Schiſme and Hereſie:) finally alſo glorifie them with him in heauen.

The Goſpel vpon the Aſcenſion eue.

THeſe things ſpake IESVS and lifting vp his eies into heauen, he ſaid, Father, the houre is come, ‡ glorifie thy ſonne, that thy ſonne may glorifie thee.

‡ The Father glorifieth the Sonne by raiſing him from death, exalting him vp to his right hand, making al creatures to bow downe at his Name, and giuing him al power and iudgement. The Sonne againe glorifieth the Father, by making his honour, which onely in a maner was in Iewrie before, now knowen to al Nations.

2 As thou haſt giuen him power ouer al fleſh that al which thou haſt giuen him, to them he may giue life euerlaſting.

3 And this is ‖ life euerlaſting that they know thee, the only true God, and whom thou haſt ſent IESVS CHRIST.

4 I haue glorified thee vpon the earth: I haue conſummated the worke which thou gaueſt me to doe:

5 And now glorifie thou me O Father with thy ſelf, with the glorie which I had before the world was, with thee.

6 I haue manifeſted thy name to the men whom thou gaueſt me out of ỹ world. Thine they were, and to me thou gaueſt them: and they

THeſe wordes ſpake Ieſus, and lifted vp his eies to heauen, and ſaid, Father, the houre is come, glorifie thy ſonne, that thy ſonne alſo may glorifie thee:

*2 * As thou haſt giuen him power ouer all fleſh, that he ſhould giue eternall life to as many as thou haſt giuen him.* Matt. 28. 18.

3 This is the life eternall, that they might know thee the onely true God, and Ieſus Chriſt whom thou haſt ſent.

4 I haue glorified thee on the earth: I haue finiſhed the worke which thou gaueſt me to doe.

5 And now glorifie thou me, O father, with thine owne ſelfe, with the glorie which I had with thee before the world was.

6 I haue declared thy name vnto the men which thou gaueſt mee out of the world: thine they were, and thou gaueſt them mee, and they they haue kept thy word.

7 Now they haue knowen that al things which thou gaueſt me, are from thee:

8 Becauſe the wordes which thou gaueſt me, I haue giuen them: and they haue receiued, and knowen in very deede that I came forth from thee, & haue beleeued that thou didſt ſend me.

9 For them doe I pray: Not for the world doe I pray, but for them whom thou haſt giuen me:

10 Becauſe they be thine: and al my things be thine, and thine be mine: and I am glorified in them. And now I am not in the world, and theſe are in the world, and I come to thee.

The Goſpel in a Votiue Maſſe againſt Schiſme.

11 Holy father, ‡keepe them in thy name, whom thou haſt giuen me: that they may be one, as alſo we.

‡ His petition is ſpecially to keepe the Apoſtles and his Church in vnitie and from Schiſmes. Io.18,9. Pſal.40,10. 108,8.

12 When I was with them, I kept them in thy name. Thoſe * whom thou gaueſt me, haue I kept: and none of them periſhed, but the ſonne of perdition, that the * ſcripture may be fulfilled.

13 And now I come to thee: and theſe things I ſpeake in the world, that they may haue my ioy filled in them ſelues.

14 I haue giuen them thy word, and the world hath hated them, becauſe they are not of the world: as I alſo am not of the world.

15 I pray not that thou take them away out of the world, but that thou preſerue thē from euil.

16 Of the world they are not: as I alſo am not of the world.

17 ‖ Sanctifie them in trueth. Thy word is truth.

18 As thou didſt ſend me into the world, I alſo haue ſent them into the world.

19 And for them I doe ‡ ſanctifie my ſelf: that they alſo may be ſanctified in truth.

20 And not for them only doe I pray, ‖ but for them alſo that by their word ſhal beleeue in me:

21 That they al may be one, as thou (Father) in me, and I in thee, that they alſo in vs may be one: that the world may beleeue that thou haſt ſent me.

22 And the glorie that thou haſt giuen me, haue I giuen to them: that they may be one, as we alſo are one.

23 I in them, and thou in me: that they may be conſummate in one: and ỹ world may know that thou haſt ſent me, and haſt loued them, as me alſo thou haſt loued.

24 Father, whō thou haſt giuen me, I wil, that they haue kept thy word.

*7 * Now they haue knowen that all things whatſoeuer thou haſt giuen me, are of thee:* Iohn 16.27.

8 For I haue giuen vnto them the wordes which thou gaueſt me, and they haue receiued them, and haue knowen ſurely that I came out from thee, and they haue beleeued that thou diddeſt ſend me.

9 I pray for them, I pray not for the world: but for them which thou haſt giuen me, for they are thine.

10 And all mine, are thine, and thine, are mine: and I am glorified in them.

11 And now am I not in the world, and they are in the world, and I come to thee. Holy father, keepe through thine owne name them, which thou haſt giuen me, that they may alſo be one, as we are.

*12 While I was with them in the worlde, I kept them in thy name: thoſe that thou gaueſt me, haue I kept, and none of them is loſt, but that loſt childe: * that the ſcripture might be fulfilled.* Pſal.109.8.

13 Now come I to thee, and theſe wordes ſpeake I in the world, that they might haue my ioy fulfilled in them ſelues.

14 I haue giuen them thy word, and the world hath hated them, becauſe they are not of the world, euen as I alſo am not of the world.

15 I pray not that thou ſhouldeſt take them out of the world, but that thou ſhouldeſt keepe them from the euill.

16 They are not of the world, as I alſo am not of the world.

17 Sanctifie them through thy trueth: thy word is the trueth.

18 As thou didſt ſend me into the world: euen ſo haue I alſo ſent them into the world.

19 And for their ſakes ſanctifie I my ſelfe, that they alſo might be ſanctified through the trueth.

20 Neuertheleſſe, I pray not for them alone: but for thē alſo which ſhall beleeue on me through their preaching:

21 That they all may be one, as thou father art in me, and I in thee, and that they alſo may be one in vs: that the world may beleeue that thou haſt ſent me.

22 And the glorie which thou gaueſt me, I haue giuen them: that they alſo may be one, as we alſo are one.

23 I in them, and thou in me, that they may be made perfect in one, and that the worlde may know that thou haſt ſent me, and haſt loued them, as thou haſt loued me.

*24 * Father, I will that they which thou haſt* Iohn 12.26.

that where I am, they also may be with me: that they may see my glorie which thou hast giuen me, because thou hast loued me before the creation of the world.

25 Iust Father, the world hath not knowen thee. but I haue knowen thee: and these haue knowen, that thou didst send me.

26 And I haue notified thy name to them, and wil notifie it: that the loue wherewith thou hast loued me may be in them, and I in them.

giuen me, be with me where I am, that they may see my glorie which thou hast giuen me: for thou louedst me before the foundation of the world.

25 O righteous father, the world also hath not knowen thee: but I haue knowen thee, and these haue knowen that thou hast sent me.

26 And I haue declared vnto them thy name, and will declare it: that the loue wherewith thou hast loued me, may be in them, and I in them.

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. XVII.

Rhem.1. 19 Sanctifie my self.) To sanctifie him self, is to sacrifice him self, by dedicating his holy body and blood to his Father, both vpon the Crosse, and in the holy Sacrament.

Fulke.1. Christ offered not his bodie and blood in the Sacrament to his Father, but to his disciples in remembrance of his onlie once oblation thereof to his Father, by which he perfected for euer his Saincts. Heb. 10. 14

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. XVII.

Rhem. 3 Life euerlasting.) Both the life of glorie in heauen, and of grace here in the Church, consisteth in the knowledge of God: that, in perfect vision: this, in faith working by charitie. for, knowledge of God without keeping his commandements, is not true knowledge, that is to say, it is an vnfruitfull knowledge. 1. Io. 2. True knowledge of God.

Rhem.2. 17 Sanctifie them.) Christ prayeth that the Apostles, their successors, and al that shal be of their beleefe, may be sanctified in truth. which is as much to say, as to desire that the Church may euer haue the Spirit of truth, and be free from errour. which praier of Christ had not been heard, if the Church might erre. The Church can not erre.

Fulke.2. The Church cannot erre, nor anie faithfull man finally, in matters necessary to perpetuall saluation But if the Church or any man depart from the word of truth, they must needes erre. Though in matters necessarie to saluation, the true Church, and euery true Christian, be preserued from erring finally. S. Augustine interpreteth, sanctifying in the trueth, to be sanctified in Christ, which is the word and the trueth. Tr. 108. in Ioan. Where of it followeth, that neither the true Church, nor anie Christian man, can fall finallie from Christ.

Rhem.3. 20 But for them.) He expresseth (and it is a great comfort) that he praieth not onely for the Apostles, but for the whole Church after them, that is, for all beleeuers. And al this profound and diuine praier is resembled in the holy Canon of the Masse before the consecration, as here it was made before his visible Sacrifice on the crosse. The Canon of the Masse.

Fulke.3. The Canon of the Masse, is too base to be matched with this diuine praier of our Sauiour Christ, which yet followed his Supper, and not went before it as the Popish Canon, beginneth before consecration.

CHAP. XVIII.

Being gone to the place that Iudas the Traitor did know, 4 he offereth him self to the hand of his enemies, sheweth his Diuine might in ouerthrowing them al with a word, and in sauing his Apostles from them also with a word: 10 rebuketh Peter that would defend him from them: 12 and so being apprehended, is brought bound to Annas and Caiphas, where he is striken by a seruant, and thrise denied of Peter. 28 Againe in the morning he is by them brought to Pilate. 29 Who demaunding their accusation, whereas they would oppresse him with their authoritie, 33 and examining the point of his kingdom, pronounceth him innocent: yet they crie rather to haue a theeues life saued.

THVRSDAY night. The PASSION according to S. Iohn in these two Chapters, is the Gospel at Masse vpon Good friday. So the PASSIONS read in holy weeke foure times, according to the foure Euangelistes, as S. Augustine appointed also in his Church at Hippo. Ser. 243. de tempore. Mt. 26, 36. Mr. 14. 32. Lu. 22, 39. Mt. 26, 47. Mr. 14, 43. Lu. 22, 47.

WHen IESVS had said these things, he went forth with his disciples beyond the Torrent-Cedron, where was a garden, into the which he entred and his Disciples.

2 And Iudas also, that betraied him, knew the place: because IESVS had often resorted thither together with his Disciples.

3 *Iudas therefore hauing receiued the band of men, and of the cheefe Priests and the Pharisees, ministers, commeth thither with lanternes and torches and weapons.

4 IESVS therefore knowing al things that should come vpon him, went forth, and said to them, Whom seeke ye?

5 They answered him, IESVS of Nazareth. IESVS saith to them, I am he. And Iudas also that betraied him, stoode with them.

*VVHen Iesus had spoken these wordes, * he went forth with his disciples ouer the brooke Cedron, where was a garden, into the which he entred and his disciples.* Matt. 26. 36. mar. 14. 32. luk. 22. 39.

2 Iudas also which betrayed him, knewe the place: for Iesus oft times resorted thither with his disciples.

*3 * Iudas then, after he had receiued a band of men, and officers of the high priests and Pharisees, cōmeth thither with lanternes, and torches, and weapons.* Matt. 26. 47. mar. 14. 43. luke 22. 47.

4 And Iesus knowing all things that should come on him, went forth, and said vnto them, Whom seeke yee?

5 They answered him, Iesus of Nazareth. Iesus saith vnto them, I am he. Iudas also which betrayed him, stoode with them.

6 As

6 As ſoone therefore as he ſayd to them, I am he: they went backward, and fel to the ground.

7 Againe therefore he asked them, Whom ſeeke ye? And they ſaid, IESVS of Nazareth.

8 IESVS anſwered, I haue told you that I am he, if therfore you ſeeke me, let theſe goe their wayes.

9 That the word might be fulfilled which he ſaid, * That of them whom thou haſt giuen me, I haue not loſt any. Io.17,12.

10 Simon Peter therefore hauing a ſword, drew it out: and ſmote the ſeruant of the high prieſt: and cut off his right eare. And the name of the ſeruant was Malchus.

11 IESVS therfore ſaid to Peter, Put vp thy ſword into the ſcabbard. The chalice which my father hath giuen me, ſhall not I drinke it?

12 The band therefore and the Tribune and the miniſters of the Iewes apprehended IESVS, and bound him:

13 And they brought him to Annas firſt, for he was father in lawe to Caiphas, who was the high prieſt of that yeere.

14 And *Caiphas was he that had giuen the counſel to the Iewes, That it is expedict that one man die for the people. Io.11,49. Mt.26,58. Mr.14,54. Lu.22,54.

15 *And Simon Peter folowed IESVS, and an other diſciple. And that Diſciple was knowen to the high prieſt, and went in with IESVS into the court of the high prieſt.

16 But Peter ſtood at the doore without. The other diſciple therfore that was knowen to the high Prieſt, went foorth, and ſpake to the portreſſe, and brought in Peter.

17 The wench therefore that was portreſſe, ſaith to Peter, Art not thou alſo of this mans diſciples? He ſaith to her, ‡I am not.

‡It is all one for a man to deny Chriſt, & that he is a diſciple of Chriſt or a Catholike, or a Chriſtian man, whē he is demanded. Aug. tract.113. in Io. for ſo Peter here denieth Chriſt, in denying himſelfe to be his Diſciple.

18 And the ſeruants and miniſters ſtood at a fire of coles, becauſe it was cold, & warmed themſelues. And with them was Peter alſo ſtanding, and warming himſelfe.

19 The high prieſt therfore asked IESVS of his diſciples, and of his doctrine.

20 IESVS anſwered him, I haue openly ſpokē to the world: I haue alwayes taught in the ſynagogue, and in the temple whether al the Iewes reſort together: and in ſecret I haue ſpoken nothing.

21 Why askeſt thou me? aske them that haue heard what I haue ſpoken vnto them: behold they knowe what things I haue ſayd.

22 When

6 As ſoone then as he had ſaid vnto them, I am he, they went backeward, and fell to the ground.

7 Then asked he them againe, Whom ſeeke ye? They ſaid, Ieſus of Nazareth.

8 Ieſus anſwered, I haue tolde you that I am he: If ye ſeeke me therefore, let theſe goe their way.

*9 That the ſaying might be fulfilled which he ſpake, * Of them which thou gaueſt me haue I not loſt one.* Ioh.17.12.

10 Then Simon Peter hauing a ſword, drew it, and ſmote the high prieſts ſeruant, and cut off his right eare: The ſeruantes name was Malchus.

11 Therefore ſaide Ieſus vnto Peter, Put vp thy ſword into the ſheath: Shall I not drinke of the cuppe which my father hath giuen me?

12 Then the companie, and the captaine, and officers of the Iewes, tooke Ieſus, and bound him,

*13 * And led him away to Annas firſt (for he was father in law vnto Caiaphas) which was the high prieſt that ſame yeere.* Luke 3.2.

*14 * Caiaphas was he which gaue counſell to the Iewes, that it was expedient that one man ſhould die for the people.* Iohn 11.50. Some read, And Annas ſent Chriſt bound vnto Caiaphas the high prieſt.

*15 * And Simon Peter followed Ieſus, and ſo did another diſciple: That diſciple was knowen vnto the high prieſt, and went in with Ieſus into the palace of the high prieſt.* Matt.26.58.

16 But Peter ſtoode at the doore without. Then went out that other diſciple, which was knowen vnto the high prieſt, and ſpake vnto the Damoſell that kept the doore, and brought in Peter.

17 Then ſaith the damoſell that kept the doore vnto Peter, Art not thou alſo one of this mans diſciples? He ſaith, I am not.

18 The ſeruants & officers ſtood there which had made a fire of coales (for it was cold) and they warmed themſelues: Peter alſo was ſtanding among them, warming him.

19 The high prieſt then asked Ieſus of his diſciples, and of his doctrine.

20 Ieſus anſwered him, I ſpake openly to the world, I euer taught in the ſynagogue, and in the temple, whither all the Iewes reſort, and in ſecret haue I ſaid nothing:

21 Why askeſt thou mee? Aske them which heard me what I haue ſaid vnto them: beholde, they can tell what I ſaid.

22 When he had ſayd theſe things, one of the miniſters ſtanding by, gaue IESVS a blow, ſaying, Anſwereſt thou the high prieſt ſo?

23 IESVS anſwered him, If I haue ſpoken il, giue teſtimonie of euill: but if well, why ſtrikeſt thou me?

24 And Annas ſent him bound to Caiphas the high prieſt.

25 And Simon Peter was ſtanding, and warming himſelfe. They ſaid therefore to him, Art not thou alſo of his diſciples? He denied and ſaid: I am not.

26 One of the ſeruants of the high prieſt ſaieth to him, his coſin whoſe eare Peter did cut of, Did not I ſee thee in the garden with him?

27 Againe therefore Peter denied: and forthwith the cocke crew.

GOOD FRIDAY. Mt.27,1. Mr.15,1. Lu.23,1.

28 *They therefore bring IESVS from Caiphas into the Palace. And it was morning: and they went not in into the Palace, that they might not be contaminated, but that they might eate the Paſche.

29 Pilate therefore went foorth to them without, and ſayd, What accuſation bring you againſt this man?

30 They anſwered and ſaid to him, If he were not a malefactour, we would not haue deliuered him vp to thee.

31 Pilate therfore ſaid to them, Take him you, and according to your law iudge him. The Iewes therfore ſaid to him, It is not lawful for vs to kil any man.

32 *That the word of IESVS might be fulfilled which he ſayd, ſignifying what death he ſhould die.

Mt.27,11. Mr.15,2. Lu.23,4.

33 *Pilate therfore went into the Palace againe, and called IESVS, and ſaid to him, Art thou the king of the Iewes?

34 IESVS anſwered, Saieſt thou this of thy ſelf, or haue others told thee of me?

35 Pilate anſwered, Why, am I a Iewe? ‡Thy nation, & the cheefe prieſts haue deliuered thee vp to me, what haſt thou done?

‡ It pleaſed God, y Chriſt who was to die both for the Iewes and the Gentiles, ſhould be betrayed of the one, and put to death by the other.

36 IESVS anſwered, My kingdom is not of this world. if my kingdom were of this world, my miniſters verily would ſtriue that I ſhould not be deliuered to the Iewes. but now my kingdom is not from hence.

37 Pilate therfore ſaid to him, Art thou a king then? IESVS anſwered, Thou ſaieſt, that I am a king. For this was I borne, and for this came I into the world: that I ſhould giue teſtimonie to the truth. Euery one that is of the truth, heareth my voyce.

22 When hee had thus ſpoken, one of the officers which ſtood by, ſmote Ieſus with a rod, ſaying, Anſwereſt thou the high prieſt ſo?

23 Ieſus anſwered him, If I haue euill ſpoken, beare witneſſe of the euill: but if I haue well ſpoken, why ſmiteſt thou me?

*24 Now Annas had ſent him bound vnto Caiaphas the high prieſt. Mat.26.57.

*25 Simon Peter was ſtanding, and warming himſelfe, Then ſaid they vnto him, Art not thou alſo one of his diſciples? He denied it, and ſayd, I am not. Mat.26.69.

26 One of the ſeruants of the high prieſts (his couſin whoſe eare Peter ſmote off) ſaieth vnto him, Did not I ſee thee in the garden with him?

27 Peter therfore denied againe, and immediatly the cocke crew.

29 Pilate then went out vnto them, and ſayd, What accuſation bring you againſt this man?

30 They anſwered and ſayd vnto him, If he were not an euil doer, we would not haue deliuered him vnto thee.

31 Then ſaid Pilate vnto them, Take yee him, and iudge him after your owne lawe. The Iewes therefore ſayd vnto him, It is not lawful for vs to kill any man.

*32 That the worde of Ieſus might be fulfilled, which he ſpake, ſignifying what death he ſhould die. Mat.27.19.

*33 Then Pilate entred into the iudgement hall againe, and called Ieſus, and ſayd vnto him, Art thou the king of the Iewes? Mat.27.11.

34 Ieſus anſwered him, Saieſt thou this thing of thy ſelfe? or did other tell it thee of me?

35 Pilate anſwered, Am I a Iewe? Thine owne nation and high prieſts haue deliuered thee vnto me: what haſt thou done?

36 Ieſus anſwered, My kingdome is not of this world: if my kingdome were of this world, then would my ſeruants ſurely fight, that I ſhould not be deliuered to the Iewes: but now is my kingdome not from hence.

37 Pilate therefore ſayd vnto him, Art thou a king then? Ieſus anſwered, Thou ſayeſt that I am a king: For this cauſe am I borne, and for this cauſe came I into the world, that I ſhould beare witneſſe vnto the trueth: and all that are of the trueth heare my voyce.

CHAP. XIX.

The Iewes are not ſatiſfied with his ſcourging and irriſion. 8 Pilate hearing them ſay that he made himſelfe the Sonne of God, is more afraid. 12 Yet, they vrging him with his loyaltie toward Caeſar, and profeſſing that themſelues wil no king but Caeſar, he yeldeth vnto them. 17 And ſo Chriſt carying his owne Croſſe, is crucified betweene two theeues, 19 Pilate writing notoriouſly the onely cauſe of his death to be for that he is their king or Chriſt. 23 His garments be ſo vſed, euen as the Scriptures foretold. 25 He hath ſpeciall care of his mother to the end. 28 He ſignifieth al that was written of his Paſſion, to be fulfilled, and ſo yeldeth vp his ghoſt. 31 Then by the Iewes meanes alſo other Scriptures about his legs and ſide, are fulfilled. 38 And finally, he is honorably buried.

Mt.27,27, Mr.15,16. THen therfore Pilate tooke IESVS, and ſcourged him.

2 And the ſouldiars platting a crowne of thornes, put it vpon his head: and they put about him a purple garment.

3 And they came to him, and ſayd, Haile king of the Iewes, & they gaue him blowes.

4 Pilate went foorth againe, and ſaith to them, Behold I bring him foorth vnto you, that you may know that I finde no cauſe in him.

5 IESVS therfore went forth carying the crowne of thornes, and the purple veſtimēt. And he ſaith to them, Loe the man.

6 When the chiefe prieſts therefore and the miniſters had ſeene him, they cried, ſaying, Crucifie, crucifie him. Pilate ſaith to thē, Take him you, and crucifie him. for I finde no cauſe in him.

7 The Iewes anſwered him, We haue a Law: and according to the Law he ought to die, becauſe he hath made himſelfe the ſonne of God.

8 When Pilate therefore had heard this ſaying, he feared more.

9 And he entred into the Palace againe: and he ſaith to IESVS, Whence art thou? But IESVS gaue him no anſwer.

10 Pilate therfore ſaith to him, Speakeſt thou not to me? knoweſt thou not that I haue power to crucifie thee, & I haue power to releaſe thee?

11 IESVS anſwered, Thou ſhouldeſt not haue any power againſt me, vnleſſe it were giuen thee from aboue. Therefore he that hath THen Pilate tooke Ieſus therfore, & ſcourged him.

*2 And the ſouldiers, when they had wound a crowne of thornes, they did put it on his head, and they did caſt about him a purple garment. Matt.27.28. mark.15.18.

3 And ſayd, Haile king of the Iewes: and ſtroke him with rods.

4 Pilate went foorth agayne, and ſayd vnto them, Behold, I bring him forth to you, that ye may know that I find no fault in him.

5 Then came Ieſus forth, wearing the crown of thornes, and the robe of purple: & Pilate ſaith vnto them, Behold the man.

6 When the high prieſtes therefore and officers ſawe him, they cried, ſaying, Crucifie him, crucifie him. Pilate ſaieth vnto them, Take ye him, and crucifie him: for I find no fault in him.

7 The Iewes anſwered him, We haue a law, and by our law he ought to die: becauſe he made himſelfe the ſonne of God.

8 When Pilate heard that ſaying, he was the more afraid,

9 And went againe into the iudgement hall, and ſaith vnto Ieſus, Whence art thou? But Ieſus gaue him no anſwer.

10 Then ſaieth Pilate vnto him, Speakeſt thou not vnto me? Knoweſt thou not that I haue power to crucifie thee, and haue power to looſe thee?

11 Ieſus anſwered, Thou couldeſt haue no power at all againſt mee, except it were giuen thee from aboue: therfore he that deliuered me hath betrayed me to thee, hath the greater ſinne.

12 From thence foorth Pilate ſought to releaſe him. But the Iewes cried, ſaying, If thou releaſe this man, thou art not Cæſars frend. euery one that maketh himſelf a king, ſpeaketh againſt Cæſar.

13 But Pilate when he had heard theſe wordes, brought foorth IESVS: and he ſate in the iudgement ſeate, in the place that is called Lithóſtrotos, and in Hebrew Gábbatha.

14 And it was the Paraſceue of Paſche, about the ‡ ſixt houre, and he ſaith to the Iewes, Loe your king.

15 But they cried, Away, away with him, crucifie him. Pilate ſaith to them, Shal I crucifie your king? The chiefe prieſts anſwered. We haue no king, but Cæſar.

16 Then therfore he deliuered him vnto them for to be crucified. And they tooke IESVS, and led him forth.

17 *And bearing his owne ‖croſſe he went forth into that which is called the place of Caluarie, in Hebrew Gólgotha.

18 Where they crucified him, and with him two others, on the one ſide and on the other, and in the middes IESVS.

19 And Pilate wrote a title alſo: and he put it vpon the croſſe. And it was written, IESVS OF NAZARETH THE KING OF THE IEWES.

20 This title therfore many of the Iewes did read: becauſe the place where IESVS was crucified, was nigh to the citie: and it was written in ‡ Hebrew, in Greeke, and in Latine.

21 The chiefe prieſts therefore of the Iewes ſaid to Pilate, Write not, The king of the Iewes: but that he ſaid, I am king of the Iewes.

22 Pilate anſwered, That which I haue written, I haue written.

23 The *ſouldiers therefore when they had crucified him, tooke his garments (and they made foure partes, to euery ſouldier a part) & his coate. And his ‡ coate was without ſeame, wrought from the toppe through out.

24 They ſayd therefore one to an other, Let vs not cut it, but let vs caſt lottes for it whoſe it ſhal be. That the ſcripture might be fulfilled, ſaying, They haue parted my garments among them: and vpon my veſture they haue caſt lots. And the ſouldiers did theſe things.

25 And there ſtood beſide the croſſe of IESVS,

‡ He meaneth midday, counting from funne riſing. for ſo doth the ſcripture count the houres of the day. Mat. 20. Mar. 15. Luc. 23. Io. 4. Act. 3. & 10.

12 And from thencefoorth ſought Pilate meanes to looſe him: but the Iewes cried, ſaying, If thou let him goe, thou art not Cæſars friend: For whoſoeuer maketh him ſelfe a king, ſpeaketh againſt Cæſar.

13 Whē Pilate heard that ſaying, he brought Ieſus foorth, and he ſate downe in the iudgement ſeate, in a place that is called the pauement, but in the Hebrew tongue, Gabbatha.

14 It was the preparing of the Paſſeouer, and about the ſixth houre: and he ſaieth vnto the Iewes, Behold your king.

15 They cried, Away with him, away with him, crucifie him. Pilate ſaith vnto them, Shall I crucifie your king? The high prieſts anſwered, We haue no king but Cæſar. Matt. 27. 31. mark. 15. 21. luke 23. 26.

*16 Then deliuered he him therefore vnto them to be crucified: and they tooke Ieſus, and led him away.

17 And he bearing his croſſe, went forth into a place which is called the place of a skull, but in the Hebrew, Golgotha:

18 Where they crucified him, and two other with him, on either ſide one, and Ieſus in the middes.

19 And Pilate wrote a title, and put it on the croſſe. The writing was, IESVS OF NAZARETH, THE KING OF THE IEWES.

20 This title read many of the Iewes: for the place where Ieſus was crucified, was nigh to the citie: and it was written in Hebrew, and Greeke and Latine.

21 Then ſayd the high prieſts of the Iewes to Pilate, Write not the king of the Iewes: but that he ſaid, I am king of the Iewes.

22 Pilate anſwered, What I haue written, that haue I written,

*23 Then the ſouldiers, when they had crucified Ieſus, tooke his garments, (and made foure parts, to euery ſouldier a part) and alſo his coate: the coate was without ſeame, wouen from the top throughout. Matt. 27. 35. mark. 15. 24. luke 23. 33.

*24 They ſaid therefore among themſelues, Let vs not diuide it, but caſt lottes for it, whoſe it ſhall be: that the ſcripture might be fulfilled, ſaying, * They parted my raiment among them, and for my coate did they caſt lottes. And the ſouldiers did ſuch things in deed.* Pſ. 22. 19.

IESVS, ‡his mother, and his mothers ſiſter, Marie of Cleophas, and Marie Magdalene.

26 When IESVS therfore had ſeen his mother and the diſciple ſtanding whom he loued, he ſaith ‖ to his mother: Woman, beholde thy ſonne.

27 After that, he ſaith ‖ to the diſciple, Behold thy mother. And frō that houre the diſciple tooke her to his owne.

28 bAfterward IESVS knowing that al things were now conſummate, that * the Scripture might be fulfilled, he ſaith, I thirſt.

29 A veſſel therfore ſtoode there ful of vinegre. And they putting a ſponge ful of vinegre about hyſſope, offered it to his mouth.

30 IESVS therfore when he had taken the vinegre, ſaid, It is cōſummate. And bowing his head, he gaue vp the ghoſt.

31 The Iewes therfore (becauſe it was the Paraſceue) that the bodies might not remaine vpon the croſſe on the Sabboth (for that was a great Sabboth day) they deſired Pilate that their legges might be broken, & they might be taken away.

32 The ſouldiars therfore came: and of the firſt in deede they brake the legges, and of the other that was crucified with him.

33 But after they were come to IESVS, when they ſaw that he was dead, they did not breake his legges, 34 But one of the ſouldiars with a ſpeare opened his ſide, and incontinent there came forth ‖ bloud and water.

39 *Nicodemus alſo came, he that at the firſt came to IESVS by night, bringing a mixture of myrrhe and aloés, about an hundred poundes.

26 When Ieſus therefore ſaw his mother and the diſciple ſtanding by, whom he loued, he ſaith vnto his mother, Woman, behold thy ſonne.

27 Then ſaith he to the diſciple, Beholde thy mother. And from that houre the diſciple tooke her vnto his owne houſe.

28 After theſe things, Ieſus knowing that al things were now performed, * that the Scripture might be fulfilled, he ſaith, I thirſt. Pſal.69.22.

29 So there ſtoode a veſſel by, full of vineger? Therefore when they had filled a ſponge with vineger, and put it vpon hyſſope, they offered it to his mouth.

30 When Ieſus therefore had receiued the vineger, he ſaid, It is finiſhed, and when he had bowed his head, he gaue vp the ghoſt.

31 The Iewes therefore, becauſe it was the preparing of the Sabboth, that the bodies ſhould not remaine vpon the croſſe on the Sabboth day (for that Sabboth day was an high day) beſought Pilate that their legges might be broken, and that they might be taken downe.

32 Then came the ſouldiers, and brake the legges of the firſt, and of the other which was crucified with him.

33 But when they came to Ieſus, and ſaw that he was dead alreadie, they brake not his legges.

34 But one of the ſouldiers with a ſpeare thruſt him into the ſide, & forthwith came there out blood and water.

35 And he that ſaw it, bare record, and his record is true, and he knoweth that he ſaith true, that ye might beleeue alſo.

37 And againe another ſcripture ſaith, * They ſhal looke on him whom they pearſed. Zach.12.10.

*38 * After this, Ioſeph of Arimathæa (being a diſciple of Ieſus, but ſecrete for feare of the Iewes,) beſought Pilate that he might take downe the body of Ieſus, and Pilate gaue him licence: he came therefore, and tooke the body of Ieſus.* Matt.27.57. mark 15.42. luk.23.15.

39 And there came alſo Nicodemus, which at the beginning came to Ieſus by night, and brought of myrrhe and aloes mingled together, about an hundred pound waight:

40 Then tooke they the bodie of Ieſus, and wound it in linnen clothes, with the odours, as the maner of the Iewes is to burie.

41 And

41 And there was in the place where he was crucified, a garden: and in the garden a new monument, wherein no man yet had been laide.

42 There therfore becauſe of the Paraſceue of the Iewes, they laid IESVS, becauſe the monument was hard by.

42 And in the place where he was crucified there was a garden, and in the garden a new ſepulchre, wherein was neuer man yet laid.

42 There laid they Ieſus therefore, becauſe of the preparing of the Sabboth of the Iewes, for the ſepulchre was nigh at hand.

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. XIX.

Rhem. 1. 20. Hebrew, in Greeke, and in Latin.) Theſe three tongues being for other cauſes moſt famous before in al the world, are now alſo conſecrated to God in the triumphant title of the Croſſe of Chriſt, and in them the holy Scriptures are more conueniently written, taught, and profeſſed.

Fulke. 1. The tongues of all nations are ſanctified by the Holy ghoſt, to vtter the great and magnificall thinges of God Act. 2. 11. The writing of Pilate, to the deriſion of Chriſt, is a vaine reaſon of the ſanctifying of theſe three tongues. For by Hebrue it is moſt like the Euangeliſt meaneth the Syrian language, which the was the vulgar tongue of the Iewes: and in Latine was no part of the holy ſcripture firſt written. All tongues are ſanctified.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. XIX.

Rhem. 2. 15. His owne croſſe.) This croſſe, for that it was the inſtrument of our redemption, and as it were the altar of the ſupreme ſacrifice, highly ſanctified by the touching, the wine, and oblation of the ſacred body and bloud of our Lord, is truely called the HOLY CROSSE: and hath been endued with vertue of miracles, both the whole and euery little peece thereof. For the which cauſes, and ſpecially for the moſt neere memorial of Chriſtes Paſſion, it hath beene viſited in Pilgrimages, honoured by feſtiual dayes and otherwiſe, reſerued & reuerenced of the ancient fathers, with al deuotion: as contrariwiſe it hath been abuſed of Pagans, Apoſtates, and Heretikes, ſeeking in vaine to deface and deſtroy it. Paulus Diac. li. 18. The HOLY CROSSE.

Fulke. 2. The ſcripture neuer calleth the croſſe whereon Chriſt died, holy, but rather curſed. For S. Paule prooueth that Chriſt became accurſed for vs, by that he ſuffered on the croſſe, according to the ſcripture: Curſed is euery one that hangeth on a tree. Gal. 3. 13. And for many hundred yeeres after Chriſt, there was no mention or regard what became of it. But when ſuperſtition began to grow, it was ſaid to be found in Conſtantines time by Helena his mother, which it is not like that Euſebius would haue omitted in the life of Conſtantine, writing of Helena matters of leſſe importance then that inuention, if it had beene ſo in deed. But howſoeuer it was, it was credited in the later times, and much eſteemed, not without ſome ſpot of ſuperſtition. For if there had belonged anie religious care of it to the Church of Chriſt, the apoſtles would haue procured the keeping of it, and not ſuffered the Church to haue beene three hundred yeeres without it. For it had beene an eaſier ſuite for Ioſeph and Nichodemus, to obteine of Pilate then the body of Ieſus himſelfe. But in the later times, as ſuperſtition did more and more increaſe, and miracles were fained vnto it, the croſſe alſo was multiplied in number, and the peeces were made thereof ſo many as would lade a ſhip, if they were laid together, as Eraſmus ſaith Which alſo is defended to be poſſible by the counterfeit auctoritie of Paulinus B. of Nola ep. 11. where he ſaith: Crux illa &c. That croſſe holding a liuing force in matter void of ſence, doth ſince the time it was found, ſo kind the wood of it to the immunerable deſires of men almoſt daily, that it ſuſteineth no diminiſhing, and continueth as if it had neuer bene touched, men daily taking part of it, and yet worſhipping it ſtill whole. But this incorruptible vertue and ſolidity that cannot be conſumed, it did drinke in truly of the bloud of that fleſh, which hauing ſuffered death ſaw no corruption. But this is ſo groſſe a fable, that the Cenſors appointed according to the councell of Trent in the low countries, for ſhame haue commanded in their ind. expurg. to be put out of the booke of Iohannes Sartorius, who allegeth it to iuſtifie the hyberbolicall ſaying of Eraſmus. But let vs ſee what is alleged out of the ancient writers concerning it. Firſt Cyrill ſpeaketh of the ſigne of the croſſe, which doth put men in remembrance of many good thinges againſt Iulian, which ſlandered the Chriſtians, that they worſhipped the wood of the croſſe, by painting the image of it in their forhead and before their houſes. S. Hierome being in Iewrie, writeth in the perſon of Paula and Euſtochium to Marcella, of the memories of Chriſtes birth, life, death and buriall, that were in thoſe places, among which he reckoneth Crucis lambere ligneam, to licke or kiſſe the wood of the croſſe, whereby it ſeemeth they were perſuaded that the croſſe was there, and yet it may be the words be allegoricall, as many other in that epiſtle: Videre exire Lazarum &c. To ſee Lazarus come forth bound with clothes. Meaning to be in the place where Lazarus was raiſed, and to remember his comming forth. Leo epiſt. 72. writing to the biſhop of Ieruſalem, ſheweth that he may be put in minde of both the natures of Chriſt, by the places where his miracles were wrought, & his paſſion ſuffered. Hoc tibi ipſa crux indeſinenter loquitur. This thing the very croſſe it ſelfe doth ſpeake to thee inceſſantly: by which wordes it could not be prooued, that Leo was perſuaded, that the croſſe it ſelfe on which Chriſt died, was then at Ieruſalem: but that in the end he ſaith: Partiunculam Dominicæ crucis, cum cuberis dilectionis veſtræ veneranter accepi: I receiued reuerently a litle peece of our Lords croſſe, with your commendations. Ho. 8. de paſſion. he ſpeaketh magnifically of the croſſe, that it was the altar of the world, at time of the paſſion of Chriſt. That Chriſt caried the trophee of his triumph, & on the ſhoulders of his inuincible patience, he brought into all kingdoms the ſigne of ſaluation to be honored, as though euen then, by the very ſimilitude of his worke, he confirmed all his followers, and ſaid, he that taketh not vp his croſſe and followeth me, is not worthy of me. In which ſaying, except you grate vpon the words, ſignum ſalutis adorandũ, the ſigne of ſaluation to be had in reuerence or honoured, is nothing ſounding towards your ſuperſtition. Although in the words following, Leo expoũdeth his meaning, how it is to be honored, by admoniſhing men of their conformitie vnto Chriſtes death and paſſion. Euagrius a writer in a more ſuperſtitious time, telleth a miracle of Chriſt, that was ſhewed when Thomas biſhop The croſſe of Chriſt.

ſhop of Apamea, caried the croſſe wheron Chriſt died about the church to be worſhipped of men which earneſtly deſired to ſee it, at ſuch time as he vſed not to ſhew it, becauſe Choſroes hauing lately deſtroyed Antioche, they thought it ſhould be the laſt time that they ſhuld ſee it. For they were next in danger, which they eſcaped for that preſent time, & an image of that miracle was hanged vp in the church, which ſoone after with all the city was conſumed with fire by the Perſians. In which ſtory (if it be true) it is to be noted, that the croſſe was ſuppoſed thē to be at Apamea, where ſoone after, by all likelihood, it was burned with the church in which it was kept. Paulus Diaconus a late writer alſo telleth how Tiberius Conſtantinus found a great treaſure hidden in the earth vnder a marble croſſe, which he cauſed to be taken vp: ſaying, Doe we tread vnder our feete our Lords croſſe wherwith we ought to defend our forhead and breſt? In which ſtorie, the iudgement of Tiberius Conſtantinus which would not tread vpon it, is no more to be eſteemed, then the iudgement of manie emperours before him, which had ſeene it in their palace, & ſuffered it to lie, or of him (whoſoeuer he was) that did hide the treaſure vnder it. Now come we to the epiſtle of Paulinus, and the ſtorie of Ruffinus, in which, mention is made of the inuention of the croſſe. And firſt concerning the credit of that epiſtle lately brought to light, the reader muſt be admoniſhed, that the ſtile rather ſauoreth ſome monkiſh character, then that Paulinus, whoſe epiſtles vnto Auguſtine haue long beene read and knowne, and the popiſh cenſors (as we haue ſhewed before) are aſhamed of it. But admitting it to be authenticall, let vs ſee what credit it deſerueth. Firſt he ſendeth to Seuerus a part of a litle peece of the wood of the diuine croſſe, and that his relique might be the better eſteemed, he telleth the whole ſtory of the inuention of the croſſe by Helena. In which ſtory it is worthy to be conſidered, how well the writers therof agree, that we may verily thinke it was forged. Seeing Euſebius, who writeth the life of Conſtantine, and in the ſame rehearſeth the acts and buildings of Helena in Iewrie, maketh no mention of any ſuch matter. Therefore that breefe note in the chronicle, bearing the name of Euſebius, is doubtleſſe an adiection of ſome later writer. S. Ambroſe then is the moſt ancient writer, that maketh mention of that inuention: De obitu Theodoſ. And he ſaith plainly, that three croſſes being found, the croſſe of Chriſt was knowne by the title that Pilate faſtened vnto it. Titulo patuit crux ſalutaris. The healthfull croſſe was knowne by the title. Ruffinus ſaith, the title could not bewray the croſſe of Chriſt. Sozomenus and Nicephorus ſay, the letters were worne out. Soz. lib. 2. c. 1. Niceph. lib. 8. c. 29. Paulinus ſaith: The way to diſcerne it, was reueiled cheefly to Helena her ſelfe. Ruffinus aſcribeth the deuiſe to Macarius biſhop of Ieruſalem: ſo doth Sozomenus, Theodoret, and Socrates. Paulinus ſaith it was knowne by raiſing vp a dead man to life. Ruffinus ſaith it was diſcerned by reſtoring a ſicke woman to health, with whom agree Socrat. lib. 1. cap. 17. Theodoret. lib. 1. cap. 18. Sozomen addeth, that it was reported alſo of a dead man to be reſtored to life. Paulinus ſaith the croſſe remaineth whole, at Ieruſalem, but yet ſo, that albeit innumerable peeces be daily cut of at the requeſt of men, it is nothing diminiſhed, but remaineth as though it had neuer beene touched. Ruffinus ſaith that Helena left part of it at Ieruſalem, the reſt ſhe ſent to Conſtantinople, which as all the inhabitants of Conſtantinople affirmed, Conſtantinus incloſed in his owne image, and there it was in the time of Socrates. How it came to Apemea, let Euagrius tell. Sir Iohn Mandeuill ſaith, it was whole at Conſtantinople in his time, although the monkes of a certeine abbey in Cypres, affirmed that they had a part of it to get an offring. Paulinus ſaith, that the biſhop of Ieruſalem yeerely at Eaſter, bringeth it forth to be adored, himſelfe being the principall of the worſhippers. S. Ambroſe ſaith, that to worſhip it, it is an heatheniſh error and vanity of vngodly men. For theſe are his wordes: Inuenit ergo titulum regem adorauit, non lignum vtique, quia hic gentilis eſt error, & vanitas impiorum. Sed adorauit illum qui pependit in ligno, ſcriptus in titulo. She found the title, ſhe adored the king, not the tree verily, for that is an heatheniſh error, and vanitie of the vngodly. But ſhe adored him which had hanged vpon the tree, which was written in the title. Therfore if the inuention of the croſſe were not a forged matter, as by the diuerſitie of reports, it ſeemeth to be, yet by iudgement of S. Ambroſe agreeable to the holy ſcripture, the croſſe cannot be worſhipped without heatheniſh error, and vaine impiety. Finally the placing of Mary and Iohn (for ſo you call thoſe blocks) by the rood in the popiſh church, hath no more warrant in the word of God then the rood it ſelfe, for any thing we can ſee in this chapter.

The rood with Mary & Iohn.

Rhem. 26. To his mother,) The marueleus reſpect that Chriſt had to his mother, vouchſaſing to ſpeake to her, & to take order for her euen from the croſſe in the middes of his infinite anguiſhes and myſteries a working for mankind.

By this you ſee why in Catholike Churches MARIE and Iohn ſtand by the Roode.

27. To the Diſciple.) A great honour to Iohn and charge, to haue that Ieſſed iewel in keeping: and an vnſpeakable comfort, that from that day forward the one was to the other mother & ſonne. Virginem virgini commendauit. ſaith S. Hierom. He commended the virgin to a virgin.

S. 3. adu. Iouinian.

Rhem. 3. 34. Bloud and water.) This peerſing of Chriſts ſide, though on the ſouldiars part it was done blindly & inſolently, yet by Gods ordinance it conteined great myſteries, and was prefigured by Moyſes ſtriking the rocke with his rodde: as this ſtreame of bloud and water drawen miraculouſly out of his dead body, running in the Sacraments of the Church after the people of God, was ſignified by the water of the ſame rocke following the Iſraelites in the deſert. Out of this ſide (ſaith S. Auguſtine) iſſued the Sacraments. Hence (ſaith S. Chryſoſtom) the great myſteries haue their beginning. Who warneth vs, that when we come to drinke of the holy chalice, we ſhould ſo approche, as though we drew the bloud out of Chriſtes ſide. And both bloud and water apart did flow forth, to ſh w vs the fountaine of two principal Sacraments, and their ſeuerall matters, Baptiſme & the Euchariſt ſpringing to life euerlaſting in the Church. The fathers alſo ſay that the Church who is Chriſts ſponſe and his coadiutrice in applying the bloud and water to the benefite of the Faithful, was here formed builded, and taken out of this holy ſide of Chriſt ſleeping on the Croſſe, as Eue was of Adams ſide, when he was caſt a ſleepe in Paradiſe.*

Exo. 16. Num. 20. Tract. 9. in Ioan. Hom. 84. in Ioan.

Gen. 2. 21.

Fulke 3. By thoſe ſayings of S. Auguſtine and Chryſoſtome, it might be rightly gathered, that thoſe fathers acknowledged but thoſe only two ſacraments, in that ſenſe and kinde of ſacraments and myſteries, baptiſme and the Euchariſty, which flowed out of the ſide of our ſauiour Chriſt.

Vpon Eaſter day his body is miſſed in the Sepulchre, firſt by M. Magdalene, 3 ſecondly by Peter alſo and Iohn, the winding clothes yet remaining. 11 Then to M. EASTER DAY.

Mt 28,1. Mr.16,1. Lu.24,1.

‡ That is, the firſt day of the weeke, as ſome interprete it, taking Sabboth (as ſometime it is) for a weeke. This is our Sunday, called Dies Dominica, becauſe of our Lords reſurrection. See the margenner. Lu: 24.1. Luc.24,12.

AND the ‡ firſt of the Sabboth, Marie Magdalene commeth early, when it was yet darke, vnto the monument: and ſhe ſaw the ſtone taken away from the monument.

2 She ranne therfore and commeth to Simon Peter, and to the other diſciple whom IESVS loued, & ſaith to them, they haue taken our Lord out of the monument, and we know not where they haue laid him.

3 Peter therfore went forth & that other diſciple, and they came to the monument.

4 And both ranne together, and that other diſciple did out-runne Peter, and came firſt to the monument.

5 And when he had ſtouped downe, he ſaw the linnen clothes lying: but yet he went not in.

6 Simon Peter therfore commeth, following him, and went into the monument, and ſaw the linnen clothes lying,

7 And the napkin that had been vpon his head, not lying with the linnen clothes, but apart, wrapped vp into one place.

8 Then therfore went in that other diſciple alſo which came firſt to the monument: and he ſaw, and beleeued.

9 For as yet they knew not the ſcripture, that he ſhould riſe againe from the dead.

10 The diſciples therfore departed againe to them ſelues.

The Goſpel vpon Thurſday in Eaſter weeke. Mt.28,1. Mr.16,5. Luc.24,4.

11 But * Marie ſtoode at the ‡ monument without, weeping. Therfore as ſhe was weeping, ſhe ſtouped downe, and looked into the monument:

12 And ſhe ſaw two Angels in white, ſitting, one at the head, and one at the feete, where the body of IESVS had been laid.

13 They ſay to her, Woman, why weepeſt thou? She ſaith to them, Becauſe they haue taken away my Lord, and I know not where they haue put him.

14 When ſhe had ſaid thus, ſhe turned backward, and ſaw IESVS ſtanding: & ſhe knew not that it is IESVS.

15 IESVS ſaith to her, Woman, why weepeſt thou? whom ſeekeſt thou? She thinking that it was the gardiner, ſaith to him, Sir, if thou haſt caried him away, tel me where thou haſt laid him: and I wil take him away.

17 IESVS

THe firſt day of the Sabboths, commeth Mary Magdalene early, when it was yet darke, vnto the ſepulchre, and ſeeth the ſtone taken away from the graue. Matth. 16.1. luke 14.1.

2 Then ſhe runneth, and commeth to Simon Peter, and to the other diſciple whom Ieſus loued, and ſaith vnto them, They haue taken away the Lord out of the graue, and we can not tell where they haue laied him.

3 Peter therefore went forth, and that other diſciple, and came to the ſepulchre.

4 They ran both together, and the other diſciple did outrunne Peter, and came firſt to the ſepulchre.

5 And when he had ſtouped downe, he ſawe the linen clothes lying, yet went he not in.

6 Then commeth Simon Peter following him, and went into the ſepulchre, and ſeeth the linen clothes lie,

7 And the napkin that was about his head, not lying with the linen clothes, but wrapped together in a place by it ſelfe.

8 Then went in alſo that other diſciple which came firſt to the ſepulchre, and he ſawe, and beleeued.

9 For as yet they knew not the Scripture, that he ſhould riſe from death.

10 Then the diſciples went away againe vnto their owne houſe.

Matth. 28.1 mark.16.5.

*11 * Marie ſtood without at the ſepulchre, weeping: ſo as ſhe wept, ſhe bowed her ſelfe into the ſepulchre,*

12 And ſeeth two angels clothed in white, ſitting, the one at the head, and the other at the feete, where the body of Ieſus was laid.

13 They ſay vnto her, Woman, why weepeſt thou? She ſaith vnto them, For they haue taken away my Lord, and I wote not where they haue laid him.

14 When ſhe had thus ſaid, ſhe turned her ſelfe backe and ſaw Ieſus ſtanding, and knew not that it was Ieſus.

15 Ieſus ſaith vnto her, Woman, why weepeſt thou? Whom ſeekeſt thou? She ſuppoſing that it had bene the gardiner, ſaieth vnto him, Sir, if thou haue borne him hence, tell me where thou haſt laied him, and I will fetch him.

16 Ieſus ſaith vnto her, Marie. She turned her ſelfe, and ſayd vnto him, Rabboni, which is to ſay, Maſter.

17 Ieſus

17 IESVS ſaith to her, Do not touch me, for I am not yet aſcended to my Father: but goe to my brethren, and ſay to them, I aſcend to my Father and your Father, my God and your God.

18 Marie Magdalene commeth and telleth the diſciples, That I haue ſeen our Lord, and thus he ſaid vnto me.

The Goſpel vpon Dominica in albis or Low Sunday. Mr.16,14. Lu.24,36. 1.Cor.15,5.

19 Therfore when it was * late that day, the firſt of the Sabboths, and ‖ the doores were ſhut, where the diſciples were gathered together for feare of the Iewes, IESVS came and ſtoode in the middes, and ſaith to them, Peace be to you.

20 And when he had ſaid this, he ſhewed them his handes and ſide. The diſciples therefore were glad when they ſawe our Lord.

‡ Though he gaue them his peace hard before, yet now entering to a new diuine action, to prepare their hartes to grace and attention, he bleſſeth them againe.

21 He ſaid therfore to them againe, ‡ Peace be to you. ‖ As my Father hath ſent me, I alſo doe ſend you.

22 When he had ſaid this, ‖ he breathed vpon them: and he ſaith to them, Receiue ye the holy Ghoſt:

The Goſpel vpon S. Thomas the Apoſtles day, Decemb.21.

24 But Thomas one of the Twelue, who is called Didymus, was not with them when IESVS came.

23 The other diſciples therfore ſaid to him, We haue ſeen our Lord. But he ſaid to them, Vnles I ſee in his handes the print of the nailes, and put my finger into the place of the nailes, and put my hand into his ſide: I wil not beleeue.

LOVV SVNDAY.

26 And after eight daies, againe his diſciples were within: and Thomas with them. IESVS commeth ‡ the doores being ſhut, and ſtoode in the middes, and ſaid, Peace be to you.

‡ See the annotation on the 19. verſe of this Chapter.

27 Then he ſaith to Thomas, Put in thy finger hither, and ſee my handes, and bring hither thy hand, and put it into my ſide: and be not incredulous but faithful.

28 Thomas anſwered, and ſaid to him, My Lord, and my God.

29 IESVS ſaith to him, Becauſe thou haſt ſeen me, Thomas, thou haſt beleeued: ‡ bleſſed are they that haue not ſeen and haue beleeued.

‡ They are more happy that beleeue without ſenſible argument or ſight, then ſuch as be induced by ſenſe or reaſon to beleeue. Io.21,25.

30 * Many other ſignes alſo did IESVS in the ſight of his diſciples, which are not written in this booke.

31 And theſe are written, that you may beleeue

18 Marie Magdalene commeth, bringing tidings to the Diſciples that ſhe had ſeene the Lord, and that he had ſpoken ſuch things vnto her.

*19 * The ſame day at night, which was the firſt day of the † Sabbothes, when the doores were ſhut, where the diſciples were aſſembled together for feare of the Iewes, came Ieſus, and ſtoode in the middes, and ſaith vnto them, Peace be vnto you.* Luke 24. 36. † Or, weeke.

20 And when he had ſo ſaid, he ſhewed vnto them his hands and his ſide. Then were the diſciples glad, when they ſaw the Lord.

21 Then ſaid Ieſus to them againe, Peace be vnto you: As my Father hath ſent me, euen ſo ſende I you alſo.

22 And when he had ſaid thoſe wordes, he breathed on them, and ſaith vnto them, Receiue ye the holy Ghoſt.

*23 * Whoſoeuer ſinnes ye remit, they are remitted vnto them, and whoſoeuer ſinnes ye retaine, they are retained.* Matth.28.18

24 But Thomas, one of the twelue, which is called Didymus, was not with them when Ieſus came.

25 The other diſciples therefore ſaid vnto him, We haue ſeene the Lord. But he ſaid vnto them, Except I ſhall ſee in his handes the print of the nailes, and put my finger into the print of the nailes, and thruſt my hand into his ſide, I will in no wiſe beleeue.

*26 And after eight dayes, againe his Diſciples were within, and Thomas with them: Then came Ieſus, * the doores being ſhut, and ſtoode in the middes, and ſayde, Peace be vnto you.* * The Greeke is both here and verſe 19. After the doores were ſhut

27 After that ſaith he to Thomas, Bring thy finger hither, and ſee my handes, and reach hither thy hand, and thruſt it into my ſide, and be not faithleſſe, but beleeuing.

29 Ieſus ſayth vnto him, Thomas, becauſe thou haſt ſeene me, thou haſt beleeued, bleſſed are they that haue not ſeene, and yet haue beleeued.

that Iesus Christ is the Sonne of God, and that in beleeuing, yee might haue life through his name.

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP.XX.

Rhem.1. 11. Monument without.) The Sepulchres of Martyrs (saith S. Hierom ep.17.) we do honour euery where, and putting their holy ashes to our eies, if we may, we touch it also with our mouth: and be there some that thinke the monuments wherein our Lord was laid, is to be neglected: where the Diuel and his Angels, as often as they are cast out of the possessed before the said monuments, tremble and roare as if they stoode before the iudgement seate of Christ.

Fulke 1. Howsoeuer Hierome, in the persons of those two women, in whose name he wrote that Epistle, esteemed of the monument, the Apostles made small accompt of it, nor the Church before the time of Constantinus, which was about 300. yeeres. And although the sepulchres of Martyrs, and the remnants of their bodies, be reuerently to be esteemed, yet the superstition and idolatrie of Papistes, worshipping fained and counterfeit stuffe for the most part in steede of true reliques, is no way to be excused. Sepulchre of Christ. Reliques.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP.XX.

Rhem.2. 19. The doores were shut.) Such Heretikes as deny Christs body to be or that it can be in the B. Sacrament, for that it is in heauen, and can not be in two places at once, nor without the naturall maner of the quantitie, space or place agreable to the condition of his humanitie, be inuincibly refuted by Christs entering into the Disciples, the doores shut: and by that that his true naturall body, whole and perfect in al his limmes, length, bredth, and thickne, distinct and diuers from the substance and corpulence of the wood, was in the same proper place that the wood was in, and passed through the same: as he also came out of his mothers wombe, the clausure not stirred: and passed through the stone, out of his Sepulcher. By al which the Heretikes being plainely reproued, and conuinced of infidelitie, they boldly deny the plaine Scriptures, or so fondly shift them selues from the euidence thereof, that their impudencie is specially to be marked in this point. The being of Christs body in the B. Sacrament without space or quantitie correspondent to the rest, is proued by other examples in Scripture.

Some say, that he came in at the window: some, that the doore opened of it self to let him in: some, that to come in, the doores being shut, signifieth no more, but that he came in late in the euening, as what time men vse to shut their doores: and such other flights to defend falshod, against expresse Scriptures, and against the Apostles testimonie, who therfore tooke him to be a Spirit, because they saw him stand sodenly in the middes of them, al the house being close shut. And the Fathers al confesse that he went in, the doores being shut. See S. Ambrose li.10.in Lucam c.24. S. Augustine ep.3. ad Volusian & li.22. de ciuit.c.8 and S. Cyril, in Io.li.12,c.53. and S. Hiero. li 1.cont.Iouinianum c.21. We know it is the naturall course of Gods ordinance, that euery body should haue but one and his owne proper place fitted to the lineaments, quantitie, termes and Heretical shifts to auoid plaine Scripture.

August.ep. 57. limites of the same: without which naturally the bodies were no where, and consequently not as al, as S. Augustine saith ad Dardanum. but that God supernaturally and miraculously can not by his omnipotencie dispose otherwise of his owne body, then the naturall forme or quantitie or qualitie therof requite, that is great incredulitie. seing we must beleeue that he can Christ can dispose of his owne body & others aboue nature.

Mat.19. Aug.li.22.c.8. de ciu.Dei. dot so with any other body of mere men or other creatures, the Scripture being plaine that he can make a camel passe through a needles eie, continuing in his naturall figure and quantitie stil: and S. Augustine telleth of a woman whose ring fel from her girdle, both being fast and whole: and Rupertus of a Religious man, whose girdle fast buckled fel downe before him from his body. De off.Eccl.

Therfore it is to much vnfaithfulnes, by rules of place to embarre Christ of his wil or wisedom to be in the Sacrament how him self list, and on as many altars or places as he liketh. we detest for al that, the wicked heresie of certaine Protestants, holding quite contrary to the Zuinglians, that Christ according to his humanitie is in euery place where the Diuinitie is: which is both against faith, and the common rules of nature and diuinitie. Vbiquetaries or Brentians.

Fulke. 2. It can neuer be proued, that Christs bodie came either through the wood of the dores, or through the stone of the sepulchre, or through the clausure of his mothers wombe. And concerning the last, the Scripture is euident to the contrary, where it is said, that our Sauiour Christ was presented to the Lord, according as it is written: Euery male that first openeth the matrix, &c. Luc.2,29. The same affirmeth S. Hierom Cont. Pelag. li.2 saying, Clausas portas vulua virginalis apperuit, He opened the gates of the Virgines wombe, that were shut. For the immaculate virginitie of Marie, consisted not, in that the clausure was not stirred, but in that, she was free from the companie of man. Neither is it said, that Christ came through the dores being shut, but after the dores were shut, which yet at his entrie, were opened miraculously, as to the Apostles the prison dores, Actes 5,19. & 12,10. So I say of the stone, if he arose before the Angel remoued the same. Mat.28. You say, that some say, he came in at the window, yet are you able to name none of vs, that so sayth or thinketh. But where we say, the dore opened vnto him miraculously, or that he came in late, after the dores were shut, you say they be flights to defend falshod against expresse Scriptures: but we may wel say, you haue nothing but brasen faces, to oppose against the manifest truth For where haue you any expresse Scriptures, that he came through the wood of the dores being shut, the expresse wordes of the Euangelist are, after the dores were shut. But you adde, that our exposition is against the Apostles testimony, who therefore tooke him to be a spirit, because they saw him stand sodainly in the middest of them, all the house being close shut. Which is a weake testimonie, that he came through the wood and yron of the dores. They thought him to be a spirit when he walked on the waters, Matt.14,20. Yea it is no certaine testimonie, that he came in miraculously, for it might be, the dore was opened vnto him, by some of the house, vnknowing to them. But admitting that he came in miraculously, your grosse imagination is contrary to the testimonie and argument of Christ him selfe, when to remoue that false suspicion out of their mindes, he sayth, handle, and see me, for a spirit hath not flesh and bones, as you see me haue, Luc.24. Which argument, had bene altogether insufficient, to proue the truth of his bodily presence, and resurrection in bodye, if they had bene The body of Christ.

bene perſwaded that (after your fantaſie,) he came through the bordes of the dore: or that their ſenſes, concerning his body, could haue bene ſo greatly deceaued, that deliuering them bread to the iudgement of all their ſenſes, he had deliuered in the ſame compaſſe and ſhape of bread, not bread, but his naturall body ſitting ſtill in their ſight. If therefore the Apoſtles had vnderſtood the wordes of the ſupper, as Papiſtes doe, they could not haue bene perſwaded, by the arguments of their ſenſes, which Chriſt offereth, of the truth and certaintie of the reſurrection of his body from death to life. But all the Fathers (you ſay) confeſſe, that he went in, the dores being ſhut. That he came in miraculouſly, the moſt doe thinke, and ſo doe we, but not that his body came through the wood of the dores. S Ambroſe ſayth, Thomas had cauſe to wonder, when he ſaw, that after all bodies were ſhut, the ioynts not hurt, his body gotten in, through places encloſed, where no way was. And therefore it is marualle, how the bodily nature, through an impenitrable body did paſſe, his comming being inuiſible, his preſence viſible, he being eaſie to be touched, hard to be deemed. This he ſpeaketh of the Apoſtles error: but his reſolution vpon the wordes of Chriſt, handle me, &c. is this. Therefore not by an vnbodily nature, but by qualitie of bodily reſurrection, he paſſed through the places ſhut, where no viſuall way was. For that which is touched is a body, that which is handled is a body, and we ſhall riſe againe in the body. For it is ſowen a naturall body, it riſeth againe a ſpirituall body. In theſe wordes it appeareth, that Ambroſe eſteemed the qualitie of Chriſtes body, after his reſurrection, to be the ſame, which ſhal be of our bodies after they be riſen againe. Therefore except you wil aſcribe a perillous error vnto him, you muſt acknowledge, that he meaneth no more, but a miraculous entrance without paſſing of his body through the ſubſtance of other bodies, except you will acknowledge the ſame paſſage, to be the qualitie of all glorified bodies. S. Auguſtine Ep. 3. ſayth: The ſame vertue of his diuinitie, brought forth his body being an infant, through the virgines bowels of his immaculate mother, which after brought in his body being a yong man, through the dore, that were ſhut. That is, he was borne miraculouſly by his diuine power, he entred in miraculouſly by his diuine power, when the dores were ſhut, the truth of his body ſtill remaining, to which, (as he ſaith els where,) he gaue immortalitie, he took not from it the nature. Ep. 57. De Ciuit. 22. Cap. 8. After he had told the miracle of ỹ ring, that fel from ỹ womans girdle, being both faſt & whole, he ſaith: They beleeue not this, which beleeue not, that our Lord Ieſus Chriſt was borne of the virgines wombe of his mother being whole, and entred in to his diſciples after the dores were ſhut. But let them enquire of this, and if they find this to be true, let them beleeue the other. Admitting this miracle of the ring to be true, (as Auguſtine was perſwaded it was,) vpon ỹ report of the noble woman, from whome it fell, yet it foloweth not, that the ſubſtance of the ring, went through the ſubſtance of the girdle, but that the one ſubſtance, giuing place for the time, returned againe when the other was paſſed. Some incredulous Iew, ſeeing that the eare of Malchus, was ſo ſoone healed, would not beleeue, that Peters ſworde went betweene it and his head, as we are ſure it did. So we ſay of the birth of Chriſt, and of his entrie, the dores being ſhut. The place through which his body paſſed, might be whole and ſhut before and after he paſſed, but not in the inſtant of his paſſing, becauſe that is contrary to the nature of a true body, ſuch as his was. Cyrillus ſaith, Our Lord entred vnto his diſciples ſodenly by his omnipotencie, after the dores were ſhut, ouercomming the nature of things, with more wordes to the ſame effect, arguing nothing but that he came in after a wonderfull maner, which we doe acknowledge: yet not altering the nature of his body, but ſubduing the nature of other things to him ſelfe, as he ſheweth, in his walking vpon the water. Which Hierome alſo alledgeth, to proue the miraculous entring of Chriſt. But though he entred after the dores were ſhut, which the nature of humane bodies doth not ſuffer, therefore we ſhall deny both Peter and our Lord, to haue had true bodies, becauſe they walked vpon the waters, which is againſt nature. By this it appeareth, he meaneth a maruelous maner of entring, but yet ſuch, as taketh not away the truth of Chriſts body, from which, if you take diſtãce of ſpace, (as S. Auguſtine ſaith,) you take the body cleane away: Or if you take the bodies from the qualities of bodies, (he meaneth eſſential qualities) there ſhal be no place where they may be, and if they be no where, they be not at all. This ſayth S. Auguſtine of ỹ nature of Chriſts body, agreeable to ỹ nature of all true bodies. Ep. 57. Now, what God is able to doe if he will, we doubt not: but when we know his will by his word, concerning the truth of our Sauiour Chriſts humane body, wherein he was made like vnto vs, in all things. Heb. 2, 17. &c. We can not admit ſuch miracles, as be contrarie to his will reuealed in his word, vpon pretence of his almightie power. And if you deteſt the hereſie of the Vbiquetaries, as contrary to faith, and the common rules of nature and diuinitie, for the ſame reaſons, you ſhould leaue your hereſie, of the body of Chriſt being in many places at once, and yet without the due ſpace of place, whereby according to S. Auguſtines rule, it is made to be in no place, and conſequently, to be no body at all.

Rhem. 3. 21. As my Father.) As when he gaue them commiſſion to preach and baptize through the world, he made mention of his owne power therein: ſo here before he inſtitute the Sacrament of Penance, and giue them authoritie to remitte ſinnes, leſt the wicked ſhould take occaſion afterward, by what right they do ſuch great functions, he ſheweth his Fathers commiſſion giuen to him ſelf, and then in plaine termes moſt amply impareth the ſame to his Apoſtles: that whoſoeuer deny the Apoſtles and their ſucceſſors, the Prieſts of Gods Church, to haue right to remitte ſinnes, ſhould deny conſequently Chriſt as man to haue authoritie to doe the ſame.

Chriſt ſheweth his commiſſion and ſo giueth the Apoſtles power to remit ſinnes.

Fulke 3. In the wordes of Chriſt, is no inſtitution of any Sacrament, becauſe there is no viſible element, wherevnto the word may be added to make a Sacrament. But he reneweth the commiſſion, granted before to his Apoſtles, and to their ſucceſſors, by declaring the pleaſure of God to pronounce ſentence of forgiuenes of ſinnes to all that are truly penitent, and of the reteining of them to the obſtinate and impenitent. And this is the auctoritie that the Apoſtles, and all Miniſters of the word & Sacraments their ſucceſſors haue, to forgiue and reteine ſinnes. Tunc vera eſt abſolutio Præſidentis, &c. ſayth Gregorie B. of Rome. Then the abſolution of the Preſident, or ouerſeer is true, when is followeth the pleaſure of the eternall Iudge. Hom. 26. in Euang.

No Sacrament of Penance inſtituted by Chriſt.

Rhem. 4. Aug. q. 20. Teſt. q. 93. cont. ep. Parmen. li. 2. c. 11. Cyril. li. 12. c. 56 in Io. 22. He breathed.) He giueth the holy Ghoſt in and by an external ſigne, to his Apoſtles, not viſibly and to al ſuch purpoſes as afterward at Whitſuntide, but for the grace of the Sacraments of Orders, as S. Auguſtine ſayth, and that none make doubt of the Prieſts right in remiſſion of ſinnes, ſeing the Holy Ghoſt is purpoſely giuen them to doe this ſame. In which caſe if any be yet contentious, he muſt deny the Holy Ghoſt to be God, and not to haue power to remitte ſinnes. It is not abſurd (ſayth S. Cyril) that they forgiue ſinnes, which haue the Holy Ghoſt. For when they remitte or reteine, the holy Ghoſt remitteth or reteineth in them, and that they doe two waies, firſt in Baptiſme, & then in Penance. As S. Ambroſe alſo (li.1.c.7.de pœnitentia) refelling the Nouatians (a Sect of old Heretikes which pretending Gods glorie as our new Sectaries do, denied that Prieſts could remitte ſinnes in the Sacrament of Penance) aſketh, why it ſhould be more diſhonour to God, or more impoſſible or inconuenient for men, to forgiue ſinnes by Penance then by Baptiſme, ſeing it is the Holy Ghoſt that doth it, by the Prieſts office and miniſterie in both.

Fulke 4. He giueth the holy Ghoſt by a viſible ſigne, to aſſure them of the auctoritie which he gaue them, which was by preaching the Goſpel to remit, and reteine ſinnes, for which purpoſe, he opened their mind, that they might vnderſtand the Scriptures. Luc 24,45 &c. That you adde, he did it for the grace of the Sacrament of orders, as S. Auguſtine ſaith, it is an impudent vntruth: for neither that counterfect Auguſtine whom you quote firſt, nor the true Auguſtine. Cont. ep. Parm. l.2.c.13. doth once name the Sacrament of orders. For of the power or grace that is giuen to them that are ordeined miniſters of the Church, the queſtion is not now: but whether there be any Sacrament of orders: and whether this power be abſolute, or following the iudgement of God: to be executed by preaching and declaring the will of God out of his word, or by ceremonie only. Concerning which matter, S. Auguſtine ſayth in the place by you alleaged, that Chriſt by giuing the holy Ghoſt, when he gaue power of remiſſion of ſinnes. Satis oſtendit &c. Doth ſhew ſufficiently, that they doe it not, but the holy Ghoſt verely by them, as is ſayd in another place. For it is not you that ſpeake, but the holy Ghoſt which is in you. And the holy Ghoſt is ſo in the gouernor or Miniſter of the Church, that if he be not an hypocrite, the holy Ghoſt worketh by him both to his owne rewarde, vnto eternall health: and to the regeneration or edification of them, which by him, are either conſecrated, or haue the Goſpell preached vnto them. Theſe wordes declare, what maner of auctoritie, the Miniſters of the Church haue, in remiſſion of ſinnes, either when they miniſter the Sacrament of Baptiſme, or when they preach the Goſpel. S. Cyril alſo in the place noted, is of the ſame iudgement with vs. Et certè ſolus &c. And certainely it pertaineth to the onely true God, that he be able to looſe men from ſinnes. For to what other perſon is it lawfull, to deliuer the tranſgreſſors of the Lawe from ſinne, but to the auctor of the Lawe it ſelfe? For ſo we ſee it to be done in mens affaires. For no man without puniſhment refuſeth the lawes of kinges, but the kinges themſelues, in whome the crime of tranſgreſſion hath no place. For it is wiſely ſaide, that he is vngodlie, which will ſay to a king, thou doeſt vniuſtly. How then hath our Sauiour giuen to his Diſciples, the dignitie and power of the diuine nature? Certainely, becauſe it is not againſt reaſon, that ſinnes can be forgiuen, by them which haue the holy Ghoſt in them. For when they remit or reteine, the ſpirite which dwelleth in them, remitteth or reteineth. And that ſhall be by them as I thinke by two meanes, by Baptiſme, and by repentance. For either they bring men that beleeue and are approued for holines of life, vnto Baptiſme, and diligently keepe the vnworthy from it, or when the children of the Church offend, they releaſe them, and pardon them when they repent. As Paule ſometimes deliuered the fornicator among the Corinthians, vnto the deſtruction of the fleſh, that his ſpirite might be ſaued, and receiued him againe, that he ſhould not be ouerwhelmed with greater ſorrow. S. Ambroſe hath none other meaning, nor any worde of the Sacrament of penance: but reaſoneth againſt the Nouatians, which denied that ſinnes could be forgiuen after Baptiſme, by the miniſterie of men, wherein you doe impudently belie vs, to match vs with them. His wordes are theſe: Quid intereſt &c. What ſkilleth it whether the Prieſtes doe challenge this auctoritie, giuen vnto them, by repentance, or by baptiſme? there is one miniſterie in both. But thou wilt ſay, that in Baptiſme the grace of the myſteries doth worke, what in repentance, doth not the name of God worke? By theſe wordes it appeareth, that S. Ambroſe acknowledgeth no Sacrament of penance or repentance. For then he would haue ſayd: Doth not the ſame grace of the myſteries worke in penance? Are they not both Sacraments alike? But he ſayth, doth not the name of God worke? meaning that the grace of remiſſion of ſinnes, which is graunted in the name of God to the penitent, is as effectuall without a Sacrament, as in a Sacrament.

Rhem. 5. 23. Whoſe ſinnes.) *Power to offer Sacrifice, which is the principal function and acte of Prieſthod, was giuen them at the inſtitution of the B. Sacrament: the ſecond and next ſpecial faculte of Prieſthod, conſiſting in remitting ſinnes, is here beſtowed on them. And with al the holy Sacrament of Penance implying Contrition, Confeſſion, and Satisfaction in the Penitent, and abſolution on the Prieſts part, is inſtituted. for in that, that expreſſe power and commiſſion is giuen to Prieſts to remitte or reteine al ſinnes: and in that, that Chriſt promiſeth, whoſe ſinnes ſoeuer they forgiue, they be of God forgiuen alſo: and whoſe ſinnes they reteine, they be reteined before God: it foloweth neceſſarily, that we be bound to ſubmit our ſelues to their iudgement for releaſe of our ſinnes. For, this wonderful power were giuen them in vaine, if none were bound to ſeeke for abſolution at their handes. Neither can any rightly ſeeke for abſolution of them, vnles they confeſſe particularly as leaſt al their mortal offences, whether they be committed in minde, hart, wil and * cogitation onely, or in word, and worke. for, Gods Prieſts being in this Sacrament of Penance conſtituted in Chriſts ſteede as iudges in cauſes of our conſcience, can not rightly rule our caſes without ful and exacte cognition and knowledge of al our ſinnes, and the neceſſarie circunſtances and * differences of the ſame. Which can not otherwiſe be had of them being mortal men, then by our ſimple, ſincere, and diſtincte vtterance to them of our ſinnes, with humable contrite hart, ready to take and to doe penance according to their iniunction. For thus authoritie to reteine ſinnes, conſiſteth ſpecially in enioyning ſatisfaction and penitential workes of praying, faſting, almes, and ſuch like. Al which Gods ordinance whoſoeuer condemneth or contemneth, as Heretikes doe, or neyleeteth, as ſome careleſſe Catholikes may perhaps doe: let them be aſſured they can not be ſaued. Neither muſt any ſuch Chriſtian man preſend or looke to haue his ſinnes after Baptiſme, remitted by God only, without this Sacrament: (which was the old Hereſie of the Nouatians* Amb.li.1.de pœnit.c.2. Socrat.li.7.Ec. hiſt.c.25.) more then any may hope to be ſaued or haue his original or other ſinnes before Baptiſme, forgiuen by God without the ſame Sacrament. Let no man deceiue him ſelf, this is the ſecond table or borde after ſhipwracke, as S. Hierome calleth it. Whoſoeuer take not hold of it, ſhal periſh without al doubt, becauſe they contemne Gods counſel and order for their ſaluation. And therefore S. Auguſtine (ep.180.) ioyning both together ſaith it is a pitiful caſe, when by the abſence of Gods Prieſts, men depart this life, aut non regenerati, aut ligati. that is, either not regenerated by Baptiſme, or faſt bound, and not abſolued by the Sacrament of penance and reconciliation: becauſe they ſhalbe excluded from eternal life, and deſtruction foloweth them. And S. Victor (li.2.de perſec.Vandalica) telleth the miſerable lamentation of the people, when their Prieſts were baniſhed by the Arian Heretikes. Who (ſay they) ſhal baptize theſe infants?

ants? Who ſhall miniſter penance vnto vs, and looſe vs from the bandes of ſinnes? &c. And therefore S. Cyprian very often (namely ep. 54.) calleth it great cruelnes, and ſuch as Prieſtes ſhall anſwere for at the latter day, to ſuffer any man that is penitent of his ſinnes, to depart this life without this reconciliation and abſolution: becauſe (ſaith he) the Lawmaker him ſelfe (Chriſt) hath graunted, that things bound in earth, ſhould alſo be bound in heauen: and that thoſe things might there be looſed, which were looſed before here in the Church. And is it a world to ſee, howe the Heretikes wraſtle with this ſo plaine a commiſſion of remitting ſinnes, referring it to preaching, to denouncing Gods threates vpon ſinners, and to we cannot tell what els, though to our Engliſh Proteſtants this authoritie ſeemeth ſo cleere, that in their order of viſiting the ſicke, their Miniſters acknowledge and challenge the ſame, vſing a formal abſolution according to the Churches order, after the ſpeciall confeſſion of the partie. But to conclude the matter, let euery one that liſt to ſee the true meaning of Chriſtes wordes, and the Prieſtes great power and dignitie giuen them by the ſame wordes and other, marke well theſe wordes of S. Chryſoſtome. For, ſaith he, they that dwell on the earth, and conuerſe in it, to them is commiſſion giuen to diſpenſe thoſe things that are in heauen, to them is it giuen to haue the power which God would not to be giuen neither to Angels nor Archangels. for, neither to them was it ſaid, Whatſoeuer you ſhall binde in earth, ſhall be bound in heauen: and whatſoeuer you ſhall looſe in earth, ſhall be looſed in heauen. The earthly Princes in deede haue alſo power to binde, but the bodies onely: but that bond of Prieſtes which I ſpeake of, toucheth the very ſoule it ſelfe and reacheth euen to the heauens: in ſo much that whatſoeuer the Prieſts ſhall doe beneath, the ſelfe ſame God doeth ratifie aboue, and the ſentence of the ſeruants of the Lord doth confirme. for in deede what els is this, then that the power of all heauenly things is graunted them of God? Whoſe ſinnes ſo euer, ſayth he, you ſhall reteine, they are reteyned. What power (I beſeech you) can be greater then this one? The Father gaue all power to the Sonne: but I ſee the ſame power altogether deliuered by the Sonne vnto them. And as this concerneth the Prieſtes high authoritie to abſolue, ſo thereupon concerning confeſſion alſo to be made vnto them, the ancient Fathers ſpeake in this ſort. S. Cyprian de Lapſis nu. 11. They (ſaith he) that haue greater faith and feare of God, though they did not fall in perſecution, yet becauſe they did onely thinke it in their minde, this very cogitation they confeſſe to Gods Prieſtes ſorowfully and plainely, opening their conſcience, vttering and diſcharging the burden of their mind, and ſeeking holſome medicine for their woundes though but ſmall and litle. And a litle after, Let euery one (my brethren) I beſeech you, confeſſe his ſinne, whiles he is yet aliue, Whiles his confeſſion may be admitted, whiles ſatisfaction and remiſſion made by the Prieſtes is acceptable before God. S. Cyril (or as ſome thinke, Origen) li 2. in Leuit. calleth it a great part of penance, when a man is aſhamed, and yet openeth his ſinnes to our Lords Prieſt. See alſo Tertul. li. de pœnit. S. Hiero. in c. 10. Eccleſiaſtæ. S. Baſil. in Regulis breu. quæſt. 229. Who compare ſinners that refuſe to confeſſe, to them that haue ſome diſeaſe in their ſecret parts, and are aſhamed to ſhewe it to the Phyſicion or Surgeon, that might cure it, where they muſt needes make ſecrete confeſſion to be made to them that may abſolue. And S. Leo ep. 80. moſt plainely (as before S. Cyril) expreſſly nameth Prieſtes. That confeſſion is ſufficient which is made firſt to God, then to the Prieſt alſo. And againe, It is ſufficient that the guiltineſſe of mens conſciences be vttered to the Prieſtes onely by the ſecrecie of confeſſion. S. Hieron in 16. Math. ſaith, that Prieſtes looſe or bind, audita peccatorum varietate, hauing heard the varietie and differences of ſinnes. S. Paulinus writeth of S. Ambroſe, that as often as any confeſſed his ſinnes vnto him for to receiue penance, he ſo wept for compaſſion, that thereby he cauſed the penitent to weepe alſo. He addeth moreouer, that this holy Doctor was ſo ſecret in this caſe, that no man knewe the ſinnes confeſſed, but God and him ſelfe. And S. Auguſtine ho. 49. de 50. homilijs To. 10. ſaith thus. Doe penance ſuch as is done in the Church, Let no man ſay, I doe it ſecretly, I doe it to God. in vaine then was it ſaid, Whatſoeuer you ſhall looſe in earth, ſhall be looſed in heauen. See S. Ambroſe de pœnitentia through out. S. Cyprian de Lapſis, the booke de vera & falſa pœnit. *in S. Mat. 18.

Fulke. 5. At the inſtitution of the holy Sacrament of our Lords Supper, there was no word of ſacrifice or power of ſacrificing giuē to Prieſts. But where you ſay, ỹ ſecond facultie of Prieſthood, conſiſting in power to remit ſinnes, is here inſtituted: you confeſſe they were made but halfe prieſts before. But howe I pray you could they baptiſe or miniſter the Lords Supper, without power of remiſſion of ſinnes vnto the penitent? Therefore here is no ſacrament of penance inſtituted, but the auctoritie of their Apoſtleſhip, confirmed and renued vnto them and their ſucceſſors, miniſters of the Church. Moreouer, you ſhall neuer be able to proue, that the power of remiſſion of ſinnes doth emply confeſſion to a prieſt, or ſatisfaction of worke: neither is there any word in the holy Scriptures, to declare theſe two partes neceſſarie to repentance. Neither doth it follow of any neceſſitie, that men are bound to ſubmit them ſelues to the iudgement of prieſts, if they haue auctoritie to forgiue ſinnes. Neither were their power giuē in vaine, if none were bound to ſeeke abſolution at their hands: for they are bound to offer it to all true penitent ſinners, although they ſeeke it not at their hands, yea to exhort and to deſire men to be reconciled vnto God by their miniſterie. 2. Cor. 5. 20. Luk. 24. 47. Againe, men may ſeeke abſolutiō at their hands, though they be not bounde to ſubmit them ſelues to their iudgement, nor yet to confeſſe all or any of their particular mortall ſinnes vnto them. And where you quote Cyprian de Lapſis, he ſpeaketh not one word of the neceſſitie of confeſſion of al ſinnes to a prieſt, but of them that had openly fallen to idolatrie, who were bound openly to acknowledge their ſinne, before they could be receiued into the communion of the faithfull: commending them alſo, which although they had not openly fallen, yet hauing but onely thought to yeeld to Idolatrie, being pricked in conſcience confeſſed ỹ ſame to the prieſt, and ſought comfort & holſome medicine, though it were but for ſmall woundes, in compariſon of them that had yeelded in acte. S. Hierome ſayth, That as in the Lawe the Prieſt maketh the leper cleane or vncleane, ſo here alſo the Biſhop or prieſt bindeth or looſeth, not them that are innocents or guiltie, but according to his office, whē he heareth the diuerſities of ſinners, he knoweth who is to be bound, and who to be looſed. Here is no word of the neceſſitie of Confeſſion, but onely he ſheweth that the Biſhop or prieſt, hath none other power of binding and looſing, then the prieſt of the lawe had in making cleane or vncleane, which he did none otherwiſe, but by declaring and pronouncing who was cleane, & who was vncleane: ſo the miniſter of the Church, hearing that there be ſinners penitent and vnpenitent, knoweth to binde the one, and looſe the other.

The Popiſh ſacrament of penance.

Moreouer where you ſay, the auctoritie to reteine ſinnes, conſiſteth ſpecially in enioyning ſatisfaction &c. it is altogether without the teſtimonie of the holy Scriptures, yea contrary to the ſame which teach, that all penitent ſinners are by the miniſterie of the Church, to be aſſured of remiſſion of their ſinnes freely through the redemption of Chriſt, Rom. 3. 24. 25. 1. Ioh. 2. 1. and 2. &c. For by the death of Chriſt, is made a full ſatisfaction to the iuſtice of God for our ſinnes, and not by any workes of ours. Chriſtian men therefore looke to haue remiſſion of their ſinnes in the Church, and by the miniſterie thereof after baptiſme, contrary to the hereſie of the Nouatians, but not by any ſacrament of penance. For neither Ambroſe, Socrates, or Hierome, doe once name the ſacrament of penance in the places noted: but ſhewe that the miniſters of the Church haue auctoritie aſwell to looſe, as to binde, to forgiue ſinnes, as to reteyne: whereas the Nouatians graunted the one, and denied the other. S. Auguſtine ioyning reconciliation of them that are bound to Baptiſme, doeth not thereby acknowledge a ſacrament of the one, aſwell as of the other. The like is to be ſaid of the lamentation deſcribed by Victor Vticenſis: & the complaint of Cyprian Ep. 54: for the neceſſitie of reconciliation by the miniſterie of the Church, of thoſe that are bound by the ſame, doth not proue a ſacrament of penance, which is the matter we ſtand vpon. That ỹ power here giuen, is exerciſed by preaching and denouncing ỹ promiſes or threates of God, eyther publikely or priuately, you knowe not what it meaneth: but euen the Fathers whom you haue cited, doe teſtifie ỹ ſame, as appeareth by their ſayings before remembred. That confeſſion may be made profitably, when a mans conſcience cannot otherwiſe be ſatisfied, we denie not, but ỹ it is alwayes neceſſarie for obteyning remiſſion of ſinnes, we vtterly denie. The ſaying of Chryſoſtom we acknowledge, vnderſtanding this power to be giuen to the miniſters of the Church, as embaſſadors of Chriſt, whoſe ſentence being vttered in earth according to their commiſſion, is ratified in heauen. But how this power is exerciſed, Chryſoſtome alſo ſheweth cap. 6. of the ſame booke, οὐ μόνον διδάσκων μόνον &c. not onely by teaching and admoniſhing, but alſo by prayer. And concerning the neceſſitie of Confeſſion to the Prieſt, what Cyprian ſayth in his booke de Lapſis, I haue ſhewed before. The former place is a commendation of them which confeſſed, euen their purpoſe of defiling themſelues with idolatrie, though they did not accompliſh it in acte, in compariſon of other that would be reſtored to the felowſhip of the Church, without any confeſſion when they had actually & openly fallen: which doth not argue any neceſſitie of confeſſion in the ſame or in any ſuch. In the ſeconde place he vrgeth open confeſſion and ſatisfaction to the Church which by their fall was offended, of them that had openly fallen into Idolatrie. So the place nothing proueth the neceſſitie of confeſſion of all ſinnes, nor ſatisfaction to the iuſtice of God. Cyril alſo, or Origen, in Leu. lib. 2. ſpeaketh of hard diſcipline and open penance for open and heinous ſinnes: the wordes are theſe. Eſt adhuc & ſeptima &c. There is yet a ſeuenth way of remiſſion of ſinnes, although hard and laborious, remiſſion of ſinnes by repentance, when the ſinner waſheth his bed with teares, and his teares are made his bread day and night, when he is not aſhamed to declare his ſinne to the Lords prieſt, and to ſeeke medicine according to him which ſaith, I ſaid I will confeſſe mine vnrighteouſneſſe againſt my ſelfe, and thou haſt remitted the impietie of my heart. You muſt remember there are ſixe other wayes of remiſſion of ſinnes, in which no confeſſion vnto the Prieſt is required, neither is it here required as neceſſarie, but in caſe of that hard and labourous kind of repentance, which was appointed to open and notorious offenders. And yet by the text of the Prophet which he citeth, it may ſeeme he meaneth by the prieſt of God, our Sauiour Chriſt: for the Prophet ſpeaketh of confeſſion to God onely. Tertullian in his booke de pœnitentia, ſpeaketh onely of publike confeſſion of them that had openly fallen. S. Hierom in Eccleſ. 10. ſayth. Si quem ſerpens &c. If the ſerpent the deuil hath bitten any man priuilie, and without any mans knowledge, hath infected him with the poyſon of ſinne, if he that is ſtricken dothe hold his peace, and doe not repent, nor will confeſſe his wound to his brother and maſter, the maſter which hath a tongue to cure him, cannot eaſily profite him: for if the ſicke man be aſhamed to confeſſe his wounde to the Phyſition which he knoweth not, medicine or phyſike healeth not. This place doth not inferre a neceſſitie of confeſſion, but where the conſcience is eſpecially troubled, nor to the prieſt, but to any learned brother, which by comfortable exhortation may cure him. S. Baſil ſayth. The confeſſion or declaration of ſinnes, is after the ſame maner as the ſhewing of the paſſions of the body. Therefore as men doe not open the paſſions of their body to all men, nor to any kinde of men, but to thoſe that are skilfull to cure them, ſo the confeſſion of ſinnes ought to be made, to them that are able to heale them, as it is written: you that are able, beare the infirmities of the weake, that is, take them away by carefull looking to them. Theſe words doe not affirme, that all our ſinnes muſt of neceſſitie be confeſſed to a prieſt, but that choiſe muſt be made of a godly learned phyſition of ỹ ſoule, when we doe make declaration of any of them, whether he be prieſt or no, that is able to miniſter ſpirituall medicine vnto them. Wherby it may rightly be gathered, that in vaine men make their confeſſion to many popiſh prieſts, which be altogether vnlearned, and vnskilfull. Baſil ſpeaketh for the inſtruction of them that liued in monaſteries in his time, among whom many were learned and able to giue good counſell that were no prieſts. But Leo you ſay nameth prieſtes Ep. 80. he doth ſo in deede, and ſecret confeſſion as ſufficient againſt them, that required open confeſſion as neceſſarie: yet ſayth he not, that confeſſion to the prieſt of all ſinnes, is alwayes neceſſarie. For that it is expedient in ſome caſes, for men to confeſſe their ſinnes to their paſtor, we denie not, but you haue not yet proued, that it is alwayes neceſſarie. The wordes of Hierome be as I haue declared before. Cum peccatorum audierit varietates, when he hath heard the diuerſities or diuers kindes of ſinnes, he knoweth who is to be bound, or who to be looſed: namely, the penitent to be looſed, the impenitent to be bound. Which he can not doe, by hearing the varietie of ſinnes: for all ſinnes are to be pardoned to them that repent, and no ſinne is to be remitted to the impenitent. That Ambroſe heard ſometimes ſecret confeſſions, and kept them ſecrete, we giue credite to Paulinus: but that confeſſion of all ſinnes to a prieſt, is neceſſarie to obteine remiſſion of ſinnes, neither Ambroſe nor Paulinus, nor any ancient godly Father doth tel vs. S. Auguſt. ho. 49 ſpeaketh of open penance for them that had openly committed adulterie, as it appeareth by ỹ example of Theodoſius ỹ Emperor, which he bringeth to perſwade them, ſaying, God would haue the Emperor Theodoſius to do open penance in the ſight of the people, ſpecially becauſe his ſinne could not be kept cloſe, and is the ſenator aſhamed, of that the Emperor was not aſhamed? I haue anſwered before to S. Ambroſe, & S. Cyprian, ỹ neither of thé ſpeaketh a word for ỹ neceſſitie of confeſſion of all ſinnes to a prieſt. The auctor of the booke, de vera & falſa pœnitentia writeth againſt S. Auguſt. by name, and by ỹ ſtile ſheweth him ſelfe to be a late writer in compariſon of S. Auguſtine. Yet he thinketh not confeſſion to a prieſt to be ſo neceſſary, but ỹ if a prieſt be wanting, a man may confeſſe to his neighbour, and Cap. 17.

ſhall haue pardon, as the lepers that went to ſhew their faces to ỹ prieſts, were healed before they came to thẽ. But that confeſſion of ſecret ſinnes is not neceſſary to be made to any man, but onely to God, Chryſoſtome ſheweth Hom. Ae penitens. & confeſſione: It is not neceſſarie to confeſſe in the preſence of witneſſes, let examination of thine offences be made in thought, let thy iudgement be without a witnes, let God onely ſee thee making thy confeſſion: God which caſteth not thy ſinnes in thy teeth, but looſeth thy ſinnes for thy ſhame. Againe in ep. ad heb. ho. 31. I ſay not to thee, that thou oughteſt to bewray thy ſelfe abroade, nor that thou ſhouldeſt accuſe thy ſelfe before other men. But I will haue thee obey the Prophet ſaying, Reueile thy way to the Lord, confeſſe thy ſinnes therefore before God. The like ſaying he hath in pſ. 50. hom. 2. and in many other places of his workes. Rhem. 1. Appearing againe in Galilee, where Peter was fiſhing with his felowes: and cauſing them after they had all night taken none, to catch a great multitud, which Peter draweth to land, where he alſo dineth with thẽ: 15 He (expreſſing what this fiſhing ſignified) maketh Peter his Vicar, committing vnto him the feeding of his lambes and ſheepe: 18 and reuealeth vnto him, that he alſo ſhall be crucified, to the glory of God, 20 admoniſhing him to minde that, rather then to be curious about Iohns death.

The Goſpel on Wenſeday in Eaſter weeke.

AFter IESVS manifeſted him ſelfe againe at the ſea of Tibérias. And he manifeſted thus:

2 There were together Simon Peter and Thomas who is called Didymus, and Nathanael which was of Cana in Galilee, and the ſonnes of Zebedee, and two others of his diſciples.

3 Simon Peter ſaith to them, I go to fiſh. They ſay to him, We alſo come with thee. And they went foorth and got vp into the boate: and that night they tooke nothing.

4 But when morning was nowe come, IESVS ſtood on the ſhore: yet the diſciples knewe not that it was IESVS.

5 IESVS therefore ſaith to thẽ, Children, haue you any meat? They anſwered him, No.

6 He ſayth to them, Caſt the nette on the right ſide of the boate: and you ſhall finde. They therefore did caſt it: & now they were not able to draw it for ỹ multitude of fiſhes.

7 That his diſciple therefore whom IESVS loued, ſaith to Peter, It is our Lord. ‡ Simon Peter when he had heard that it is our Lord, girded his coate vnto him (for he was naked) and caſt him ſelfe into the ſea.

8 But ỹ other diſciples came in ỹ boate (for they were not farre frõ the lãd, but as it were two hũdred cubites) drawing ỹ net of fiſhes.

9 Therefore after they came downe to land, they ſaw hote coles lying, and fiſh laid thereon and bread.

10 IESVS ſaith to them, Bring hither of the fiſhes that you tooke nowe.

11 Simon Peter went vp, and drewe the net to the land, ful of great fiſhes, an hundred fiftie three. And although they were ſo many, the net was not broken.

AFterward did Ieſus ſhewe him ſelfe againe to his diſciples at the ſea of Tiberias, and on this wiſe ſhewed he him ſelfe.

2 There were together Simon Peter, & Thomas, which is called Didymus, and Nathanael of Cana in Galilee, and the ſonnes of Zebedee, and two other of his diſciples.

3 Simon Peter ſaith vnto them, I goe a fiſhing. They ſay vnto him, We alſo goe with thee. They went their way, and entred into a ſhip immediatly, and that night caught they nothing.

4 But when the morning was nowe come, Ieſus ſtoode on the ſhore: neuertheleſſe, the diſciples knewe not that it was Ieſus.

5 Ieſus ſaith vnto them, Children, haue ye any meate? They anſwered him, No.

6 And he ſaith vnto them, Caſt out the net on the right ſide of the ſhip, and ye ſhall finde. They caſt out therefore, and anone they were not able to drawe it for the multitude of fiſhes.

7 Then ſaide the diſciple whom Ieſus loued, vnto Peter, It is the Lorde. When Simon Peter heard that it was the Lorde, he girded his coate vnto him (for he was naked) and did caſt himſelfe into the ſea.

8 The other diſciples came in a litle ſhippe, (for they were not farre from lande, but as it were two hundred cubites) drawing the net with fiſhes.

9 As ſoone then as they were come to lande, they ſawe hote coales, and fiſh laide thereon, and bread.

10 Ieſus ſayeth vnto them, Bring of the fiſh, which ye haue nowe caught.

11 Simon Peter went vp, and drewe the net to the land full of great fiſhes, an hundred and fiftie and three, and for all there were ſo many, yet was not the net broken.

12 Ieſus ſayeth vnto them, Come, and dine. And none of the diſciples durſt aske him, Who art thou? knowing that it was the Lord.

13 Ieſus then commeth, and taketh bread, and giueth them, and the fiſh in like maner.

14 This nowe the ‡third time IESVS was manifeſted to his diſciples, after he was riſen from the dead.☞

15 Therefore when they had dined, IESVS ſaith to Simon Peter, Simon of Iohn, loueſt thou me more then theſe? He ſayeth to him, Yea Lorde: thou knoweſt that I loue thee. he ſaith to him, FEEDE MY LAMBES.

16 He ſayeth to him againe, Simon of Iohn, loueſt thou me? he ſayeth to him, Yea Lord, thou knoweſt that I loue thee. He ſaith to him, [c] FEEDE MY LAMBES.

17 He ſayeth to him the third time, Simon of Iohn, loueſt thou me? Peter was ſtrokē ſad, becauſe he ſaid vnto him ỹ third time, Loueſt thou me? And he ſaid to him, Lord, thou knoweſt all things: ỹ knoweſt ỹ I loue thee. He ſaith to him, ‖ FEEDE MY SHEEPE.

18 Amen, amen I ſay to thee, when thou waſt yonger, thou didſt gird thy ſelfe, and didſt walke where thou wouldeſt. but when thou ſhalt be olde, thou ſhalt ſtretch foorth thy hands, and ‖ an other ſhall gird thee, and leade thee whither thou wilt not.

19 And this he ſaide, ſignifying by what death he ſhould glorifie God. ☞ [b] And whē he had ſaid this, he ſaith to him, Folowe me.

20 Peter turning, ſawe that diſciple whō IESVS loued, following, *Who alſo leaned at the ſupper vpon his breaſt, and ſaide, Lorde who is he that ſhall betray thee?

21 Him therefore when Peter had ſeene, he ſaith to IESVS, Lord, and this man what?

22 IESVS ſaith to him, [c] So I will haue him to remaine till I come, what to thee? folowe thou me.

23 This ſaying therefore went abroade among the brethren, that that diſciple dieth not. And IESVS did not ſay to him, he dieth not: but, So I will haue him to remaine till I come, what to thee?

24 This is ỹ diſciple which giueth teſtimonie of theſe things, and hath written theſe things: & we know ỹ his teſtimonie is true. ☞

14 This is now the third time that Ieſus appeared to his diſciples, after that he was riſen from death.

16 He ſaith to him againe the ſecond time, Simon Ioanna, loueſt thou me? he ſaith vnto him, Yea Lord, thou knoweſt that I loue thee. He ſaith vnto him, Feede my ſheepe.

17 He ſaide vnto him the third time, Simon Ioanna, loueſt thou me? Peter was ſory, becauſe he ſaide vnto him the third time, Loueſt thou me? And he ſaide vnto him, Lorde, thou knoweſt all things, thou knoweſt that I loue thee: Ieſus ſaith vnto him, Feede my ſheepe.

18 Verily, verily I ſay vnto thee, when thou waſt yonger, thou diddeſt gird thy ſelfe and walke whither thou wouldeſt: but when thou ſhalt be olde, thou ſhalt ſtretch foorth thy handes, and another ſhall girde thee, and carie thee whither thou wouldeſt not.

19 This ſpake he, ſignifying by what death he ſhoulde glorifie God. And when he had ſpoken this, he ſaith vnto him, Followe me.

21 When Peter therefore ſawe him, he ſaith to Ieſus, Lord, what ſhall he doe?

22 Ieſus ſaith vnto him, If I will haue him to tarie till I come, what is that to thee? Folowe thou me.

23 Then went this ſaying abroad among the brethren, that that diſciple ſhoulde not die: Yet Ieſus ſaid not vnto him, He ſhall not die: but, If I will that he tarie till I come, what is that to thee?

24 The ſame diſciple is he which teſtifieth of theſe things, and wrote theſe things, and we knowe that his teſtimonie is true.

*25 * There are alſo many other things which Ieſus did, the which if they ſhould be written euery one, I ſuppoſe the worlde coulde not conteine the bookes that ſhould be written. Amen.* Iohn 20.3.

Fulke. 2. S. Auguſtine in ỹ allegorie, doth not in one word ſignifie ỹ preferment of Peter, before ỹ reſt of the Apoſtles. If Gregorie him ſelfe a Biſhop of Rome, & ſo neere ỹ open manifeſtatiō of Antichriſt in ỹ Sea, that he prophecied of ỹ forerunner, gather ſome thing for Peters primacie, it is no meruaile: yet it is litle that he ſaith in this Hom. Peters prerogatiue or primacie.

Hom.24.for the Popes ſupremacie. His wordes are theſe, Iam credo, &c. I thinke your charitie doth already conſider, what it is that Peter draweth the net to the land. For to him the holy Church was committed, to him it is ſaid ſpecially, Simon Iohannis loueſt thou me? feed my ſheepe, that which is afterward opened in voyce is now ſignified in worke. Therefore, becauſe a preacher of the Church doth ſeparate vs from the wayes of this world, ſurely it is neceſſarie that Peter draw to land the net full of fiſhes. For he draweth the fiſhes to the ſtedfaſtnes of the ſhore, becauſe by the voice of holy preaching he ſheweth to the faithfull the ſtedfaſtnes of their eternall country. This he did by words, this he did by epiſtles, this he doth dayly by ſignes of miracles. So often as by him we are converted to the loue of eternal reſt: ſo often as we are ſeparated from the tumults of earthly things: what are we els, but ſent into the net of faith, as fiſhes and drawne to the ſhore? In theſe words, there is no more graunted to Peter, then was true of all the Apoſtles, yea, then is true of euery preacher of the Goſpel. Bernarde is ſo late a writer, that in theſe caſes, we deferre nothing to his auctoritie.

Rhem.3. 25. Other things alſo.) How few things are written of Chriſtes acts and doctrine in compariſon of thoſe which he did and ſpake, and yet the Heretikes will needes haue al in Scripture, ſtuffing not the Apoſtles owne preaching, or report of any thing that our Maiſter did or ſaid, if it be not written.

Fulke. 3. There is written ſufficient, that we may beleeue that Ieſus is Chriſt, and that beleeuing we may haue life in his name, Ioh.20.31. therefore all things neceſſarie to ſaluation are conteined in the Scriptures. The Euangeliſt ſaith not, that any thing is omitted of his doctrine, but of his actes: For though he ſpake more wordes then be expreſſed, yet all the doctrine that he vttered in thoſe wordes, is conteined in the Scriptures of the old and newe Teſtament. The Apoſtles preached nothing but that which was conteined in the Scriptures. Act.17.11. and 26.22. Rom.1.2. The ſufficiencie of the holy Scriptures.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. XXI.

Rhem.4. 17. Feede my ſheepe.) As it was promiſed him Mat.16, that the Church ſhould be builded vpon him, and that the keies of heauen ſhould be giuen to him, ſo here it is performed, and he is actually made the generall Paſtor and Gouernor of all Chriſts ſheepe. For though the other ten (as Matthias and Paul alſo afterward) were Apoſtles, Biſhops, Prieſts, and had auctoritie to binde and looſe, to remit and reteine, to preach, baptize, and ſuch like, as wel as he: Yet in theſe things and all other gouernement, Chriſt would haue him to be their head, and they to depend of him as head of their College, and conſequently of the whole flocke of Chriſt: no Apoſtle nor no Prince in earth (if he acknowledge himſelf to be a ſheepe of Chriſt) exempted from his charge. And that Chriſt maketh a difference betwixt Peter and the reſt, and giueth him ſome greater preeminence and regiment then the reſt, it is plaine by that he is asked whether he loue our Lorde more then the other Apoſtles doe: Where, ſ.r equal charge no difference of loue had bene required. To Peter (ſaith S.Cyprian) our Lord after his Reſurrection ſaid, Feede my ſheepe, & builded his Church vpon him alone, & to him he giueth the charge of feeding his ſheepe. For although after his Reſurrection he gaue his power alike to al, ſaying, As my Father ſent me, ſo I ſend you, take the Holy Ghoſt, if you remit to any their ſinnes, they ſhal be remitted &c. Yet to manifeſt vnitie, he conſtituted one Chaire, and ſo diſpoſed by his authoritie that vnitie ſhould haue origine of one. The reſt of the Apoſtles were that Peter was, in equal felowſhip of honour and power, but the beginning commeth of vnitie: the Primacie is giuen to Peter, that the Church of Chriſt may be ſhewed to be one, and one Chaire. S.Chryſoſtome alſo ſaith thus: Why did our Lord ſhede his bloud? truely to redeeme thoſe ſheepe, the cure of which hee committed both to Peter & alſo to his Succeſſors. And a litle after, Chriſt would haue Peter indued with ſuch authoritie, and to be far aboue al his other Apoſtles: for he ſaith: Peter, doeſt thou loue me more then al theſe doe? Wherevpon our Maſter might haue inferred, If thou loue me Peter, vſe much faſting, ſleepe on the hard floure, watch much, be patrone to the oppreſſed, father to the orphans, and husband to the widowes: but omitting al theſe things, he ſaith, Feede my ſheepe. For, al the foreſaide vertues certes may be done eaſily of many ſubiects, not only men but women: but when it commeth to the gouernement of the Church and committing the charge of ſo many ſoules, al woman kind muſt needes wholy giue place to the burden and greatnes therof, and a great number of men alſo. So writeth he.

Cypr. de vnit. &c. Libro 2.de Sacerd.

Peter is here made the generall Paſtor, and ſ Church is builded vpon him.

The Proteſtãts otherwiſe denying this preeminence of Peter, yet to vpholt their Archbiſhops, do auouch it againſt the Puritanes.

Peters ſucceſſors ſucceede him in vniuerſal auctoritie.

And becauſe the Proteſtants would make the vnlearned thinke, that S.Gregorie deemed the Popes Supremacie to be wholy vnlawful and Antichriſtian, for that he condemneth Iohn of Conſtantinople for vſurping the name of vniuerſal Biſhop, reſembling his inſolence therein to the pride of Antichriſt: note well the wordes of this holy father in the very ſame place and Epiſtle againſt the B.of Conſtantinople, by which you ſhall eaſily ſee that to deny him to be vniuerſal Biſhop, is not to deny Peter or the Pope to be head of the Church, or ſupreme Gouerner of the ſame, as our Aduerſaries fraudulently pretend. It is plaine to al men, ſaith he, that euer read the Goſpel, that by our Lords mouth the charge of the whole Church was committed to S.Peter Prince of the Apoſtles. for to him it was ſaid, Feede my ſheepe: for him was the prayer made that his faith ſhould not faile: to him were the keies of heauen giuen and authoritie to binde and looſe: to him the cure of the Church and principalitie was deliuered: and yet he was not called the vniuerſall Apoſtle. This title in deede was offred for the honour of S.Peter Prince of the Apoſtle, to the Pope of Rome by the holy Councel of Chalcedon: but none of that See did euer vſe it or conſent to take it. Thus much S.Gregorie.

Greg.li.4. ep.76.

S.Gregorie though he miſliked the title of Vniuerſal Biſhop, yet is moſt plaine both in his writings and doings for the Popes Supremacie, as alſo S. Leo the great.

For they lyeue euery one their particular flocke, but to thee all vniuerſally, as one flocke to one man, are credited: being not only the paſtor of the ſheepe, but the one Paſtor of all the Paſtors themſelues, but thou wilt aske me how I proue that? euen by our Lords word. for to whom of al, I ſay not only Biſhops, but Apoſtles, were the ſheepe ſo abſolutely

Pſ.77.

Fulke 4. As Matt.16. the Church was promiſed to be builded none otherwiſe vpon Peter, then vpon al the Apoſtles, and that the keyes of heauen ſhould be giuen to him, no more then to al the Apoſtles: ſo Peter here is made no more general Paſtor and gouernour of Chriſts flocke, then all & euery one of the Apoſtles is. Nor all the Logicke in the world can otherwiſe conclude out of the words of the text. Neither doe the Proteſtants to vphold their Archbiſhop againſt the Puritanes (as you call them) auouche or proue, any ſuch preeminence of Peter aboue the reſt of the Apoſtles, that he ſhould be their head and they to depend of him, nor acknowledge any Primacie of Peter, but a primacie of order (as the ancient fathers doe) not of auctoritie. The Archbiſhops auctoritie for external gouernment of the Church, hath better arguments to vpholde it, then the fained ſupremacie of Peter. Your only reaſon to proue a difference of preeminence betwixt Peter and the reſt, is, ẏ Chriſt asked Peter whether he loued him more then ẏ reſt. Where for equal charge, no difference of loue had bene required. This is nothing but a fooliſh ſophiſme, where that is taken for the cauſe, which is not the cauſe in deede. For the cauſe why Peter was bound to loue Chriſt more then the reſt, was, for that Chriſt had forgiuen him more, then to the reſt, according to the parable, Luk.7. For hauing thrife denied him, he cauſeth him thrife to confeſſe that he loued him, and willeth him to declare his greater loue, by more diligent and painefull feeding of his flocke. Wherefore Peters greater loue proueth not any greater auctoritie giuen vnto him, but that he is bound to greater duetie and ſeruice in the Church of Chriſt. And this is the vniforme conſent of the moſt ancient writers vpon this text. S. Auguſtine finding no Supremacie of Peter in this Scripture, proueth therby the duetie of all ſhepheards to feede the flocke of Chriſt, for the loue of Chriſt. Sed prius dominus, &c. Our Lord doeth firſt aske that which he knewe, and that not once, but twiſe and thriſe: Whether Peter doeth loue him: rather doeth he heare any thing of Peter ſo many times, but that he loueth him: neither doth he commend any thing to Peter ſo many times, but that his ſheepe ſhould be fed. There is rendred to a threefold denying a threefold confeſſion, leſt his tongue ſhould be leſſe ſeruiceable to loue, then it was to ſeare, and leſt death approching ſhould ſeeme to haue expreſſed more of his voice, then life preſent. Let the duetie of loue be to feede the Lords flocke, if it were taken of feare to deny the ſhepheard. They which feede the ſheepe of Chriſt with this minde, that they would haue them to be their ſheepe and not Chriſts, are conuinced to loue themſelues and not Chriſt, of deſire of glorying, or ruling, or gayning, not of loue of obeying, of helping and pleaſing God. Againſt theſe men therefore doeth the voyce of Chriſt watch, ſo often repeated, whom the Apoſtle lamenteth, to ſeeke their owne, and not the things of Chriſt. Tract.123. In Ioan. Peters Supremacie. Slander.

S. Cyril finding as litle for Peters ſupremacie, hath theſe words. Nam quoniam, &c. For ſeeing Peter which with the reſt was adorned by Chriſt himſelfe with the name of Apoſtleſhip, denied him thrife in the time of his paſſion, there is now of right required of him a triple confeſſion of loue, that thriſe denying, might be recompenſed with an equal number of confeſſing. So that which was committed in words, is cured with words. Now he asked of him if he loued more then the reſt. For he that had experience of the greater mercie of our Lord toward him, ought of right to be affected with greater loue. For though all the diſciples generally were ſtricken with great feare when our Lord was betrayed: yet Peters offence was greater, who in a very ſhort time denied Chriſt thrife. For ſo much therefore as by the mercie of our Sauiour he obteined forgiuenes of a greater ſinne, there is iuſtly demaunded of him greater loue. For to whom more is remitted, he ought to loue more, as hee ſaith elſewhere. Hereof the Church receiueth a rule of asking them thriſe, which come to baptiſme, that by thriſe confeſſing of Chriſt, they may be numbred among the faithfull. The teachers of the Church alſo doe learne, that they cannot otherwiſe be ioyned to Chriſt, except they ſtudie with all care and diligence, that the reaſonable ſheepe may be well fed, and be in good health. And a litle after. Therefore by thriſe confeſſion of Peter, the crime of thriſe denying is auoyded. And he ſaith, feede my lambes, remaining vnto him the dignitie of Apoſtleſhip, leſt by his denial that happened by humane infirmitie, it might be thought to haue bene weakened. Lib.12.c.46. in Io.

Chryſtome, though not ſo plainely, yet ſufficiently expreſſeth the ſame ſenſe. Multa quidem alia ſunt, &c. There are in deede many other things which cauſe vs to haue truſt in God, and which doe declare vs to be noble and approued. But that which doth moſt of all procure vnto vs the loue of God, is the loue of our neighbour, which Chriſt exalteth of Peter: for when they had ended their meate, Ieſus ſaith to Simon Peter, &c. But wherefore omitting the reſt, doth he ſpeake to Peter? He was the mouth of the Apoſtles, and principall. Wherefore Paul alſo went to ſee him, beſide the reſt, and withal to ſhew him, that now he was to be truſted: for as though he had forgotten his denial, he doth commit the care of his brethren vnto him, neither mentioneth his denying, nor caſteth it in his teeth, he only ſaith, If thou loueſt me, take care of thy brethren, and that loue which thou haſt ſhewed in all things, and wherein I delight, and thy life which thou diddeſt ſay thou wouldeſt lay downe for me, deliuer it for my ſheepe. And a litle after he addeth. Ter interrogat, &c. He asketh thriſe, and alwayes commendeth the ſame thing, that he might ſhew how great care he hath of his ſheepe, & that is the greateſt argument of loue. And leaſt you ſhould thinke he aſcribed greater auctoritie to Peter, then to the reſt of the Apoſtles, for that he ſaith in the ſame homilie, that Chriſt committed to Peter the charge of the whole world: He ſaith the ſame of Peter and Iohn together. Cum eſſent orbis terrarum curam ſuſcepturi, Seeing they were to take vpon them the charge of the whole world. In Io. Hom.87. Therefore his meaning is, that Peter as firſt in order, was the mouth of the Apoſtles, to teſtifie of all their loue, and that was ſpoken to him of feeding the ſheepe of Chriſt, belongeth equally to all the Apoſtles. Beda agreeth in words fully with S. Auguſtine. Now to the places which you cite out of the ancient fathers, Firſt I ſay the place of Cyprian is falſified by Pamelius, contrary to the ancient edition in print and many written copies yet remayning: in which is no mention of the primacie of Peter, and the very Argument of the place is directly contrary vnto it. The very wordes of Cyprian be theſe: Et idem poſt reſurrectionem ſuam dicit, paſce oues meas. Et quãuis apoſtolis omnibus poſt reſurrectionem ſuam parem poteſtatem tribuat ac dicat: Sicut miſit me pater, & ego mitto vos, accipite ſpiritũ Sanctum: Si cui remiſeritis peccata, remittentur illi. Si cui tenueritis tenebũtur: tamen vt vnitatem manifeſtaret, vnitatis eiuſdem originem ab vno incipientem, ſua auctoritate diſpoſuit. Hoc erant vtiq; & cæteri Apoſtoli, quod fuit Petrus, pari conſortio prædicti, & honoris & poteſtatis, ſed exordium ab vnitate proficiſcitur, vt eccleſia vna monſtretur.

To

To the ſame Peter he ſaith after his reſurrection: Feede my ſheepe. And although after his reſurrection he giueth equall power to all his Apoſtles, and ſaith: As my father ſent me, I alſo ſend you, receiue the holy Ghoſt, whoſe ſinnes you ſhall remit they ſhalbe remitted vnto him, whoſe you ſhall reteine, they ſhalbe reteined: yet that he might manifeſt vnitie, he diſpoſed by his auctoritie, the original of the ſame vnitie, beginning of one. Verely the reſt of the Apoſtles were the ſame thing that Peter was, endued with equall fellowſhip, both of honour and power, but the beginning proceedeth from one, that the Church may be declared to be one. By this true allegation of Cyprian which maketh altogether againſt Peters ſupremacie, you may ſee what is ſhamefully foyſted in by the Papiſts, which now a dayes haue none other ſhift to keepe their credite with their ſottiſh ſchollers, but to corrupt & falſifie the writings of the ancient fathers and others, as appeareth by their Index expurgatorius lately printed to their ſhame perpetuall, which they determined to haue bene kept in ſecret. And that Cyprians meaning is, that all biſhops haue equal auctoritie, theſe wordes in the ſame booke doe plainely conuince: Epiſcopatus vnus eſt, cuius à ſingulis in ſolidum pars tenetur. The biſhops office is but one, part whereof is holden in whole of euery ſeuerall biſhop. So that euery one hath the whole auctoritie for his part.

But that the vile practiſe of the Papiſts may be layd open, not only in falſifying the writings of the fathers, but alſo in wilful peruerting their meaning againſt their owne knowledge and conſcience, it ſhal not be amiſſe to ſet downe their owne wordes, namely the iudgement of the Vniuerſitie of Doway, approued by the Cenſors according to the decree of the Councel of Trent, concerning the booke of Bertrame. The title, Vt liber Bertrami, &c. How the booke of Bertrame prieſt of the body and blood of our Lord being amended may be tolerated. Index expurg. B. pag. 11.

Although we make no great accompt of this booke, and therfore we would not greatly care if either it were no where extant or vtterly loſt: yet ſeeing it hath bene already oftentimes reprinted, and hath bene read of moſt mẽ, & being prohibited by name, hath bene made knowen to all men: ſeeing alſo the heretikes do know of the prohibition thereof by diuers Catalogs, and that he was a Catholike prieſt and a Monke of the Abbey of Corbei, and was welbeloued and reuerenced not ſo much of Carolus Magnus, as of Carolus Caluus, & doth helpe the ſtorie of that age: and ſeeing that in other Catholike ancient writers, we beare very many errors, and extenuate them, excuſe them, and very oftentimes by deuiſing ſome pretie ſhifts we deny them, and do faine ſome commodious ſenſe vnto them, when they are oppoſed againſt vs in diſputations or in conflicts with the aduerſaries: we doe not ſee, why Bertram doth not deſerue the ſame equitie and diligent recognition, leſt the heretikes ſhould iangle againſt vs, that we barme vp and prohibite antiquitie which maketh for them, and therfore it is no marueile that ſo fewe things ſeeme to make for them, when we Catholikes do ſo vnreuerently hiſſe out and deſtroy antiquitie, which but in ſhew diſſenteth from vs. Moreouer, we feare leſt this booke not only by heretikes, but alſo by vnruly Catholikes (by meanes of the prohibition thereof) may be read more greedily, alledged more odiouſly, and do more hurt being inhibited, then if it were permitted. Excogitato Commento.

Vpon theſe conſiderations they take order and ſhew how this booke at the next printing ſhal be falſified, by adding, putting out, changing of the words and ſentences, and by peruerting the whole ſcope and meaning of the auctor. Out vpon you Antichriſtian heretikes voyde of all trueth and honeſtie, as your owne words and deedes declare.

The ſayings of Chryſoſtome be ſhamefully wreſted to maintaine the Popes ſupremacie, which he vttered to ſhew the dignitie of euery Prieſt, or miniſter in the Church. For they are ſpoken to comfort Baſile, whom he ſet forward to be Prieſt, when he auoyded it himſelfe. Wherefore Baſile in the beginning of this booke, complaineth that he was deceiued by him, and asketh what he ſhould gaine by this office that he might be perſwaded that he was not deceiued. Chryſoſtome anſwereth: What greater game can there be, then when it is certaine you doe thoſe things which Chriſt himſelf ſaid to be arguments of loue towards himſelf. For ſpeaking to the chiefe of the Apoſtles, he ſaide Peter doeſt thou loue me, &c. And ſo proceedeth in all the diſcourſe, ſhewing out of this text, the great dignitie of the Church Miniſters, to whom Chriſt hath committed the charge of that he loued beſt, and in exerciſing of which charge, he would haue our loue towards him, ſpecially to appeare. So in the former place by you cited, he meaneth not by Peters ſucceſſors onely the biſhop of Rome, but all good Miniſters of the Church: His words are, ᾧ τοῖς μετ' ἐκεῖνον, &c. He cõmitted his ſheepe to Peter, and to them that come after him. For it had perteined nothing to Baſil, if he had ſpoken of the dignitie and prerogatiue proper to the biſhops of Rome. In the ſecond place, he ſaith: ἵνα τί οὖν, &c. Wilt thou ſtill quarell with vs, that thou haſt not bene well deceiued, when thou ſhalt be made ruler ouer all the ſubſtance of God, and when thou doeſt the ſame things, which when Peter did, he would haue him to be of power, and to excell the reſt of the Apoſtles: for he ſaith, Peter doeſt thou loue me more then theſe, &c. It is manifeſt that he meaneth that Baſile being called into the Miniſterie of the Church, was made equal with Peter in dignitie, if he would endeuour to be equal with him in loue? And that the matter wherein Chriſt would haue Peter to excel, was in loue and diligent feeding of his ſheepe: The charge whereof, is not to be cõmitted but vnto choſen men, ſuch as afterward Chryſoſtome deſcribeth: and not to the biſhop of Rome onely. Authore eod.

Nowe concerning Gregorie, which condemned the name of vniuerſall biſhop as Antichriſtian, we goe not about to cleare him from all vſurpation of iuriſdiction more then to his See apperteined. For the myſterie of iniquitie preparing to the open manifeſtation of Antichriſt, long before did worke in the See of Rome. And yet all that he aſcribeth to Peter, doeth not make Peter or the Pope, ſuch a ſupreme gouernour, as you would haue him. That he ſaith of the Council of Chalcedon, (ſeeing it appeareth not in the actes of the Council, but a contrary decree, wherein the Council made the biſhop of Conſtantinople equall with the biſhop of Rome, notwithſtanding all the labour that Leo then biſhop of Rome could make by himſelfe and his deputies) deſerueth no credite. His predeceſſors alledged a counterfeet Canon of the Council of Nice for their prerogatiue, but the forgerie was diſcouered in the Council of Africa, cap. 105. Where you ſay, the Council of Chalcedon, would not giue any vniuſt title to any man, you acknowlecge the dignitie of the See of Conſtantinople, equall to the See of Rome in all things, (ſenioritie except) to be iuſt, which was graunted and concluded in the laſt Seſſion, Act. 16. And whereas you ſay, the title of vniuerſal biſhop offered to the Biſhop of Rome, (I know not in what ſenſe,) was true and lawfull, and onely in the biſhop of Conſtantinople and other which had no right to it, it was inſolent, vniuſt, and Antichriſtian, you ſpeake cleane contrary to Gregories minde, who condemned it as ſimply vnlawfull in any man, and ſaith, That none of his predeceſſors would vſe that ſo prophane title, although it was offered by the Counſil of Chalcedon. lib.4. Ep.80. Epi.36. and a none of proude appellation, being giuen to himſelfe, lib.7.Ep.30. In the ſame Epiſtle he denieth, that he commanded the Biſhop of Alexandria, and ſaith that ſuch proud termes proceeded from the roote of vanitie, which ought to be farre from his hearing. Whereby it is manifeſt, that although he thought too highly of the dignitie of his See of Rome, yet he was farre from the Antichriſtian pride, of the moſt that ſucceeded him. Finally, the reaſons that he vſeth in condemning the name of Vniuerſall Biſhop, and why he refuſeth it, doe plainely declare, that it cannot be iuſt or lawful in any biſhop, or in any ſenſe.

Moreouer, we denie not but Leo the great tooke too much vpon him, as ſome of his predeceſſors had done before him, yet did he neuer arrogate halfe ſo much as the Popes doe at this time. The auctoritie of Bernard, who liued in the time of Antichriſts chiefe exaltation, and was in many points deceiued with his errors, is not to be regarded in this controuerſie. The Greeke verbe ſignifying to gouerne as a ſhepheard ruleth his ſheepe, addeth no more auctoritie to Peter, then to any other Biſhop or elder of the Church, to whome it is alſo vſed, Acts 20.28.

Rhem.5. 18. An other ſhal gird thee.) *He propheſieth of Peters Martyrdom, and of the kinde of death which he ſhould ſuffer, that was, crucifying. which * the Heretikes fearing that it were a ſteppe to proue he was martyred in Rome, deny: whereas the Fathers and ancient writers are as plaine in this, as that he was at Rome.* Origen apud Euſeb.li.3.c.1. Euſeb.li.2.c.24. Hiſt.Ec.Tertul.de præſcript.nu.14.Aug.tract.123.in Ioan.Chryſoſt.Beda in hunc locum. Peter crucified at Rome. Beda in hunc locum.

Fulke. 5. That Peter was martyred, may be concluded out of this place: but that he was crucified, it can not be proued out of the wordes of this text. And leſt of all that he was crucified at Rome. And although many of the ancient writers affirme that he died at Rome, yet it may be doubted of, ſeeing other parts of their report (as of Peters ſitting 25.yeeres at Rome) are confuted by the Scriptures. Beda in this place doeth not abſolutely denie Peters being at Rome, nor yet his crucifying there, but that moſt impudent fable of the paſſion of Peter, bearing the name of Linus, by which it might be concluded, that Peter was iuſtly condemned for drawing mens wiues from their husbands, but that the fable is worthy of no credite. Whether Peter died at Rome. Slander.

THE

THE ARGVMENT OF THE ACTES OF THE APOSTLES.

THE Goſpel hauing ſhewed, how the Iewes moſt impiouſly reiected Chriſt (as alſo Moyſes and the Prophets had foretold of them:) and therefore deſerued to be reiected themſelues alſo of him: now followeth this booke of the Actes of the Apoſtles (* written by S. Luke in Rome the fourth yeere of Nero, An. Dom. 61.) and ſheweth, how notwithſtanding their deſertes, Chriſt of his mercy (as the Prophets alſo had foretold of him) offered himſelfe vnto that vnworthy people, yea after thas they had crucified him, ſending vnto thē his twelue Apoſtles to moue them to penance, and ſo by Baptiſme to make them of his Church: and whiles al the Twelue were ſo occupied about the Iewes: how of a perſecuting Ieue he made an extraordinarie Apoſtle (who was S. Paul) and to auoide the ſcandal of the Iewes (to whom onely him ſelfe likewiſe for the ſame cauſe had preached) ſens him, and not any of his Twelue by and by, who were his knowen Apoſtles, vnto the Gentiles, who neuer afore had heard of Chriſt, and were worſhippers of many Gods, to moue them alſo (for, that likewiſe the Prophets had foretold) to faith and penance, and ſo by Baptiſme to make them of his Church: and how the incredulous Iewes euery where reſiſted the ſame Apoſtle and his preaching to the Gentiles, perſecuting him and ſeeking his death, and neuer ceaſing vntil he fel into the hands of the Gentiles: that ſo (as not onely he euery where, but alſo the Prophets afore him, and Chriſt had foretold) the Goſpel might be taken away from them, and giuen to the Gentiles: euen from Hieruſalem (whoſe reprobation alſo by name had been often foretold) the head citie of the Iewes, where it began, tranſlated to Rome the head citie of the Gentiles. All this will be euident by the partes of the booke: which may be theſe ſixe. Hier. in Catal. Act. 13, 46. 18, 6. 19. 9. 28, 28, Mat. 21, 23. Eſa. 1. Luc. 13, 33.

Firſt how Chriſt Aſcending in the ſight of his Diſciples, promiſed vnto them the Holy ghoſt, foretelling that of him they ſhould receiue ſtrength, and ſo begin his Church in Hieruſalem: and from thence dilate it into al that Countrie, that is into al Iurie: yea and into Samaria alſo, yea into al Nations of the Gentiles, be they neuer ſo far of. you ſhal receiue (ſaith he) the vertue of the Holy ghoſt comming vpon you: and you ſhal be witneſſes vnto me in Hieruſalem, and in all Iewrie, and Samaria, and euen to the vttermoſt of the earth. Chap. 1.

Secondly, the beginning of the Church in Hieruſalem, accordingly. Chap. 2.

Thirdly, the propagation of it conſequently into al Iurie, and alſo to Samaria. Chap. 8.

Fourthly, the propagation of it to the Gentiles alſo. Chap. 10.

Fifthly, the taking of it away from the obſtinate Iewes, and giuing of it to the Gentiles, by the miniſterie of S. Paul and S. Barnabee. Chap. 13.

*Sixthly, of taking it away from Hieruſalem it ſelfe, the head citie of the Iewes, and ſending it (as it were) to Rome the head citie of the Gentiles, and that, in their perſecuting of Paul ſo far, * that he appealed to Ceſar, and ſo deliuering him after a ſort vnto the Romanes: as they had * before deliuered to them alſo Chriſt him ſelfe. whereas S. Peters firſt comming thither, was vpon an other occaſion, as ſhalbe ſaid anone. Of which Romanes and Gentiles therefore, the ſame S. Paul being now come to Rome (the laſt Chapter of the Actes) foretelleth the obſtinate Iewes there, ſaying:* Et ipſi audient. You wil not heare, but, they wil heare. that ſo the prediction of Chriſt aboue rehearſed might be fulfilled: And euen to the vttermoſt of the earth. And there doth S. Luke end the booke, not caring to tel ſo much as the fulfilling of that which our Lord had foretold (Act. 27, 24.) to S. Paul, Thou muſt appeare before Cæſar. becauſe his purpoſe was no more but to ſhew the new Hieruſalem of the Chriſtians, where Chriſt would place the cheefe ſeate of his Church, as alſo in deede the Fathers and al other Catholikes haue in al ages looked thither, when they were in any great doubt: no leſſe then the Iewes to Hieruſalem, as they were appointed in the old Teſtament. Deut. 17, 8. Act. 25, 11. Luc. 23, 1. Act. 28, 28.

And ſo this booke doth ſhew the true Church, as plainely, as the Goſpel doth ſhew the true Chriſt vnto al that do not wilfully ſhut their owne eies, to wit, this to be the true Church, which beginning viſibly at Hieruſalem, was taken from the Iewes, and tranſlated to the Gentiles (and namely to Rome) continuing viſibly, and viſibly to continue hereafter alſo, Vntil the fulnes of the Gentiles ſhal be come in: that then alſo All Iſrael may be ſaued. and then is come the end of the world. For ſo did Chriſt moſt plainely foretel vs: This Goſpel of the Kingdome ſhalbe preached in the whole world, for a teſtimonie to al Nations. and then ſhal come the conſummation. For the converſion of which Nations and accompliſhing the fulnes of al Gentiles, the foreſaid Church Catholike, being mindful of her office, to be Chriſtes witnes euen to the vttermoſt of the earth, *doth at this preſent (as alwaies) ſend preachers to conuert and make them alſo Chriſtians: whereas the proteſtants and * al other Hereſikes do nothing els but ſubuert ſuch as before were Chriſtians.* Rom. 11, 25. Mat. 24, 14. Tertul. de præſc.

And this being the Summe and ſcope of this Booke, thus to glue vs hiſtorically a iuſt ſight of the fulfilling of the Prophets and Chriſtes prediction about the Church: it is not to be marueiled at, why it telleth not of S. Peters comming to Rome: conſidering that his firſt comming thither, was not, as S. Paules was, by the Iewes deliuerie of him, working ſo to their owne reprobation, but vpon another occaſion, to wit, to confound Simon Magus. Euſ. Hiſt. li. 2. c. 12. 13. For who alſo ſeeth not, that it maketh no mention of his preaching to any Gentiles at al, thoſe few onely Act. 10. excepted, who were the firſt, and therefore (leſt the Gentiles ſhould ſeeme leſſe cared for of God, then the Iewes) Peter being the Head of al, was elected of God, to incorporat them into the Church, as before he had done the Iewes. God (ſaith he) among vs choſe, that by my mouth the Gentiles ſhould heare the word of the Goſpel, and beleeue and S. Iames thereupon: Simon hath told how God firſt viſited to take of the Gentiles a people to his name. But otherwiſe (I ſay) there is no mention of Peters preaching to any Gentiles: no nor of the other eleuen Apoſtles. wil any man therefore inferre, that neither Peter, nor the other Eleuen preached to any Nation or citie of the Gentiles? No. the meaning of the Holy ghoſt was not to write al the Actes of al the Apoſtles, no nor the preaching of Peter and his, to the Gentiles, but onely to the Iewes: thereby to ſet out vnto the world, the great mercie of Chriſt toward thoſe vnworthy Iewes, and conſequently their moſt worthy reprobation for contemning ſuch grace and mercy. as alſo on the other ſide to ſhew, how readily the Gentiles in ſo many Nations, were conuerted by one Apoſtle onely, who From Hieruſalem euen to Illyricum repleniſhed the Goſpel of Chriſt. And this parting of the Act. 15, 7. worke ſo made by S. Peter with the reſt, doth S. Paul him ſelfe touche: That we vnto the Gentiles, and they vnto the Circumciſion. Nay rather, leſſe before his comming to Rome, not only was the Church come to Rome (as it is euident Act. the laſt chapter) there planted by S. Peter and others (as likewiſe by S. Peter it was planted in the firſt Gentils, before that S. Paul began the taking of it away from the multitude of the Iewes, and the tranſlating of it to the multitude of the Gentiles) but alſo ſo notable was the ſame Church of Rome, that S. Paul writing his Epiſtle to the Romanes, before he came thither, ſaith: Your faith is renowmed in the whole world. and therefore they with the reſt of the Gentiles, be that Nation whereof Chriſt told the Iewes, ſaying: The Kingdom of God ſhal be taken away from you, and ſhal be giuen to a Nation yeelding the fruites thereof.

Fulke. It is needleſſe to write any thing againſt the ſcope of this Preface, when there is none ſo ſottiſhly addicted to Poperie, but if he haue the vnderſtanding of a naturall man, he may eaſily perceiue how wretchedly you goe about, to wring out of the hiſtorie of the Actes of the Apoſtles, an vſurped title of headſhip, for the citie of Rome. Firſt you ſay, it declareth the Goſpel to be tranſlated from Ieruſalem the head citie of the Iewes, to Rome the head citie of the Gentiles. Which is vtterly falſe in both parts. For neither was the Goſpel tranſlated from Ieruſalem, at that time where the hiſtorie of the Acts recordeth that Paule came to Rome, for then the Church floriſhed there vnder S. Iames, and many ten thouſands of the Iewiſh nation, were beleeuers, Act. 21.20. Neither doeth S. Luke in the Actes, ſo much as in one word inſinuate, how the Goſpel was firſt brought to Rome, for it had continued there manie yeeres before Paule came thither, as appeareth by his Epiſtle to the Romanes. Except that he maketh mention of Aquila and Priſcilla, lately come from Rome to Corinth, vpon the commaundement of Claudius, by which Aquila (perhaps) the Goſpel was firſt brought to Rome. But hereof we wil not contend. Certaine it is, that the Goſpel was not taken from Ieruſalem, nor ſent (as it were) to Rome when Paule was deliuered to the Romanes For it was there long before, the Church as you confeſſe, being planted there by Peter him ſelfe. Againe, what blaſphemous impudencie, is it to ſay? that S. Luke cared not to tell, the appearing of Paule before Ceſar, becauſe his purpoſe was no more, but to ſhew the new Ieruſalem of the Chriſtians, where Chriſt would place the chiefe ſeate of his Church: When it is certaine that he ended his ſtorie, before Paule did appeare. For vpon his appearance, he was deliuered, as he teſtifieth him ſelfe 1.Tim.4.17. And as for that, which you make his only purpoſe, what Antichriſtian preſumption is it to affirme, that to be his only purpoſe, which he doeth not in anie world ſignifie? Whereas his purpoſe is ſufficiently to be gathered out of the preface vnto his Goſpel, whereunto he ioyneth this ſecond booke of the Actes, to declare the doctrine & doings of the Apoſtles, conformable to the deedes and doctrine of their Maſter, for the certaintie and aſſurance of the faith of Theophilus, and of the whole Church. Againe it is falſe, that you ſay, The Fathers and all Catholikes, haue alwayes looked to Rome, as the Iewes did to Ieruſalem. For although, while the Church floriſhed there, they had ſome reſpect vnto it, becauſe it was the chiefe citie of the Empire, to which and from which, might be moſt conuenient concourſe, and recourſe: Yet did they not ſo regard the Church of Rome, that they would be alwayes ruled by it.

Luke writeth no more of Peter and the reſt of the Apoſtles, then he knew certainely to be true. Of Paule he wrote more at large, becauſe he kept him companie in all his peregrination, and was preſent at the moſt matters, whereof he writeth.

CHAP. I.

*Chriſt now ready to aſcend, bideth the Apoſtles to expect the Holy Ghoſt which he had promiſed, foretelling where (being ſtrengthened by him) they ſhould begin his Church, and how farre they ſhould carry it. 9 After his Aſcenſion they are warned by two Angels to ſet their mindes vpon his ſecond comming. 14 In the dayes of their expectation, 15 Peter beginneth to execute his vicarſhip, giuing inſtruction and order, by which Mathias is elected Apoſtle in the place of Iudas. Rhem. 1.

3 To whom alſo he ſhewed himſelfe aliue after his paſſion, and that by many tokens, appearing vnto them fourtie dayes, and ſpeaking of the kingdome of God.

11 Which alſo ſayd, Ye men of Galilee, why ſtand ye gazing vp into heauen? This ſame Ieſus which is taken vp from you into heauen, ſhall ſo come, euen as ye haue ſeene him goe into heauen.

12 Then returned they vnto Hieruſalem, from the mount that is called Oliuet, which is from Hieruſalem a Sabboth dayes iourney.

13 And when they were come in, they went vp into a parlour, where abode both Peter, and ‡Peter and Iohn, Iames and Andrew, Philip and Thomas, Bartholomew and Mathew, Iames of Alphæus and Simon Zelótes, and Iude of Iames.

14 All theſe were perſeuéring with one mind in praier with the ‡ women and ‖ MARIE the mother of IESVS, & his brethren.

15 *In thoſe daies ‖ Peter riſing vp in the middes of the brethren, ſaid: (and the multitude of perſons together, was almoſt an hundred and twentie.)

19 And it was made notorious to all the inhabitants of Hieruſalem: ſo that the ſame field was called in their tonge, Hacel-dema, that is to ſay, the field of bloud.

20 For it is writtē in ỹ booke of Pſalmes. Be their habitation made deſert, & be there none to dwel in it. And his biſhoprike let another take.

The meaning of the titles & termes giuen to our B.Lady.

Fulke.7. For the aſſumption of the virgin Mary,there is nothing brought but counterfect ſtuffe,Denis, Damaſcene, Athanaſius.For in that ſermõ entituled to Athanaſius,the auctor doth ſo diſtinctly expreſſe in plaine termes, that which was concluded in general Councels long after his death,that it may eaſily appeare,to haue bene written many hundred yeeres after his death. For although the truth of the two natures, and one perſon of Chriſt,was knowen and acknowledged of Athanaſius before the hereſies of Neſtorius,Eutyches,and the Monothelites did ſpring: yet he did not ſpeake ſo expreſly againſt their ſubtilities, as the auctor of this ſermon doth.For that which is alleaged of Dionyſe,there is nothing extant, but the report of one Iuuenalius in the ſaid oration of Damaſcene, who citeth the whole matter out of the ſtories of Euthymius, which by all likelihood is that Euthymius that wrote vpon the goſpels,the Pſalmes and Panoplia which are now extant,in the daies of Alexius the emperor of Conſtantinople,long after the daies of Damaſcene.Beſide this,the very maner of the narration,argueth it to be fabulous. Euthymius reporteth that Iuuenalius biſhop of Ieruſalem, being demanded of Pulcheria the Empreſſe concerning the body of the virgin Mary, which was beleeued to be buried at a church in Gethſemani,which the Empreſſe deſired to be tranſlated to Conſtantinople,to a church which ſhe had builded in Blachernis the third yeere of Martianus the emperor: the ſaid Iuuenalius anſwered thus. Out of the auctoritie of the holy books,there is nothing writtē of thoſe things which pertain to the departure of the bleſſed virgine, onely one of an ancient & moſt true ſcripture we haue receiued,&c. And ſo ſetteth downe the maner of her death and aſſumption,and proceeding in his tale to ſhew that Timothy & Dionyſius were there,he reherſeth a large diſcourſe out of an epiſtle of Dionyſius to Timotheus,forgetting that a litle before he ſaid,he had nothing but only by fame.And if you wil needs haue this hiſtory to be true, we muſt needs affirme that the leſſons which you read on the aſſumption day (taken alſo out of a counterfect Hierome as the ſtile bewraieth) are falſe and vntrue.For in them the auctor ſaith,that he did write this treatiſe, that Paula and Euſtochium might haue a Latine gift,to keepe the ſolemnitie of this feaſt. Ne forte ſi veneris,&c. Leſt peraduenture, if there come in your hãds that Apocryphall writing of the paſſage hence of the bleſſed virgin,you ſhould receiue doutful things in ſtead of certain. Which in deſire of reading therof,many of the Latines through loue of pietie,doe embrace more deerely, ſpecially ſeing of theſe matters no other thing can be proued,but that the glorious virgin,as this day departed out of her body. And her ſepulchre is ſhewed to vs which ſee it vnto this preſent time,in the midſt of the valley of Ioſaphat, which valley is placed betweene the mount Silo and the mount Oliuet, which alſo you o Paula,haue ſeene with your eies, where in honor of her is built a church of maruellous workmanſhip of ſtone, in which (as you may know) it is reported there of all men that ſhe was buried, but now her toombe is ſhewed to be emptie, to them that ſee it. Theſe things I haue ſaid to this end, becauſe many of vs doubt whether ſhe were aſſumpted together with her bodie: or els died leauing her body behinde. But how, or at what time, or by what perſons her moſt holie bodie was taken away, or where it is laid, or whether ſhe be riſen againe, it is vnknowne. Although ſome would affirme that ſhe is alreadie raiſed vp to life, and clothed with bleſſed immortalitie in heauen with Chriſt. Many alſo affirme that S. Iohn the Euangeliſt, the miniſter of the bleſſed virgine is riſen againe: becauſe nothing is found in his ſepulchre but Manna. But what of theſe things may be iudged moſt true, we are vncerteine. Yet better we doe commit the whole matter to God, to whom nothing is impoſſible, then that we would raſhlie define any thing by our authoritie, which we doe not proue.

If this auctoritie be good, which being read in your popiſh ſeruice maketh the ſtorie of her aſſumption Apocryphall, and the matter itſelfe doubtfull: then is the other ſtorie which you haue ſet downe falſe, that maketh it certeine. If that which you haue ſet downe be true, then is that falſe which you read ſolemnly in your churchſeruice. Beſide this, compare their reports of the place of her buriall, and the one auctor conuinceth the other of falſhood. Your church leſſon out of a counterfect Hierome, ſaith, the church and place of her buriall ſtandeth in the middeſt of the valley of Ioſaphat. Iuuenalius biſhop of Ieruſalem, in your fable out of Damaſcen, ſaith, the church and ſepulchre is in Gethſemane, which according to the goſpels of S. Mathew, Marke, & Luke, is in mount Oliuet, and after S. Iohns goſpel, on the other ſide of the brooke Cedron. Wheras the valley of Ioſaphat is betweene the citie and the brooke, and betweene the citie and the mount Oliuet, as the other auctor truly ſaith. Are you not aſhamed therfore, to auouch that bodily aſſumption, which your owne church doth not affirme, and for proofe of it, to allege ſuch fabulous forgeries as are conuinced to be falſe by your owne ſeruice booke? Now concerning your quarell againſt vs for aboliſhing of the feſtiuities of the aſſumption, natiuitie, and conception of the virgine Marie, by which meanes (as you ſay) ſhe ſhall haue no feſtiuitie at all. Firſt know ye, that we haue no religion in any feſtiuities of creatures, neither doe we celebrate any of their feaſts in worſhip of them, for (as Auguſtine ſaith) we haue no religion of men that are dead, for if they liued godly, they are not accounted ſuch, that they would ſeeke ſuch honors, but they will haue him to be worſhipped of vs, by whoſe illumination, they reioice that we be fellow ſeruants of their degree or dignitie. Therfore they are to be had in honor for imitation, not to be worſhipped for religion: De vera religione cap. 55. Secondlie, theſe are aboliſhed in our church, becauſe their inſtitution was moſt ſuperſtitious: the one for a fained aſſumption of her bodie, wherof your owne writers are vncerteine, as Durand, and the auctor of your mattens leſſons: the other for to maintein the hereſie of the Franciſcane friers, that ſhe was conceiued and borne without ſinne, which is contrarie to the ſcriptures. Finally, as in a thing indifferent, we make choiſe of dayes and times for the aſſemblie of the congregation, beſides the Lordes day, ſuch as are thought moſt expedient, according to that libertie which the Church hath in matters of indifferencie, without eſteeming the dignitie of ſaincts, by the number of feſtiuities, as you doe. And therefore we rather reteine the feaſtes of the Purification and Annunciation of Marie, becauſe they may be more proper to Chriſt, in whoſe honour, and not in the honour of his ſeruants, we keepe all ſuch ſolemnities and feſtiuities. Where you ſay, we cannot abide the prayſes of the bleſſed virgine Marie, it is a leud ſlander, for we doe verie well allow all praiſe that may be giuen to her, without diſhonour of God, and Chriſt her ſonne and ſauiour. And whereas you call to witneſſe the ancient writers, as though they aſcribed vnto her ſuch blaſphemous prayſes as you doe, you abuſe the reader greatlie, for all in a maner that you allege is counterfect, and forged by auctors much later then thoſe whom you name. As that homilie of Athanaſius, whereof I haue ſpoken before, thoſe liturges bearing the name of S. Iames, Baſile, and Chryſoſtome, whoſe groſſe forgeries haue beene long ſince diſcouered. To theſe adde the ſermons fathered vpon S. Auguſtine, De ſanctis, whereto, if any credit be to be giuen, remember that in the 39 ſermon, he doubteth of the aſſumption of Marie, which is an ancient approoued truth with you: yet there it is ſaid, that no catholike ſtorie doth declare it, and moreouer, that the catholike church doeth not know it. And for a good proofe that S. Auguſtine is not auctor of theſe homilies, he allegeth the teſtimonie of Iſidorus, who liued about 200 yeeres after S. Auguſtine. Yet if it maintein any peece of poperie, it is authenticall with you, and either it muſt be S. Auguſtine, or at leaſt Fulgentius. But the alleging of Iſidorus prooueth that it is neither of both. As for moſt holie and ancient Ephrem, if we admit that ſpeciall oration that you cite vnder his name for authenticall, yet he muſt be vnderſtood as Cyrillus. That in regard of the great honor that God vouchſafed her, to haue Chriſt borne of her, thoſe praiſes are aſcribed to her, not as a meritorious or principall efficient cauſe of our redemption, but as an holy veſſell and inſtrumentall cauſe of the conception and birth of Chriſt, by whoſe only merit and worthineſſe our redemption and ſaluation is perfected, as by a proper and principall only meritorious efficient cauſe thereof. That which Irenæus, Auguſtine, & other doe write of the concurring of both ſexes to our ſaluation, is not to make the bleſſed virgine Mary a meritorious or proper efficient cauſe of our ſaluation, as Eue was of our condemnation, but only to ſhew, that as by a woman ſinne entred into the world, through the ſuggeſtion of the ſerpent, ſo by the the ſeed of a woman the ſerpents head is bruiſed. God vſing the faith of Marie for the conception of Chriſt, as the deuill vſed the incredulitie of Eue, to the deception of Adam. Concerning the tragedie of Gregorie Nazianzene, whether you ſend vs in the margent, it ſeemeth you make no great account of that teſtimonie, being yet in apparance of words verie rancke for your purpoſe. But either you know that it is falſly aſcribed to that ancient father, which was written by an author of much later time, or els you acknowledge, that in ſuch poeticall ſpeeches, is ſmall force to prooue matters in controuerſie. In deed (as they that be learned in the Greeke tongue doe obſerue) the auctor of that tragedie, neither in words nor ſentences commeth neere to the ſtile of Gregorie Nazianzene, nor yet keepeth the law of the Iambich verſe, which Gregorie in that kinde of poetrie doth preciſely obſerue. Moreouer he affecteth ſome praiſe, by imitation of Euripides, which as it is not like that the graue father Nazianzene would haue done: ſo if he had attempted the matter, he would haue better deſerued it, then this writer doeth. Finallie, in this place hee attributeth to the virgine Marie in his poeticall vaine, that whiche you denie to bee the meaning of ſuche titles and prayſes, as are giuen vnto her: and in other partes of that poeme, hee hath manie thinges, which I am ſure you will not allowe for good diuinitie.

Among which let this example ſuffice, that in one place he bringeth in the ſame bleſſed virgine, condemning her ſelf of greateſt and moſt extreame folly. Finallie, your ſophiſticall interpretation of the meaning of the titles and termes giuen to the virgine Marie, cannot excuſe you of blaſphemie, any more then the ſame pretences may excuſe a man of treaſon, that giueth the proper titles of the kingdome to a kings mother, vnder colour that ſhe is an interceſſor for him to the king, and brought forth the perſon of the king into the world. And yet ſome of your prayers vnto her, can be excuſed by neither of both the ſhifts, as theſe: Command the ſonne, By the. vulnerite of a mother command thy ſonne, Compell God to be mercifull: and ſuch other. See the notes vpon Iohn 16. ſect. 3. Beſide the honouring of Marie with the title of Queene of heauen, and ſuch like is condemned by Epiphanius for an hereſie. Her. 78. & 79. And there is no cauſe, why ſuch titles ſhould be giuen her in reſpect that ſhe was the mother of Chriſt. For as S. Auguſtine ſaith, De ſancta virg. cap. 3. She was more happie in that ſhe conceiued the faith of Chriſt, then in conceiuing the fleſh of Chriſt. If then theſe titles be vnmeet for her in reſpect that ſhe receiued the faith of Chriſt, which grace is common to all Gods children, then are they more vnfit in reſpect that ſhe conceiued the fleſh of Chriſt. To conclude therfore with the ſaying of Epiphanius, Her. 78. Whether the holy virgine died and was buried, her falling in ſleepe is in honor, her death in chaſtitie, & her crowne in virginite: or whether ſhe were ſlaine, as it is written, the ſword ſhall pearſe thy ſoule, her glory is among the martyrs, and her holy body in praiſe and commendations, by whom the light aroſe vnto the world: or whether ſhe hath remained (for it is not impoſſible for God to doe all things that he will) for her end is knowne to no man: we ought not to honor the ſaincts more then is conuenient, but to honor their Lord. Againe Her. 79. She was indeed a virgine, and an honourable virgine, but not giuen to be worſhipped, leaſt ſhe her ſelfe worſhipping him that was borne of her fleſh, and came from heauen from the boſome of his father. For which of the Prophets hath commanded any man to be worſhipped, much leſſe a woman? Therfore let Marie be in honor, let the Father, the Sonne, and the Holy ghoſt be worſhipped. Finally the Collyridian heretikes might excuſe their Idolatrie, by ſuch interpretation as you make of their meaning, and by as good reaſon might offer their cakes, as you doe your candles, and other offerings.

Fulke 8. Of the Sacrament of Confirmation here is no word. And it can not be proued by the text, that the fierie tongues ſate vpon any more, then the Apoſtles, who were to be Preachers of the Goſpell vnto all nations. Although we reade, that the gift of tongues, was granted to others alſo, therfore it is no inconuenience to thinke, that the whole number receiued that gift, but the Apoſtles ſpecially. Neither doth Beza abſolutely denie, that the virgine Marie was preſent, but derideth the fond picture of the Papiſtes, in which ſhe is painted in the middeſt of the Apoſtles, as though ſhe were cheefe of their Colledge.

But the Iewes and others which betraied and crucified him, did it of malice and wicked purpoſe, and their facte was damnable, and not of Gods counſel or cauſing: though he tolerated it, for that he could and did turne their abominable facte to the good of our ſaluation. Therfore abhorre thoſe new Manichees of our time, both Lutherans and Caluiniſts, that make God the author and cauſe of Iudas betraying of Chriſt, no leſſe then of Paules converſion, beſide the falſe tranſlation of Beza, ſaying for Gods preſcience or foreknowledge (in the Greeke, προγνωσει) Gods prouidence.*

Gods determination that Chriſt ſhould die, executeth not the Iewes, Beza.

Fulke. 9. It is a moſt impudent ſlander, that Luther or Caluine euer taught, that God was the author of the traiterous ſinne of Iudas. And it is a knot in a ruſh, that you finde, when you charge Beza with falſe tranſlation, where he rendreth the word, Prouidence. For what ſignifieth prouidence, but foreſeeing, and what is foreſeeing, in God but foreknowledge?

Rhem. 11 27. My ſoul in Hel,) Where al the Faithful, according to the Creede, euer haue beleeued, that Chriſt according to his ſoul, went downe to Hel, to deliuer the Patriarches and al iuſt men there holden in bondage til his death, and the Apoſtle here citing the Prophets wordes, moſt euidently expreſſeth the ſame, diſtinguiſhing his ſoule in Hel, from his body in the graue: Yet the Caluiniſts to defend againſt Gods expreſſe wordes, the blaſphemie of their Maiſter, that Chriſt ſuffered the paines of Hel, and that no where but vpon the Croſſe, and that otherwiſe he deſcended not into Hel, muſt falſely and ſlanderouſly here corrupt the text, by turning and wreſting both the Hebrew and Greeke wordes from their moſt proper and vſual ſignifications of Soule, and Hel, into body, and graue: ſaying for, my ſoule in Hel, thus, my body, * life, perſon, yea (as Beza in his new Teſtament an. 1556) my carcas in the graue. and this later they corrupt almoſt through out the Bible for that purpoſe. But for refelling of both corruptions, it ſhal be ſufficient in this place: firſt, that al Hebrues and Greekes, and al that vnderſtand the tonges, know that the foreſaid Hebrue and Greeke wordes are as proper, peculiar, and vſual to ſignifie, ſoul and Hel, as anima and infernus in Latin, yea as ſoul and Hel in Engliſh do properly ſignifie the ſoule of man, and Hel that is oppoſite to heauen: and that they are as vnproprely vſed to ſignifie body and graue, as to ſay in Engliſh, ſoul for body, or Hel for graue. Secondly, it doth ſo miſlike the Heretikes themſelues, that Caſtalio one of their fine Tranſlatours refelleth it, and to make it the more ſure, he for, in inferno, tranſlateth, in Orco. that is, in Hel. Thirdly, Beza himſelf partly recanteth in his later edition, and confeſſeth that, Carcas, was no fit word for the body of Chriſt, and therfore, I haue (ſaith he) changed it, but I reteine and keepe the ſame ſenſe ſtil. meaning, that he hath now tranſlated it, ſoule, but that he meaneth thereby as before, Chriſts dead body. fourthly, * he ſaith plainely, that tranſlating thus, Thou ſhalt not leaue my carkas in the graue, he did it of purpoſe againſt Limbus Patrum, Purgatorie, and Chriſts deſcending into Hel, which he calleth foul errours, and marueleth, that moſt of the ancient fathers were in that errour: namely of Chriſts deſcending into Hel, and deliuering the old fathers. What neede we more? He oppoſeth himſelf both againſt plaine Scriptures and al auncient fathers, peruerting the one, and contemning the other, to ouerthrow that truth which is an Article of our Creede. whereby it is euidently falſe which ſome of them ſay for their defenſe, that none of them did euer of purpoſe tranſlate ſo ſay. How much more after this life, that boſome of Abraham, may be called Paradiſe. Moreouer, where you call it a blaſphemie of Caluine, to ſay that Chriſt ſuffered the paines of Hell, on the Croſſe, you bewray greater malice, then wit, or learning. For what diſhonour is it to our Sauiour Chriſt, to ſuffer that which was neceſſarie for our redemption, namely, that torment of Hel, which we had deſerued, and which the iuſtice of God required that he ſhould endure, for our redemption. Or rather, what is more to the honour of Chriſt, then that he vouchſafed, to deſcend into Hell for vs, and to abide that bitter paine, which we had deſerued to ſuffer eternally. And what may rather be called Hell, then the anguiſh of ſoule, which he ſuffered, when he being God, yet complained that he was forſaken of God? Againe, where you ſay, that Caluine ſhould teach that he did not otherwiſe deſcend into Hell, it is falſe: for he acknowledgeth, that the vertue of his death, did ouercome Hell, which in ſome ſenſe, may be called a deſcent into Hell. Furthermore, if deſcending into Hell, be taken according to the Hebrue phraſe, for entring into the ſtate of the dead, that are departed this life: Caluine alſo acknowledgeth, that in this ſenſe alſo, Chriſt deſcended into Hell. Finally, if Chriſts deſcending into Hell, as ſome of the ancient Fathers did expound it, were nothing but his

That no man accompt that to be his owne,which the neceſſitie of his brother requireth,to be beſtowed on him. For that the Chriſtians then had property in their goods,and might ſo hold it, it is manifeſt by the words of Peter to Ananias, cap. 5,4. Chryſoſtome ſayth, the Chriſtians were then ſo affected, as the people were in his time, when God ſhaked the citie with an earthquake, where there was no communitie, but in charitable affection. They that liued in Monaſteries,in S. 12 And when Peter ſawe that, He anſwered vnto the people, Ye men of Iſrael, why marueile ye at this? or why looke ye ſo earneſtly on vs, as though by our owne power or godlineſſe we had made this man to walke?

13 The God of Abraham, and of Iſahac, and of Iacob, the God of our fathers hath glorified his ſonne Ieſus, whom ye betrayed and denied in the preſence of Pilate, when he had iudged him to be looſed.

17 And now brethren, I wote that therough ignorance ye did it, as did alſo your Rulers.

18 But thoſe things which God before had ſhewed by the mouth of all his Prophets, that Chriſt ſhould ſuffer he hath ſo fulfilled.

MARGINAL NOTES. CHAP. III.

Rhem.1. 1. Ninth houre of prayer.) This maketh for diſtinction of Canonicall houres and diuerſitie of appointed times to pray in. See Annot.c.10,9.

Fulke.1. This was the time of the euening ſacrifice, when the religious Iewes reſorted to the temple to pray: But for popiſh canonicall houres which are their morning ſeruice, it maketh nothing at all. Canonicall houres.

Rhem.2. 16. Faith of his name.) This faith was not the faith of the lame man (for he looked onely for almes) nor a ſpeciall faith of the Apoſtles owne ſaluation: but the whole beleefe of Chriſtian Religion.

Fulke.2. This faith might be the mans faith in Chriſt, whom he heard them name: or the faith of miracles in the Apoſtles, apprehending onely the power of Chriſt, by which this man was healed. Which although in the Apoſtles it was ioyned with the whole beleefe of Chriſtian Religion, yet in ſome it was without that beleefe, which wrought no leſſe miracles in the name of Chriſt then this, Mat.7.22. Faith of miracles.

Rhem.3. 21. Heauen truely.) Some Heretikes fouly corrupt this place, thus, Who muſt be conteyned in heauen, of purpoſe (as they proteſt) to hold Chriſt in heauen, from the B. Sacrament. Bezo. As though his preſence there, drewe him out of heauen. Neither can they pretend the Greeke, which is word for word as in the vulgar Latine, and as we tranſlate.

Fulke.3. S. Gregorie Nazianzen was ſuch an Heretike, which ſo citeth this place in Greeke, as it cannot otherwiſe be vnderſtood, but that Chriſt muſt be conteyned in heauen, οὐρανὸν and howſoeuer it be tranſlated, this ſenſe muſt needes be concluded out of the wordes. For if heauen muſt conteine Chriſt, Chriſt muſt be conteyned of heauen, or as you tranſlate it: heauen muſt receiue Chriſt, ergo Chriſt muſt be receiued of heauen. And if this preſence in the ſacrament draw him not from heauen, then is his preſence in ỹ ſacrament not corporal. The reall preſēce of Chriſts body.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. III.

Rhem.4. 6. That which I haue.) This power of working miracles was in Peter, and Peter properly did giue this man his health, though he receiued that force and vertue of God, and in and by him executed the ſame. Therefore he ſaith, That which I haue, I giue to thee. and the Heretikes are ridiculous that note here, a miracle done by Chriſt by ỹ handes of the Apoſtles, to make the ſimple beleeue that they had no more to doe then a dead inſtrument in the workemans hand. Saincts doe miracles and the like, but by the power of God.

Rhem.5. 12. By our power.) When the Apoſtles remitte ſinnes, or doe any other miracles, they doe it not by any humane, proper, or naturall power in them ſelues: but of ſupernaturall force giuen them from aboue, to proue that the faith of Chriſt is true, and that he is God whom the Iewes crucified, in whoſe name and faith they worke, and not in their owne.

Fulk.4.5. Theſe notes doe one of them fight againſt the other: for in the former you ſay this power was in Peter properly, in the latter you ſay, the Apoſtles in ſuch workes, doe it not by any proper power in them. You cauill againſt that we ſay: this was a miracle done by Chriſt by the hands of the Apoſtles, as though they had no more to doe then a dead inſtrument. But who is ſo ſimple, or rather ſenſeles, to thinke that the Apoſtles wrought miracles as dead inſtruments? when Chriſt him ſelfe ſayth, it is not you that ſpeake, but the ſpirite of your father, which is in you, Matth.10.20. Doth he meane that the holy Ghoſt ſpeaketh in them as in dead inſtruments? or rather is the auctor and ſuggeſtor of that wiſdome, according to which they make anſwere. So when the Scripture ſayth, that God only doth worke great miracles, pſal.136.4. We muſt ſtil acknowledge God to be the auctor, and man to be the inſtrument of all wonderous workes, that God worketh by their hands: and ſo the Apoſtles confeſſe them ſelues. Miracles.

CHAP. IIII.

The rulers of the Iewes oppoſe them ſelues and impriſon Peter and Iohn. 4 But yet thouſands of the people are conuerted. 5 and to the Rulers alſo, Peter boldly auoucheth by the foreſaid miracle, that IESVS is Chriſt, telling them of their heinous fault out of the Pſalmes, and that without him they cannot be ſaued. 13 They though confounded with the miracle, yet proceede in their obſtinacie, forbidding them to ſpeake any more of IESVS, adding alſo threates. 23 Whereupon the Church fleeth to prayer, wherein they comfort them ſelues with the omnipotence of God, and predictions of Dauid, and aske for the gift of boldneſſe and miracles againſt thoſe threates. 31 And God ſheweth miraculouſly that he hath heard their prayer. 32 The whole Churches vnitie and communitie of life. 36 Of Barnabas by name.

AND when they were ſpeaking to the people, the Prieſtes and magiſtrates of the temple and the Sadducees came vpon them,

2 Being greeued that they taught the people, and ſhewed in IESVS the reſurrection from the dead:

3 And they laide handes vpon them, and put them into ward, vntill the morowe, for it was nowe euening.

AND as they ſpake vnto the people, the Prieſtes and the † ruler of the Temple, and the Sadducees came vpon them, †Or, captaine.

2 Taking it grieuously that they taught the people, and preached in Ieſus the reſurrection from the dead.

3 And they laid hands on them, and put them in holde vntill the next day: for it was nowe euentide.

4 And

‡Here againe we see the proceeding & increase of the Church visibly.

4 And ‡many of them that had heard the word, beleeued: and the number of the men was made fiue thousand.

5 And it came to passe on the morowe, that their princes, and Ancients, and Scribes were gathered into Hierusalem.

6 And Annas the high priest, & Caiphas and Iohn, and Alexander, & as many as were of the priests stocke.

7 And setting them in the middes, they asked: In what power or in what name haue you done this?

8 Then Peter repleniſhed with the holy Ghoſt, saide to them, Ye princes of the people and Ancients:

9 If we this day be examined for a good deede vpon an impotent man, in what he hath bene made whole,

10 Be it knowen to all you and to all the people of Israël, that in the name of IESVS CHRIST of Nazareth, whom you did crucifie, whom God hath rayſed from ỹ dead, in this same this man stãdeth before you whole.

The name of IESVS. See Aaor. Philip. 2, 10.

Psa. 117, 22.

11 This is the stone that was reiected of you the builders: which is made into the head of the corner.

12 And there is not saluatiõ in any other. for neither is there any other name vnder heauen giuen to men, wherein we must be saued.

The Apoſtles constancie, learning and wisdome after the comming of the Holy Ghoſt, being but idiotes, that is, simple vnlettered men and timorous before.

13 And seeing Peters constancie and Iohns, vnderstanding ỹ they were men vnlettered, and of the vulgar sort, they marueled, & they knew them ỹ they had beene ẅ IESVS:

14 Seeing the man also that had bin cured, standing with them, they could say nothing to the contrary.

15 But they commanded them to goe aside forth out of the councel: and they conferred together,

16 Saying, What shall we doe to these men? for a notorious signe in deed hath been done by them, to all the inhabitants of Hierusalem: it is manifeſt, & we cannot deny it.

17 But that it be no further spred abrode among the people, let vs threaten them, that they speake no more in this name to any mã.

18 And calling them, they charged them that they should not speake at all, nor teache in the name of IESVS.

19 But Peter and Iohn answering, said to them, ‡ If it be iust in the sight of God, to heare you rather then God, iudge ye.

20 For we cannot but speake the things which we haue seene and heard.

21 But they threatning, dimiſſed them:

4 Howbeit, many of them which heard the worde, beleeued, and the number of the men was about fiue thousand.

5 And it came to passe on the morowe, that their rulers, and elders and Scribes,

6 And Annas the chiefe Prieſt, and Caiphas, and Iohn, and Alexander, and as many as were of the kinred of the high Prieſtes, were gathered together at Hierusalem.

7 And when they had set them before them, they asked, By what power, or in what name haue you done this?

8 Then Peter full of the holy Ghoſt, said vnto them, Ye rulers of the people, and elders of Israel,

9 If we this day be examined of the good deed done to the sicke man, by what meane he is made whole,

10 Be it knowen vnto you all, and to all the people of Israel, that by the name of Iesus Christ of Nazareth, whom ye crucified, whom God rayſed againe from the dead, euen by him, doeth this man stand here before you whole.

*11 This is the stone which was† set nought by of you builders, which is the head of the corner.

Psal. 118. 22. esay 28. 16. mat. 21. 42.

†Or, accompted nothing worth.

12 Neither is there saluation in any other: for amõg men vnder heauen, there is giuen none other name wherein we must be saued.

13 Nowe when they sawe the boldneſſe of Peter and Iohn, and vnderstood that they were vnlearned, and ignorant men, they marueiled, and they knew them that they had bene with Iesus:

14 And beholding also the man which was healed standing with them, they coulde not say against it.

15 But when they had commaunded them to goe aside out of the councel, they counselled among them selues,

16 Saying, What shall we doe to these men? for a manifeſt signe is done by them, and is openly knowen to all them that dwell in Hierusalem, and we cannot denie it.

17 But that it be noyſed no further among the people, let vs threaten, and charge them that they speake henceforth to no man in this name.

18 And they called them, and commaunded them, that in no wise they should speake nor teach in the name of Iesus.

19 But Peter and Iohn answered, and saide vnto them, Whether it be right in the sight of God, to hearken vnto you more then to God, iudge ye.

20 For we cannot but speake that, which we haue seene and heard.

21 So when they had more sharpely threatned them, not finding howe they might puniſh them, for the people, becauſe all glorified ẏ which had bene done, in that which was chaunced.

22 For the man was more then fourtie yeeres old in whom that ſigne of health had beene wrought.

23 And being dimiſſed they came to theirs, and ſhewed all that the chiefe prieſtes and Auncients had ſaid to them.

24 Who hauing heard it, ẅ one accorde lifted vp their voyce to God, and ſaid, Lorde, thou that didſt make heauen and earth, the ſea, and all things that are in them,

25 Who in the holy Ghoſt by the mouth of our father Dauid thy ſeruãt haſt ſaid, Why did the Gentiles rage, and the people meditate vaine things:

Pſal.2,1. 26 The kings of the earth ſtand vp, and the princes aſſemble together againſt our Lord, and againſt his CHRIST?

27 For there aſſembled in deede in this citie againſt thy holy childe IESVS whom thou haſt anointed, Herod, and Pontius Pilate, with ẏ Gentiles and the people of Iſraël, 28 To doe what ‡thy hand and thy counſell decreed to be done.

29 And nowe Lorde looke vpon their threatnings, and giue vnto thy ſeruants with all confidence to ſpeake thy word,

30 In that, that thou extend thy hand to cures and ſignes and wonders to be done by the name of thy holy ſonne IESVS.

31 And when they had prayed, the place was moued wherein they were gathered: & they were all repleniſhed ẅ the holy Ghoſt, and they ſpake ẏ word of God ẅ confidence.

¶Note the ardent charitie and contempt of worldly things in the firſt Chriſtiãs: who did not onely giue great almes, but ſolde all their lands to beſtowe on the Apoſtles and the reſt that were in neceſſitie, according to Chriſtes counſel. Mat. 16,21. Note alſo the great honour and credit giuen to the Apoſtles, in that ẏ Chriſtian men put all the goods and poſſeſſions they had, to their diſpoſition. Act.2,44.

32 And the multitude of beleeuers had one hart and one ſoule: neither did any one ſay that ought was his owne of thoſe things which he poſſeſſed, but all things were common vnto them.

33 And with great power did the Apoſtles giue teſtimonie of the reſurrection of IESVS CHRIST our Lord: and great grace was in all them.

34 For neither was there any one needie among them. For as many as were owners of lands or houſes ‡ſold and brought the prices of thoſe things which they ſold, 35 And laide it before the feete of the Apoſtles. And to euery one was deuided according as euery one had neede.

them, they let them goe, finding nothing howe to puniſh them, becauſe of the people: for all men glorified God, becauſe of that which was done.

22 For the man was aboue fourtie yeeres olde, on whom this miracle of healing was ſhewed.

23 Then aſſoone as they were let goe, they came to their fellowes, and ſhewed all that the high Prieſts and elders had ſaid vnto them.

24 And when they heard that, they lifted vp their voyces to God with one accorde, and ſaide, Lord, thou art God which haſt made heauen and earth, the ſea, and all that in them is,

*25 Which by the mouth of thy ſeruant Dauid haſt ſaid, Why did the heathen rage, and the people imagine vaine things? Pſal.2.1.

26 The kings of the earth ſtoode vp, and the rulers came together againſt the Lorde, and againſt his Chriſt.

27 For of a trueth againſt thy holy childe Ieſus, whom thou haſt anoynted, both Herode, and alſo Pontius Pilate, with the Gentiles, and the people of Iſrael, gathered them ſelues together, 28 For to doe whatſoeuer thy hand and thy counſell determined before to be done.

29 And now Lord, behold their threatnings, and graunt vnto thy ſeruants, that with all boldneſſe they may ſpeake thy word, 30 So that thou ſtretch forth thine hand, that healing, and ſignes and wonders be done by the name of thy holy childe Ieſus.

31 And as ſoone as they had prayed, the place mooued where they were aſſembled together, and they were all filled with the holy Ghoſt, and they ſpake the word of God boldly.

32 And the multitude of them that beleeued, were of one heart, and of one ſoule: Neither ſaid any of them, that ought of the things which hee poſſeſſed was his owne, but they had all thinges common.

33 And with great power gaue the Apoſtles witneſſe of the reſurrection of the Lord Ieſus, and great grace was with them all.

34 Neither was there any among them that lacked: For as many as were poſſeſſours of lands, or houſes, ſolde them, and brought the price of the things that were ſolde, 35 And laide it downe at the Apoſtles feete: And diſtribution was made vnto euery man according as he had neede.

36 And Ioſes, which was alſo called of the Apoſtles Barnabas (that is to ſay, if ye interprete it, The ſonne of conſolation) being a Leuite, and of the countrey of Cypers,

37 Whereas

37 Whereas he had a peece of land, ſold it, and brought the price, and laid it ‖ before the feete of the Apoſtles.

37 Hauing lande, ſolde it, and brought the money, and layde it downe at the Apoſtles feete.

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. IIII.

Rhem.1. 19. If it be iuſt.) Their conſtancie and courage after their confirmation, being ſo weake before. And if any Magiſtrate commaund againſt God, that is to ſay, forbid Catholike Chriſtian men to preach or ſerue God, this ſame muſt be their anſwere, though they be whipped and killed for their labour. See cap.5.ver.29.

Fulke.1. The confirmation of the Apoſtles was nothing like popiſh confirmation, which they that receiue are neuer the better for it. True Catholike Chriſtians, if they be forbidden by enemies of the Church, ought to anſwere as the Apoſtles did. But papiſts that be counterfeit Catholikes, if they doe not obey the Chriſtian magiſtrates, or gouernours of the Church, are iuſtly puniſhed. Popiſh confirmation.

Rhem.2. 28. Thy hand and thy counſel.) Chriſtes death, as needefull for mans redemption, was of Gods determination: but as of the malice of the Iewes, it was not his act otherwiſe then by permiſſion.

Fulke.2. The malice of the Iewes was of the deuill, and of them ſelues: but God did not onely permit, but alſo vſe their malice moſt holily and iuſtly, to bring his purpoſe to effect.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. IIII.

Rhem.3. 37. Before the feete.) He, as the reſt, did not onely giue his goods as in vulgar almes, but in all humble and reuerent maner as things dedicated to God, he laid them downe at the Apoſtles holy feete, as S. Luke alwayes expreſſeth, and gaue them not into their hands. The Sunamite fell downe and embraced Eliſaus feete. Mary that asked benefites of Chriſt (as the woman ſicke of the bloody fluxe) fell downe at his feete, and Marie kiſſed his feete. Such are ſignes of due reuerence done both to Chriſt and to other ſacred perſons, either Prophetes, Apoſtles, Popes, or others repreſenting his perſon in earth. See in S. Hierom of Epiphanius biſhop in Cypres, how the people of Hieruſalem of all ſortes flocked together vnto him, offring their children (to take his bleſſing) kiſſing his feete, plucking the hemmes of his garment, ſo that he could not moue for the throng. Ep.61.ſ.4.cons.ſtro.to Hieroſol. Reuerence to holy perſons. 4.Reg.4.27. Luk.8.47. Luk.7.38 Kiſſing their feete.

Fulke.3. The reſt alſo brought the price, and layd it at the Apoſtles feete: but of kiſſing their holy feete, is here no mention. And although Marie kiſſed the feete of Chriſt, it is no warrant for the Pope to offer his feete to be kiſſed, euen of Kings and Emperors. When Cornelius fell downe at Peters feete, Peter would not ſuffer him, Act.10.15. The people of the East countrey, were full of ceremoniall reuerence, in falling downe, kiſſing, and ſuch other externall rites of humiliation, and the rather to Epiphanius, becauſe he was an aduerſarie to Heretikes, and oppoſed himſelfe againſt the proude Biſhop of Hieruſalem, which fauoured ſome Hereſies. But the duetie of all men is euill gathered of that immoderate zeale of the people, which Epiphanius himſelfe did not allowe. For he was forced by the throng to ſuffer ſuch things, and did not willingly, and of purpoſe ſtay in one place, to receiue ſuch honor of the people, as that enuious Biſhop of Ieruſalem did falſely obiect vnto him, as it followeth immediatly in S. Hierome. But if ſuch kiſſing of feete be commendable, howe commeth it to paſſe, that the Pope onely hath holy feete to be kiſſed, and not other Biſhops and Clergie men as well as he? Kiſſing the Popes feete.

21 And when they heard that, they entred into the Temple early in the morning, & taught: but the chiefe Prieſt came, and they that were with were with him, called together the Councel and al the auncients of the children of Iſrael: and they ſent to the priſon that they might be brought.

22 But when the miniſters were come, and opening the priſon, found them not: returning they told,

23 Saying, The priſon truely we founde ſhut with al diligence, and the keepers ſtanding before the gates: but opening it, wee found no man within.

24 And as ſoone as the Magiſtrate of the tẽple & the cheefe prieſts heard theſe words, they were in doubt of thẽ, what would befal.

25 And there came a certaine man and told them, That the men, loe, which you did put in priſon, are in the temple ſtanding, and teaching the people.

26 Then went the Magiſtrate with the miniſters, and brought them without force, for they feared the people leſt they ſhould be ſtoned.

27 And when they had brought them, they ſet them in the Councel. And the high prieſt asked them,

Acts.4.18. 28 Saying, *Commaunding we cõmanded you that you ſhould not teache in this name: and beholde you haue filled Hieruſalem with your doctrine, and you will bring vpon vs the bloud of this man.

29 But Peter anſwering & the Apoſtles, ſaid, God muſt be obeyed, rather then men.

30 The God of our Fathers hath raiſed vp IESVS, whom you did kill, hanging him vpon a tree.

31 This Prince and Sauiour God hath exalted with his right hande, to giue *repentance to Iſraël, and remiſſion of ſinnes.

* Fulk. Here they miſtake the latine word Pœnitentia repẽtance, which elſewhere commonly they cal penance.

32 And we are witneſſes of theſe words, and the holy Ghoſt, whom God hath giuen to al that obey him.

33 Whẽ they had heard theſe things, it cut them to ẏ hart, and they cõſulted to kil them.

34 But one in the Councel riſing vp, a Phariſee named Gamaliel, a doctor of lawe honorable to al the people, commanded the men to be put forth a while.

35 And he ſaid to them, Ye men of Iſraël, take heed to your ſelues touching theſe men what you meane to doe.

36 For before theſe daies there roſe Theódas, ſaying he was ſome body, to whom conſented a number of men about foure hũdred, who was ſlaine: and all that beleeued him, were diſperſed, and brought to nothing.

Theudas

37 After this felow there roſe Iudas of Galilee with him, & called a councel together, and al the elders of the children of Iſrael, and ſent to the priſon to fetch them.

22 But when the officers came, and founde them not in the priſon, they returned, and tolde,

23 Saying, The priſon truely found we ſhutte with all diligence, and the keepers ſtanding without before the doores, but when we had opened, we found no man within.

24 Then when the chiefe Prieſt, and the captaine of the Temple, and the high Prieſtes heard theſe things, they doubted of them whereunto this would growe.

25 Then came one and ſhewed them, ſaying, Beholde, the men that yee put in priſon, are ſtanding in the Temple, and teaching the people.

26 Then went the captaine of the Temple with the officers, and brought them without violence: (For they feared the people, leaſt they ſhould haue bene ſtoned.)

27 And when they had brought them, they ſet them before the councel, and the chiefe Prieſt asked them,

*28 Saying, * Did not we ſtraitly commaunde you that ye ſhoulde not teache in this name? And beholde, ye haue filled Hieruſalem with your doctrine, and intende to bring this mans blood vpon vs.* Acts.4.18.

29 Then Peter and the other Apoſtles anſwered, and ſaid, We ought more to obey God then men.

30 The God of our fathers raiſed vp Ieſus, whom ye ſlewe, and hanged on tree.

31 Him hath God lifted vp with his right hande, to be a Prince and a Sauiour, for to giue repentance to Iſrael, and forgiuenes of ſinnes.

32 And we are records of theſe things which we ſay, and ſo is alſo the holy Ghoſt, whome God hath giuen to them that obey him.

33 When they heard that, they clane aſunder, and ſought meanes to ſlay them.

34 Then ſtoode there vp one in the councell, a Phariſee, named Gamaliel, a doctour of lawe, had in reputation among all the people, and commaunded to put the Apoſtles foorth a litle ſpace, 35 And ſaid vnto them, Ye men of Iſrael, take heede to your ſelues, what ye intend to doe as touching theſe men.

36 For before theſe dayes roſe vp one Theudas, reporting him ſelfe to be ſome great man, to whome a number of men, about a foure hundred, ioyned them ſelues: which was ſlaine, and they all which † beleeued him were ſcattered abroade, and brought to nought.

† Or, agreed vnto.

37 After this man roſe vp one Iudas of Galilee, lilee in the daies of the Enrolling, and drew away the people after him, and he periſhed: and as many as euer conſented to him, were diſperſed.

38 And now therfore I ſay to you, depart from theſe men and let them alone: for if this coũſel or worke be of mẽ, it wil be diſſolued:

39 But if it be of God, you are not able to
'u, diſſolue[u] them, leſt perhaps you be found to reſiſt God alſo. And they conſented to him.

40 And calling in the Apoſtles, after they had ſcourged them, they charged them that they ſhould not ſpeake in the name of IESVS, and dimiſſed them.

41 And they went from the ſight of the councel reioycing, becauſe they were accounted worthy to ſuffer reproche for the name of IESVS.

42 And euery day they ceaſed not in the temple and from houſe to houſe to teach and euangelize Chriſt IESVS.

Galilee, in the dayes of tribute, and drewe away much people after him: hee alſo periſhed, and all, euen as many as obeyed him, were ſcattered abroade.

38 And nowe I ſay vnto you, refraine your ſelues from theſe men, and let them alone: for if this counſell or this worke be of men, it will come to nought:

39 But and if it be of God, yee can not deſtroy it, leaſt haplie ye bee founde to ſtriue againſt God.

40 And to him they agreed: and when they had called the Apoſtles, and beaten them, they commaunded that they ſhoulde not ſpeake in the name of Ieſus, and let them goe.

41 And they departed from the face of the councel, reioycing that they were counted worthy to ſuffer ſhame for his name.

42 And dayly in the Temple, and in euery houſe, they ceaſed not to teache and preach Ieſus Chriſt.

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. V.

Rhem. 2. 11. Feare in the whole Church.) Hereupon roſe great reuerence, awe, and feare of the vulgar Chriſtians toward the holy Apoſtles, for an example to al Chriſtian people how to behaue themſelues toward their Biſhops and Prieſts.

Fulke 2. The feare of God fell vpon the whole Church, and vnfained reuerence towardes Gods Miniſters: whome they feared not as tyrants, but loued as fathers. Amari parens & epiſcopus, debet non timeri. A father and a biſhop ought to be loued, not to be feared. Hierom. Ep. 62. ad Theophilum. Biſhops not to be feared as tyrants.

Rhem. 3. 39. Of God, you.) Time and the euident ſucceſſe of Chriſts Church and religion, proue it to be of God: no violence of the Iewes, no perſecution of the Heathen Princes, no endeuour of domeſtical Aduerſaries, heretikes, Schiſmatikes, or il liuers, preuailing againſt it. as on the other ſide, many attempts haue been made by Arius Macedonius, Neſtorius, Luther, and the like, who thought themſelues ſome body: but after they had plaied their parts a while, their memory is buried, or liueth only in malediction and infamie, and their ſcholers come to nought. Therfore let no Cath. man be ſcandalized that this hereſie holdeth vp for a time. For the Arians and ſome others floriſhed much longer then theſe, and were better ſupported by Princes and learning, and yet had an end.

Fulke 3. When you ſee the end of that doctrine which Luther preached againſt you, then boaſt of the victorie of the Popiſh Church. We ſee the fall of Babylon dayly more and more: and the madneſſe of them that ſeeke to vpholde her, made dayly more and more manifeſt. But eſpecially we knowe out of the holy Scriptures, that the Popiſh rable is the Synagogue of Sathan and kingdome of Antichriſt, and that the doctrine which we teach, is the faith of Chriſt. The fall of Babylon.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. V.

Rhem. 4. 2. Defrauded.) In that (ſaith S. Auguſtine) he withdrew any part of that which he promiſed, he was guiltie at once, both of ſacrilege, & of fraude. of ſacrilege, becauſe he robbed God of that which was his by promes: of fraude, in that he withheld of the whole gift a peece. Let now the Heretikes come, and ſay it was for lying or hypocriſie onely that this ſinne was condemned: becauſe they be loth to haue ſacrilege counted any ſuch ſinne, who haue taught men not only to take away from God ſome peece of that or al that them ſelues gaue, but plainely to ſpoile and apply to them ſelues al that other men gaue. Aug. ſer. 9. in appendice diuerſis tom. 10. Sacrilege.

Fulke 4. S. Auguſtine is cited out of new found Sermons, which yet haue not obteined credit of Antiquitie. The text is plaine, for what ſinne they were puniſhed. Neither can it be prooued that they promiſed the whole, but that they affirmed they brought the whole, when they withdrewe part. Sacriledge is condemned by many other places of Scripture, although it be not by this. And if it be alſo by this (as ſome fathers of better credite then you cite doe ſuppoſe,) yet the principall cauſe is manifeſt by the words of the Apoſtle, to be lying and hypocriſie. Now what heretikes they be, that teach men to commit ſacriledge, you muſt name more particularly. The Popiſh clergie in King Henry the 8. time, conſented to the ſuppreſſing of Monaſteries: and ſome Papiſts at this day without conſcience of ſacriledge, doe enioy their lands, & dwell in their houſes, peraduenture you meane them. If you meane vs, as we doe vtterly deteſt ſacriledge, ſo we thinke it not onely lawful, but neceſſary to put downe Idolatrie, and to apply to good and godly purpoſes, things dedicated to maintain falſe worſhip, ſuperſtition and Idolatrie. Slander.

Rhem. 5. 3. Peter ſaid.) S. Peter (as you ſee here) without mans relation knew this fraude and the cogitations of Ananias, and as head of the College and of the whole Church againſt which this robbery was committed, executed this heauy ſentence of Excommunication both againſt him, and his wife conſenting to the Sacrilege. for it was excommunication by S. Auguſtines iudgement, (li. 5. cont. ep. Parm. c. 1. to 7.) and had this corporall miraculous death ioyned withal, as the Excommunication that S. Paul gaue out againſt the inceſtuous and others, had the corporal vexation of Satan incident vnto it. Excommunication ioyned with corporal paines. 1. Cor. 5.

Euery

Fulke. 5. Euery thing that Peter ſaid or did, with you argueth his Popedome, but either you muſt bring better arguments, or els children wil laugh you to ſcorne. The puniſhment layd vpon theſe hypocrites, was greater then excommunication, the ende whereof is entended to be the repentance and amendement of the excommunicate, which was not in this caſe. Neither doeth S. Auguſtine iudge (as you ſay) that it was excommunication. but ſaith, that Paul in deliuering the inceſtuous Corinthian to Satan, ſought by deſtruction of the fleſh, to prouide for his ſpiritual ſaluation, that either by ſome puniſhment, or corporall death: as Ananias and his wife fell downe at the Apoſtle Peters feete: or els by repentance, for he was deliuered to Satan, that he might ſlay in himſelfe the wicked concupiſcence of the fleſh. Theſe wordes (as all men may ſee) proue not that Ananias and his wife were excommunicated, but that Peter of charitable affection vſed this ſeueritie, wiſhing (if it were Gods will) the ſaluation of their ſoules. That the excommunication of S. Paul, 1. Cor. 5. had the corporal vexation of Satan incident vnto it, cannot be proued by the text. For euery one that is caſt out of the Church of Chriſt, is deliuered into the power of Satan, although he ſuffer no bodily vexation by Satan.

Peters Popedome.

Excommunication.

Rhem. 6. 4. In thy power.) If it diſpleaſed God (ſaith S. Auguſtine) to withdrawe of the money which they had vowed to God, howe is he angry when chaſtitie is vowed and is not performed? for to ſuch may be ſaid that which S. Peter ſaid of the money: Thy virginitie remayning did it not remaine to thee, & before thou didſt vow, was it not in thine owne power? for, whoſoeuer haue vowed ſuch things & haue not payed them, let them not thinke to be condemned to corporal death, but to euerlaſting fire. Auguſt. Ser. 10. de diuerſis. And S. Gregorie to the ſame purpoſe writeth thus, Ananias had vowed money to God, which afterward ouercome with diuiliſh perſuaſion he withdrew: but with what death he was punished, thou knoweſt. If then he were worthy of that death, who tooke away the money that he had giuen to God, conſider what great peril in Gods iudgement thou ſhalt be worthy of, which haſt withdrawen, not money, but thy ſelf from almighty God, to whom thou hadſt vowed thy ſelf vnder the habite or weede of a Monke.

Vow of Chaſtitie, and the breach thereof.

Greg. li. 1. ep. 33.

Fulke. 6. They that haue as great power to keepe their vow of virginitie aduiſedly made, as Ananias had to deliuer the whole price of his land, ſinne damnably if they breake it. But if they haue raſhly vowed that, which they are not able to performe, they haue ſinned in making ſuch an vnaduiſed vow, but it were better for them to marry, then to liue incontinently out of mariage. Hier. ad Demetriad. Epiphan. Hær. 61.

Vowes.

Rhem. 7. 4. Not to men, but) To take from the Clearch or from the Gouernours thereof, things deſtinated to their vſe and the ſeruice of God, or to be vnto Gods Miniſters, is ſo iudged of before God, as if the lie were made, and the fraude done to the holy Ghoſt himſelf, who is the Churches Preſident and Protector.

Fulke 7. Not euery one that taketh from the Church, or that lieth to Gods miniſters, ſinneth againſt the holy Ghoſt, as theſe did, although he ſinne againſt God. For the holy Ghoſt is not in all Gods Miniſters, to knowe things done in ſecret, as he was in the Apoſtles, and therefore they tempted the holy Ghoſt, whom they knew to be in the Apoſtles after a miraculous maner.

Rhem. 8. 15. His ſhadow.) Specially they ſought to Peter the cheefe of al, who not onely by touching, as the other, but by his very ſhadow cured al diſeaſes, whereupon S. Auguſtine ſaith, If then the ſhadow of his body could helpe, how much more now the fulnes of power? And if then a certaine litle wind of him paſſing by did profite them that humbly asked, how much more the grace of him now being permanent and remaining? Ser. 29. de Sanctis, ſpeaking of the miracles done by the Saincts now reigning in heauen.

Peters ſhadow and interceſſion.

Fulke 8. God wrought greatly by Peters miniſtery, that hee cured euen thoſe that came vnder his ſhadowe, but this proueth not the Popedome of Peter, and much leſſe that Peter worketh ſtill miracles from heauen: as that counterfeit Auguſtine doeth ſeeme to inſinuate, who liued long after Iſidorus, that was 200. yeres after S. Auguſtine, as it is manifeſt by citing his ſaying, as an ancient auctor. Ser. 35. de Sanct.

Peters Popedome.

Miracles.

CHAP. VI.

By occaſion of a murmur in the Church (whoſe number now is ſo growen that it can not be numbred) Seuen of them being ordered by the Apoſtles in the holy order of Deacons: 8 one of them, Steuen, worketh great miracles: and is by ſuch as hee confounded in diſputation, falſely accuſed in the Counſel, of blaſphemie againſt the Temple and rites thereof.

AND in thoſe daies the numbre of diſciples increaſing, there aroſe a murmuring of the Greekes againſt the Hebrues, for that their widowes were deſpiſed in the daily miniſterie.

2 And the Twelue calling together the multitude of the diſciples, ſaid, It is not reaſon, that we leaue the word of God, and ſerue tables.

3 Conſider therfore brethren, ſeuen men of you of good teſtimonie, full of the holy Ghoſt and wiſedom, whom we may appoint ouer this buſines.

4 But we wil be inſtant in praier and the miniſterie of the word.

5 And

AND in thoſe dayes, when the number of the diſciples grewe, there aroſe a grudge among the Greekes againſt the Hebrues, becauſe their widowes were deſpiſed in the daily miniſterie.

2 Then the twelue called the multitude of the diſciples together, and ſaide, It is not good that we ſhould leaue the worde of God, and ſerue tables.

3 Wherefore brethren, looke yee out among you ſeuen men of honeſt report, and full of the holy Ghoſt, and wiſdome, to whom we may commit this buſineſſe.

4 But wee will giue our ſelues continually to prayer, and to the miniſterie of the word.

5 And

The election of the 7 firſt Deacons.

5 And the ſaying was liked before al the multitude. And they choſe Steuen a man ful of faith and of the holy Ghoſt, and Philippe, and Próchorus, and Nicánor, and Timon, and Pármenas, and Nicolas a c ſtranger of Antioche.

6 Theſe they did ſet in the preſence of the Apoſtles: and praying they impoſed handes vpon them.

7 And the word of God increaſed, and the number of the diſciples was multiplied in Hieruſalem exceedingly: a great multitude alſo of the ‡ Prieſts obeied the faith.

‡ Now alſo the Prieſts & they of greater knowleige & eſtimation began to beleeue

8 b And Steuen ful of grace and fortitude did great wonders and ſignes among the people.

b The Epiſtle vpon S. Steuens day in Chriſtmas.

9 And there aroſe certaine of that which is called the Synagogue of the Libertines, & of the Cyrenians, and of the Alexandrians, and of them that were of Cilicia and Aſia, diſputing with Steuen:

10 And they could not reſiſt the wiſedom and the Spirit that ſpake.

11 Then they ſuborned men, to ſay they had heard him ſpeake wordes of blaſphemie againſt Moyſes and God.

12 They therfore ſtirred vp the people, & the Auncients, and the Scribes: and running together they tooke him, and brought him into the Councel, 13 And they ſet falſe witneſſes that ſaid, This man ceaſeth not to ſpeake wordes againſt the holy place and the Law.

14 For we haue heard him ſay, that this ſame IESVS of Nazareth ſhal deſtroy this place, and ſhal change the traditions, which Moyſes deliuered vnto vs.

‡ Such is the face of al conſtant and cheereful Martyrs, to their perſecutors and iudges.

15 And al that ſate in the Councel beholding him, ſaw his face as it were ‡ the face of an Angel.

*5 And the ſaying pleaſed the whole multitude: * and they choſe Steuen, a man full of faith and of the holy ghoſt, and Philip, and Prochorus, and Nicanor, and Timon, and Parmenas, and Nicholas a conuert of Antioche.* Act. 21. 8.

6 Theſe they ſet before the Apoſtles: and when they had prayed, they laide their handes on them.

7 And the word of God encreaſed, and the number of the diſciples multiplied in Hieruſalem greatly, and a great companie of the Prieſts were obedient to the faith.

8 And Steuen full of faith and power, did great wonders and miracles among the people.

9 Then there aroſe certaine of the Synagogue, which is called the ſynagogue of the Libertines, and Cyrenians, and of Alexandria, and of Cilicia, and of Aſia, diſputing with Steuen:

10 And they could not reſiſt the wiſedome and the ſpirite by the which he ſpake.

11 Then they priuily prepared men, which ſaid, We haue heard him ſpeake blaſpemous words againſt Moſes, and againſt God.

12 And they moued the people, and the elders, and the Scribes, and came vpon him, and caught him, and brought him to the councel:

13 And brought foorth falſe witneſſes, which ſayd, This man ceaſſeth not to ſpeake blaſphemous wordes againſt this holy place, and the lawe.

14 For we heard him ſay, that this Ieſus of Nazareth ſhall deſtroy this place, and ſhall change the ordinances which Moſes gaue vs.

15 And all that ſate in the councell, looking ſtedfaſtly on him, ſawe his face as it had bene the face of an angel.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. VI.

Rhem. 1 Murmuring.) It commeth of humaine infirmitie, that in euery Societie of men (be it neuer ſo holy) there is ſome cauſe geuen or taken by the weake, of murmur and difference, which muſt euer be prouided for and ſtaied in the beginning, leſt it growe to further ſchiſme or ſedition. And to al ſuch defects, the more the Church increaſeth in number and diuerſitie of men and Prouinces, the more it is ſubiect. In al which things the ſpiritual Magiſtrates, by the Apoſtles example and authoritie, muſt take order, as time and occaſion ſhal require. Murmuring & emulation.

Rhem. 1. 3 Seuen men.) We may not thinke that theſe Seuen (here made Deacons) were onely choſen to ſerue profane tables or diſpoſe of the Churches more temporalles, though by that occaſion only they may ſeeme to ſome now elected, no expreſſe mention being made of any other function. for, diuers circumſtances of this ſame place giue euidence, and ſo doth al antiquitie, that their Office ſtood not principally about profane things, but about the holy Altar. The perſons to be elected, muſt be ful of the Holy Ghoſt and wiſdom, they muſt after publike praier be ordered and conſecrated by the Apoſtles impoſition of hands, as Biſhops and Prieſts were afterward ordered. ep. ad Tim: Where S. Paul alſo requireth in a manner the ſame conditions in them as in Biſhops. Al which would not haue bene preſcribed for any ſecular ſtewardſhip. Yea ſtraighe vpon their Ordering here (no doubt by commiſſion of the Apoſtles, which they had not before their election) they preached, baptized, diſputed, and as it may appeare by the wordes ſpoken of S. Steuen, that he was ful of grace and fortitude, they receiued great increaſe of grace by their Deaconſhip. The ſeuen Deacons. 1. Tim. 3. & 4. Act. 6, 9.

But S. Ignatius ep. 2. ad Tral. can beſt witneſſe of their Office and the Apoſtles maner and meaning in ſuch things, who writeth thus: It behoueth alſo to pleaſe by al meanes the Deacons, which are for the miniſterie of IESVS CHRIST. For they are not ſeruiteurs of meate and drinke, but miniſters of the Church of God. For what are The Office of Deacons.

Deacons but imitatours or folowers of Chriſt, miniſtring to the Biſhop, as Chriſt to his Father, and working vnto him a cleane & immaculate worke, euen as S. Stephen to S. Iames &c. S. Polycarpe hath the like in his epiſtle ad Philippenſes. And S. Denys writeth that their Office was about the Altar, and putting the holy bread and chalice vpon the ſame. S. Clemens alſo (Apoſt. Conſt. lib. 2. c. 61.) that their Office among other things, is to aſſiſt the Biſhops, and read the Goſpel in the Seruice &c. S. Hierom affirmeth, in cap. 7. Micheæ. and in epiſto. 85. ad Euagrium tom. 2, where he checketh ſome of them for preferring themſelues before Prieſts, and putteth them in remembrance of their firſt calling, that they be as the Leuites were in reſpect of the Prieſts of the old Law. finally by S. Auguſtine alſo of the dignitie of Deacons ep. 148. ad Valerium. Conc. Carthag. 4. can. 37. 38. 39. 41. Lib. Eccl. Hier. c. 3. part. 2.

Fulke. 1. The miniſterie, whereunto the Deacons were aſſigned was an holy miniſterie, and the tables whereunto they were appointed to ſerue, were holie tables, neither was there office exerciſed in prophane things. For the Apoſtles, although they diſtinguiſh the preaching of the word from ſeruing tables, yet doe they not thereby condemne that ſeruice of tables which they themſelues did exerciſe before, of prophanenes. For the prouiſion for the poore members of Chriſt, is an holy ſeruice, and no prophane thing. S. Paule appointeth the collection for the poore, to be on the Lords day, which he would not haue done if it were a prophane matter. 1. Cor. 16. 1. 2. And yet it is not denied, but their miniſterie was vſed alſo, to other holy purpoſes, as teaching, baptizing, and aſſiſting the Apoſtles and other principall paſtors in their ſpirituall charge and miniſterie. But that they were occupied about the altar, as the Popiſh Deacons are, or had any Office like vnto theirs, neither any of the places which you quote or cite doth ſhew, nor any teſtimonie of antiquitie doeth auowe. The Epiſtles of Ignatius, and Polycarpus, that now goe vnder their names, though they haue nothing for the Popiſh Deaconſhip, yet are they not authentike, but gathered out of the Apocryphall conſtitutions of that counterfeit Clements. Dionyſius though not of that antiquitie, which is pretended, yet doeth not he name the Deacons (in the place by you quoted) Which bring forth the bread and the cuppe, for the miniſtration of the Sacrament, but certaine principall miniſters. Atheugh it is no inconuenience, to vnderſtand the Deacons, ſeeing it is certaine by Iuſtinus, that they were vſed for the diſtribution of the Lords ſupper. Finally we acknowledge, that the Deacons office is holy, according to the teſtimonie of moſt ancient Fathers, and therefore it is not that prophane and ridiculous order of Popiſh Deaconrie. Popiſh Deacons.

CHAP. VII.

Stephen being permitted to anſwer, beginning as Abraham, ſheweth that God was with their fathers both in other places, & alſo long before the Temple. 48 and that after it was built, it could not be (as they groſly imagined) a houſe for God to dwell in. 51 then he inueigheth againſt their ſtiffneckednes, and telleth them lykly of their treatcrous murdering of Chriſt, as their fathers had done the Prophets afore him. 54 Whereat they being wood, he ſeeth heauen open, and IESVS there in his Diuine Maieſtie. 57 Whereat they become more mad, ſo that they ſtone him to death (Saul conſenting) he commending his ſoule to IESVS, and humbly praying for them.

AND the cheefe prieſt ſaid, Are theſe things ſo?

Gen. 12, 1. 3 And ſaid to him, Goe forth out of thy countrie, and out of thy kinred, and come into a land that I ſhal ſhew thee.

4 Then went he forth out of the land of the Chaldees, and dwelt in Charan. And from thence, after his father was dead, he tranſlated him into this land, wherein you doe now dwel.

Gen. 15, 13. 6 And God ſpake to him, That his ſeede ſhal be a ſeiourner in a ſtrange countrie, and they ſhal ſubdue them to ſeruitude, and ſhal euil intreate them foure hundred yeeres:

7 And the nation which they ſhal ſerue, wil I iudge, ſaid God. and after theſe things they ſhal goe forth, and c ſhal ſerue me in this place. c Exhibebunt.

Gen. 17. 8 And he gaue him the teſtament of circumciſion,

THen ſaid the chiefe Prieſt, Are theſe things ſo?

2 And he ſaid, Yemen, brethren, and fathers, hearken: The God of glorie appeared vnto our father Abraham, when he was in Meſopotamia, before he dwelt in Charran,

3 And ſaid vnto him, Get thee out of thy countrey, and from thy kinred, * and come into the land which I ſhal ſhew thee. Gen. 12. 33.

4 Then came he out of the land of the Chaldeans, and dwelt in Charran: and from thence, when his father was dead, he brought him into this land wherein ye now dwell.

5 And he gaue him none inheritance in it, no not the breadth of a foote: and promiſed that he would giue it him to poſſeſſe, and to his ſeede after him, when as yet he had no childe.

Rhem.1. 16 Tranſlated.) Tranſlation of Saincts bodies agreeable to nature and Scripture. And the deſire to be buried in one place more then an other (which the holy Patriarchs alſo had, Gen.49,29.50,24. Hebr.11,22.) hath ſometime great cauſes. Aug.de Cur.pro mort.c.1.& vlt.

Fulke.1. The bodies of the patriarkes were not tranſlated to be made Idoles, as the maner is in popiſh tranſlations, but to teſtifie to the poſteritie, their faith in the promiſe of God, whereby they looked for the ſpirituall poſſeſſion of the land, although they died in baniſhment. Such cauſes ſauour not popiſh ſuperſtition. Chryſoſtome ſaieth, that Ioſeph cauſed his bones to be remooued, Leſt the AEgyptians ſhould abuſe his bodie, to occaſion of impietie. In Gen.Hom.67. Saint Auguſtine, though not altogether free from error, in that booke De cura. Yet of buriall and all things thereto belonging, he ſaieth, *They be rather the comforts of the liuing, not helps of the dead. Fulke.2. Chriſt is our onely redeemer from ſpirituall bondage, who onely paied the price for vs. Moſes was a miniſter of their bodily deliuerance from Egypt. But neither Moſes nor any ſainct, can be inferior mediators and aduocates vnto God for vs, except they can alſo be inferior Chriſtes and Sauiors. For there is but one Mediator Ieſus Chriſt, who is our aduocate with the father, 1.Tim.2.5.1.Ioan.2.1. ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. VII.

Rhem.4. 33 Holy ground.) If that apparition of God himſelfe or an Angel, could make the place and ground holy, and to be vſed of Moyſes with all ſignes of reuerence and feare: how much more the corporal birth, abode, and wonders of the Sonne of God in Iewrie, and his perſonal preſence in the B.Sacrament, may make that countrie and all Chriſtian Churches and altars holy? And it is the greateſt blindneſs that can be, to thinke it ſuperſtition to reuerence any things or places in reſpect of Gods preſence or wonderous operation in the ſame. See S.Hierom.ep.17.18.27. of the holy land.

The holy land. Holy places.

Fulke.4. The ground was holy by the preſence of God in his miniſter the Angel, according to his pleaſure. But that holineſſe continued not after the departure of the Angel. So all places were holy, which it pleaſed our Sauior Chriſt to ſanctifie with his preſence, but not all places or perſons which he touched, for then Iudas and the ſouldiors that crucified Chriſt, ſhould haue bene exceeding holy.

Holy places.

The perſonall preſence of Chriſt in the Sacrament, muſt firſt be prooued before any ſanctification of places in that reſpect can be concluded. And then it muſt alſo be prooued how farre he will haue this holines to proceed. For that preſence in the mouths and ſtomackes of the wicked, doth not ſanctifie them by your owne doctrine, nor I thinke in the belly of a mouſe or other beaſt that happeneth to eate your conſecrated hoſt. To reuerence any place in reſpect of Gods preſence where he hath appointed the ſame, is no ſuperſtition, but to eſteeme the land of Iewrie to be holy, becauſe Chriſt hath ſometime troden vpon it, from whence he hath withdrawen his preſence, is groſſe ſuperſtition. S.Hierome in the places noted, aſcribeth no holineſſe to the ground, but in reſpect of the liuely remembrance, that men may haue by ſight of thoſe places, in which Chriſt was conuerſant, and wherein he wrought his miracles: otherwiſe, It is no commendation (ſaith Hierome) to haue beene at Hieruſalem, but to haue liued well at Hieruſalem. There is as ready a way to the court of heauen from England, as from Ieruſalem. Ep.13.ad Paulinum.

Rhem.5. 48 Not in houſes.) The vulgar Heretikes alleage this place againſt the corporal being of Chriſt in the B.Sacrament and in Churches: by which reaſon they might haue driuen him out of all houſes, Churches and corporal places, when he was viſible in earth. But it is meant of the Diuinitie only, and ſpoken to correct the carnal Iewes: who thought God either ſo to be conteined, compaſſed, and limited to their Temple, that he could be no where els, or at leaſt that he would not heare or receiue mens prayers and ſacrifices in the Churches of the Gentiles, or els where out of the ſaid Temple. And ſo as it maketh nothing for the Sacrament-wies, no more doth it ſerue for ſuch as eſteeme Churches and places of publike prayer no more conuenient, nor more holy then any other profane houſes or chambers. For though his perſon or vertue be not limited to any place, yet it pleaſeth ſeth him condeſcending to our neceſſitie and profite, to worke his wonders and to be worſhipped of vs in holy places rather then profane.

God is not conteined in place, yet he will be worſhipped in one place more then in an other.

Fulke.5. This argument as lightly as you eſteeme it, beareth hard againſt your fantaſie of Concomitance, ſeeing by your corporall being of Chriſt in the ſacrament, you drawe the preſence of his godhead to the ſame place where the ſacrament is, not as God is in all places, filling them with his maieſtie, but as the fulnes of the godhead dwelleth in Chriſt by vnion of perſon For although the godhead dwelleth in the body of Chriſt, as in a temple not made with hands, yet he dwelled not in the temple of Ieruſalem, when Chriſt was preſent in it, nor in any other houſe or place into which his body came. For it is one thing to ſay, the godhead filleth all places, another thing to ſay he dwelleth here or there. For publike prayer, places appointed are moſt conuenient, yet all places are conſecrated vnto God for prayer. 1. Tim. 2. 8. And Churches are not more conuenient for publike prayers, in reſpect of their holineſſe, but for order and comlines ſake.

The corporall preſence. Concomitancie. Holineſſe of Churches.

Rhem.6. 18 They ſtoned him.) Read a marueilous narration in S. Auguſtine of one ſtone, that hitting the Martyr on the elbow, rebounded backe to a faithful man that ſtood neere, who keeping and carying it with him, was by reuelation warned to leaue it at Ancóna in Italie: whereupon a Church or Memorie of S. Steuen was there erected, and many miracles done after the ſayd Martyrs body was found out, and not before. Aug. to. 10. ſer. 38. de diuerſis in edit. Pariſ.

Rhem. 5. 14. Sent Peter.) Some Proteſtants vſe this place to proue S. Peter not to be head of the Apoſtles, becauſe he and S. Iohn were ſent by the Twelue, by which reaſon they might as wel conclude that he was not equal to the reſt. for commonly the Maiſter ſendeth the man, and the Superior the inferior, when the word of Sending is exactly vſed. But it is not alwayes ſo taken in the Scriptures, for then could not the Sonne be ſent by the Father, nor the Holy Ghoſt from the Father and the Sonne: nor otherwiſe in common vſe of the world, ſeing the inferior or equal may intreate his frend or Superior to doe his buſines for him. and ſpecially a body Politike or a Corporation may by election or otherwiſe chooſe their Head and ſend him. ſo may the Citizens ſend their Maior to the Prince or Parliament, though he be the head of the citie, becauſe he may be more fitte to doe their buſines. alſo the Superior or equal may be ſent by his owne conſent or deſire. Laſtly, the College of the Apoſtles cõpriſing Peter with the reſt (as euery ſuch Body implieth both the head and the members) was greater then Peter their head alone. as the Prince and Parliament is greater then the Prince alone. And ſo Peter might be ſent as by authoritie of the whole College, notwithſtanding he were the head of the ſame. That Peter was ſent, is no reaſon againſt his Primacie.

Fulke. 5. This ſending of Peter, is a good argument to proue that Peter was not their ſuperior, as Chriſtes vicar. For then he might haue ſent any of them, or gone of his owne accord without ſending. Peter was therfore inferior to the reſt, and vnder the auctoritie of the whole college of apoſtles, though he were equall to euery one, and in primacie of order, firſt of all. Whereas if Peter had beene ſuperior as Chriſtes vicar, they could no more haue ſent Peter, then they could haue ſent Chriſt himſelfe. That the word of ſending, is not alwayes exactlie vſed in the ſcriptures, you haue no example to bring, but of the ſending of the ſonne & the Holy ghoſt. Whereas all men of meane iudgement know, that the myſterie of the holy trinitie being ineffable, the words are almoſt all borowed, that are vſed to ſhew the diſtinct working, and effects of the perſons thereof. But heere, in proper phraſe of ſpeaking, the apoſtles ſent Peter and Iohn: Peter and Iohn therfore were ſubiect to the apoſtles. But you adde, that the word of ſending, is not alwayes ſo taken in the common vſe of the world, ſeeing the inferior or equall, may intreat his frend to doe his buſineſſe for him. I grant that to be true, but the inferior or equall, that hath intreated his frend, cannot truly ſay, he hath ſent his ſuperior or equall. Neither can a corporation, that is vnder a ſouereigne head (ſuch as you would haue Peter to be) ſend their head, or chuſe him to be their foot, to goe for them. Neither can the citizens ſend their Maior, which is the Princes lieutenant, more then they can ſend the Prince himſelfe. He may goe in deed by his owne conſent or deſire, but he cannot be ſent, except he yeeld vnto the auctority of the ſenders. Laſtlie, you ſay (belike, for the vtterꝛnoſt refuge) that the college of the apoſtles, compriſing Peter, was greater then Peter their head alone. This granted, Peters headſhip was not the ſouereigne auctoritie of Chriſt, neither was Peter head of the apoſtles, as Chriſtes vicar. For the whole church compriſing Chriſt the head thereof, is not of greater auctoritie then Chriſt himſelfe. Neither may Chriſt be ſent by auctoritie of the whole church. No more might Peter haue beene ſent by auctoritie of the whole college, if he had had the whole auctoritie and gouernment ouer the apoſtles, as Chriſt had, and alwayes hath. Neither is this place vſed only of Proteſtants (as you ſay) but alſo of ſome papiſts, to proue that the Pope ought to be ſubiect to the generall councell repreſenting the whole church. *Epiſt. Syn. This impoſition therfore of hands together with the prayers here ſpecified (which no doubt were the very ſame that the Church yet vſeth to that purpoſe) was the miniſtration of the Sacrament of Confirmation. Whereof S. Cyprian ſaith thus, They that in Samaria were baptized of Philip, becauſe they had lawful and Eccleſiaſtical Baptiſme, ought not to be baptized any more: but only that which wanted, was done by Peter and Iohn, to wit, that by prayer made for them and impoſition of handes, the Holy Ghoſt might be powred vpon them. Old hereſies againſt confirmation and Chriſme.

Fulke. Heere you wil inforce a ſacrament of Confirmation with oile, which neither in this place, nor in any other place of the ſcripture, hath either word of Inſtitution, or outward element of Chriſts appointment, which two things muſt needs concurre in any ſacrament. The apoſtles here praied, that the Samaritans, for further confirmation of their faith, might receiue the viſible miraculous graces of the Holy ghoſt, as the gifts of tongues, of prophecy, of healing, and ſuch like: out of which it is impoſſible to conclud any ordinarie or perpetuall ſacrament of Confirmation of all that are baptiſed, and that with oile, whereof there is no mention in all the ſcriptures that it was either appointed or vſed for ſuch purpoſe. Now that you are forſaken of the word of God, let vs ſee what teſtimony you gather out of men. Firſt you bring Beda, who liued 700 yeeres after Chriſt, and ſpeaketh of the ceremony of annointing with oile by the biſhop, as it was vſed in his time. Yet doth he not call it a ſacrament, nor ſay that the apoſtles vſed that ceremony, but that it belonged to them to giue the holy ghoſt and not to Philip, as in his time biſhops vſed to annoint with oile and not the prieſts, by which vnction they were perſuaded the Holy ghoſt was giuen. Notwithſtanding you are bolde to conclude, that this impoſition of hands with prayers, was the miniſtration of the ſacrament of Confirmation: which with all the logike you haue, you can neuer conclude out of the text, nor out of Bedes words: although they be more then can be proued out of the ſcriptures. But you are yet more bolde to affirme (for you may ſay what you will without proofe) that the prayers here ſpecified, were no doubt the very ſame that the popiſh church vſeth to that purpoſe. The text is plaine what theſe prayers were, that they might receiue the Holy ghoſt, which Oecumenius out of the conſent of all the Greeke fathers doth expound, the power of working miracles, in Act. cap.10. The words that your popiſh biſhops vſe in their confirmation with oile, are Conſigno te &c. I marke thee with the ſigne of the holy croſſe, and confirme thee with the Chriſme of ſaluation, in the name of the Father, the Sonne, and the Holy ghoſt, Peace be to thee. What affinitie haue theſe words with the prayers of the apoſtles? But if Beda be too yong, Cyprian is an ancient writer, who belike is a patrone of popiſh Confirmation with the Chriſme of ſaluation. But that you confeſſe, is left out both by the Euangeliſt, and by S. Cyprian.

Cyprian in deed ſheweth, that thoſe that were baptiſed in the church, were offered to the gouernors of the church, and by their prayer and impoſition of hands, obteined the Holy ghoſt, and were ſigned or conſummated with the Lords ſigne (ſo he calleth the ſigne of the croſſe) we ſee heere prayer & impoſition of hands, according to the example of the apoſtles to obteine the Holy ghoſt, but we lacke ſtill yet the chiefeſt matter to make vp a ſacrament, the Chriſme of ſaluation. To ſupply that want, you ſay many things were done and ſaid in the adminiſtration of this and other ſacraments inſtituted by Chriſt, which are not particularly written by the euangeliſts, or in any other ſcripture. To admit that all things done & ſaid, be not particularly expreſſed in the ſcriptures, ſhall we therfore admit for ſacraments ſuch things as haue neither their inſtitution, nor the word, nor the element ſet forth in the ſcriptures? Some circumſtances not materiall are omitted, but the Chriſme of ſaluation, if it had beene of Chriſtes inſtitution, and the apoſtles practiſe, ſhould neuer haue beene wholly omitted being a matter of ſo great importance, as the very name you giue vnto it doth pretend.

But all antiquity (you ſay) and moſt generall practiſe of the church, doth euidently proue that this ſacrament was inſtituted by Chriſt, and yet not written of in the ſcriptures. To omit that the teſtimony of all the world, without the teſtimony of the Holy ghoſt, is too weake a groũd for vs to build our faith vpon: It is vtterly falſe that you ſay: for neither doth all antiquity teſtifie of it, neither was it euer generally practiſed of ỹ church as a ſacrament. For in the Greeke church, this ſacrament of Confirmation was neuer receiued to this day.

But to examine your witneſſes of antiquitie ſeuerally. Firſt Dyoniſius is not of ſuch antiquitie as you pretend, for if he had, bin his writings could not haue bin vnknowne to Euſebius, S. Hierome, and Gennadius, who continued the catalogue of principall writers of the church for 500 yeeres after Chriſt. But we muſt take him in ſuch order as you offer him. This Dionyſe ſpeaketh of an vnction vſed to them that were baptiſed, after which they were admitted to the Euchariſtie, as he doth of many other ceremonies of vnction, not vſed in the popiſh church, all which yet he comprehendeth vnder the ſacrament or myſterie of vnction.

Tertullian ſpeaketh alſo of the ceremony of vnction, which was vſed in baptiſme, to ſignifie that the baptiſed was conſecrated as a champiõ of Chriſt, to fight againſt the deuill, the world, & the fleſh, which in baptiſme, he hath renounced & defied. Which he declareth plainely in his booke De Baptiſmo, ſaying: As ſoone as we come out of the lauer, we are annointed with the bleſſed vnction, of an ancient diſcipline, by which they were wont to be annoynted with the

oyle out of the horne in the prieſthood: whereof Aaron was annoynted by Moſes: whereof Chriſt is called a Chriſmate, which is vnction &c. Dehinc Afterward the hand is laid on, by bleſſing, calling vpon, & inuiting the Holy ghoſt &c. All which declare, and the whole diſcourſe of the booke, that he ſpeaketh of ceremonies vſed about baptiſme, not of the popiſh ſacrament of Confirmation. Alſo, that vnction was a ceremonie diſtinct from impoſition of hands. The ſame thing alſo doth Cyprian teach, ep. 70. ſaying, He that is baptiſed muſt needs be annointed, that hauing receiued the Chriſme, that is vnction, he may be the annointed of God, and haue in him the grace of Chriſt. And afterward he ſpeaketh of prayer for him that is baptiſed, to receiue the Holy ghoſt with impoſition of hands. Likewiſe ep. 72. where he calleth not vnction, but that which is repreſented by impoſition of hand, a ſacrament. For in the epiſtle he certifieth Stephanus B. of Rome, that they haue concluded in Africa, that they which come from hereſies, muſt be baptiſed. Eo quod parum ſit eis &c. Becauſe it is litle worth to them to lay the hand vpon them, that they may receiue the Holy ghoſt, except they receiue alſo the baptiſme of the church. For then at the length, they may be ſanctified perfectly, and be the ſonne of God, if they be borne of both the ſacraments, ſeeing it is written, Except a man be borne of water and of the ſpirit, he cannot enter into the kingdome of God. You ſee plainlie, he ſpeaketh of the ſpirituall birth of water and the ſpirit, which is teſtified in baptiſme, whereof the element of water, and the laying on of hands, were ſignes, not of a ſeuerall ſacrament of vnction. The decretall epiſtle of Melchiades (as all the reſt of that rable) is a meere counterfect, in which the auctor doth not onlie in barbarous Latine tell the difference of this popiſh ſacrament from baptiſme, but alſo ſheweth how much more worthy it is then baptiſme. S. Auguſtine cont. lit. Pet. lib. 2. cap. 104. ſaith that Petilian the heretike in the ſpirituall ointment ſpoken of by the pſa. 132. will interpret the ſacrament of Chriſme, which truelie in the kinde of viſible ſignes is holy, as baptiſme it ſelfe, but it may be in the worſt men, in them that ſpend their life in the works of the fleſh, and ſhall not poſſeſſe the kingdome of heauen, and therfore perteine neither to the beard of Aaron, nor to the edge of his garment &c. How largely S. Auguſtine vſeth the name of ſacrament, I haue els where declared Matth. 1. ſect. 2. although in this place he ſheweth rather how it was accompted among the Donatiſts, then among the Catholiks. For the Donatiſts accompted all them to be holy brethren, that were baptiſed and annointed among them: whereby alſo it appeareth, that this vnction was a ceremonie perteining to baptiſme. For of impoſition of handes to receiue the Holy ghoſt, he ſheweth that it was only a prayer: and therefore might be repeated, whereas baptiſme that is a ſacrament, miniſtred euen by hereticks, may not be repeated. Manus autem impoſitio &c. Impoſition of hands, is not as baptiſme, that cannot be repeated. For what is impoſition of hands, but prayer ouer a man? Wherefore you doe fondly, and contrary to the teſtimony of antiquity, to ioyne thoſe two ceremonies of vnction and impoſition of handes vnto one ſacrament. Cyrill Myſtagog. 3. ſpeaketh of vnction immediatly after baptiſme, in the forhead, eares & breſt, without which, he denyeth that men were worthy to be called Chriſtians: or their regeneration perfect, therefore as he attributeth too much to that ceremony, ſo he ſheweth it was differing from the popiſh ſacrament of confirmation. S. Ambroſe lib. 3. cap. 2. De Sacrament. hath neuer a word either of Chriſme, or of impoſition of hands, but only of prayer for the ſeuenfolde grace of the Holy ghoſt, to be powred vpon the baptiſed: and no more, he hath De iis qui myſt. init. cap. 7. only he putteth the baptiſed in minde, that they haue receiued the diuers gifts of the Holy ghoſt. But cap. 6. he maketh mention of vnction, the ceremony vſed at baptiſme. The epiſtle of Leo doth alſo plainly diſtinguiſh the ceremony of impoſition of hands from vnction, ſaying that ons is per impoſitiones &c. by impoſition of hands vpon the faithfull to be baptiſed, or that are conuerted from hereſy, to deliuer the Holy ghoſt. Of the other he addeth nec Chriſma &c. to make Chriſme, and with Chriſme to annoint the foreheads of them that are baptiſed: which thing with many other, he maketh vnlawfull for Chorepiſcopi, which he ſaith were but prieſts, yet doth he not call either the one ceremony or the other a ſacrament, as baptiſme and the Lords ſupper are ſacraments. The councell of Laodicea willeth them that are baptiſed, to be annointed with Chriſme: the councell of Carthage forbiddeth the prieſt to make that Chriſme. The Arauſicane councell ſpeaketh expreſly of that annoynting which was done by euery one that baptiſed, and is not to be repeated, therfore cannot ſpeake of the popiſh ſacrament, which is giuen only by the biſhop, after baptiſme. The words are theſe: None of the miniſters that hath receiued the office of baptiſing, ought to goe abroad any whither without Chriſme, becauſe it is agreed amongſt vs that Chriſme be occupied but once in baptiſme. But concerning him which in baptiſme, by any neceſſitie hath not beene annoynted, the preeſt ſhall be admoniſhed thereof in the confirmation. For among vs the bleſſing of the Chriſme is but one, we ſay not this in preiudice of any, but that the annoynting may be counted neceſſarie. But contrary to this canon, the papiſts holde, that the childe muſt be twiſe annoynted, in baptiſme and in confirmation. Now for the auctor of this ceremony (for ſacrament we finde none) you allege Dionyſe and Baſill, referring it to tradition of the apoſtles. Wherunto if we muſt giue credit, we muſt acknowledge many of the apoſtolike traditions to be abolished, as it is certaine, of many ceremonyes deſcribed by that Dionyſe, by Tertullian and Baſill. Wherfore either we muſt ſay it was not ordeined of the apoſtles, or els it was ordeined as a remoueable ceremony, as other ceremonies likewiſe fathered vpon the apoſtles, are long ſince worne out of vſe. The conſtitutions of Clement be meere forgeries, full of manifeſt lies, as I haue ſhewed els where. The decretall epiſtles of Fabian, be euen as good ſtuffe as the reſt of that ſort. But you doe falſly affirme, the the auctor of the treatiſe De vnctione Chriſmatis apud Cyprianum, doth ſay that Chriſt did inſtruct his apoſtles at that time of the inſtitution of the B. ſacrament, to conſecrate this Chriſme. For he ſaith not ſo, nor any thing to that effect: though he extoll the ceremony of making this Chriſme, greatly. And if it muſt be made of baliſme (as he & your canon law alſo ſaith) you haue long deceiued the common people with a wrong confection, like falſe apothecaries, for true baliſme is a precious ointment, very hardly or not at all to be gotten in theſe partes. As for impoſition of handes with prayer, which was the olde and pure ceremony of confirmation, we doe not ſpeake againſt it. We acknowledge that the vnction of Chriſme alſo in the ancient church, was a tollerable ceremony for the ſignification thereof, if it were not too highly eſteemed, as of ſome it was, but not to be matched and preferred before the holy ſacrament of Chriſtes inſtitution, as it is by you.

To conclude, you ſay none but knowne hereticks did euer deny or condemne this ſacrament of confirmation or holy Chriſme. But as yet you haue not proued any ſuch ſacrament, acknowledged by the ancient catholiks, tholikes, though of olde time, there was a ceremony of anointing, which was omitted in Nouatus, becauſe he was baptized in his bed being very ſicke, and like to die. Wherevpon alſo his folowers neglected that ceremonie alſo, as might ſeeme by Theodoret.

Yet doth not Cornelius ſay, that he fell into hereſie, becauſe he had not receiued the holy Ghoſt, by conſignation of a Biſhop, but only ſheweth what maner a man he was, and how that being baptized in his bed, after he recouered, he regarded not the reſt of the ceremonies, of which he ſhould haue bene partaker, according to the rule of the Church, not ſo much as to be ſealed or confirmed by the Biſhop, which hauing not obtained (ſayth he) how could he obtaine the holy Ghoſt? By theſe wordes, it is not proued, that vnction was the ceremonie of Confirmation, but rather one of the ceremonies of Baptiſme, that were omitted, becauſe he was at the point of death. And in ſuch caſe, as his was, Confirmation was requiſite, becauſe it might be doubted, whether after his recouerie, he would ratifie that which he promiſed in Baptiſme, which he receiued, being in feare of death. For it appeareth afterward, that it was againſt the diſcipline of the Church, that ſuch ſhoulde be admitted into the Miniſterie, as receiued Baptiſme vpon ſuch neceſſitie. And the Biſhop was faine to entreate the Clergie and people for him, that he might neuertheleſſe be ordained. That which Optatus writeth of the Donatiſtes, was not a ſpeciall outrage againſt the holy oyle, but generally againſt any thing that belonged to the Catholikes. For the Donatiſts alſo, had their holy oyle, and did attribute more vnto it, then the Catholikes did to their vnction, as is ſhewed before out of S. Auguſtine, Cont. lit. Petil. lib. 2. Cap. 104.

Where you complayne of the ſauage diſorder of the Caluiniſts, in contemning your Popiſh ceremonies, we might make anſwere of your diueliſh diſorder, in burning and defacing the holie Scriptures, yea the bodies of all them that profeſſe the Goſpell of Chriſt. But of all ſauage partes, that euer were practiſed, ſince the creation of the worlde, (all circumſtances conſidered) there is none comparable to the Bartholomew Fayre of the French Papiſtes at Paris, and other places in France.

Rhem. 7. 17. And they receiued the Holy Ghoſt.) The Proteſtants charge the Catholikes, that by preaſing and commending ſo much the Sacrament of Confirmation, and by attributing to it ſpecially the gift of the Holy Ghoſt, they diminiſh the force of Baptiſme, chalenging alſo boldly the auncient Fathers for the ſame. As though any Catholike or Doctor euer ſaid more then the expreſſe wordes of Scripture here and els where plainely giue them warrant for. If they diminiſh the vertue of Baptiſme, then did Chriſt ſo, appointing his Apoſtles and al the Faithful euen after their Baptiſme to expect the Holy Ghoſt and vertue from aboue, then did the Apoſtles iniurie to Baptiſme, in that they impoſed hands on the baptized, and gaue them the Holy Ghoſt. And this is the Heretikes blindnes in this caſe, that they can not, or will not ſee that the holy Ghoſt is giuen in Baptiſme to remiſſion of ſinnes, life, and ſanctification: and in Confirmation, for force, ſtrength, and corroboration to fight againſt al our ſpirituall enemies, and to ſtand conſtantly in confeſſion of our faith, euen to death, in times of perſecution either of the Heathen or of Heretikes, with great increaſe of grace. And let the good Reader note here our Aduerſaries great peruerſity and corruption of the plaine ſenſe of the Scriptures in this point: ſome of them affirming the Holy Ghoſt here to be no other but the gift of wiſedom in the Apoſtles and a few mo to the gouernement of the Church, when it is plaine that not only the Gouerners but al that were baptized, receiued this grace, both men and women. Some, that it was no inuiſible grace, but only the gift of diuers tungues: Which is very falſe, the gift of Tongues being but a ſequele and an accident to the grace, and an external token of the inward gift of the Holy Ghoſt, and our Sauiour calleth it vertue from aboue. Some ſay, that what ſoeuer it was, it was but a miraculous thing, and dured no longer then the gift of the Tongues ioyned thereunto: by which euaſion they deny alſo the Sacrament of Extreme Vnction, and the force of Excommunication, becauſe the corporal puniſhments which were annexed often times in the Primitiue Church vnto it, ceaſed: and ſo may they take away (as they meane to do) al Chriſts faith or religion, becauſe it hath not the like operation of miracles as in the beginning. But S. Auguſtine toucheth this point fully. Is there any man (ſaith he) of ſo peruerſe an hart, to deny theſe Children on whom we now impoſed hands, to haue receiued the Holy Ghoſt, becauſe they ſpeake not with Tongues? &c. Laſtly, ſome of them make no more of Confirmation or the Apoſtles facte, but as of a doctrine, inſtruction, or exhortation to continue in the faith receiued. Wherevpon they haue turned this holy Sacrament* into a Catechiſme. There are alſo that put the laſt tixed comming to yeres of diſcretion, to their owne choiſe whether they wil continue Chriſtians or no. To ſuch diueliſh and diuers inuentions they fal, that will not obey Gods Churche nor the expreſſe Scriptures, which tel vs of prayer, of impoſition of hands, of the Holy Ghoſt, of grace and vertue from aboue, and not of inſtruction, which might and may be done as wel before Baptiſme, and by others, as by Apoſtles and Biſhops, to whom only this Holy function pertaineth, in ſo much that in our Countrie it is called* Biſhoping.

Biſhoping.

Fulke 7. The auncient ceremonie of impoſition of handes, which is nothing els, as S. Auguſtine ſayth, but prayer ouer a man, to be ſtrengthened and confirmed by the holie Ghoſt, or to receiue encreaſe of the gifts of the holie Ghoſt, as S. Ambroſe ſayeth, we doe not in any wiſe miſlike, but vſe it our ſelues. Neyther doe we charge the Papiſtes, for diminiſhing the force of Baptiſme, in ſaying that men may receiue the giftes of the Holie Ghoſt by faithfull prayers with impoſition of handes: but for making their vnction a Sacrament, whereof, neither the worde nor the element, is of Chriſtes inſtitution: and for affirming Baptiſme to be vnperfect without it, for it is to be vſed ſaye they, Vt pleni Chriſtiani inueniantur, that they may be founde perfect Chriſtians. De Con. diſt. 5. Cap. omnes. Whereof it is inferred, that Baptiſme maketh not perfect Chriſtians. Agayne, quod nunquam erit Chriſtianus, niſi in confirmatione Epiſcopali fuerit chriſmatus. And that he ſhall neuer be a Chriſtian, which is not eynted with chriſme in the Biſhops confirmation. De Conſecrat. diſt. 5. Cap. Vt Ieiuni, Whereof it followeth, that Baptiſme maketh not a Chriſtian. Thirdly, we charge them, becauſe they ſaye, that this their Sacrament is maiore veneratione venerandum, To bee reuerenced with greater reuerence then Baptiſme, becauſe it can bee miniſtred by none, but by a Biſhoppe. De Conſecrat. Diſt. 5 Cap. 1. De his vero. To theſe matters of charge, taken out of your Canon Lawe, you anſwere nothing, but cauill of the giftes of the holy Ghoſt obtained by prayer and impoſition of handes of the Apoſtles, which we denye not, impudently accuſing vs of great peruerſitie, and corrupticorruption of the plaine ſenſe of ỳ Scriptures, in this point: Firſt, becauſe ſome of vs doe affirme, the holy Ghoſt to be none other, but the gift of wiſdome in the Apoſtles, and a few other for gouernement. But this is a ſlander, for none of vs doth ſo affirme. Further, you charge ſome of vs, to affirme that it was no internall grace, but onely the gift of diuers languages. But this alſo is a ſlander: For we neither denie the internall grace, in all, nor reſtraine the outward grace onely to the gift of tongues. But we affirme, that the holie Ghoſt, in this place is taken principally, for the viſible graces of the holie Spirite, as is manifeſt, by that ſaying: The holie Ghoſt was not yet come vpon any one of them. What (ſayth Oecumenius) did not they that were baptized by Philip, receiue the holie Ghoſt? yes they receiued the holie Ghoſt vnto remiſſion of ſinnes, but they receiued him not, to the working of miracles. Againe, Simon Magus ſawe, that by impoſition of handes, the holie Ghoſt was giuen, but he could not ſee the internall grace, therefore it was the grace of working miracles, as of tongues, healing, propheſying, caſting out of Deuils, and ſuch like: and this was vertue from aboue, in ſome alſo that were voide of internall grace, Matth. 7, 22. We ſay in deede, that this kinde of impoſition of handes to this purpoſe, endured no longer then the miraculous giftes, as the vnction with oile to recouer bodilie health, named by S. Iames. But there is another kinde of impoſition of handes, mentioned, Heb. 6, 2. whereof there may be a perpetuall vſe in the Church, which is the ſame, which S. Auguſtine calleth, nothing els, but prayer ouer a man, and whereof he ſpeaketh Tract. 6. in Ep. 1. Ioan. But where you ſay, we may denie the force of excommunication, becauſe corporall puniſhment, which was annexed vnto it in the Primitiue Church ceaſeth, it is vtterly falſe. For we haue a plaine commaundement for the vſe of excommunication, Matth. 18. without any mention of corporall puniſhment, which was not alwayes ioyned with excommunication in the Primitiue Church, albeit might be ſometimes. Your other ſlander, (that we meane to take away all Chriſtian religion, becauſe it hath not the like operation of miracles, as in the beginning) becauſe it is without colour, I omit as vnworthy of any anſwere, onely bewraying the intollerable malice of your lying ſpirite. Let God be Iudge in this caſe, betwixt you and vs. Laſt of all, you charge ſome of vs, to make no more of Confirmation, or the Apoſtles facte, but as of a doctrine, inſtruction, or exhortation, to continue in the faith receiued. But this is alſo falſe. For we acknowledge impoſition of handes with prayer, that they which were ſo taught, inſtructed, and exhorted, might receiue ſtrength of Gods Spirite ſo to continue. And yet againe, where you ſay, there are amonge vs, which put the baptized comming to yeeres of diſcretion, to their owne choyſe, whether they will continue Chriſtians or no: it is as falſe, as the reſt. For when they are required to make confeſſion themſelues, of that faith which other men profeſſed in their name at their baptiſme, they are not put to their choyſe, but put in minde, that they muſt performe them ſelues, that by other was promiſed in their name, or els their baptiſme will not auaile them to eternall ſaluation. Finally, that which the Scripture telleth vs of prayer, impoſition of handes, of the holy Ghoſt, of grace, and vertue from aboue, we acknowledge as well as inſtruction: but oyle and balſme, and the reſt of the Popiſh doctrine, of this counterfect Sacrament, becauſe it is not found in the holy Scriptures, we renounce it.

Rhem. 18. Offered money.) This wicked ſorcerer Simon is noted by S. Irenæus li. 1. c. 20. and others, to haue been the firſt Heretike, and father of al Heretikes to come, in the Church of God. He taught, only faith in him, without good life and works, to be ynough to ſaluation. he gaue the enuies to purchaſe with his money a ſpiritual function, that is to be made a Biſhop. for, to haue power to giue the Holy Ghoſt by impoſition of handes, is to be a Biſhop: as to haue the power to remitte ſinnes or to conſecrate Chriſts body, is to haue to be a Prieſt, or to haue Prieſthod. and to haue the authoritie to miniſter Sacraments, to preach or to haue cure of ſoules, is to haue a benefice. and likewiſe in al other ſpiritual things, whereof either to make ſale or purchaſe for money or money worth, is a great horrible ſinne called Simonie: and in ſuch as thinke it lawful (as here Simon iudged it) it is named Simoniacal Hereſie, of this deteſtable man who firſt attempted to haue a ſpiritual function or office. D. Greg. apud Ioan. Diac. in vit. lib. 3. cap. 2. 3. 4. 5. Simonie.

Cor. 12, 21. Apoc. 9, 21.) as we doe, and as it is in the vulgar Latin, and conſequently thas the Greeke μετανοεῖν doth ſignifie ſo much. Yea when he addeth, that very good men doe daily penance for venial ſinnes by faſting, prayer, and almes, he warranteth thu phraſe and tranſlation throughout the new Teſtament, ſpecially him ſelf alſo reading ſo as it is in the vulgar Latin, and as we tranſlate. Penance.

Fulke 8. This place of Auguſtine, hath bene ſufficiently anſwered before: he ſpeaketh not of ſatisfaction to Gods iuſtice, but of outward ſignes of inward repentance. And if by your terme of doing penance, you ment no more then S. Auguſtine, or your vulgar Interpreter doth by agere pœnitentiam, it were all one with repentance: for ſo doth he ſometimes tranſlate the word μετανοεῖν, Pœnitemini, that you can not ſay, doe penance, but be penitent Mark. 1, 15. Sometimes you are enforced to tranſlate the worde Pœnitentia, repentance, Act. 5. 31. Act. 11, 18. 2. Tim. 2, 25. Therfore if this your tranſlation be true, why doe you not alwaies vſe it? but in ſteede of repentance, giue vs penance. Popiſh penance ſatisfaction.

Rhem. 9. 22. If perhaps.) You may ſee, great penance is here required for remiſſion of ſinne, and that men muſt ſtand in feare and dread leſt they be not worthie to be heard or to obteine mercie. Whereby al men that haue or ſel any ſpiritual function, dignitie, offices, or liuings, may ſpecially be warned that the ſinne is exceding great.

Fulke 9. For great ſinnes, great ſorrow and moſt hartie repentance is requiſite. And men muſt pray without doubting, for all things that God hath promiſed, Iam. 1, 6. Neither is Simon willed to pray with doubting, but Peter ſeeing him to be ſtill in the bitternes of gall, doubteth whether he will truly repent, and ſincerely pray to God for remiſſion of his ſinnes. Otherwiſe, we muſt not feare only, but be altogether certaine, that we are not worthy to be heard, or to obteine mercie, no nor to looke vp to heauen, or to be called Gods children of our ſelues, and therefore muſt be aſſured to be heard and obteine mercie, for the worthines of Chriſt our onely Mediatour and Aduocate. ſee not that the Apoſtles and Biſhops can giue the Holy Ghoſt in this Sacrament or other, which he plainely perceiued and confeſſed, ſo ſurely he was more religious then they, that being ſo ſharply checked by the Apoſtle, yet blaſphemed not as they do when they be blamed by the Gouernors of the Church, but deſired the Apoſtles to pray for him. Simon Magus more religious then the Proteſtants.

Fulke 10. When the Pope and the Gouernors of your Church, can cauſe vs to ſee, that the Sorcerer ſaw, namely, that thoſe whome you confirme, receiue the power of miracles, it were ſome reaſon to vpbraid vs by his example. As if impoſition of hands in the ſacrament of Confirmation be onely expreſſed, they thinke there was no chriſme nor other worke or word vſed. So they thinke no more ceremonie was vſed in the baptizing of this noble man, then here is mentioned. Wherevpon S. Auguſtine hath theſe memorable wordes,* In that that he ſaith, Philip baptized him, he would haue it vnderſtood that al things were done, which though in the Scriptures for breuitie ſake they are not mentioned, yet by order of tradition we know were to be done. Fulke 12. When we reade of any Sacrament miniſtred by the Apoſtles, though all things be not expreſſed in particular, yet we beleeue that all things were done, that by the inſtitution of that Sacrament were neceſſary to be done: which is the thing that Auguſtine meaneth, where he ſayth, Serie traditionis, by the order of the deliuery or Inſtitution of Baptiſme, namely, the renouncing of dead workes, which is the doctrine of Baptiſme, ſayth the Apoſtle, Heb. 6, 2. with the whole confeſſion of Chriſtian faith, mentioned in that place by S. Auguſtine, which is expreſſed in the Scripture. But your Sacrament of Chriſme we beleeue not, becauſe we read it no where. Contrariwiſe, your maner is (to finde a miſerable colour, for your horrible ſacriledge) where you finde bread onely mentioned in ſome place of the Scripture, you imagine, or at leaſt would haue vs imagine, that the Apoſtles miniſtred the Supper of our Lord in one kinde, directly contrary to the inſtitution thereof, and the expreſſe commandement of our Sauiour Chriſt. In which places, you ſhould giue credite to this ſaying of S. CHAP. IX.

Saul not content to perſecute ſo cruelly in Hieruſalem, 3 is in the way to Damaſcus told by our Lord IESVS of his vaine attempt, and miraculouſly conuerted to be an Apoſtle: and after great penance, reſtored to his ſight by Ananias, & baptized. 20 And preſently he declareth mightily againſt the Iewes, preuing IESVS to be Chriſt, to their great admiration. 23 But ſuch is their obſtinacie, that they lay al Damaſcus to kil him, 26 From thence he goeth to Hieruſalem, and there ioyneth with the Apoſtles, and againe by the obſtinate Iewes his death is ſought. 31 The Church being now growen ouer al Iewrie, Galilee and Samaria, Peter viſiteth al: and in his viſitation, 33 healing a lame man, 36 and raiſing a dead woman, conuerteth very many.

2 And deſired of him letters to carry to Damaſcus to the Synagogues, that if he found any of this way, whether they were men or women, he might bringe them bounde vnto Hieruſalem.

3 And when he iourneyed, it came to paſſe, that as he was come nigh to Damaſcus, ſuddenly there ſhined round about him a light from heauen.

*4 And he fell to the earth, and heard a voice, ſaying vnto him, * Saul, Saul, why perſecuteſt thou me?* 1.Cor.15,8.

5 And he ſayde, Who art thou, Lord? And the Lorde ſayde, I am Ieſus whome thou perſecuteſt: It is hard for thee to kicke againſt the prickes.

6 And he both trembling and aſtonied, ſaid, he ſaid, Lord, what wilt thou haue me to doe?

7 And our Lord to him, Ariſe, and goe into the citie, and it ſhal be told thee what thou muſt doe. But the men that went in companie with him, ſtood amaſed, hearing the voice, but ſeeing no man.

8 And Saul roſe vp from the ground, and his eies being opened, he ſaw nothing. And they drawing him by the handes, brought him into Damaſcus.

9 And he was three daies not ſeeing, and he did neither eate nor drinke.

10 And there was a certaine diſciple at Damaſcus, named Ananias: and our Lord ſaid to him in a viſion, Ananias. But he ſaid, Loe, here I am Lord.

11 And our Lord to him, Ariſe, and goe into the ſtreate that is called Straight: and ſeeke in the houſe of Iudas one named Saul of Tarſus. for behold he prayeth.

12 (And he ſaw a man named Ananias, comming in and impoſing handes vpon him for to receiue his ſight.)

13 But Ananias anſwered, Lord, I haue heard by many of this man, how much euil he hath done to thy ſainctes in Hieruſalem:

14 And here he hath authoritie from the cheefe prieſts to binde al that inuocate thy name.

15 And our Lord ſaid to him, Goe, for a veſſel of election is this man vnto me, to carie my name before the Gentiles, and kings, and the children of Iſrael.

16 For I wil ſhew him how great things he muſt ſuffer for my name.

17 And Ananias went, and entred into the houſe: and impoſing handes vpon him, he ſaid, Brother Saul, our Lord IESVS hath ſent me, he that appeared to thee in the way that thou cameſt: that thou maieſt ſee and be filled with the holy Ghoſt.

18 And forthwith there fel from his eies as it were ſcales, and he receiued ſight. and riſing he was ‡baptized.

‡ Paul alſo him ſelf, though with the diuine and heauenly voice proſtrated and inſtructed, yet was ſent to a man to receiue the Sacraments, & to be ioyned to the Church. Aug. de doct. Chr. lib. 1. in proem.

19 And when he had taken meate, he was ſtrengthened. And he was with the diſciples that were at Damaſcus, for certaine daies.

20 And incontinent entring into the ſynagogs, he preached IESVS, that this is the ſonne of God.

21 And al that heard, were aſtonied, and ſaid, Is not this he that expugned in Hieruſalem thoſe that inuocated this name: and came 7 The men alſo which iourneyed with him, ſtoode amazed, hearing a voice, but ſeeing no man.

8 And Saul aroſe from the earth, and when his eies were opened, he ſawe no man: but they led him by the hand, and brought him into Damaſcus.

9 And he was three daies without ſight, and neither did eate nor drinke.

10 And there was a certaine diſciple at Damaſcus, named Ananias: and to him ſaide the Lord in a viſion, Ananias. And he ſaid, Behold, I am here, Lord.

11 And the Lorde ſayde vnto him, Ariſe, and goe into the ſtreete, which is called Straight, and ſeeke in the houſe of Iudas, after one called Saul, of Tarſus: for behold, he praieth.

12 And hath ſeene in a viſion, a man named Ananias, comming in to him, and putting his handes on him, that he might receiue his ſight.

13 Then Ananias anſwered, Lord, I haue heard by many of this man, howe much euill he hath done to thy ſainctes at Hieruſalem:

14 And here he hath authoritie of the high Prieſtes, to binde all that call on thy name.

15 The Lord ſayde vnto him, Goe thy way: for he is a choſen veſſell vnto me, to beare my name before the Gentiles, & kings, and the children of Iſrael:

16 For I will ſhew him howe great things he muſt ſuffer for my names ſake.

17 And Ananias went his way, and entred into the houſe, and put his handes on him, and ſayde, Brother Saul, the Lorde (euen Ieſus that appeared vnto thee in the way as thou cameſt) hath ſent me, that thou mighteſt receiue thy ſight, and be filled with the holy Ghoſt.

18 And immediately there fell from his eyes as it had bene ſcales, and he receiued ſight forthwith, and aroſe, and was baptized.

19 And when he had receiued meate, he was comforted. Then was Saul certaine daies with the diſciples which were at Damaſcus.

20 And ſtraightway he preached Chriſt in the ſynagogues, that he is the ſonne of God.

21 But all that heard him, were amazed, and ſaide, Is not this he that deſtroied them which called on this name in Hieruſalem, and came hither

came hither to this purpoſe that hee might bring them bound to the chiefe prieſtes?

22 But Saul waxed mightie much more, and confounded the Iewes that dwelt at Damaſcus, affirming that this is CHRIST.

23 And when many dayes were paſſed, the Iewes conſulted that they might kil him.

24 But their conſpiracie came to Sauls knowledge. And *they kept the gates alſo day and night, that they might kill him.

25 But the diſciples taking him in the night, conueied him away by the wall, letting him downe in a basket.

26 And when he was come into Hieruſalem, he aſſaied to ioyne himſelfe to the diſciples, and al feared him, not beleeuing that he was a diſciple, 27 But Barnabas tooke him and brought him to the Apoſtles, and told them howe in the way he had ſeene our Lorde, and that he ſpake vnto him, and howe in Damaſcus he dealt confidently in the name of IESVS.

28 And he was with them going in and going out in Hieruſalem, and dealing confidently in the name of our Lord.

29 He ſpake alſo to the Gentiles, and diſputed with the Greekes: but they ſought to kill him.

30 Which when ỹ brethren had knowen, they brought him downe to Cæſaréa, and ſent him away to Tarſus.

‡The Church viſibly proceedeth ſtill with much comfort and manifolde increaſe euen by perſecutiõ.

31 The ‡ CHVRCH truely through all Iewrie and Galilee and Samaria had peace, and was edified, walking in the feare of our Lorde, and was repleniſhed with the conſolation of the holy Ghoſt.

32 And it came to paſſe, that Peter as he paſſed through all, came to the ſainćts that dwelt at Lydda.

33 And he found there a certaine man named Aeneas, lying in his bed from eight yeeres before, who had the palſey.

34 And Peter ſaide to him, Aeneas, our Lord IESVS CHRIST ‖ heale thee: ariſe, and make thy bed. And incontinent he aroſe.

35 And all that dwelt at Lydda and Saróna, ſawe him: who conuerted to our Lord.

36 And in Ioppé there was a certaine diſciple named Tabitha, which by interpretation is called Dorcas. This woman was full of ‡ good workes and almes-deedes which ſhe did.

37 And it came to paſſe in thoſe dayes, that ſhe was ſicke & died. Whom, when they had waſhed, they laid her in an vpper chãber.

38 And whereas Lydda was nigh to Ioppé, ther for that intent, that he might bring them bound vnto the high prieſtes?

22 But Saul increaſed the more in ſtrength, and confounded the Iewes which dwelt at Damaſcus, proouing † that this is very Chriſt.

† By conferring one ſcripture with another.

23 And after that many dayes were fulfilled, the Iewes tooke counſell together to kill him.

*24 But their laying awayte was knowen of Saul: and they watched the gates day and night to kill him. 2.Cor.11.32

25 Then the diſciples tooke him by night, and put him downe by the wall, and let him downe in a basket.

26 And when Saul was come to Hieruſalem, he aſſayed to couple himſelfe to the diſciples, but they were all afraide of him, and beleeued not that he was a diſciple.

27 But Barnabas tooke him, and brought him to the Apoſtles, and declared vnto them howe he had ſeene the Lorde in the way, and that he had ſpoken to him, and howe hee had preached boldly at Damaſcus in the name of Ieſus.

28 And he was with them comming in, and going out at Hieruſalem, 29 Speaking boldly in the name of the Lord Ieſus, and hee ſpake and diſputed againſt the Greekes: but they went about to ſlay him.

30 Which when the brethren knewe, they brought him to Ceſarea, and ſent him foorth to Tarſus.

31 Then had the Churches reſt thorowout all Iurie, and Galilee, and Samaria, and were edified, and walked in the feare of the Lorde, and multiplied by the comfort of the Holy Ghoſt.

32 And it came to paſſe, as Peter walked thorowout all quarters, he came alſo to the ſainćts which dwelt at Lydda.

33 And there he found a certaine man named Eneas, which had kept his bed eight yeeres, and was ſicke of the palſie.

34 And Peter ſaide vnto him, Eneas, Ieſus Chriſt maketh thee whole: ariſe, and make thy bed. And he aroſe immediatly.

35 And all, that dwelt at Lydda and Saron, ſawe him, which turned to the Lord.

36 There was alſo at Ioppa a certaine woman a diſciple, named Tabitha, which by interpretation is called Dorcas: the ſame was full of good workes, and almes deedes, which ſhe did.

37 And it came to paſſe in thoſe dayes that ſhe was ſicke, and died: whom when they had waſhed, they laid her in an vpper chamber.

38 And foraſmuch as Lydda was nigh to Ioppé, the diſciples hearing that Peter was in it, they ſent two men vnto him, deſiring him, Be not loth to come ſo farre as to vs.

39 And Peter riſing vp came with them. And when he was come, they brought him into the vpper chamber: and all the widowes ſtoode about him weeping, ‡ and ſhewing him the coates and garments which Dorcas made them.

40 And all being put forth, Peter falling on his knees prayed, and turning to the body he ſaide: Tabitha, Ariſe. And ſhe opened her eyes: and ſeeing Peter, ſhe ſate vp.

41 And giuing her his hand, he lifted her vp. And when he had called the ſaincts and the widowes, he preſented her aliue.

42 And it was made knowen through out all Ioppé: & many beleeued in our Lord.

43 And it came to paſſe ẏ he abode many dayes in Ioppé, with one Simon a tanner.

Ioppa, and the diſciples had heard that Peter was there, they ſent vnto him two men, deſiring him that he would not be grieued to come to them.

39 Then Peter aroſe, and came with them: when he was come, they brought him into the vpper chamber: And all the widowes ſtoode round about him weeping, and ſhewing the coates and garments which Dorcas made while ſhe was with them.

40 And Peter put them all foorth, and kneeled downe, and prayed, and turned him to the body, and ſaid, Tabitha, ariſe. And ſhe opened her eyes, and when ſhe ſawe Peter, ſhe ſate vp.

41 And Peter gaue her the hand, & lifted her vp: and when he had called the ſaincts and widowes, he deliuered her aliue.

42 And it was knowen thorowout all Ioppa, and many beleeued in the Lord.

43 And it came to paſſe, that he tarried many dayes in Ioppa, with one Simon a Tanner.

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. IX.

Rhem.1. 4. Saul, Saul why perſecuteſt.) The Heretikes that conclude CHRIST ſo in heauen, that he can be no where els till the day of Iudgement, ſhall hardly reſciue a man that would knowe where CHRIST was when he appeared here in the way, and ſpake theſe wordes to Saul.

Fulke.1. We conclude not Chriſt in heauen, otherwiſe then of his owne will he hath appointed to remaine there. But your queſtion is eaſily anſwered out of the text, that Chriſt ſpake from heauen, from whence the glorious light ſhined, paſſing the light of the ſunne.

Rhem.2. 36. Good workes.) Behold good workes and almes-deedes, and the force thereof reaching euen to the next life.

Fulke.2. The force of good workes reacheth to the next life, to be rewarded of Gods mercie, and not of mans merit. Merit.

Rhem.3. 39. And ſhewing him.) The prayers of our Almes-folke and Beadſ-men may doe vs great good euen after our departure. For if they procured her temporall life, much more may they helpe vs to Gods mercie and to releaſe of puniſhment in Purgatorie.

Fulke.3. The text ſayth not, that her almes folke prayed to God for reſtitution of her life, and if they did, yet the argument followeth not, that they ought to haue prayed for releaſe of her puniſhment in Purgatorie. Purgatorie. Becauſe the Scripture teacheth no ſuch place of puniſhment after this life, nor preſcribeth any forme of prayer, to obteyne mercie for them that are departed, and haue receiued their iudgement: for immediatly after death, followeth euery mans particular iudgement, Heb 9.27.

Rhem.1. Becauſe the Iewes ſo much abhorred the Gentiles, for the better warrant of their Chriſtening, an Angel appeareth to Cornelius the deuoute Italian. 9 and a viſion is ſhewed to Peter himſelfe (the chiefe and Paſtor of all) 19 and the ſpirite ſpeaketh to him, 34 Yea and as he is Catechizing them about IESVS, 44 the holy Ghoſt commeth viſibly vpon them: and therefore not fearing any longer the offence of the Iewes, he commaundeth to baptize them. The 4. part. THE propagation of the Church to the Gentiles alſo.

Fulke.1. There is no worde in the text, nor in all the Scriptures, to proue that Peter was paſtor of all, otherwiſe then euery one of the Apoſtles.

AND there was a certaine man in Cæſarea, named Cornelius, Centurion of that which is called the Italian band.

2 Religious, and fearing God with all his houſe, ‖ doing many almes-deedes to the people. And alwayes praying to God,

3 He ſawe in a viſion manifeſtly, about the ninth houre of the day, an Angel of God comming in vnto him, and ſaying to him, Cornelius.

4 But he beholding him, takē with feare, ſaid, Who art thou Lord? And he ſaid to him, Thy praiers and thy almes-deedes are aſcended into remembrance in the ſight of God.

5 And

THere was a certaine man in Ceſarea, called Cornelius, a captaine of the band, called the Italian band,

2 A deuoute man, and one that feared God with all his houſhold, which gaue much almes to the people, and prayed God alway.

3 The ſame ſawe by a viſion euidently, about the ninth houre of the day, an Angel of God comming in to him, and ſaying vnto him, Cornelius.

4 And when he looked on him, he was afraid, and ſaid, What is it Lord? And he ſaid vnto him, Thy prayers and thine almes are come vp into remembrance before God.

5 And

5 And nowe ſend men vnto Ioppé, and call hither one Simon ỳ is ſurnamed Peter.

6 He lodgeth with one Simon a tanner, whoſe houſe is by the ſea ſide. he will tell thee what thou muſt doe.

7 And when ỳ Angel was departed that ſpake to him, he called two of his houſhold, and a ſouldiar that feared our Lord, of them that were vnder him.

8 To whom when he had told all, he ſent them vnto Ioppé.

9 And the next day whiles they were going on their iourney, and drawing nigh to the citie, Peter went vp into ỳ higher partes, ‖ to pray about the ſixt houre.

10 And being hungrie, he was deſirous to take ſomewhat. And as they were preparing, there fell vpon him an exceſſe of mind:

11 And he ſawe the heauen opened, and a certaine veſſell deſcending, as it were a great linnen ſheete with foure corners let downe from heauen to the earth,

12 Wherein were al foure-footed beaſts, and ỳ creepe on the earth, & foules of ỳ aire.

13 And there came a voyce to him, Ariſe Peter: kill, and eate.

14 But Peter ſaid, God forbid, Lord: for I did neuer eate any common and vncleane thing.

15 And † a voyce came to him againe the ſecond time, That which God hath purified, doe not thou call common.

16 And this was done thriſe. and forthwith ỳ veſſel was taken vp againe into heauẽ.

17 And whiles Peter doubted within him ſelfe, what the viſion ſhould be that he had ſeene, beholde the men that were ſent from Cornelius, inquiring for Simons houſe, ſtood at the gate.

18 And when they had called, they aſked, if Simon that is ſurnamed Peter, were lodged there.

19 And as Peter was thinking of the viſion, the Spirit ſaide to him, Behold three men doe ſeeke thee.

20 Ariſe therefore, and get thee downe, and goe with them, doubting nothing: for I haue ſent them.

21 And Peter going downe to the men, ſaid, Behold, I am he whom you ſeeke: what is the cauſe, for the which you are come?

22 Who ſaid, Cornelius the Centurion, a iuſt man and that feareth God, and hauing téſtimonie of all ỳ nation of the Iewes, receiued an anſwere of an holy Angel to ſend for thee into his houſe, & to heare words of thee.

23 Therefore

5 And nowe ſend men to Ioppa, and call for one Simon, whoſe ſyrname is Peter.

6 He lodgeth with one Simon a Tanner, whoſe houſe is by the ſea ſide: He ſhall tell thee what thou oughteſt to doe.

7 And when the Angel which ſpake vnto Cornelius, was departed, he called two of his houſholde ſeruants, and a deuoute ſouldier of them that wayted on him,

8 And told them al the matter, and ſent them to Ioppa.

9 On the morowe as they went on their iourney, and drewe nigh vnto the citie, Peter went vp into the higheſt part of the houſe to pray, about the ſixth houre.

10 And when he waxed hungry, he woulde haue eaten: But while they made ready, he fell into a trance,

11 And he ſeeth heauen opened, and a certaine veſſell come downe vnto him, as it had been a great ſheete, knit at the foure corners, and let downe to the earth:

12 Wherein were all maner of foure footed beaſtes of the earth, and wilde beaſtes, and ſuch as creepe, and foules of the ayre.

13 And there came a voyce to him, Riſe, Peter: kill, and eate.

14 But Peter ſaid, Not ſo, Lord: for I haue neuer eaten any thing that is common or vncleane.

15 And the voyce ſpake vnto him againe the ſecond time, What God hath cleanſed, that † call not thou common.

† Or, doe not thou pollute.

16 This was done thriſe: and the veſſell was receiued vp againe into heauen.

17 Nowe while Peter doubted in him ſelfe what this viſiõ which he had ſeene ſhould meane: beholde, the men which were ſent from Cornelius, had made enquirance for Simons houſe, & ſtood before the doore, 18 And called, and asked whether Simon, which was ſyrnamed Peter, were lodged there.

19 While Peter thought on the viſion, the ſpirit ſaid vnto him, Behold, three men ſeeke thee.

20 Ariſe therefore, and get thee downe, and goe with them, doubting nothing: for I haue ſent them.

21 Then Peter went downe to the men which were ſent vnto him from Cornelius, and ſaid, Beholde, I am he whom ye ſeeke: what is the cauſe wherefore ye are come?

22 And they ſaid, Cornelius the captaine, a iuſt man, and one that feareth God, and of good report among all the people of the Iewes, was warned by an holy angel, to ſend for thee into his houſe, and to heare wordes of thee.

23 Therefore bringing them in, he lodged them. And the day folowing he aroſe and went with them: and certaine of the brethren of Ioppé accompanied him.

24 And on ỳ morowe he entred into Cæſaréa. And Cornelius expected them, hauing called together his kinne, & ſpeciall frendes.

25 And it came to paſſe, When Peter was come in, Cornelius came to meete him, and falling at his feete ‖ adored.

26 But Peter lifted him vp ſaying, Ariſe, my ſelfe alſo am a man.

27 And talking with him, he went in, and findeth many that were aſſembled,

28 And he ſaid to them, You know how abominable it is for a man that is a Iewe, to ioyne, or to approche vnto a ſtranger: but God hath ſhewed to me, to call no man common or vncleane.

29 For ỳ which cauſe, making no doubt, I came when I was ſent for. I demaund therefore, for what cauſe you haue ſent for me?

30 And Cornelius ſaid, Foure daies ſince, vntill this houre, I was [c] praying the ninth houre in my houſe, and behold ‡ a man ſtood before me in white apparell, 31 And ſaide: Cornelius, thy prayer is heard, and thy almes-deedes are in memorie in the ſight of God.

32 Send therefore to Ioppé, and call hither Simon ỳ is ſurnamed Peter: he lodgeth in the houſe of Simon a tanner by ỳ ſea ſide.

33 Immediatly therefore I ſent to thee: and thou haſt done well in comming. Now therefore all we are preſent in thy ſight, to heare all things whatſoeuer are commaunded thee of the Lord.

34 And Peter opening his mouth, ſaide, In very deede I perceiue ỳ God is not an accepter of perſons.

35 But in euery nation, he ỳ feareth him, and [c] worketh iuſtice, is acceptable to him.

36 The worde did God ſend to the children of Iſrael, preaching peace by IESVS CHRIST (this is Lord of all.)

37 [b] You know ỳ word ỳ hath been made through all Iewrie, for * beginning frō Galilee, after the baptiſme which Iohn preached.

38 IESVS of Nazareth how God anointed him with the holy Ghoſt & with power, who went through out doing good and healing all that were oppreſſed of the Deuil, becauſe God was with him.

39 And we are witneſſes of al things that he did in ỳ country of ỳ Iewes & in Hieruſalē, whom they killed hanging him vpon a tree.

Mat.4,12.

23 Then called he them in, and lodged them: And on the morowe Peter went away with them, and certaine brethren from Ioppa accompanied him.

24 And the third day after, entred they into Cæſarea: and Cornelius wayted for them, and had called together his kinſemen and ſpeciall friendes.

25 And it came to paſſe as Peter came in, Cornelius met him, and fell downe at his feete, and worſhipped him.

26 But Peter tooke him vp, ſaying, Stand vp, I my ſelfe alſo am a man.

27 And as he talked with him, he came in, and findeth many that were come together.

28 And he ſaid vnto them, Ye know how that it is an vnlawfull thing for a man that is a Iewe, to companie or come vnto one of another nation: but God hath ſhewed me, that I ſhould not call any man common or vncleane.

29 Therefore came I vnto you without delay, as ſoone as I was ſent for: I aske therefore for what intent ye haue ſent for me?

30 And Cornelius ſaid, Foure dayes agoe vntill this houre I was faſting, and at the ninth houre I prayed in my houſe, and beholde, a man ſtoode before me in bright clothing, 31 And ſaide, Cornelius, thy prayer is heard, and thine almes deedes are had in remembrance in the ſight of God.

32 Send therefore to Ioppa, and call for Simon, whoſe ſyrname is Peter, he is lodged in the houſe of one Simon a Tanner, by the ſea ſide, who when he commeth ſhall ſpeake vnto thee.

33 Then ſent I for thee immediatly, and thou haſt well done that thou art come. Nowe therefore are we all here preſent before God, to heare all things that are commaunded vnto thee of God.

34 Then Peter opened his mouth, and ſaide,

 Of a trueth I perceiue that God hath no regard of perſons:* Deu.10.17. rom.2.11. 1.per.1.17.

35 But in euery nation, he that feareth him, and worketh righteouſneſſe, is accepted with him. Iuke 4.14.

36 Touching the worde which God ſent vnto the children of Iſrael, preaching peace by Ieſus Chriſt, (he is Lord ouer all.)

37 Ye knowe howe the worde was publiſhed thorowout all Iurie, beginning in Galilee, after the baptiſme which Iohn preached:

38 Howe God anointed Ieſus of Nazareth with the holy Ghoſt, and with power, who went about doing good, and healing al that were oppreſſed of the deuil: for God was with him.

39 And we are witneſſes of all things which he did in the land of the Iewes, and at Hieruſalem, whom they ſlue, when they had hanged him on a tree.

40 Him

40 Him God raiſed vp the third day and ‖ gaue him to be made manifeſt, 41 Not to all the people, but to vs, who did eate and drinke with him after he roſe againe from the dead.

The Epiſtle vpon Munday in Whitſonweeke.

42 And he commaunded vs to preach to the people, and to teſtifie that it is he that of God was appointed iudge of the liuing and of the dead.

43 To him al the prophets giue teſtimonie, that al receiue remiſſion of ſinnes by his name, which beleeue in him.

44 As Peter was yet ſpeaking theſe words, the holy Ghoſt fel vpon al that heard the word.

45 And the faithfull of the Circumciſion that came with Peter, were aſtonied, for that the grace of the holy Ghoſt was poured out vpon the Gentiles alſo.

46 For they heard them ſpeaking with tonges, & magnifying God. Then Peter anſwered, 47 Can any man forbid water, that theſe ſhould not be ‖ baptized which haue receiued the holy Ghoſt as wel as we?

48 And he commanded them to be baptized in the name of our Lorde IESVS CHRIST. Then they deſired him that he would tarie with them certaine dayes.

40 Him God raiſed vp the thirde day, and ſhewed him openly.

41 Not to all the people, but vnto vs witneſſes, choſen before of God, euen to vs which did eate and drinke with him after hee roſe from the dead.

42 And hee commaunded vs to preach vnto the people, and to teſtifie that it is he which was ordeyned of God to bee the Iudge of quicke and dead.

*43 * To him giue all the Prophetes witneſſe, that through his name whoſoeuer beleeueth in him, ſhall receiue remiſſion of ſinnes.* Acts.15.9. iere.31.34. miche.7.11.

44 While Peter yet ſpake theſe wordes, the holy Ghoſt fell on all them which heard the word.

45 And they of the circumciſion which beleeued, were aſtonied, as many as came with Peter, becauſe that on the Gentiles alſo was powred out the gift of the holy Ghoſt.

46 For they heard them ſpeake with tongues, and magnifie God. Then anſwered Peter, 47 Can any man forbid water, that theſe ſhould not bee baptized, which haue receiued the holy Ghoſt as well as we.

48 And he commanded them to be baptized in the name of the Lord. Then prayed they him to tary certaine dayes.

And seeing you affirme that workes before faith, are not meritorious, you falsifie Beda and slander Gregory, by translating the verbe promeruit, he deserued, which is commonly vsed of the fathers, to obteine without respect of merite or desert. But that the Reader may see howe impudently you cite this place, to proue that good workes are preparatiues to faith, I will set downe his whole discourse vpon this text. Non virtutibus ad fidem, sed fide pertingitur ad virtutes, vt beatus Gregorius exponit, &c. For if he had not beleeued the true God before baptisme, vnto whom did he pray? or how did Almighrie God heare him, if he prayed not to be perfected in good things by him? Therefore he knewe God the creator of all things, but that his Almighty sonne was incarnate he knew not. He had faith, whose prayers and almes could please God. And by good action he obteined to know God perfectly, and to beleeue the mystery of the incarnation of his onely begotten Sonne, that he might come to the Sacrament of baptisme. By faith therefore he came to workes, but by workes he was made strong in faith. S. Augustine also affirmeth, that he had faith before he beleeued in Christ, saying, He did not giue almes and prayed without some faith. For how did he call vpon him in whom he beleeued not. De praed. sanct. lib. 1. c. 7. The same is to be said of the Eunuche. And how are you not ashamed to say, That good workes before faith, are preparatiues to the same. When S. Augustine saith, Faith goeth before, that good works may follow, neither are there any good workes, but those that folow faith going before. In psal. 67. Where also he saith, that the vngodly man is iustified by faith without the merites of good workes.

Rhem. 6. 9. To pray about the sixt houre.) The houre is specified, for that there were certaine appointed times of prayer vsed in the Law, which deuout persons, according to the publike seruice in the Temple, obserued also priuately: and which the Apostles and holy Church afterward both kept and increased. Whereof thus writeth S. Cyprian very notably. In celebrating their prayers, we finde that the three children with Daniel obserued the third, sixt, and ninthe houre, as in Sacrament (or mysterie) of the holy Trinitie, &c. And a litle after, Which spaces of houres the worshippers of God spiritually (or mystically) determining long since, obserued set times to pray: and afterward the thing became manifest, that it was for Sacrament (or mystery) that the iust so prayed. For at the thirde houre the holy Ghost descended vpon the Apostles, fulfilling the grace of our Lords promis, and at the sixt houre Peter going vp to the higher roome of the house, was both by voice and signe from God instructed, that all Nations should be admitted to the grace of saluation, whereas of cleansing the Gentiles hee doubted before. and our Lord being crucified at the sixt houre, at the ninthe washed away our sinnes with his bloud. But to vs (deerly beloued) beside the seasons obserued of old, both the times & sacraments of praying be increased. for we must pray in the morning early, that the Resurrection of our Lord may be celebrated by morning praier: as of olde the holy ghost designed in the Psalme, saying, In the morning early wil I stand vp to thee, early in the morning wilt thou heare my voice. Toward the euening also when the sunne departeth, and the day endeth, we must of necessitie pray againe.

The Canonical houres. De Orat. Dominic. Act. 2. Act. 10. Luc. 23. Mattins. Euensong. Psal. 5.

S. Hierom also writing of Daniels praying three times in a day, saith: There are three times, wherein we must bow our knees to God. The thirde, the sixt, and the ninthe houre the Ecclesiastical tradition doth wel vnderstand. Moreouer at the thirde houre the holy Ghost descended vpon the Apostles. at the sixt, Peter went vp into a higher chamber to pray. at the ninthe, *Peter and Iohn went to the Temple. Againe writing to Eustochium a virgin and Nonne ep. 22. c. 16. Though the Apostle bid vs pray alwaies, & to holy persons their very sleepe is praier: yet we must haue distinct houres of prayer, that if perhaps we be otherwise occupied, the very time may admonish vs of our office or duetie. The third, sixt, ninth houre, morning early, & the euening, no man can be ignorant of. And to Demetrias ep. 8. c. 8. that in the Psalmes and praier she must keepe alwaies the third, sixt, ninth houre, euening, midnight, and morning. He hath the like ep. 7. c. 5. And (ep. 27. c. 10.) he teacheth how Paula the holy Abbesse with her religious Nonnes sang the Psalter in order, in the morning, at the thirde, sixt, ninth houre, euening, midnight. by midnight meaning the time of Martins (therfore called Nocturnes agreeably to S. Cyprian de Orat. Dominic. 15. and by the morning, the first houre called Prime: al correspondent to the times and houres of Christs Passion, as in S. Matthew is noted c. 26. 27. By al which we see, how agreeable the vse of the Churches seruice is euen at this time to the scriptures and primitiue Church: and how wicked the Puritan Caluinists be, that condemne al such order and set seasons of prayer, superstition: and lastly, how insufficient and vnlike the new pretended Church-seruice of England is to the primitiue vse, which hath no such houres of night or day, sauing a litle imitation of the old Mattins and Euensong, and that in schisme and Heresie, and therfore not only vnprofitable, but also damnable.

Act. 3.

Fulke. 6. No man denieth but set times of prayers, both publique and priuate, and set formes also, are very conuenient. But the Popish seruice, hath nothing but the names of these houres, & not the times themselues obserued in their prayers, which are all finished in the forenoone, whereas the sixt houre is the time of high noone, the ninth houre, is the third houre before the Sunne set. Canonicall houres.

Our Church Seruice, hauing but two times, appointed for publike prayers, is not to be misliked for that, seeing there is no necessitie of more times prescribed in the Scriptures. Yet priuately all godly persons doe obserue more times of prayers, as the morning at their rising vp, at noone when they take their repast, likewise at night at their repast, and when they goe to their rest. And these prayers both publike and priuate, are made in the true faith of Iesus Christ, and in the vnitie of his Catholike Church.

Rhem. 7. 25. Adored.) S. Chrysostome ho. 21. in Act. thinketh Peter refused this adoration of humilitie only, because euery falling downe to the ground for worship sake, is not Diuine worship or due only to God, * the word of adoration and prostration being commonly vsed in the scriptures toward men. But S. Hierom adu. Vigil. c. 2. 10. 2. rather thinketh that Cornelius by error of Gentilitie, and of Peters person did go about to adore him with Diuine honour, and therfore was lifted vp by the Apostle, adding that he was but a man.

* προσκυνεῖν. Adoration of creatures.

Fulke 7. The Pope refuseth not, but requireth greater adoration of the greatest Princes, so well hee followeth Peters steps. Chrysostom saith: Hoc faciens, &c. This doing he shewed his humilitie, & taught other, & giueth God thanks and declareth that although he was commanded, yet he was very ready of himselfe. What doth saith Peter, Arise, for I also The Popes pride.

am a man. Thou ſeeſt how about other men he teacheth them to thinke no great matter of him, or to haue no great opinion of him. The firſt words are of Cornelius ſhewing humilitie, the later of Peter, teaching that men may not thinke too highly of him: Peter ſaid, I am a man. The Pope can admit other to ſay to him, Nec Deus es nec homo, quaſi neuter es inter vtrumq;. Thou art neither God nor man, but as it were a neuter betweene both. But Chryſoſtomes opinion pleaſeth you not ſo well, as Hieroms aduerſus Vigilan. Where either you vnderſtand not Hierom aright, or els Hierome doeth iniurie to Cornelius, to charge him with errour of Gentilitie, and ſuch groſſe ignorance, that he thought Peter was God. Of whom what he was, he was inſtructed by God in a viſion. But his error was, that he thought religious honour to be due to Peter, which Peter acknowledgeth to be due onely to God, and to no man. For ciuil adoration could not be prohibited by this reaſon, that Peter was a man, for it is due to men, and in ſome meaſure was due to Peter. Therefore it was religious worſhip, ſuch as Papiſts attribute to Saincts, that Peter refuſed. Religious and ciuil honour.

Rhem. S. 40. Gaue him.) Chriſt did not vtter his Reſurrection and other myſteries to al at once, and immediatly to the vulgar: but to a few choſen men that ſhould be the gouernours of the reſt inſtructing vs thereby to take our faith and al neceſſary things of ſaluation, at the hands of our Superiors.

Fulke S. Chriſt teacheth vs to receiue inſtruction vnto faith, and vnto all things neceſſary to ſaluation at the hands of his choſen Miniſters, but not to take faith it ſelfe at mens hand, nor to take any inſtruction of our Superiors without examining the ſame by the word of God, but to ſearch the Scriptures, as the Beretheans did, Acts. 17. 11. The authoritie of Gods word.

Rhem. 9. 47. Baptized, which haue receiued. Such may be the grace of God ſometimes toward men, and their charitie and contrition ſo great, that they may haue remiſſion, iuſtification, and ſanctification before the external Sacraments of Baptiſme, Confirmation, or Penance be receiued, as we ſee in this example, where as Peters preaching they al receiue the holy Ghoſt before any Sacrament. but in the ſame we learne one neceſſary leſſon, that ſuch notwithſtanding muſt needes receiue the ſacraments appointed by Chriſt, which whoſoeuer contemneth, can neuer be iuſtified. Aug. ſuper. Leuit. q. 84. 10. 4. They that are iuſtified before, muſt not omit the Sacraments.

Fulke 9. The ſeale is not vnprofitable which is of Gods appointment, but the Sacraments of Popiſh cõfirmation and penance are not of Chriſts inſtitution, nor mentioned in S. Auguſtine in the place which you cite. And if confirmation be a Sacrament of neceſſitie, (as now a dayes you teach,) why did not Peter as well confirme them, as he commanded them to be baptized? Popiſh Sacraments.

CHAP. XI.

Rhem. 1. The Chriſtian Iewes reprehend the foreſaid fact of Peter in baptizing the Gentiles. 4 But he alleaging his foreſaid warrants, and ſhewing plainely that it was of God, 18 they like good Catholikes do yeld. 19 By the foreſaid perſecution, the Church is yet further dilated, not only into al Iewrie, Galilee, and Samaria, but alſo into other Countries ſpecially in Antiochia Syriæ the increaſe among the Greekes, is notable, firſt by the foreſaid diſperſed, 22 then by Barnabas, thirdly by him and Saul together: ſo that there beginneth the name of Chriſtians: 27 with perfite vnitie betweene them and the Church that was before them at Hieruſalem.

Fulke 1. The Chriſtians acknowledged not Peter to be Pope, for no man may reprehend him, if he cary innumerable ſoules to hell with him, by his owne Canons. Diſtinct. 40. cap. Si Papa. Peters Popedome.

AND the Apoſtles & brethren that were in Iewrie, heard thar the Gentiles alſo receiued the word of God.

2 And when Peter was come vp to Hieruſalem, they that were of the Circumciſion reaſoned againſt him, ſaying,

3 Why didſt thou enter in to men vncircumciſed, and didſt eate with them?

4 But Peter began and declared to them the order, ſaying:

Act. 10. 9. 5 * I was in the citie of Ioppé praying, and I ſawe in an exceſſe of minde a viſion, a certaine veſſell deſcending as it were a great ſheete with foure corners let downe from heauen, and it came euen vnto me.

6 Into which I looking conſidered, and ſaw foure footed beaſts of the earth, and cattel, and ſuch as creepe, and foules of the aire.

7 And I heard alſo a voice ſaying to me, Ariſe Peter, kil and eate.

8 And I ſaide, Not ſo Lorde: for common or vncleane thing neuer entred into my mouth.

9 And a voice anſwered the ſecond time from heauen: That which God made cleane, doe not thou call common.

10 And

AND the Apoſtles and brethren that were in Iurie, heard that the heathen had alſo receiued the word of God.

2 And when Peter was come vp to Hieruſalem, they that were of the circumciſion contended againſt him,

3 Saying, Thou wenteſt in to men vncircumciſed, and diddeſt eate with them.

4 But Peter rehearſed the matter frõ the beginning, & expounded it by order vnto thẽ, ſaying,

5 I was in the citie of Ioppa praying, and in a traunce I ſaw a viſion, a certaine veſſel deſcend, as it had beene a great ſheete, let downe from heauen by foure corners, and it came euen vntil me.

6 Vpon the which when I had faſtened mine eyes, I conſidered, and ſawe foure footed beaſtes of the earth, and wilde beaſtes, and ſuch as creepe, and foules of the ayre.

7 And I heard a voyce, ſaying vnto me, Ariſe Peter, ſlay, and eate.

8 But I ſaid, Not ſo, Lord: for nothing common or vncleane hath at any time entred into my mouth.

9 But the voyce anſwered mee againe from heauen, Doe not thou make them common which God hath cleanſed.

10 And

10 And this was done thrise: and al were taken vp againe into heauen.

11 And beholde, three men immediatly were come to the house wherein I was, sent to me from Cæsaréa.

12 And the spirit said to me, that I should go with them, doubting nothing. And there came with me these sixe brethren also: and we went in to the mans house.

13 And he tolde vs, how he had seen an Angel in his house, standing and saying to him, Send to Ioppé, & cal hither Simon, that is surnamed Peter,

15 And when I had begonne to speake, the holy Ghost fel vpon them, as vpon vs also in the beginning.

16 And I remembred the worde of our Lord, according as he said, Iohn in deede baptized with water, but you shalbe baptized with the holy Ghost. Act.1,5.

17 If therefore God hath giuen them the same grace, as to vs also that beleeued in our Lorde IESVS CHRIST: who was I that might prohibite God?

20 But certaine of them were men of Cypres and Cyréne, who when they were entred into Antioche, spake to the Greekes, preaching our Lord IESVS.

15 *And as I began to speake, the holy Ghost fell on them, as he did on vs at the beginning, Acts.2.4.

16 *Then remembred I the word of the Lord, how that he said, Iohn baptized with water: but ye shalbe baptized with the holy Ghost. Iohn 1.17. acts.1.5.

17 Forasmuch then as God gaue them the like gift as hee did vnto vs when we beleeued on the Lorde Iesus Christ: what was I that I should haue withstood God?

18 When they heard these things, they holde their peace, and glorified God, saying, Then hath God also to the Gentiles granted repentance vnto life.

19 They also which were scattered abroade through the affliction that arose about Steuen, walked thorowout vnto Phœnice, and Cypres, and Antioche, preaching the word to no man, but vnto the Iewes onely. Acts.8.1.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. XI.

Rhem. 3. 24 Multitude added.) As before (c.10) a few, ſo now great numbers of Gentiles are adioyned alſo to the viſible Church, conſiſting before only of the Iewes. Which Church hath beene euer ſince Chriſts Aſcenſion notoriouſly ſeen and knowen: their preaching open, their Sacraments viſible, their diſcipline viſible, their Heades and Gouernours viſible, the proviſion for their maintenance viſible, the perſecution viſible, their diſperſion viſible: the Heretikes that went out from them, viſible: the ioyning either of men or Nations vnto them, viſible: their peace and reſt after perſecutions, viſible: their Gouernours in priſon, viſible: the Church praieth for them viſibly, their Counſels viſible, their gifts and graces viſible, their name (Chriſtians) knowen to al the world, of the Proteſtants inuiſible Church we heare not one word. The Church viſible.

Fulke. 3. Vnderſtanding Viſible, for that which may be ſeene, there is no doubt, but all Chriſtians were alwayes viſible. But if you vnderſtand viſible, for that which is ſeene and knowne to all the world, as you ſay the name of Chriſtians hath bene euer ſince Chriſts aſcention, it is not true, that the Church was alwayes viſible. For perſecutions haue bene ſo great, that the world ſawe none of thoſe things. And therefore Diocleſian and Maximian wickedly boaſted, that they had vterly aboliſhed the ſuperſtition of Chriſt, and name of Chriſtians. Inſcriptio Salonitice in monte Bartholomæi. The like diueliſh boaſting made Nero in his time: Inſcriptio in ruinis pagi Macaneſar, a place in Spaine. But the Catholike Church of Chriſt, whereof we reioyce to be members, is Ieruſalem the heauenly, which is the mother of vs all, and being an article of our faith, is therefore inuiſible. Heb.11.1.Gal.4.26. The Church not alwayes viſible.

Rhem. 4. 26 Chriſtians.) This name Chriſtian, ought to be common to all the Faithful, and other new names of Schiſmatikes and Sectaries muſt be abhorred. If thou heare (ſaith S. Hierom) any where, ſuch as be ſaid to be of Chriſt, not to haue their names of our Lord IESVS CHRIST, but to be called after ſome other certaine name, as Marcionites, Valentinians, (as now alſo the Lutherans, Caluiniſts, Proteſtants) know thou that they belong not to the Church of Chriſt, but to the Synagogue of Antichriſt. Lactantius alſo (lib. 7 Diuin. inſtit. c.30) ſaith thus, When Phrygians, or Nouatians, or Valentinians, or Marcionites, or Antiropomorphites, or Arians, or any other be named, they ceaſe to be Chriſtians, who hauing loſt the name of Chriſt, haue done on the names of men. *Neither can our new Sectaries diſcharge them ſelues, for that they take not to them ſelues theſe names, but are forced to beare them as giuen by their Aduerſaries. For, ſo were the names of Arians and the reſt of old, impoſed by others, and not choſen cõmonly of them ſelues: Which notwithſtanding were callings that proued them to be Heretikes. And as for the name of Proteſtants, we men hold them wel content therewith. But concerning the Heretikes turning of the argument againſt the peculiar callings of our Religious, as Dominicans, Franciſcans, Ieſuites, Thomiſts, or ſuch like, it is nothing, except they could proue that the orders and perſons ſo named, were of diuers faithes and Sectes, or differed in any neceſſarie point of religion, or were not al of one Chriſtian name and Communion: and it is as ridiculous as if it were obiected, that ſome be Ciceronians, ſome Plinians, ſome good Auguſtine men, ſome Hieronymians, ſome Oxford men, ſome Cambrige men, and (which is moſt like) ſome * Rechabites, ſome * Nazarites.* Hieron. cont. Lucif. c.7. in fine. Names of Sectaries and Heretikes. Proteſtants. Diuers religious orders are not diuers ſectes. Ierem. 35. Num. 6.

Neither doth their obiection, that we be called Papiſts, helpe or excuſe them in their new names, for, beſides that it is by them ſcornfully inuented (as the name Homouſians was of the Arians) this name is not of any one man B. of Rome or els where, knowen to be the author of any ſchiſme or ſect, as their callings be: but it is of a whole ſtate and order of gouernours, and that of the cheefe Gouernours, to whome we are bound to cleaue in religion and to obey al things. So to be a Papiſt, is to be a Chriſtian man, a childe of the Church, and ſubiect to Chriſts Vicar. And therefore againſt ſuch impudent Sectaries as compare the faithfull for following the Pope, to the diuerſitie of Heretikes bearing the names of new Maiſters, let vs euer haue in readines this ſaying of S. Hierom to Pope Damaſus, Vitalis I know not, Meletius I refuſe, I know not Pauli- Papiſts, Catholikes and true Chriſtians, al one.

nus, Whosoeuer gathereth not with thee, scattereth: that is to say, Whosoeuer is not Christs, is Antichrists. And againe, If any man ioyne with Peters Chaire, he is mine.

Not to be with the Pope, is to be with Antichrist.

We must here further obserue that this name, Christian, giuen to al beleeuers and to the whole Church, was specially taken to distinguish them from the Iewes and Heathens which beleeued not at al in Christ, and the same now seuereth and maketh knowen al Christian men from Turkes and others that hold not of Christ at al. But when Heretikes began to rise from among the Christians, who professed Christs name and sundrie Articles of faith as true beleeuers doe, the name Christian was to common to seuer the Heretikes from true faithful men: and therupon the Apostles by the holy Ghost imposed this name Catholike vpon the Beleeuers which in al points were obedient to the Churches doctrine. When heresies were risen (saith S. Pacianus ep. ad Symphorianum) and endeuoured by diuers names to teare the doue of God and Queene, and to rent her in peeces, the Apostolical people required their surname, whereby the incorrupt people might be distinguished &c and so those that before were called Christians, are now surnamed also Catholikes. Christian is my name, saith he, Catholike my surname. And this word, Catholike, is the proper note whereby the holy Apostles in their Creede taught vs to discerne the true Church from the false heretical congregation of what sort soeuer. And not only the meaning of the word, which signifieth vniuersallitie of times, places, and persons, but the very name and word it self, by Gods prouidence, alwaies and only appropriated to the true beleeuers, and (though sometimes as the beginning of Sectes challenged) yet neuer obtained by Heretikes, giueth so plaine a marke and euidence, that S. Augustine said, In the lappe of the Church the very name of Catholike keepeth me. cont. ep. fund. c.4. And againe tract.32. in Io. We receiue the Holy Ghost if we loue the Church, it we be ioyned together by charitie, if we reioyce in the Catholike name and faith. And againe de ver. rel. c.7. to.1. We must hold the communion of that Church which is named Catholike, not only of her owne, but also of al her enemies. for, wil they nil they, the Heretikes also and Schismatikes them selues, when they speake not with their owne fellowes but with strangers, call the Catholike Church nothing els but the Catholike Church: for they could not be vnderstood vnles they discerne it by this name wherewith she is called of al the world. The Heretikes when they see them selues presented of this name Catholike, then they plainely reiect it and deride the name, as the Donatistes did, calling it an humaine forgerie or fiction, which S. Augustine calleth wordes of blasphemie, lib.1.c.33.cont.Gaudent. and some Heretikes of this time call them scornefully catholikes, and cacolikes. Another calleth it, the most vaine terme Catholike. Beza in præf. no. Test. an. 1565. Another calleth the Catholike religion, a Catholike Apostasie or defection, Humfrey in vit. Iuel. pag. 213. Yea and some haue taken the word ous of the Creede, putting Christian for it. But against these good fellowes let vs follow that which S. Augustine (de vtil. cred. c.8 to.6. giueth as a rule to direct a man the right and sure way from the diuersitie and doubtfulnes of al error, saying, If after these troubles of minde thou seeme to thy self sufficiently tossed and vexed, and wilt haue an end of these molestations, follow the way of Catholike discipline, which from Christ him self by the Apostles hath proceeded euen vnto vs, & shal proceede from hence to ỹ posteritie. *See the Annotr. 1. The name of CHRISTIANS.

The name of CATHOLIKES.

CREDO ECCLESIAM CATHOLICAM.

The Protestants deride the name CATHOLIKE

In the Catechismes of the Lutherans.

Fulke. We acknowledge no names, but of Christian Catholikes. The names of Caluinists, & Lutherans, &c. are but slaunders by you inuented, as the names of Athanasians, Alexandrians, Homusians, were by the Arian heretiks. Neither doe we hold our selues content with the name of Protestants, though it be not so odious, as to be called of any man, when we are the people of God and Christ. Neither did the only calling of the old Heritikes proue them to be Heretikes, but their pernicious opinions, contrarie to the holy Scriptures. For Athanasians, Homusians &c. were true Catholikes, though they were nicknamed by Heretikes. The names of Dominicans, Franciscans, Iesuites, and such like, proueth them to be Sectaries, because they be of their owne choosing, though they all maintaine one grande heresie of poperie: hauing also there diuers opinions, among them: and eche sect enuying other, and swelling against the other. The name of Papists, you doe not greatly mislike, because it is not the name of any one man, we might answere you, the like of the name of Protestants. But diuers Heretikes, haue the name of their heresie not of their auctor, as Patripassians, Collyridians, Apostolici, Cathari, &c. But the name of Papists, is taken both of the auctor of your heresie, and of the heresie it selfe. In the saying of Hierome, you omit that which is principall Ego nullum primum nisi Christum sequens, &c. I following none chiefe, or first, but Christ, am ioyned in communion with thy blessednes, that is with Peters Chaire. While the Bishop of Rome therefore ioyned with (Christ. as then he did in the matter whereof Hierome speaketh, and in all doctrine necessarie to saluation): whosoeuer gathered not with the Bishop of Rome, scattered with Antichrist. But when Liberius bishop of Rome, did by subscription openly professe Arrianisme, as the same Hierom testifieth in Chron. in Formosian. Would Hierome thinke you, or ought any Christian man, to haue gathered with him? When Honorius taught Heresie, would the councell of Constantinople the sixt haue ioyned in Communion with him? Did they not iustly accurse him, and condemne him, after he was dead? But now the Pope is not accused and conuicted of single heresie, but openly reuciled to be Antichrist him selfe. That the name of Catholikes, was imposed by the Apostles, it is not proued, nor affirmed by Pacianus, but rather the contrarie. For these are his wordes. Sed sub Apostolis &c. But thou wilt say, vnder the Apostles no man was called a Catholike, Admit it was so, yet grant this. When after the Apostles there were heresies, and they endeuoured to rend in pieces and to deride with diuerse names the doue of God and Queene, did not the Apostolike people require their surname, whereby they might distinguish the vnitie of the incorrupted people &c. Neuertheless the name of Catholike is very ancient, and yet is not this word Catholike, the proper note in the Creede to discerne the true Church, but holy also must be added, except you will expound Catholike as Pacianus doeth, for obedience vnto all the commandements of GOD, which includeth holines. But if you take the name without the meaning, it is a weake reason to discerne the true beleeuers. For though Heretikes could neuer obteine to be so called by true Christians, yet haue they challenged, and commonly obteined the name of Catholikes, when they were more mightie in the world then true Catholikes, as the Arrians in the dayes of Constantius, when al most all the Bishoppes both of the East and the West yeelded vnto them, as Vincentius Lirinensis testifieth. Neither doeth Saint Augustine say, the onely name of Catholike, doeth keepe him in the Church, but among many other things, that is one: as in the second place, where he ioyneth the Catholike faith with the name of Catholike, (without which as in Papists,) the name of Catholike is a vaine sound, without true ſenſe: and is not giuen to the Popiſh Church by her aduerſaries, as it was to the true Church in S. Auguſtines time, but vtterly denied vnto her, although ſhe doe neuer ſo makeperfly challenge it. And when ſhe hath not the thing it ſelfe ment by the name, yet boaſteth that the verie name without the meaning, is a ſufficient note of the true Church. Finally we beleeuing and confeſſing the holy Catholike Church, what can we but acknowledge our ſelues to be true Catholikes, and denie the Papiſtes to be the ſame? Neither doeth any of vs deride the name of Catholike, when it is rightly applied according to the true meaning thereof, but the vanie vſurpation of that name, in them that be nothing leſſe then Chriſtian Catholikes. Such we may wel call, pſeudocatholikes, Cartholikes, Cacolikes, Catholike apoſtates, or any thing rather then true or holy Chriſtian Catholikes, which they are not. But it is notoriouſly knowen, that the moſt honorable name of Chriſtians, is in Italy and at Rome, (the countrie & See of Antichriſt) a name of reproch, and vſually abuſed to ſignifie a foole or a dolt, as witneſſeth Chriſt. Franch. Coll. Ieſuit in fine. That ſome Lutherans, haue altered the word of the Creede, and for Catholike put Chriſtian, it is no hereſie, though it be not to be allowed. Laſt of all, the Catholike way of diſcipline, proceeding from Chriſt by his Apoſtles, with S. Auguſtine we doe gladly followe, proteſting that the Papiſts can neuer proue, that their hereſie which they falſly call the Catholike way, did euer proceede from Chriſt by the Apoſtles, or that it preuailed in the Church, for many hundred yeeres after Chriſt.

CHAP. xii.

Rhem. 1. Herod the firſt king that perſecuted the Church, hauing at Hieruſalem (when Barnabas and Saul were there with the collation of the Antiochians) killed Iames the Apoſtle, 3 and to pleaſe the Iewes impriſoned Peter with the minde to kill him alſo, but fruſtrate by an Angel ſent of God at the continual praiers of the Church made for her cheefe Paſtor, 19 being puffed vp with ſuch pride that at Ceſarea he refuſeth not to be honoured as God: 23 Is miraculouſly ſtriken of Gods Angel. 24 And ſo after the perſecutors death, the Churches preaching proſpereth exceedingly.

Fulke. 1. Peter was not cheefe paſtor of the Church of Ieruſalem, where praiers was made for him, but Iames: whom in the laſt note, you confeſſe to be Biſhop of Ieruſalem.

The Epiſtle vpon SS. Peter and Paules day Iun. 29.

AND at the ſame time Herod the king ſet his hands, to afflicte certaine of the Church.

2 And he killed Iames the brother of Iohn with the ſword.

3 And ſeing that it pleaſed the Iewes, he added to apprehend Peter alſo. And it was the daies of the Azymes.

4 Whom when he had apprehended, he caſt into priſon, deliuering him to ‡ foure quaternions of ſouldiers to be kept, meaning after the Paſche to bring him forth to the people.

5 And Peter in deede was kept in priſon. But ‖ praier was made of the Church without intermiſſion vnto God for him.

6 And when Herod would haue brought him forth, the ſame night Peter was ſleeping betwene two ſouldiars bound with ‖ two chaines: and the keepers before the doore kept the priſon.

7 And behold an Angel of our Lord ſtood in preſence: and light ſhined in the houſe: and ſtriking Peters ſide, he raiſed him, ſaying, Ariſe quickely. And the chaines fel from his hands.

8 And the Angel ſaid to him, Gird thee, and put on thy ſhoes. And he did ſo. And he ſaid to him, Put thy garment about thee, and folow me.

9 And going forth he folowed him, and he knew not that it was true which was done by the Angel: but he thought that he ſaw a viſion,

10 And paſſing through the firſt and the ſecond

AT the ſame time Herod the king ſtretched foorth his handes to vexe certaine of the Church.

2 And he killed Iames the brother of Iohn with the ſword.

3 And becauſe he ſawe it pleaſed the Iewes, he proceeded further, and tooke Peter alſo. (Then were the dayes of ſweete bread.)

4 And when he had caught him, he put him in priſon alſo, and deliuered him to fowre quaternions of ſouldiers to be kept, intending after Eaſter to bring him forth to the people.

5 And Peter was kept in priſon, but prayer was made without ceaſſing of the Church vnto God for him.

6 And when Herode would haue brought him forth vnto the people, the ſame night Peter was ſleeping betweene two ſouldiers bound with two chaines, and the keepers before the doore kept the priſon.

7 And behold, the angel of the Lord was there preſent, and a light ſhined in the priſon: and he ſmote Peter on the ſide, and ſtirred him vp, ſaying, Ariſe vp quickly. And his chaines fell off from his handes.

8 And the Angel ſaid vnto him, Gird thy ſelfe, and binde on thy Sandales. And ſo he did. And he ſaith vnto him, Caſt thy garment about thee, and folow me.

9 And Peter came out, and folowed him, and wiſt not that it was true which was done by the Angel: but thought he had ſeene a viſion.

10 When they were paſt the firſt and the ſecond watch, they came to the yron gate that leadeth to the citie, which of it ſelf opened to them. And going out, they went forward one ſtreate: and incontinent the Angel departed from him.

11 And Peter returning to him ſelf, ſaid: Now I know in very deede that our Lord hath ſent his Angel, and deliuered me out of Herods hand, and from al the expectation of the people of the Iewes.

12 And conſidering, he came to the ‡houſe of Marie the mother of Iohn, who was ſurnamed Marke, where many were gathered and praying.

13 And when he knocked at the doore of the gate, there came forth a wenche to ſee, named Rhodé.

14 And as ſhe knew Peters voice, for ioy ſhe opened not the gate, but running in ſhe told that Peter ſtoode before the gate.

15 But they ſaid to her, Thou art mad. But ſhe affirmed that it was ſo. But they ſaid, It is ‖his Angel.

16 And Peter continued knocking. And when they had opened, they ſaw him, and were aſtonied.

17 And beckening with his hand to thē, that they ſhould hold their peace, he told how our Lord had brought him out of priſon, and he ſaid, ‖Tel theſe things to Iames and to the brethren. And going forth he went ‡into an other place.

‡Though God had ſo miraculouſly deliuered him, yet he would not tempt God by tarying among his perſecutors, but according to Chriſtes commaundement, fled for a time.

18 And when day was come, there was no litle a doe betwene the ſouldiars, what was become of Peter.

19 And Herod, when he had ſought him, and had not found, making inquiſition of the keepers, commaunded them to be led away: and going downe from Iewrie into Cæſaréa, there he abode.

20 And he was angrie with the Tyrians and the Sidonians. But they with one accord came to him, and perſuading Blaſtus that was cheefe of the kings chamber, they deſired peace, for that their countries were nouriſhed by him.

21 And vpon a day appointed, Herod being araied with kingly attire, ſate in the iudgement ſeate, and made an oration to them.

‡Princes that take delice in the flattery & praiſes of the people, ſo much that they forget them ſelues to be men, and to giue the honour to God, may be warned by this example.

22 And the people made acclamation, The voices of a God, and not of a man.

23 And forthwith an Angel of our Lord ſtrooke him, becauſe he had not giuen the honour to God: and being conſumed of wormes, he gaue vp the ghoſt.

24 But

ſecond watch, they came vnto the Iron gate that leadeth vnto the citie, which opened to thē by the owne accord: and they went out, and paſſed thorowe one ſtreete, and forthwith the angel departed from him.

11 And when Peter was come to him ſelfe, he ſaid, Now I know of aſuretie that the Lord hath ſent his Angel, and hath deliuered me out of the hande of Herode, and from all the wayting for of the people of the Iewes.

12 And as he conſidered the thing, he came to the houſe of Marie the mother of Iohn, whoſe ſyrname was Marke, where many were gathered together in prayer.

13 As Peter knocked at the entrie doore, a damoſel came forth to hearken, named Rhoda.

14 And when ſhe knew Peters voyce, ſhe opened not the doore for gladneſſe, but ran in, and told how Peter ſtoode before the doore.

15 And they ſaid vnto her, Thou art mad. But ſhe affirmed that it was euen ſo. Then ſayd they, It is his angel.

16 But Peter continued knocking: and when they had opened the doore, and ſaw him, they were aſtonied.

17 And when he had beckened vnto them with the hand that they might holde their peace, he tolde them by what meanes the Lord had brought him out of the priſon: And he ſayd, Goe ſhewe theſe things vnto Iames, and to the brethren. And he departed, and went into another place.

18 Now as ſoone as it was day, there was no litle adoe among the ſouldiers, what was become of Peter.

19 And when Herode had ſought for him, and found him not, he examined the keepers, and commaunded them to be caried away. And he deſcended from Iurie to Ceſarea, and there abode.

20 And Herode was diſpleaſed with them of Tyre and Sidon: but they came all with one accorde to him, and made interceſſion vnto Blaſtus the kings chamberlaine, and deſired peace, becauſe their countrey was nouriſhed by the kings countrey.

21 And vpon the day appointed, Herode arayed him in royall apparell, and ſet him in his ſeate, and made an oration vnto them.

22 And the people gaue a ſhoute, ſaying, It is the voyce of a God, and not of a man.

23 And immediately the Angel of the Lord ſmote him, becauſe hee gaue not God the honour, and he was eaten of wormes, and gaue vp the ghoſt.

24 And

24 But the word of our Lord increaſed and multiplied.

25 And Barnabas & Saul returned from Act.11,29. Hieruſalem,hauing accompliſhed their *miniſterie,taking with them Iohn that was ſurnamed Marke.

24 And the worde of God grew, and multiplied.

25 And Barnabas and Saul returned to Hieruſalem, when they had fulfilled their office, and tooke with them Iohn, whoſe ſyrname was Marke.

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. XII.

Rhem. 2. 4 Foure quaternions.) As Peters perſon was more notorious then others, and therefore better garded then other, for feare he ſhould eſcape: ſo Gods prouidence in preſeruing and deliuering him for the longer gouernment of his Church, is very marueilous.

Fulke. 2. It cannot be gathered out of the text, that Peters perſon was better garded, then the perſon of Iames, & leſt of all, in reſpect that he was a more notorious perſon, but becauſe he was to be kept longer, by reaſon of the ſolemne feaſt. Peters dignity.

Paul and Barnabas were not conſecrated biſhops, for they neither had dioceſſe nor prouince aſſigned thē, but were ſent of the holy ghoſt, and were commended by the Church of Antiochia, with faſting prayer, and impoſition of hands, to the worke which God had appointed them. That is to preach abroad in many nations, and not to remaine at Antioch.

5 And when they were come to Salamina, they preached the word of God in the ſynagogs of the Iewes. And they had Iohn alſo in their miniſterie.

8 But Elymas the magician (for ſo is his name interpreted) reſiſted them, ſeeking to auert the Proconſul from the faith.

9 But Saul, otherwiſe Paul, repleniſhed with the holy Ghoſt, looking vpon him, 11 And now behold the hand of our Lord vpon thee, and thou ſhalt be blind, not ſeing the ſunne vntill a time. And forthwith there fell dimneſſe and darkneſſe vpon him, & going about he ſought ſome body that would giue him his hand.

12 Then the Proconſul, when he had ſeene that which was done, beleeued, marueling at the doctrine of our Lord.

13 And when Paul and they that were with him had ſailed from Paphos, they came to Pergè in Pamphylia. And Iohn departing from them, returned to Hieruſalem.

14 But they paſſing through Pergè, came to Antioch in Piſidia: and entring into the ſynagogue on the day of the Sabboths, they ſate downe.

15 And after the leſſon of the Law and the Prophets, the princes of the Synagogue ſent to them, ſaying, Men brethren, if there be among you any ſermon of exhortation to the people, ſpeake.

4 And they, after they were ſent foorth of the holy Ghoſt, departed vnto Seleucia, and from thence they ſailed to Cyprus.

5 And when they were at Salamina, they preached the worde of God in the ſynagogues of the Iewes: and they had alſo Iohn to their miniſter.

6 And when they had gone thorowe the Iſle vnto Paphos, they found a certaine ſorcerer, a falſe prophet, a Iewe, whoſe name was Barieſu:

7 Which was with the deputie of the countrey, one Sergius Paulus, a prudent man: the ſame when he had called vnto him Barnabas & Saul, deſired to heare the word of God.

8 But Elymas the ſorcerer (for ſo is his name by interpretation) withſtood them, ſeeking to turne the deputie away from the faith.

9 Then Saul (which alſo is called Paul) being ful of the holy Ghoſt, ſet his eyes on him,

10 And ſayd, O full of all ſubtiltie & all miſchiefe, thou child of the deuil, thou enemie of all righteouſneſſe, wilt thou not ceaſe to peruert the right wayes of the Lord?

12 Then the deputie, when he ſaw what was done, beleeued, and wondered at the doctrine of the Lord.

13 Now when they that were with Paul, were departed from Paphos, they came to Perga in Pamphylia: and Iohn, when he departed from them, returned to Hieruſalem.

14 But when they departed from Perga, they came to Antioch in Piſidia, and went into the ſynagogue on the Sabboth day, and ſate downe.

15 And after the reading of the law and the Prophets, the rulers of the ſynagogue ſent vnto them, ſaying, Ye men and brethren, if ye haue any word to exhort the people, ſay on.

thou, this day haue I begotten thee.

34 And that he raiſed him vp from the dead, not to returne now any more into corruption, thus he ſaid, That I will giue you the holy things of Dauid faithfull.

Eſa.55,3.

35 And therefore in an other place alſo he ſaith, Thou ſhalt not giue thy holy one to ſee corruption.

Pſa.15,10.

36 For Dauid in his generation when he had ſerued, according to the will of God ſlept: and he was laid to his fathers and ſaw corruption.

37 But he whom God hath raiſed vp, ſaw no corruption.

38 Be it knowen therefore to you, men brethren, that through him, forgiueneſſe of ſinnes is preached to you, from all the things from the which you could not be iuſtified by the law of Moyſes.

39 In him euery one that beleeueth, is iuſtified.

40 Take heed therfore leſt that come vpon you which is ſpoken in the prophets,

41 See ye contemners, and wonder, & periſh: becauſe I worke a worke in your dayes, a worke which you wil not beleue, if any mā ſhal tel it you.

Abac.1,5.

42 And they going forth, [c] they deſired them that the Sabboth folowing they would ſpeake vnto them theſe wordes.

[c] The Gentiles deſired.

43 And when the ſynagogue was dimiſſed, many of the Iewes, and of the [c] ſtrangers ſeruing God, folowed Paul and Barnabas: who ſpeaking exhorted them to continue in the grace of God.

[c] Deuout proſelites.

44 But the next Sabboth the whole citie almoſt aſſembled to heare the word of God.

45 And the Iewes ſeeing the multitudes, were repleniſhed with enuy, and contradicted thoſe things which were ſayd of Paul, blaſpheming.

46 Then Paul and Barnabas conſtantly ſayd, To you it behooued vs firſt to ſpeake the word of God: but becauſe ‡ you repell it, and iudge your ſelues vnwoorthie of eternall life: behold we turne to the Gentils.

47 For ſo our Lord commaunded vs: I haue put thee to be the light of the Gentils: that thou maieſt be ſaluation vnto the vtmoſt of the earth.

Eſ.46,6.

48 And the Gentils hearing it, were glad, and glorified the word of our Lord: & there beleeued as many as were preordinate to life euerlaſting.

49 And the word of our Lord was ſpred throughout the whole countrey.

50 But

art my ſonne, this day haue I begotten thee.

Eſai.55.3.

*35 Wherefore he ſaith alſo in another place, Thou ſhalt not ſuffer thine holy one to ſee corruption.

Pſal.16.10.

*36 For Dauid after he had ſerued his time, by the wil of God, fell on ſleepe, and was laid vnto his fathers, and ſaw corruption:

37 But he whom God raiſed againe, ſaw no corruption.

*38 Be it knowen vnto you therefore, ye men and brethren, that * through this man is preached vnto you the forgiueneſſe of ſinnes:*

3.Reg.3, 14.

39 And by him, all that beleeue, are iuſtified from all things, from which ye could not be iuſtified by the law of Moſes.

40 Beware therefore, leaſt that fall on you, which is ſpoken of in the Prophets.

*41 Behold, ye deſpiſers, and wonder, and periſh ye: for I doe a worke in your dayes, a worke which ye ſhall in no wiſe beleeue, though a man declare it to you plainly.

Abac.1.5.

42 And when they were gone out of the Synagogue of the Iewes, the Gentiles beſought that theſe words might be preached to them the next Sabboth.

43 Now when the congregation was broken vp, many of the Iewes and vertuous Proſelytes followed Paul and Barnabas, which ſpeaking to them, exhorted them to continue in the grace of God.

44 And the next Sabboth day came almoſt the whole citie together to heare the word of God.

45 But when the Iewes ſawe the people, they were full of indignation, and ſpake againſt thoſe things which were ſpoken of Paul, ſpeaking againſt, and railing.

46 Then Paul and Barnabas waxed bold, and ſaid, It was neceſſarie that the word of God ſhould firſt haue bene ſpoken to you: but ſeeing ye put it from you, & thinke your ſelues vnworthy of euerlaſting life, lee, we turne to the Gentiles.

*47 For ſo hath the Lord commanded vs, ſaying, * I haue made thee a light of the Gentiles, that thou be the ſaluation vnto the ende of the world.*

Eſai.49.10.

48 And when the Gentiles heard this, they were glad, & glorified the word of the Lord: and as many as were ordeined to eternal life, beleued.

46 And the word of the Lord was publiſhed throughout all the region.

30 But

50 But the Iewes ſtirred vp religious and honeſt women, and the cheefe of the citie, and raiſed perſecution againſt Paul and Barnabes: and they did caſt them forth out of their coaſtes.

51 But they * ſhaking of the duſt of their feete againſt them, came to Icónium.

52 The diſciples alſo were repleniſhed with ioy and with the holy Ghoſt.

50 But the Iewes mooued the deuout and ‖honeſt women, and the chiefe men of the citie, and raiſed perſecution againſt Paule and Barnabas, and expelled them out of their coaſtes.

‖ Or, worſhipfull.

Lu.9.5.

51 But they ſhooke off the duſt of their feet againſt them, and came vnto Iconium.

52 And the diſciples were filled with ioy, and with the holy Ghoſt.

MARGINAL NOTES. CHAP. XIII.

Rhem.2. 46. You repell it.) The Iewes of their owne free wil repelling the truth, are iuſtly of Chriſt and worthily forſaken: and the Gentils though they beleeued ſpecially by Gods grace and preordination, yet they beleeue alſo by their owne free wil, which ſtandeth well with Gods prouidence.

Fulke.2. Their will bound to ſinne before, was by the grace of God inlarged and made free to beleeue. Freewill.

Rhem.3. 2. As they were miniſtring.) If we ſhould, as our Aduerſaries do, boldly turne what text we liſt, and flee from one language to an other for the aduantage of our cauſe, we might haue tranſlated for miniſtring, *ſacrificing. for ſo * the Greeke doth ſignifie, and ſo Eraſmus tranſlated. yea we might haue tranſlated,* Saying Maſſe, for ſo they did: & the Greeke Fathers hereof had their name, Liturgie, which Eraſmus tranſlateth Maſſe, ſaying, Miſſa Chryſoſtomi. But we keepe our text, as the tranſlators of the Scriptures ſhould do moſt religiouſly.

The Apoſtles liturgie or Maſſe. * λειτουργούντων αὐτῶν.

Fulke.3. This is a leud ſlander, that we dare boldlie turne what text we liſt, and flee from one language to another for our aduantage. For we tranſlate out of the originall tongues, though we may borrow light of other tranſlations, where any thing is ambiguous. But here the Greeke word vſed by the euangeliſt, ſignifieth to miniſter or ſerue in any publike function, either of the church or of the common wealth. So doth S. Paule call the ciuill magiſtrates by a name deriued of this verbe, or from whence this verbe is deriued λειτουργοὶ miniſters Rom. 13. 6. Therefore your vulgar tranſlator hath better tranſlated the participle in this place, generally miniſtring, then Eraſmus doth, by a ſpeciall kinde of miniſtring, that is ſacrificing. You muſt firſt proue that the apoſtles ſayd Maſſe, before you can tranſlate this word which ſignifieth generally, their miniſterie in their publike office, to be ſaying of Maſſe: which by the text appeareth to haue beene teaching and preaching, for that is the proper miniſtery of prophets and teachers: and ſo doth Chryſoſtome expound the place himſelfe. Quid eſt miniſtrantibus &c. What is λειτουργοῦντων miniſtring? preaching. In act. hom. 37. Howſoeuer Eraſmus calleth Chryſoſtomes liturgy, Chryſoſtomes maſſe. So alſo ſaith Oecumenius.

Slander.

Maſſe.

Rhem.4. 2. Separate me.) Though Paul were taught by God him ſelf and ſpecially deſigned by Chriſt to be an Apoſtle, and here choſen by the Holy Ghoſt together with Barnabas, yet they were to be ordered, conſecrated, and admitted by men. Which wholy condemneth al theſe new rebellious diſordered ſpirits, that chalenge and vſurpe the office of preaching and other ſacred acti.ons from heauen, without the Churches admiſſion.

Paul and Barnabas are conſecrated by men. Gal.1.

Fulke.4. Paule was an apoſtle neither of men nor by men, but immediatly from and by Ieſus Chriſt. Gal. 1. 1. Therefore was he not ordered, conſecrated, and admitted by men, but ſent by the Holy ghoſt, with the prayers of the church, to execute his office of apoſtleſhip, farre abroad among the Gentiles. Yet are they to be condemned, which in theſe dayes vſurpe the office of preaching and other ſacred functions as from heauen, without the churches admiſſion.

Rhem.5. 3. Faſting.) Here of the Church of God vſeth and preſcribeth publike faſtes at the foure ſolemne times of giuing holy Orders (which are our Imber dayes) *as a neceſſarie preparatiue to ſo great a worke, as S. * Leo declareth by this place, naming it alſo an Apoſtolical tradition. See S. Leo Ser. 9 de ieiunio 7 menſis. & Calixtus ep. 1. to. 1 Conc. Conc. Magunt. c. 34 35. to. 3. And this faſting was not faſting from ſinne, nor moral or Chriſtian temperance, as the Proteſtants ridiculouſly affirme, for ſuch faſting they were bound euer to keepe: but it was abſtinence for a time from al meates or from ſome certaine kindes of meates, which was ioyned with prayer and ſacrifice, and done ſpecially at ſuch ſeaſon as the Church preſcribed, of al together (as in Lent, the Imber daies, Friday, Saturday) and not when euery man liſted, as Aerius and ſuch Heretikes did hold.* S. Auguſt. hær. 53.

Imber daies. * Leo. ep. 81. c. 2 Epiphan. con pead. Leo ſer. 3. & 9 de ieiu. 7 menſi Preſcripte times of faſts.

Fulke.5. Faſting and prayer are conuenient to be vſed at ſuch times as miniſters of the church are ordeined, & that may be rightly referred to apoſtolike tradition, becauſe we finde it written in the Acts of the apoſtles. But your imber dayes faſting is but a mockery of the ancient diſcipline of the church. For you obſerue thoſe daies of neceſſity, although there be none that take orders in the dioceſſe, & at other times, when your biſhops are diſpoſed to giue orders, you vſe no ſuch preparatiues. Againe you ſlander vs, when you ſay, we doe ridiculouſly affirme the faſting here ſpoken of, to be faſting from ſinne, or morall & Chriſtian temperance, which are alwaies to be obſerued. For we affirme, that faſting heere ſignifieth abſtinence from all meat and drinke, & not from fleſh only, as you doe ridiculouſlie and diueliſhlie practiſe it, and when you abſteine from fiſh alſo, yet wine, fruites, and ſpices, and all confections made of them, are a ſolemne good friday faſt among you.

Imber daies popiſh faſting. Slander.

At times appointed by the church to faſt for ſpecial purpoſe, we acknowledge it meet that all men (that for infirmity of body may) ought to abſteine: & not to contemne thoſe times, as Aerius taught But againe we ſay, that to appoint ordinary times of neceſſarie and religious faſting without ſpeciall cauſe, it was of the ancient church accompted hereſy in Montanus. Euſebius lib. 5. cap. 18. Leo ioyneth alwayes the wedneſday faſt to friday and ſaturday watching. Epiphanius leaueth out the & ſaturday, ſaith that wedneſday & friday were appointed by the apoſtles to faſt on. How truly? let your church define, which doth not obſerue that tradition. As for ſacrifice, Epiphanius ſpeaketh of none, but Leo of the ſacrifice of almes only.

Tradition.

3. Impoſing

Rhem.6. 3. Impoſing hands.) Becauſe all bleſſings and conſecrations were don: in the Apoſtles time by the external ceremonie of impoſition of hands, diuers Sacraments were named of the ſame, ſpecially Confirmation, as is noted before, and holy Ordering or conſecrating Biſhops, Prieſts, and Deacons, and Subdeacons, as we ſee here and els where. In which though there were many holy wordes and ceremonies and a very ſolemne action: yet whatſoeuer is done in thoſe Sacraments, is altogether called Impoſition of hands: as whatſoeuer was done in the whole diuine myſterie of the B. * Sacrament, is named fraction of bread. for the Apoſtles (as S. Denys Eccl. hier. c. 1 in fine writeth) purpoſely kept cloſe in their cuſpeaches and writings which might come to the hands or eares of Infidels, the ſacred wordes and actions of the Sacraments. And S. Ambroſe ſaith, in 1 Tim. c. 4. The impoſition of the hand is myſtical wordes wherewith the elected is conformed and made apt to his function, receiuing authoritie (his conſcience bearing witnes) that he may be bold in our Lordes ſteed to offer ſacrifice to God. And S. Hierom, The impoſition of hand is the Ordering of Clerkes, Which is done by praier of the voice, and impoſition of the hand. And this is in ſome inferior orders alſo, but Paul and Barnabas were ordered to a higher function then inferior Prieſts, euen to be Biſhops throughout al Nations.

Impoſition of handes. Holy orders.

* Act. 2. 42.

Hierom. in c. 58 Eſa.

Fulke 6. There are no ſacraments named of impoſition of hands, neither doe we ſee here any ordering or conſecrating of biſhops, prieſts, deacons, or ſubdeacons, neither any ordering of ſubdeacons, any where els in the ſcriptures. And although in the ordeining of miniſters of the church, biſhops, elders, or deacons, which was with the ceremonie of impoſition of hands, there were vſed longer formes of praier then be expreſſed in the ſcriptures, yet the ſubſtance and matter of them is conteined and expreſſed in the ſcriptures. Neither muſt we imagine that all thoſe popiſh ceremonies which they vſed in ordeining their Clerkes, haue beene vſed by the apoſtles, becauſe all the wordes of their prayer is not expreſſed. For they are ſuch as were neuer vniuerſally obſerued in all churches, yea many of them were neuer heard of in the primitiue church for many hundred yeeres after Chriſt. That the bleſſed ſacrament is called fraction of bread, you haue not yet proued, but if it be granted vnto you, there is no reaſon you ſhould exclude the cuppe, which is commanded by Chriſt, becauſe bread onely is named, ſeeing you allege it now to proue that ſuch things were vſed in ordering of miniſters as the ſcripture neuer mentioneth, although only impoſing of bands be named. And ſeeing the ſacred words and actions of baptiſme and the Lords ſupper are publiſhed by the apoſtles in their open writings, it is a vaine excuſe to ſay, they kept any ſuch things cloſe from the hands or eares of infidels. And if it were a good reaſon, that the apoſtles ſhould keepe ſuch things cloſe, by what auctoritie did Dionyſius diſcloſe them? Although in truth the words of Dionyſius import not ſo much, but that the ſignes were left by the apoſtles, partly in writing and partly without writing, not only in reſpect of prophane men, which may not meddle with them: but alſo becauſe our hierarchy is contained in ſignes, hauing need of ſenſible thinges to bring vs to a more diuine vnderſtanding of thinges intelligible. So that in truth he giueth no reaſon why the apoſtles would not write theſe thinges, but for what cauſe they deliuered them, either by writing or without writing. S. Ambroſe ſpeaketh not of offering Chriſt in ſacrifice at the maſſe, for then he would not haue ſaid, Vice Domini, In our Lords place or ſteed, but that he may be bolde to offer vp Chriſt himſelfe in ſacrifice to his father. But alluding to the maner of ſacrificing in the olde law, he nameth all partes of his office, as prayer preaching and miniſtration of the ſacramentes, ſacrifice. For he vſeth the name of ſacrifice for any ſeruice that we offer to God, as de virgin. lib. 1. Virgo matris hoſtia eſt, cuius quotidiano ſacrificio vis diuina placatur. A virgine is the hoſt or oblation of her mother, by whoſe dailie ſacrifice God is pleaſed. But of the offering of Chriſt in the celebration of the ſupper, how it was he declareth officii. 1 cap. 48. Ante agnus offerebatur &c. Before a lambe was offered, a calfe was offered, now Chriſt is offered, but he is offered as a man, receiuing paſſion, and he offereth himſelfe as a prieſt, that he may forgiue our ſinnes: there in an image, there in truth: where he maketh interceſſion for vs, as an aduocate with the father. Therefore he meaneth that Chriſt is not truely offered, but in an image or commemoration. Hierome ſaith the ordination of Clerks is accompliſhed not only by words of prayer, but alſo by impoſition of hands: but that you ſay is in ſome inferior orders, where Paule and Barnabas were ordained to be biſhops throughout all nations. This is new doctrine without all teſtimony of antiquitie, that the apoſtles were made biſhops, and that throughout all nations, & ordered by their inferiors, Simon, Lucius, and Manahen, whereof you are not able to proue that any of them was a biſhop. For by your owne ſtories and report, Peter was biſhop now of Antioch. Wherefore, as Chryſoſtome and Oecumenius write, theſe apoſtles were ſent out ad apoſtolatum, to exerciſe their function of apoſtleſhip, and not ordeined biſhops. For all auctoritie of inferior miniſters of the church was in the apoſtles by their apoſtleſhip, ſo that they needed not to be made biſhops or prieſts by other that were of inferior place and degree in the church.

Next in Iconium they preach, where many being conuerted of both ſortes, the obſtinate Iewes raiſe perſecution. 6 Then in the townes of Lycaonia, where the Heathen firſt ſeing that Paul had healed one borne lame, are hardly perſuaded but they are Gods. 18 but afterward by the inſtigation of the malitious Iewes, they ſtone Paul, leauing him for dead. 20 And ſo hauing done their circuite, they returne the ſame way confirming the Chriſtians, and making Prieſts for euery Church. 25 And being come home to Antioche in Syria, they report al to the Church there.

AND it came to paſſe at Iconium that they entred together into the ſynagogue of the Iewes, and ſo ſpake, that a very great multitude of Iewes & of the Greekes did beleeue.

AND it came to paſſe in Iconium, that they went both together into the Synagogue of the Iewes, and ſo ſpake, that a great multitude both of the Iewes, and alſo of the Greekes beleeued.

ſtirred vp & incenſed the hartes of the Gentils to anger againſt the brethren.

3 A lõg time therfore they abode, dealing confidently in our Lord, who gaue teſtimonie to the word of his grace, graũting ſignes and wonders to be done by their handes.

4 And the multitude of the citie was deuided: and certaine of them in deede were with the Iewes, but certaine with the Apoſtles.

5 And when the Gentils and the Iewes with their princes had made an aſſault to vſe them contumeliouſly, and to ſtone them,

6 Vnderſtanding it, they fled to the cities of Lycaónia, Lyſtra and Derbe, and the whole countrie about, and there they were euangelizing.

7 And a certaine man at Lyſtra impotent of his feete ſate there, lame from his mothers wombe, that neuer had walked.

8 This ſame heard Paul ſpeaking. Who looking vpon him, and ſeeing that he had faith for to be ſaued, 9 He ſaid with a loud voice, Stand vp right on thy feete. And he leaped and walked.

10 And the multitudes when they had ſeen what Paul had done, lifted vp their voice in the lycaónian tongue, ſaying, Gods made like to men, are deſcended to vs.

11 And they called Barnabas, Iupiter: but Paul, Mercurie, becauſe he was the cheefe ſpeaker.

12 The Prieſt alſo of [c] Iupiter that was before the citie, bringing oxen and garlands before the gates, would with the people ‖ ſacrifice.

[c] Διὸς τοῦ ὄντος.

13 Which thing when the Apoſtles Barnabas and Paul heard, renting their coates, they leaped forth into the multitudes crying

14 And ſaying, Ye men, why doe you theſe things? We alſo are mortal, men like vnto you, preaching to you for to conuert from theſe vaine things, to the liuing God that made the heauen, and the earth, and the ſea, and al things that are in them:

15 Who in the generations paſt ſuffred al the Gentils to goe their owne waies.

16 Howbeit he left not him ſelf ‡ without teſtimonie, being beneficial from heauen, giuing raines, and fruiteful ſeaſons, filling our hartes with foode and gladnes.

17 And ſpeaking theſe things, they ſcarſe appeaſed the multitudes from ſacrificing to them.

corrupted the mindes of the Gentils againſt the brethren.

3 Long time therfore abode they there, ſpeaking boldly with the helpe of the Lord, which gaue teſtimonie vnto the word of his grace, and granted ſignes and woonders to be done by their hands.

4 But the multitude of the citie was diuided: and part held with the Iewes, and part with the Apoſtles.

5 And when there was an aſſault made both of the Gentiles, and alſo of the Iewes, with their rulers, to doe them violence, and to ſtone them,

6 They were ware of it, and fled vnto Lyſtra and Derbe, cities of Lycaonia, and vnto the region that lyeth round about.

7 And there were they preaching the Goſpell.

8 And ther ſate a certaine man at Lyſtra, weake in his feete, being a creeple from his mothers wombe, and neuer had walked.

9 The ſame heard Paule ſpeake: which beholding him, and perceiuing that he had faith to be whole,

10 Said with a loud voice, Stand vp right on thy feete: And he ſtart vp, and walked.

11 And when the people ſaw what Paule had done, they lifted vp their voices, ſaying in the ſpeech of Lycaonia, The gods are come downe to vs in the likeneſſe of men.

12 And they called Barnabas Iupiter, and Paule Mercurius, becauſe he was the cheefe ſpeaker, 13 Then Iupiters Prieſt, which was before their citie, brought Oxen, and garlands vnto the doore, and would haue done ſacrifice with the people.

14 Which when the Apoſtles, Barnabas and Paule heard of, they rent their clothes, and ran in among the people, crying

*15 And ſaying, Sirs, Why do ye theſe things? We alſo are mortall men like vnto you, & preach vnto you the Goſpell, that ye ſhould turne from theſe vanities, vnto the liuing God, * which made heauen and earth, and the ſea, and all things that are therein.* Gene.1.1. pſal.146.6. apoc.14.7.

*16 The which in times paſt, * ſuffered all nations to walke in their owne wayes.* Pſal.81.13.

17 Neuertheleſſe, he left not himſelfe without witneſſe, in that he ſhewed his benefits from heauen, in giuing vs raine, and fruitfull ſeaſons, filling our hearts with food and gladneſſe.

18 And with theſe ſayings ſcarſe refrained they the people, that they had not done ſacrifice vnto them.

18 But there came in certaine Iewes from Antioche & Icónium: and perſwading
2.Cor.11,25 the multitudes, and *ſtoning Paul, they drew him out of the citie, thinking him to be dead.

19 But the diſciples compaſſing him round about, he riſing vp, entred into the citie, and the next day he went forth with Barnabas vnto Derbè.

20 And when they had euangelized to that citie, & had taught many, they returned to Lyſtra and Icónium, and to Antioche:

21 Confirming the hartes of the diſciples, and exhorting them to continue in the faith, and that by many tribulations we muſt enter into the kingdom of God.

22 And when ‡ they ‖ had ordained to them ¶ Prieſts in euery Church, and had praied with faſtings, they commended them to our Lord in whom they beleeued.

23 And paſſing through Piſidia, they came into Pamphylia,

25 And from thence they ſailed to Anti-

26 And when they were come, and had aſſembled the Church, they reported what great things God had done with them, and that he had opened a doore of faith to the Gentils.

27 And they abode no litle time with the diſciples.

20 Howbeit, when the diſciples ſtood round about him, he roſe vp, and came into the citie, and the next day he departed, with Barnabas to Derbe.

21 And when they had preached the Goſpell to that citie, and had taught many, they returned againe to Lyſtra, and to Iconium, and Antioche,

22 And ſtrengthened the diſciples ſoules againe, & exhorted them to continue in the faith, and that we muſt through much tribulation enter into the kingdome of God.

23 And when they had ordeined them Elders by election in euery Church, and had prayed with faſting, they commended them to the Lord, on whom they beleeued.

24 And when they had gone throughout Piſidia, they came to Pamphylia.

25 And when they had ſpoken the word of God in Perga, they deſcended into Attalia, 26 And thence departed by ſhippe to Antioche, from whence they were committed vnto the grace of God, to the worke which they fulfilled.

27 And when they were come, and had gathered the Church together, they rehearſed all that God had done with them, and how he had opened the doore of faith vnto the Gentils.

28 And there they abode long time with the diſciples.

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. XIIII.

Paul and Barnabas were Biſhops, hauing here authoritie to giue holy Order: ſecondly, that there was euen then a difference betwixt Biſhops and Prieſts, though the name in the primitiue Church was often vſed indifferently: laſtly, that almes, faſting and praying were preparatiues to the giuing of holy Orders.*

Fulke. 1. Euery one of the apoſtles had the cheefe auctoritie in gouernment of the church, but the perpetuall order of the church for externall gouernment and difference of gouernours, is better learned out of other places then this. 1.Cor,12.28.

But other kindes of honours & duties, inferior without al compariſon (how great ſo euer they be) to this, we do, as the Scripture, and Nature teacheth vs, to all ſuperiors in heauen and earth, according to the degrees of grace, honour, and bleſſednes that God hath called them vnto, from our B. Ladie Chriſts owne mother, to the leſt ſeruant he hath in the world, for which the Heretikes would neuer accuſe Chriſtian people of Idolatrie: if they had either grace, learning, faith, or natural affection.

Fulke. 2. Not only ſacrifice, but all religious ſeruice is due only to God. Matt. 4. 10. Cornelius would not haue worſhipped Peter as God, nor Iohn the angell as God. Yet the religious worſhip of both is forbidden of Peter, becauſe he was a man, to whom no religious honor is due: of the angell, becauſe he was a fellow ſeruant, to whom no religious worſhip appertaineth but vnto God, to whom only the angell willeth Iohn to bow with religious affection. Act. 10. 26. Apoc. 22. 9. And ſeeing you confeſſe ſacrifice to be due only to God, and prayer is a ſacrifice Pſ. 141.2. and a contrite heart is a ſacrifice to God. Pſ. 51. 19. ceptable to God, then the ſacrifice of a bullocke, that hath hornes and hooues, Pſ.69.32.33. It followeth, that none of theſe is to be offred, to any creature. And it is moſt brutiſh ignorance, to thinke that ſpirituall or internall ſacrifice of mens ſoules, may be offred to creatures, to whom it is vnlawfull to offer externall ſacrifice of oxen and garlands. But the onely externall ſacrifice of the Church, you ſay, is the ſacrifice of the Maſſe, of which you haue not one word in the holy Scriptures. The worſhip or honour due to creatures for Gods ſake, is ciuill not religious, of charitie not of religion. *The Saincts and Martyrs (*ſayth S. And therefore if Papiſtes had any feare of God, or ſhame of the world, they would not defend ſuch groſſe idolatrie as they doe, euen for all their diſtinction, giuing the ſeruice which they call Latria, not only to God, but to Images, and to the Croſſe, as it is manifeſt by *Conc. Hiero. in 58. Eſa.

Fulke 3. Our tranſlation is true, ordeyned by election, and anſwereth the Greeke word, which we tranſlate: not excluding the impoſition of hands by the Apoſtles, as you doe vainely charge vs, but comprehending both that election by the Church, and the ordination by impoſition of hands of the Apoſtles. And although the Miniſters of the Church were choſen in ancient time, by voices of the Chriſtian people, concurring with the election of the Clergie and gouernors of the Church, yet we doe not hold, that it is of the ſubſtance of their calling, to be choſen by voices of the people, but only, (as the Apoſtle ſaith,) that they muſt haue a good teſtimonie of all men, at the leaſt, that they cannot be iuſtly conuinced by any man. 1.Tim.3,7. Tit.1,7.

Slander.

Rhem. 4. 22. Prieſts.) Euen ſo here alſo, as before, fleing from the proper, apt, knowen, word and which is moſt preciſely correſpondent to the very Greeke in our tongue and al nations, they tranſlate for Prieſt, Elder, that is, for a calling of Office, a word of age: for a terme of art and by conſent of al the Church and Apoſtolike authoritie and Fathers, appropriated to holy Order, a vulgar, common, and profane terme: With as litle grace, as if they ſhould tranſlate Pontificem, a bridgemaker, the Maior of London, the Bigger of London. And thus you ſee within three wordes compaſſe they flee guilefully from the Latin to the Greeke, and againe guilefully from the Greeke to the vulgar Engliſh. Such corruption of Scriptures their hatred of Prieſthod driueth them vnto. If they had tranſlated it ſo when the Scriptures were firſt written, (at which time the word was but newly receiued into the ſpecial and Eccleſiaſtical ſignification, and when it was yet taken ſometimes in common profane ſort, as 1. Tim. 5. or there only where our auncient Latin verſion turneth Presbyter into Senior, becauſe the word was not yet wholy and only appropriated to holy Orders, as afterward by vſe of many hundred yeres it was and is) their dealing might haue had ſome colour of honeſtie and plainneſſe, which now can not be but of plaine falſhod and corruption, and that of further purpoſe then the ſimple can ſee. Which is to take away the office of Sacrificing and other functions of Prieſts, proper in the new Teſtament to ſuch as the Apoſtles often, and the poſteritie in maner altogether cal Prieſts, Presbyteros. Which word doth ſo certainely imply the authoritie of ſacrificing, that it is by vſe made alſo the onely Engliſh of Sacerdos, the Aduerſaries themſelues as wel as we, ſo tranſlating it in al the old and new Teſtament: though they can not be ignorant that Prieſt commeth of Presbyter, and not of Sacerdos: and that antiquitie for no other cauſe applied the ſignification of Presbyter to Sacerdos, but to ſhew that Presbyter is in the new Law, that which Sacerdos was in the old: the Apoſtles abſtaining from this and other like old names at the firſt, and rather vſing the wordes, Biſhops, Paſtors, and Prieſts, becauſe they might be diſtinguiſhed from the Gouernours and ſacrificers of Aarons order, who as yet in the Apoſtles time did their old functions ſtil in the Temple. And this to be true, and that to be a Prieſt, is to be a man appointed to ſacrifice, the Heretikes themſelues calling Sacerdos alwaies a Prieſt, muſt needes be driuen to confeſſe. Although their follie is therein notorious, to a; ply willingly the word Prieſt to Sacerdos, and to take it from Presbyter whereof it is properly deriued, not only in Engliſh, but in other languages both French and Italian. Which is to take away the name that the Apoſtles and fathers gaue to the Prieſts of the Church, and to giue it wholy and onely to the order of Aaron, which neuer had it before our Prieſthood began. Neuer did there Heretikes fiend ſo much vpon doubtful deriuations and deſcant of words as theſe Proteſtants do, and yet neuer men behaued them ſelues more fondly in the ſame: as whoſoeuer marketh the diſtinction of their Elders, Miniſters, Deacons, and ſuch like, ſhal perceiue.

If Sacerdos be a Prieſt, much more Presbyter.

Presbyter. Prieſt. Prebſtre. Preti.

Fulke 4. The cauſe why we auoid the name of Prieſts, is becauſe it is by common vſe taken, to ſignifie Prieſts of the Law, whoſe name is neuer in the new Teſtament giuen to Miniſters of the Church: yet is our tranſlation true, and proper to the Greeke word, which ſignifieth Elders, and therefore of your owne vulgar Interpreter, is often tranſlated Seniores, and of you Ancients, not ſo properly, as of vs Elders, though both be wordes of age. For both the Latine and Greeke ſignifie with compariſon, as we haue tranſlated Elders, but your terme Ancients, is without compariſon, as though the Latine were Senes. As for the name Prieſt, as it is deriued of the Greeke word, we doe not refuſe it, but rather wiſh, that the ſacrificers of the Law, had neuer bene called by it. But ſeing we are not Lords of mens ſpeath, we yeeld vnto common vſe, to call them Prieſts, and tranſlate the Greeke words according to the true etymologie thereof, without al colour of falſhood or corruption. For if you tranſlated it alwaies Prieſts, (as you doe not,) it were a vaine argument to proue your Prieſts to be ſacrificers, becauſe the ſacrificers of the Law are vnproperly ſo called Prieſts. Many in deede of the ancient Fathers, confound the names of Sacerdos and Presbyter, wherin as they are not to be commended, becauſe they obſerue not that diſtinction of the names which you confeſſe was alwaies obſerued of the Apoſtles: ſo can you not proue, that they did it as you ſay, for none other cauſe, but to ſhew that Presbyter in the new law, is the ſame in ſacrificing or in euery other reſpect that Sacerdos was in the old law: For there are many things common to both, as publike teaching, praying, and adminiſtring of the Sacraments: but offring the ſacrifice, was peculiar vnto them, and receiued an ende in the ſacrifice of our Sauiour Chriſt, offred by him once for all. Therefore here is nothing, but vaine wrangling and contention for wordes and termes, with impudent ſlandering vs of corruption, for tranſlating as your owne vulgar Interpreter often doth: which yet is Catholike in him, and hereticall corruption in vs. Of this quarrel you may ſee, at large in my defenſe of our Engliſh tranſlations. Gal.5,2. AND certaine comming downe from Iewrie, taught the brethren: That * vnles you be circumciſed according to the maner of Moyſes, you can not be ſaued.

The name of Prieſts.

2 No litle ſedition therfore being riſen to Paul and Barnabas againſt them, they ‖ appointed that Paul and Barnabas ſhould goe vp, and certaine others of ‖ the reſt, to the Apoſtles and c prieſts vnto Hieruſalem, vpon this queſtion.

3 They therfore being brought on their way by the Church, paſſed through Phœnice and Samaria, reporting the conuerſion of the Gentiles: and they made great ioy to al the brethren.

4 And when they were come to Hieruſalem, they were receiued of the Church and of the Apoſtles and c Auncients, declaring whatſoeuer God hath done with them.

5 And there aroſe certaine of the hereſie of the Phariſees that beleeued, ſaying, That they muſt be circumciſed, commaunded alſo to keepe the law of Moyſes.

AND certaine men which came downe from Iurie, taught the brethren, and ſaid, * Except ye be circumciſed after the maner of Moſes, ye cannot be ſaued. Gene. 5. 1.

2 So when there was riſen diſſention and diſputing not a litle vnto Paul and Barnabas againſt them, they determined that Paul and Barnabas, and certaine other of them, ſhould goe vp to Hieruſalem vnto the Apoſtles and Elders, about this queſtion.

3 And after they were brought on their way by the Church, they paſſed thorow Phœnice and Samaria, declaring the converſion of the Gentiles: and they brought great ioy vnto all the brethren.

4 And when they were come to Hieruſalem, they were receiued of the Church, and of the Apoſtles, and Elders, and they declared all things that God hath done with them.

5 Then roſe vp certaine of the ſecte of the Phariſees which did beleeue, ſaying, that it was needefull to circumciſe them, and to commaund to keepe the lawe of Moſes.

6 And the Apoſtles and Elders came together for to conſider of this matter.

7 And when there had bene much diſputing, Peter roſe vp, and ſaid vnto them, * Ye men and brethren, ye knowe how that a good while agoe, God did chooſe among vs, that the Gentiles by my mouth ſhould heare the word of the Goſpell, and beleeue. Actes 10. 30 & 11. 13.

8 And God, which knoweth the heartes, bare them witneſſe, and gaue vnto them the holy ghoſt, euen as he did vnto vs:

9 * And put no difference betweene vs and them, purifying their heartes by faith. Actes 10. 43. 1. cor. 1. 1. matth. 23. 4.

10 Nowe therefore why tempt ye God, to put on the diſciples neckes the yoke, which neither our fathers nor we were able to beare?

11 But we beleeue that through the grace of the CHRIST we beleeue to be ſaued, in like maner as they alſo.

12 And al the multitude held their peace: and they heard Barnabas and Paul telling what great ſignes and wonders God had done among the Gentiles by them.

13 And after they held their peace, ‖ Iames anſwered, ſaying, Men brethren, heare me.

14 Simon hath told how God firſt viſited to take of the Gentiles a people to his name.

15 And to this accord the wordes of the prophets, as it is written:

Amos 9.11. 16 After theſe things I wil returne, and will reedifie the tabernacle of Dauid which was fallen, and the ruines thereof I wil reedifie, and ſet it vp?

17 That the reſidue of men may ſeeke after the Lord, and al nations vpon whom my name is innocated, ſaith the Lord that doth theſe things.

18 To our Lord was his owne worke knowen from the beginning of the world.

19 For the which cauſe ‖ I iudge, that they which of the Gentiles are conuerted to God, are not to be diſquieted, 20 But to write vnto them that they refraine them ſelues from the contaminations of Idols, and ‖ fornication, and ſtrangled things, and bloud.

21 For Moyſes of old times hath in euery citie them that preach him in the ſynagogs, where he is read euery Sabboth.

22 Then it pleaſed the Apoſtles & Auncients with the whole Church, to choſe men out of them, and to ſend to Antioche with Paul and Barnabas, Iudas, who was ſurnamed Barſabas, and Silas, cheefe men among the brethren, c Other Latin copies and the Greeke read thus: Writing by their handes an epiſtle containing theſe things.

23 c Writing by their handes. The Apoſtles and Auncients, the brethren, to the brethren of the Gentiles that are at Antioche and in Syria and Cilicia, greeting.

24 Becauſe we haue heard that certaine ‖ going forth from vs, haue troubled you with wordes, ſubuerting your ſoules, to whom we gaue no commaundement:

25 It hath pleaſed vs being gathered in one, to choſe out men and to ſend them vnto you with our deereſt Barnabas and Paul,

26 Men that haue giuen their liues for the name of our Lord IESVS CHRIST:

27 We haue ſent therfore Iudas and Silas, who them ſelues alſo wil in wordes report vnto you the ſame things.

28 For

the Lord Ieſus Chriſt, we ſhalbe ſaued, euen as they.

12 Then all the multitude kept ſilence, and gaue audience to Barnabas and Paul, which told what ſignes and wonders God had ſhewed among the Gentiles by them.

13 And when they held their peace, Iames anſwered, ſaying, Men and brethren, hearken vnto me.

14 Symeon tolde howe God at the beginning did viſite, to receiue of the Gentiles a people in his name.

15 And to this agree the wordes of the Prophets, as it is written,

*16 * After this I will returne, and will builde* Amos 9.11. againe the tabernacle of Dauid, which is fallen downe: and that which is fallen in decay of it, will I build againe, and I will ſet it vp:

17 That the reſidue of men might ſeeke after the Lord, and all the Gentiles vpon whom my name is called, ſayeth the Lorde, which doth all theſe things.

18 Knowen vnto God are all his workes from the beginning of the world.

19 Wherefore my ſentence is, that we trouble not them, which from among the Gentiles are turned to God:

20 But that we write vnto them, that they abſtaine themſelues from filthines of Idols, & from fornication, & from ſtrangled, and from bloud.

21 For Moſes of olde time hath in euery citie them that preach him in the ſynagogues, when he is read euery Sabboth day.

22 Then pleaſed it the Apoſtles and Elders, with the whole Church, to ſende choſen men of their owne companie to Antioche, with Paul and Barnabas: That is, Iudas, whoſe ſurname was Barſabas, and Silas, which were chiefe men among the brethren,

23 And wrote letters by them after this maner, The Apoſtles, and Elders, and brethren, ſend greeting vnto the brethren, which are of the Gentiles in Antiochia, Syria, and Cilicia.

24 For as much as we haue heard that certaine which departed from vs, haue troubled you with wordes, and cumbred your mindes, ſaying, Ye muſt be circumciſed, and keepe the law, to whom we gaue no ſuch commaundement:

25 It ſeemed therefore to vs a good thing, when we were come together with one accord, to ſende choſen men vnto you, with our beloued Barnabas and Paul,

26 Men that haue ieoparded their liues for the name of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt.

27 We haue ſent therefore Iudas and Silas, which ſhall alſo tel you the ſame things by mouth.

28 For it hath seemed good ‖ to the holy Ghost and to vs, to lay no further burden vpon you then these necessarie things:

29 That you abstaine from the things immolated to Idols, and bloud, and that which is strangled, and fornication, from the which things keeping your selues, you shal doe well. Fare ye wel.

30 They therfore being dimissed went downe to Antioche: and gathering the multitude, deliuered the epistle.

31 Which when they had read, they ‖ reioyced vpon the consolation:

32 But Iudas and Silas, them Selues also being prophets, with many wordes comforted the brethren, and confirmed them.

33 And hauing spent some time there, they were with peace dimissed of the brethren vnto them that had sent them.

34 But it seemed good vnto Silas to remaine there: and Iudas departed alone:

35 And Paul and Barnabas taried at Antioche, teaching and euangelizing with many others the word of our Lord.

36 And after certaine daies, Paul said to Barnabas, Let vs returne and ‡ visite our brethren in al cities wherein we * haue preached the word of our Lord, how they doe.

Act.13,14.

37 And Barnabas would haue taken with them Iohn also that was surnamed Marke.

38 But Paul desired that he (as who * had departed from them out of Pamphylia, and had not gone with them to the worke) might not be receiued.

Act.13,13.

39 And there rose a ‖ dissention, so that they departed one from an other, and that Barnabas in deede taking Marke sailed to Cypres.

40 But Paul chosing Silas departed, being deliuered of the brethren to the grace of God.

41 And he walked through Syria and Cilicia, confirming the Churches: ‡ commaunding them to keepe the præcepts of the Apostles and the Auncients.

28 For it seemed good to the holy Ghost and to vs, to lay vpon you no greater burden then these necessarie things.

29 That is to say, That ye abstaine from things offered to idoles, and from bloud, and from strangled, and from fornication: from which if ye keepe your selues, ye shall doe well. So fare ye well.

30 Nowe therefore, when they were departed, they came to Antioch: and when they had gathered the multitude together, they deliuered the Epistle.

31 Which when they had read, they reioyced of the consolation.

32 And Iudas and Silas, being Prophets also them selues, exhorted the brethren with many wordes, and strengthened them:

33 And after they had tarried there a space, they were let goe in peace of the brethren vnto the Apostles.

34 Notwithstanding, it pleased Silas to abide there still.

35 Paul also and Barnabas continued in Antioch, teaching and preaching the word of the Lord, with other many also.

36 But after a certaine space, Paul said vnto Barnabas, Let vs goe againe and visite our brethren in euery citie where we haue vttered the word of the Lorde, and knowe and see how they doe.

37 And Barnabas gaue counsel to take with them Iohn, whose surname was Marke.

38 But Paul would not take him vnto their company, which departed from them from Pamphylia, and went not with them to the worke.

39 And the contention was so sharpe betweene them, that they departed asunder one from the other: and so Barnabas tooke Marke, and sailed vnto Cypres.

40 And Paul chose Silas, and departed, being committed of the brethren vnto the grace of God.

41 And he went thorowe Syria and Cilicia, stablishing the Churches.

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. XV.

Rhem.2. 36. Visite our brethren.) Hereof our Catholike Bishops tooke vp the necessarie vse of often visiting their flockes and cures committed to their charge, for confirmation in faith and vertue, and reformation of maners both of clergie and laitie.

Fulke 2. It is to be feared, and it hath bene often complained of, among Papistes themselues, that Popish Bishops haue visited oftener for a fleece, then for the benefite of their flocke. And when their meaning was best, they were farre from the doctrine, and therefore from the example of the Apostles. Popish visitations.

Rhem.3. 41. ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. XV.

1. Appointed.) We learne by this example, what is to be done when any controuerſie ariſeth in religion betweene the teachers or other Chriſtian people. We ſee it is not ynough to contend by allegations of Scriptures or other proofes ſeeming to make for either part: for ſo of contentious part taking there ſhould be no ende, but the more writing, wreſtling, ſtriuing there were, euery one for his owne fancie, cloking it with the title of Gods word and Scripture, the more Schiſmes, Sectes, and diuiſions would fall as we ſee ſpecially in the reſtles Hereſies of our time. Whoſe fautors admitting no iudges, ſtand to no tryall of mortall men, to no tribunall of Pope, Councels, Biſhops, Synodes, but echo man to his owne phantaſticall ſpirite, his owne ſenſe of Scriptures, and his owne wilful obdurate rebellion againſt Gods Church and his Superiors in the ſame. But here we ſee S. Paul and Barnabas, men that were Apoſtles and full of the ſpirit of God, and the other parties, though neuer ſo much partiall to the ceremonies of their Law by their former long vſe and education therein, yet not to ſtand ſtifly to their owne opinion on either ſide, but to condeſcend to referre the whole controuerſie and the determination thereof to the Apoſtles, Prieſtes, or Auncients of Hieruſalem, that is to ſay, to commit the matter to be tryed by the heads and Biſhops and their determination in Councel. This is Gods holy and wiſe prouidence among other iudgements in his Church, to keepe the Chriſtian people in truth and vnitie, and to condemne ſectes and falſe teachers and troublers of the Church. By which iudgements and order, whoſoeuer will not or dare not be tryed in all their doctrine and doings, they ſhewe them ſelues to miſtruſt their owne cauſe, and to flee from the light and ordinance of God. Without which order of appeaſing all differences in faith and conſtructions of the Scriptures, the Church had beene more deſectuall and inſufficient, then any Common wealth or Societie of men in the worlde: none of which euer wanteth good meanes to decide all diſorders and diſſenſions ariſing among the ſubiects and citizens of the ſame. The way to end diſſenſion in religion, is to commit it to a Councel.

Fulke. 4.

We acknowledge there is great vſe of godly Councels both generall and prouinciall, for deciding of controuerſies by the Scriptures, and we doe willingly ſubmit our ſelues to be ordered by them, ſo that all controuerſies may be determined as this was, by the worde of God written. But that the Pope and his Clergie, who are the parties accuſed by vs of Hereſie, ſhould be the onely iudges, it is againſt all equitie and reaſon. Not we therefore, but the Pope and the papiſts, refuſe the tryall by a generall and free Councell, to be gathered of the chiefe learned Biſhops and paſtors out of all Chriſtendome, if it might be, or of a free nationall Councell out of all Europe, which hath often bene required of vs, but neuer yeelded vnto by the papiſts, who will be the onely iudges in their owne cauſe, as in their late Chapter of Trent, or els they will acknowledge no Councell. Councels. The Pope is no competent iudge.

Rhem. 5.

6. Apoſtles and Auncients.) The Hereſies of our Proteſtants which would haue all men to giue voyce, or to be preſent in Councels, and of others that would haue none but the holy or elect to be admitted, are refuted by this example, where we ſee none but Apoſtles, and Prieſtes, or Auncients aſſembled to diſpute of the matter, though many deuoute people were in the citie the ſame time. Neither did euer any other in the Auncient Councels of the Church aſſemble to debate and define the matter, but ſuch, though many other for other cauſes be euer preſent. Secular men or women, be their gifts neuer ſo great, cannot be iudges in cauſes of faith and religion. If any thing, ſayth God, be hard and doubtfull, thou ſhalt come to the prieſtes of the Leuiticall ſtocke, and thou ſhalt folowe their ſentence. Againe, The lippes of the prieſt ſhall keepe knowledge, and the Lawe thou ſhalt require of his mouth. Againe, Aske the Lawe of the Prieſt. Much more muſt we referre all to our Biſhops and Paſtors, whom God hath placed in the regiment of the Church with much larger priuiledge, then euer he did the olde prieſtes ouer the Synagogue. to whom it is ſaid, He that deſpiſeth you, deſpiſeth me. And it is to be noted that the Biſhops ſo gathered in Councel, repreſent the whole Church, haue the auctoritie of the whole Church, and the Spirit of God to protect them from error, as the whole Church: SS. Paul and Barnabas come hither for the definition of the whole Church. The ſentence of a plenarie or generall Counſell (ſaith S. Auguſtine) is the conſent of the whole Church. And ſo it muſt needes be in the Church, becauſe the Magiſtrates, Senate, Councell or deputies of all common-wealthes, repreſent the whole body: and to haue it otherwiſe (as the Churches Rebels wiſh) were to bring all to hell and horrour, and them ſelues to be perpetually, by the ſeditious and popular perſons, vpholden againſt Lawe, reaſon, and religion, in their wickednes. Of what perſons a Councel conſiſteth. Deut. 17. Mal. 2. 7. Agge. 2, 11. Luk. 10. 16. li. 1. c. 18. de bapt. A generall Councell repreſenteth the whole Church.

Fulke. 5.

You ſclander vs, in ſaying we would haue all men to giue voyce in a Councell, or that none but the holy or elect, ſhould be admitted. That all men ſhould be preſent at a generall or prouinciall Councell, it is impoſſible, yet more may be preſent, then doe debate ỹ matter, as it appeareth by the text, ỹ the whole Church gaue their conſent to the decree, and ioyned in the Epiſtle, though your vulgar interpreter omit the coniunction. Alſo, more may debate the matter, then are meete to define it. And ſo were auncient Councels celebrated in preſence of the Emperours, and many other of the people. Yea it is memorable, that in the Councell of Nice, a learned Philoſopher that troubled all the Biſhops, was confuted and conuerted by a ſimple godly lay man. Ruffin. lib. 1. cap. 3. hiſt. tripar. lib. 2. cap. 31. Finally, we would not haue any Heretike excluded, but that he may alledge what he can in defenſe of his errours, that he may be eyther conuerted or confounded by the power of truth, reuey led out of the holy Scriptures, as it appeareth in this example. But the Hereſie of the papiſtes is refuted, that alloweth none to giue voyces but Biſhops, and them of their owne ſect, whereas it is manifeſt by the text, and your owne interpretation, that the Elders or prieſtes, concurred with the Apoſtles, not onely to conſider of the matter, but alſo in determining thereof. But albeit the miniſters of the Church ſo gathered together, repreſent the whole Church, yet haue they not the promiſe of Gods Spirit to direct them, but ſo farre fourth as they doe humbly ſubmit them ſelues to his worde, which if the greater part refuſe to doe, they may erre, as many Councels haue done, both generall and prouinciall. The papiſtes them ſelues doe not admit the decree of the Chalcedon Councell, which was againſt the ſupremacie of ỹ Biſhop of Rome: yet all the Councell agreed vnto it, except the Biſhop of Romes legates. And the ſame decree was made in the firſt generall Councell of Conſtantinople, when neither the Biſhop of Rome, nor any man for him did gainſay it. Conſtant. 1. cap. 2. Chalcedon. Action. 16. The ſecond Councell of Nice agreed that Angels and mens ſoules, are bodily, and circumſcriptible, Act. 5. which the papiſts them ſelues cannot deny to be an error. Neither did S. Paul come to the Councel for the definitiõ of the Church, as though he doubted of ỹ matter. For before this time, Slander. Councels may erre.

he had openly reprehended Peter & Barnabas, erring and diſſembling in this queſtion. Gal.2.11.&c. Paul and Barnabas came therefore to ſeeke the definition of the whole Church, for ſatisfaction of them that were troubled with that doubt in Antioch, and not for their owne reſolution.

Rhem. 6. Aſſembled.) A Councell was called to diſcuſſe the matter, which Councel was the more eaſily gathered, becauſe the Chriſtian Biſhops and countries were not yet ſo many, but that the principall Gouernours of the Church being not farre diſperſed, and as many learned men as were neceſſarie, might be in Hieruſalem, or eaſily called thither. And it was not a Prouincial Councel or Synode onely, but a generall Councel, conſiſting of the cheefe Apoſtles and Biſhops that then were, though the number was nothing ſo great as afterward vſed to aſſemble, when the Church was ſpred into al nations.

The firſt Coſcell at Hieruſalem.

Rhem.6. 7. Peter ryſing vp.) S. Peter as the head of the Church ſpeaketh firſt, as his Succeſſors haue euer bid, not onely in their perſonal preſence, but in their abſence by their legates and ſubſtitutes, the cheefe voyce in al Councels general, none euer receiued into authoritie and credite in the Church without their Confirmation. And therefore the Councels of the Arians and of other Heretikes, were they neuer ſo great, wanting the Popes aſſent, aſſiſtance, or Confirmation, did ſhamefully erre, as Ariminenſe for the Arians, and Epheſinum ſecundum for the Neſtorians, and ſuch like condemned Aſſemblies.

Peter head of the Councel, and his ſucceſſors after him.

Fulke.6. S. Peter ſpeaketh not firſt, for there was great debating before he ſpake. Neither was his ſucceſſors, or their ſubſtitutes, preſidents in any of the foure firſt general Councels, that were after ỹ Apoſtles times. For of Nice was preſident and principall auctor of the Canons, Alexander Biſhop of Conſtantinople, of Conſtantinople Nectarius Biſhop of the ſame See, of Epheſine Cyrillus of Alexandria, of Chalcedon Anatolius of Conſtantinople. Iſidorus in præfat. con. tom. 1. Yet Euſebius ſayth, that Euſtathius B. of Antioch, was preſident at Nice. Ioannes Antiochen. Patriarch. epiſt. ſuo in Concil. Baſil ſayth, In plurib. antiquis conciliis &c. In many auncient Councels, the Pope was not preſident, as appeareth in thoſe, in which the Biſhops of Rome did not make the definitions, but the counſel, ſaying, it hath pleaſed the councel. And of this counſel he ſaith. Conciliorum &c. The counſel of the Apoſtles, Acte 15. S. Peter alone did not cal together, but the 12 Apoſtles: neither did Peter pronounce the ſentence, but Iames, & they ordeined the decretal epiſtle, not in the name of Peter, but of the Apoſtles and Elders. And where you ſay, that no councel was euer receiued into auctoritie and credit, without the Biſhop of Romes confirmation, it is falſe. For the councels of Mileuit and African, that decreed againſt the Biſhop of Romes auctoritie, were receiued into auctoritie and credit in the Church. So was the Councel of Chalcedon euen in that point of the Biſhop of Romes primacie, wherein it was not confirmed by the Biſhop of Rome, obteyned auctoritie and credit in the Church as teſtifieth Liberatus, Cap. 13. beſide many prouincial Councels, whereunto the B. of Romes conſent was neuer required. And the Councels of Arrians and other Heretikes, did not therefore erre, becauſe they wanted the Popes aſſent, aſſiſtance or confirmation, but becauſe they determined contrary to the trueth expreſſed and conteyned in the holy Scriptures. As thoſe Councels which hauing the Biſhop of Romes aſſent determined truely, were not priuiledged from error by the Biſhop of Romes aſſent, but by following the worde of God: for the Biſhop of Romes aſſent, aſſiſtance or confirmation, cannot make error to be trueth. Liberius after he had ſubſcribed to hereſie, gaue his aſſent to the Councel, that Conſtantius helde at Rome, with Vrſatius and Valens, and other Arrians, wherein Fœlix a Catholike Biſhop was depriued, and he him ſelfe nowe an Heretike, or a diſſembler with Heretikes was reſtored: as teſtifieth Damaſus him ſelfe B. of Rome in Pontificali: Yet was that Councel for all his conſent and confirmation wicked, and blaſphemous. If Honorius had liued when he was condemned & accurſed in the Councel of Conſtantinople the 6. for an Heretike, would he haue giuen his aſſent, aſſiſtance or confirmation? And if he had gathered a Councel of Monothelites, ſuch as he was, would he not haue confirmed that Councel, determining againſt the Catholike faith?

De vit. Conſt.

Rhem.7. 8. Choſe that by my mouth.) Though Paul were called and appointed ſpecially to be the Apoſtle of the Gentiles, yet that was S. Peters ſpecial priuiledge by Gods owne choice, that the firſt Gentiles ſhould be called by his mouth, and that he firſt ſhoul vtter to the Church that trueth of the admiſſion of the Gentiles, him ſelfe, for that he was Chriſtes Vicar, being notwithſtanding (as his Maſter was) Miniſter Circumciſionis, that is, Apoſtle of the Iewes, Chriſt deferring al preeminence vnto him in that point alſo.

Peters preeminence both toward Iewes and Gentiles.

Ro 15,8. Gal.2,7.

Fulke.7. The text ſayth not, that the firſt Gentiles were called by S. Peters mouth: and the Scripture is euident to the contrary. S. Paul was ſent to the Gentiles, euen at his conuerſion Act. 26.17. Neither did he ſlacke the time, but immediatly preached in Arabia, and ſaw not Peter vntil three yeeres after. Al which time, it is not like that he neglected his calling. Beſide your owne vulgar tranſlation ſayth expreſly, that he ſpake to the Gentiles, and diſputed with the Greekes cap. 9.29. before Peter was ſent to Cornelius. Therefore it ſeemeth that the aduerbe πρῶτον in the ſpeach of S. Iames, is not referred to the time of the conuerſion of Cornelius, but to the order of S. Peters ſpeach, which was firſt of Gods viſitation of the Gentiles in calling them to be his people: which S. Iames confirmeth by auctoritie of Scripture, and then concludeth as Peter did. Therefore you can proue no preheminence in this point graunted to Peter.

Peters preeminence.

Rhem.8. 13. Iames.) S. Iames becauſe he was an Apoſtle and alſo Biſhop of Hieruſalem gaue his ſentence next. for the ſpeach interpoſed of SS. Paul and Barnabas, was but for their better information in the deciſion of the matter, and for confirmation of S. Peters ſentence, though they being Apoſtles, and Biſhops, had voyces in the Councel alſo: as many moe had, though their ſentences be not here reported. And where S. Iames in his ſpeach ſaith, I iudge, it is not meant that he gaue the principall definitiue ſentence: for he (as all the reſt) folowed and allowed the ſentence of S. Peter, as it is plaine in the text, the whole aſſembly for reuerence of his perſon and approbation of his ſentence, holding their peace. All the multitude (ſaith S. Hierome) held their peace, and into his ſentence Iames the Apoſtle and all the Prieſts did paſſe together. For though S. Iames did particulariſe certaine points incident to the queſtion debated, as of eating ſtrangled meates &c. yet the proper controuerſie for which the Councel aſſembled, was, Whether the Gentiles conuerted were bound to obſerue the Lawe of Moyſes, and it was concluded, that they were not bound, nor ought not to be charged with Moyſes Lawe or the Sacraments and ceremonies of the ſame, this is the ſubſtance and principall purpoſe of this Councels decree, which doth bind for euer: and Peter (ſaith S. Hierom in the ſame place) was Prince or author of this decree. the matter of fornication and Idolothytes being but incident to the queſtion or reſolution, and the forbidding of eating ſtrangled and blood, but a temporal prohibition, which by the conſent of the Church or otherwiſe afterward was abrogated, the Church of God hauing the true ſenſe of difference of times, places, and perſons, when and howe far ſuch things are to be obſerued, and when not. And in ſuch things as theſe, and in other other like which according to circumſtances require alteration, it is, that S. Auguſtine ſayth, lib.2 de bapt.cap.3 tom.7. The former generall or plenarie Councels may be amended by the latter.

Fulke.8. Your whole drift in this place, is to deny the primacie of order vnto Iames, whom all antiquitie except Hierome, allowed to be the principall perſon in this Councel, as he was at this time, the Biſhop or chiefe ouerſeer of ỹ Church at Ieruſalem, and therefore is named before Peter by Paul, Gal.2.9. Clemens diſpoſition li.6. cited by Euſebius, tranſlatione Ruffini ſaith, that Iames was conſtituted Biſhop of the Apoſtles. Chryſoſtom vpon this place ſaith. Et vide poſt Petrum Paulus loquitur &c. And ſee that after Peter Paul doth ſpeake, & no man ſtoppeth his mouth, Iames heareth it, and doth not goe backe, ſo him was the principalitie or chiefe place committed. Againe he ſaith of Iames. Ab initio quidem &c. At the beginning truely, Peter ſpake more vehemently, but this man more mildly. So they muſt alwayes doe that are in great auctoritie, that they permit things burdenous to other men, and they themſelues deale more gently, in Act. Hom.33. Thus you ſee he aſcribeth plainely the chiefe place and power to Iames. Hierome in deede defending S. Peters ſimulation againſt S. Paul, endeuoureth to proue out of this place, that Peter was not ignorant of the trueth, whereof he had been a principal ſetter forth in the Councel. But the matter is ſo euident by the circumſtances of the text, and the iudgement of ancient writers, that the auctor Opuſculi tripartiti cap.tom.2. cap.9. ſaith, that when Iames gaue ſentence, it was not yet fully ordeyned concerning the preheminence of Peter aboue the reſt of the Apoſtles, and of the fulnes of his power aboue all Churches. Finally, where S. Auguſtine ſaith, that the former generall Councels may be amended or corrected by the latter, he ſpeaketh not of alteration in matters of indifferencie, for then he would not haue vſed the worde amending or correcting, but ſome other word, that ſignifyeth altering or changing: for amending & correcting, is of errors, and ſo ỹ wordes going before and after, doe make manifeſt that he meaneth. For before he ſaith, that only the Canonical ſcriptures haue ſoueraigne auctoritie, ſo that it is not lawfull to doubt, whether any thing written in them be true or right, but that al later writings of Biſhops may be lawfully reprehended, eyther by other learned writings, or by Councels, if they haue erred from trueth, and that prouincial Councels muſt giue place to general Councels, and that the former general Councels may be corrected by the latter, Cum aliquo experimento &c. When by any tryall of matters, that is opened which before was ſhut, and that is knowen which before was hidden: ſo that he ſpeaketh manifeſtly of correction of errors, not alteration of things indifferent, writing againſt ỹ Donatiſtes, that maintayned the auctoritie of the Councel of Carthage, holden by S. Cyprian againſt the trueth.

Iames preſident of the Councell.

Councels may erre.

Rhem.9. 20. Fornication.) Fornication and contamination with Idoles, are of them ſelues mortall ſinnes, and therefore can neuer be lawfull: yet becauſe the Gentiles by cuſtome were prone to both, and of fornication made very ſmall account, it pleaſed the Holy Ghoſt to forbid both ſpecially. Concerning the other points of abſteyning from blood and ſtiffled meates, they were things of their owne nature indifferent, in which for a time the Iewes were to be borne withall, and the Gentiles to be a litle exerciſed to obedience. By which we may ſee the great authoritie of Gods Church & Councels, which may command for euer, or for a time, ſuch things as be fitte for the ſtate of times and nations, without any expreſſe Scriptures at al, and ſo by commandements make things neceſſarie that were before indifferent.

The Churches authoritie in making Decrees.

Fulke.9. The Church hath no auctoritie to command any thing neceſſarie to ſaluation, but that which may be proued vndoubtedly out of the holy Scripture: otherwiſe in matters of indifferencie, we yeeld to your obſeruation. To abſteine from blood and ſtrangled, was not neceſſarie to ſaluation, but for charitie to beare with the weakenes of the Iewes for a ſeaſon.

The auctoritie of the Church and of the Scriptures.

Rhem. 24 Going forth from vs.) A proper deſcription or note of Heretikes, Schiſmatikes, and ſeditious teachers, to goe out from their ſpirituall Paſtors and Gouernours, and to teach without their commiſſion and approbation, to diſquiet the Catholike people with multitude of wordes and ſweete ſpeaches, and finally to ouerthrowe their ſoules.

Going out, a marke of heretikes.

Rhem.10 28. To the Holy Ghoſt and to vs.) By this firſt we note, that it is not ſuch a fault as the Heretikes would make it in the ſight of the ſimple, or any incongruitie as all, to ioyne God and his creatures, as the principall cauſe and the ſecondarie, in one ſpeache, and to attribute that to both, which though diuerſely, yet proceedeth of both. God and you, ſay good people commonly: God and our Lady, Chriſt and S. Secondly we note, that the holy Councels lawfully kept for determination or cleering of doubtes, or condemning of errours and Hereſies, or appeaſing of Schiſmes and troubles, or reformation of life, and ſuch like important matters, haue euer the aſſiſtance of Gods ſpirit, and therefore cannot erre in their ſentences and determinations concerning the ſame, becauſe the Holy Ghoſt cannot erre, from whom (as you ſee here) ioyntly with the Councel the reſolution proceedeth.

The holy Ghoſt aſſiſtant in all lawfull Councels, to the worlds end, and that by Chriſts promiſe. Io.16,13.

Thirdly we learne, that in the holy Councels ſpecially (though otherwiſe and in other Tribunals of the Church it be alſo verified) Chriſtes promiſe is fulfilled, * that the Holy Ghoſt ſhould ſuggeſt them and teache them all trueth, and that not in the Apoſtles time onely, but to the worldes ende. for ſo long ſhall Councels, the Church, and her Paſtors haue this priuiledge of Gods aſſiſtance, as there be either doubtes to reſolue, or Heretikes to condemne, or trueths to be opened, or euill men to be reformed, or Schiſmes to be appeaſed. for which cauſe S. Gregorie li.1.ep.24. ſub fin. reuerenceth the foure generall Councels (Nicen Conſtantinop. Epheſ. Chalced.) as the foure bookes of the holy Goſpel, alluding to the number: and of the fifth alſo he ſaith that he doth reuerence it alike: and ſo would he haue done moſt, if they had been before his time, who ſayth of them thus, Whiles they are concluded and made by vniuerſall conſent, him ſelfe doth he deſtroy, and not them, whoſoeuer preſumeth eyther to looſe whom they binde, or to bind whom they looſe.

S. Gregorie li.1.ep.24. reuerenceth the foure generall Councels.

S. Gregorie therefore reuerencing all fiue alike, it may be maruailed whence the Heretikes haue their fonde difference betwixt thoſe foure firſt and other Latter: attributing much to them, and nothing to the reſt. Whereas in deede the latter can erre no more then the firſt foure, being holden and approued as they were, and hauing the Holy Ghoſt as they had. But in thoſe firſt alſo when a man findeth any thing againſt their Hereſies (as there be diuers things) then they ſay plainely that they alſo may erre, and that the Holy Ghoſt is not tyed to mens voyces, nor to the number of ſentences: Which is directly to represse this first Councell also of the Apostles, and Christes promes of the Holy Ghosts assistance to teach al truth. Yea that you may knowe and abhorre these Heretikes throughly, heare yee what a principall Self-master with his blasphemous mouth or penne vttereth, saying, that In the very best times such was partly the ambition of Bishops, partly their fooliishnes & ignorance, that the very blind may easly perceiue, Satan verily to haue beene president of their assemblies. Good Lord deliuer the people and the world from such blasphemous tongues and bookes, and giue men grace to attend to the holy Scriptures and Doctors, that they may see how much, not only S. Augustine & other fathers attribute to all generall Councels specially, (to which they referre them selues in all doubtes among them selues and in al their controuersies with Heretikes:) but to which euen S. Paul him selfe (so specially taught by God) and others also yeelded them selues. Notorious is the saying of S. Augustine concerning S. Cyprian, who being a blessed Catholike Bishop and Martyr, yet erred about the rebaptizing of such as were Christened by Heretikes. If he had liued (sayth S. Augustine li. 2. de bapt. cap. 4. to haue seene ỹ determination of a plenarie Councell, which he saw not in his life time, he would for his great humilitie and charitie straight way haue yeelded, and preferred the generall Councel before his owne iudgement and his fellowe Bishops in a Prouincial Councell onely Whereby also we learne, that Prouincial Councels may erre, through many times they doe not, and being conformable to the generall Councels, or confirmed and allowed by them or the See Apostolike, their resolutions be infallible as the others are.

What the Fathers attribute to Councels, and namely S. Augustine.

Prouincial Councels.

If any here aske what neede so much disputing, study, and trauail in Councels to finde out and determine the truth, if the Holy Ghost infallibly guide them? We answere that such is the ordinarie prouidence of God in this case, to assist them when they doe their endeuour, and vse all humane meanes of industrie, and not els. And so (though somewhat otherwise) God assisted the Euangelistes and other writers of the holy Scriptures, that they could not erre in penning the same, but yet they did and ought to vse all possible humane diligence to knowe and learne out the histories and truth of matters, as is plaine in the beginning of S. Lukes Gospel: els the Holy Ghost would not haue assisted them. Euen so in this Councel of the Apostles, though they had the Holy Ghost assistant, Yet the text sayth, cum magna conquisitio fieret, When there was great disputation, search and examination of the case, then Peter spake &c. If againe it be demaunded, what neede is there to expect the Councels determination, if the Popes or See Apostolikes iudgement be infallible and haue the assistance of God also, as the Catholikes affirme? Wee answere, that for the Catholike and peaceable obedient children of the Church it is a comfort to haue such various meanes of determination, triall, and declaration of the truth, and that it is necessarie for the recouerie of Heretikes, and for the contentation of the weake, who not alwayes giuing ouer to one mans determination, yet will either yeelde to the iudgement of all the learned men and Bishops of all Nations, or els remaine desperate and condemned before God and man for euer. And as I saide before, this assistance of the Holy Ghost promised to Peters See, presupposeth humane meanes of searching out the truth, which the Pope alwayes hath vsed, and will, and must vse in matters of great importance, by calling Councels, euen as here you see SS. Peter and Paul them selues and all the Apostles, though indued with the Holy Ghost, yet thought it notwithstanding necessarie for further tryall and clearing of trueth and maintenance of vnitie, to keepe a Councell.

Notwithstanding the Holy Ghosts assistance, yet humane meanes must be vsed to search the truth. Luke. 1.

Though the See Apostolike it self haue the same assistance, yet Councels be also necessarie for many causes.

Lastly it is to be noted, that as Christ and the Holy Ghost be present by his promes, to all such assemblies as gather in the obedience and vnitie of the Church, with full minde to obey what soeuer shall be determined, whereby the assembled though of diuers iudgements before, doe most peaceably yeelde to trueth, and agree in one vniforme determination of the same: so all such as gather out of the Church, without humilitie or intention to yeelde one to an other, or to any Superior, man or Counsell, or what els so euer, but chalange to them selues learning, spirit, and we cannot tell what: such, howe many meetings so euer they make, being destitute of the Holy Ghost the author of trueth and concord, are further of and further out, then euer before: as God hath shewed by the successe of al Heretical Colloquies, Synodes, and Assemblies in Germanie, France, Poole, and other places in our dayes. Reade a notable place in S. Cyprian, that the promes of Christ, that he would be in the middes of two or three gathered in his name, pertaineth not to them that assemble out of the Church.

Hereticall or Schismaticall assemblies.

de unit. Ec. nu. 7.

Falke. 10 When any of Gods creatures, are by him appointed to be inferiour causes or ministers vnder him, it is no fault to ioyne them: as the sworde of the Lorde, and of Gedeon. But where God hath not appointed his creatures to be ioyned with him in cause, there it is blasphemous to match them w̄ him in effect: as when you say, God & our Lady hath holpen me, thankes to God and our Lady, our Lord and his saincts be praysed, &c. These speaches are neither scriptures, nor scripture like, nor warranted by this Councell. Neither hath this Councell giuen the forme of the speach here vsed to al other Councels, howe lawfully soeuer called and confirmed with the B. of Romes assent, except their determination may be warranted as this was by the holy Scriptures. Cyprian with the fathers of Africa, doe declare vnto Cornelius Bishop of Rome, vpon what auctoritie of scriptures, their determination was grounded, and are bold to say. It hath pleased vs by the suggestion of the holy Ghost, before their Councell receiued confirmation of the Bishop of Rome, yea before he once heard of it. Neither doe they in that Epistle, require his assent, but onely report what they had done, and for what causes, and vpon what ground.

God and our Lady, &c.

Secondly you note, that holy Councels haue euer the assistance of Gods spirite, and therefore cannot erre, where you play the Sophisters kindly: for if it be proued, that any doe erre in that point, they are not holy. But if by holy Councels you meane lawfull Councels, as you say in the margent, or as you seeme to explane holy Councels, such as are lawfully kept for determination or clearing of doubtes, &c. there is no doubt but they may erre, if they followe not the direction of Gods worde, against which, in vaine they may boast of the direction of Gods spirit. S. Cyprian, and all the Bishops of Africa, gathered a Councell as lawfull as any they did before, no doubt but of good intent for determination and clearing of a doubt that was mooued among them, whether such as came from Heresies, were to be baptized againe: and with a purpose to condemne errours, and Heresies, and to appease schisme and troubles: yet did they erre in their sentence and determination, concerning the same doubt, and all through ignorance of the scriptures, and not of any peruerse or hereticall affection. Whereupon S. Augustine is before declared, doubteth not to affirme that al men & all Councels, both prouincial & generall may erre, and that the certaintie of trueth is to be found onely in the Canonicall scriptures. Quis autem nescit (sayth he) sanctam scripturam canonicam, &c. And who can be ignorant, that the holy Canonical scripture, aswell of the olde, as of the new testament, is conteyned within her certeyne limites, and that it is so preferred before all later writings of Bishops, that it cannot in any wyse be doubted or disputed of it, whether it be true, or whether it be right, whatſoeuer,it is certaine to be written in it: But that the writings of biſhops which haue bene written, or which are now written after the Canon is confirmed,may be lawfully reprehended, both by the more wiſe ſpeach, perhaps of any man that is more skilfull in that matter,and alſo by the more graue auctoritie, and more learned prudence of other biſhops,and by Councels, if any thing in them perhaps haue ſtrayed from the trueth. And euen Councels themſelues,which are gathered in euery region or prouince,(without all doubt) muſt giue place to the auctoritie of generall Councels, which are gathered out of all the Chriſtian world: And that oftentimes the former generall Councels themſelues,may be corrected by the later, when by any triall of matters,that is opened which was ſhut,and that is knowen which was hidden,without any ſwelling of ſacrilegious pride, without any ſtifnecke of puffing arrogans, without any contention of couered enuie, with holy humilitie, with Catholike peace,with Chriſtian charitie. Concerning your thirde obſeruation, there is no doubt but Chriſts promiſe ſhalbe performed vnto the ende,but the priuiledge of Gods aſſiſtance,perteineth only to them which folowe the direction of his holy word in councels or other ſentences of the Church. For the ſpirit of God muſt not be ſacrilegiouſly ſeparated from the word of God. Therefore the determination of the foure generall Councels is to be reuerenced as the foure Goſpels,becauſe it was taken out of the foure Goſpels,which teach the trueth of the diuinitie and humanitie of Chriſt,and of the diuinitie of the holy Ghoſt: not becauſe it was ſo agreed by auctoritie of ſo many biſhops gathered in thoſe Councels. Neither doe we make any ſuch fonde difference of the Councels as you dreame of,but receiue the fift and ſixt,as wel as the firſt foure,for the matters of faith and doctrine concluded in them,agreeable to the holy Scriptures: and further we receiue none. You ſay there be diuers things in the firſt 4. Councels that you finde againſt our hereſies, yet are you able to ſhewe none. But we ſhew againſt you the 6.Canon of Nice Councel,declaring the biſhop of Alexandria to be equal to the biſhop of Rome,and generally euery Metropolitane in his prouince. We ſhew the 27. Canon of Chalcedon,wherein is declared the determination aſwel of that Councel,as of the firſt of Cõſtantinople, that the See of Conſtantinople,ſhould haue equal priuiledges of dignitie and auctoritie with the See of Rome. We ſhew the words of the Councel of Epheſius in their Epiſtle to Neſtorius that Peter and Iohn were of equal dignitie becauſe they were both Apoſtles and holy diſciples: By which words,the ſupremacie of the Pope pretended frõ Peter is ouerthrowen. So we ſhew the 4.firſt generall Councels,all againſt the Popes ſupremacie. Likewiſe the 5.confirming all that was decreed in the 4.and the 6.of Cõſtantinople *Can.36.*we ſhew,confirming the equalitie of priuiledges of the biſhop of Conſtantinople with the biſhop of Rome,according to the former determinations of the Councels of Conſtantinople the firſt,and of Chalcedon. When we ſay that Councels may erre; and that the holy Ghoſt is not tyed to the voyces of men, nor to the nomber of ſentences, you affirme, that it is directly to reproue this firſt Councel alſo of the Apoſtles, and Chriſts promiſe of the holy Ghoſt. But by what Logike you gather this concluſion,we cannot perceiue, except it be this: Councels may erre,ergo this Councel of the Apoſtles did erre. Or els thus, Chriſt promiſed the holy Ghoſt, ergo he tyed the holy Ghoſt to the voyces of men, or to the nomber of mens ſentences. If theſe be good concluſions,I referre me to all that haue but one crumme of right reaſon, or natural Logike. That you report of Beza is a moſt deteſtable ſlander, for he ſpeaketh not a word againſt the firſt general Councels,but againſt the aſſemblies of proude and vnlearned light headed biſhops of Greece, which liued in thoſe beſt times,whereof it is manifeſt by the Church ſtories, that many of them were hereticall and blaſphemous,hauing not the holy Ghoſt,but the deuil himſelfe to be Preſident of their meetings. This Logike is like the former: Beza ſaith,there were wicked biſhops in the beſt times,ergo he blaſphemeth againſt the firſt general Councels. The father of lyes and ſlanderer of the Saincts, will welcome you for this Logike,except you repent in time. What Auguſtine aſcribeth to general Councels,you heard before his owne words: how he acknowledgeth that they may erre,becauſe they may be amended or corrected,that ſome thing may be ſhutte vp and hidden from them,which afterward may be opened and knowen.

Slander.

Slander.

The ende of Councels is to ſearch out the trueth, and therefore you ſay well, they muſt not preſume of the holy Ghoſt,if they neglect ordinary meanes to come to the knowledge of the trueth,and much leſſe if they be not directed by the word of God, which is the rule of trueth, and trueth it ſelfe, as our Sauiour Chriſt ſaith in his prayer,Sanctifie them in thy trueth,thy word is the trueth.Ioan.17.17. But if the Pope cannot erre, it is certaine that Councels are not neceſſary. For your firſt reaſon proueth them to be onely conuenient,your ſecond reaſon nombreth them among humane meanes of ſearching the trueth,by which it may be inferred, that ỹ Pope out of a Councel may erre. For if humane meanes of ſearching the trueth be neceſſary that the Pope doeth not erre.(as you muſt needes confeſſe) becauſe you ſay: the aſſiſtants of the holy Ghoſt promiſed to Peters See,preſuppoſeth humane meanes,and calling of Councels is an humane meane, therefore calling of Councels is neceſſary that the Pope doeth not erre.Whereby it ſeemeth you take vpon you to decide that queſtion, which though it hath hitherto bene decided by two general Councels of Conſtance and Baſil,that the Councel is aboue the Pope,which may erre out of the Councel, yet is it not agreed of among all Papiſts at this time. For the more part hold,and ſo doe you elſewhere, that the Pope is aboue the Councel,and that the Councel may erre,if it be not confirmed by the Pope. Yet the Councel of Conſtance was confirmed in that point by Iohn 23. before his reſignation, *Seſſ.*12.and in the ende thereof, all things concluded in that Councel. Conciliariter,that is,as in forme of a Councel, were confirmed by Pope Martine the 5. *Seſſ.*45. That Chriſt is not preſent with heretikes and ſchiſmatikes,it is out of doubt: but ſeeing in many of the Synods, and Councels holden in Germanie,France,Poole,England and other places, the trueth hath bene concluded out of the holy Scriptures,it is certaine that Chriſt was preſent in thoſe aſſemblies by his holy Spirit, and that in ſuch things as they haue determined according to the word of God,they are not to be reputed for heretikes or ſchiſmatikes,but for true Chriſtian Catholikes.

Rhem. 11 31. Reioyced vpon the conſolation.) Straight vpon the intelligence of the Councels determination, not only the Gentiles,but euen the Maiſters of the former troubles and diſſenſion, were at reſt,and al tooke great comfort that the controuerſie was ſo ended. And ſo ſhould al Chriſtian men doe,when they ſee the ſectes of our time condemned by the like auctoritie and moſt graue iudgement of the holy Councel of Trent. Againſt which the Heretikes of our time make the like friuolous exceptions and falſe cauillations,as did the old Heretikes heretofore againſt thoſe Councels that ſpecially condemned their errors.

Al good Chriſtians reſt vpon the determination of a general Councel.

The

The Pope and Biſhops (ſay they) are a partie, and they ought not to be our iudges: they are partial and come with preiudicate mindes to condemne vs, and we accuſe them al of Idolatrie and other crimes, and we wil be tried by Gods word only, and we wil expound it according to an other rule, that is to ſay, as we liſt. So ſay they againſt this Councel, and the like ſaid the Arians againſt the firſt Nicene Councel, & al ſuch like againſt thoſe Councels namely that cõdemned their hereſies. And ſo ſay al thereues againſt their correctors and puniſhers, and would both ſay and doe more againſt temporal tribunals, Iudges, Iuſtices, and Iuries, if they had as much licence and liberte in thoſe matters, as men haue now in religion.

Al Heretikes make exceptions againſt the councels that condemne them.

Fulke 11. When the Papiſts themſelues doe not acknowledge the auctoritie of the Tridentine aſſemblie, for both the Emperour and the French king proteſted againſt it, and it is not at this day receiued of the Popiſh Church of Fraunce, there is no reaſon that we ſhould be ſubiect vnto it, although we haue many other arguments to oppoſe againſt it. And where you ſay in the Margent, that all good Chriſtians reſt vpon the determination of a generall Councell, you condemne your ſelues to be no good Chriſtians, becauſe you doe not reſt vpon the determination of the general councels of Conſtance and Baſile, in the queſtion of the Popes ſupremacie aboue the Councel. You condemne the Popiſh Church of Fraunce, which accepteth not your Tridentine chapter, for a generall Councel, in which there were ſcarſe 40. biſhops, and they for the moſt part Italians and Spaniards. That all heretikes make exceptions againſt Councels that condemne them, it proueth not all to be heretikes that are condemned by Councels. The Catholikes alſo condemned by the Councels of heretikes, tooke exceptions againſt thoſe Councels. The exceptions that we make are moſt reaſonable. For it is againſt all equitie that they which are parties, that are partial, that are accuſed, ſhould be the only iudges. Neither could the Arians iuſtly ſay ſo againſt the Nicene Councel, or other heretikes againſt the Councels that condemned them: neither can all theeues iuſtly ſay ſo againſt their puniſhers. For their iudges are neuer parties, ſeldome partiall, neuer accuſed in that offence, whereupon they ſit as iudges. That we would be tried onely by Gods word, it is true, but that we wil expound it as we liſt, it is falſe. For we wil and doe by Gods grace expound it ſufficiently to confute your hereſies, according to the plaine and natural ſenſe thereof, and in doubtfull places, according to plaine places, and according to the expoſition of the moſt ancient and beſt approued fathers of the Primitiue Church, in the moſt and chiefe of the controuerſies that are betweene you and vs.

Auctoritie of Councels.

Rhem. 12 37. Diſſenſion.) Such occaſions of differences fall out euen among the perfect men often, without any great offence. And this their departing fall out to the great increaſe of Chriſtians. And therefore it is very ridiculouſly applied to excuſe the diſagreeing of the Heretikes among themſelues in the principal pointes of religion, namely the Sacrament.

Fulke 12. It cannot be alleadged to iuſtifie any diſſention, but to ſhew that for diſſentions ſake in matters of externall policie, and diſcipline of the Church, ſpecially, as this of the Apoſtles was, the ſubſtance of the doctrine is not to be miſliked, nor the Church or teachers thereof to be vtterly reiected: it is rightly alleaged. The diſſention that is among many true Chriſtians in the Sacrament of the Supper, doth no more conuince either part to be no member of the Church, then the like diſſenſion that was betweene Cyprian and the biſhops of Aſrica, and Cornelius with the biſhops of Europe, about the Sacrament of baptiſme, doeth denie either of them to haue bene true members of the Church, and yet the one partie erred from the trueth.

Euery diſſention is not a ſchiſme.

CHAP. XVI.

Paul hauing for his part viſited the Churches of Syria, Cilicia, and Lycaonia, deliuering vnto them withal to keepe the Decrees of the Councel: 6 beginneth a new iourney, ouer Phrygia, Galatia, Myſia: 8 Yea into Europe alſo he paſſeth, admoniſhed by a viſion, and commeth into Macedonia, 12 and there he beginneth the Church of the Philippians, working miracles, and ſuffering perſecution.

‡ Here againe they take order that § decrees and articles of faith agreed vpon in § Councel of Ieruſalem, ſhould be executed and obſerued. whereby we ſee both the great auctoritie of Councels: and the diligence that al Prelates ought to haue to ſee the decrees and Canons of the Councels put in execution.

‡ This people had not § Goſpel denied vnto them altogether, but for a time: becauſe (as Venerable Bede thinketh) God foreſaw they would not beleeue, and ſo ſhould haue been more grieuouſly damned.

AND he came to Derbé and Lyſtra. And beholde, there was a certaine diſciple there named Timothee, the ſonne of * a widowe woman that beleeued, of a father a Gentile.

2 To this man the brethren that were in Lyſtra & Iconium, gaue a good teſtimonie.

3 Him Paul would haue to go forth with him: and taking him he circumciſed him becauſe of the Iewes that were in thoſe places. For they al knew that his father was a Gētile.

4 And when they paſſed through the cities, they deliuered vnto them to keepe the ‡ decrees that were decreed of the Apoſtles and Auncients which were at Hieruſalem.

5 And the Churches were confirmed in faith, and did abound in number daily.

6 And paſſing through Phrygia and the countrie of Galatia, they were ‡ forbidden by the holy Ghoſt to preach the worde in Aſia.

7 And when they were come into Myſia, they

*THen came he to Derbe, and to Lyſtra: and beholde, a certaine diſciple was there, named * Timotheus, a womans ſonne which was a Ieweſſe, and beleeued: but his father was a Greeke.* Rom.16.21. phil.1.19. 1.thef.3.1.

2 Which was well reported of the brethren that were at Lyſtra and Iconium.

3 Paul would that hee ſhould goe foorth with him, and tooke and circumciſed him, becauſe of the Iewes which were in thoſe quarters: for they knew all that his father was a Greeke.

*4 And as they went through the cities, they deliuered them the decrees for to keepe, that were ordeined of the Apoſtles and Elders which were at Hieruſalem. Acts.15.28.

5 And ſo were the Churches ſtabliſhed in the faith, and increaſed in number dayly.

6 Nowe when they had gone throughout Phrygia, and the region of Galatia, and were forbidden of the holy Ghoſt to preache the worde in Aſia.

7 They comming to Myſia, ſought to goe into they attempted to goe into Bithynia: and the Spirit of IESVS permitted them not.

8 And whē they had paſſed through Myſia, they went downe to Troas:

9 And a viſion by night was ſhewed to Paul: There was a certaine man of Macedónia ſtanding and beſeeching him, and ſaying, paſſe into Macedónia, and helpe vs.

10 And as ſoone as he had ſeen the viſion, forthwith we ſought to go into Macedónia, being aſſured that God had called vs to euangelize to them.

11 And ſailing from Troas, we came with a ſtraight courſe to Samothrácia, and the day folowing to Neapolis:

12 And from thence to Philippi, which is the firſt citie of the part of Macedonia, a ‡ Colónia. And we were in this citie certaine daies, abiding.

‡ Colonia, is ſuch a citie where the moſt inhabitants are ſtrangers, ſent thither from other great cities and States, namely from the Romanes.

13 And vpon the day of the Sabboths, we went forth without the gate beſide a riuer, where it ſeemed ỳ there was praier: and ſitting we ſpake to the women ỳ were aſſēbled.

14 And a certaine woman named Lydia, a ſeller of purple of the citie of the Thyatirians, one that worſhipped God, did heare: whoſe hart our Lorde opened to attend to thoſe things which were ſaid of Paul.

15 And when ſhe was baptized, and her houſe, ſhe beſought vs, ſaying: If you haue iudged me to be faithful to our Lord, enter in vnto my houſe, & tary. And ſhe cōſtrained vs.

16 And it came to paſſe as we went to praier, a certaine wenche hauing a Pythónical ſpirit, mette vs, that brought great gaine to her maiſters by diuíning.

17 This ſame folowing Paul and vs, cried ſaying, ‡ Theſe men are the ſeruants of the high God, which preach vnto you the way of ſaluation.

‡ Either the Diuel was cōpelled by the vertue of Pauls preſence to ſay truth, or els (as ſuch do often times) he ſpake truth now, that they might ỳ more truſt him, and he better begnile them at other times.

18 And this ſhe did many daies. And Paul being ſorie: and turning, ſaid to the ſpirit, I cōmand thee in the name of IESVS CHRIST to goe out from her. And he went out the ſame houre.

19 But her maiſters ſeeing that the hope of their gaine was gone, apprehending Paul and Silas, brought them into the market place to the Princes:

20 And preſenting them to the magiſtrates, they ſaid, Theſe men trouble our citie, being Iewes:

21 And they preach a faſhion which it is not lawfull for vs to receiue, nor doe, being Romanes.

22 And the people ranne againſt them: and into Bithynia: but the ſpirit ſuffered them not.

8 And they paſſing thorowe Myſia, came downe to Troada.

9 And a viſion appeared to Paul in the night: There ſtoode a man of Macedonia, and prayed him, ſaying, Come into Macedonia, and helpe vs.

10 And after he had ſeene the viſion, immediatly we prepared to go into Macedonia, gathering by conference, that the Lord had called vs for to preach the Goſpell vnto them.

11 Then we being caried from Troada, came with a ſtraight courſe to Samothracia, and the next day to Neapolis:

12 And from thence to Philippos, which is the chiefe citie in the parties of Macedonia, and a free citie: and we were in that citie abiding certaine dayes.

13 And on the day of the Sabboths we went out of the citie, beſides a riuer, where prayer was wont to be made, & we ſate downe, and ſpake vnto the women which reſorted thither.

14 And a certaine woman named Lydia, a ſeller of purple, of the citie of the Thyatirians, which worſhipped God, gaue vs audience: Whoſe heart the Lord opened, that ſhe attended vnto the things which were ſpoken of Paul.

15 And when ſhee was baptized, and her houſeholde, ſhee beſought vs, ſaying, If ye haue iudged mee to be faithfull to the Lorde, come into my houſe, and abide there. And ſhe conſtrained vs.

16 And it came to paſſe, as we went to prayer, a certaine damoſel poſſeſſed with a ſpirit of ſoothſaying, met vs: which brought her maſters much vantage with ſoothſaying.

17 The ſame followed Paul and vs, and cried, ſaying, Theſe men are the ſeruants of the moſt high God, which ſhew vnto vs the way of ſaluation.

18 And this did ſhee many dayes: but Paul not content, turned about, and ſaid to the ſpirit, I commande thee in the Name of Ieſu Chriſt, that thou come out of her. And he came out the ſame houre.

19 And when her maſters ſaw that the hope of their gaines was gone, they caught Paul and Silas, and drew them into the market place, vnto the rulers,

20 And brought them to the officers, ſaying, Theſe men being Iewes, doe exceedingly trouble our citie:

21 And preache ordinances, which are not lawfull for vs to receiue, neither to obſerue, ſeeing we are Romanes.

22 And the people ranne againſt them, and

the

and the magiſtrates tearing their coates cõmanded them to be beaten with roddes.

2.Cor.11. 23 And when they had laid *many ſtripes vpon them, they did caſt them into priſon, commaunding the keeper that hee ſhould keepe them diligently.

24 Who when he had receiued ſuch commandement, caſt them into the inner priſon, and made their feete faſt in the ſtockes.

25 And at mid-night, Paul and Silas praying, did praiſe God. And they that were in priſon, heard them.

26 But ſodenly there was made a great earthquake, ſo ẏ the foũdations of the priſon were ſhaken. And forthwith al ẏ doores were opened: and the bands of al were looſed.

27 And the keeper of the priſon waked out of his ſleepe, and ſeeing the doores of the priſon opened, drawing out his ſword, would haue killed himſelf, ſuppoſing that the priſoners had been fled.

28 But Paul cried ẅ a loud voice, ſaying, Doe thy ſelf no harme, for we are al here.

29 And calling for light, he went in, and trembling fel down to Paul and Silas at their feete:

30 And bringing them forth, he ſaid, Maiſters, what muſt I doe that I may be ſaued?

‡It is no other faith that ſaueth but that which worketh by Charitie, Aug. Euchirid.c.67.

31 But they ſaid, ‡Beleeue in our Lord IESVS: and thou ſhalt be ſaued and thy houſe.

32 And they preached the word of our Lord to him with all that were in his houſe.

33 And he taking them in ẏ ſame houre of the night, ℮waſhed their woũds: & himſelf was baptized and al his houſe incontinent.

34 And when he had brought them into his owne houſe, he laid the table for them, & reioyced with al his houſe, beleeuing God.

35 And when day was come, the magiſtrates ſent the ſergeants, ſaying, Let thoſe men goe.

36 And the keeper of the priſon told theſe wordes to Paul, That the magiſtrates haue ſent that you ſhould be let goe. now therfore departing, goe ye in peace.

37 But Paul ſaid to them. Being whipped openly, vncondemned, men ẏ are Romanes, they haue caſt vs into priſon: and now doe they ſend vs out ſecretly? Not ſo, but let them come, and let vs out themſelues.

38 And ẏ ſergeants reported theſe words to the magiſtrates. And they were afraid hearing that they were Romanes.

39 And comming they beſought them, and bringing them forth they deſired them to depart out of the citie.

the officers rent their clothes, and commaunded to beate them with roddes.* 2.Cor.11.25 1.thes.2.2.

23 And when they had layde many ſtripes vpon them, they caſt them into priſon, commaunding the iailour of the priſon to keepe them diligently.

24 Which when hee had receiued ſuch commaundement, thruſt them into the inner priſon, and made their feete faſt in the ſtockes.

25 And at midnight, Paul and Silas prayed and lauded God: and the priſoners heard them.

26 And ſodainely there was a great earthquake, ſo that the foundation of the priſon was ſhaken: and immediately all the doores opened, and euery mans bands were looſed.

27 When the keeper of the priſon waked out of his ſleepe, and ſawe the priſon doores open, hee drewe out his ſword, and would haue killed himſelfe, ſuppoſing that the priſoners had bene fled.

28 But Paul cried with a loude voyce, ſaying, Doe thy ſelfe no harme, for we are all here.

29 Then hee called for a light, and ſprang in, and came trembling, and fell downe before Paul and Silas, 30 And brought them out, and ſaide, Syrs, what muſt I doe to be ſaued?

31 And they ſaide, Beleeue on the Lorde Ieſus Chriſt, and thou ſhalt bee ſaued, and thy houſholde.

32 And they ſpake vnto him the worde of the Lord, and to all that were in his houſe.

33 And hee tooke them the ſame houre of the night, and waſhed their wounds, and was baptized him ſelfe, and all they of his houſeholde ſtraightway.

34 And when hee had brought them into his houſe, he ſet meate before them, and ioyed that he with all his houſhold beleeued on God.

35 And when it was day, the officers ſent the ſergeants, ſaying, Let thoſe men goe.

36 And the keeper of the priſon told this ſaying to Paul, The officers haue ſent worde to looſe you: Nowe therefore, get you hence, and goe in peace.

37 Then ſaide Paul vnto them, They haue beaten vs openly vncondemned, being Romanes, and haue caſt vs into priſon, nowe doe they thruſt vs out priuily? Nay verily: but let them come themſelues, and fetch vs out.

38 And the ſergeants tolde theſe words vnto the officers: and they feared when they heard that they were Romanes.

39 And they came and beſought them, and brought them out, and deſired them to depart out of the citie.

40 And

40 And going out of the priſon, they entred in vnto Lydia: and hauing ſeen the brethren, they comforted them, and departed.

CHAP. XVII.

How in other parts of Macedonia he planted the Church, and namely at Theſſalonica, 5 where the obſtinate Iewes are ſo malicious, that they purſue him alſo into Berœa, 14 From whence being conducted into Greece, he preacheth at Athens both to the Iewes and Gentiles, diſputing with the Philoſophers, 19 and in Areopagus, perſuading them from their Idols vnto one God and IESVS CHRIST raiſed from the dead.

AND when they had walked through Amphipolis and Apollonia, they came to Theſſalonica, where there was a ſynagogue of the Iewes.

2 And Paul according to his cuſtome entred in vnto them and three Sabboths he diſcourſed to them out of the Scriptures,

3 Declaring & inſinuating that it behoued CHRIST to ſuffer and to riſe againe frō the dead: and that this is IESVS CHRIST, whom I preach to you.

4 And certaine of them beleeued and were ioyned to Paul and Silas, and of the Gentiles that ſerued God a great multitude, and noble women not a few.

5 But the Iewes ‖ enuying, and taking vnto them of the raſcal ſort certaine naughtie men, and making a tumult, ſtirred the citie: and beſetting Iaſons houſe, ſought to bring them forth vnto the people.

6 And not finding them, they drew Iaſon and certaine brethren to the princes of the citie, crying, That theſe are they that ſtirre vp the world, and are come hither,

7 Whom Iaſon hath receiued, & al theſe doe againſt the decrees of Cæſar, ſaying that that there is an other king, IESVS,

8 And they moued the people, and the princes of the citie hearing theſe things.

9 And taking a ſatisfaction of Iaſon and of the reſt, they dimiſſed them.

10 But the brethren forthwith by night ſent away Paul and Silas vnto Berœa. Who when they were come, entred into the ſynagogue of the Iewes.

11 (And theſe were more noble then they that are at Theſſalonica, who receiued the word with al greedines, daily ‖ ſearching the ſcriptures, if theſe things were ſo.

12 And many ſurely of them beleeued, and of honeſt women Gentiles, and men not a few.)

13 And when the Iewes in Theſſalonica vnderſtoode, that at Berœa alſo the word of God was preached by Paul, they came thither alſo, mouing and troubling the multitude.

AS they made their iourney thorowe Amphipolis, and Apollonia, they came to Theſſalonica, where was a Synagogue of the Iewes.

2 And Paul, as his maner was, went in vnto them, and three Sabboth dayes diſputed with them out of the ſcriptures,

3 Opening and alleaging, that Chriſt muſt needes haue ſuffered and riſen againe from the dead: and that this is Chriſt Ieſus which I preach vnto you.

4 And ſome of them beleeued, and ioyned with Paul and Silas, and of the deuout Greekes a great multitude, and of the chiefe women not a fewe.

5 But the Iewes which beleeued not, mooued with enuie, toke vnto them certaine vagabonds, and euilmen, and gathered a companie, and ſet all the citie on a rore, and made aſſault vnto the houſe of Iaſon, and ſought to bring them out to the people.

6 And when they found them not, they drewe Iaſon and certaine brethren vnto the heads of the citie, crying, Theſe that haue troubled the world, are come hither alſo,

7 Whom Iaſon hath receiued priuily: and theſe all doe contrarie to the decrees of Caſar, ſaying that there is another king, one Ieſus.

8 And they troubled the people, and the officers of the citie, when they heard theſe things.

9 And when they had taken ſufficient ſuretie of Iaſon, and of the other, they let them goe.

10 And the brethren immediately ſent away Paul and Silas by night vnto Berœa: which whē they were come thither, they entred into the ſynagogue of the Iewes.

11 Theſe were the nobleſt of birth among them of Theſſalonica, which receiued the word with all readines of minde, and ſearched the ſcriptures daily, whether thoſe things were ſo.

12 Therefore many of them beleeued: alſo of honeſt women which were Greekes, and of men not a fewe.

13 But when the Iewes of Theſſalonica had knowledge that the word of God was preached of Paul at Berœa alſo, they came thither, & moued the people.

14 And then immediatly the brethren ſent away Paul, to goe vnto the ſea: but Silas and Timothee remained there.

15 And they ỳ conducted Paul, brought him as farre as Athens, and receiuing commaundement of him to Silas and Timothee, that they ſhould come to him very ſpeedily, they departed.

16 And when Paul expected them at Athens, his ſpirit was incenſed within him, ſeeing the citie giuen to Idolatrie.

17 He diſputed therfore in the ſynagogue with the Iewes, and them that ſerued God, and in the market-place, euery day with thē that were there.

18 And certaine Philoſophers of the Epicures and the Stoikes diſputed with him, and certaine ſaid, What is it ỳ this [b] word-ſower would ſay? But others, He ſeemeth to be a preacher of new [c] gods. becauſe he preached to them IESVS and the reſurrection.

19 And apprehending him, they led him to Areopagus, ſaying, May we know what this new doctrine is that thou ſpeakeſt of?

20 For thou bringeſt in certaine new things to our eares. We wil know therfore what theſe things may meane.

21 (And al the Athenians, and the ſtrangers ſeiourning there, emploied them ſelues to nothing els but either to ſpeake, or to heare ſome newes.)

22 But Paul ſtanding in the middes of Areopagus, ſaid: Ye men of Athens, in al things I perceiue you as it were ſuperſtitious.

23 For paſſing by and ſeeing your [c] Idols, I found an altar alſo whereupō was written, To the vnknowen God. That therfore which you worſhip, not knowing it, the ſame doe I preach to you.

24 The God that made the world and al things that are in it, he being Lord of heauen and earth, dwelleth ‡ not in * temples made with hand,

25 Neither is he ſerued with mens hands, needing any thing, whereas him ſelf giueth life vnto al, and breathing, and al things:

26 And he made of one al mankinde, to inhabite vpon the whole face of the earth, aſſigning ſet times, and the limits of their habitation,

27 For to ſeeke God, if happily they may feele or finde him, although he be not farre from euery one of vs.

14 And then immediately the brethren ſent away Paul, to goe as it were to the ſea: but Silas and Timotheus abode there ſtill.

15 And they that guided Paul, brought him vnto Athens, and receiued a commandement vnto Silas and Timotheus, for to come to him with ſpeede, and went their way.

16 While Paul waited for them at Athens, his ſpirit was moued in him, when he ſawe the citie giuen to worſhipping of idoles.

17 Therefore diſputed he in the Synagogue with the Iewes, and with the deuoute perſons, and in the market dayly with them that came vnto him by chance.

18 Then certaine Philoſophers of the Epicures, and of the Stoikes, diſputed with him: and ſome ſaid, ỳ What wil this babbler ſay? Other ſome, He ſeemeth to be a ſetter forth of new Gods: becauſe he preached vnto them Ieſus, and the reſurrection.

19 And they tooke him, and brought him into the ſtreete of Mars, ſaying, May wee know what this new doctrine whereof thou ſpeakeſt, is?

20 For thou bringeſt certaine ſtrange things to our eares: we would know therefore what theſe things meane.

21 (For all the Athenians and ſtrangers which were there, had leaſure to nothing els, but either to tell or to heare ſome new thing.)

22 Then Paul ſtoode in the middes of the ſtreete of Mars, and ſayd, Ye men of Athens, I perceiue that in all things ye are too ſuperſtitious.

23 For as I paſſed by, and beheld the maner how ye worſhip your gods, I found an altar wherein was written, Vnto an vnknowen God. Whome ye then ignorantly worſhip, him ſhewe I vnto you.

*24 * God that made the world, and all that are in it, ſeeing that he is Lord of heauen and earth, dwelleth not in temples made with hands:* Act. 7. 48.

29 Being therefore of Gods kinde, we may not ſuppoſe, ‖ the Diuinitie to be like vnto gold or ſiluer, or ſtone, the grauing of art and deuiſe of man.

30 And the times truely of this ignorance whereas God deſpiſed, now he denounceth vnto men that al euery where doe penance, 31 For that he hath appointed a day wherein he wil iudge the world in equitie, by a man whom he hath appointed, giuing al men faith, raiſing him vp from the dead.

32 And when they had heard the reſurrection of the dead, certaine in deede mocked, but certaine ſaid, We wil heare thee againe concerning this point.

33 So Paul went forth out of the middes of them.

34 But certaine men ioyning vnto him, did beleeue: among whom was alſo Dionyſius Areopagîta, and a woman named Dámaris, and others with them.

Dionyſius Areopagita.

*29 For as much then as we are the offſpring of God, we ought not to thinke that the Godhead is like vnto gold, ſiluer, or ſtone, grauen by arte and mans deuiſe. Eſai.40.18.

30 And the time of this ignorance God winked at, but now biddeth all men euery where to repent:

31 Becauſe he hath appointed a day in the which he will iudge the world in righteouſneſſe, by that man whom he hath appointed, and hath offered faith to all men, in that he hath raiſed him from the dead.

32 And when they heard of the reſurrection from the dead, ſome mocked: and other ſaid, We will heare thee againe of this matter.

33 So Paul departed from among them.

34 Howbeit, certaine men claue vnto him, and beleeued: among the which was Dionyſius Areopagita, and a woman named Damaris, and other with them.

Rhem.1. 5 Enuying, Zelantes. This is the zeale of Heretikes, and a liuely paterne of their dealing as this day againſt Catholike Prieſts and preachers and the good Iaſons that receiue them.

Fulke.1. This is rather a liuely paterne of the dealing of Papiſts in Queene Maries time, againſt the Chriſtian Catholikes, and of the godly men, which in that time did receiue them. Slaunder.

Fulke.2. The auctors of this note, ſhew them ſelues to be ignorant in the Greeke tongue, for the Greeke word doth ſignifie whatſoeuer men doe reuerence for religions ſake. The Dictionaries ſay, it ſignifieth the formes of worſhip, or deuotions, as well as the thing worſhipped. Now the word deuotion, is indifferent either to true or falſe deuotion, and ſo is the Greeke word. Therefore the deuotions of good Chriſtians, is no more touched by this terme, then true religion by the terme of religion, when it is applied to falſe religion. Cauilling.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. XVII.

Rhem. 3. 11 Searching the Scriptures.) The Heretikes vſe this place to proue that the hearers muſt trie and iudge by the Scriptures, whether their teachers and preachers doctrine be true, and ſo reiect that that they find not in the Scriptures, as though here the ſheepe were made iudges of their Paſtors, the people of the Prieſts, and men and women of al ſortes, euen of S. Paules doctrine it ſelf: which were the moſt fooliſh diſorder in the world. And they did not therefore read the Scriptures of the old Teſtament (for none of the new were yet extant commonly) to diſpute with the Apoſtle, or to trie and iudge of his doctrine, or whether they ſhould beleeue him or no: for they were bound to beleeue him and obey his word, whether he alleaged Scripture or no, and whether they could reade or vnderſtand the Scriptures or no. but it was a great comfort and confirmation for the Iewes that had the Scriptures, to finde euen as S. Paul ſaid, that Chriſt was God, crucified, riſen, and aſcended to heauen: which by his preaching and expounding they vnderſtood, and neuer before, though they read them, and heard them read euery Sabbath. As it is a great comfort to a Catholike man, to heare the Scriptures declared and alleaged moſt euidently for the Churches truth againſt Heretikes, in Sermons or otherwiſe. And it doth the Catholikes good and much confirmeth them, to vew diligently the places alleaged by the Catholike preachers. Yet they muſt not be iudges for al that, ouer their owne Paſtors, whom Chriſt commandeth them to heare and obey, and by whom they heare the true ſenſe of Scriptures. The people may not iudge of the ſenſe of Scriptures. The comfort of Chriſtian men by hearing or reading ỹ Scriptures.

Fulke.3. This place is rightly vſed, to proue that the hearers ought to examine by the Scriptures, whether the teachers doctrine be true, and to reiect whatſoeuer they find not proued by the Scriptures. Yet are not the ſheepe made iudges of the ſhepheards, people of the Prieſts, &c. but the word of God is made iudge of all doctrine, whether it be true or falſe. And theſe men ſearched the Scriptures, to trie whether thoſe things were ſo as the Apoſtle preached. For they hauing receiued the Scriptures in credit before, were not bound to beleeue him except his doctrine were cõſonant vnto ỹ holy Scriptures, as he him ſelfe teſtifieth *Gal.*1.8. That if he preached any other Goſpel then he had preached before, they ſhould hold him accurſed. And ỹ Goſpel which he preached before, was that which God had promiſed before by ỹ Prophets in the holy Scriptures. *Rom.*1.2. And although they could not read the Scriptures, yet they heard the Scriptures read & were brought to vnderſtand them by his preaching. Wherfore their ſearching of the Scriptures, was not only to confirme them being before throughly perſuaded, but to perſwade them being not throughly brought to the faith, vntil they found the Scriptures to be manifeſtly agreable to the Apoſtles preaching. And yet it followeth not that the ſheepe muſt be iudges of their paſtors, but that they muſt heare them, obey them, and be ordered by them, which they will doe more cherefully when by ſearching the Scriptures, they finde their paſtors doctrine to be the doctrine of the holy Ghoſt: and not the inuentiõ or tradition of men. The auctoritie & ſufficiencie of the Scriptures.

Rhem. 4. 22 Superstitious.) S. Paul calleth not them superstitious for adoring the true and only God with much deuotion or many ceremonies, or in comely prescribed order, or for doing due reuerence to holy Sacraments, to Saints and their memories, Images, or Monuments: or for keeping the prescribed Lawes, dayes and fastes of the Church, or for fulfilling vowes made to God, or for blessing with the signe of the Crosse, or for capping and kneeling at the name of IESVS, *or for religiously vsing creatures sanctified in the same name, or any other Christian obseruation, for which our new Maisters condemne the Catholike people of Superstition: them selues wholy voide of that vice by al wise mens iudgement, because they leaue in manner taken away al religion, and are become Epicureians and Atheists who are neuer troubled with superstition, because it is a vice consisting in excesse of worship or religion, whereof they are void. but the Apostle calleth them superstitious for worshipping the Idoles and goddes of the Heathen, and * for the feare that they had, lest they should leaue out any God that was vnknowen to them: for thus their Altar was inscribed:* Dijs Asiæ, Europæ, & Lybiæ, Deo ignoto & peregrino. that is, To the gods of Asia, Europe, and Lybia: to the vnknowen and strange God. This superstition (saith S. Augustine) is wholy taken away from the Church by Christes incarnation, and by the Apostles preaching, and by Martyrs holy life and death. Neither doth the Catholike Church allow this or any other kinde of superstitious obseruation. Only we must take heede that we beleeue not her Aduersaries definition of superstition, for they would imply therein al true religion.

* Suspitiosiores

Aug. de consens. Euang. li. 1. c. 26.

The Protestants call deuotion, superstition.

The Apostle speaketh of the Heathens superstition.

The Catholike Church alloweth no superstition.

Fulke. 4. Though S. Paule in this place, doeth not expresly reproue any true deuotion, nor a great nomber of Popish superstitions, that you name, yet are your superstitions manifestly conuinced by other testimonies of holy Scripture. Not as any excesse of worship, or religion (as you seeme to define superstition,) but as a wil worship, supra statuũ more then is appointed by the law of God. And so doeth Isidorus giue the Etymologie of ỹ word: Origin. lib. 8. cap. 3. For in zeale of true religion and worship of God, keeping his law as a rule thereof, we cannot exceede. That you discharge vs of superstition, we accept your testimonie, as the witnes of our aduersaries: but where you charge vs to be voyde of religion, the Lord be iudge betweene you and vs. The Greeke word, which the Apostle vseth against the heathen, is a buséd also by the heathen against the Apostle and Christian religion. Act. 25. 19. and therefore superstition is not only worshipping of Idoles, and gods of the heathen. For although heathenish superstition be taken away as S. Augustine saith: Yet other as euil superstition, is come in in ỹ place among the vngodly, that will not be directed by Gods word in religion, but follow their owne imaginations. S. Augustine himselfe condemneth worshippers of sepulchres and pictures, of superstition. Now you shall see (saith he) what difference there is betweene the Mere mindes of superstition, and the hauen of religion. Gather not vnto me the professors of the name of Christ, neither knowing, nor shewing the force or vertue of their profession. Follow ye not the multitudes of the vnlaísful, which euen in true religion are superstitious, or so giuen to their lusts, that they haue forgotten what they haue promised to God. I know there are many worshippers of sepulchres and pictures. De moribus eccles. Cath. c. 34. S. Ambrose calleth it an heathnish errour, to worship the Crosse whereon Christ died. De obitu Theodosij. Gelasius Bishop of Rome, calleth it superstition to abstaine from the cuppe in the Lords supper. De consec. dist. 2. C. Comperimus. Celestinus Bishop of Rome reproueth certaine Priests for superstitious apparel, Epist. ad Galliæ Episcopos. But the superstition of Papists, hath not only all these points but many more, which they would perswade the ignorant to be high points of true religion. You see by these few testimonies we call that superstition, which the ancient Fathers before vs haue so termed, and that we doe not so define superstition, as we would employ al true religion, but only those things that are not prescribed by the word of God. Wherein notwithstanding, Papists doe place by these words, all true religion.

Superstition.

Rhem. 5. 29 The Diuinitie to be like.) Nothing can be made by mans hand of what forme or sort so euer, that is like to Gods essence, or to the forme or shape of his Godhead or Diuinitie. therefore how soeuer the Heathens did paint or graue their Idols, they were nothing like to God. And this also is impertinently alleaged by Heretikes against the Churches images: Which are not made, either to be adored with godly honour, or to be any resemblance of the Diuinitie or any of the three persons in Godhead but only in Christ as he was in forme of man, who in that respect may be truely expressed, as other men by their portraites: and of the Holy Ghost, not as he is in him self, but as he appeared in fiery tongues or in the similitude of a doone, or such like. and so to paint or graue any of the three persons as they appeared visibly and corporally, is no more inconuenient or vnlaísful then it was vndecent for them to appeare in such formes. And therefore to paint or portraite the Father also being the first person, as he hath shewed him self in vision to any of the Prophetes of the old or new Testament (namely to Daniel as an old man) or the three Angels representing the three Persons to Abraham, or the one Angel that wrastling with Iacob bare our Lords Person, no such thing is any where forbidden, but is very agreable to the peoples instruction. In which sort the Angels were commonly pourtraied (and namely the Cherubins ouer the Propitiatorie) as they be now in the Church, not in their natural forme, but with corporal winges (as the Seraphins appeared to Esay the Prophete) to expresse their qualitie and office of being Gods Angels, that is, Messengers: and God the Father with the world in his hand, to signifie his creation and gouernement of the same, and such like: Whereof the people being wel instructed may take much good, and no harme in the world, being now through their faith in Christ far from al fond imagination of the false gods of the Pagan. And therefore S.

Dan. 7. 22. Gen. 18. 2. Gen. 33. 24. Exo. 37. 7. Esa. 6. 2.

Greg. l. 9. ep. 9

Gregorie saith of the Churches Images, That which scripture or writing doth to the readers, the same doth the picture to the simple that looke thereupon. for in it euen the ignorant see what they ought to folow, in it they do read, that know no letters. Where he calleth it a matter of antiquitie and very conuenient, that in holy places Images were painted to the peoples instruction, so they be taught that they may not be adored with diuine honour, and he in the same place sharply reproueth Serenus the Bishop of Massilia, that of indiscrete zeale he would take away Images, rather then teach the people how to vse them.

Images are for the peoples instruction.

Fulke. 5. In your blasphemous Images of God the father, and of the holy Trinitie, you doe transforme the glorie of the mortall God, to the Image of a mortall man, or fethered foule. Rom. 1. 23. Yea of a monster which is worse. And where you say, they are not made to be adored with godly honour, you say vntruely, for all religious honour is due to God only, and it is concluded in that Idolatrous councel of Niece 2. and defended by Thomas and other Papists, that the Image of God is to be worshipped, with the same worship that is due to God him self. Your other excuse, that they are not made to be any resemblance of the Diuinitie, or of the three persons in the Godhead is also false, for to what end, els should any Image of the Trinitie be made? The Gentiles said, as much of there Idols. That they knew they were not gods, nor like to gods, being voide of sense and life, neither ther did they worſhip them as gods,but they worſhipped the inuiſible godhead,and the ſame that we call angels,the vertues and miniſteries of the great God,but all in vaine as S.Auguſtine ſheweth in Pſal 96. Becauſe they worſhipped as you doe,thoſe that haue eies & ſee not,mouths and ſpeake not,hands and handle not,&c. Neither can you make the image of Chriſt,as he was in forme of man :for you can make no image but of his bodily ſhape,& not as he was God in the forme of man. And that image which you make of his bodily ſhape, is no more the image of Chriſt,then of any other man. When Epiphanius ſawe in a Church at Anablatha,an image painted in a vaile,as it were of Chriſt,or ſome ſainct,he affirmeth that it was contrary to the authoritie of the ſcriptures, that any image of a man ſhould hang in the Church of Chriſt. Epiph. ep. ad Ioan. How much more the image of the holy Trinitie,and of the holy Ghoſt ? But you ſay boldly, to paint or graue any of the three perſons,or the three perſons,as they appeered viſibly and corporally, is no more inconuenient or vnlawfull, then it was vndecent for them,to appeere in ſuch formes. Thus theſe ſencelelſe Idolaters controll the law of God, which expreſly forbiddeth any ſuch image,of any ſimilitude or ſhape of any thing in heaue̅,in earth,in the waters to be made. Exod.20. Accuſing the maieſtie of God of vndecencie,if he hath appeered in any viſible ſhape,which he hath forbidden to be made of him. And yet in giuing the law,God would not appeere in any viſible ſhape, leaſt the people ſhould abuſe that ſhape, to make an image of God after it. As the Lord himſelfe declareth expreſly, Deut.4 15.&c. Therefore,though it be not ſimply vnlawful,to expreſſe in painting the viſible ſhapes that were ſhewed in viſions to the Prophets, yet to make thoſe ſhapes for any vſe of religion,or ſeruice of God,it is abhominable idolatrie. You ſtreine very much to find the image of God the father, when you ſay, he ſhewed himſelfe to Daniel as an old man. For although Daniel in viſion ſaw an old man,how prooue you that the ſaid ſhape of an old man repreſented the perſon of the father,rather then of the ſonne, who is as old as his father, or then the whole godhead? As for the Cherubins ouer the propitiatorie,when you can ſhew as good warrant, for your images,as we find in the ſcripture for them,namely an expreſſe commaundement to make them, we will yeld them vnto you to be lawfully made. Thou ſhalt not make to thy ſelfe (ſaith the Lord) that is of thy priuate auctoritie or motion,reſeruing to himſelfe power to commaund what images he thought neceſſary to be made for the vſe of his religion. Where you talke of the images of angels with their wings,you might haue alleaged the auctoritie of the 2.Nicene councel,which defineth,that they haue bodies and are circumſcriptible. Act. 5. But that you are aſhamed of the groſſe error of that Idolatrous councell. The image of God the father with the world in his hand,you commend highly, to ſignifie his creation and gouernment in the ſame,whereof the people being well inſtructed, may take much good and no harme in the world. But firſt you muſt remember that theſe images haue bene and are,where the people are not inſtructed at all. Secondly, that if they be truly inſtructed of the creation and gouernment of the world, Thou is a lying image, and doctrine of vanitie, as the Prophet calleth all images,Abacuc 2.18. becauſe it maketh the creation & gouernment of the world to ſeeme proper to the perſon of the father which is common to the whole godhead. Finally, where you ſay the people through their faith in Chriſt, are farre from all fond imagination of falſe gods,it is moſt vntrue. For your popiſh ignorant people,be as fond in their imaginations as the heathen were. S. Auguſtine ſaieth, worſhippers of pictures, though they profeſſe the name of Chriſt,neither know nor ſhew foorth the vertue or force of their profeſſion. And of all worſhippers of images,or before images. S.Auguſtine ſaith, Quis autem adorat vel orat intuens ſimulacrum,&c. And who doth worſhip,or pray beholding an image,which is not ſo affected, that he thinketh he is heard of it, and hopeth that to be performed by it,which he deſireth. In Pſal.113. Gregory in deed contrary to the ſaying of the Prophet, Ab.2. alloweth images to be lay mens bookes,but he forbiddeth all kind of worſhipping of the̅. And as for the antiquitie of them,it was not long before his time that they were tollerated in Churches. Epiphanius rent the image that he found in the Church,becauſe it was there (as he ſaieth) contrary to the auctoritie of the Scriptures. Ep.ad Ioan.&c. The councel of Eliberis before him,decreed that pictures ſhould not be in the Church,leſt that which is worſhipped or adored,ſhould be painted on the wals. Behold,the councell feared that which afterward by the negligence of the biſhops came to paſſe, leaſt the image of God who onely is to be worſhipped, ſhould be painted on the wals,and eſteemed that to be moſt deteſtable,which you defend to be conuenient and lawfull. So well you agree with the doctrine of the ancient fathers and councels.

34 Dionyſius Areopagita.) This is that famous Denys that firſt conuerted France, and wrote thoſe notable and diuine workes De Eccleſiaſtica & cæleſti hierarchia,de diuinis nominibus,and others,in which he confirmeth and proueth plainly almoſt all things that the Church now vſeth in the miniſtration of the holy Sacrament,& affirmeth that he learned them of the Apoſtles,geuing alſo teſtimonie for the Catholike faith in moſt things now controuerſed, ſo plainly, that our Aduerſaries haue no ſhift but to deny this Denys to haue bene the author of them,fayning that they be an others of later age. Which is an old flight of Heretikes,but moſt proper to theſe of all others. Who ſeeing all antiquitie againſt them,are forced to be more bold or rather impudent then others in that point S.Dionyſius Areopagita is all for the Catholikes.

Rhem.6.

That Dionyſius Areopagita was auctor of thoſe bookes which now beare his name,you bring no proofe at all. We alleage that Euſebius,Hierome,Gennadius neuer heard of his writings,for if they had heard,Dionyſius Areopagita ſhould haue bene regiſtred by them among eccleſiaſticall writers. And further whoſoeuer ſhall read thoſe bookes of his, ſhall find in deed many ceremonies, but as vnlike to the ceremonies of the popiſh church, as they are to ours. The reſt,of the flight of hereukes, and that we ſee all antiquitie againſt vs, is but vaine iangling without proofe,& contrary to manifeſt proofe in al our writings againſt the papiſts,and namely in confutation of theſe popiſh notes.

CHAP. XVIII.

At Corinth in Achaia,he worketh with his owne hands,preaching IESVS to be CHRIST, vnto the Iewes vpon their Sabboths. 6 But they being obſtinate and blaſpheming,he in plaine termes forſaketh them,and turneth to the Gentils,among whom according to a viſion that he had to imbolden him,he planteth the Church in great numbers. 12 The obſtinate Iewes in vaine ſoliciting the Proconſul againſt him. 18 From thence at length departing he returneth 19 by Epheſus (where he promiſeth the Iewes to returne to them) 22 and ſo to Antioch in Syria (from whence he began his iourney, Act.15.) 23 but not reſting,by and by he goeth againe to viſit the new Churches that he planted Act.16 in Galatia and Phrygia: 24 Apollo in his abſence mightily confounding the Iewes at Epheſus, 27 and afterward at Corinth.

AFter theſe things, departing from Athens, he came to Corinth.

2 And finding a certaine Iewe, named Aquila, borne in Pontus, who of late was come out of Italie, and Priſcilla his wife (becauſe Claudius had commanded al Iewes to depart from Rome) he came to them.

3 And becauſe he was of the ſame craft, he remained with them, and wrought, (and they were tentmakers by their craft.)

4 And he diſputed in the ſynagogue euery Sabboth, interpoſing the name of our Lord IESVS, and he exhorted the Iewes and the Greekes.

5 And when Silas and Timothee were come from Macedonia, Paul was inſtant in preaching, teſtifying to the Iewes that IESVS is CHRIST.

6 But they contradicting and blaſpheming, he ſhaking his garments, ſaid to them, Your bloud vpon your owne head: I being cleane, from henceforth wil goe to the Gentiles.

7 And departing thence, he entred into the houſe of a certaine man, named Titus Iuſtus, one that ſerued God, whoſe houſe was adioyning to the ſynagogue.

8 And Criſpus the prince of the Synagogue beleeued our Lord, with al his houſe: and many of the Corinthians hearing beleeued, and were baptized.

9 And our Lord ſaid in the night by a viſion to Paul, Doe not feare, but ſpeake, and hold not thy peace,

10 For-becauſe I am with thee: and no man ſhall ſet vpon thee to hurt thee: for I haue much people in this citie.

11 And he ſate there a yere and ſixe moneths, teaching among thē the word of God.

13 Saying, That this man contrary to the Law perſuadeth men to worſhip God.

14 And Paul beginning to open his mouth, Gallio ſaid to the Iewes, If it were ſome vniuſt thing, or an heinous fact, O you men Iewes, I ſhould by reaſon beare you.

15 But if they be queſtions of word and names, & of your law, your ſelues looke vnto it: I wil not be iudge of theſe things.

3 And becauſe he was of the ſame craft, he abode with them, and wrought (for by their occupation they were Tent makers.)

4 And he diſputed in the Synagogue euery Sabboth, and exhorted the Iewes, and the Greekes.

5 And when Silas and Timotheus were come from Macedonia, Paul was conſtrained by the ſpirite to teſtifie to the Iewes that Ieſus was Chriſt.

*6 And when they ſayd contrary, and blaſphemed, he ſhooke his rayment, and ſayde vnto them, Your blood bee vpon your owne heads: from hencefoorth will I goe blameleſſe vnto the Gentiles. Mat. 11.14. actes 13.51.

7 And he departed thence, and entred into a certaine mans houſe, named Iuſtus, a worſhipper of God, whoſe houſe ioyned hard to the Synagogue.

*8 And one Criſpus, the chiefe ruler of the Synagogue, beleeued on the Lord with all his houſhold: and many of the Corinthians hearing, beleeued, and were baptized. 1.Cor.1.14.

9 Then ſpake the Lord to Paul in the night by a viſion, Be not afraid, but ſpeake, and hold not thy peace.

10 For I am with thee, and no man ſhall inuade thee, to hurt thee: For I haue much people in this citie.

11 And he continued there a yere & ſix moneths, teaching the word of God among them.

12 And when Gallio was the deputie of Achaia, the Iewes made inſurrection with one accord againſt Paul, and brought him to the iudgement ſeate, 13 Saying, This fellow counſelleth men to worſhip God contrary to the law.

14 And when Paul now was about to open his mouth, Gallio ſayd vnto the Iewes, If it were a matter of wrong, or an euil deed, O ye Iewes, reaſon would that I ſhould beare with you:

15 But if it be a queſtion of words & names, or of your law, looke ye to it your ſelues: for I will be no iudge of ſuch matters.

16 And he draue them from the iudgement ſeate.

17 Then all the Greekes tooke Soſthenes the chiefe ruler of the Synagogue, and ſmote him before the iudgement ſeate: and Gallio cared for none of thoſe things.

the

18 But Paul when he had ſtaied yet many dayes, taking his leaue of the brethren, ſailed to Syria, (and with him Priſcilla & Aquila,) who had ſhorne his head in Cenchris, for he had *a vow.

Num.6,18. Act.21,24.

19 And he came vnto Epheſus, and them he left there. But himſelfe entring into the ſynagogue, diſputed with the Iewes.

20 And when they deſired him, that he would tarie a longer time, he conſented not,

21 But taking his leaue, and ſaying, I wil returne to you againe God willing, he departed from Epheſus.

22 And going downe to Cæſaréa, he went vp, and ſaluted the Church, and came downe to Antioch.

23 And hauing taried there a certaine time, he departed, walking in order through the countrie of Galatia and Phrygia, confirming all the diſciples.

Apollo.

24 And a certaine Iew, named Apollo, borne at Alexandria, an eloquent man, came to Epheſus, mighty in the ſcriptures.

25 This man was taught the way of our Lord: and being feruent in ſpirit he ſpake, and taught diligently thoſe things that pertaine to IESVS, knowing only the baptiſme of Iohn.

26 This man therfore began to deale cõfidently in the ſynagogue. Whom whẽ Priſcilla and Aquila had heard, they tooke him vnto them, and expounded to him the way of our Lord more diligently.

27 And whereas he was deſirous to goe to Achaia, the brethren exhorting wrote to the diſciples to receiue him. Who, when he was come, profited them much that had beleeued.

28 For he with vehemencie conuinced the Iewes openly, ſhewing by the ſcriptures, that IESVS is CHRIST.

before the iudgement ſeate: and Gallio cared for none of thoſe things.

18 And Paul after this taried there yet a good while, and then tooke his leaue of the brethren, and ſailed thence into Syria, (Aquila and Priſcilla accompanying him.) And he ſhore his head in Cenchrea: for he had a vowe.

19 And he came to Epheſus, and left them there: but he himſelfe entred into the Synagogue, and reaſoned with the Iewes.

20 When they deſired him to tary longer time with them, he conſented not:

21 But bade them farewell, ſaying, I muſt needes at this feaſt that commeth, be in Hieruſalem, but I will returne againe vnto you, if God will: And he ſailed from Epheſus. 1.Cor.4.19. Iames 4.16.

22 And when he was come vnto Ceſarea, and aſcended vp, and ſaluted the Church, he went to Antioch.

23 And when he had taried there a while, he departed, and went ouer all the countrey of Galatia and Phrygia by order, ſtrengthening all the diſciples.

*24 And a certaine Iew, named Apollos, 1.Cor.1.12. borne at Alexandria, came to Epheſus, an eloquent man, and mightie in the ſcriptures.

25 The ſame was informed in the way of the Lord, and being feruent in the ſpirit, he ſpake and taught diligently the things of the Lord, knowing onely the baptiſme of Iohn.

26 And the ſame began to ſpeake boldly in the Synagogue: Whom when Aquila and Priſcilla had heard, they tooke him vnto them, and expounded vnto him the way of God more perfectly.

27 And when he was diſpoſed to goe into Achaia, the brethren wrote, exhorting the diſciples to receiue him: Which when he was come, helped them much which had beleeued through grace.

28 For he ouercame the Iewes mightily, and that openly, ſhewing by the ſcriptures that Ieſus was that Chriſt.

CHAP. XIX.

How Paul began the Church of Epheſus, firſt in 12 that were baptized with Iohns baptiſme, 8 then preaching three moneths in the Synagogue of the Iewes, vntil for their obſtinacie and blaſphemie he forſooke them, diſputing afterward in a certaine ſchoole for two yeeres ſpace to the maruelous increaſe of the Church, ſpecially through his great miracles alſo, in healing diſeaſes with the touch of his cloathes, and expelling diuels, 13 who yet contemned the Exorciſts of the Iewes. 18 How the Chriſtians there confeſſe their acts, and burne their vnlawful bookes: 21 & how he foretold that after he had bene at Hieruſalem, he muſt ſee Rome. 23 and what a great ſedition was raiſed againſt him at Epheſus, by them that got their liuing of working to the idolatrous Temple of Diana.

2 And he ſayd to them, Haue you receiued the holy Ghoſt, beleeuing? But they ſaid to him, Nay, neither haue we heard whether there be a holy Ghoſt.

3 But he ſaid, In what thē were you baptized? Who ſayd, [c] In Iohns baptiſme.

Mt.3,11. Mr.1,8. Lu.3,16. 4 And Paul ſayd: *Iohn baptized the people with the baptiſme of penance, ſaying: That they ſhould beleeue in him that was to come after him, that is to ſay, [c] in IESVS.

5 Hearing theſe things, they were baptized in the name of our Lord IESVS.

6 And when Paul had ‡ impoſed hands on them, the holy Ghoſt came vpon them, and they ſpake with tongues, and prophecied.

7 And all the men were about twelue.

8 And entring into the ſynagogue, he ſpake confidently for three moneths, diſputing and exhorting of the kingdome of God.

9 But when certaine were indurate, and beleeued not, il-ſpeaking the way of our Lord before the multitude, departing from them, he ſeparated the diſciples, daily diſputing in the ſchoole of one Tyrannus.

10 And this was done for the ſpace of two yeeres, ſo that all which dwelt in Aſia, heard the word of our Lord, Iewes and Gentils.

11 And God wrought by the hand of Paul miracles not common:

12 So that there were alſo brought from his body ‖napkins or handkerchefs vpon the ſicke, and the diſeaſes departed from them, and the wicked ſpirits went out.

13 And certaine alſo of the Iudaical exorciſts that went about aſſaied to inuocate vpon them that had euil ſpirits, the name of our Lord IESVS, ſaying, I adiure you by IESVS whom Paul preacheth.

14 And there were certaine ſonnes of Sceua a Iewe, cheefe prieſt, ſeuen, that did this.

15 But the wicked ſpirit anſwering, ſayd to them, IESVS I know, and ‖Paul I know: but you, what are ye?

16 And the man in whom the wicked ſpirite was, leaping vpon them, and maſtring [n] both, preuailed againſt them, ſo that they fled out of that houſe naked and wounded.

2 And ſayd vnto them, Haue ye receiued the holy Ghoſt ſince ye beleeued? And they ſaid vnto him, We haue not heard whether there be any holy Ghoſt or no.

3 And he ſaid vnto them, Vnto what then were ye baptized? And they ſaid, Vnto Iohns baptiſme.

4 Then ſayde Paul, Iohn verily baptized with the baptiſme of repentaunce, ſaying vnto the people, that they ſhould beleeue on him which ſhould come after him, that is, on Chriſt Ieſus.

*5 When they heard this, they were baptized in the name of the Lord Ieſus. Fulke. The Greeke is ακουσαντες δε and they whichheard him were baptized, &c

6 And when Paul had laied his hands vpon them, the holy Ghoſt came on them, and they ſpake with tongues, and prophecied.

7 And all the men were about twelue.

8 And hee went into the ſynagogue, and ſpake boldly for the ſpace of three moneths, diſputing and perſwading thoſe things that apperteine to the kingdome of God.

9 But when diuers waxed hardhearted, and beleeued not, but ſpake euill of the way of the Lord, and that before the multitude, he departed frō them, and ſeparated the diſciples: & he diſputed daily in the ſchoole of one called Tyrannus.

10 And this continued by the ſpace of two yeeres, ſo that all they which dwelt in Aſia, heard the worde of the Lord Ieſus, both Iewes and Greekes.

11 And God wrought ſpeciall miracles by the hands of Paul:

12 So that from his body were brought vnto the ſicke, napkins, and partlets, and the diſeaſes departed from them, and the euil ſpirits went out of them.

13 Then certaine of the vagabond Iewes, exorciſtes, tooke vpon them to call ouer them which had euil ſpirites, the name of the Lord Ieſus, ſaying, We adiure you by Ieſus whome Paul preacheth.

14 And there were ſeuen ſonnes of one Sceua a Iewe, and chiefe of the Prieſts which did ſo.

15 And the euill ſpirite anſwered and ſaid, Ieſus I knowe, and Paul I knowe, but who are ye?

16 And the man in whom the euil ſpirit was, ran on them, and ouercame them, and preuailed againſt them, ſo that they fled out of that houſe naked and wounded.

17 And

17 And this was made notorious to al the Iewes and the Gentiles that dwelt at Epheſus: and feare fel vpon al them, and the name of our Lord IESVS was magnified.

18 And many of them that beleeued, came confeſſing & declaring ‡ their deedes.

19 And many of them that had folowed ‖ curious things, brought together their ‖ bookes, and burnt them before al: & counting the prices of them, they found the money to be fiftie thouſand pence.

20 So mightely increaſed the word of God and was confirmed.

21 And when theſe things were ended, Paul purpoſed in the Spirit, when he had paſſed through Macedonia and Achaia, to goe to Hieruſalem, ſaying, After I ſhall haue been there, I muſt ſee ‡ Rome alſo.

22 And ſending into Macedonia two of them that miniſtred vnto him, Timothee & Eraſtus, him ſelf remained for a time in Aſia.

23 And at that time there was made no litle trouble about the way of our Lord.

24 For one named Demetrius, a ſiluerſmith, that made ſiluer [e] temples of Diána, procured to the artificers no ſmal gaine:

[e] Naïſ.

25 Whom calling together and them that were the ſame kinde of workemen, he ſaid, Sirs, you know that our gaine is of this occupation:

26 And you ſee, and heare that this ſame Paul by perſuaſion hath auerted a great multitude not only of Epheſus, but almoſt of al Aſia, ſaying, That they are not gods which be made by handes.

27 And not only vnto vs is this part in danger to be reproued, but alſo the temple of great Diana ſhal be reputed for nothing, yea and her maieſtie ſhal begin to be deſtroied, whom al Aſia and the world worſhippeth.

28 Hearing theſe things, they were repleniſhed with anger, and cried out ſaying, Great is Diana of the Epheſians.

29 And the whole citie was filled with confuſion, and they ranne violently with one accord into the theátre, catching Gaius and Ariſtarchus Macedonians, Paules companions.

30 And when Paul would haue entred in to the people, the diſciples did not permit him.

31 And certaine alſo of the Princes of Aſia that were his frendes, ſent vnto him, deſyring that he would not aduenture him ſelf into the theátre.

32 But

17 And this was knowen to all the Iewes and Greekes alſo which dwelt at Epheſus, and feare came on them all, and the name of the Lord Ieſus was magnified.

18 And many that beleeued, came, and confeſſed, and ſhewed their workes.

19 Many alſo of them which vſed curious craſtes, brought their bookes, and burned them before all men: and they counted the price of them, and found it fiftie thouſand pieces of ſiluer.

20 So mightily grew the word of God, and preuailed.

21 After theſe thinges were ended, Paule purpoſed in the ſpirit, when he had paſſed ouer Macedonia and Achaia, to goe to Hieruſalem, ſaying, After I haue beene there, I muſt alſo ſee Rome.

22 So ſent he into Macedonia two of them that miniſtred vnto him, Timotheus and Eraſtus, but he himſelfe remained in Aſia for a ſeaſon.

23 And the ſame time there aroſe no litle a doe about that way.

24 For a certaine man, named Demetrius, a ſiluer ſmith, which made ſiluer ‖ ſhrines for Diana, miniſtred no ſmall gaine vnto the craftſmen:

‖ Or, temples a coigne ſo called like to S. Iohns heads and other ſuperſtitious toyes, vſed at places of papiſti pilgrimage.

25 Whom he called together, with the workemen of like occupation, & ſaid, Sirs, ye know that by this craft we haue aduantage.

26 Moreouer, ye ſee and heare, that not alone at Epheſus, but almoſt throughout all Aſia, this Paule hath perſuaded & turned away much people, ſaying that they be no gods which are made with hands.

27 So that not onely this our craft commeth into perill to be ſet at nought: but alſo that the temple of the great goddeſſe Diana ſhould be deſpiſed, and her magnificence ſhould be deſtroyed, whom all Aſia and the world worſhippeth.

28 And when they heard theſe ſayings, they were full of wrath, and cried out, ſaying, Great is Diana of the Epheſians.

29 And all the citie was on a rore, and they ruſhed into the common hall with one aſſent, and caught Gaius and Ariſtarchus men of Macedonia, Paules companions.

30 When Paule would haue entred in vnto the people, the diſciples ſuffered him not.

31 But certaine of the cheefe of Aſia, which were his friendes, ſent vnto him, deſiring him that he would not preaſſe into the common hall.

32 Some

32 And others cried an other thing. For the aſſemblie was confuſe, and the more part knew not for what cauſe they were aſſembled.

33 And of the multitude they drew forth Alexander, the Iewes thruſting him forward. But Alexander with his hand deſiring ſilence, would haue giuen the people ſatisfaction.

34 Whom as ſoone as they perceiued to be a Iewe, there was made one voice of al, almoſt for the ſpace of two houres crying out, Great is Diana of the Epheſians.

35 And when the Scribe had appeaſed the multitudes, he ſaith, Ye men of Epheſus, for what man is there that knoweth not the citie of the Epheſians to be a worſhipper of great Dina, and [c] Iupiters childe?

[c] Tũ διοπετῆ.

36 Foraſmuch therfore as theſe things can not be gainſaid, you muſt be quieted, & doe nothing raſhly.

37 For you haue brought theſe men, being neither ſacrilegious, nor blaſpheming your Goddeſſe.

38 But if Demetrius & the artificers that are with him, haue matter to ſay againſt any man, there are Courtes kept in the common place, and there are Proconſuls, let them accuſe one an other.

39 And if you aske any other matter: it may be reſolued in a lawful aſſemblie.

40 For we are in danger alſo to be accuſed for this daies ſedition: whereas there is no man guilty by whom we may giue an account of this concourſe. And when he had ſaid theſe things, he dimiſſed the aſſemblie.

32 Some therefore cried one thing, and ſome another: & the aſſembly was all out of quiet, and the more part knewe not wherefore they were come together.

33 And certaine of the people drew Alexander out of the multitude, the Iewes thruſting him forwards. And Alexander beckened with the hand, & would haue giuen the people an anſwere.

34 But when they knew that he was a Iew, there aroſe a ſhout almoſt for the ſpace of two houres, of all men, crying, Great is Diana of the Epheſians.

35 And when the towne clarke had pacified the people, he ſaid, Ye men of Epheſus, what man is it that knoweth not how that the citie of the Epheſians is [the temple keeper of the great goddeſſe Diana, & of the image which came downe from Iupiter?

36 Seeing then that theſe things cannot be ſpoken againſt, ye ought to be quiet, and to doe nothing raſhly.

37 For ye haue brought hither theſe men, which are neither robbers of Churches, nor yet blaſphemers of your goddeſſe.

38 Wherefore if Demetrius, and the crafts men which are with him, haue a matter againſt any man, the law is open, and there are deputies, let them accuſe one another.

39 But if ye enquire any thing concerning other matters, it ſhalbe determined in a lawfull aſſembly.

40 For we are in ieopardie to be accuſed of this dayes vprore, foraſmuch as there is no cauſe wherby we may giue a rekoning of this concourſe of people.

41 And when he had thus ſpoken, he let the aſſembly depart.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. XIX.

Rhem. 8. 12. Napkins.) *The napkins that had touched S. Paules body, wrought miracles, and it was no ſuperſtition to attribute that vertue to them which God gaue to them in deede: nor to ſeeke to touch them for health, was any diſhonour to God, but it much proued Chriſtes religion to be true, and him to be the only God, whoſe ſeruants, yea whoſe ſeruants * ſhades and napkins could do ſuch wonders, as S. Chryſoſtome (to. 5. cont. Gentiles, quod Chriſtus ſit Deus, in vit. Babylæ) ſheweth in a whole booke to that purpoſe, againſt the Pagans, proouing hereby and by the like vertue of other Saincts and their Reliques, that Chriſt their Lord & Maiſter is God. for it is al one concerning the bodies of Saincts, reliques, garments, ſtatues, bookes, or any thing that belonged to them, al which may and haue done and yet doe (when it is neceſſarie to our edification) the like wonders to Gods great honour: not only in their life time, but after their death much more. for S. Paules napkins had as great force when he was dead, as when he liued, and ſo much more, as his grace and dignitie with God is greater then before. Which S. Chryſoſtom in the place alleaged proueth at large by the ſhrine of S. Babylas the Martyr: and to thinke the contrarie, is the Hereſie of Vigilantius, condemned ſo long ſince as S. Hierom's time, and by him refuted abundantly.*

Touching of Relikes, & miracles done by the ſame. Act. 5, 15.

Fulke. 8. There was no vertue in the napkins by touching of S. Paules body: the text ſaith plainly, the miracles were wrought of God by the hand of Paule. The napkins and handkercheſes were but outward tokens, to confirme the faith of them that were to be healed in the abſence of the apoſtle, that they might know that the gift of healing which he had receiued of God, was not tied to the preſence of his body, but that he could (whē it pleaſed God) diſpenſe it being abſent: not that whoſoeuer touched thoſe napkins was by & by healed. The miracles whereof Chryſoſtome ſpeaketh, which were wrought at the ſepulchres of Martyrs, doe in deed commend the grace of Chriſt their maiſter, whoſe faithfull witneſſes they were. But therof it followeth not, that all things which haue touched holy men, muſt be honored ſuperſtitiouſly as their reliques, or that we muſt looke for miracles at the tombes of euery ſainct. Finally whatſoeuer Hierome in heat wrote againſt Vigilantius, who reprooued the ſuperſtition that began to grow in honoring of ſaincts reliques, is nothing to defend the cart-lodes of your counterfect reliques, which are ſuch groſſe impoſtures and coſenages of the world, as the like impudencie in faining of ſuperſtitious fables to deceiue men with idolatrie, was neuer found in the pagans. He that hath not obſerued of his owne knowledge and experience, may read in Caluins admonition concerning reliques. Which admonition if it had bene, or yet might be followed, that an inuentary were made of all the ſaincts reliques that were ſaid to be in euery church and abbey, the monſters of popiſh reliques would exceed Lucians true narrations. Where you ſay that reliques doe yer wonders amongſt you, they be none other but the lying ſignes of antichriſt, & if they were rightly examined, they would proue to be nothing els but forgeries. But if any wonders be wrought to mainteine idolatry and ſuperſtition (as S. Auguſtine ſaith of the miracles of the Donatiſts) we haue more need to beware of them. De vnit. eccl. cap. 16. For miracles are not ſufficient to commend any religion to be true, but true religion commendeth true miracles. The Montaniſts had miracles, as witneſſeth Tertullian. lib. De anima cap. Nihil anime. Marcus the heretike wrought wonders about the ſacrament of the cup. Irenæus lib. 1. cap. 9. Vigilantius was not condemned of hereſy by the church, although Hierome did write ſo bitterly againſt him, who did write alſo againſt S. Auguſtine, and againſt Ruffinus, which yet were counted as good catholiks as he. As for Vigilantius, neither by Epiphanius, Philaſtrius, Auguſtine, Theodoret, or any that gathered the catalogue of heretiks & hereſies that were before their time is once touched, or his opinion againſt the immoderate eſtimation of reliques condemned.

Miracles.

Reliques.

Rhem. 9. 16. Paul I know.) *Both the ſaid napkins taken from S. Paules body, and his name alſo, were dreadful and able to expel diuels. Whereby we learne that not only Chriſtes name, which is the principal, but his ſeruants names alſo inuocated vpon the poſſeſſed, haue power ouer diuels: which is a marueilous honour to Saincts, & nothing diminiſheth the glorie of Chriſt, but exceedingly increaſeth the ſame, not only him ſelf, but his ſeruants alſo being able to do ſuch things, and to be ſtronger then any Diuel in Hel. So we read in * S. Hierom that many did inuocate the name of S. Hilarion vpon the poſſeſſed, and the Diuels ſtraight departed, ſo did the Diuel know * S. Babylas and other Saincts, euen after they were dead, when they could not ſpeake for the preſence of their Reliques, and when they were tormented and expelled by them: whereof al antiquitie is ful of teſtimonies. But our Heretikes Luther and Caluin and their Scholers attempting to caſt out Diuels, ſped much like as theſe good fellowes did.*

In vit. Hilarionis. Chryſ. loco citato.

The name, or preſence, or Reliques of Saincts & holy men, confound the Diuel.

Fulke. 9. The deuill in this place obeied neither the name of Paule nor of Ieſus, therfore neither of both names vttered by coniurers were able to expell deuils. And therfore I maruell wherupon you dreamed, when you gathered this note vpon theſe words, Paule I know. In S. Hierome we read that many by S. Hilarion were deliuered from deuils, but that any other did caſt out deuils in his name we read not. Of the miracles done at the tombs of martyrs I haue ſpoken before. That Luther & Caluin attempted to caſt out deuils, and ſped as theſe Iewiſh coniurers, it is a popiſh ſlander inuented by a lying ſpirit, which poſſeſſeth many papiſts.

Slander.

Rhem. 10 19. Curious things.) Curious and vnlawful ſciences, as Witchcraft, Necromancie, and other meanes of diuination by ſouthſaying, figure-caſting, interpretation of dreames, or any way not allowed by God and his Church, muſt much more be abhorred of old Chriſtians, when theſe ſo late ſ y conuerted were ſo zelous and diligent to leaue them. And by this example al thas are newly reconciled to the Church, are taught, the firſt thing they do, to burne their heretical and naughtie bookes.

ſuperſtitious, heretical, and al hurtful bookes muſt be made away.

If

Fulke.10 If hereticall bookes be confuted (as moſt of the popiſh bookes are) it is not neceſſarie to burne them. For by reading them with their confutations, the true Chriſtians ſhall learne more and more to deteſt their hereſies: as in the bookes confuted by S. Auguſtine, S. Cyrill, and others is manifeſt. But papiſts which know they can not preuaile againſt the truth, will haue all bookes of true doctrine (which they call hereſie) to be burned & defaced: yea euen the holy ſcriptures, if they be not of their owne tranſlation.

Rhem. 19. Bookes.) *A Chriſtian man is bound to burne or deface al wicked bookes of what ſort ſo euer, ſpecially Hereticall bookes. CHAP. XX.

Hauing viſited the Churches of Macedonia and Achaia (as he purpoſed Act. 19) and now about to ſaile from Corinth toward Hieruſalem, becauſe of the Iewes lying in wait for him, he is conſtrained to returne into Macedonia. 6 And ſo at Philippos taking boate, commeth to Troas, where vpon the Sunday, with a ſermon, and a miracle, he greatly confirmeth that Church. 13 Thence comming to Miletum, 17 he ſendeth to Epheſus for the Clergie of thoſe parties. to whom he maketh a Paſtoral ſermon, committing vnto their charge the flocke begunne by him there, and now like to be ſeen of him no more, conſidering the troubles that by reuelation he looketh for at Hieruſalem.

AND after that the tumult was ceaſed, Paul calling the diſciples, & exhorting them, tooke his leaue, and ſet forward to goe into Macedonia.

2 And whē he had walked through thoſe partes, and had exhorted them with much ſpeach, he came to Greece:

3 Where when he had ſpent three moneths, the Iewes laid wait for him as he was about to ſaile into Syria: and he had councel to returne through Macedonia.

4 And there accompanied him Soſipater of Pyrrhus, of Berœa: and of Theſſalonians, Ariſtarchus, & Secundus: and Caius of Derbē, and Timothee: and of Aſia, Tychicus & Trophimus.

5 Theſe going before, ſtaied for vs at Troas:

6 But we ſailed after the daies of Azymes from Philippi, and came to them vnto Troas in fiue daies, where we abode ſeuen daies.

7 And in the firſt of the Sabboth when we were aſſembled to † breake bread, Paul diſputed with them, being to depart on the morow, and he continued the ſermon vntil midnight.

8 And there were a great number of lampes in the vpper chamber where we were aſſembled.

9 And a certaine yong man named Eutychus, ſitting vpon the window, wheras he was oppreſſed with heauy ſleepe (Paul diſputing long) driuen by ſleepe, fel from the third loft downe, and was taken vp dead.

10 To whō when Paul was gone downe, he lay vpon him: & embracing him he ſaid, Be not troubled, for his ſoule is in him,

11 And

And after the vprore was ceaſſed, Paule called the diſciples, and tooke his leaue of them, and departed, for to goe into Macedonia.

2 And when he had gone ouer thoſe partes, and had giuen them a long exhortation, he came into Greece,

3 And there abode three moneths: & when the Iewes laid wait for him, as he was about to ſaile into Syria, he purpoſed to returne thorow Macedonia.

4 And there accompanied him into Aſia Sopater of Berœa: and of the Theſſalonians Ariſtarcus, and Secundus, and Gaius of Derbe, and Timotheus: and out of Aſia Tychicus and Trophimus.

5 Theſe going before, tarried vs at Troas:

6 And we ſailed away from Philippos, after the dayes of ſweete bread, and came vnto them to Troas in fiue dayes, where we abode ſeuen dayes.

7 And vpon one of the Sabboth dayes, when Act. 2. 46. *the diſciples came together for to*breake bread, Paule reaſoned with them, ready to depart on the morrow, and continued the talke vnto midnight.*

8 And there were many lightes in an vpper chamber where they were gathered together.

9 And there ſate in a window a certaine yoong man named Eutychus, being fallen into a deepe ſleepe: and as Paule was long reaſoning, he was the more ouercome with ſleepe, and fell downe from the third loft, and was taken vp dead.

10 But when Paule went downe, he fell on him, and embraced him, and ſaid, Make nothing a doe: for his life is in him.

11 When

11 And going vp and breaking bread & taſting, & hauing talked ſufficiently to them vntil day light, ſo he departed.

12 And they brought the lad aliue, and were not a litle comforted.

13 But we going vp into the ſhip, ſailed to Aſſon, from thence meaning to receiue Paul. for ſo he had ordained, him ſelf purpoſing to iourney by land.

14 And when he had found vs in Aſſon, taking him with vs we came to Mityléne.

15 And ſailing thence, the day folowing we came ouer againſt Chios: and the other day we arriued at Samos: and the day folowing we came to Miletum.

16 For Paul had purpoſed to ſaile leauing Epheſus, leſt any ſtay ſhould be made him in Aſia. For he haſtened, if it were poſſible for him, to keepe the day of ‖ Pentecoſt at Hieruſalem.

17 And ſending from Miletum to Epheſus, he called the [c] Auncients of the Church.

18 Who being come to him, and aſſembled together, he ſaid to them, You know * from the firſt day that I entred into Aſia, in what maner I haue been with you al ỹ time,

19 Seruing our Lord with al humilitie and teares, and tentations, that did chaunce to me by the conſpiracies of the Iewes:

20 Howe I haue withdrawen nothing that was profitable, but that I preached it to you, and taught you openly and from houſe to houſe, 21 Teſtifying to Iewes and Gentils ‡ penance toward God and faith in our Lord IESVS CHRIST.

22 And now behold, being bound by the ſpirit, I goe to Hieruſalem: not knowing what things ſhal befal me in it,

23 But that the Holy Ghoſt through out al cities doth proteſt to me, ſaying: that bands & tribulatiõs abide me at Hieruſalem.

24 But I feare none of theſe things, neither doe I make my life more pretious then my ſelf, ſo that I may conſummat my courſe and miniſterie which I receiued of our Lord IESVS, to teſtifie the Goſpel of the grace of God.

25 And now behold I doe know, that you ſhal no more ſee my face al you, through whom I haue paſſed preaching the kingdom of God.

26 Wherfore I take you to witneſſe this preſent day that I am cleere from the bloud of al.

27 For

[c] That is, Priests, as Act. 15,4. See the marginal annot. there. Act. 19,1.

11 When he therefore was come vp againe, and had broken bread and eaten, and talked a long while, euen till the morning, ſo he departed.

12 And they brought the yong man aliue, and were not a litle comforted.

13 And we went afore to ſhip, and ſailed vnto Aſſon, there to receiue Paul: for ſo had he appointed, minding himſelfe to goe afoote.

14 And when he was come to vs to Aſſon, we tooke him in, and came to Mitylene.

15 And we ſailed thence, and came the next day ouer againſt Chios, and the next day we arriued at Samos, & taried at Trogyllium: the next day we came to Miletum.

16 For Paul had determined to ſaile ouer by Epheſus, becauſe he would not ſpende the time in Aſia: for he haſted, if it were poſſible for him, to be at Hieruſalem the day of Pentecoſt.

17 And from Miletum he ſent to Epheſus, and called the Elders of the Church.

18 Which when they were come to him, he ſaid vnto them, Ye know from the firſt day that I came into Aſia, after what maner I haue bene with you at all ſeaſons,

19 Seruing the Lord with all humbleneſſe of minde, and with many teares, and temptations, which came vnto me by the layings of waite of the Iewes:

20 And how I kept backe nothing that was profitable vnto you, but haue ſhewed you, and haue taught you openly and throughout euery houſe, 21 Witneſſing both to the Iewes and alſo to the Greekes, the repentance that is toward God, and the faith which is toward our Lorde Ieſus Chriſt.

22 And now behold, I goe bound in the ſpirit vnto Hieruſalem, not knowing the things that ſhall come vnto me:

23 But that the holy Ghoſt witneſſeth in euery citie, ſaying that bondes and troubles abide me.

24 But none of theſe things mooue me, neither count I my life deare vnto my ſelfe, ſo that I might fulfill my courſe with ioy, and the miniſterie which I haue receiued of the Lord Ieſu, to teſtifie the Goſpel of the grace of God.

25 And nowe beholde, I am ſure that henceforth ye all, among whom I haue gone preaching the kingdome of God, ſhall ſee my face no more.

26 Wherefore, I take you to record this day, that I am pure from the bloud of all men.

27 For I haue not ſpared to declare vnto you al the counſel of God.

28 Take heede to your ſelues and to the whole flocke wherin the ‡ Holy Ghoſt hath placed you biſhops, to rule the Church of God which he hath purchaſed with his own bloud.

29 I know that after my departure there wil ‖ rauening wolues enter in among you, not ſparing the flocke.

30 And out of your owne ſelues ſhal ariſe men ſpeaking peruerſe things, to draw away diſciples after them ſelues.

31 For the which cauſe be vigilant, keeping in memorie that for three yeres night and day I ceaſed not with teares to admoniſh euery one of you.

32 And now I commend you to God and to the word of his grace, who is able to edifie, and to giue inheritance in all the ſanctified.

33 No mans ſiluer and gold or garment haue I coueted.

34 Your ſelues know that for ſuch things as were needful for me and them that are with me, theſe hands haue miniſtred.

35 I haue ſhewed you al things, that ſo labouring, you muſt receiue the weake, and remember the word of our Lord IESVS, becauſe he ſaid, ‖ It is a more bleſſed thing to giue rather then to take.

36 And when he had ſaid theſe things, falling on his knees he praied with al them.

37 And there was great weeping made of al, and falling vpon the necke of Paul, they kiſſed him.

38 Being ſorie moſt of al for the word which he had ſaid, that they ſhould ſee his face no more. And they brought him going vnto the ſhippe.

‡ Biſhops or Prieſts (for then theſe names were ſometime vſed indifferently) gouernours of the Church of God, and placed in that roome and high function by the Holy Ghoſt.

27 For I haue kept nothing backe, but haue ſhewed you all the counſell of God.

28 Take heede therefore vnto your ſelues, and to all the flocke, ouer the which the holy ghoſt hath made you ouerſeers, to rule the Church of God, which he hath purchaſed with his owne blood.

29 For I know this, that after my departing, ſhall grieuous wolues enter in among you, not ſparing the flocke.

30 Alſo of your owne ſelues ſhall men ariſe, ſpeaking peruerſe things, to draw away diſciples after them.

31 Therefore watch, and remember that by the ſpace of three yeeres I ceaſed not to warne euery one night and day with teares.

32 And now brethren, I commend you to God, and to the worde of his grace, which is able to build further, and to giue you an inheritance among all them which are ſanctified.

33 I haue deſired no mans ſiluer, or gold, or veſture.

*34 Yea, ye your ſelues know, that theſe hands haue miniſtred vnto my neceſſities, and to them that were with me. 1.Cor.4.12. 1.theſ.2.9. 2.theſ.3.8.

35 I haue ſhewed you all things, how that ſo labouring ye ought to helpe the weake, and to remember the wordes of the Lorde Ieſu (howe that he ſaid) It is more bleſſed to giue, then to receiue.

36 And when he had thus ſpoken, he kneeled downe, and praied with them all.

37 And they all wept ſore, and fell on Paules necke, and kiſſed him,

38 Sorowing moſte of all for the wordes which he ſpake, that they ſhoulde ſee his face no more: And they accompanied him vnto the ſhippe.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. XX.

Rhem.3. 16. Pentecoſt) Though the Apoſtles might deſire to come to the Iewes Feſtiuities, by reaſon of the general concourſe of people to the ſame, the better to deale for their ſaluation and to ſpred the Goſpel of Chriſt, yet it is like that they now kept ſolemnly the Chriſtian Pentecoſt or Whitſontide, for memorie of the Holy Ghoſt, and that S. Paul went to that Feaſt of the Chriſtians rather then the other of the Iewes. And Ven. Bede ſaith here, The Apoſtle maketh haſt to keepe the fifteth day, that is, of remiſſion and of the Holy Ghoſt. For, that the Chriſtians already kept the eight day, that is, the Sunday or our Lords day. and had altered already the ordinarie Sabboth into the ſame, it is plaine by the Scriptures, (1. Fulke 3. The Paſche and Pentecoſt now obſerued, doe differ from the Iewes feaſts: therefore the Apoſtles could not celebrate them both together. And the diuerſitie of celebration that was immediatly after the Apoſtles, argueth that the Apoſtles, (as in a thing indifferent,) decreed nothing certainly, which appeareth in the controuerſie betweene Polycarpus, and Anicetus, Irenæus apud Euſeb. lib. 5. Cap 26.

Rhem. 4. 29. Rauening wolues.) The gouernours of the Church are foretold of the great danger that ſhould fal to the people by wolues, that is to ſay, by Heretikes, whoſe cruelty toward the Catholikes is noted by this terme. They be knowen by the forſaking the vnitie of the Church whereof they were before, by going out and drawing many diſciples after them, and by their peruerſe doctrine. Such wolues came afterward in deede in diuers ages, Arius, Macedonius, Neſtorius, Eutyches, Luther, Caluin, great bloudſucking wolues, and waſters of the flocke of Chriſt. Rauening wolues are the Heretikes of al ages.

Fulke 4. Caluine and Luther were no rauening wolues, nor bloudſuckers, but faithfull and diligent Paſtors. Slander.

Rhem. 5. 35. More bleſſed to giue.) Among many other infinite goodly things and ſpeaches which Chriſt ſpake and be not written in the Goſpels, this ſentence is one: which S. Paul heard of ſome of the Apoſtles daily conuerſant with him, or els learned of Chriſt himſelf, or of the Holy Ghoſt. And it ſignifieth, that whereas the world commonly counteth him happie that receiueth any benefite, as almes either temporal or ſpiritual, yet in deede he that giueth or beſtoweth, is more happie. Which if the world did wel conſider, men would giue almes faſter then they do, if it were but for their owne benefite. Chriſts ſpeaches not written in the Goſpel. Great almeſmen bleſſed.

Fulke 5. This helpeth nothing your Popiſh vnwritten traditions, for this doctrine, though not in ſuch forme of wordes, yet in ſubſtance of matter, is written in the Goſpell yea in the Law and the Prophets. Vnwritten traditions.

CHAP. XXI.

From Miletum going on his iourney, 4 he can not be diſſuaded neither at Tyre, 8 nor at Cæſarea (in both which places the Holy Ghoſt reueled how he ſhould be handled in Hieruſalem, 10 the Prophet Agabus expreſly foretelling that the Iewes there ſhould deliuer him to the Gentils) 15 but to Hieruſalem he commeth: where being welcome to the Chriſtians, and namely to Iames the Biſhop, and to the Prieſts, while he goeth about to ſatisfie the Chriſtian Iewes there, who had been miſinformed of him as if he had taught it to be vnlawful for the Iewes to keepe Moyſes Law: 27 he is inuaded by the infidel Iewes, and ready to be murdered by them, vntil the Romane ſouldiars doe reſcue him.

AND when it came to paſſe that we ſailed, being caried from them, with a ſtraight courſe we came to Cóos, and the day following to Rhodes, and from thence to Pátara.

2 And when we had found a ſhip that paſſed ouer to Phœnice, going vp into it we ſailed.

3 And when we were in the ſight of Cypres, leauing it on the left hand, we ſailed into Syria, and came to Tyre: for there the ſhip was to diſcharge her lode.

4 And finding diſciples, we taried there ſeuen daies: who ſaid to Paul by the Spirit, that he ſhould not goe vp to Hieruſalem.

5 And the daies being expired, departing we went forward, al bringing vs on the way, with their wiues and children, til we were out of the citie: and falling vpon our knees on the ſhore, we praied.

6 And when we had bid one an other farewel, we went vp into the ſhip: and they returned vnto their owne.

7 But we hauing ended the nauigation, from Tyre came downe to Ptolomáis: and ſaluting the brethren, we taried one day with them.

8 And the next day departing, we came
Act. 6. 5. to Cæſarêa. And entring into the houſe of * Philip the Euangeliſt, who was one of the ſeuen, we taried with him.

AND when it came to paſſe that we had launched foorth, and were departed from them, we came with a ſtraight courſe vnto Choos, and the day following vnto the Rhodes, and from thence vnto Patara.

2 And when we had found a ſhip ſailing vnto Phœnice, we went aboord, and ſet foorth.

3 Now when Cyprus began to appeare vnto vs, we left it on the left hand, and ſailed into Syria, and came vnto Tyre: for there the ſhip vnladed the burden.

4 And when we had found diſciples, we taried there ſeuen daies: who ſaid to Paul through the ſpirite, that he ſhould not goe vp to Hieruſalem.

5 And when the daies were ended, we departed, and went our way, and they all brought vs on our way, with wiues and children, till we were come out of the citie: and we kneeled downe on the ſhore, and praied,

6 And when we had taken our leaue one of another, we tooke ſhip, and they returned home againe.

7 When we had full ended the courſe from Tyre, we went downe to Ptolomaida, and ſaluted the brethren, and abode with them one day.

8 And the next day, we that were of Paules companie, departed, and came vnto Cæſarea, and we entred into the houſe of Philip the Euangeliſt (which was one of the ſeuen) and abode* Act. 6. 5. with him.

9 And

9 And he had ‡ foure daughters ‖ virgins, that did prophecie.

10 And as we abode there for certaine daies, there came a certaine prophet from Iewrie, named Agabus.

11 He, when he was come to vs, tooke Paules girdle: and binding his owne handes and feete, he ſaid, Thus ſaith the holy Ghoſt: The man whoſe girdle this is, ſo ſhall the Iewes binde in Hieruſalem, and ſhal deliuer him into the handes of the Gentiles.

12 Which when we had heard, we and they that were of the ſame place, deſired him that he would not goe vp to Hieruſalem.

13 Then Paul anſwered, and ſaid, What doe you, weeping and afflicting my hart? for I am ready not only to be bound, but to die alſo in Hieruſalem for the name of our Lord IESVS.

14 And when we could not perſuade him, we ceaſed, ſaying, The will of our Lord be done.

15 And after theſe daies, being prepared, we went vp to Hieruſalem.

16 And there came alſo of the diſciples from Cæſarêa with vs, bringing with them one Iaſon a Cyprian (with whom we ſhould lodge) an old diſciple.

17 And when we were come to Hieruſalem, the brethren receiued vs gladly.

18 And the day following Paul went in with vs to Iames, and al the Auncients were aſſembled.

19 Whom when he had ſaluted, he told particularly what God had done among the Gentiles by his miniſterie.

20 But they hearing it, magnified God, and ſaid to him: Thou ſeeſt (brother) how many thouſands there are among the Iewes that haue beleeued: and al are zelátours of the Law.

21 But they haue heard of thee that thou doeſt teach thoſe Iewes that are among the Gentiles, to depart from Moyſes: ſaying that they ought not to circumciſe their children, nor walke according to the cuſtome.

22 What is it then? needes muſt the multitude aſſemble: for they will heare that thou art come.

23 Doe this therfore which we tel thee, There are with vs foure men, that haue a vowe on them.

24 Taking theſe vnto thee, ſanctifie thy ſelf with them: and beſtow on them, that they may * ſhaue their heads: and al ſhal know Nu.6,18.

9 And the ſame man had foure daughters, virgins, which did prophecie.

10 And as we taried there a good many of daies, there came a certaine Prophet from Iurie, named Agabus.

11 And when he was come vnto vs, he tooke Paules girdle, and bound his owne handes and feete, and ſayd, Thus ſayth the holy Ghoſt, So ſhall the Iewes at Hieruſalem binde the man that oweth this girdle, and ſhall deliuer him into the handes of the Gentiles.

12 And when we heard theſe things, both we and other which were of the ſame place, beſought him, that he would not goe vp to Hieruſalem.

13 Then Paul anſwered, What doe ye weeping and vexing mine heart? for I am ready not to be bound onely, but alſo to die at Hieruſalem for the name of the Lord Ieſus.

14 And when we could not turne his mind, we ceaſed, ſaying, The will of the Lord be fulfilled.

15 And after thoſe daies we tooke vp our burdens, and went vp to Hieruſalem.

16 There went with vs alſo certaine of the diſciples of Cæſarea, and brought with them one Mnaſon of Cyprus, an old diſciple, with whom we ſhould lodge.

17 And when we were come to Hieruſalem, the brethren receiued vs gladly.

18 And on the morow Paul went in with vs vnto Iames, and all the Elders came together.

19 And when he had ſaluted them, he told by order all things that God had wrought among the Gentiles by his miniſterie.

20 And when they heard it, they glorified the Lord, and ſaid vnto him, Thou ſeeſt, brother, how many thouſand Iewes there are which beleeue, and they are all earneſt followers of the lawe.

21 And they are enformed of thee, that thou teacheſt all the Iewes, which are among the Gentiles, to forſake Moſes, ſaying that they ought not to circumciſe their children, neither to walke after the cuſtomes.

22 What is it therefore? the multitude muſt needes come together: for they ſhall heare that thou art come.

23 Doe therefore this that wee ſaye to thee: We haue foure men which haue a vowe on them,

24 *Them take & purifie thy ſelfe with them, and doe coſt on them, that they may ſhaue their heads: * and all ſhall knowe that thoſe things* Nu.6.18.

27 But whiles the ſeuen dayes were a finiſhing, thoſe Iewes that were of Aſia, when they had ſeene him in the temple, ſtirred vp all the people, and laid hands vpon him,

28 Crying, Ye men of Iſraël, helpe: this is the man ỹ againſt the people and the Law and this place teaching al men euery where, hath alſo moreouer brought in Gẽtiles into the temple, & hath violated this holy place.

29 (For they had ſeene Trophimus the Epheſian in the citie with him, whom they ſuppoſed ỹ Paul had brought into ỹ temple.)

30 And ỹ whole citie was in an vproare: and there was made a concourſe of ỹ people. And apprehẽding Paul, they drew him forth of ỹ temple: & immediatly ỹ dores were ſhut.

31 And as they ſought to kill him, it was told the Tribune of the band, That all Hieruſalem is in a confuſion.

32 Who forthwith taking vnto him ſouldiars and Centurions, ranne downe to them. Who, when they had ſeene the Tribune and the ſouldiars, ceaſed to ſtrike Paul.

33 Then ỹ Tribune comming neere apprehended him, and commaunded him to be bound with two chaines: and he demaunded who he was, and what he had done.

34 And ſome cryed one thing, ſome an other, in ỹ multitude. And whereas he coulde not knowe the certaintie for the tumult, he 35 And whẽ he was come to the ſtaires, it chaunced that he was caried of the ſouldiars becauſe of the violence of the people.

36 For the multitude of the people folowed, crying, Away with him.

37 And when Paul began to be brought into the caſtel, he ſaith to the Tribune, Is it lawfull for me to ſpeake ſome thing to thee? Who ſaid, Canſt thou ſpeake Greeke?

38 Art not thou the Aegyptian ỹ before theſe daies did raiſe a tumult, and didſt leade forth into ỹ deſert foure thouſand men, that were murderers.

which they had heard concerning thee, are nothing, but that thou thy ſelfe alſo walkeſt and keepeſt the lawe.

*26 Then Paul tooke the men, and the next day purifying him ſelfe with them, entred into the temple, * declaring the accompliſhment of the dayes of the purification, vntill that an offering ſhould be offered for euery one of them.* Num.6.13.

27 And when the ſeuen dayes were almoſt ended, the Iewes which were of Aſia, when they ſawe him in the temple, mooued all the people, and laid handes on him,

28 Crying, Men of Iſrael, helpe: this is the man that teacheth all men euery where againſt the people, and the lawe, and this place: he hath alſo brought Greekes into the temple, and hath polluted this holy place.

29 (For they had ſeene before with him in the citie, Trophimus an Epheſian, whom they ſuppoſed that Paul had brought into the temple.)

30 And all the citie was mooued, and the people ſwarmed together: and they tooke Paul, and drewe him out of the temple: and foorthwith the doores were ſhut.

31 And as they went about to kil him, tidings came vnto the high captaine of the ſouldiers, that all Hieruſalem was in an vprore.

32 Which immediatly tooke ſouldiers, and vndercaptaines, and ranne downe vnto them: and when they ſawe the chiefe captaine and the ſouldiers, they left ſmiting of Paul.

As the people in the tumult, ſo alſo the very chiefe of the Iewes in their Councell ſhewe themſelues obſtinate, and wilfull perſecutors of the trueth in S. 4 And they that ſtood by, ſaid, Reuileſt thou Gods high prieſt?

5 Then ſaide Paul, I wiſt not brethren, that he was the high prieſt: For it is written, * Thou ſhalt not curſe the ruler of thy people. Exo. 22. 28.

11 And the night following, the Lord ſtood by him, and ſaid, Be of good cheare, Paul: for as thou haſt teſtified of mee in Hieruſalem, ſo muſt thou beare witneſſe alſo at Rome.

12 And whē it was day, certaine of the Iewes gathered themſelues together, and made a vowe, ſaying that they would neither eate nor drinke til they had killed Paul.

Rhem. 1. 12. The Sadducees.) This was the worſt Herſie among the Iewes, denying that there be any Angels or ſpirits, the Reſurrection alſo of the bodies: and conſequently (as it may very wel be gathered by the booke of the Machabees) they denied prayer for the dead, for to offer or pray for the dead, and to thinke rightly and religiouſly of the Reſurrection, are made their conſequels one of another. Of this ſect of Sadducees was (as Euſebius writeth li.2.c.22.Ec.hiſt.) this Ananias the High Prieſt, that cauſed Paul to be ſmitten, for their Prieſthod had now no more the protection of God to preſerue it in truth and right iudgement, the Chriſtian Prieſthod being then eſtabliſhed. Mac.li.2.c.12.43. The Sadducees (as it ſeemeth) denied prayer for the dead.

Fulke 1. Of trueth, nothing but trueth can be concluded, but of falſhod not onely falſhod, but ſometime trueth. As this trueth, that the dead are not to be prayed for, doeth folowe of the falſe opinion of the Sadducees, that the ſoule is mortall ſuppoſed to be true, and ſo doe many other trueths. As for example, the ſoules of the righteous be not in torment after their death, the ſoules of the wicked be not in heauen after their death, &c. Not onely Ananias was a Sadducee, but alſo Annas and Caiphas, before Chriſts death. Caiphas doeth proue him ſelfe to be a Sadducee by his ſaying, *Ioan.*11.50. wherein he ſpake the trueth againſt his meaning. Annas is ſhewed to be a Sadducee, *Act.*4.1.& 6. And Ioſephus teſtifieth, that the Sadducees were chiefe in dignitie, and had the gouernment many times among the Iewes, therefore it is not vnlike, but many of that vile ſect by briberie aſpired to the high Prieſts office *Antiqu.lib.*18.*cap.*2. High Prieſts Sadducees.

Rhem. 2. 12. Vowed them ſelues.) Such vowes, othes, or execrations as this, binde no man before God, yea they muſt in no wiſe be obſerued. It is a great offence either to vow voluntarily, or to take any ſuch thing vpon a man, for feare or by commandement. For example, if thou haue raſhly by promiſe, vow, or othe appointed to be reuenged vpon any man, thou bindeſt not thy ſelfe thereby, neither muſt thou keepe thy promes. If thou be put to an othe to accuſe Catholikes for ſeruing God a. they ought to doe, or to vtter any innocent man to Gods enemies and his, thou ought eſt firſt to refuſe ſuch vnlawfull othes: but if thou haue not conſtancie and courage ſo to do, yet know thou that ſuch othes binde me at all in conſcience aad Law of God, but may and muſt be broken vnder paine of damnation. For to make or take ſuch vowes or othes, is one ſinne, and to keepe them, is an other far greater as when Herode, to keepe his othe, killed Iohn Baptiſt. And ſuch vowes and othes to God as theſe, are vnlawful & muſt be broken: and not the vowes of Chaſtitie and religion, as our new Miniſters teach by their words and workes. Vnlawful othes & vowes muſt not be kept. *Mat.*14.9.

Fulke 2. He that voweth that which he is not able to performe, doth likewiſe ſinne, and doth of neceſſitie breake that vow, which he is not able to keepe. And if any man take an oth to diſcouer true Catholikes, he is bound to performe it. For it is no ſinne abſolutely to diſcouer them, that may without ſinne diſcouer themſelues. And many vowes and othes, are vnlawful to be made, which when they are made, it is lawful to keepe, as the othe made to the Gibeonites, the breach whereof was puniſhed in Sauls poſteritie, 2.*Sam.*21. And if it were ſinne abſolutely to diſcouer them, yet it is not lawful to lye in denying or concealing of them. Wherefore your doctrine ſauoureth ſtrongly of the ſect of the Priſcillianiſts, which ſaid: Iura, periura, ſecretum prodere noli, Sweare and forſweare, but bewray no ſecrets. Although obſtinate Papiſts, whom you affirme to be true Catholikes, be in deede ranke heretikes and traitours. Vowes.

They proſecute him to Ceſarea, bringing with them an orator, who before the Preſident Felix accuſith him. 10 He anſwereth, defending himſelf from the crimes they charged him with, but confeſſing his religion plainly. 22 The Iudge [perceiuing his religion to be irreprehenſible, yeldeth not to condemne him as their pleaſure, 24 yea he oftentimes with his wife heareth his preaching, 27 but yet doth not his dutie to deliuer him out of priſon.

AND after fiue daies the high prieſt Ananias deſcended, with certaine auncients and one Tertullus an orator, who went to the Preſident againſt Paul.

2 And Paul being cited, Tertullus began to accuſe, ſaying. Whereas we liue in much peace by thee, & many things are corrected by thy prouidence:

3 We do alwaies and in al places receiue it, moſt excellent Felix, with al thankeſgiuing.

4 But leſt I hinder thee any longer, I deſire thee of thy clemencie briefly to heare vs.

5 We haue founde this man peſtiferous, and raiſing ſeditions to all the Iewes in the whole world, and authour of the ſedition [c] of the ſecte of the Nazarenes,

AND after fiue dayes, Ananias the high prieſt deſcended, with the Elders, and with a certaine Orator, named Tertullus, which appeared before the deputie againſt Paul.

2 And when Paul was called forth, Tertullus began to accuſe him, ſaying, Seeing that we haue obtained great quietneſſe by the meanes of thee, and that many good things are done vnto this nation through thy prouidence,

3 That allowe we euer, and in all places, moſt noble Felix, with all thanks.

4 Notwithſtanding, that I be not tedious vnto thee, I pray thee, that thou wouldeſt heare vs of thy courteſie a fewe words.

5 For we haue found this man a peſtilent fellow, and a moouer of debate vnto all the Iewes in the whole worlde, and a maintainer of the ſect of the Nazarites.

6 Which alſo hath gone about to pollute the temple: whome we tooke, and would haue iudged according to our lawe.

7 But the high captaine Lyſias came vpon vs, and with great violēce tooke him away out of our hands,

8 Cõmanding his accuſers to come to thee, of whom thou mayſt thy ſelf iudging, vnderſtãd of al theſe things, wherof we accuſe him.

9 And the Iewes alſo added, ſaying that theſe things were ſo.

10 But Paul anſwered, (the Preſidẽt making a ſigne vnto him for to ſpeake.) Knowing that of many yeres thou art iudge ouer this nation, I wil with good courage anſwer for my ſelf.

11 For thou maieſt vnderſtand that it is not aboue twelue daies to me, ſince I went vp to adore in Hieruſalem.

12 And neither in the temple did they finde me diſputing with any man, or cauſing concourſe of the multitude, neither in the ſynagogs, nor in the citie:

13 Neither can they proue vnto thee the things wherof they now accuſe me.

14 But this I confeſſe to thee, that [c]according to the ‡ſecte, which they cal hereſie, I do ſo ſerue [a] the father my God, beleeuing all things ỳ are writtẽ in ỳ Law & the Prophets:

15 Hauing hope in God, the which theſe alſo them ſelues expect, that there ſhal be a reſurrection of iuſt and vniuſt.

16 In this my ſelf alſo do ſtudie to haue a cõſcience without offence toward God and toward men alwaies.

17 And after many yeres *I came to beſtowe almes vpon my nation, and oblations, and vowes.

18 In the which they foũd me *purified in the temple: not ẅ multitude nor with tumult.

19 But certaine Iewes of Aſia, who ought to be preſent before thee & to accuſe, if they had any thing againſt me:

20 Or let theſe men themſelues ſay, if they haue found in me any iniquitie, foraſmuch as I ſtand in the Councel,

21 But of this one voice only that I cried ſtanding among them, That *of the reſurrectiõ of the dead am I iudged this day of you.

22 And Felix differred thẽ, knowing moſt certainly of this way, ſaying, Whẽ Lyſias the Tribune is come downe, I wil heare you.

23 And he cõmanded the Centurion to keepe him, and ỳ he ſhould haue reſt, neither to prohibit any of his to miniſter vnto him.

24 And after ſome daies, Felix comming with Druſilla his wife, which was a Iew, called Paul, and heard of him the faith that is in Chriſt IESVS.

25 And he diſputing of ‡iuſtice & chaſtitie, & of the iudgement to come, Felix being terrified, anſwered, For this time, go thy way: but ‡ Becauſe Tertullus † Iewes ornour called Chriſtian religion the ſect or (as it is there verſ 5. in the Greeke) the hereſie of the Nazarens: S. Paul anſwereth and ſheweth that it is no hereſie. And as for the word, Seft, in this place: it is in the Greeke, According to the way, which they cal hereſie, as alſo Act. 9.2.24.22. And therfore the word ſect here is ſo taken. See Annot. 28.22.

[a] the God of my fathers, Ro.15,28. Act 21,16. Act.23,6.

8 Cõmanding his accuſers to come vnto thee, of whom thou maiſt, if thou wilt enquire, know the certainty of al theſe things wherof we accuſe him.

9 And the Iewes likewiſe affirmed, ſaying, that theſe things were ſo.

10 Then Paul, after that the deputie himſelfe had beckened vnto him that he ſhould ſpeake, anſwered, With a more quiet minde do I anſwer for my ſelfe, for as much as I vnderſtand that thou haſt bene of many yeeres iudge vnto this nation:

11 Becauſe that thou maieſt know, that there are yet but twelue dayes, ſince I went vp to Hieruſalem for to worſhip.

12 And they neither found mee in the temple diſputing with any man, neither raiſing vp the people, neither in the Synagogues, nor in the citie:

13 Neither can they proue the things wherof they accuſe me.

14 But this I confeſſe vnto thee, that after the way which they call hereſie, ſo worſhip I the God of my fathers, beleeuing all things which are written in the Lawe and the Prophets,

15 And haue hope towards God, that the reſurrectiõ of the dead, which they themſelues looke for alſo, ſhall be both of the iuſt and vniuſt.

16 And herein ſtudy I, to haue alway a cleare conſcience toward God, and toward men.

17 Now after many yeres, I came & brought almes to my nation, and offrings:

19 Howbeit, there were certaine Iewes out of Aſia,

20 Which ought to bee here preſent before thee, and accuſe me, if they had ought againſt me.

21 Or els let theſe ſame here ſay, if they haue found any euill doing in me while I ſtand here in the councel.

*22 Except it be for this one voice, that I cried ſtanding among them, * That of the reſurrection* Acts.23.7.
from the dead, am I iudged of you this day.

23 And when Felix heard theſe things, he diferred them: for he knew very well of that way, and ſaid, Whẽ Lyſias the captaine is come downe, I will know the vttermoſt of your matter.

24 And he commaunded an vndercaptaine to keepe Paul, and to let him haue reſt, and that he ſhould forbid none of his acquaintance to miniſter vnto him, or to come vnto him.

25 And after certaine dayes, when Felix came with his wife Druſilla, which was a Ieweſſe, he called foorth Paul, and heard him of the faith which is toward Chriſt.

26 And as he reaſoned of righteouſneſſe, temperance and iudgement to come, Felix trembled, and anſwered, Goe thy way for this time, when I haue but in time cõuenient I wil ſend for thee.

26 Hoping alſo withal, ẏ money would be giuen him of Paul, for ẏ which cauſe alſo oftentimes ſending for him, he ſpake ẇ him.

27 But when two yeres were ended, Felix had a ſucceſſor Portius Feſtus. And Felix being willing to ſhew the Iewes a pleaſure, left Paul in priſon.

haue a conuenient ſeaſon, I wil ſend for thee.

27 He hoped alſo that money ſhould haue bene giuen him of Paul, that he might looſe him: wherefore he ſent for him the oftener, and communed with him.

28 But after two yeres, Portius Feſtus came into Felix roume: and Felix willing to ſhew the Iewes a pleaſure, left Paul bound.

MARGINAL NOTES. CHAP. XXIIII.

Rhem. 1. 25 Iuſtice and chaſtitie.) The Apoſtolike teaching was not of only or ſpecial faith, but of iuſtice, and chaſtitie, & iudgement, that is to ſay, of the terrour of Hel and other Gods iudgements in the next life anſwerable to our deedes in this world: by which the hearers were firſt terrified, & ſo induced to penance. How ſay Heretikes then that ſuch things make men hypocrites?

Fulke. 1. The right way to teach iuſtification by faith only in Chriſt, is begun with mans condemnation by the law, which requireth iuſtice, temperance and all vertues, moſt perfectly, in paine of damnation, and after men are iuſtified, to teach them alſo that all vertues are neceſſarie fruites of faith. And therfore you may goe looke what Heretikes doe ſay, that vertues make hypocrites. For we ſay no ſuch thing. But they that teach iuſtification before God by workes, or by keeping the law, doe rather make men hypocrites then truely iuſt, becauſe that of workes of the law, no man is iuſtified before God. Gal. 3. 10. 11.

Iuſtification by faith only. Slaunder.

CHAP. XXV.

After two yeres empriſonment the Iewes continew their ſute againſt him, ſoliciting the new Preſident Feſtus, 6 firſt at Hieruſalem, then at Cæſarea: 9 where through the Iewes partialitie he is faine to appeale vnto the Emperour: 13 and is in the meane time brought forth by Feſtus (giuing him good teſtimonie, notwithſtanding the exclamations of the Iewes againſt him) vnto king Agrippa and his Queene Bernice.

FESTVS therfore when he was come into the prouince, after three daies went vp to Hieruſalem from Cæſaréa.

2 And the cheefe prieſts, and principal men of the Iewes went vnto him againſt Paul: and they deſired him,

3 Requeſting fauour againſt him, that he would cõmaund him to be brought to Hieruſalem, laying waite for to kil him in ẏ way.

4 But Feſtus anſwered, that Paul is in Cęſaréa: & ẏ he would very ſhortly goe thither.

5 They therfore, ſaith he, that are of abilitie amõg you, going downe ẇ me, if there be any crime in the man, let them accuſe him.

6 And hauing taried among them not aboue eight or ten daies, he went downe to Cæſaréa, & the next day he ſate in the iudgement ſeate: and he commaunded Paul to be brought.

7 Who being brought, there ſtood about him the Iewes that were come downe from Hieruſalem, obiecting many and greuous [c] cauſes which they could not proue,

[c] crimes as v. 27.

8 Paul making anſwer, That neither againſt ẏ law of ẏ Iewes, nor againſt ẏ temple, nor againſt Cęſar haue I any thing offended.

9 But Feſtus willing to ſhew the Iewes a pleaſure, anſwering Paul, ſaid, Wilt thou goe vp to Hieruſalem, and there be iudged of theſe things before me?

10 And Paul ſaid, At Cæſars iudgement ſeate doe I ſtãd, where I ought to be iudged: the Iewes I haue not hurt, as thou very wel knoweſt.

THen when Feſtus was come into the prouince, after three daies he aſcended from Cæſarea to Hieruſalem.

2 Then enfourmed him the high prieſt and the chiefe of the Iewes, againſt Paul, & they beſought him.

3 And deſired fauour againſt him, that he would ſend for him to Hieruſalem, laying waite in the way to kill him.

4 But Feſtus anſwered, that Paul ſhould be kept at Cæſarea, and that he himſelfe would depart ſhortly thither.

5 Let them therefore, ſaid he, which among you are able, come downe with vs, & accuſe him, if there be any fault in this man.

6 And when he had taried among them more then ten daies, he went downe vnto Cæſarea, and the next day ſate downe in the iudgement ſeate, and commaunded Paul to be brought.

7 Who being come, the Iewes which were come from Hieruſalem, ſtoode about him, and laid many and grieuous complaints againſt Paul, which they could not proue,

8 While he anſwered for him ſelfe that neither againſt the law of the Iewes, neither againſt the temple, nor yet againſt Ceſar, haue I offended any thing at all.

9 But Feſtus willing to doe the Iewes a pleaſure, anſwered Paul, and ſaid, Wilt thou goe vp to Hieruſalem, and there be iudged of theſe things before me?

10 Thẽ ſaid Paul, I ſtand at Ceſars iudgemẽt ſeate, where I ought to be iudged: to the Iewes haue I done no wrong, as thou very wel knoweſt.

11 For if I haue hurt them, or done any thing worthie of death, I refuſe not to die. but if none of thoſe things be, whereof theſe accuſe me, no man can giue me to them. ‡ I appeale to Cæſar.

‡ If S. Paul both to ſaue him ſelf from whipping and from death ſought by the Iewes, doubted not to crie for ſuccour of the Romane lawes, and to appeale to Cæſar the Prince of the Romanes not yet Chriſtened: how much more may we call for aide of Chriſtian Princes and their lawes, for the puniſhment of Heretikes, and for the Churches defenſe againſt them? S. Auguſtine ep. 50.

12 Then Feſtus hauing conferred with the Councel, anſwered, Haſt thou appealed to Cæſar? to Cæſar ſhalt thou goe.

13 And when certaine daies were paſſed, king Agrippa and Bernice came downe to Cæſaréa to ſalute Feſtus.

14 And as they taried there a good many daies, Feſtus ſignified to the king, of Paul, ſaying, A certaine perſon was left priſoner by Felix, 15 Concerning whom, when I was at Hieruſalem, the cheefe prieſts and the auncients of the Iewes came vnto me, deſiring condemnation againſt him.

16 To whom I anſwered, That it is not the Romanes cuſtome to yeld vp any man before that he which is accuſed haue his accuſers preſent and take place to make his anſwer for to cleere him ſelf of the crimes.

17 When they therfore were aſſembled hither, without any delaie, the day folowing, ſitting in the iudgement ſeat, I commaunded the man to be brought.

18 Of whom, when ỳ accuſers ſtoode vp, they brought no cauſe which I thought il of:

19 But certaine queſtions of their owne ſuperſtition they had againſt him, and of ‡ one IESVS deceaſed, whom Paul affirmed to liue.

20 Doubting therfore of this kinde of queſtion, I ſayd, whether he would goe to Hieruſalem, and there be iudged of theſe things.

21 But Paul appealing to be kept vnto the knowledge of Auguſtus, I commaunded him to be kept, til I ſend him to Cæſar.

22 And Agrippa ſaid to Feſtus, My ſelf alſo would heare the man. To morow, ſaid he, thou ſhalt heare him.

23 And the next day when Agrippa and Bernice were come with great pompe, and had entred into the hall of audience with the Tribunes and principal men of the citie, at Feſtus commaundement Paul was brought.

24 And Feſtus ſaith, King Agrippa, and al ye men that are preſent together with vs, you ſee this man, concerning whom al the multitude of the Iewes called vpon me at Hieruſalem, requeſting and crying out that he ought not to liue any longer.

25 Yet haue I foūd nothing that he hath committed

11 For if I doe any wrong, or haue committed any thing worthy of death, I refuſe not to die: but if there be none of theſe things wherof they accuſe me, no man may deliuer me vnto them. I appeale vnto Cæſar.

12 Then ſpake Feſtus with the counſaile, and anſwered, Haſt thou appealed vnto Cæſar? vnto Cæſar ſhalt thou goe.

13 And after certaine daies, king Agrippa & Bernice, came vnto Cæſarea, to ſalute Feſtus.

14 And when they had bene there a good ſeaſon, Feſtus rehearſed Pauls cauſe vnto the king, ſaying, There is a certaine man left in bonds of Felix.

15 About whom, when I came to Hieruſalem, the high prieſts and the elders of the Iewes enformed me, and deſired to haue iudgement againſt him.

16 To whom I anſwered, Is it not the maner of the Romans, for fauour to deliuer any man that he ſhould periſh, before that he which is accuſed, haue the accuſers face to face, and haue licence to anſwere for him ſelfe, concerning the crime laid againſt him.

17 Therefore when they were come thither, without any delay, on the morow I ſate on the iudgement ſeate, and commanded the man to be brought forth.

18 Againſt whom, when the accuſers ſtoode vp, they brought none accuſation of ſuch things as I ſuppoſed:

19 But had certaine queſtions againſt him of their owne ſuperſtition, and of one Ieſus, which was dead, whom Paul affirmed to be aliue.

20 And becauſe I doubted of ſuch maner of queſtions, I asked him whether he would goe to Hieruſalē, and there be iudged of theſe matters.

21 But when Paul had appealed to be kept vnto the knowledge of Auguſtus, I commaunded him to be kept, till I might ſend him to Cæſar.

22 Then Agrippa ſaid vnto Feſtus, I would alſo heare the man my ſelfe. To morowe ſaid he, thou ſhalt heare him.

23 And on the morow when Agrippa was come and Bernice, with great pompe, and was entred into the counſaile houſe, with the chiefe captaines, and cheefe men of the citie, at Feſtus commandement was Paul brought forth.

24 And Feſtus ſaid, king Agrippa, and al men which are here preſent with vs, ye ſee this man, about whom all the multitude of the Iewes haue intreated me, both at Hieruſalem, and alſo here, crying that he ought not to liue any longer.

25 Yet found I nothing worthie of death, that committed worthy of death. But foraſmuch as he him ſelf appealed to Auguſtus, I haue determined to ſend him.

26 Of whom what to write for certaintie to my lord, I haue not. For ỹ which cauſe I haue brought him forth to you, and eſpecially to thee, king Agrippa, that examination being made, I may haue what to write.

27 For it ſeemeth to me without reaſon, to ſend a priſoner, and not to ſignifie his cauſes.

that he had committed: Neuertheleſſe, ſeeing that he hath appealed to Auguſtus, I haue determined to ſend him,

26 Of whom I haue no certaine thing to write vnto my Lord: Wherefore I haue brought him forth before you, and ſpecially before thee, O king Agrippa, that after examination had, I might haue ſomewhat to write,

27 For me thinketh it vnreaſonable for to ſend a priſoner, and not to ſhew the cauſes which are laid againſt him.

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. XXV.

Rhem. 1. 19 One IESVS deceaſed.) This whom he termeth by contempt, one IESVS, hath now made al the Romane Emperours & Princes of the world to know him, & hath giuē the ſeate of the Cæſars to his poore ſeruants, Peter & his ſucceſſors.

Fulke. 1. Ieſus Chriſt neuer gaue the citie of Rome, the ſeate of Cæſar to Peter, and much leſſe to the Pope, but the Pope hath vſurped it againſt Cæſar, contrarie to the expreſſe commandement of Chriſt: Giue vnto Cæſar, that which is Cæſars. Mat. 22.21.

CHAP. XXVI.

In that honorable Audience being permitted to ſpeake, 2 he declareth to the king what he firſt was, 12 and how miraculouſly he was conuerted, 19 and that he hath preached ſince, as he was commanded from heauen, and as the Prophets had foretold of Chriſt. 24 Which ſtrange tale Feſtus the Heathen Preſident hearing, ſaith that he is mad. 25 But he anſwereth, and exhorteth them al to be Chriſtians as he is. 30 They finally pronounce that he might be ſet at libertie, but only for his appeale.

BVt Agrippa ſaid to Paul, Thou art permitted to ſpeake for thy ſelf. Then Paul ſtretching forth his hand, began to make his anſwere.

2 Touching al things whereof I am accuſed of the Iewes, king Agrippa, I account my ſelf happie for that I am to defend my ſelf this day before thee,

3 Eſpecially whereas thou knoweſt al things that are among the Iewes, cuſtomes and queſtions: for the which cauſe I beſeech thee, heare me patiently.

4 And my life truely from my youth, which was from the beginning in my nation in Hieruſalem, al the Iewes doe know:

5 Knowing me before from the beginning (if they wil giue teſtimonie) that according to the moſt ſure [c] ſect of our religion I liued a Phariſee.

6 And now for the hope of the promiſſe that was made of God to our fathers, doe I ſtand ſubiect to iudgement.

7 [b] The which, our twelue tribes [c] ſeruing night and day, hope to come vnto. Of the which hope, o king, I am accuſed of ỹ Iewes.

8 What incredible thing is it iudged with you, if God raiſe the dead?

9 And my ſelf truely had thought that I ought to doe againſt the name of IESVS of Nazareth many contrarie things.

10 Which alſo I * did at Hieruſalem, and many of the ſaincts did I ſhut vp in priſons, hauing receiued authoritie of the cheefe prieſts: and when they were put to death, [c] I brought the ſentence.

11 And

Act. 8, 3.

[c] detuli ſententiam.

THen Agrippa ſaide vnto Paul, Thou art permitted to ſpeake for thy ſelfe. Then Paul ſtretched foorth the hand, and anſwered for him ſelfe.

2 I thinke my ſelfe happy, king Agrippa, becauſe I ſhal anſwere this day before thee of al the things where of I am accuſed of the Iewes:

3 Namely, becauſe thou art expert in all cuſtomes and queſtions which are among the Iewes: wherefore I beſeech thee to heare me patiently.

4 My life that I haue led of a childe, which was at the firſt among mine owne nation at Hieruſalem know all the Iewes,

5 Which knew me from the beginning, (if they would teſtifie) that after the moſt ſtraiteſt ſect of our religion, I lined a Phariſee.

6 And now I ſtand, and am iudged for the hope of the promiſe made of God vnto our fathers:

7 Vnto which promiſe our twelue tribes inſtantly ſeruing God day and night, hope to come: For which hopes ſake, king Agrippa, I am accuſed of the Iewes.

8 Why ſhould it be thought a thing incredible vnto you, that God raiſeth the dead?

9 I alſo verily thought in my ſelfe, that I ought to doe many contrarie things, cleane againſt the name of Ieſus of Nazareth:

*10 Which thing I alſo did in Hieruſalem, Act. 8. 3. and many of the ſainctes did I ſhut vp in priſon, hauing receiued authoritie of the high prieſts, and when they were put to death, I gaue the ſentence.

11 And through out al the ſynagogs often times puniſhing them, I compelled them to blaſpheme: and yet more mad againſt them, I perſecuted them euen vnto foraine cities.

Act.9.3. 12 Among which things whiles * I went to Damaſcus with authoritie & permiſſion of the cheefe prieſts, 13 At midday, in the way, I ſaw (o king) from heauen a light to haue ſhined round about me and them that were in companie with me, aboue the brightnes of the ſunne.

14 And whē al we were fallen downe on the ground, I heard a voice ſpeaking to me in the Hebrew tongue: Saul, Saul, why perſecuteſt thou me? It is hard for thee to kicke againſt the pricke.

15 And I ſaid, Who art thou Lord? And our Lord anſwered, I am IESVS whom thou doeſt perſecute.

16 But riſe vp and ſtand vpon thy feete: for to this end haue I appeared to thee, that I may ordaine thee a miniſter and witnes of thoſe things which thou haſt ſeen, and of thoſe things wherein I wil appeare to thee,

17 Deliuering thee out of the peoples and nations vnto the which now I ſend thee,

18 To open their eies, that they may be conuerted from darkenes to light, and from the power of Satan to God, that they may receiue remiſſion of ſinnes and lot among the ſainctes by the faith that is in me.

19 Whereupon, king Agrippa, I was not incredulous to the heauenly viſion:

20 But to them firſt that are at Damaſcus, and at Hieruſalem, and vnto al the countrie of Iewrie, and to the Gentiles * did I preach that they ſhould doe ‡ penance, and turne to God, doing workes worthie of penance.

Act.9.20.

21 For this cauſe the Iewes, when I was in the Temple, * apprehending me, attempted meaning to kil men.

Act.21,30.

22 But aided by the helpe of God, I ſtand vntil this day, teſtifying to ſmall and to great, ſaying nothing beſide thoſe thinge which the Prophets did ſpeake ſhould come to paſſe, and Moyſes.

23 If CHRIST were paſſible, if the firſt of the reſurrection from the dead, he were to ſhew light to the people & to the Gentiles.

24 As he ſpake theſe things and made his anſwere, Feſtus with a loud voice ſaid, Thou art mad, Paul: much learning turneth thee to madneſſe.

11 And I puniſhed them often in euery ſynagogue, and compelled them to blaſpheme, and was yet more mad vpon them, and perſecuted them euen vnto ſtrange cities.

*12 * About which things as I went to Damaſcus, with authoritie and commiſſion of the high prieſts,*

*13 * Euen at midday, O king, I ſawe in the way a light from heauen, aboue the brightneſſe of the ſunne, ſhine round about me, and them which iourneyed with me.*

14 And when we were all fallen to the earth, I heard a voice ſpeaking vnto me in the Hebrew tongue, and ſaying, Saul, Saul, why perſecuteſt thou me? It is hard for thee to kicke againſt the prickes.

15 And I ſaide, Who art thou, Lord? and he ſayd, I am Ieſus whom thou perſecuteſt.

16 But riſe and ſtand vpon thy feete, for I haue appeared vnto thee for this purpoſe, to make thee a miniſter and a witneſſe, both of theſe things which thou haſt ſeene, and of thoſe things in the which I wil appeare vnto thee,

17 Deliuering thee from the people, and from the Gentiles, vnto whome now I ſend thee,

18 To open their eyes, that they may be turned from darkeneſſe to light, and from the power of Satan vnto God, that they may receiue forgiuenes of ſinnes, and inheritance among them which are ſanctified by faith that is in me.

19 Wherefore, O king Agrippa, I was not diſobedient vnto the heauenly viſion:

20 But ſhewed firſt vnto them of Damaſcus, and at Hieruſalem, and thorowout al the coaſts of Iurie, and then to the Gentiles, that they ſhould repent and turne to God, and doe ſuch workes as become them that repent.

21 For this cauſe the Iewes caught me in the temple, and went about to kill me.

22 Seeing therefore that I haue obteined helpe of God, I continue vnto this day, witneſſing both to ſmall and great, ſaying none other thing then thoſe which the Prophets and Moſes did ſay ſhould come to paſſe:

23 That Chriſt ſhould ſuffer, and that hee ſhould be the firſt that ſhould riſe from the dead, and ſhould ſhew light vnto the people, and to the Gentiles.

24 And as hee thus ſpake for himſelfe, Feſtus ſayd with a loud voyce, Paul, thou art beſide thy ſelfe, much learning doeth make thee madde.

25 And

25 But

25 And Paul ſayd, I am not mad, moſt excellent Feſtus: but I ſpeake words of veritie and ſobrietie.

26 For the king knoweth of theſe things to whom alſo I ſpeake conſtantly. for I think none of theſe things to be vnknowē to him. For neither was any of theſe things done in a corner.

27 Beleeueſt thou the prophets, king Agrippa? I know that thou beleeueſt.

28 And Agrippa ſaid to Paul: A litle thou perſuadeſt me to become a CHRISTIAN.

29 And Paul ſayd, I wiſh of God, both in litle, and in much, not only thee, but alſo all that heare this day, to become ſuch as I am alſo, except theſe bands.

30 And the king roſe vp, and the Preſident, and Bernice, and they that ſate by thē.

31 And going aſide, they ſpake among themſelues, ſaying, That this man hath done nothing worthie of death or bandes.

32 And Agrippa ſayd to Feſtus, This man might be releaſed, if he had not appealed to Cæſar.

25 But he ſayd, I am not madde moſt noble Feſtus, but ſpeake foorth the words of trueth and ſoberneſſe.

26 For the king knoweth of theſe things, before whom alſo I ſpeake freely, neither beleeue I, that any of theſe things are hidden from him, for this thing was not done in a corner.

27 King Agrippa, beleeueſt thou the Prophets? I wote well that thou beleeueſt.

28 Then Agrippa ſaid vnto Paul, Somewhat thou perſwadeſt me to be a chriſtian.

29 And Paul ſaid, I would to God that not onely thou, but alſo all that heare me to day, were both ſomewhat, and alſo in a great deale ſuch as I am, except theſe bonds.

30 And when he had thus ſpoken, the king roſe vp, and the deputie, and Bernice, and they that ſate with them.

31 And when they were gone apart, they talked betweene themſelues, ſaying, This man doth nothing worthy of death, or of bonds.

32 Then ſaid Agrippa vnto Feſtus, This man might haue bene let looſe, if he had not appealed vnto Cæſar.

Rhem. 1. 20 Penance.) Penance often inculcated, and workes agreeable to the ſame.

Fulke. 1. S. Paul preached repentance, but neuer popiſh penance, whereof if he had ſpoken, none of that honorable audience could haue vnderſtood him. Therefore he vſeth that word in the ſame ſenſe it was commonly vnderſtood both of the Iewes and of the Gentiles, of whom this aſſembly did conſiſt. Popiſh penance.

CHAP. XXVII.

What a dangerous nauigation he had towards Rome: and that by his prediction and counſell the ſhip might haue bene ſaued. And for his ſake (as God alſo reuealed to him before) all the company was preſerued being 276. perſons.

AND after it was decreed that he ſhould ſaile into Italie, and that Paul with other priſoners ſhould be deliuered to a Centurion named Iulius, of the band Auguſta,

2 We going vp into a ſhip of Adrumētum, beginning to ſaile about the places of Aſia, looſed from the land, Ariſtarchus the Macedonian of Theſſalonica continuing with vs.

3 And the day following we came to Sidon. And Iulius intreating Paul courteouſly, permitted him to goe to his frendes, and to take care of himſelfe.

4 And when we had looſed thence, we ſailed vnder Cypres: becauſe the windes were contrarie.

5 And ſailing the ſea of Cilicia and Pamphilia, we came to [n] Lyſtra, which is in Lycia:

6 And there the Centurion finding a ſhip

AND when it was concluded that wee ſhould ſaile into Italy, they deliuered both Paul and certaine other priſoners, vnto one named Iulius, an vndercaptaine of Auguſtus band.

*2 * And we entred into a ſhip of Adramytium, and looſed from land, appointed to ſayle by the coaſtes of Aſia, one Ariſtarchus out of Macedonia, of the countrey of Theſſalonica, taryng ſtill with vs.* 2.Cor.11.32

3 And the next day we came to Sidon: And Iulius courteouſly entreated Paul, and gaue him libertie to goe vnto his friendes, and to refreſh himſelfe.

4 And when we had lanched from thence, wee ſailed hard by Cypres, becauſe the windes were contrary.

5 And when we had ſailed ouer the ſea of Cilicia and Pamphylia, we came to Myra a citie in Lyſia,

6 And there the vndercaptaine found a ſhip ſhip of Alexandria ſailing into Italie, remoued vs into it.

7 And whereas many dayes we ſayled ſlowly, and were ſcarſe come ouer againſt Gnidus, the wind hindering vs, we ſayled neere Crete by Salmóne:

8 And with much adoe ſailing by it, we came into a certaine place that is called Good-hauens, nigh to the which was a citie Thalaſſa.

9 And when much time was ſpent, and whereas now it was not ſafe ſailing, becauſe the ‡ faſt nowe was paſt, Paul comforted them,

‡ It may ſignifie the Iewes faſte of the ſeuenth moneth September, after which the nauigation was perillous, winter approching.

10 Saying to them, Ye men, I ſee that the ſailing begunneth to be with hurt and much damage not onely of the lading & the ſhip, but alſo of our liues.

11 But the Centurion beleeued the gouernor and maiſter of the ſhippe, more then thoſe things which were ſaid of Paul.

12 And whereas it was not a commodious hauen to winter in, very many taking counſel appointed to ſaile thence, if by any meanes they might comming to Phœnice, winter there, a hauē of Crete loking toward the c Afrike and the Chore.

c Names of winder.

13 And the ſouthwind blowing, they thinking that they had obteined their purpoſe, when they had parted from Aſſon, ſayled along by Crete.

14 But not long after, a tempeſtuous wind that is called Euro-aquilo, drouc againſt it.

15 And when the ſhip was caught and could not make way againſt the winde, giuing vp the ſhippe to the windes, we were driuen.

16 And running vpon a certaine iland, that is called c Cauda, we could ſcarſe get the cock-boate.

c Grec. Clauda.

17 Which being take vp, they vſed helps, girding the ſhip, and fearing leſt they ſhould fall into c the Syrte, letting downe the veſſel, ſo were they caried.

c A place of quicke ſandes.

18 And when we were mightily toſſed with the tēpeſt, the next day they caſt forth, 19 And the third day with their owne hands they threw forth the tacklings of the ſhip.

20 And neither ſunne, nor ſtarres appearing for many dayes, and no ſmal ſtorme being toward, all hope was now taken away of our ſauing.

21 And when there had bene long faſting, thē Paul ſtanding in the middes of thē, ſayd, You ſhould in deed, O ye men, haue heard of Alexandria ſailing into Italie, and he put vs therein.

7 And when we had ſailed ſlowly many daies and ſcarſe were come ouer againſt Gnidus, becauſe the wind withſtood vs, we ſailed hard by ‖ Candie, ouer againſt Salmone,

‖Or, Creta, which was an high hill of Candie.

8 And with much worke ſailed beyond it, and came vnto a place which is called the Faire hauens, nigh whereunto was the citie of Laſea.

9 When much time was ſpent, and when ſailing was now ieopardous, becauſe alſo that the faſte was now already paſt, Paul put them in remembrance.

10 And he ſaid vnto them, Sirs, I perceiue that this voiage will be with hurt and much damage, not of the lading and ſhip onely, but alſo of our liues.

11 Neuertheleſſe, the vndercaptaine beleeued the gouernour and the maiſter of the ſhippe, more then thoſe things which were ſpoken of Paul.

12 And becauſe the hauen was not commodious to winter in, many tooke counſaile to depart thence, if by any meanes they might attaine to Phœnice, and there to winter, which is an hauen of Candie, and lieth toward the Southweſt and Northweſt wind.

13 And when the South wind blew ſofily, they ſuppoſing that they had obtained their purpoſe, looſed vnto Aſſon, and ſailed paſt Candie.

14 But not long after, there aroſe againſt their purpoſe, a flaw of wind out of the Northeaſt, which is called Euroclydon.

15 And when the ſhip was caught, and could not reſiſt the wind, we let her goe, & were driuen with the weather.

16 But we were caried into an Iſle, which is called Clauda, and had much worke to come by a boate, 17 Which they tooke vp, and vſed helpe, and made faſt the ſhip, fearing leaſt they ſhould fall into the Syrtes: and ſo they let downe a ‖ veſſell, and were caried.

‖Some read, the ſailes.

18 The next day when we were toſſed with an exceeding tempeſt, they lighted the ſhip:

19 And the third day we caſt out with our owne hands the tackling of the ſhip.

20 And when neither the ſunne nor ſtarres in many dayes appeared, and no ſmall tempeſt lay vpon vs, all hope that we ſhould be ſaued was then taken away.

21 But after long abſtinence, Paul ſtoode forth in the middes of them, and ſayd, Syrs, yee ſhould haue hearkened vnto me, and not haue looſed heard me, and not parted from Crete, and haue gained this hurt and loſſe.

22 And now I exhort you to be of good cheere. for there ſhall be no loſſe of any ſoule among you, but of the ſhip.

23 For ‖ an Angel of the God whoſe I am, and ᶜ whom I ſerue, ſtood by me this night, 24 Saying, Feare not Paul, thou muſt appeare before Cæſar: and behold God hath ‡ giuen thee al that ſaile with thee.

25 For the which cauſe be of good chere ye men: for I beleeue God, that it ſhal ſo be, as it hath bene ſaid to me.

26 And we muſt come vnto a certaine iland.

27 But after the fourteenth night was come on vs, as we were ſailing in Adria about midnight, the ſhipmen deemed that there appeared ſome countrie to them.

28 Who alſo ſounding, found twentie fadomes: and being parted a litle frō thence, they found fifteene fadomes.

29 And fearing leſt we ſhould fall into rough places, caſting out of the ſterne foure ankers, they wiſhed that day were come.

30 But as the ſhipmen ſought to flee out of the ſhip, hauing let downe the cock-bote into the ſea, pretending as if they were about to caſt out ankers out of the fore part of the ſhip, 31 Paul ſayd to the Centurion and to the ſouldiars, ‖ Vnles theſe tarie in the ſhip, you cannot be ſaued.

32 Then the ſouldiars cut of the ropes of the cocke-boate: and ſuffered it to fall away.

33 And when it began to be light, Paul deſired all to take meate, ſaying, This day is the fourteenth day that you expect and remaine faſting, taking nothing.

34 For the which cauſe I deſire you to take meat for your health ſake: for there ſhal not an heare of the head periſh of any of you.

35 And when he had ſaid theſe things, taking bread, he gaue thanks to God in the ſight of them al: and when he had broken it, he began to eate.

36 And being al made of better cheere, they alſo tooke meate.

37 And we were in al in the ſhip, ſoules two hundred ſeuentie ſixe.

38 And being filled with meate, they lighted the ſhip, caſting the wheat into ẏ ſea.

39 And when day was come, they knew not the land: but they ſpied a certaine creeke that had a ſhore, into the which they minded, ſed from Candie, and to haue gained vnto vs this harme and loſſe.

22 And now I exhort you to bee of good cheere: for there ſhall be no loſſe of any mans life among you, but of the ſhip.

23 For there ſtood by mee this night the angel of God, whoſe I am, and whom I ſerue, 24 Saying, Feare not, Paul, thou muſt bee brought before Cæſar, and loe, God hath giuen thee all them that ſaile with thee.

25 Wherefore ſirs, be of good cheere: for I beleeue God, that it ſhall be euen as it was tolde me.

26 Howbeit, we muſt be caſt into a certaine Iland.

27 But when the fourteenth night was come, as we were ſailing in Adria about midnight, the ſhipmen deemed that they drew neere to ſome countrey:

28 And ſounded, and found it twentie fadomes: and when they had gone a litle further, they ſounded againe, & found it fifteene fadoms.

29 Then fearing leaſt we ſhould haue fallen on ſome rocke, they caſt foure ankers out of the ſterne, and wiſhed for the day.

30 And as the ſhipmen were about to flee out of the ſhip, when they had let downe the boate into the ſea, vnder a colour as though they would haue caſt ankers out of the foreſhip,

31 Paul ſaid to the vndercaptaine, & to the ſouldiers, Except theſe abide in the ſhip, ye can not be ſaued.

32 Then the ſouldiers cut off the rope of the boate, and let it fall away.

33 And when the day began to appeare, Paul beſought them all to take meate, ſaying, This is the fourteenth day that ye haue tarried and continued faſting, receiuing nothing at all.

34 Wherefore, I pray you to take meate, for this no doubt is for your health, for there ſhal not an heare fall from the head of any of you.

35 And when he had thus ſpoken, hee tooke bread, and gaue thankes to God in preſence of them all: and when he had broken it, he began to eate.

36 Then were they all of good cheere, and they alſo tooke meate.

37 And we were altogether in the ſhip, two hundred, threeſcore and ſixteene ſoules.

38 And when they had eaten ynough, they lighted the ſhippe, and caſt out the wheate into the ſea.

39 And when it was day, they knew not the land: but they ſpied a certaine hauen with a bāke, into the which they were minded, if it were minded, if they could, to caſt a land the ſhip.

40 And when they had taken vp the ankers, they committed themſelues to the ſea, looſing withall the rudder bands: & hoiſing vp the maine ſaile according as the wind blew, they went on toward the ſhore.

41 And when we were fallen into a place betwene two ſeas, they graueled the ſhip: & the fore-part truly ſticking faſt remained vnmoueable: but the hinder part was broken by the violence of the ſea.

42 And the counſel of the ſouldiers was, that they ſhould kil the priſoners: leſt any ſwimming out, might runne away.

43 But the Centurion willing to ſaue Paul, forbade it to be done: and he commaunded them that could ſwimme, to caſt out themſelues firſt, and eſcape, and goe forth to land:

poſſible, to thruſt in the ſhip.

40 And when they had taken vp the ankers, they committed ‖ themſelues vnto the ſea, and looſed the rudder bands, and hoiſed vp the maine ſaile to the wind, and drew to land. ‖ Or, the ſhip.

41 And when they fell into a place which had the ſea on both ſides, they thruſt in the ſhip, and the fore part ſtucke faſt and mooued not, but the hinder part brake with the violence of the waues.

42 And the ſouldiers counſaile was to kill the priſoners, leaſt any of them when hee had ſwomme out ſhould run away.

43 But the vndercaptaine, willing to ſaue Paul, kept them from their purpoſe, & commaunded that they which could ſwimme, ſhould caſt themſelues firſt into the ſea, and eſcape to land:

44 And the other, ſome on boords, and ſome on brokē pieces of the ſhip: and ſo it came to paſſe, that they eſcaped all ſafe to land.

Wherebye we plainly ſee the ſpeciall prouidence of God toward that See, where his two principall Apoſtles were deſigned to preach, plant the faith, liue, die, be buried, and honoured til the worlds end.* Gods prouidence to the See of Rome.

Fulke. 2. Gods prouidence was great to plant and encreaſe his Church at Rome, but not to ſet vp the Popes authoritie there, aboue all other biſhops, yea aboue kings and princes. Whether Peter preached or died at Rome, we find nothing in the Scriptures, which ſhould not haue bene omitted, if it had bene ſo neceſſary a matter to be knowen for the Popes ſupremacie as you make it. S. Paul ſaid not here, Let vs do what we liſt: worke we or ſit we ſtill, whether the mariners goe out or tarie within, we are all ſure to be ſaued, for ſo God hath reuealed to me, and he cannot lye: neither can it fall otherwiſe, but contrary wiſe ſaith he, If theſe mariners leaue the ſhip, you can not be ſaued. So ſay all true Catholik preachers to Chriſtian people, What prouidence, predeſtination, or foreſight ſoeuer God haue of your ſaluation, yet are not thereby conſtrained any way, you haue free will ſtil, and cannot be ſaued (though you be predeſtinate) except you keepe Gods commandements, repent you of your ſinnes, beleeue, liue and die well. And if it were reuealed to any man, that he were one of Gods elect, and that he ſhould finally die in grace and be ſaued, yet he were bound to worke his ſaluation with feare and trembling, as S. Paul both did, and taught leſt he become reprobate: no leſſe then the ſame Apoſtle here and his fellowes, though they had their life promiſed to them of God, yet were bound to labour and vſe all poſſible diligence that they might not be drowned.* Gods predeſtination and appointment taketh not away mans free will & endeuours. 1. Cor. 9, 27. Phil. 2, 12.

Fulke. 3. God appointeth before hand not only the end, but alſo the meanes by which men come to that end. So in predeſtination of the ſaincts to ſaluation, he hath appointed that they ſhal repent, beleeue, and worke their ſaluation with feare and trembling, which meanes if men doe alwayes and finally deſpiſe, we may not ſay, They cannot be ſaued though they be predeſtinate, which is blaſphemy to thinke, but out of doubt they were not predeſtinated to ſaluation. Becauſe the holy ghoſt hath ſayd, whom he hath predeſtinated, he hath called, iuſtified, & glorified. Rom. 8.30. The will of man is free from coaction in all things, but not from ſlauerie to ſinne, but ſo farre foorth as it is made free by the grace of Chriſt. Predeſtination certaine. Freewill.

After their ſhipwracke hauing wintered in the Iland (now named Malta) where many miracles were wrought by Paul, they take ſhip againe, and ſo by Sicile they come to Puteoli in Italie, the Chriſtian Romans comming a great way to meete him, to his great ioy. 16 Finally being come to Rome, in his lodging he declareth to the Iewes his cauſe, 23 and on a day appointed preacheth IESVS vnto them. 25 And ſeeing their incredulitie, he ſheweth how it was foretold by Eſay: 28 but that the Gentils wil not be incredulous. 30 To whom he there preacheth two whole yeres without prohibition.

2 For, kindling a fire they refreſhed vs al, becauſe of the imminent raine & the colde.

3 And when Paul had gathered together ſome number of ſtickes, and had laide them on the fire, a viper iſſuing out of the heate, inuaded his hand.

4 But as the Barbarous ſaw the beaſt hanging on his hand, they ſaid one to another, Vndoubtedly this man is a murderer,

5 And he in deede ‖ ſhaking of the beaſt into the fire, ſuffred no harme.

6 But they ſuppoſed that he ſhould be turned into a ſwelling, and that he would ſodenly fall and die. But expecting long & ſeeing that there was no harme done on him, being changed they ſaid, that he was a God.

7 And in thoſe places were lands of the prince of the ile, named Publius, who receiuing vs, for three daies intreated vs courteouſly.

8 And it chanced that the father of Publius lay vexed with feuers and the bloudy flixe. Vnto whom Paul entred: and when he had praied, and impoſed hands on him, he healed him.

9 Which being done, al in the ile alſo that had infirmities, came, and were cured:

10 Who alſo honoured vs with many honours, and when we were ſailing away, laded vs with neceſſaries.

11 And after three moneths, we ſailed in a ſhip of Alexandria, that had wintered in the iſland, whoſe ſigne was the Caſtors.

12 And when we were come to Syracuſa, we taried there three daies.

13 Thence compaſſing by the ſhore, we came to Rhegium: and after one day the Southwinde blowing, we came the ſecond day to Putéoli,

And when they were eſcaped, then they knew that the Iſle was called Melita.

2 And the barbarous people ſhewed vs no little kindneſſe, for they kindled a fire, and receiued vs euery one, becauſe of the preſent raine, & becauſe of the colde.

3 And when Paul had gathered a bundle of ſtickes, and layd them on the fire, there came a Viper out of the heate, and caught him by the hand.

4 And when the ſtrangers ſaw the beaſt hang on his hand, they ſaid among themſelues, No doubt this man is a murderer, whom though he haue eſcaped the ſea: yet vengeance ſuffereth not to liue.

5 And he ſhooke off the Viper into the fire, & felt no harme.

6 Howbeit, they waited when he ſhould haue ſwollen, or fallen downe dead ſodainly: but after they had looked a great while, and ſaw no harme come to him, they changed their mindes, and ſaid that he was a God.

7 In the ſame quarters were poſſeſſions of the chiefe man of the Iſle, whoſe name was Publius, which receiued vs, and lodged vs three dayes courteouſly.

8 And it came to paſſe that the father of Publius lay ſicke of a feuer, and of a bloudy fluxe, to whom Paule entred in, and prayed, & laid his hands on him, and healed him.

9 So when this was done, other alſo which had diſeaſes in the Iſle, came, and were healed:

10 Which alſo did vs great honour, and when we departed, they laded vs with ſuch things as were neceſſary.

11 And after three moneths we departed in a ſhip of Alexandria, which had wintered in the Iſle, whoſe badge was Caſtor and Pollux.

12 And when we came to Syracuſa, we taried there three dayes.

13 And from thence we fet a compaſſe, and came to Rhegium, and after one day the South winde blew, and we came the next day to Puteolus:

16 And when we were come to Rome, Paul was permitted to remaine to him ſelf with a ſouldiar that kept him.

17 And after the third day he called together the cheefe of the Iewes. And when they were aſſembled, he ſaid to them, Men brethrē, I doing nothing againſt the people, or the cuſtome of the fathers, was deliuered priſoner from Hieruſalem into the hands of the Romanes, 18 Who when they had examined me, would haue releaſed me, for that there was no cauſe of death in me.

19 But the Iewes contradicting it, I was compelled to appeale vnto Cæſar, not as hauing any thing to accuſe my nation.

24 And certaine beleeued thoſe things that were ſaid: but certaine beleeued not.

16 And when we came to Rome, the vnder captaine deliuered the priſoners to the cheefe captaine of the hoſt: but Paule was ſuffered to dwell by him ſelfe, with a ſouldier that kept him.

17 And it came to paſſe, that after three dayes, Paule called the cheefe of the Iewes together. And when they were come together, he ſayd vnto them, Men and brethren, though I haue committed nothing againſt the people or lawes of the fathers, yet was I deliuered priſoner from Hieruſalem into the hands of the Romans.

18 Which whē they had examined me, would haue let me goe, becauſe there was no cauſe of death in me.

20 For this cauſe then haue I called for you, euen to ſee you, and to ſpeake with you: becauſe that for the hope of Iſrael I am bound with this chaine.

21 And they ſayd vnto him, We neither receiued letters out of Iurie concerning thee, neither any of the brethren that came, ſhewed or ſpake any harme of thee.

22 But we will heare of thee what thou thinkeſt: for as concerning this ſect, we know that euery where it is ſpoken againſt.

23 And when they had appointed him a day, there came many to him in his lodging, to whom he expounded & teſtified the kingdome of God, perſuading them concerning Ieſus, both out of the law of Moſes, and out of the Prophets, euen from morning to night.

24 And ſome were perſuaded in the things which were ſpoken, and ſome beleeued not.

25 And when they agreed not among themſelues, they departed, after that Paule had ſpoken one word, that is to ſay, Well ſpake the holy Ghoſt by Eſaias the prophet, vnto our fathers,

28 Be it knowen therefore vnto you, that this ſaluation

Rhem. 3. 5. Shaking of the beaſt.) The promes of Chriſt (Marc. 16.) that venemous ſerpents ſhould not hurt them that beleeue in him, is fulfilled not in al beleeuers, but in ſuch as had the gift of miracles, as S. Paul had. Whom here a viper by nature ſo venemous that the people thought he ſhould haue died out of hand, did no thing: the extinguiſhing by the power of Chriſt al the poiſon of the beaſt. Yea and (as the Chriſtian people hereof til this day beleeue) by S. Paules praiers the Iland was deliuered for euer from al ſuch venemous ſerpents, in ſo much that children there play with ſcorpions euer ſince that time, and Pilgrimes daily carie with them peeces of ſtones out of the place where S. Paul abode, by which they affirme that they haue driuen which in other countries adioyning are bitten of ſcorpions, the medicine therfore being called, S. Paules grace. The Heretikes that know not the power of God, nor the miraculous vertues giuen to his Saincts, murmur and blaſpheme, when they heare ſuch things as be proper to certaine countries, attributed ſometimes to Gods miracles done by his Saincts: as though that were not poſſible, or were not as much to Gods honour, & more, then things proceding only of naturall cauſes. Such prophane men would not haue attributed the holſomnes of the waters of Ieriche to Eliſeus his vertue and miracles, amending them by caſting ſalt into them, if the Scripture had not expreſly teſtified the ſame. It is the part of a faithful man to referre ſuch things to God, when any iuſt occaſion is giuen thereunto, rather then to nature: though the incredulous doe alwaies contrarie, for feare of ſuperſtition and diſhonouring God. As though this eſcape of drowning might better & more to Gods glorie be referred to chance and the mariners induſtrie, then to S. Paules praier and extraordinarie working.

Rhem. 5. 22. Concerning this ſect.) The Heretikes of al ſortes comfort them ſelues much, when they finde here or els where the Chriſtian faith called of the Iewes or incredulous perſons, a Sect or an Hereſie, and ſometimes in contemps of Chriſtes perſon the Maiſter of the ſame, the Sect of the Nazarens: as though the Church of God might as wel erre in naming their doctrine Hereſie, as the Iewes and Pagans might & did miſſe in condemning Chriſtian religion for an Hereſie: or as though the Proteſtants doctrine were as wel proued and tried to be no Hereſie, by the Prophets and other Scriptures, miracles, and conſent of al Nations and ages, as Chriſtes bleſſed doctrine is. Whereas in deed the Proteſtants doctrine is euidently conuinced to be heretical, by the ſame arguments that Chriſtes religion is proued to be the only true doctrine of ſaluation, and not an hereſie. And whoſoeuer can deduce the Chriſtian faith from Adam to this day, through out al the Fathers, Patriarches, Prophets, Prieſts, Apoſtles, and Biſhops, by deſcent and ſucceſſion of al lawes and ſtates of true worſhippers and beleeuers (which is the only or ſpecial way to proue that the Chriſtian faith is no hereſie) he ſhal by the ſame meanes al at once proue the Proteſtants doctrine to be an hereſie and a falſe ſect. That the Iewes therfore and il men in al places contradicted the Chriſtian religion, calling it an Hereſie or a Sect, as though it had a beginning of ſome certaine Sect-Maiſter other then God himſelf, they were deceiued: and the Church of God neuertheleſſe calling the Proteſtants doctrine Hereſie in the worſt part that can be, and in the worſt ſort that euer was doth right and moſt iuſtly. The name of Sect is wel giuen to al Hereſies though the Chriſtian religion or the firſt was falſely ſo called.

As

Fulke 5. As S. Paule proued that way which they called hereſie to be the true religion, we haue beene alwayes readie to proue that which you call hereſie in vs, to be the true religion of God, namely by the holy ſcriptures, Act.24.14. which we are ſure was the faith of Adam and all the patriarches, prophets, apoſtles, and of all true Chriſtians vnto this time. That papiſts are able to deduce their faith from Adam &c: it is a moſt monſtrous fable, ſeeing they cannot deduce it out of the holy ſcriptures, which they holde to be vnſufficient to teach all things neceſſarie to be beleeued vnto ſaluation. What teſtimonie can they haue of the faith of Adam with all the reſt of the patriarches, prophets and apoſtles, when they refuſe the holy ſcripture as vnſufficient? The name of ſect and hereſie doth as truly agree to you that falſly obiect it to vs, as it did to the Phariſees, Sadducees, and obſtinate blinde Iewes, that falſly did charge the doctrine of Chriſt and his apoſtles with it. Hereſie.

THE SUMME OF THE ACTES OF THE APOSTLES, CONTEINING SPECIALLY THE GESTES OF THE TWO PRINCIPAL APOſtles, S S. Peter and Paul, in ſuch order of time and yeres of the Emperours, and from Chriſts Natiuitie, and Aſcenſion, as they were done: ſo far as by holy Scriptures or Eccleſiaſtical writers may be gathered. Wherein though it be not poſſible to ſet downe the preciſe and vndoubted time or yere of euery thing, becauſe neither S. Luke nor others do note particularly & orderly the moments of euery action of the ſaid Apoſtles: yet we folow the moſt probable and plaine plat that we finde in holy Scripture and auncient writers. Fulke. 1. We doe not thinke it vnpoſſible that Peter might be at Rome, and die there, but we ſay it is not like to be ſo, becauſe there is no mention therof in the Acts of the Apoſtles. And if he were at Rome, becauſe ỹ ſcripture doth not make mention of it, we affirme that it is not neceſſarie to be knowne that he was there. Moreouer, whereas S. Hierome affirmeth that he came to Rome the ſecond yeere of Claudius, and held the preiſtlie chaire 25 yeeres, we ſay it is impoſſible to be true, becauſe it is confuted by the Acts of the Apoſtles, and the Epiſtles of Paule, and the Greeke writers, which affirme that he was 7 yeeres biſhop of Antioch before he came to Rome. Rhem. 1. AFTER the Goſpels, which is a ſtorie of Chriſt him ſelfe, and after the Actes of the Apoſtles, Which is a ſtorie of Chriſtes Church: now folow the Epiſtles of the Apoſtles, which they wrote of ſuch matters, as they had then occaſion to write of. For being the founders and the Doctors of the Church, they did in their time, as the Doctors that ſucceeded them, did after them: who from the beginning vnto this day, haue written Epiſtles and Bookes againſt hereſies, euer as they aroſe, and of al other Eccleſiaſtical matters, as they had occaſion miniſtred vnto them. Of which their doing, the Apoſtles firſt gaue here the enſample: as alſo S. Luke in the Actes of the Apoſtles, led the way to al the writers of the Eccleſiaſtical Hiſtorie after him. For although there be no compariſon betweene them for authoritie, for aſmuch as theſe are Canonical Scripture, and ſo are not any writings of their ſucceſſors: yet the occaſions and matters (as I haue ſaid) are like.

Moſt of theſe Epiſtles are S. Paules Epiſtles: the reſt are called * Catholicæ Epiſtolæ, the Epiſtles Catholike. For S. Paul writeth not any Epiſtle to al (howbeit euery one of them is for al the Church:) but ſome to particular Churches of the Gentils, as to the Romanes, to the Corinthians, to the Galatians, to the Epheſians, to the Philippians, to the Coloſſians, to the Theſſalonians: ſome to particular perſons, as to Timothee, to Tite (who were Biſhops among the Gentiles, to wit, of Epheſus, and of Creete) and to Philemon, and then one to the Hebrewes, who were the Iewes of Hieruſalem and Iurie. But the Epiſtles of the other Apoſtles, that is, of S. Iames, S. Peter, S. Iohn, and S. Iude, are not ſo intituled to any one Church or perſon (except S. Iohns two later ſhort Epiſtles, which yet might not be ſeparated from his firſt, becauſe they were al of one Author) and therefore they are termed Catholike, that is, vniuerſal. For ſo writeth S. Iames: To the twelue tribes that are in diſperſion, greeting. and S. Peter in his firſt Epiſtle, thus: To the elect ſtrangers of the diſperſion of Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Aſia, and Bithynia. in his ſecond, thus: To them that haue obteined equal faith with vs. likewiſe S. Iude: To them that are in God the father beloued, and in Ieſus Chriſt preſerued, and called S. Iohns firſt is without title. Euſeb. li. 2. Eccl. hiſt. c. 22

Now, for the occaſions of their writing, whereby we ſhal perceiue the matters or arguments that they handle: it muſt be remembred (as the Storie of that time in the Actes of the Apoſtles doth at large declare) that the Church then beginning, was planted by the Apoſtles not onely in the Iewes, but alſo in the Gentiles: yea and ſpecially in the Gentiles. Which thing offended the Iewes many waies. For they could not abide to ſee, ſo much as their owne Countrie to receiue him for CHRIST, whom they had reiected and crucified: much leſſe, to ſee, them preach him to the Gentiles alſo. that offended euen thoſe Iewes alſo, that beleeued him to be Chriſt. Howbeit ſuch of them as were Catholikes, and therefore not obſtinat, were ſatisfied when they vnderſtood by the Apoſtles that it was Gods pleaſure, as Act. 11. we reade. But others of them became Heretikes, and preached to the Chriſtian Gentiles, that it was neceſſary for them to receiue alſo the Iewes religion. Of ſuch we reade Act. 15. Vnles you be circumciſed, you can not be ſaued. And as theſe did ſo preach againſt the truth, ſo did the vnchriſtened Iewes not onely them ſelues perſecute, but alſo ſtirre vp the Idolatrous Gentiles euery where to perſecute the Chriſtians: by ſuch obſtinacie prouoking God to reprobate their Nation: which yet they thought vnpoſſible to be done, becauſe they were the ſeede of Abraham, and were circumciſed, and had receiued the Law by Moyſes. For ſuch carnal reſpects they truſted in them ſelues, as though God and Chriſt were vnſeparably bound vnto them: attributing alſo ſo much to their owne workes, (which they thought they did of them ſelues, being holpen with the knowledge of their law,) that they would not acknowledge the death of Chriſt to be neceſſarie for their ſaluation: but looked for ſuch a Chriſt, as ſhould be like other princes of this world, and make them great men temporally.

Hereupon did S. Paul write his Epiſtles, to ſhew both the vocation of the Gentiles, and the reprobation of the Iewes. Moreouer, to admoniſh both the Chriſtian Gentiles, not to receiue Circumciſion and other ceremonies of Moyſes Law, in no wiſe: and the Iewes alſo, not to put their truſt in the ſame, but rather to vnderſtand, that now, Chriſt being come, they muſt ceaſe. Againe, to ſhew the neceſſitie of Chriſts comming and of his death: that without it, neither the Gentiles could be ſaued: no nor the Iewes, by no workes that they could doe of them ſelues, although they were alſo holpen by the Law, telling them what was good and what was bad: for ſo much as al were ſinners, and therefore alſo impotent or infirme: and the Law could not take away ſinne, and infirmitie, and giue ſtrength to fulfil that which it gaue knowledge of. but this was God onely able to doe, and for Chriſts ſake onely would he doe it. Therefore it is neceſſarie for al to beleeue in Chriſt, and to be made his members, being incorporate into his Body which is his Catholike Church. For ſo (although they neuer yet did good worke, but al il) they ſhal haue remiſſion of their ſinnes, and new ſtrength withal, to make them able to fulfil the commandements of Gods Law, yea and their workes after this ſhal be ſo gracious in Gods ſight, that for them he wil giue them life euerlaſting. This is the neceſſitie, this is alſo the fruite of Chriſtian Religion. And therefore he exhorteth al, both Gentils and Iewes, as to receiue it humbly, ſo alſo to perſeuere in it conſtantly vnto the end, againſt al ſeduction of hereſie, and againſt al terror of perſecution: and to walke al their time in good workes, as now God hath made them able to doe.

The ſame doctrine doth the Catholike Church teach vnto this day moſt exactly: to wit, that no workes of the vnbeleeuing or vnbaptized, whether they be Iewes or Gentiles, can ſaue them: no nor of any Heretike, or Schiſmatike, although he be baptized, becauſe he is not a member of Chriſt: yea more then that, no worke of any that is not a liuely member of Chriſt, although otherwiſe he be baptized, and continue within his Church, yet becauſe he is not in grace but in mortal ſinne, no worke that he doth, is meritorious or able to ſaue him. The doctrine of the Cath. Church concerning good workes.

This very ſame is S. Paules doctrine: he denieth to the workes of ſuch as haue not the Spirit of Chriſt, al vertue to iuſtifie or to ſaue: neither requireth he a man to haue had knowledge of the Law, or to haue kept it afore time, as though otherwiſe he might not be ſaued by Chriſt: but yet when he is Chriſtened, he requireth of neceſſitie, that he keepe Gods commaundements by auoiding of al ſinne, and doing good workes: and to ſuch a mans good workes he attributeth as much vertue as any Catholike of this time. S. Paules doctrine concerning faith and good workes.

Neuertheleſſe there were certaine at that time (as alſo al the Heretikes of this our time) whom S. Peter termeth vnlearned and vnſtable, who reading S. Paules Epiſtles, did miſconſter his meaning, as though he required not good 2. Pet. 3.

workes no more after Baptiſme, then before Baptiſme: but held that onely Faith did ſuffiſe and ſaue a man. Thereupon the other Apoſtles wrote their Epiſtles, as S. Auguſtine noteth in theſe words: Therfore becauſe this opinion (Ad ſalutem obtinendam ſufficere Solam fidem, that onely faith is ſufficient to obteine ſaluation) was then riſen: the other Apoſtolical Epiſtles, of Peter, Iohn, Iames, Iude, do againſt it ſpecially direct their intention: to auouch vehemently, fidem ſine operibus nihil prodeſſe, that faith without workes profiteth nothing. As alſo Paul him ſelfe did not define it to be quamlibet fidem, qua in Deum creditur, whatſoeuer maner of faith, wherewith we beleeue in God, but that holeſome and expreſſe Euangelical faith, whoſe workes procede from Ioue, and the faith (quoth he) that worketh by loue. wherevpon that faith, which ſome thinke to be ſufficient to ſaluation, he ſo affirmeth to profite nothing, that he ſaith, If I ſhould haue al faith ſo that I could remoue mountaines, and haue not charitie, I am nothing.

Aug. de fide & operib. cap. 14. Prol. Pſal 31. Gal. 5. 1. Cor. 13.

He therefore that will not erre in this point, nor in any other, reading either S. Paules Epiſtles, or the reſt of the holy Scriptures, muſt ſticke faſt to the doctrine of the Catholike Church, which Church S. Paul termeth the piller and ground of the truth: aſſuring himſelf that if any thing there ſound to him as contrarie hereunto, he faileth of the right ſenſe: and bearing alwaies in his minde the admonition of S. Peter, ſaying: As alſo our moſt deere brother Paul according to the wiſedom giuen to him, hath written to you: as alſo in al his Epiſtles, ſpeaking in them of theſe things, in the which are certaine things hard to vnderſtand, which the vnlearned and vnſtable depraue, as alſo the reſt of the Scriptures, to their owne perdition. You therefore brethren, foreknowing, take heede leſt ye be led amiſſe by the error of the vnwiſe, and fal away from your owne ſtedfaſtnes.

1. Tim. 3. 2. Pet. 3.

Fulke 1. In this argument, beſide that it doth not expreſſe ſufficiently the ſumme of the Epiſtles, the Reader muſt be admoniſhed, that it is no where written in the Epiſtles, nor in the whole Scripture: That euery member of the Catholike Church, hath ſtrength ſufficient to make him able to fulfill the commaundements of Gods Law, in ſuch perfection as God requireth in his Law, or that his works are made meritorious of eternall life. The contrarie doctrine is manifeſt in S. Paule, Rom. 7, 18. to the ende, Rom. 6, 23. neither doth he euer aſcribe ſuch vertue to workes, as the Papiſtes doe, that they are meritorious. He that will not erre in reading theſe Epiſtles, muſt learne to know that Church to be the piller of truth, which holdeth the doctrine of truth taught in theſe Epiſtles, and in the whole Scripture, out of which only, the true Church muſt be knowen from the falſe. Chryſoſt. in Math. oper. imperf. Hom. 49. In Ioan. Ho. 58. In Gen. Hom. 12. & 13. Auguſt. de vnit. Eccleſ. Cap. 2. & 3. & 16. De paſtoribus Cap. 14. Finally, thoſe hard places to vnderſtand, whereof S. Peter ſpeaketh, are only concerning the ſecond comming of Chriſt, and not generally all the matter of his Epiſtles: yet are there other things hard alſo, but S. Auguſtine teacheth vs, that nothing is contained in thoſe difficulties, which is not elswhere found vttered moſt plainly, De doct. Chriſt. lib. 2. Cap. 6.

None able to fulfill Gods commaundements. Merit.

THE TIME WHEN THE EPISTLE TO THE ROMANES WAS WRITTEN, AND the Argument thereof.

Rhem. 1. THE hiſtorie of S. Paul, vntil he came to Rome, S. Luke in the Actes of the Apoſtles wrote exactly: and though without any mention of his Epiſtles, yet certaine it is, that ſome of them he wrote before he came there, to wit, the two vnto the Corinthians, and this to the Romanes: and ( as it ſeemeth) before them al, the Epiſtle to the Galatians. Wherein yet becauſe he maketh mention of the fourteenth yere after his converſion, it appeareth, that he preached ſo long without any writing.* Gal. 2.

And this order may thus briefely be gathered. Firſt he preached to the Galatians Act. 16: and paſſing through Phrygia and the countrey of Galatia. Whereof he maketh mention him ſelfe alſo, Gal. 1. We euangelized to you. and Gal. 4: I euangelized to you heretofore. After which the falſe Apoſtles came and perſuaded them to receiue Circumciſion. Wherevpon he ſaith Gal. 1: I maruel that thus ſo ſoone you are transferred from him that called you to the grace of Chriſt, vnto an other Goſpel. and wiſheth therfore Gal. 4. ſaying: And I would I were with you nowe. And accordingly he came vnto them afterward, as we reade Act. 18. Walking in order through the countrie of Galatia and Phrygia, confirming al the Diſciples. At which time alſo it ſeemeth, that he tooke order with them about thoſe contributions to helpe the neede of the Chriſtians in Hieruſalem, whereof he ſpeaketh 1. Cor. 16: And concerning the collections that are made for the ſaincts, as I haue ordeined to the Churches of Galatia, ſo doe you alſo. By which wordes alſo it is euident, that the Corinthians had not as then made their gathering. But when he wrote the Second to them (where in the 11 chapter he maketh mention of 14 yeres, not only after his Conuerſion, as to the Galatians, but alſo after his Rapte, which ſeemeth to haue bene when he was at Hieruſalem Act. 9. foure yeres after his Converſion, in a traunce, as he calleth it Act. 22, 17) then were they ready. For ſo he ſaith 2. Cor. 8: You haue begone from the yere paſt. and 2. Cor. 9: For the which I doe glorie of you to the Macedonians: that alſo Achaia is ready from the yere paſt. howbeit is foloweth there: But I haue ſent the brethren, that (as I haue ſaid) you may be ready: leſt when the Macedonians come with me, and find you vnready, we be aſhamed. But when he wrote to the Romanes, then was he now come to Corinth for the ſame purpoſe, and had receiued their contribution, and was ready to goe with it vnto Hieruſalem. For ſo he ſaith Rom. 15. Now therfore I wil goe vnto Hieruſalem to miniſter to the ſaincts. For Macedonia and Achaia haue liked wel to make ſome contribution vpon the poore ſaincts that are in Hieruſalem.

* Epiph. Har. 42 Marcionis. Aug. in Expoſ. inchoa. Ep. ad Rom. & 2. Cor. 5.

*So then, the Epiſtle to the Romanes was not the firſt that he wrote. But yet it is * and alwaies was ſet firſt, becauſe of the primacie of that Church, for which cauſe alſo he handleth in it, ſuch matters as pertained not to them alone, but to the vniuerſal Church, and ſpecially to al the Gentiles: to wit, the very frame (as it were) of the Church of Chriſt. Tanquam enim præpoſito Domino lapidis angularis, vtrumque populum tam ex Iudæis quam ex Gentibus* The argument of the Epiſtle to the Romanes. b Ephe. 2.

Gentibus connectit in Chriſto per vinculum gratiæ. ſo ſayth S. Auguſtine, giuing vs briefly the argument in Engliſh thus: As being a legate for our Lord him ſelfe, that is, for the corner ſtone, he knitteth together in Chriſt by the band of Grace, both peoples, as well of the Iewes as of the Gentiles. Shewing, that neither of them had in their Gentilitie or Iudaiſme any workes to bragge of, or to chalenge to them ſelues iuſtification or ſaluation thereby, but rather ſinnes they had to be ſorie for, and to humble them ſelues to the faith of Chriſt, that ſo they might haue remiſſion of them, and ſtrength to doe meritorious workes afterwarde. In which ſort, becauſe the Gentiles did humble them ſelues, therefore had they found mercie, though they neuer wiſt of the Lawe of Moyſes. But the Iewes, becauſe they ſtood vpon their owne The workes of the Lawe. workes, which they did by their owne ſtrength, with the knowledge of the Law (being therefore alſo called the workes of the Law,) and ſo would not humble them ſelues to beleeue in Chriſt crucified, they miſſed of mercie, and became reprobate, excepting a ſcrue Reliquiæ that God of his goodneſſe had reſerued to him ſelfe. Howbeit in the ende, when the fulneſſe of the Gentiles is come into the Church, then ſhall the fulneſſe of the Iewes alſo open their eyes, acknowledge their errour, and ſubmit them ſelues to Chriſt and his Church in like maner. In the meane time, thoſe that haue founde the grace to be Chriſtians, he exhorteth to perſeuerance (as it was ſpecially needefull in thoſe times of perſecutions) and to leade their whole life newe after Baptiſme in good workes: and to be carefull of vnitie, bearing therefore one with another, both Iewe and Gentile, all that they may, and giuing no offence to them that are weake. Thus he diſputeth, and thus he exhorteth through the whole Epiſtle: though, if wee will diuide it by that which is principall in euch part, we may ſay, that vnto the 12. Chapter is his diſputation: and from thence to the ende, his exhortation.

Nowe, in theſe points of faith, and in all others (as alſo in example of life) the commendation that he giueth to the Rom. 1. Church of Rome, is much to be noted. Your faith is renoumed in the whole worlde. and your obedience is publiſhed into euery place. I reioyce therefore in you. And againe: you haue obeyed from the hart vnto that forme Rom. 16. of doctrine, which hath beene deliuered to you. And thereupon againe: I deſire you brethren to marke them Rom. 6. that make diſſentions and ſcandals contrary to the doctrine which you haue learned, and auoide them. For ſuch doe not ſerue Chriſt our Lord, but their owne belly: and by ſweete ſpeaches and benedictions ſeduce the the hartes of innocents. Therefore to ſhunne Luther and Caluine, and all their crewes, wee haue iuſt reaſon and good warrant. They make diſſenſions and ſcandales againſt the doctrine of the Romane Church. Let no man therefore be ſeduced by their ſugred wordes. Rom. 16.

Primacie of the Romiſh Church.

Fulke. 1. Epiphanius ſayeth, the Epiſtle to the Romanes is compted the firſt among Catholike Chriſtians, but he ſayeth not, it was ſo accompted for the primacie of the Church of Rome. By the ſame reaſon you might proue the Church of the Iewes to be the chiefe, becauſe the Epiſtle of S. Iames is placed before the reſt. S. Auguſtine ioyneth to the wordes by you ſet downe. Vtriſq; auferens omnem ſuperbiam meritorum, & iuſtificandos vtriſq; per diſciplinam humilitatis aſtocians. Taking from both, that is, Iewes and Gentiles, all pride of merites, and ioyning them both together to be iuſtified by the diſcipline of humilitie. Whereby wee ſee, that S. Auguſtine calleth the opinion of merites pride, and the doctrine of Iuſtification by faith, the diſcipline of humilitie, as in deede it is. For the Apoſtle neuer ſayeth, that men ſhall haue ſtrength to doe meritorious workes afterwarde, which were not to take away the pride of merites, but to change the matter of pride, the pride of merites ſtill remaining. Finally, Luther and Caluine make no diſſentions, or ſcandales againſt the doctrine of the Romane Church taught in this Epiſtle, but diſcouer the hereſies and blaſphemies of the Antichriſtian Church of Rome, which are contrary to the doctrine of this Epiſtle, and to the auncient faith of the Church of Rome. Merites.

the wiſe and the vnwiſe I am detter.

15 So(as much as is in me)I am ready‖to euangelize to you alſo that are at Rome.

16 For I am not aſhamed of the Goſpel. For it is the power of God, vnto ſaluation to euery one that belecueth, to the Iewe firſt and to the Greeke.

17 For ‡ the iuſtice of God is reuealed therein by faith into faith: as it is written: Abac.2.3. And the iuſt ‖ liueth by faith.

18 For ỹ wrath of God frō heauen ‖is reuealed, vpon all impietie & iniuſtice of thoſe men ỹ deteine the veritie of God in iniuſtice:

19 Becauſe, ỹ of God which is knowen, is manifeſt in them. For God hath manifeſted it vnto them.

20 For his inuiſible things, from the creation of ỹ world are ſeene, being vnderſtoode by thoſe things that are made: his eternall power alſo and Diuinitie: ſo that they are inexcuſable.

21 Becauſe, whereas they knewe God, they haue not glorified him as God, or giuen thanks: but are become vaine in their cogitatiōs, & their fooliſh hart hath been darkened.

22 For, ſaying them ſelues to be wiſe, they became fooles.

23 And they changed the glorie of the incorruptible God, into a [c] ſimilitude of the image of a corruptible man, and of foules and foure-footed beaſts & of them ỹ creepe.

24 (For the which cauſe God ‡ hath deliuered them up vnto the deſires of their hart, into vncleanneſſe, for to abuſe their owne bodyes among them ſelues ignominiouſly.)

25 Who haue changed the veritie of God [c] ἐλλαγωσαν. into lying: and haue worſhipped and ſerued the creature rather then the creator, who is bleſſed for euer. Amen.

26 Therefore ‖ God hath deliuered them into paſſions of ignominie. For their women haue changed the naturall vſe, into that vſe that is contrary to nature.

27 And in like maner the men alſo, leauing the naturall vſe of the woman, haue burned in their deſires one toward another, men vpon men working turpitude, and the reward of their errour (which they ſhould) receiuing in them ſelues.

28 And as they liked not to haue God in knowledge: God deliuered them vp into a reprobate ſenſe: to doe thoſe things that are not conuenient:

29 Repleniſhed ẅal iniquitie, malice, fornicatiō, auarice, wickednes, ful of enuie, murder, contention, guile, malignitie, whiſperers,

30 Detractours,

the barbarous, both to the wiſe, and to the vnwiſe.

15 So that as much as in me is, I am ready to preach the Goſpel to you that are at Rome alſo.

16 For I am not aſhamed of the Goſpel of Chriſt, becauſe it is the power of God vnto ſaluation to all that beleeue, to the Iewe firſt, and alſo to the Greeke.

17 For by it is the righteouſneſſe of God opened from faith to faith: as it is written, The iuſt ſhall liue by faith.

18 For the wrath of God is reuealed from heauen, againſt all vngodlineſſe and vnrighteouſneſſe of men, which withholde the trueth in vnrighteouſneſſe.

19 For that that may be knowen of God, is manifeſt among them, becauſe God hath ſhewed it vnto them.

20 For his inuiſible things, being vnderſtanded by his workes, through the creation of the worlde, are ſeene, that is, both his eternall power and Godhead, ſo that they are without excuſe:

21 Becauſe that when they knewe God, notwithſtanding they glorified him not as God, neither were thankefull, but waxed full of vanities in their imaginations, and their fooliſh heart wis blinded.

22 When they counted them ſelues wiſe, they became fooles:

23 And turned the glory of the vncorruptible God vnto an image, made not onely after the ſimilitude of a corruptible man, but alſo of birds, and foure footed beaſtes, and of creeping beaſtes.

24 Wherfore God gaue them vp to vncleanneſſe, through the luſtes of their owne heartes, that their owne bodies ſhoulde be defiled among them ſelues.

25 Which changed his trueth for a lye, and worſhipped and ſerued the creature, more then the creator, which is to bee prayſed for euer, Amen.

26 Wherefore God gaue them vp vnto ſhamefull luſtes, for euen their women did change the naturall vſe, into that which is againſt nature.

27 And likewiſe alſo, the men left the naturall vſe of the woman, and brent in their luſtes one with another, and men with men wrought filthineſſe, and receiued in them ſelues the rewarde of their errour (as it was according.)

28 And as they regarded not to knowe God: euen ſo, God deliuered them vp vnto a lewde minde, that they ſhoulde doe thoſe things which were not comely.

29 Being full of all vnrighteouſneſſe, fornication, craftineſſe, couetouſneſſe, malitiouſneſſe, full of enuie, murder, debate, deceite, euill conditioned, whiſperers.

30 Detractours, odible to God, contumelious, proude, hautie, inuentours of euill things, diſobedient to parents, 31 Fooliſh, diſſolute, without affection, without fidelitie, without mercie.

32 Who whereas they knewe the iuſtice of God, did not vnderſtand that they which doe ſuch things, are ‖ worthie of death: not onely they that doe them, but they alſo that conſent to the doers.

30 Backbiters, haters of God, deſpitefull, proude, boaſters, bringers vp of euill things, diſobedient to father and mother:

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. 1.

Rhem.1. 17. The iuſtice of God.) He meaneth not Gods owne iuſtice in him ſelfe, but that iuſtice wherewith God endueth man when he iuſtifieth him. Aug. de Sp. & lit. c. 9. whereby yea may gather the vanitie of the Heretical imputatiue iuſtice.

Fulke.1. Theſe are the wordes of Auguſtine. Non dixit iuſtitiã hominis, vel iuſtitiã propriæ voluntatis, ſed iuſtitiã Dei, non qua Deus iuſtus eſt, ſed qua induit hominem, cum iuſtificat impium. He ſaide not the iuſtice of man, or the iuſtice of mans owne will, but the iuſtice of God, not by which God is iuſt, but wherewith he doeth clothe man, when he iuſtifieth the vngodly. For man is clothed with the iuſtice of Chriſt, when iuſtiice is imputed to him without workes, Rom 4.6. And the vngodly man is not iuſtified by iuſtice that is in him, for there can be none in an vngodly man, but by iuſtice imputed vnto him for the merites of Chriſt. Wherefore this place of Auguſtine, maketh directly againſt iuſtification by inherent iuſtice, as euery man might haue ſeene, if you had not of hereticall malice ſuppreſſed the reſt of the wordes, and falſly tranſlated the worde induit, which ſignifieth, hath clothed, and not endewed. Iuſtice not inherent.

Rhem.2. 23. Similitude of the image.) Loe theſe and the like are the Images or Idoles ſo often condemned in the Scriptures, and not the holy Images of Chriſt and his Saincts.

Fulke.2. Such be your images of God the Father, and of the bleſſed Trinitie: the reſt of your images alſo, made and ſet vp to be worſhipped, or had in any vſe of religion, are expreſly forbidden by the ſecond commandement. Images.

Rhem.3. 24. Hath deliuered them vp.) Eph.4,19. he ſayth, They haue deliuered or giuen vp them ſelues to all vncleanneſſe. By which conference of Scriptures we learne that them ſelues are the cauſe of their owne ſinne and damnation, God of his iuſtice permitting and leauing them to their owne will, and ſo giuing them vp into paſſions &c.

Fulke.3. Both is true, that God hath deliuered them (and not barely ſuffered them) as a iuſt iudge, and they haue deliuered them ſelues, as following their abominable luſtes. God is not an doer, but puniſher of ſinne.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. 1.

Rhem.4. Epiph. hæreſ. 66. 7. Grace to you and peace.) It is a kinde of bleſſing rather then a prophane ſalutation, proper to the Apoſtles, of greater vertue then the benedictions of the fathers in the olde Teſtament. The holy fathers of the Church ſeemed to abſteine from it for their reuerence to the Apoſtles. * The Manichees (Auguſt. cont. ep. fund. c. 5.6.) and other Heretikes (as alſo theſe of our time) becauſe they would be counted Apoſtles, often vſe it. Apoſtolicall ſalutation or bleſſing. The ſame vſed of Heretikes.

Fulke.4. This forme of ſalutation or bleſſing was not proper to the Apoſtles, for it is not vſed of them all, but may with humilitie and reuerence, as a prayer, bleſſing, or Chriſtian ſalutation, be vſed of all Chriſtians, eſpecially of Miniſters of the Church. And although Manichæus in a certaine Epiſtle to Marcellus, did wiſh grace, mercie, and peace, yet was that neuer accompted hereſie in him, but that he called him ſelfe (as Epiphanius recordeth) an Apoſtle of Ieſus Chriſt, and as Auguſtine reporteth in Epiſt. fundamenti, an Apoſtle of Ieſus Chriſt by the prouidence of God the Father, without any further ſalutation there. So theſe two Doctors are quoted in vaine, to proue it vnlawfull to vſe this ſalutation. Apoſtolike bleſſing or ſalutation.

Rhem.5. 8. Your faith renoumed.) The holy Doctors vpon theſe wordes of the Apoſtle, and ſpecially by our miſters promis * made to Peter, that his faith ſhould not faile, giue great teſtimonie for the prouidence of God in the preſeruation of the ſame faith. S. Cyprian thus: ep. 55. nu. 6. They are ſo bold to cary letters from prophane Schiſmatikes to the chaire of Peter and the principal Church whence Prieſtly vnitie roſe: not conſidering the Romanes to be them whoſe faith (the Apoſtle being the commender) was prayſed, to whom misbeleefe cannot haue acceſſe. So S. Hier. in Apolog. adu. Ruffin. li. 3. c. 4. to. 2. Knowe you that the Romane faith commended by the Apoſtles mouth, will receiue no ſuch deceits, nor can be poſſibly changed, though an angel taught otherwiſe, being fenſed by S. Pauls auctoritie. Againe ep. 63. ad Pammach. & Oceanum. c. 4 to. 2. Whatſoeuer thou be that auoucheſt new ſectes, I pray thee haue reſpect to the Romane eares, ſpare the faith which was praiſed by the Apoſtles voyce. And in an other place. Will ye knowe ô Paula and Euſtochium, how the Apoſtle hath noted euery prouince with their proprieties? the faith of the people of Rome is prayſed. Where is there ſo great concourſe to Churches and Martyrs ſepulchres? Where ſoundeth Amen like thunder from heauen, or where are the temples (voide of Idols) ſo ſhaken as there? Not that the Romanes haue an other faith then the reſt of the Chriſtian Churches, but that there is in them more deuotion and ſimplicitie of faith. In an other place the ſame holy Doctor ſignifieth that it is all one to ſay, the Romane faith, and the Catholike. Apolog. 1 adu. Ruff. c. 1. So doth S. Cyprian ep. 52. num. 1. ad Antonianum: and S. Ambroſe de obitu fratris, in med. Whereupon, this worde Romane, is added to, Catholike, in many countries where Sectes doe abound, for the better diſtinction of true beleeuers from Heretikes: which in all ages did hate and abhorre the Romane faith and Church, as all malefactors doe their Iudges and correctors. The Romane faith highly commended. Luk. 22. It cannot faile nor be corrupted. Tream. li. 2. Com. in ep. ad Gal. The Romane ſtations, a token of great faith and deuotion. The Catholike and Romane faith all one.

Fulke.5. So long as ỹ faith which ỹ Apoſtle prayſed, did cõtinue in ỹ Church of Rome, ỹ fathers had cauſe to praiſe God, & to commẽd it likewiſe. But none of them ſaid or thought, ỹ it could not faile, or ỹ the Church of Rome could neuer depart from ỹ faith. The word which you tranſlate in S. Cyprian, miſbeliefe, is Perfidia, falſhood, or falſe dealing: for he ſpeaketh of diſcipline, & not of faith, againſt which diſcipline, ỹ Romans while they cõtinued in ỹ faith ỹ was cõmẽded by ỹ Apoſtle, would do nothing, as they profeſſe in their ep. to S. Cypriã, acknowledging ỹ it were ỹ greateſt ſhame for them ỹ could be, to degenerate or go out of kind, frõ thoſe cõmendatiõs & ỹ glory. The Church of Rome may erre.

For

For it is leſſe ſhame (ſay they) neuer to haue come to the commendation of praiſe, then to haue fallen downe from the high top of praiſe. It is leſſe fault not to haue bene honoured with a good teſtimonie, then to haue loſt the honor of good teſtimonies. It is leſſe crime for a man to haue lyen baſely without praiſe or commendation of vertues, then being diſherited from faith, ſo haue loſt his owne praiſes. For thoſe things which are vttered to the glory of any perſon, doe ſwel vp into the enuie of a moſt grieuous crime, vnleſſe they be kept with diligent and careful labour, Epiſt. 31. For S. Cypr.an (though in error himſelfe,) yet chargeth Stephanus biſhop of Rome with error. Hieron ſheweth, that Liberius biſhop of Rome fel into hereſie, in catal. Fortunat. Alſo he reproueth the cuſtome of the Church of Rome, Ep. Enagrio, & preferreth the cuſtome of the Catholike Church in al ỹ world. S. Ambroſe profeſſeth, that he deſired to folow the Church of Rome in al things. Sed tamen & nos, &c. But yet we alſo are men, and haue vnderſtanding. And therefore that which is better obſerued in other places, we doe rightly obſerue. De ſacram. lib. 3. cap. 1. Wherefore you gaine nothing by theſe commendations but greater ſhame, except you proue the Romiſh religion that now is Papiſtrie, to be the ſame faith that was praiſed by the Apoſtle, and the auncient fathers.

Rhem. 6. 9. Serue in Spirit. Diuers Heretikes when they heare that God is a ſpirit, and muſt be ſerued and adored in ſpirit, imagine, that he muſt be honoured only inwardly, without ceremonies and external workes: which you ſee is otherwiſe, for that the Apoſtle ſerued God in ſpirit, by preaching the Goſpel. To ſerue God then in ſpirit, is to ſerue him with faith, hope, and charitie, and with al workes proceeding of them: as to ſerue him carnally is, with workes external, without the ſaid internal vertues. How God is ſerued in ſpirit.

Fulke 6. To ſerue God in ſpirit, doth not exclude outward workes of obedience, but requireth them to be done, not with the outward man only, (as hypocrites doe them,) but in true affection of minde. As for ceremonies, other then ſuch as be neceſſarie (as thoſe of Chriſts inſtitution,) or ſuch as be conuenient for order, decencie, & edification: are excluded by the worſhip in ſpirit and trueth: which God requireth, Iohn 4. and S. Paul practiſed in the Goſpel. Worſhip in ſpirit.

Rhem. 9. A memorie of you.) A great example of charitie for al men, ſpecially for Prelates & Paſtors, not only to preach, but to pray continually for the conuerſion of people to Chriſts faith. Which the Apoſtle did for them whom he neuer knew, in reſpect of Gods honour only, and the zeale of ſoules. Prayer for conuerſion of ſoules.

Rhem. 7. 15. To euangelize.) The Goſpel is not only the life of our Sauiour written by the foure Euangeliſts, nor onely that which is written in the new Teſtament: but their whole courſe of preaching and teaching the faith. Which faith commeth ordinarily of preaching and hearing, and not of writing or reading. And therfore S. Paul thought not himſelf diſcharged by writing to the Romanes, but his deſire was to preach vnto them: for that was the proper commiſſion giuen to the Apoſtles, "to preach to al nations. The writing of the bookes of the Teſtament, is an other part of Gods prouidence, neceſſary for the Church in general, but not neceſſary for euery man in particulars as to be taught and preached vnto, is for euery one of age and vnderſtanding. And therfore S. Peter (who was the cheefe of the Commiſſion) wrote litle: many of them wrote nothing at al: and S. Paul that wrote moſt, wrote but litle in compariſon of his preaching: nor to any but ſuch as were cõuerted to the faith by preaching before. The Goſpel is not only the written word. Mat. 28. The Apoſtles writing, and preaching, whether more neceſſarie, and how.

Fulke 7. S. Paul did preach the Goſpel alſo by writing, and the people did heare by reading. For if it had not bene in his commiſſion to preach the Goſpel by writing, he would not haue declared in the beginning, that he is an Apoſtle of Ieſus Chriſt, whereby he procureth attention and obedience vnto his doctrine which he teacheth by writing. Peter neither in writing, nor in general preaching, ſhewed himſelfe chiefe of the commiſſion, yet faithfully diſcharged the Apoſtleſhip of the circumciſion, that was committed vnto him, Gal. 2. 7. Peters primacie.

Rhem. 8. 17. Liueth by faith.) In the 10. to the Hebrewes, he ſheweth by this place of the Prophet (Abacuc 2.) that the iuſt though he liue here in peregrination, and ſeeth not preſently nor enioyeth the life euerlaſting promiſed to him, yet holdeth faſt the hope thereof by faith. In this place he applieth the Prophets words further to this ſenſe, That it is our faith, that is to ſay, the Catholike beleefe (ſaith S. Auguſtine li. 3. cont. 2 ep. Pelag.) Which maketh a iuſt man, and diſtinguiſheth betwene the iuſt and vniuſt, and that by the law of faith, and not by the law of workes. Whereof it riſeth, that the Iew, the Heathen philoſopher, and the Heretike, though they excelled in al workes of moral vertues, could not yet be iuſt: and a Catholike Chriſtian man liuing but ordinarie honeſt life, either not ſinning greatly, or ſatisfying his faults by penance, is iuſt. And this difference riſeth by faith, not that faith can ſaue any man without workes, For it is not a reprobate faith that wee ſpeake of (as the holy Doctor ſaith) but that which worketh by charitie, and therfore remitteth ſinnes and maketh one iuſt. See S. Auguſtines place. The Catholike or Chriſtian faith is good workes iuſtifieth, and without this faith, no workes whatſoeuer.

Fulke 8. The faith of the Catholike Church is not the Popiſh faith, but the faith that apprehendeth the mercie of God in the merits of Chriſt: which faith worketh by loue, and obteineth remiſſion of ſinnes committed of infirmitie, whereof we are truely penitent. This is that faith whereby the iuſt man liueth. And without it, ſaith S. Auguſtine) thoſe that ſeeme to be good workes are turned into ſinnes. For al that is not of faith is ſinne. Againe, Therefore there is but one hope of all the godly, which grone vnder this burthen of corruptible fleſh, and infirmitie of this life, that we haue an aduocate with the father Ieſus Chriſt the righteous, and he is the propitiation for our ſinnes. Contra duas Ep. Pel. li. 3. cap. 5. Of ſupplying a mans faults by penance, he hath no word, but contrarywiſe he ſaith, Cum itaq; iuſti omnes, &c. Seeing all the iuſt, both of the elder time, and the Apoſtles, liued by right faith, which is in our Lorde Ieſus Chriſt, and had ſuch holy maners with faith, that although they could not be of ſo perfect vertue in this life, as in the life to come, yet what ſinne ſoeuer hath creft vpon them of humane frailtie, it is licensed, or wyped away through the pietie of the ſame faith. Our ſinnes therefore (through faith) are freely remitted. And this ſaying doth proue inuincibly, that a man is iuſtified wholy by faith, and not partly by workes. For if a man were iuſtified partly by workes (as the Scripture ſaith) the iuſt ſhall liue by faith, we might as truely ſay, the iuſt ſhall liue by workes, which all Chriſtian eares abhorre to heare. True faith. Faith onely iuſtifieth.

Rhem. 9. 18. Is reuealed.) By al the paſſage folowing you may ſee, that the Goſpel and Chriſts law conſiſteth not only in preaching faith, (though that be the ground, and is firſt alwaies to be done:) but to teach vertuous life and good workes, and to denounce damnation to al them that commit deadly ſinnes & repent not. And againe we ſee that not only lacke of faith is a ſinne, but al other actes done againſt Gods commandements. Not only faith.

Fulke 9. The Lawe which is a Scholemaſter vnto Chriſt, teacheth vs how to liue after we be incorporate to Chriſt. Therefore it muſt be preached that men ſeeing their damnation by the lawe, may be ſaued by faith in Chriſt, and being iuſtified by faith, may walke as obedient children in holines and righteouſnes, and not after the former luſtes in ignorance. 1. Pet. 1. 14. &c. Lacke of faith is the roote of all ſinnes. And all breach of Gods commandements The vſe of the Lawe.

mandements in the regenerate which know them, commeth through weakenes of faith.

Rhem. 10 26. Hath deliuered them vp.) As he ſaith here, God deliuered them vp, ſo to the Epheſians (c. 4. 19) he ſaith of the ſame perſons and things, They deliuered themſelues vp to all vnclenneſſe. So that it is not meant here that God doth driue, force, or cauſe any man to ſinne, as diuers blaſphemous Heretikes do holde: but only that by his iuſt iudgement, for their owne deſeruing, and for due puniſhment of their former grieuous offenſes, he withholdeth his grace from them, and ſo ſuffereth them to fall further into other ſinnes. As, for their crime of Idolatrie, to ſuffer them to fall into vnnaturall abominations: as now for hereſie, he taketh his grace & mercie from many, and ſo they fall headlong into al kind of turpitude, as contrariwiſe, for ill life, he ſuffereth many to fall into hereſie. And for Chriſts ſake let euery one that is entangled with the idolatrie of this time, that is to ſay, with theſe new ſectes, looke well into his owne conſcience, whether his forſaking the true God, may not come vnto him for a puniſhment of his former or preſent ill life which he liueth.

God is not the author of ſinne.

God puniſheth ſinne, by permitting men to fall further and further.

Fulke 10. God as a righteous Iudge deliuereth vp the wicked, who willingly deliuer vp themſelues, not driuing nor forcing them to ſinne, nor barely permitting, but willingly puniſhing them, in withholding his grace frō them, and giuing them ouer to their owne deſtruction. The wickednes of vnnaturall luſt is no where more common, then in the maintainers of ſuch idolatrie (as the Apoſtle here condemneth) and whereof he theweth, that it is a iuſt vengeance and puniſhment.

God is not author of ſinne.

Rhem. 11 32. Worthy of death.) Here you ſee why the Church taketh ſome ſinnes to be deadly, and calleth them mortal: to wit, becauſe al that doe them, are worthy of damnation: others be venial, that is to ſay, pardonable of their owne nature and not worthy of damnation.

Sinnes mortal and venial.

Fulke 11. The Scripture neither heare nor any where els doeth teach, that any ſinnes are ſo venial, that is pardonable of their owne nature and not worthy of damnation. For the wages and worthily deſerued reward of all ſinne in generall, is death. Rom. 6. 23. though ſome ſinnes are more heinous, and deſerue greater damnation. And to ſay, that ſome ſinnes are pardonable of their owne nature, is to ſay, that Chriſt died not for ſuch ſinnes, or that in vaine he died for them, ſeeing they are pardonable, and doe not deſerue damnation of their owne nature. But the Scripture telleth vs, that all tranſgreſſion of Gods lawe is ſinne, and deſerueth the curſe of God, and therefore damnable, 1. Ioan. 3. 4. Gal. 3. 10.

Sinnes venial and mortal.

21 Thou therfore ‡that teachest an other, teachest not thy selfe: that preachest, men ought not to steale, thou stealest:

22 That saiest men should not commit aduoutrie, thou committest aduoutrie: that abhorrest idols, thou doest sacrilege:

23 That doest glorie in the Law, thou by preuarication of the Lawe, doest dishonour God.

24 (c*For the name of God through you is blasphemed among the Gentiles*, as it is written.)

c It is a great sinne that by the il life of the faithful, our Lords name should be il spoken of among the misbeleuers, and many withdrawen from the true religion therby.

25 Circumcision in deede profiteth, if thou obserue the Law: but if thou be a preuaricatour of the Law, thy circumcision is become ‡prepuce.

‡Prepuce is the foreskinne not circumcised, & therfore signifieth the Gentiles, or the state and condition of the Gentiles: as circumcision, the Iewes and their state.

26 If then the prepuce ‖ keepe the iustices of the Law: shal not his prepuce be reputed for circumcision?

27 And shall not that which of nature is prepuce, fulfilling the Law, iudge thee, that by the letter and circumcision art a preuaricatour of the Law?

28 For not hee that is in open shewe, is a Iew, nor that which is in open shewe, in the flesh, man that doeth good, to the Iewe first, and also to the Greeke.

*11 * For there is no respect of persons with God.* 2.Par.19.7. act.10.34.

12 For whosoeuer hath sinned without lawe, shall also perish without law: and as many as haue sinned in the lawe, shall be iudged by the lawe,

*13 (For in the sight of God, * the hearers of the lawe are not righteous: but the doers of the lawe shall be iustified.* Iam.1.22.

14 For when the Gentiles which haue not the lawe, doe of nature the thinges conteined in the lawe: they hauing not the lawe, are a lawe vnto themselues,

15 Which shewe the workes of the law written in their hearts, their cõscience bearing them witnesse, and their thoughts accusing one another, or excusing,)

16 At the day when God shall iudge the secrets of men by Iesus Christ, according to my Gospell.

17 Behold, thou art called a Iew, and restest in the lawe, and makest thy boast of God,

18 And knowest his will, and allowest the things that be excellent, informed by the lawe:

19 And beleeuest that thou thy selfe art a guide of the blinde, a light of them which are in darkenesse,

20 An informer of them which lacke discretion, a teacher of the vnlearned: which hast the forme of knowledge, and of the trueth in the lawe.

21 Thou therefore which teachest another, teachest thou not thy selfe? Thou preachest that a man should not steale, yet stealest thou?

22 Thou that sayest a man should not commit adulterie, breakest thou wedlocke? Thou abhorrest idoles, and yet committest sacrilege?

23 Thou that makest thy boast of the lawe, through breaking the lawe, dishonourest thou God?

24 For the Name of God is euill spoken of among the Gentiles through you, as it is written.

25 For circumcision verily auayleth, if thou keepe the lawe: but if thou bee a breaker of the law, thy circumcision is made vncircumcision.

26 Therefore, if the vncircumcision keepe the ordinances of the lawe, shall not his vncircumcision be counted for circumcision?

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. II.

Rhem. 1. Thou that iudgeſt.) Such as by publike authoritie either ſpiritual or temporal haue to puniſh offenders, be not forbidden to iudge or condemne any for their offenſes, though themſelues be ſometimes guiltie in their conſcience of the ſame or greater: yet may it be matter of aggrauating ſinnes before God, when they wil not repent of thoſe offenſes themſelues, for the which they puniſh others. but if they be open offenders themſelues, in the ſame ſort for which they iudge other, they giue ſcandal, and thereby aggrauate their ſinnes very much. Properly here hee forbiddeth to charge an other falſly or truely with theſe crimes whereof him ſelf is as far guilty or more then the other, as the Iewes ſpecially did the Gentiles, ſo whom he ſpeaketh here.

Iudging other men.

4. Doeſt thou contemne?) This proueth that God offereth his grace and mercie to many, and by long ſuffering and ſufferance expecteth their repentance, differring their puniſhment of purpoſe that they may amend, & that he is not delighted in their perdition, nor is the cauſe of their ſinne: but contrariwiſe that they harden their own hartes, and of their owne free will reiect his grace and continue in benignitie.

Gods long ſuffering is for our repentance.

Rhem. 2. 6. According to his works.) Though the holy Apoſtles ſpecial purpoſe be in this Epiſtle, to commend vnto the Gentiles that truſted ſo much in their moral workes, the faith in Chriſt: yet leſt any man ſhould thinke or gather vntruely of his wordes, that Chriſtian mens workes were not meritorious or the cauſe of Saluation, he expreſſely writeth, that God giueth as well euerlaſting life and glory to men, for and according to their good workes, as he giueth damnation for the contrary workes. And howſoeuer Heretikes fondly flee from the euidence of theſe places, yet S.Auguſtine ſaith, Life euerlaſting to be rendred for good workes according to this manifeſt Scripture, God ſhal render to euery man according to his workes.

Good workes meritorious.

Li.de grat.& lib.arb.c.8.

Fulke 2. The Apoſtle neither heare nor any where teacheth, that Chriſtian mens works are meritorious, or ẏ cauſe of ſaluation. Neither doth he ſay expreſly (as you moſt falſly affirme) that he giueth euerlaſting life to men for their good workes, although he ſay, God ſhal render to euery man according to his works. Glory, honour and incorruption to euery one that worketh good. And you do as falſly ſlander S.Auguſtine, to ſay, life euerlaſting to be rendred for good workes, according to this manifeſt Scripture. For thus he mooueth the queſtion. If life eternal be rendred to good workes (as the Scripture ſaith moſt manifeſtly, that God ſhall render to euery one according to his workes) how is life eternall grace? ſeeing grace is not rendred to workes. Behold, he ſaith to good workes, not for good workes: and ſo concludeth the queſtion, that he excludeth the merite of good workes: Itaque Chriſtiani, &c. Therefore we muſt clearly beleeue, our good life is nothing els but the grace of God: and without doubt life euerlaſting which is rendred to good life, is the grace of God: and this is freely giuen, becauſe that is freely giuen, to which it is giuen. But that to which it is giuen, is onely grace, but this which is giuen to it, becauſe it is the reward of it, is grace for grace, as rewarde for righteouſneſſe, that it may be true, becauſe it is true, that God ſhall render to euery one according to his workes. And in the next Chapter he writeth, The Apoſtle ſaith, eternal life is the grace of God, that we might vnderſtand hereof, that God bringeth vs to eternal life, not by our merits, but for his owne mercie. Although the purpoſe of the Apoſtle in this place be not to ſhew howe men may atteine to eternal life, but that none can by their owne iuſtice atteine to it, becauſe no man bringeth ſuch workes as Gods iuſtice requireth, to deſerue eternal life, namely a perfect obſeruation of the Lawe without any tranſgreſſion.

Merits.

Rhem. 3. 13. Not the hearers.) This ſame ſentence agreeable alſo to Chriſts wordes (Matt. 7,21.) is the very ground of S. Iames diſputation, that not faith alone, but good workes alſo doe iuſtifie. Therefore S.Paul (howſoeuer ſome peruerſly conſter his wordes in other places) meaneth the ſame that S.Iames. And here * he ſpeaketh not properly of the firſt iuſtification, when an infidel or ill man is made iuſt, who had no acceptable workes before to be iuſtified by (of which kinde he ſpecially meaneth in other places of this Epiſtle) but he ſpeaketh of the ſecond iuſtification or increaſe of former iuſtice, which he that is in Gods grace, dayly proceedeth in, by doing all kinde of good workes, which be iuſtices, and for doing of which, hee is iuſt in deede before God. and of this kinde doeth S.Iames namely treate. Which is directly againſt the Heretikes of this time, who not onely attribute nothing to the works don in ſinne and infidelitie, but eſteeme nothing at all of all Chriſtian mens works toward iuſtification and ſaluation, condemning them as vncleane, ſinfull, hypocritical, Phariſaicall: which is directly againſt theſe and other Scripture, and plaine blaſphemie of Chriſt and his grace, by whoſe ſpirit and cooperation we doe them.

Aug. de Sp.& lit.c.26.30.3. The firſt, iuſtification, without workes: the ſecond, by workes. S.Paul ſpeaketh of the firſt ſpecially, S. Iames of the ſecond.

Fulke 3. This ſentence is not the ground of S.Iames diſputation, that faith voyde of good workes doeth not iuſtifie, and that good workes alſo iuſtifie or declare a man to be iuſt. For the Apoſtle here ſpeaketh not of faith, but of the Law. The Law iuſtifieth only the doers and perfect obſeruers thereof, faith iuſtifieth the beleeuers. Neither doth S.Paul ſpeake here of any meanes, whereby a man is iuſtified, but ſheweth that no tranſgreſſour of the Law can be iuſtified by the Law, becauſe ẏ Law iuſtifieth none but the doers therof, which ſeeing no man doth perfectly, no man is iuſtified by the workes of the Lawe, as he ſaith expreſſly, Rom.3.10.Gal.3 11. As for your diſtinction of the firſt and ſeconde iuſtification before God, is but a newe deuiſe, not threeſcore yeere olde,

The Lawe.

Faith.

vtterly vnheard of among the auncient fathers. For whome God iuſtifieth by faith without workes, he alſo glorifieth. Rom. 8.30. And that which you call the ſecond iuſtification, or increaſe of iuſtice, is but the effect, and fruites of iuſtification before God: and a declaration before men, that we are iuſt. And ſo meaneth S. Iames that Abraham who was iuſtified or made iuſt before God through faith, was alſo iuſtified, or declared to be iuſt, before men, by workes: when he offred his ſonne Iſaac. So that this diuerſitie of iuſtifications, ariſeth of the diuers ſignifications of the word iuſtifying, which ſignifieth ſometime to make iuſt, ſometime to ſhewe or declare to be iuſt: as where the Prophet ſaith to God Pſal. 51. That thou maieſt be iuſtified in thy ſaying, meaning, that thou maiſt be declared, and approued iuſt. So wiſedome is iuſtified of her children, that is declared, and approued to be iuſt. Math. 11.19. The Publicanes iuſtified God. Luc. 7.29. Chriſt was iuſtified in the ſpirite. 1. Tim. 3. 16, that is, declared to be iuſt, in which ſenſe. S. Iames ſaith, that a man is iuſtified of workes. Therefore where as you quote Auguſtine, for your diſtinction of the firſt and ſecond iuſtification, there is no word in him thereof. Finally where you ſay, we condemne all Chriſtian mens works, as vncleane, ſinfull, hypocritical, phariſaicall, it is a moſt impudent ſlaunder, for we acknowledge all good workes of Chriſtian men, to be the giftes of God, the fruites of iuſtification, the notes of election, the way wherein all Chriſtians muſt walke vnto ſaluation: but ſeeing they are vnperfect, they are not able to make vs iuſt in the ſight of God.

Iuſtification by faith and by workes.

Slaunder.

Rhem. 4. 13 Shalbe iuſtified.) Of the other Articles deceitfully handled by Heretikes, they vſe moſt guile in this of Iuſtification: and ſpecially by the equiuocation of certaine wordes, which is proper to al contentious wranglers, and namely in this word, Iuſtifie, Which becauſe they finde ſometime to ſignifie the acquiting of a guiltie man of ſome crime whereof he is in deede guiltie, and for which he ought to be condemned, (as by mans iudgement either of ignorance or of purpoſe often a very malefactor is deemed or declared and pronounced innocent) they falſly make it ſo ſignifie in this place and the like, whereſoeuer man is ſaid to be iuſtified of God for his workes or otherwiſe: as though it were ſayd, that God iuſtifieth man, that is to ſay, imputeth to him the iuſtice of Chriſt, though he be not in deede iuſt: or of fauoter reputeth him as iuſt, when in deede he is wicked, impious, and vniuſt. Which is a moſt blaſphemous doctrine againſt God, making him either ignorant who is iuſt, and ſo to erre in his iudgement, or not good, that can loue and fauor him whom he knoweth to be euil. And a maruelous pitieful blindnes it is in the Churches Aduerſaries, that they ſhould thinke it more to Gods glorie, and more to the commendation of Chriſtes iuſtice, merites, and mercie, to call and count an il man ſo continuing, for iuſt: then by his grace and mercie to make him of an il one, iuſt in deede, and ſo truely to iuſtifie him, or as the word doth here ſignifie, to eſteeme and approue for iuſt in deede, him that by his grace keepeth his law and commandements. For that the keepers or doers of the commandments be iuſt and ſo reputed, it is plaine by the correſpondence to the former wordes, Not the hearers are iuſt, but the doers. Wherevpon S. Auguſtine de Sp. & lit. c. 26. to. 3. hath theſe wordes, When it is ſaid, The doers of the Law ſhalbe iuſtified, what other thing is ſaid, then, The iuſt ſhalbe iuſtified? for the doers of the Law verily are iuſt.

Against imputatiue iuſtice.

True inherent iuſtice more for Gods glorie, and for the commendation of Chriſts merites.

Fulke. 4. You deale not only deceiptfully, but moſt falſely and impudently, to ſay we make the word Iuſtifie, in this place to ſignifie, acquiting him that is worthy to be condemned, or to haue the iuſtice of Chriſt, imputed to him without workes. For we ſay, that he which obſerueth the law, ſhalbe iuſtified and made iuſt by merite of his workes, if any man can perfectly obſerue it. But he that is a tranſgreſſor of the lawe, is no doer of the lawe, to be iuſtified thereby. But when we ſpeake of iuſtice by imputation, as the Apoſtle hath taught vs in the 4. chapter, we affirme, that God iuſtifieth vs, when he imputeth iuſtice vnto vs, without workes, by which imputation of iuſtice, we are not falſely accompted, but are in deede by God truely made iuſt, by the righteouſnes of Chriſt which is giuen vnto vs, and which we apprehend by faith: So that although we be vniuſt in our ſelues, we are truely iuſt in Chriſt, becauſe Chriſt is truely giuen vnto vs, to be iuſtice, ſanctification and redemption, 1. Cor. 1.30. and we are truely made the iuſtice of God in him. 2. Cor 5.21. When we are found in Chriſt, not hauing our owne iuſtice which is of the Lawe, but that which is by the faith of Chriſt, the iuſtice which is of God through faith. Phil. 3.9. So the whole glorie of our iuſtification, is referred only to the mercie of God in Chriſt. As for that you call iuſtice inherent, is ſanctification, following iuſtification, no cauſe, but a neceſſarie effect thereof. And therefore you wreſtle in vaine, out of this place to proue iuſtification of a Chriſtian man by workes, where the Apoſtle proueth, that no man can be iuſt by workes, becauſe no man fulfilleth the Lawe. S. Auguſtine gathereth not hereof, that any man ſhalbe iuſt by fulfilling the Lawe, but that the Iewes the hearers of the Lawe, had neede of the grace of the iuſt iuſtifier, that they may be doers. Or els it is ſo ſayd (ſaith he) they ſhall be iuſtified, as it if were ſayd, they ſhalbe accompted iuſt, they ſhall be reputed iuſt. For thus he handleth ỹ matter, Sic intelligendum eſt, &c. The doers of the Lawe ſhalbe iuſtified is for to be vnderſtoode, that we may know they can not otherwiſe be doers of the Lawe, except they be iuſtified, that iuſtification doeth not come to the doers, but iuſtification goeth before the doers of the Lawe. For what other thing is this word iuſtified, but being made iuſt, verily by him which iuſtifieth the vngodly man, that of an vngodly man, he may be made iuſt? For if we ſhould ſpeake ſo, that we ſhould ſay men ſhalbe deliuered, this verely ſhould be ſo vnderſtoode, that libertie ſhould come to them that are aliue, die men. But if we ſhould ſay, men ſhalbe created, it ſhould not be vnderſtoode, that they ſhould be created, which were men already, but by the very creation they ſhould be made men. So if it were ſayd, the doers of the Lawe ſhalbe honoured, we ſhould not take it rightly, but that honour ſhould come to them, which were already doers of the Lawe. But when it is ſayd, the doers of the Lawe ſhalbe iuſtified, what other thing is ſayd then the iuſt ſhalbe iuſtified, for the doers of the Lawe, verily are iuſt, and by his it is as much, as if it were ſayd, the doers of the Lawe ſhalbe created, not becauſe they were but that they may be: that the Iewes which are hearers of the Lawe, might ſo vnderſtand, that they haue neede of the grace of the iuſt iuſtifier, that they may be doers. Thus without all ſhame of obſtinate blindnes, you alleage S. Auguſtine for you, where he reaſoneth purpoſely againſt you: and ſlaunder vs to thinke, that it is more to Gods glorie, to call and compte an il man ſo continuing for iuſt: then by his mercie to make of an il one iuſt in deede. For we thinke and ſay, that God of a wicked man, by his grace and mercie doeth make one iuſt in deede by the iuſtice of Chriſt, neither calling nor accompting him iuſt, that continueth wicked, as he was before, but giuing him alſo the ſpirite of ſanctification, whereby after he is made iuſt by grace, he doeth the workes of iuſtice, and keepeth Gods commaundements though not perfectly in this life, but labouring toward perfection vntil he come to the eſtate of happines, which is perfect in the life to come.

Rhem. 5. 26 Keepe the iuſtices.) If a Gentill either now ſince Chriſt, by his grace and faith, or any other before Chriſt, not of the ſtocke of Abraham, through the Spirit of God keepe his iuſtices of the Law, he is iuſt no leſſe then if he had been outwardly circumciſed, and ſhall condemne the circumciſed Iew not keeping the Law, without which, his outward Sacrament can not ſerue him, but ſhall be much to his condemnation, that hauing the Law and peculiar Sacraments of God, he did not keepe the Law, nor inwardly exerciſe that in his hart which the outward ſigne did import. And all this is no more but to inſinuate that true iuſtice is not in faith only or knowledge of the Law, or in the name either of Iew or Chriſtian, but in doing good workes and keeping the Law by Gods grace. True iuſtice both in Iew & Gentile, is by keeping the Law.

Fulke. 5. The Apoſtle ſayth not, that any Gentile fulfilleth the iuſtice of the Lawe, but if he keepe the iuſtice of the Lawe, (which none doeth) the want of circumciſion doeth not hinder him from being iuſt. Therefore he doeth not inſinuate, that true iuſtice is not in faith only but in doing of good workes, and keeping the Lawe by Gods grace, for as yet, he ſpeaketh not of Gods grace, nor of keeping the law by his grace, but confuteth the Iewes which gloried in carnall circumciſion, and kept not the Law. Iuſtice by faith only.

Rhem. 6. 29 In ſpirit, not letter.) The outward ceremonies, Sacraments, threates, and commandements of God in the Law, are called the letter: the inward working of God in mens hart, and enduing him with faith, hope, and charitie, and with loue, liking, will, and abilitie to keepe his commandements by the grace and merites of Chriſt, are called the ſpirit. In which ſenſe, the carnall Iew was a Iew according to the letter, and he was circumciſed after the letter: but the true beleeuing Gentil ol ſeruing by Gods grace in hart and in Gods ſight, that which was meant by that carnall ſigne, is a Iew according to the ſpirit, and iuſtified by God. Of the ſpirit and letter S. Auguſtine made a famous worke, verie neceſſarie for the vnderſtanding of this Epiſtle. The letter, and the ſpirit. The carnal, and ſpirituall Iewe. de ſpi. & lit. to 3.

Fulkk. 6. God enduеth no man, with ſufficient ſtrength to keepe his commandements in this life, in ſuch perfection as his Law doeth require, yet his grace in the merites of Chriſt, is ſufficient for vs ſeeing his ſtrength is made perfect in infirmitie. 2. Cor. 12. 9. No man keepeth Gods commandements perfectly.

CHAP. III.

He graunteth that the Iewes did paſſe the Heathen Gentils in Gods kenſist, 9 but not in their owne workes, concluding, that he hath ſhewed, both Iew and Gentil to be ſinners: 18 and therfore (inferring) that there muſt be ſome other way to Saluation, indifferent to both, which is to beleeue in IESVS CHRIST, that for his ſake their ſinnes may be forgiuen them.

WHAT preeminence then hath the Iew, or what is the profit of circumciſion?

2 Much by al meanes. Firſt ſurely becauſe the wordes of God were committed to them.

3 For what if certaine of them haue not beleeued? Hath their incredulitie made the faith of God fruſtrate?

4 God forbid. but *God is true: and *‡ euery man a lyer, as it is written: That thou maieſt be iuſtified in thy wordes, and ouercome when thou art iudged.

5 But ‖ if our iniquitie commend the iuſtice of God, what ſhal we ſay? Is God vniuſt that executeth wrath? (I ſpeake according to man)

6 God forbid. otherwiſe how ſhal God iudge this world?

7 For if the ueritie of God hath abounded in my lie, vnto his glorie, why am I alſo yet iudged as a ſinner,

8 And not (as we are blaſphemed, and as ſome report vs to ſay) let vs doe euil, that there may come good? whoſe damnation is iuſt.

9 What then? do we excel them? No, not ſo. For we haue argued the Iewes & the Greekes, al to be vnder ſinne?

10 As it is written: That ‖ there is not any man iuſt,

What preferment then hath the Ieue? or what profite is there of circumciſion?

2 Much euery way. Firſt, for becauſe that vnto them were committed the words of God.

3 What then though ſome of them did not beleeue? Shall their vnbeliefe make the faith of God without effect?

4 God forbid: Yea, let God be true, and euery man a lyar, as it is written, That thou mightest be iuſtified in thy ſayings, and ouercome when thou art iudged,

5 But if our vnrighteouſneſſe ſetteth forth the righteouſneſſe of God, what ſhall we ſay? Is God vnrighteous which taketh vengeance? (I ſpeake after the maner of men,)

6 God forbid: for how then ſhall God iudge the worlde?

7 For if the trueth of God hath more aboundded through my lye vnto his glorie, why am I as yet iudged as a ſinner?

8 And not rather (as we be ſlaunderouſly reported, and as ſome affirme that we ſay) let vs doe euill, that good may come thereof? whoſe damnation is iuſt.

9 What then, are we better then they? No in no wiſe: for we haue before accuſed both Iewes and Gentiles, that they are all vnder ſinne:

*10 As it is written, * There is no righteous, no not one:* Gal. 3. 22.

11 There

19 And we know that whatſoeuer the Law ſpeaketh, to them it ſpeaketh that are in the Law: that euery mouth may be ſtopped, and al the world may be made ſubiect to God:

Gal.2,16. 20 Becauſe * ‖ by the workes of the Law no fleſh ſhal be iuſtified before him. For by the Law is the knowledge of ſinne.

21 But now without the Law ‖ the iuſtice of God is manifeſted: teſtified by the law & the Prophets.

22 And the iuſtice of God by faith of IESVS CHRIST, vnto al and vpon al that c beleeue in him. For there is no diſtinction.

23 For al haue ſinned: and doe neede the glorie of God.

26 In the toleration of God, to the ſhewing of his iuſtice in this time: that he may be iuſt, and iuſtifying him that is of the faith of IESVS CHRIST.

27 Where is then thy boaſting? it is excluded. by what law? of deedes? No, but by the law of faith.

28 For we account a man to be iuſtified by faith without the workes of the Law.

29 Is he God of the Iewes only? is he not alſo of the Gentiles? Yes of the Gentiles alſo.

30 For it is one God, that iuſtifieth circumciſion by faith, and prepuce by faith.

31 Do we then deſtroy the Law by faith? God forbid. but we do eſtabliſh the Law.

11 *There is none that vnderſtandeth, there is none that ſeeketh after God. Pſal.13.2. & 52.3.

12 They are all gone out of the way, they are all become vnprofitable, there is none that doeth good, no not one.

13 Their throte is an open ſepulchre, with their tongues they haue deceiued, the poyſon of Aſpes is vnder their lippes.

14 *Whoſe mouth is full of curſing and bitterneſſe: Pſal.9.7.

15 *Their feete are ſwift to ſhead blood. Pro.1.16.

16 *Hearts griefe and miſerie are in their wayes: eſa.59.7. Pſal.14.1.

17 And the way of peace haue they not knowen.

18 *There is no feare of God before their eyes. Pſal.36.2.

19 Now we know that what things ſoeuer the lawe ſaith, it ſaith it to them which are vnder the lawe: that euery mouth may be ſtopped, and that all the world may be endangered to God.

20 Becauſe that by the deedes of the lawe, there ſhall no fleſh be iuſtified in his ſight: For by the law commeth the knowledge of ſinne.

21 *But now the righteouſneſſe of God without the lawe is made manifeſt, being witneſſed by the lawe and the Prophets. Rom.2.17.

22 The righteouſneſſe of God commeth by the faith of Ieſus Chriſt, vnto all, and vpon all them that beleeue. There is no difference:

23 For all haue ſinned, and haue neede of the glorie of God,

24 But are iuſtified freely by his grace, through the redemption that is in Chriſt Ieſu:

25 Whome God hath ſet forth to be a propitiation, through faith in his blood, to declare his righteouſneſſe, by the forgiuing of the ſinnes that are paſt,

26 Which God did ſuffer, to ſhew at this time his righteouſneſſe, that he might be iuſt, and the iuſtifier of him which beleeueth on Ieſus.

27 Where is then thy boaſting? It is excluded. By what lawe? Of workes? Nay: but by the law of faith.

28 Therefore, we holde that a man is iuſtified by faith, without the deedes of the lawe, 29 Is he the God of the Iewes onely? Is he not alſo of the Gentiles? Yes, euē of the Gentiles alſo.

30 For it is one God which ſhal iuſtifie the circumciſion by faith, and vncircumciſion through faith.

31 Doe we then deſtroy the lawe through faith? God forbid: but we rather mainteine the lawe.

MARGINAL NOTES. CHAP. III.

Rhem. 1. 4 Euery man a lyer.) God only by nature is true, al mere men by nature may lie, deceiue and be deceiued: yet God by his grace and ſpirit may and doth preſerue the Apoſtles and principal Gouernours of his people and the Church and Councels in al truth, though they were and are mere men.

Fulke. 1. God preſerueth men from error that neglect not to follow his word, which is the rule of trueth. Againſt which, if Gouernours of the Church, Councels, or any other men, wil preſume any thing of their owne wiſdome, they are left vnto error. All men in danger of error.

Rhem. 2. 22 Beleeue in him.) To beleeue in him, here compriſeth not only the act of faith, but of hope and charitie, as the Apoſtle explicateth him ſelf. Galat. 5. 6.

Fulke. 2. Hope and charitie, doe of neceſſitie follow true faith, by which we apprehend ỹ iuſtice of God, but they are not compriſed in the word of faith, to ioyne in apprehending Gods iuſtice. S. Paule to the Galathians, ſaith that faith which worketh by charitie, auaileth with God, he ſaith not, that charitie with faith apprehendeth Gods iuſtice, or iuſtifieth before God, but ſheweth that a liuely faith which worketh by charitie, doeth iuſtifie before him. Iuſtification by faith.

Rhem. 3. 24 Gratis by his grace.) No man atteineth his firſt iuſtification by the merites either of his faith or workes, but meerly by Chriſtes grace and mercie: though his faith and workes proceeding of grace be diſpoſitions and preparations thereunto.

Fulke. 3. S. Paule acknowledgeth but this one iuſtification by faith without workes, before God: in which there is nothing giuen to merites, either of faith or workes. Nor any diſpoſition or preparation to iuſtification by faith and workes proceeding of grace, but as Chryſoſtome ſayeth. Quam primum &c. So ſone as a man hath beleeued, he is immediately with all iuſtified. In 3. ad Rom. Hom. 7. Againe, Hic virtutem &c. He ſheweth heare the power of God, that he hath not only ſaued but alſo iuſtified, and brought into gloriation, vſing no workes heare vnto, but requiring faith only. You ſee that he aſcribeth ſaluation to this iuſtification, wherein God vſeth no preparation of workes, but faith only. One iuſtification before God by faith only.

Rhem. 4. 2. Pet. 3. 5 If your iniquitie. No marueil that many now a daies deduce falſe and deteſtable concluſions out of this Apoſtles high and hard writings, ſeeing that S. Peter noted it in his daies, and him ſelfe here confeſſeth that his preaching and ſpeaches were then falſely miſconſtrued: as though he had taught that the Iewes and Gentiles il life and incredulitie had been directly the cauſe of Gods more mercie, and that therfore ſinne commeth of God to the aduancement of his glorie, and conſequently that men might or ſhould do il, that good might enſue thereof. And as al theſe and the like places of the Apoſtle though ſore wrung and by S. Peter, and by the Apoſtles owne defenſe and Proteſtation, that he neuer meant ſuch horrible things yet the wicked alſo of this time do ſtumble and fall. But the true meaning is in al ſuch places, that God can and doth when it pleaſeth him, conuert thoſe ſinnes which man committeth againſt him and his commandements, to his glorie: though the ſinnes th. mſelues ſtand not with his will, intention, nor honour, but be directly againſt the ſame, and therefore may not be committed that any good may fall for, what good ſo euer accidentally falleth, it proceedeth not of the ſinne, but of Gods mercy that can pardon, and of his omnipotencie that can turne il to good. And therefore againſt theſe carnall interpretations, S. Paul very carefully and diligently giueth reaſon alſo in this place v. 6, that it is impoſſible: becauſe God could not iuſtly puniſh any man, nor ſit in iudgement at the latter day for ſinne without plaine iniuſtice, if either him ſelf would haue ſinne committed, or man might doe it to his glorie. Therfore let all ſoxere readers of the Scriptures, and ſpecially of S. Pauls writings, hold this for a certaintie, as the Apoſtles owne defenſe (whatſoeuer he ſeeme to ſay hereafter ſounding in their ſenſe, that ſinne commeth of God or may therefore be committed that he may worke good thereof) that the Apoſtle him ſelf condemneth that ſenſe as ſlanderous and blaſphemous. S. Paules ſpeeches miſtaken of ỹ wicked. Rom. 5, 20. Rom. 3. 4. The ſenſe of the places that ſound, as if God cauſed ſinne.

Fulke. 4. All ſinne is manifeſtly againſt the will of God reuealed in his word, although nothing come to paſſe, contrarie to the determination and ſecret will of God, which is often vnknowen, but neuer vniuſt. Neither can ſinne come of God, which is perfectly good. But as it is a demonſtration of his iuſtice, in the puniſhment therof, and of his mercie in the pardoning therof, it is not againſt his ſecret will, that there is ſinne. For we muſt as well take heede, of the blaſphemie of the Manichees that fained an euil God, becauſe euil could not proceede from the good God, as of the impudence and blaſphemie of the Libertines, that make God the auctor of their ſinnes, which they commit of their owne wicked corruption to ſerue their owne luſtes, and not to ſerue the glorie of God. God is not auctor of ſinne.

Rhem. 5. 10 Not any iuſt.) *Theſe generall ſpeaches, that both Iew and Gentile be in ſinne, and none at all iuſt, are not ſo to be taken, that none in neither ſort were euer good: the Scriptures expreſly ſaying that Iob, * Zacharie, Eliſabeth, and ſuch like, were iuſt before God, and it were blaſphemie to ſay that theſe wordes alleaged out of the 13. Pſalme, were meant in Chriſtes mother, in S. Iohn the Baptiſt, in the Apoſtles &c. For, this only is the ſenſe: that neither by the law of nature, nor law of Moyſes, could any man be iuſt or auoid ſuch ſinnes as here be reckened, but by faith and the grace of God, by which there were a number in all ages (ſpecially among the Iewes) that were iuſt and holy, whom theſe wordes touch not, being ſpoken only to the multitude of the wicked, which the Prophet maketh as it were a ſeuerall body conſpiring againſt Chriſt, and perſecuting the iuſt and godly, of which il companie he ſaith, that none was iuſt nor feared God.* How it is ſayd, none iuſt. *Iob. 1. * Luc. 1.*

Fulke. 5. Theſe generall ſpeeches declare that none was euer voyd of ſinne, or good of his owne ſtrength, but only by the grace of God, as Iob, Zacharie, Elizabeth, and all the elect of God, after they are called and iuſtified. And euen the virgine Marie, and Iohn Baptiſt, were not iuſt in Gods ſight, but by faith in Chriſt. For not only in the 13. Pſalme: but alſo in the 143. 2. Pſalme, the Prophet ſaith, that none liuing ſhall be found iuſt in Gods ſight. Therefore he ſpeaketh of the corruption of al man kinde, conſidered without the grace of God iuſtifying them, and not of the multitude of the wicked only. For how could all the world be made guiltie before God, and euery mouth ſtopped, if only the wicked were vnderſtoode? Therfore of neceſſitie it perteineth to all, and ſo doth Chryſoſtome expound it, in ep. ad. Rom. Hom. 7, Theodret apud Oecum: and the text is plaine. None voyde of ſinne.

and ſo doth Chryſoſtome expound it in in epiſt ad Rom. Hom. 7. Theodoret. apud Oecum. and the text is plaine.

Rhem. 6. 20 By the workes of the Law.) S. Hierome and S. Chryſoſtome expound this of the ceremonial workes onely, and in that ſenſe the Apoſtle ſpecially proſecuteth this propoſition in his Epiſtle to the Galatians, but it is true alſo of all mans morall workes done without faith and the grace of God: which cannot be acceptable or auailable in Gods ſight, to iuſtifie any man, And ſo S. Auguſtine taketh it de Sp. & lit. c. 8. to. 3.

No workes auaile without faith & grace.

Fulke. 6. Saint Auguſtine alſo often ſheweth, that good workes done of fayth, doe follow him that is iuſtified, and doe not goe before to iuſtifie, and therefore can not ioyne with fayth in iuſtification. And Saint Paule to the Galathians ſpeaketh expreſſely againſt them that ioyned any workes either ceremoniall or morall, with fayth in the act of iuſtification. Galath. 3. 10. 11. 12.

De fide & ep. cap. 14. In Pſ. 67. Iuſtification by faith only.

Rhem. 7. 22 Iuſtice of God.) Beware of the wicked and vaine commentarie of the Caluiniſtes, gloſing, the iuſtice of God to be that which is reſident in Chriſt, apprehended by our faith: and ſo that imputed to vs which we in deed haue not. Wherein at once they haue forged themſelues againſt Gods manifeſt word, a new no iuſtice, a phantaſticall apprehenſion of that which is not, a falſe faith and vntrue imputation whereas the iuſtice of God here, is that wherewith he endueth a man at his firſt converſion, and is now in a man, and therefore mans iuſtice: but yet Gods iuſtice alſo, becauſe it is of God. Of this iuſtice in vs, whereby we be truly iuſtified and in deed made iuſt, S. Auguſtine ſpeaketh thus: The grace of Chriſt doth worke our illumination and iuſtification inwardly alſo. And againe, He giueth to the faithful the moſt ſecret grace of his Spirite, which ſecretly he powreth into infants alſo. And againe, They are iuſtified in Chriſt that beleeue in him through the ſecret communication and inſpiration of ſpiritual grace, whereby euery one leaneth to our Lord. And againe, He maketh iuſt renewing by the Spirit, and regeneration by grace.

The Heretikes phantaſticall or imputatiue iuſtice.

De pec. mer. &. l. 1. c. 9. 10. True inherrent iuſtice.

Fulke. 7. Againſt this proude and ſcornefull ſlaunder, what we holde of the iuſtice of Christ imputed to vs through fayth, is declared before cap. 2. ſection. 4. and needs not to be repeated againe: that wee are truely iuſtified in Gods ſight, by the iuſtice and merites of Christ, which is giuen vnto us of God, and wee by his ſpirite beeing made liuely members of his body, are truely accounted iuſt by his righteouſneſſe. And that vertue of iuſtice, wherewith God, by the ſpirite of regeneration, indeweth man at his conuerſion, is an effect or fruite, not a cauſe of our iuſtification, before him. Neyther doth S. Auguſtine ſay, any thing to the contrary, but to the confirmation hereof. For we acknowledge, that God doth worke our illumination and iuſtification inwardly, who by his grace, doth ingraſſe euen infants that are baptiſed, into his body. For he in whom all ſhall be quickned giueth the moſt ſecret grace of his ſpirit, to the faithfull, and powreth it euen into infants, which cannot follow his iuſtice in workes, but by the ſecret communication, and inſpiration of ſpirituall grace, by which whoſoeuer cleaueth to the Lord, is one ſpirite ſayth S. Auguſt. And therfore to be iuſtified in Chriſt, is to be truely iuſtified by the iuſtice of Chriſt, as all haue truly ſinned in the ſinne of Adam, and are iuſtly condemned in Adam, not onely in imitation of Adam. For by the diſcourſe of S. Auguſtine, the iuſtice of Chriſt is no more inherent in vs, then the ſinne of Adam, whereby yet we are condemned, through propagation of Adams corruption, as we are iuſtified, by communication and participation of the grace of Chriſt, by his ſpirite.

Rhem. 8. 28 By faith without workes.) This is the place whereupon the Proteſtants gather faſtly their only faith, and which they commonly auouch, as though the Apoſtle ſaid, that only faith doth iuſtifie, Where he both in words and meaning excepteth only the workes of the Law done without Chriſt before our converſion: neither excluding the Sacraments of Baptiſme or Penance, nor hope and charitie, or other Chriſtian vertues, all which be the iuſtice of faith, as the good workes proceeding thereof, be likewiſe the law and iuſtice of faith. All which the Aduerſaries would exclude by foiſting in the terme onely. Of which kind of men S. Auguſtine vpon this place ſaith thus: Men not vnderſtanding that which the Apoſtle ſayth, (we count a man to bee iuſtified by fayth without the workes of the Lawe) did thinke that hee ſayd, fayth would ſuffice a man though he liued ill, and had no good workes. Which God forbid the veſſell of election ſhould thinke: who in a certaine place after he had ſayd, In Christ Iesvs neither circumciſion nor prepuce auayleth any whit, hee ſtraight added, but fayth which worketh by loue.

What workes are excluded from iuſtification.

De grat. & lib. arb. c. 7. Gal. 5.

Fulke. 8. Fayth heere excludeth all merite of workes, from iuſtifying a man: yet the ſacraments haue there place, as ſeales of iuſtification: and good workes as neceſſary fruites and effects of iuſtification. And where, as you ſay, we foyſt in the terme onely, you were beſt charge all the auncient fathers, which vſe this terme, of whome we haue receiued it, to be ſoyſters, and excluders of the ſacraments and good workes. Ambroſe ſaith. *All that are iuſtified, are freely iuſtified, becauſe working nothing, nor recompenſing, they are iuſtified by faith onely, through the gift of God. Likewiſe Cyprian hath the ſame terme, ſaying, That faith only auaileth, & that ſo much as we beleeue, ſo much we obtaine. S. Hilary in Matth. can. 8. & can. 21. ſaith: That fayth only iuſtifieth. Greg. Nazianzen ſayth: To beleeue only is iuſtice, orat. 22. S. Baſil ſayth: *This is perfect and full reioycing in God, when a man doth not boaſt of his own righteouſnes, but knoweth himſelfe to be void of true righteouſnes, and to be iuſtified by faith only in Chriſt. CHAP. IIII.

That Abraham was not iuſtified by his owne power, but by Gods grace, in whome he beleeued (6 which is a way for the ſinner alſo to come to iuſtice.) 9 And that, ſeeing he was not as then circumciſed, not onely the circumciſed Iew, but alſo the vncircumciſed Gentill may by beleeuing the Chriſtian fayth, come to iuſtice, as Abraham did: 11 ſpecially conſidering alſo, that Abraham was promiſed to be Father of the whole world, and not onely of the Iewes, to whome onely the Law was giuen: and that, not to fulfill the promiſe, but for an other cauſe.

WHAT ſhall we ſay then that ‖ Abraham did find, our father according to the fleſh?

2 For if Abraham were iuſtified ‖ by workes: he hath glorie, but not with God.

Gen.5,6. Gal.3,6. Ia.2,23. 3 For what ſaieth the Scripture? Abraham beleeued God, and it was reputed him to iuſtice.

4 But ‖ to him that worketh, the reward is not c imputed according to grace, but according to dette.

c) 5,19. 5 But ‖ to him that worketh not, yet beleeueth in him that iuſtifieth the impious, his faith is c reputed to iuſtice according to the purpoſe of God.

c) 3,19. 6 ‖ As Dauid alſo termeth the bleſſednes of a man, to whom God reputeth iuſtice without workes.

Pſ.31,1. 7 Bleſſed are they whoſe iniquities be forgiuen, and whoſe ſinnes be couered.

8 Bleſſed is the man to whom our Lord hath not imputed ſinne.

9 This bleſſednes then doth it abide in the circumciſion, or in the prepuce alſo? For we ſay that vnto Abraham faith was ‡ reputed to iuſtice.

10 How was it reputed? in circumciſion, or in prepuce? Not in circumciſion, but in prepuce.

Gen.17,10. 11 And *he receiued c the ſigne of circumciſion, ‖ a ſeale of the iuſtice of faith that is in prepuce: that he might be the father of al that beleeue by the prepuce, that vnto thē alſo it may be reputed to iuſtice:

12 And might be father of circumciſion, not to them only that are of the circumciſion, but to them alſo that folow the ſteps of the faith that is in the prepuce of our father Abraham.

13 For not by the Law was the promiſſe to Abraham, or to his ſeede, that he ſhould be heire of the world: but by the iuſtice of faith.

14 For if they that are of the Law, be heires: faith is made voide, the promiſſe is aboliſhed.

15 For the Law worketh wrath. For where is no law, neither is there preuarication.

16 Therefore of faith: that according to grace the promiſſe may be firme to all the ſeede, not to that only which is of the Law, but to that alſo which is of the faith of Abraham, who is the father of vs all, (as it is written:

Gen.17,4. 17 For a father of many nations haue I appointed

WHat ſhall we ſay then that Abraham our father, as perteining to the fleſh, did find?

2 For if Abraham were iuſtified by workes, then hath he wherin to boaſt, but not before God.

*3 For what ſaith the Scripture? * Abraham beleeued God, and it was counted vnto him for righteouſneſſe.* Gen.15 6. gal.3.6. iames 2. 23.

4 To him that worketh, is the reward not reckoned of grace, but of duetie.

5 To him that worketh not, but beleeueth on him that iuſtifieth the vngodly, his faith is counted for righteouſneſſe.

6 Euen as Dauid deſcribeth the bleſſedneſſe of the man vnto whom God imputeth righteouſneſſe without workes:

*7 Saying, * Bleſſed are they whoſe vnrighteouſneſſe are forgiuen, and whoſe ſinnes are couered.* Pſal.32.1.

8 Bleſſed is that man to whom the Lord will not impute ſinne.

9 Came this bleſſedneſſe then vpon the circumciſion onely, or vpon the vncircumciſion alſo? For we ſay that faith was reckened to Abraham for righteouſneſſe.

10 How was it then reckened? when he was in the circumciſion, or when he was in the vncircumciſion? Not in the circumciſion, but in vncircumciſion.

*11 * And he receiued the ſigne of circumciſion as the ſeale of the righteouſneſſe of faith, which he had yet being vncircumciſed: that he ſhould bee the father of all them that beleeue, though they be not circumciſed, that righteouſneſſe might be imputed vnto them alſo.* Gen.17.11.

12 And that he might be father of circumciſion, not vnto them only which came of the circumciſed, but vnto them alſo that walke in the ſteps of the faith that was in our father Abraham, before the time of circumciſion.

13 For the promiſe that hee ſhould bee the heire of the world, was not to Abraham, or to his ſeed through the law, but through the righteouſneſſe of faith.

14 For if they which are of the law be heires, then is faith but vaine, and the promiſe made of none effect:

15 Becauſe the law cauſeth wrath: For where no law is, there is no tranſgreſſion.

16 Therfore by faith is the inheritance giuen that it might be by grace, that the promiſe might bee ſure to all the ſeede, not to that onely which is of the law, but to that alſo which is of the faith of Abraham, which is the father of vs all.

*17 (As it is written, * I haue made thee a father* Gen.17.4. pointed thee) before God, whom *thou didſt beleeue, who quickeneth the dead: and calleth thoſe things that are not, as thoſe things that are.

18 Who contrarie to hope beleeued in hope: that he might be made the father of many nations, according to that which was
Gen.15.5. *ſaid to him: So ſhall thy ſeede be, as the ſtarres of heauen, and the ſand of the ſea.

19 And he was not weakened in fayth: neither did he conſider his owne body now quite dead, whereas he was almoſt an hundred yeeres olde, and the dead matrice of Sara.

20 In the promiſſe alſo of God he ſtaggered not by diſtruſt: but was ſtrengthened in faith, giuing glory to God.

21 Moſt fully knowing that whatſoeuer he promiſed, he is able alſo to doe.

22 Therefore it was alſo reputed him to iuſtice.

23 And it is not written onely for him, that it was reputed him to iuſtice:

24 But alſo ‖for vs, to whom it ſhal be reputed beleeuing in him, that rayſed vp IESVS CHRIST our Lord from the dead,

25 Who was deliuered vp for our ſinnes, and roſe againe for our iuſtification.

father of many nations) before God whom yee beleeued, which reſtoreth the dead vnto life, and calleth thoſe things which be not, as though they were.

*18 Who contrary to hope, beleeued in hope, that he ſhould be the father of many nations: according to that which was ſpoken, * So ſhall thy ſeed be.* Gen.15.5.

19 And he fainted not in the faith, nor conſidered his owne body now dead, when he was almoſt an hundred yeeres old, neither yet the deadneſſe of Saraes wombe.

20 Hee ſtackered not at the promiſe of God through vnbeliefe: but was ſtrong in fayth, giuing glory to God.

21 And being full certified, that what hee had promiſed, he was able alſo to performe.

22 And therefore was it reckened to him for righteouſneſſe.

23 Neuertheleſſe, it is not written for him onely, that it was reckened to him:

24 But alſo for vs, to whom it ſhall be reckened, ſo that we beleeue on him that raiſed vp Ieſus our Lord from the dead,

25 Which was deliuered for our ſinnes, and was raiſed againe for our iuſtification.

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. IIII.

Rhem.1. 5 Reputed to iuſtice.) The word Reputed doth not diminiſh the truth of the iuſtice, as though it were reputed for iuſtice, being not iuſtice in deed, but ſignifieth, that as it was in it ſelfe, ſo God eſteemed and reputed it, as the ſame Greeke word muſt needes be taken v.4. next going before, and 1.Cor.4.3 and elſwhere.

Fulke.1. The word Reputed, ſignifieth no falſe account or eſtimation, but yet it ſignifieth, that faith is accompted for iuſtice without our merite, for the merites of Chriſt, which are not inherent in vs, but are communicated vnto vs by his ſpirit, whereby we are made members of his body, and partakers of his iuſtice. In this chapter the Apoſtle vſeth the terme of imputation, ten times, wherefore in this place it were conuenient (if you had any thing) to plead it againſt Imputatiue iuſtice, as you doe ſcornefully call it. Whereof we haue none other doctrine then the Apoſtle in this chapter, and elſwhere moſt plainly teacheth. But here the light was ſo cleare, that you durſt not for ſhame once mention it. Iuſtice imputed.

Rhem.2. 11 The ſigne of circumciſion.) Our Sacraments of the new Law giue ex opere operato, that grace & iuſtice of faith which here is commended, whereas circumciſion was but a ſigne or marke of the ſame.

Fulke.2. Our Sacraments of the new teſtament, are ſeales of the ſame grace and iuſtice of faith which is here commended, as circumciſion was, which was not a bare ſigne and marke thereof (as you ſay) but a ſeale of God for confirmation of fayth, as the text ſaith. Sacraments.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. IIII.

Rhem.3. 1 Abraham.) The Apoſtle diſputing in this chapter as before, againſt them that thought they might be iuſtified by their workes done without the grace of Chriſt and fayth in him, propoſeth Abraham for an example, and prooueth that he had no iuſtice nor eſtimation of iuſtice before God by any workes done before he had fayth, or that proceeded not of fayth and Gods grace. Abrahams workes before faith.

Fulke.3. The Apoſtle prooueth by the example of Abraham, that no man hath eſtimation of iuſtice before God, for the merite of any workes done before faith, or after faith. And ſo his arguments doe prooue euidently. For if Abraham be iuſtified by any workes, he hath to glory, but no man hath to glory. Ergo, he was not iuſtified by any workes. If Abraham were iuſtified by any workes, the reward ſhould be imputed, not according to grace, but according to debt: but the reward is not imputed according to debt, but according to grace, Ergo Abraham was not iuſtified by any workes of his. Againe, Abraham was iuſtified, as Dauid termeth the bleſſednes of man, to whom God reputeth iuſtice without workes. But Dauid termeth this bleſſednes of euery one whoſe ſinnes are forgiuen: therefore of faithfull men to whom God reputeth iuſtice without workes. As it is manifeſt by the Pſalme, where he applieth the comfort of this bleſſednes to himſelfe, that had obtained remiſſion of his ſinnes. Pſal.32.3.4.5. and afterward ſaith: That euery holy man ſhal pray for it, verſ.6. The holy ghoſt therfore, ſpeaketh not of your ſanctification, of the firſt iuſtification, wherein a man cannot ſtand one minute of an houre, but of Gods iuſtification, whereby he continueth vs in iuſtice by his onely mercy, in the merites of Chriſt, Iuſtice imputed meane. No iuſtification by faith onely.

Chriſt apprehended by faith, vntil he bring vs to eternall glory. Rom. 8. 30.

Rhem. 4. 2 By workes.) If Abraham did any commendable workes before he beleeued, as many Philoſophers did, men might count him iuſt therefore, but in Gods ſight (who accepteth nothing without faith in him, or that proceedeth not from his grace) he ſhould neuer haue had the eſtimation of a iuſt man. Therefore God in the Scriptures reputing him as a iuſt man, ſignifieth the cauſe thereof, ſaying, Abraham beleeued God, and it was reputed to him for iuſtice. Iuſtice before men, and iuſtice before God.

Fulke. 4. If Abraham were iuſtified before God, by workes either done before faith or after, he hath to glory with God, but glorying with God, is excluded by iuſtification by faith. He alſo to whom God oweth a reward of debt, may glory with God, therefore if Abraham could claime iuſtification by workes, though proceeding of faith, hee might glory with God. But the reward is imputed according to grace, and not according to debt: Therefore Abraham was not iuſtified before God, by workes proceeding of faith. Iuſtification by faith only.

Rhem. 5. 4 To him that worketh.) That is to ſay, He that preſumeth of his owne workes as done of himſelfe without faith, Gods helpe and grace: and ſaying, that grace or iuſtification were giuen to him for his workes: this man doth chalenge his iuſtification as debt, and not as of fauour and grace. Not workes but mere grace is cauſe of our firſt iuſtification.

Fulke. 5. He alſo that preſumeth of his owne workes to be iuſtified, though he acknowledge, that he hath done them by the grace and helpe of God, chalengeth iuſtification as debt, and ſhall not be iuſtified before God. As it is manifeſt in the parable, that Chriſt told againſt them that truſted in themſelues that they were iuſt, where the Phariſee aſcribeth to the grace and helpe of God, all thoſe vertues and workes of his, by which he truſted in himſelfe, that he was iuſt: ſaying. God I thanke thee, that I am not as other men, &c. Luke 18. 9. Therefore not only Pelagians, but Papiſts rather be in the ſame caſe that the Phariſee was. Iuſtification by faith only.

Rhem. 5 To him that worketh not.) He worketh not (in this place) that hath no workes or alleageth not his workes done in his infidelitie as cauſe of his iuſtification, but faith in Chriſt, & that proceeding of meere grace. Wherupon S. Auguſtine ſaith: Know thou that faith found thee vniuſt. And if faith giuen to thee, made thee iuſt, it found thee a wicked one whom it might make iuſt, If it found thee wicked, and of ſuch an one made thee iuſt, what workes hadſt thou being then wicked? None couldeſt thou haue (nor canſt haue) before thou beleeuedſt. Beleeue then in him that iuſtifieth the impious, that thy good workes may be good workes in deed. Auguſt. in Pſal. 31.

Rhem. 6. 6 As Dauid termeth.) The Proteſtants for ς termeth, tranſlate, deſcribeth, for that they would haue the ignorant beleeue the whole nature and definition of Iuſtification to be nothing els but remiſſion of ſinnes, and no grace or inherent iuſtice giuen from God at all. When the Apoſtl. would ſay nothing els, but that in the firſt iuſtification God findeth no good workes or merites to reward, but onely ſinnes to forgiue vnto ſuch as haue faith in him. ς Λογιζ. Heretical tranſlation.

Fulke. 6. Your word of terming is more neere a perfect definition, then our word of deſcribing. For a deſcription may be imperfect, a definition is concluded in proper bondes or termes. This is therefore no hereticall tranſlation of ours, but a malitious cauillation of yours. But to the matter, we would not haue men beleeue, that iuſtification is nothing but remiſſion of ſinnes, for the text addeth imputation of iuſtice without workes: and therefore no qualitie of grace or iuſtice inherent in vs. And ſeeing you acknowledge that in the firſt iuſtification, God findeth no merites, and the Scriptures teach none other iuſtification before God vnto reward of eternall life and glorification, we conclude, that in iuſtification vnto ſaluation which Dauid termeth the bleſſednes of man, God findeth no merites to reward, but onely ſinnes to forgiue vnto ſuch as haue fayth in him, whereby ones iuſtified, they bring foorth good workes, as the fruites of faith, not as the meritorious cauſe of their iuſtification. Slander. Cauilling. Iuſtification.

Rhem. 7. 7 Couered. 8 not imputed.) You may not gather (as the Heretikes doe) of theſe termes, couered, and not imputed, that the ſinnes of men be neuer truly forgiuen, but hidden only. For that derogateth much to the force of Chriſtes blood and to the grace of God, by which our offences be truely remitted. He is the Lambe that taketh away the ſinnes of the world, that waſheth and blotteth out our ſinnes, therefore to couer them, or, not to impute them, is, not to charge vs with our ſinnes, becauſe by remiſſion they be cleane taken away: otherwiſe it were but a feined forgiuenes. See S. Auguſtine in Pſal. 31. enarrat. 2. What is, Sinnes couered or not imputed. Io. 1, 29. 2. Cor. 6, 11. Apoc. 1, 5.

Fulke. 7. Gods curſe light vpon thoſe heretikes, that ſay our ſinnes are neuer truly forgiuen, but onely hidden. For to be couered and hidden from Gods iuſtice by the redemption of Chriſt, and not to be imputed vnto vs, is to haue them truly forgiuen vs for Chriſtes ſake, ſo that euen our conſcience is purged and clearely diſcharged of them, becauſe Chriſt had ſatiſfied the iuſtice of God perfectly for them. But let thoſe heretikes take heed, that they derogate not much from the force of Chriſtes blood, and the grace of God, which affirme that Chriſtes blood purgeth vs from the guilt, but not from the puniſhment due to our ſinnes, which is as much to ſay as our ſinnes are not truely forgiuen: For where there is forgiuenes (ſaith Chryſoſtome vpon this chapter) There ſhall be no puniſhments. Hom. 8. in ep. ad Rom. Slander. Remiſſion of ſinnes. The papiſts.

Rhem. 8. 11 A ſeale.) The Heretikes would proue hereby, that the Sacraments of the Church giue not grace or iuſtice of faith, but that they be notes, markes, and badges only of our remiſſion of ſinnes had by faith before: becauſe Abraham was iuſt before, and tooke this Sacrament for a ſeale thereof only. To which muſt be anſwered, that it foloweth not that it is ſo in all, becauſe it was ſo in the Patriarch, who was iuſt before, and was therfore as it were the founder of Circumciſion, or he in whom God would firſt eſtabliſh the ſame: no more then is foloweth that, becauſe the Holy Sacrament of the Altar remitted not ſinnes to Chriſt nor iuſtified him, therefore it hath that effect in none. Looke S. Auguſtine De baptiſmo contra Donatiſtas, li. 4. c. 24. Where you ſhall ſee that (though not in Abraham) yet in Iſaac his ſonne, and ſo conſequently in the reſt, the Sacrament went before, and iuſtice foloued. The Sacraments are not mere markes, but cauſes of iuſtification.

Fulke. 8. We ſay not that the ſacraments be notes, markes and badges only of remiſſion of ſinnes, but (as the Apoſtle ſaith) ſeales of God, to aſſure our faith of iuſtification by remiſſion of ſinnes. And where you ſay, it foloweth not in all, becauſe it was ſo in Abraham, you bid open barrell to the Apoſtle, who bringeth foorth the example of Abraham, to ſhew how all men are iuſtified before God, and what is the vſe of the ſacraments in all men: becauſe Abraham was iuſtified before he was circumciſed, therfore not by circumciſion, but by faith only. And although Iſaac, and many thouſands were firſt circumciſed, and after iuſtified, yet this is perpetuall, they were not iuſtified by circumciſion more then Abraham, which was iuſtified before he was circumciſed, but by faith Slander. Sacraments. Iuſtification by faith only, and not by ſacraments.

as Abraham was. And ſo ſaith S. Auguſtine in the place by you quoted: In Iſaac which was circumciſed the eighth day from his birth: the ſeale of iuſtice went before, and becauſe he followed the faith of his father as he grew, iuſtice it ſelfe followed, the ſeale whereof went before in his infancy: ſo in infants that are baptiſed, the ſacrament of regeneration goeth before, and if they holde the Chriſtian piety, converſion alſo doth follow in the heart, the myſterie whereof went before in the body: Heere you ſee plainly, the ſacraments giue not grace or iuſtice of the worke wrought, but are ſeales of the iuſtice of faith, though they be receiued before the iuſtice of faith. The obiection of infants baptiſed that die before they haue faith, S. Auguſtine doth anſwere in the ſame place, ſhewing that God ſupplieth by his grace the want of faith and confeſſion in them, as he did in the theefe, and doth in them that are martyred before they be baptiſed, the want of the ſacrament.

Rhem. 9. 24. For vs, to whom it ſhal be reputed.) By this it is moſt plaine againſt our Aduerſaries, that the faith which was reputed for iuſtice to Abraham, was his beleefe of an Article reuealed to him by God, that is to ſay, his aſſent and credit giuen to Gods ſpeaches: as in vs his poſteritie according to the ſpirit, it is here plainely ſaid, that iuſtice ſhal be reputed to vs by beleeuing the Articles of Chriſtes death and Reſurrection, and not by any fond ſpecial faith, fiducia or confidence of eche mans owne ſaluation. to eſtabliſh the which fiction, they make no account of the faith Catholike, that is, wherewith we beleeue the Articles of the faith, which only iuſtifieth, but call it by contempt, an hiſtorical faith: ſo as they may terme Abrahams faith, and our Ladies faith, of which it was * ſaid, Beata quæ credidiſti, Bleſſed art thou that haſt beleeued. And ſo in truth they deny as wel the iuſtification by faith, as by workes.

By what faith we are iuſtified.

Luc. 1. 45.

Fulke. 9. This place is moſt plaine, that Abrahams faith was not onely an hiſtoricall faith, that Gods ſpeeches were true, but a ſure confidence and truſt in God that his promiſes perteined to him, that he alſo ſhould be bleſſed in that ſeede, wherein all the world ſhould be bleſſed. And ſo faith ſhall be imputed to vs for iuſtice, which beleeue in him which raiſed vp Ieſus Chriſt from the dead, who was deliuered for our ſinnes, and roſe againe for our iuſtification: that is which put our truſt in God, who hath iuſtified vs by remiſſion of our ſinnes, through the merits of the death and reſurrection of Chriſt. And heere I would wiſh the ſimple deceiued to conſider for what iuſtification did Chriſt die, and riſe againe: euen for that by which we are made iuſt vnto ſaluation, and that is it whereby iuſtice is imputed to vs by faith without workes. Therefore the apoſtle ſpeaketh in all this chapter of that onely iuſtification by which we are ſaued, and not of that fantaſticall firſt iuſtification newly inuented of the papiſts, which is loſt as ſoone as we fall into any ſinne. But where you ſay, to eſtabliſh our fiction of confidence, we make none accompt of the articles of the catholike faith, it is an impudent fiction, for we affirme that we are iuſtified by none other faith but euen by that faith which is declared in thoſe articles, not by a bare knowledge of them which the deuill hath and many reprobates, but by ſtedfaſt beleeuing of them, and ſure confidence that euery Chriſtian hath in God the Father, and in Chriſt his Sonne, conceiued, borne, ſuffered, dead, buried, riſen againe, aſcended, and ſitting at Gods right hand, which alſo ſhall come to iudgement, and in the Holy ghoſt, by whom he is ſanctified and made a member of the Catholike church of Chriſt, which is the body of Chriſt, the communion of ſaincts, whereby he is made partaker of the merits of Chriſt, and aſſured thereby of remiſſion of his ſinnes, reſurrection of his body, and life euerlaſting. This is that faith, and none other, by which we looke to be iuſtified before God: neither doe we call it in contempt an hiſtoricall faith, but when it is ſo confeſſed, as the deuill doth beleeue it. The diſtinction of faith hiſtoricall and temporall from faith ſpirituall and eternall, is not of our inuention, but learned of S. Auguſtine De vera religione. cap. 50. And where as you ſay, we may terme Abrahams faith and the bleſſed virgins faith an hiſtoricall faith, it is falſe: for Abraham and the bleſſed virgine did not onely beleeue the word of God to be true, but to their iuſtification beleeued in God, and did put their whole truſt and confidence in him. So the virgine Mary reioyceth in God her Sauiour. Ad vnum credit in Deum (ſaith S. Cyprian) qui non in eo ſolo collocat totius felicitatis ſuæ fiduciam. But he beleeueth not in God which placeth not in him onely the confidence of all his felicitie. De dupl. martyrio.

Iuſtifying faith what it is.

An hiſtoricall faith.

CHAP. V.

Hauing therfore through faith in Chriſt, obteined the beginning, he ſheweth what great cauſe we haue to hope for the accompliſhment. 12 And then he proceedeth in his arguing, and ſheweth that as by one, all were made ſinners, ſo by one, all muſt be made iuſt.

The Epiſtle on Imber Saturday in Whitſon weeke, And for many Martyrs.

BEING iuſtified therfore by faith, ‖ let vs haue peace toward God by our Lord IESVS CHRIST:

2 By whō alſo we haue ‖ acceſſe through faith into this grace wherein we ſtand, and glorie, ‡ in the hope of the glorie of the ſonnes of God.

3 And not only this: but alſo we glorie in tribulations, knowing that tribulation, worketh patience:

4 And patience, probation: and ‖ probation, hope.

5 And hope confoundeth not: becauſe ‖ the charitie of God is powred forth in our harts, by ỹ holy Ghoſt which is giuen vs.

THerefore being iuſtified by faith, we are at peace with God, through our Lord Ieſus Chriſt:

2 * By whom alſo we haue had an entrance by faith, vnto this grace wherein we ſtand, and reioice in hope of the glory of God. Ephe. 2. 13.

3 Not that onely: * but alſo we reioice in tribulations, knowing that tribulation worketh patience: Iames 1. 3.

4 Patience proofe, proofe hope:

5 And hope maketh not aſhamed, becauſe the loue of God is ſhed abroad in our hearts by the Holy ghoſt, which is giuen vnto vs.

6 For why did Chriſt, when we as yet
[c] Ασθενῶς. were [c] weake, according to the time die for the impious?

7 For, ſcarſe for a iuſt man doth any die: for perhaps for a good man durſt ſome man die.

8 But God commendeth his charitie in vs: becauſe, when as yet we were ſinners, Chriſt died for vs.

9 Much more therfore now being iuſtified in his bloud, ſhal we be ſaued frō wrath by him.

10 For if, when we were enemies, we were reconciled to God by the death of his Sonne: much more being reconciled, ſhal we be ſaued in the life of him.

11 And not only this: but alſo we glorie in God through our Lord IESVS Chriſt, by whom now we haue receiued recōciliation.

12 Therfore, as ‖ by one man ſinne entred into this world, & by ſinne death: and ſo vnto al men death did paſſe, in which al ſinned.

13 For euen vnto the Law ſinne was in the world: but ſinne was not imputed when the law was not.

14 But death reigned from Adam ‖ vnto Moyſes, euen on them alſo that ſinned not after the ſimilitude of the preuarication of Adam, who is a figure of him to come.

15 But not as the offence, ſo alſo the gift. for if by the offence of one, many died: much more the grace of God and the gift, in the grace of one man IESVS Chriſt, hath aboūded vpon many.

[f] ſinner. 16 And not as by one ‖ ſinne, ſo alſo the gift. for iudgement in deede is of one, to condemnation: but grace is of many offences, to iuſtification.

17 For if in the offence of one, death reigned by one: much more they that receiue the aboundance of grace and of donation and of iuſtice, ſhal reigne in life by one, IESVS Chriſt.

18 Therfore as by the offence of one, vnto al men to condemnation: ſo alſo by the iuſtice of one, vnto al men to iuſtification of life.

19 For as by the diſobedience of one man, many were made ſinners: ſo alſo by the obedience of one, many ‡ ſhal be made iuſt.

20 But the Law entred in, that ſinne might abound. And where ſinne abounded, grace did more abound.

21 That as ſinne reigned to death: ſo alſo grace may reigne by iuſtice to life euerlaſting, through IESVS Chriſt our Lord.

6 For when we were yet weake, according to the time, Chriſt died for the vngodly.

7 Now ſcarſe will any man die for the righteous: Yet peraduenture for the good, ſome man durſt die.

8 But God ſetteth out his loue toward vs, ſeeing that while we were yet ſinners, Chriſt dyed for vs,

9 Much more then now, we that are iuſtified by his bloud, ſhall be ſaued from wrath through him.

10 For if when we were enemies, we were reconciled to God by the death of his ſonne: much more, ſeeing we are reconciled, we ſhall be ſaued by his life.

11 Not only ſo, but we alſo ioy in God, through our Lord Ieſus Chriſt, by whom we haue now receiued the atonement.

12 Wherfore, as by one man ſinne entred into the world, & death by ſinne: euen ſo death entred into all men, inſomuch as all haue ſinned.

13 For vnto the law was ſinne in the world: but ſinne is not imputed when there is no law.

14 Neuertheleſſe, death reigned from Adam to Moſes, euer them alſo that had not ſinned with like tranſgreſſion as did Adam, which is the figure of him that was to come.

15 But not as the ſinne, ſo is the free gift. For if through the ſinne of one many be dead: much more the grace of God, and the gift by grace, which is by one man Ieſus Chriſt, hath abounded vnto many.

16 And not as by one that ſinned euen ſo the gift, for the ſinne entred by one offence into condemnation: but the gift of many ſinnes into iuſtification.

17 For if by the ſinne of one, death reigned by the meanes of one, much more they which receiue abundance of grace and of the gift of righteouſneſſe, ſhall reigne in life by the meanes of one, Ieſus Chriſt.

18 Likewiſe then, as by the ſinne of one, ſinne came on all men to condemnation: euen ſo, by the righteouſneſſe of one, good came vpon all men to the righteouſneſſe of life.

19 For as by one mans diſobedience many became ſinners: ſo by the obedience of one, ſhall many be made righteous.

20 But the law in the meane time entred in, that ſinne ſhould increaſe. But where ſinne was plenteous, grace was more plenteous.

21 That as ſinne hath reigned vnto death: euen ſo might grace reigne through righteouſnes vnto eternal life, by Ieſus Chriſt our Lord.

MARGI-

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. V.

Rhem. 1. 2 In hope of the glorie.) Chriſtian men do not vaunt them ſelues of the certaintie of their ſaluation, but glorie in the hope thereof onely, which hope is here inſinuated to be giuen in our iuſtification, and is afterward to be confirmed by probation in tribulation.

Fulke. 1. Chriſtian men doe not vaunt in themſelues, but glorie in God, in the hope of ſaluation which confoundeth not, therfore glory in the certeintie of their ſaluation. But the hope of papiſts is in vncerteintie: therefore it is not Chriſtian hope which confoundeth not. The hope of papiſts no Chriſtian hope.

Rhme. 2. 6. Weake.) The Heretikes falſely tranſlate, of no ſtrength, to take away al free wil. No. Teſt. 1580.

Fulke. 2. The Grecke word ſignifieth priuation of ſtrength, and ſometime of all ſtrength, as 1. Cor. 15. 43. ſo doth it heere. For what ſtrength hath the impious, for whom Chriſt died, or what freedome of will vnto good? which is dead in ſinne. Eph. 2. 5. Cauilling. Freewill.

Rhem. 3. 19. Shal be made iuſt.) Here we may ſee againſt the Heretikes, that they which be borne of Chriſt and iuſtified by him, be made and conſtituted iuſt in deede, and not by imputation only: as al thos be borne of Adam, be vniuſt and ſinners in truth, and not by imputation.

Fulke. 3. To be iuſtified by imputation, is to be conſtituted and made iuſt in deed, yet not by iuſtice inherent in vs, but by the iuſtice of Chriſt: as many are made ſinners in deed by Adams ſinne, which is iuſtlie imputed to them that be his heires: and they be iniuſt and ſinners in trueth, and worthy of condemnation, euen by the ſinne which Adam committed, for which they are iuſtly plagued with that corruption of originall ſinne, that deſcendeth from him by propagation. Iuſtice imputed.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. V.

Rhem. 4. ἐχωμεν. ἐχομεν. 1. Let vs haue.) Whether we read, Let vs haue peace, as diuerſe alſo of the Greeke Doctors (Chryſoſt. Orig. Theodor. Oecum. Theophyl.) doe, or, We haue peace: it maketh nothing for the vaine ſecuritie and infallible certaintie which our Aduerſaries ſay, euery man ought to haue vpon his preſumed iuſtification by faith, that him ſelf is in Gods fauour, and ſure to be ſaued: peace towards God, being here nothing els, but the ſincere reſt, tranquilitie & comfort of minde and conſcience, vpon the hope he hath, that he is reconciled to God. Sure it is that the Catholike faith, by which, and none other, men be iuſtified, neither teacheth nor breedeth any ſuch ſecuritie of ſaluation. And therfore they haue made to them ſelues an other faith which they call Fiduciam, quite without the compaſſe of the Creede and Scriptures. Againſt the Heretikes ſpecial faith and ſecuritie.

Fulke. 4. It is not vaine ſecuritie, but infallible certeintie that we ought to haue by our iuſtification by faith. For that ſincere reſt, tranquilitie, and comfort of minde and conſcience, vpon hope that he is reconciled to God, (which you confeſſe to be peace toward God) is an vnfallible certeinty, ſeeing hope confoūdeth not, as it is in the text. verſ. 5. As for vaine ſecuritie, is that which is placed in merits of men, in popes pardons, maſſes of requiem, and ſuch like. Certeintie of ſaluation.

And whereas you ſay our faith, which we call Fiducia, Truſt or confidence, is quite out of the compaſſe of the Creed and ſcriptures: you doe wilfully blaſpheme the trueth. For it is compriſed in the very firſt words of the Creed, Credo in Deum, I beleeue in God, which is, I repoſe my whole truſt and confidence in God. So doth Ruffinus in expoſit. ſymboli expound the verbe Credo, as is manifeſt by his examples, of him that committeth himſelfe to a ſhippe, of the husbandman, of him that is married, of him that taketh the charge of the empire, all which truſt to receiue fruit of their beleefe. But ſpecially by the teſtimony of the apoſtle, which ſaith, He that commeth to God muſt beleeue that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that beleeue in him. (ſaith Ruffine) the text is of them that ſeeke him. Heb. 11. 6. Where we ſee plainly, not only an hiſtoricall faith, that God is, but a truſt and confidence, that he is a rewarder of them that ſeeke him. But that our truſt and confidence is within the compaſſe of the ſcripture whereupon the Creed is grounded, it is manifeſt by theſe teſtimonis, a few of a great number. Bleſſed are all they that truſt or haue confidence in him. Pſ. 2. 12. I haue truſt or confidence in the Lord, I ſhall not be confounded for euer. Pſ. 24. 1. They that haue truſt or confidence in the Lord, ſhall be as the mount Sion which ſhall neuer be moued. Pſ. 125. 1. Bleſſed is that man whoſe truſt is in the Lord, & whoſe fiducia confidence is the Lord. Ier. 17. 7. Confidite (ſaith Chriſt) be of good confidence, I haue ouercome the world. Iohn. 16. 33. And for the very word fiducia confidence in God, which you doe ſcornefully obiect vnto vs, as Rabſacke obiected to Ezechias. 2. Reg. 18. 22. It is found euen in your owne tranſlation in many places, Haue confidence in the Lord with all thy heart. Pro. 3. 5. That thy confidence may be in the Lord. Prouerb. 22. 19. He that hath truſt or confidence of me, ſhall inherit the land, and poſſeſſe my holy hill. Eſay. 57. 13. Thy life or ſoule ſhall be ſaued, becauſe thou haſt confideuce in me ſaith the Lord. Ier. 39. 18. In our Lord Ieſus Chriſt we haue truſt and acceſſe with confidence through his faith. Eph. 3 12. Let vs goe vnto the throne of grace, with confidence that we may obteine mercie. Heb. 4. 16. Finally ſaith S. Iohn: This is the confidence or truſt that we haue in God, that whatſoeuer we ſhall aske according to his will, he heareth vs. 1. Iohn. 5. 14. Confidence or truſt.

Rhem. 5. 2. Acceſſe through faith.) Iuſtification, implieth al grace and vertues receiued by Chriſtes merites, but the entrance and acceſſe to this grace and happy ſtate is by faith, becauſe faith is the ground and firſt foundation to build on, and ſort to enter into the reſt. Which is the cauſe that our iuſtification is attributed to faith namely in this Epiſtle, though faith it ſelf be of grace alſo. Iuſtificatiō attributed much to faith as to the fundation.

Fulke. 5. Grace ſignifieth the fauour of God, by which we are not iuſtified for a moment according to the new deuiſe of the papiſts, but wherein we ſtand and glory in the aſſured hope of eternall life: and from this faith proceed all vertues and fruites of obedience, not to our iuſtification, but to Gods glory, and our greater reward of his mercy, not of the merit of our works. Iuſtification vnto ſaluation

Rhem. 6. 4. Probation hope, This refelleth the errour alſo of the Proteſtants, that would haue our hope to hold only on Gods promiſes, and not a whit on our doings. Where we ſee that it ſtandeth (and is ſtrengthened alſo) vpon patience and conſtancie, Our hope is ſtrengthened by wel doing.

ſtancie, and good probation and trial of our ſelues in aduerſities: and that ſo grounded vpon Gods promiſes and our owne doings, it neuer confounderh.

Fulke. 6. You confeſſed in the firſt ſection, that hope is giuen in iuſtification, and confirmed by probation and tribulation, therfore it is not grounded vpon our doings, for probation & tribulation doe not properly cauſe hope, but declare it, as tribulation doth not cauſe patience, therefore our hope is grounded only vpon Gods promiſes. For our faith and hope are in God, and not in our owne doings. 1.Pet.1.21. Hope in Gods promiſes.

Rhem. 7. 5 Charitie is powred.) Charitie alſo is giuen vs in our firſt iuſtification, and not only imputed vnto vs, but in deede inwardly powred into our hartes by the Holy Ghoſt, who with and in his giftes and grace is beſtowed vpon vs. for this Charitie of God is not that which is in God, but that which he giueth vs: as S. Auguſtine expounded it: li de Sp. & lit.c.32. Who referreth this place alſo to the grace of God giuen in the Sacrament of Confirmation. de bapt cont.Donat.li.3.c.16. Charitie is a qualitie in vs.

Fulke. 7. The text is plaine, that he ſpeaketh of the loue of God, wherwith he loueth vs, as it is manifeſt in the eighth verſe. So doth Chryſoſtome expound it, in 5.Rom. hom.9. God ſheweth the heat of his loue towards vs, chiefly that he hath not honored vs a little as once or ſlenderly, but at once hath powred forth his loue, as a fountaine of all good things. So doth Photius and Oecumenius vnderſtand it. S. Ambroſe alſo vpon this place. Therefore S. Auguſtines expoſition muſt giue place to the truth. And yet he ſaith not that it is the loue wherewith we loue God, but whereby God maketh vs louers of him. In the other place, the loue of God is ſecretly giuen by impoſition of hands: but he is ſo farre from calling it the ſacrament of Confirmation, that he ſaith, impoſition of hands may be repeted, though baptiſme can not. For what is impoſition of hands but prayer ouer a man? Popiſh confirmation.

Rhem. 8. 10. By one man ſinne entred.) By this place ſpecially the Church of God defendath and preuaileth againſt the old Heretikes the Pelagians, that denied children to haue any original ſinne, or to be baptized for the remiſſion thereof: that in & by Adam al be conceiued ſinners, and conſtituted ſinners. Which no leſſe maketh againſt the Caluiniſts alſo, that affirme, Chriſtian mens children to be holy from their mothers wombe. And the ſame reaſon which S. Auguſtine deduceth (li.1 c. 8.9. de pec. meritis) one of this text, to proue againſt the ſaid Pelagians, that the Apoſtle meaneth not of the general imitation of Adam in actual ſinnes, ſeruileth againſt Eraſmus and others, inclining rather to that new expoſition, then to the Churches and fathers graue iudgement here. Conc.Mileuitanum c.2. Conc. Tri. ſeſſ. 5 decr. de pec. orig. Al by Adam borne in original ſinne.

Fulke. 8. We doe none otherwiſe affirme Chriſtian mens children to be holy from their mothers wombe, then S. Paule 1.Cor.7.14. ſaith: they are holy, becauſe they be compriſed in Gods couenant, and haue right to be baptiſed, but that they are guilty of originall ſinne, we confeſſe and teach more ſoundly and ſubſtantially then you doe. Slander.

Rhem. 9. 14. Vnto Moyſes.) Euen in the time of the Law of nature, when men knew not ſinne, & therfore it could not by mans iudgement be imputed: and in the time of Moyſes Law, when the commaundements taught them to know it, but gaue them no ſtrength nor grace to auoid it, ſinne did reigne, and thereupon death and damnation, euen til Moyſes inclusiue, that is to ſay, euen til the end of his Law. And that not as them only which actually ſinned, as Adam did, but in infants which neuer did actually offend, but onely were borne and conceiued in ſinne, that is to ſay, hauing their natures defiled, deſtitute of iuſtice, & auerted from God in Adam, and by their deſcent from him: Chriſt onely excepted, being conceiued without mans ſeede, and his mother for his honour and by his ſpecial protection (as many godly deuout men iudge) preſerued from the ſame. Chriſt only not conceiued in ſinne, & (as it is thought) our B. Lady.

Fulke. 9. This place doth manifeſtly conuince, that the virgine Mary alſo was conceiued in originall ſinne: becauſe onely Chriſt was conceiued by the Holy ghoſt of a virgine. But why doe you not boldly affirme it as an vndoubted trueth, that the bleſſed virgine was not conceiued in ſinne? ſeeing that pope Sixtus the fourth hath cleerely determined that it was ſo, and inſtituted the feaſt of her conception to confirme that opinion, & added to the ſalutation of the virgine Mary theſe words: Et benedicta ſit Anna mater tua, de qua ſine macula tua proceſſit caro virginea. And bleſſed be Anne thy mother, of whom thy virgins fleſh hath proceeded without ſpot. And condemned the Dominike friers, charging them not to preach nor publiſh the contrary opinion, by his bull bearing date 1483. Here you muſt either confeſſe the popes error, or els holde this opinion abſolutely againſt the maiſter of the ſentence. lib.3. diſt.3. Thomas Aquinas and other ſcholemen vpon him, yea and S. Bernard epiſt. 174. ad Canonicos Lugdunenſ. And S. Auguſt. De Geneſ. ad liter. lib.10.cap.18. The virgine Marie conceiued in originall ſinne.

Rhem. 20. That ſinne might abound.) That, here hath not the ſignification of cauſalitie, as though the Law were giuen for that cauſe to make ſinne abound: but is meeth the ſequele, becauſe that followed thereof, and ſo it came to paſſe, that by the prohibition of ſinne, ſinne increaſed: by occaſion whereof, the force of Chriſtes grace is more amply and abundantly beſtowed in the new Teſtament. The Law did not cauſe more ſinne, though that were the ſequele thereof.

CHAP. VI.

Rhem. 1. He exhorteth vs, now after Baptiſme, to liue no more in ſinne, but to walke in good workes: becauſe there we died to the one, and roſe againe to the other 14 (grace alſo giuing vs ſufficient ſtrength 16 and were made free to the one, and ſeruants to the other, 21 and ſpecially becauſe of the fruite here, and the end afterward, both of the one and of the other.

Fulke. 1. There is nothing in the text to prooue that grace giueth vs ſtrength to auoid all ſinne: for if we had ſufficient ſtrength, we ſhould neuer ſinne of infirmitie.

The Epiſtle vpon the 6 Sunday after Pentecoſt.

WHAT ſhal we ſay then? Shal we continue in ſinne that grace may abound?

2 God forbid. For we that are dead to ſinne, how ſhal we yet liue therein?

3 Are you ignorant that al we which are baptized in Chriſt IESVS, in his death we are baptized?

WHat ſhall we ſay then? Shall we continue in ſinne? that grace may abound, God forbid.

2 How ſhall we that are dead to ſinne, liue any longer therein.

3 Know ye not, that all we which haue beene baptiſed into Ieſus Chriſt, haue beene baptiſed into his death?

4 For ‡ we are buried together with him by Baptiſme into death: that as Chriſt is riſen from the dead by the glorie of the father, ſo we alſo may walke in newneſſe of life.

5 For if we be become complanted to the ſimilitude of his death, we ſhal be alſo of his reſurrection.

6 Knowing this, that our old man is crucified with him, that the body of ſinne may be deſtroied, to the end that we may ſerue ſinne no longer.

7 For he that is dead, is iuſtified from ſinne.

8 And if we be dead with Chriſt, we beleeue that we ſhal liue alſo together with Chriſt.

9 Knowing that Chriſt riſing againe from the dead, now dieth no more, death ſhal no more haue dominion ouer him.

10 For that he died, ‖ to ſinne he died once: but that he liueth, he liueth to God.

11 So thinke you alſo, that you are dead to ſinne, but aliue to God in Chriſt IESVS our Lord.

12 Let not ‖ ſinne therfore reigne in your mortal body, that you obey the concupiſcences thereof.

13 But neither doe ye exhibite your mẽbers inſtruments of iniquitie vnto ſinne: but exhibite your ſelues to God as of dead men, aliue: and your members inſtruments of iuſtice to God.

14 For ſinne ſhal not haue dominion ouer you. for you are not vnder the Law, but vnder grace.

15 What then? ſhal we ſinne, becauſe we are not vnder the Law, but vnder grace? God forbid.

Io.8,34. 2.Pet.2,19. 16 * Know you not that to whom you exhibite your ſelues ſeruants to obey, you are the ſeruants of him you obey, whether it be of ſinne, to death, or of obedience, to iuſtice.

17 But thankes be to God, that you were the ſeruants of ſinne, but ‡ haue obeied from the hart, vnto that ‖ forme of doctrine, into the which you haue been deliuered.

18 And being made free from ſinne, you were made ſeruants to iuſtice.

The Epiſtle vpon the 7. Sunday after Pentecoſt. 19 I ſpeake an humane thing, becauſe of the infirmitie of your fleſh. for as you haue exhibited your members to ſerue vncleanneſſe and iniquitie, vnto iniquitie: ſo now exhibite your members to ſerue iuſtice, ‖ vnto ſanctification.

4 We are buried then with him by Baptiſme into his death, that likewiſe as Chriſt was raiſed vp from the dead by the glorie of the father: euen ſo, we alſo ſhould walke in newneſſe of life.

5 For if we be graft together by the likenes of his death: euen ſo ſhall we be partakers of the reſurrection:

6 Knowing this, that our old man is crucified with him alſo, that the body of ſinne might vtterly be deſtroied, that hencefoorth wee ſhould not ſerue ſinne.

7 For he that is dead, is iuſtified from ſinne.

8 And if we be dead with Chriſt, we beleeue that we ſhall alſo liue with him:

9 Knowing that Chriſt being raiſed from the dead, dieth no more, death hath no more power ouer him.

10 For as touching that he died, he died concerning ſinne once: And as touching that he liueth, he liueth vnto God.

11 Likewiſe recken your ſelues to be dead vnto ſinne: but aliue vnto God, through Ieſus Chriſt our Lord.

12 Let not ſinne reigne therfore in your mortall body, that ye ſhould thereunto obey by the luſts of it.

13 Neither giue ye your members † as inſtruments of vnrighteouſneſſe vnto ſinne: but giue your ſelues vnto God, as they that are aliue from the dead, and your members † as inſtruments of righteouſneſſe vnto God.

† Or, weapons. † Or, weapons.

14 For ſinne ſhall not haue power ouer you, becauſe ye are not vnder the lawe, but vnder grace.

15 What then? Shall we ſinne, becauſe we are not vnder the lawe, but vnder grace? God forbid.

*16 * Know ye not how that to whom ſo euer ye commit your ſelues as ſeruants to obey, his ſeruants ye are to whom ye obey: whether it be of ſinne vnto death, or of obedience vnto righteouſneſſe?* Iohn.8.34.

17 But God be thanked, that ye were the ſeruants of ſinne: but ye haue obeied with heart the forme of doctrine, into the which ye were brought vnto.

18 Being then made free from ſinne, ye are become the ſeruants of righteouſneſſe.

19 I ſpeake after the maner of men, becauſe of the infirmitie of your fleſh. For, as ye haue giuen your members ſeruants to vncleannes and iniquitie, vnto iniquitie: euen ſo nowe giue your members ſeruantes to righteouſneſſe, vnto holineſſe.

20 For when you were ſeruants of ſinne, you were free to iuſtice.

21 What fruite therfore had you then in thoſe things, for which now you are aſhamed? for the end of them is death.

22 But now being made free from ſinne, and become ſeruants to God, you haue your fruite vnto ſanctification, but the end, life euerlaſting.

23 For the ſtipends of ſinne, death. but ‖ the grace of God, life euerlaſting in Chriſt IESVS our Lord.

20 For when ye were the ſeruants of ſinne, ye were free from righteouſnes.

21 What fruite had ye then in thoſe things, whereof ye are nowe aſhamed? For the ende of thoſe things, is death.

22 But nowe yee being made free from ſinne, and made the ſeruants of God, haue your fruite vnto holines, and the ende euerlaſting life.

23 For the reward of ſinne is death: but the gift of God is eternall life, through Ieſus Chriſt our Lord.

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. VI.

Rhem. 2. 4. We are buried.) Remiſſion of ſinne, new life, ſanctification, and iuſtification, are giuen by baptiſme, becauſe it reſembleth in vs and appleth to vs Chriſtes death and reſurrection, and engraffeth vs into him.

Fulke 2. Baptiſme is a ſeale of the iuſtification by faith, and therefore aſſureth vs of remiſſion of ſinne, renouation and ſanctification, that God giueth vnto vs being iuſtified. The application of Chriſtes death, buriall, and reſurrection, is the proper worke of the holy ſpirite, by whome we are regenerate, which is reſembled and ratified by the externall ſeale of Baptiſme, which teſtifieth that we are ingraffed into the ſimilitude of his death and reſurrection.

Rhem. 3. 17. Haue obeied from.) Here againe is ſignified, that our diſcharge from the bondage of ſinne, is by the Chriſtian faith, and by obedience to the whole doctrine of Chriſts religion: in that the Apoſtle attributeth this their deliuerance from ſinne, to their humble receiuing of the Catholike faith.

Fulke 3. Obedience from the heart, vnto the forme of doctrine, is faith, by which we are diſcharged from ſinne, and haue profeſſed to leade a newe life, not to continue ſeruants vnto ſinne. Therefore remiſſion of ſinnes, is not aſcribed to workes of obedience, that follow iuſtification.

Rhem. 4. 19. Vnto ſanctification.) He ſignifieth that as when they were ſubiect to ſinne by continual and often working wickednes, they increaſed their iniquitie: that ſo alſo now being iuſtified, they may and ſhould by external workes of iuſtice, increaſe their iuſtice and ſanctification.

Fulke 4. We may and ought to encreaſe the vertues of iuſtice and holines, that are giuen vs by Gods grace, with daily exerciſing our ſelues in practiſe of them, by ſtrength of his ſpirite, without whome we can doe nothing. But hereof we gaine not a new iuſtification before God, neither adde vnto the iuſtification by faith, whereby we are made the children of God. But declare the ſame to the glorie of God, the benefite of our brethren, and to the encreaſe of our reward, according to his promiſe. Our iuſtification vnto ſaluation.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. VI.

Rhem. 5. 3. We that are baptized.) That which before he challenged from the Law of Moyſes, to faith, is now attributed to baptiſme, which is the firſt Sacrament of our faith and the entrance to Chriſtian religion. wherebyit is plaine that he meaneth not onely faith to iuſtifie, but the Sacraments alſo, and al Chriſtian religion, which he calleth the Law of ſpirit, grace, and faith. Not only faith

Fulke 5. S. Paule aſcribed our iuſtification before, to faith without workes, therefore he doth not now make Baptiſme a cauſe thereof: but of the ende and effects of Baptiſme, he proueth that ſanctification and renouation is neceſſarie, for all that are iuſtified freely by the grace of God, through faith in Chriſt. The ſame argument may be drawne from circumciſion, to proue, that the Iewes before Chriſt, ought to bring forth the fruites of ſanctification and renouation. Yet the Apoſtle by expreſſe wordes, excludeth Circumciſion, from being a cauſe of iuſtification, becauſe Abraham was iuſtified before he was circumciſed, who is the forme of iuſtification of all men, as S. Ambroſe ſaith, Com. in ep. ad Gal. Cap. 3. And Baptiſme ſucceeding in the place of Circumciſion, is a ſeale of iuſtification by faith, in all Chriſtians, as Circumciſion was in Abraham, not a cauſe thereof. Neither can iuſtification before God by Baptiſme, or any workes of Chriſtian religion, be concluded out of this text. Baptiſme not cauſe of iuſtification.

Rhem. 6. Old man, body of ſinne.) Our corrupt ſtate ſubiect to ſinne and concupiſcence, comming to vs from Adam, is called the Old man: as our perſon reformed in and by Chriſt, is named the New man. And the iumpe and maſſe of ſinnes which then ruled, is called the carper body of ſinne. The old man, and the new.

10. To ſinne he died.) Chriſt died to ſinne, when by his death he deſtroied ſinne: We die to ſinne, in that we be diſcharged of the power thereof, which before was as it were the life of our perſons, and commaunded al the parties and faculties of our ſoule and body: as contrariwiſe we liue to God, when his grace ruleth and worketh in vs, as the ſoule doth rule our mortal bodies. Dying to ſinne. Liuing to God Rhem. 6. 12. Sinne reigne.) Concupiſcence is here named ſinne, becauſe it is the effect, occaſion, and matter of ſinne, and is as it were a diſeaſe or infirmitie in vs, inclining vs to ill, remaining alſo after Baptiſme according to the ſubſtance or matter thereof: but it is not properly a ſinne, nor forbidden by commaundement, til it reigne in vs, and we obey and folow the deſires thereof. Auguſt. li. de nupt. & concupiſc. c. 23. Conc. 2. epiſt. Pelag li. 1. c. 13. Conc. Trident. Seſſ. 5. decret. de pcc. orig. How concupiſcence is called ſinne.

Fulke 6. This is to draw the Scripture to your owne priuate opinions: not to ground your opinions vpon the Scripture. S. Paule ſayth, it is ſinne, and afterward Chap. 6. 7. he ſaith it is forbidden by the Commaundement, Thou ſhalt Concupiſcence is ſinne.

ſhal not couet, and verſe 17. though it doe not reigne, &c. he calleth it ſinne dwelling in vs. S. Auguſtine De nupt. & Conc. lib. 1 Cap. 23. denieth it to be ſinne in the regenerate, becauſe in them it is forgiuen, and not imputed, As he ſheweth plainly Cap. 25. of the ſame booke, where he ſaith: anſwering the queſtion, how it can be ſinne in the childe vnregenerate, that was not ſinne in the father being regenerate, when he begot the childe. Ad hæc reſpondetur, &c. To theſe things it is anſwered, that concupiſcence of the fleſh, is forgiuen in Baptiſme, not ſo that it is not, but ſo that it is not imputed for ſinne. And albeit the guilt thereof be looſed, or taken away, yet it remaineth till all our infirmities be healed, the renewing of the inward man profiting from day to day, when the outward man ſhall haue put on incorruption, for it remaineth not ſubſtantially, as a body or a ſpirite, but it is a certaine affection of ill qualitie, as a diſeaſe or ſickneſs.

By this place it is plaine, how he denieth it to be ſinne, namely, as it is not imputed, yet remaineth ſinne by nature, and therefore paſſeth by generation, from the parents to the children. In the ſecond place by you quoted, he ſaith, that the guilt of concupiſcence is confirmed in the Later of regeneration, ſo that for it, the baptized ſay not in their praye, forgiue vs our debts: which is all one in effect, as though he ſayd, it is ſinne, whereof the regenerate are aſſured of the forgiuenes or remiſſion thereof. And Conc. Iul. Pel. lib. 5. Cap. 3. he ſayth plainly: Concupiſcentia carnis, &c. Concupiſcence of the fleſh, againſt which the good ſpirite doth luſt, is ſinne, becauſe there is in it diſobedience, againſt the gouernment of the minde. The authoritie of the Tridentine Councell alledged by Papiſtes, is as good, as aske my fellow if I be a theefe.

Rhem. 7. 17. Forme of doctrine.) After the firſt converſion of euery nation to the Catholike faith, there is a forme and rule of beleefe ſet downe, vnto which when the people is once put by their Apoſtles, they muſt neuer by any perſuaſion of man alter the ſame, nor take of man or Angel, any new doctrine or Analogie of faith, as the Proteſtants call it. The doctrine of our firſt Apoſtles.

Fulke 7. They that are conuerted to the Chriſtian faith by the true Apoſtles, and haue receiued a forme of doctrine or Analogie of faith (which alſo is S. Paules wordes, Rom. 12, 6) according to the trueth of the holy Scriptures, ought by no meanes to be remoued from it. But ſuch as haue been conuerted to the Chriſtian profeſſion by falſe Apoſtles, Heretikes, or men infected with any error, muſt not continue in the forme of doctrine which they haue firſt receiued, if it conteine any thing repugnant to the word of God. But muſt reforme their faith, and forme of doctrine alſo, according to the trueth.

Rhem. 8. 23. The grace of God, life euerlaſting.) The ſequele of ſpeach required, that as he ſaid, death or damnation is the ſtipend of ſinne, ſo life euerlaſting is the ſtipend of iuſtice, and ſo it is, and in the ſame ſenſe he ſpake in the laſt chapter: that as ſinne reigneth to death, ſo grace reigneth by iuſtice to life euerlaſting. but here he changed the ſentence ſomewhat, calling life euerlaſting grace, rather then reward: becauſe the merites by which we attaine vnto life, be al of Gods gift and grace. Auguſt. Ep. 105. ad Sixtum. Life euerlaſting a ſtipend, and yet grace.

Fulke 8. This place doth moſt plainly declare, that eternall life is not due to the merite of workes, but is the free gift of God. S. Auguſtine in the place quoted, meaneth not by the word merite, deſert of mens good workes, but good workes them ſelues, to which God giueth reward freely, as to his owne giftes and graces in vs, proceeding of faith, which is alſo the gift of God. And ſo reaſoning againſt the Pelagian in his owne termes, by this ſentence of S. Paule, doth cleerly ouerthrow him, When we finde life eternall to be called grace (ſaith he) we haue in the ſame Apoſtle Paule, a magnificall defender of grace, this ſaying. The wages of ſinne is death, but eternall life is the grace of God, in Chriſt Ieſus our Lord. See I pray thee in how great breuitie, howe carefully he hath placed his wordes, which being diligently conſidered, the obſcuritie of this queſtion may be ſomewhat cleered. For when he had ſaid, the wages of ſinne is death, who would not iudge, that moſt aptly and conſequently, he ſhould adde: but the wages of iuſtice, is life euerlaſting. And it is true, that as to the merite of ſinne death is rendred as wages, ſo to the merite of iuſtice, eternall life as wages. Or if he would not ſay ſo in iuſtice, he might haue ſaid to faith, becauſe the iuſt liueth by faith, whereof alſo, it is called in many places of holy Scripture, a reward: but iuſtice or faith is no where called a reward, becauſe the reward is rendred to iuſtice or faith. And that which a reward is to him that worketh, that is as wages or ſtipend, to the warrior. But the bleſſed Apoſtle againſt preſumption, which ſo much aſſayeth to creepe vpon great perſons, that he ſayth for it, the Angell of Sathan was giuen vnto him, by whom he was buffeted, that he ſhould not be lifted vp in preſumption. Therefore fighting moſt watchfully, againſt this peſtilence of preſumption: he ſaith, the wages of ſinne is death. He calleth it rightly wages, becauſe it is due, becauſe it is worthily paied, becauſe it is rendred to merite. Afterward, leſt iuſtice ſhould lift vp it ſelf, of mans good merite, as mans ill merite is not doubted to be ſinne: he hath not ſayd contrariwiſe: eternall life is the wages of iuſtice, but eternal life (ſayth he) is the grace of God. And leſt it ſhould be ſought any other way, then by the Mediator, he addeth in Chriſt Ieſus our Lord, as though he ſhould ſay: Hearing that death is the wages of ſinne, what goeſt thou about to aſſumme thy ſelfe, O thou not iuſtice of man, but plaine pride, vnder the name of iuſtice, why goeſt thou about to lift vp thy ſelfe, and to demaund life eternall, which is contrary to death, as a wages that is due? It is true iuſtice, whereunto eternall life is due. If it be true iuſtice, it is not of thee, it deſcendeth from aboue, from the father of lights, that thou mighteſt haue it, verily thou haſt receiued it. For what haſt thou, which thou haſt not receiued? Wherefore O man, if thou ſhalt receiue eternall life, it is in deede the wages of iuſtice, but to thee, it is grace, to whome euen iuſtice it ſelfe is grace. For it ſhould be rendred to thee, as due, if thou haddeſt of thy ſelfe iuſtice whereto it is due. But nowe, we haue receiued of his fulnes, not onely grace, by which we nowe liue iuſtly in labours, vnto the ende, but alſo grace for this grace, that wee may liue hereafter in reſt, without ende. Our faith beleeueth nothing more briefely then this, becauſe our vnderſtanding findeth nothing more true. Merite.

This ſaying at large, declareth, that albeit he vſe the terme of merite, yet he acknowledgeth that there is no deſert of good workes vnto eternall life, which is the free grace of God, by which we haue true and perfect iuſtice in Chriſt through faith, according to which free gift of faith, when we labour in the workes of iuſtice, which is his grace, euen for this grace, we receiue not the wages, but the grace of eternall life. Therefore Auguſtine acknowledgeth no merite or deſert of good workes, vnderſtanding the worde merite properly, for deſert, becauſe grace is not giuen to merite, but freely. Wherefore it is nothing but hereticall wreſtling againſt the trueth, to abuſe his termes, cleane contrary to the purpoſe of his meaning.

Chryſoſtome vpon this place, ſaith thus: He ſaith not, eternall life is the reward of your good workes, but eternall life is the gift of God, that he might ſhew, that they are deliuered not by their owne ſtrength, or vertues, and that it is not a debt, or a wages, or a retribution of labours, but that they haue receiued all thoſe things freely, of the gift of God. S. Ambroſe ſaith: As they thus follow ſinne, vnto death, ſo they that follow the grace of Chriſt, that is faith which forgiueth ſinnes, ſhall haue life eternall. Theodoret likewiſe vpon this place: He ſaith not here reward, but grace, for eternall life is the gift of God. For although a man could perform the higheſt and abſolute iuſtice, yet eternall ioyes being weighed with temporall labours, are not anſwerable. Photius vpon the ſame place, ſaith: He ſaid not, the reward of good workes, but the gift of God, ſhewing that they are not deliuered from ſinne, by workes, but by grace. The auctor of the Commentaries vnder S. Hieroms name, ſaith alſo: He ſaid not likewiſe, the wages or reward of iuſtice: becauſe it is not in vs before it be rewarded. For it is not gotten by our labour, but granted by the gift of God. Wherefore you ſee, that not only the manifeſt wordes of the text, but alſo the conſent of the auncient Fathers, is againſt the Popiſh doctrine, of the merite of good workes.

CHAP. VII.

Rhem. 1. Our former husband (ſinne) with his law, is dead in Baptiſme: and now we are maried to an other husband (to Chriſt) to bring forth children to God, that is, good workes. 7 And how the Law being good, was yet to vs the law of ſinne and death, becauſe concupiſcence reigned in vs. 17 But now by Baptiſme grace reigneth in vs, though alſo concupiſcence doth remaine and tempt vs ſtill.

Fulke 1. The Apoſtle ſpeaketh not one word of Baptiſme, in all this chapter.

ARE you ignorant brethren (for I ſpeake to them that know the Law) that the Law hath dominion ouer a man as long time as he liueth?

1.Cor.7,39. 2 For * the woman that is vnder a huſband: ‡ her husband liuing is bound to the law. but if her husband be dead, ſhe is looſed from the law of her husband.

3 Therfore her husband liuing, ſhe ſhal be called an aduoutereſſe if ſhe be with an other man: but if her husband be dead, ſhe is deliuered from the law of her husband: ſo that ſhe is not an aduoutereſſe if ſhe be with an other man.

4 Therfore my brethren ‡ you alſo are made dead to the law by the body of Chriſt: that you may be an other mans who is riſen againe from the dead, that we may fructifie to God.

5 For when we were in the fleſh, the paſſions of ſinnes, that were by the Law, did worke in our members, to fructifie vnto death.

6 But now we are looſed from the law c Gr. detained. of death, wherein we were deteined: c in ſo much we ſerue in ‡ newneſſe of ſpirit, and not in the oldnes of the letter.

7 What ſhal we ſay then? is the Law ſinne? God forbid. But ſinne I did not know, but by the Law. for concupiſcence I knew Exod.20,17. Deu.5,21. not, vnleſſe the law did ſay: ‖ Thou ſhalt not couet.

‡ Sinne or concupiſcence which was a ſleepe before, was wakened by prohibitiõ, the Law not being the cauſe thereof, nor giuing occaſion thereunto, but occaſion being taken by our corrupt nature to reſiſt that which was cõmaunded.

8 But ‡ occaſion being taken, ſinne by the commaundement wrought in me al concupiſcence. For without the Law ſinne was dead.

9 And I liued without the Law ſometime. But when the commaundement was come, ſinne reuiued.

10 And I was dead: and the commaundement, that was vnto life, the ſame to me was found to be vnto death.

11 For

KNowe ye not brethren (for I ſpeake to them that knowe the Lawe) howe that the lawe hath power ouer a man, as long as he liueth?

2 For the woman which hath an husband, is bound by the Lawe to her husband, as long as he liueth: but if the husband be dead, ſhe is looſed from the Lawe of her husband.

3 So then if while her husband liueth, ſhe couple her ſelfe with an other man, ſhe ſhalbe † counted a wedlocke breaker: but if her husband be dead, ſhe is free from the Lawe, ſo that ſhe is no wedlocke breaker, though ſhe couple her ſelfe with another man.

† Or, called.

4 Euen ſo, ye alſo my brethren, are dead concerning the lawe by the body of Chriſt, that yee ſhould be coupled to another, who is raiſed from the dead, that we ſhould bring forth fruite vnto God.

5 For when we were in the fleſh, the luſtes of ſinne which were by the Lawe wrought in our members, to bringe foorth fruite vnto death.

6 But now are we deliuered from the lawe, and dead vnto it whereunto we were in bondage, that we ſhould ſerue in newnes of ſpirit, and not in the oldneſſe of the letter.

7 What ſhall we ſay then? Is the law ſinne? God forbid. Neuertheleſſe, I knewe not ſinne, but by the Lawe: For I had not knowen luſt, except the lawe had ſayd, Thou ſhalt not luſt.

8 But ſinne taking occaſion by the commaundement, wrought in me all maner of concupiſcence. For without the Lawe ſinne was dead.

9 I once liued without lawe: but when the commaundement came, ſinne reuiued,

10 And I was dead: and the very ſame commaundement which was ordeined vnto life, was founde to be vnto mee an occaſion of death.

11 For

11 For ſinne taking occaſiō by the commandement, ſeduced me, and by it killed me.

1.Tim.1.8. 12 Therefore * the Law in deede is holy, and the commaundement holy, and iuſt and good.

13 That then which is good, to me was it made death? God forbid. but ſinne, that it may appeare ſinne, by ỹ good thing wrought me death: that ſinne might become ſinning aboue meaſure by the commandement.

14 For we knowe that the Law is ſpirituall, but I am carnall, ſold vnder ſinne.

15 For ‖ that which I worke, I vnderſtand not. for ‖ not that which I will, the ſame doe I: but which I hate, that I doe.

16 And if that which I will not, the ſame I doe: I conſent to the Law, that it is good.

17 But now, not I worke it any more, but the ſinne that dwelleth in me.

18 For I know that there dwelleth not in me, that is to ſay, in my fleſh, good. For to will, is preſent with me, but to accompliſh that which is good, I finde not.

19 For ‖ not the good which I will, that doe I: but the euill ‖ which I will not, that I doe.

20 And if that which I will not, the ſame I doe: now not I worke it, but the ſinne that dwelleth in me.

21 I finde therefore, ỹ Law, to me hauing a wil to good, that euill is preſent with me.

The Epiſtle in a Vokie Maſſe for ſinne. 22 For I am delighted with the lawe of God according to the inward man:

23 But I ſee an other lawe in my members, repugning to the lawe of my mind, and captiuing me in the lawe of ſinne that is in my members.

24 Vnhappie man that I am, who ſhall deliuer me from the body of this death?

25 The grace of God by IESVS Chriſt our Lord. ☞ Therefore I my ſelfe ‖ with the mind [c] ſerue the lawe of God, but with the fleſh, the lawe of ſinne.

[c] Seruely.

11 For ſinne taking occaſion by the commandement, hath deceiued me, and by the ſame ſlewe me.

12 Wherefore the lawe is holy, and the commaundement holy, and iuſt, and good.

13 Was that then which was good, made death vnto me? God forbid. But ſinne, that ſinne might appeare, by that which was good to worke death in me: that ſinne by the commaundement might be out of meaſure ſinfull.

14 For we knowe that the law is ſpirituall: but I am carnall, ſold vnder ſinne.

15 For that which I doe, I alowe not: for what I woulde, that doe I not: but what I hate, that doe I.

16 If I doe nowe that which I woulde not, I conſent vnto the lawe that it is good.

17 Nowe then it is not I that doe it: but ſinne that dwelleth in me.

18 For I know, that in me (that is to ſay in my fleſh) dwelleth no good thing. For to will is preſent with me: but I finde no meanes to perfourme that which is good.

19 For the good that I woulde, doe I not: but the euill which I would not, that doe I.

20 And if I doe that I woulde not, then is it not I any longer that doeth it, but ſinne that dwelleth in me.

21 I finde then by the lawe, that when I would doe good, euill is preſent with me.

22 For I delite in the lawe of God, after the inward man.

23 But I ſee another lawe in my members, rebelling againſt the lawe of my minde, and ſubduing me vnto the lawe of ſinne, which is in my members.

24 O wretched man that I am: who ſhall deliuer me from the body of this death?

25 I thanke God through Ieſus Chriſt our Lord. So then, with the mind I my ſelfe ſerue the Lawe of God: but with the fleſh, the lawe of ſinne.

Rhem.4. 6. Newneſſe of ſpirit, and not.) By Baptiſme we haue not Chriſtes iuſtice imputed to vs, but an inward newneſſe of ſpirit giuen vs and reſident in vs.

Fulke.4. By faith wee haue Chriſtes iuſtice imputed vnto vs, whereof Baptiſme is a ſeale: and the newneſſe of ſpirite which is reſident in vs, is the worke of the holy Ghoſt, not of the externall acte of Baptiſme. worke wrought for then it ſhould be in all that are baptized, but it is onely in the elect of God. For the reprobate, though they haue the externall ſeale of baptiſme: yet they haue not renouation of the ſpirit, neither are they regenerate to be Gods children, for if they were his children, they ſhould be his heires, Rom 8.17.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. VII.

Rhem. 5. 7. Thou ſhalt not couet.) It is not the habituall concupiſcence or infirmitie of our nature or ſenſuall deſire or inclination to euill, coueting againſt the ſpirit, that is forbidden properly in this precept: but the conſent of our reaſon and minde vnto it, to obey to folowe the luſtes thereof, that is a ſinne and prohibited. Actual concupiſcence forbidden, not habituall.

Fulke. 5. All concupiſcence that hindreth the perfect loue of our neighbour, is forbidden in this precept. For S. Paul could neuer be ignorant, ſince he had the vſe of reaſon, that concupiſcence with conſent, is ſinne, which the heathen men did know and confeſſe. Tullie compteth it a morall vertue, Ab alienis mentes, oculos, manus abſtinere, to refraine not onely the hands, and eyes, but euen the mind from that which belongeth to other man. De orator. lib. 1. therefore the contrary muſt needes be a vice. And that actual concupiſcence which you ſpeake of, is forbidden in the 6. 7. and 8. commandements of the Law, according to the interpretation of our Sauiour Chriſt. Math. 5. 22. 28. Therefore the 10. commandement forbiddeth euen habituall concupiſcence, and ſenſuall deſire, and inclination to euill, and the euill fruites thereof, that is iniurious thoughtes, though by the ſpirit we reſiſt them, and giue not place vnto them. Concupiſcēce is ſinne.

Rhem. 6. 15. That which I worke.) This being vnderſtood of S. Paul him ſelfe or any other iuſt perſon, the ſenſe is, that the fleſh and inferiour part ſtirreth vp diuers diſordered motions and paſſions or perturbations againſt the mind, and vpon ſuch a ſudden ſometimes inuadeth the ſame, that before it attendeth, or reaſon can gather it ſelfe to deliberate, man is in a ſort (though vnwittingly) entangled. Which as ſoone as it is perceiued, being of the iuſt condemned, reuelled, and reſiſted, neuer maketh him a ſinner. Sudden inuoluntarie motions are no ſinne.

Fulke. 6. Thoſe ſudden inuoluntary motions, are ſinne in their owne nature, though pardoned to the elect, and ſo the plaine wordes of the text are: for els how ſhould ỹ Apoſtle by this verſe proue, that which he ſaid in the verſe going immediatly before, ỹ he was ſold vnder ſinne, if that which he ſo doth vnwillingly in ỹ caſe, be not ſinne. Concupiſcence in thought ſinne.

Rhem. 7. 15. Not that which I will.) He meaneth not, that he can doe no good that he willeth or deſireth, or that he is euer forced to doe that which his will agreeth not vnto: but that by reaſon of the forcibleneſſe of concupiſcence, whereof he cannot rid him ſelfe during life, he cannot accompliſh all the deſires of his ſpirit and minde, according as he ſayth to the Galatians, The fleſh coueteth againſt the ſpirit, and the ſpirit againſt the fleſh, that not whatſoeuer you will, you can doe. Concupiſcēce taketh not away freewill. c. 5. 17.

Fulke. 7. Concupiſcence ſheweth that the will euen of the beſt, is not altogether free from the captiuitie and bondage of ſinne, although in the regenerate, it hath ſome freedome and ſtrength againſt ſinne, which it hath not at all in them that be not regenerate. Freewill.

Rhem. 8. op. ad Aſellicum 200. 19. Not the good which I will.) So may the iuſt alſo be forced by the rage of concupiſcence or ſenſuall appetite, to doe or ſuffer many things in his inferiour parts or externall members, which his will conſenteth not vnto. And ſo long it is ſo farre from ſinne, that (as S. Auguſtine ſayth) he needs neuer ſay to God, forgiue vs our ſinnes, for the ſame. For, ſinne is voluntarie, and ſo be not theſe paſſions. Sinne is voluntarie, & otherwiſe it is no ſinne.

Fulke. 8. There can be no force or rage of concupiſcence in the inferiour part, but the will of the outward man conſenteth vnto it, although the will of the inward man doe reſiſt it. For the deſires of the fleſh are contrary to the deſires of the ſpirit, and the will of the one, to the will of the other. Therefore the Apoſtle ſayth not onely, I doe not that good which I will, but I doe that euill which I will not. S. Auguſtine ſpeaketh not of ſuch enforcement, or rage of concupiſcence, but of the diſeaſe of original ſinne, if we did neuer giue conſent vnto it. Incipit autem homo &c. A man beginneth to be renewed, according to grace in the inward man, that with his minde he doth that which he loueth, neither conſenteth to the fleſh, doing that which he hateth, that is not ſo, that he doeth not couet at all, but that goeth not after his concupiſcence, which truely is ſo great a matter, that if it were brought to paſſe altogether, although the deſires of ſinne be in vs, while we be in this mortal body, yet if we did giue conſent to none of them, there ſhould not be whereof we ſhould ſay to our father which is in heauen, forgiue vs our debtes. You ſee he ſayth not, that a iuſt man neede neuer ſay to God for theſe motions, forgiue vs our ſinnes, but if any man were throughly renewed, ſo that he neuer conſented to the deſires of ſinne, but were as Adam was in paradiſe before he fell, he had no debtes to be forgiuen. But ſeeing renouation is not perfect, and we giue often conſent, though ſometime we haue the victorie: it followeth of his wordes, that we haue neede dayly to deſire pardon, euen of thoſe ſinfull deſires: which though they be not ſo voluntarie as other ſinnes, whereunto we giue conſent, yet are they voluntarie in the originall, becauſe originall ſinne in Adam was voluntarie. Aug. Ret. lib. 1. cap. 13. & 15. Freewill. First motions to euill.

Rhem. 9. 19 Which I will not.) It maketh not any thing againſt free will that the Apoſtle ſayth, that good men doe or ſuffer ſometimes in their bodies, that which the will agreeth not vnto: but it proueth plainely free will. becauſe the proper act thereof, that is, to will or nill, to conſent or diſſent, is euer (as you may ſee here) free in it ſelfe: though there may be internall or externall force to ſtay the members of a man, that they obey not in euery act, that which the will commandeth or preſcribeth. And therefore that is neuer imputed to man which he doth in his externall or internall faculties, when will concurreth not. Yea afterward (v. 20.) the Apoſtle ſayth, Non ego operor, man doeth not that which is not done by his will: which doeth moſt euidently proue free will.

Fulke. 9. The will of man is alwayes free from force or conſtraint, but not from thraldome or bondage of ſinne, as this place manifeſtly declareth, that it is not perfectly ſet at libertie, no not in ỹ regenerate. That thoſe things which are done without ỹ conſent of the inward man, are not imputed, it is true, but that is to be vnderſtoode, onely of the regenerate, in whom there is a newe man borne of the ſpirite of God, not generally of all men. Freewill.

Rhem. 10 25. With the minde, with the fleſh.) Nothing done by concupiſcence (which the Apoſtle here calleth ſinne) whereunto the ſpirite, reaſon, or minde of man conſenteth not, can make him guiltie before God, neither can the motions of the fleſh in a iuſt man euer any whit defile the operations of his ſpirite, as the Lutherans doe holde: but make them often more Concupiſcēce defileth not a iuſt mans actions as the Lutherans ſay.

more meritorious, for the continuall combat that he hath with them. for it is plaine that the operations of the fleſh and of the ſpirite doe not concurre together to make one acte, as they imagine: the Apoſtle concluding cleane contrary, That in minde he ſerueth the Lawe of God, in fleſh the lawe of ſinne, that is to ſay, concupiſcence.

Fulke. 10 Nothing done by infirmitie of concupiſcene, without conſent of the inward man, can make the regenerate man guiltie before God, becauſe the grace of God in Ieſus Chriſt doth diſcharge him in Gods ſight: without the which he were a miſerable and vnhappy man (as the Apoſtle confeſſeth of himſelfe) and therefore guiltie in Gods ſight. So likewiſe they defile the operations of a iuſt man which are according to the ſpirite, because they hinder them from ſuch perfection, as Gods iuſtice requireth, whereby we ought to loue God with all our heart, and our neighbour as our ſelues, which by meanes of concupiſcence we cannot. For though the operations of the fleſh and the ſpirit, doe not alwayes concurre in one act, yet doe the operations of the fleſh alway hinder the operation of the ſpirit from perfectiō. And therefore it is ſo farre of, that they make the workes of the ſpirite meritorious, that for want of perfection alwayes, and moſt often with intermedling corruption, they make them vnable to ſtand before Gods iuſtice, if he ſhould not in mercie beholde them.

Cōcupiſcence is ſinne.

Merite.

CHAP. VIII.

Rhem. 1. That now after Baptiſme we are no more in ſtate of damnation, becauſe by the grace which we haue receiued, wee are able to fulfill the Lawe: vnleſſe we doe wilfully giue the dominion againe to concupiſcence. 18 Then (becauſe of the perſecutions that then were) he comforteth and exhorteth them with many reaſons.

Fulke. 1. The Apoſtle ſpeaketh not of the ſtate of all men after Baptiſme, but onely of the iuſtified and regenerate, who are able to keepe the law in part, but not perfectly.

THere is nowe therefore no damnation to them that are in Chriſt IESVS: that walke not according to the fleſh.

2 For the lawe of the ſpirite of life in Chriſt IESVS, hath deliuered me from the lawe of ſinne and of death.

3 For that which was impoſſible to the Lawe, in that it was weakened by the fleſh: God ſending his ſonne in the ſimilitude of the fleſh of ſinne, euen of ſinne damned ſinne in the fleſh,

4 That ‡ the iuſtification of the law might be fulfilled in vs, who walke not according to the fleſh, but according to the ſpirite.

5 For they that are according to ỹ fleſh, are affected to ỹ things that are of the fleſh, but they that are according to the ſpirit: are affected to the things that are of the ſpirit.

6 For the wiſdome of the fleſh, is death: but the wiſdome of the ſpirit, life and peace.

7 Becauſe the wiſedome of the fleſh is ‖ an enemie to God: for to the lawe of God it is not ſubiect, neither can it be.

‖ enmitie.

8 And they that are in the fleſh, cannot pleaſe God.

9 But you are not in the fleſh, but in the ſpirit, yet if the Spirit of God dwell in you. But if any man haue not the Spirit of Chriſt, the ſame is not his.

10 But if Chriſt be in you: the body in deede is dead becauſe of ſinne, but the ſpirit liueth becauſe of iuſtification.

11 And if the Spirit of him that rayſed vp IESVS from the dead, dwell in you: he that rayſed vp IESVS CHRIST from the dead, ſhall quicken alſo your mortall bodies, becauſe of his Spirit dwelling in you.

The Epiſtle vpon the 8. Sunday after Pentecoſt.

12 Therefore brethren, we are detters: not to the fleſh, to liue according to ỹ fleſh.

13 For

THere is then no damnation to them which are in Chriſt Ieſu, which walke not after the fleſh, but after the ſpirit.

2 For the lawe of the ſpirit of life, through Ieſus Chriſt, hath made me free from the lawe of ſinne and death.

3 For what the law could not doe, in as much as it was weake through the fleſh, God hauing ſent his owne ſonne in the ſimilitude of ſinfull fleſh, euen by ſinne, condemned ſinne in the fleſh:

4 That the righteouſneſſe of the lawe might be fulfilled in vs, which walke not after the fleſh, but after the ſpirit.

5 For they that are carnall, are carnally minded: but they that are ſpirituall, are ſpiritually minded.

6 To be carnally minded, is death: but to be ſpiritually minded, is life and peace:

7 Becauſe that the fleſhly mind is enimitie againſt God: for it is not obedient to the lawe of God, neither can be.

8 So then, they that are in the fleſh, cannot pleaſe God.

9 But ye are not in the fleſh, but in the ſpirit, if ſo be that the ſpirit of God dwell in you. If any man haue not the ſpirit of Chriſt, the ſame is none of his.

10 And if Chriſt be in you, the body is dead becauſe of ſinne: but the ſpirit is life for righteouſneſſe ſake.

11 But if the ſpirite of him that rayſed vp Ieſus from the dead, dwell in you: euen he that rayſed vp Chriſt from the dead, ſhall alſo quicken your mortall bodyes, becauſe that his ſpirite dwelleth in you.

12 Therefore brethren we are detters, not to the fleſh, to line after the fleſh.

13 For if you liue according to the fleſh, you ſhall die. but if by the ſpirit, you mortifie the deedes of the fleſh, you ſhall liue.

14 For whoſoeuer ‡ are led by the ſpirit of God, they are the ſonnes of God.

15 For * you haue not receiued the ſpirit of ſeruitude againe in feare: but you haue receiued the ſpirit of adoption of ſonnes, wherein we crie: Abba, (father.)

16 For ‖ the Spirit him ſelfe, giueth teſtimonie to our ſpirit, ỳ we are ỳ ſonnes of God.

17 And if ſonnes, heires alſo: heires truely of God, and coheires of Chriſt: ☞ Yet if we ſuffer with him, that wee may be alſo glorified with him.

18 For I thinke that the paſſions of this time are not ‖condigne to the glory to come that ſhall be reuealed in vs.

19 For the expectation of the creature, expecteth the reuelation of ỳ ſonnes of God,

20 For the creature is made ſubiect to vanitie, not willing, but for him that made it ſubiect in hope:

21 Becauſe the creature alſo it ſelfe ſhall be deliuered from the ſeruitude of corruption, into the libertie of the glorie of the children of God.

22 For we know that euery creature groneth, and trauaileth euen till nowe.

23 And not only it, but we alſo our ſelues hauing the firſt fruites of the ſpirit, wee alſo grone within our ſelues, expecting the adoption of the ſonnes of God, the redemption of our body. ☜

24 For ‖ by hope we are ſaued. But hope that is ſeene, is not hope. for ỳ which a man ſeeth, wherefore doeth he hope it?

25 But if we hope for that which we ſee not: we expect by patience.

26 And in like maner alſo the Spirit helpeth our infirmitie. For, what we ſhould pray as we ought, we knowe not: but the Spirit him ſelfe requeſteth for vs with gronings vnſpeakeable.

27 And he that ſearcheth ỳ hartes, knoweth what ‖ the Spirit deſireth: becauſe according to God he requeſteth for the ſainctes.

28 And we know ỳ to them ỳ loue God, al things cooperate vnto good, to ſuch as according to purpoſe are called to be ſainctes.

29 For whō he hath forknowen, he hath alſo predeſtinated to be made conformable to the image of his ſonne: that he might be the firſt-borne in many brethren.

30 And ‖ whō he hath predeſtinated: them alſo he hath called. & whom he hath called: them condignæ ad gloriam.

13 For if ye liue after the fleſh, ye ſhall die: but if ye through the ſpirit doe mortifie the deedes of the body, ye ſhall liue.

14 For as many as are led by the ſpirit of God, they are the ſonnes of God.

15 For ye haue not receiued the ſpirit of bondage againe to feare: but ye haue receiued the ſpirit of adoption, whereby we cry, Abba, father.

16 The ſpirit it ſelfe beareth witneſſe to our ſpirit, that we are the ſonnes of God.

17 If we be ſonnes, then are we alſo heires, the heires of God, & ioynt heires with Chriſt: ſo that we ſuffer together, that we may be alſo glorified together.

18 For I am certainely perſwaded, that the afflictions of this time, are not worthy of the glory which ſhall be ſhewed vpon vs.

19 For the earneſt expectation of the creature abideth looking when the ſonnes of God ſhall appeare:

20 Becauſe the creature is ſubiect to vanitie, not willing, but for him which hath ſubdued the ſame in hope.

21 For the creature it ſelfe ſhall be made free from the bondage of corruption, into the glorious libertie of the ſonnes of God.

22 For we knowe that euery creature groneth with vs alſo, & trauaileth in paine with vs, euen vnto this time.

23 Not onely they, but wee alſo which haue the firſt fruites of the ſpirite, and wee our ſelues mourne in our ſelues, wayting for the adoption, euen the deliuerance of our body.

24 For we are ſaued by hope: But hope that is ſeene, is no hope. For howe can a man hope for that which he ſeeth?

25 But and if we hope for that we ſee not, then doe we with patience abide for it.

26 Likewiſe, the ſpirit alſo helpeth our infirmities. For wee knowe not what to deſire as wee ought: but the ſpirit it ſelfe maketh great interceſſion for vs, with gronings, which cannot be expreſſed.

27 And he that ſearcheth the hearts, knoweth what is the meaning of the ſpirit: for he maketh interceſſion for the ſainctes, according to the pleaſure of God.

28 For we know that all things worke for the beſt, vnto them that loue God, to them which alſo are called of purpoſe.

29 For thoſe which he knewe before, he alſo did predeſtinate, that they ſhould be like faſhioned vnto the ſhape of his ſonne, that he might be the firſt begotten among many brethren.

30 Moreouer, whom he did predeſtinate, them alſo he called: & whom he called, them alſo he them alſo hee hath iuſtified. and whom he hath iuſtified: them alſo hath he glorified.

31 What ſhal we then ſay to theſe things? If God be for vs, who is againſt vs?

32 He that ſpared not alſo his own ſonne, but for vs al deliuered him: how hath he not alſo with him giuen vs al things?

33 Who ſhall accuſe againſt the elect of God? God that iuſtifieth.

34 Who is he that ſhal cõdemne? Chriſt IESVS that died, yea that is riſen alſo againe, who is on the right hande of God, who alſo maketh interceſſion for vs.

The Epiſtle for S. Ignatius Febr. 1.

he iuſtified: and whom he iuſtified, them alſo hee glorified.

31 What ſhall we then ſay to theſe things? If God be on our ſide, who can be againſt vs?

32 Which ſpared not his owne ſonne, but gaue him for vs all: how ſhall he not with him alſo giue vs all things?

33 Who ſhall lay any thing to the charge of Gods choſen? It is God that iuſtifieth:

34 Who is hee that condemneth? It is Chriſt which died, yea rather which it rayſed againe, which is alſo on the right hande of God, and maketh interceſſion for vs.

MARGINAL NOTES. CHAP. VIII.

Rhem. 2. 4. The iuſtification. This conteineth againſt the Churches aduerſaries, that the law, that is, Gods commandements may be kept, and that the keeping thereof is iuſtice, and that in chriſtian men that is fulfilled by Chriſts grace which by the force of the Law could neuer be fulfilled.

Fulke 2. The Apoſtle ſaith not that the iuſtice of the Lawe is fulfilled by vs, but in vs by Chriſt, which is made iuſtice vnto vs, which by faith are in Chriſt Ieſus. And that inherent iuſtice which is begonne in vs by Chriſt, is a teſtimonie that we are in Chriſt, in whom we haue obteined all things needfull vnto our ſaluation. How is the iuſtification of the Law fulfilled in vs (ſaith S. Ambroſe) but when forgiuenes of all our ſinnes is giuen vs, that ſinnes being taken away, the iuſtified man may apply ſeruing the Law of God with his minde, In Rom 8. Therefore this place proueth not that the commandements of the Lawe may be kept of vs in this ſtate of infirmitie, cleane contrary to the ſcope of the Apoſtle. For the Lawe remayneth ſtill impoſſible to be kept, through the weakenes of our fleſh. And therefore Chriſt hath ſatisfied the Lawe for vs, not giuing vs abilitie to keepe it. For then ſe me ſhould be voyde of ſinne: but if we ſay we haue no ſinne (ſaith the Apoſtle) we deceiue our ſelues, and there is no trueth in vs. 1. Ioan. 1.8. Iuſtice inherent. The Law impoſſible to be kept.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. VIII.

Rhem. 3. 16. The ſpirit giueth teſtimonie.) This place maketh not for the Heretikes ſpecial faith, or their preſumptuous certainty that euery one of them is in grace: the teſtimonie of the Spirit being nothing els, but the inward good motions, comforts, and contentment, which the children of God do daily feele more and more in their hartes by ſtirring him: by which they haue as it were an aſſeſſation of his fauour towards them, whereby the hope of their iuſtification and ſaluation is much corroborated and ſtrengthned. The teſtimonie of the Spirit.

Fulke 3. This place ſheweth that Gods children haue euery one the teſtimonie of Gods Spirit, whereby they knowe they are Gods children, therefore in his fauour, and aſſured of eternall life, which is the inheritance promiſed to his children. And this is no preſumption, but true humilitie, ſeeing they acknowledge they haue this dignitie, only of his grace without their merits or worthines. Which it is no marueile that Papiſts know not, becauſe they doe not feele it, but turne it into good motions, comfort and contentment grounded vpon their owne workes; and therefore haue the ſpirit of ſeruitude, and not the ſpirit of adoption. And euen that comfort and contentment that they haue in their ſeruing God according to mens traditions, is meere vaine and wicked preſumption, and no true comfort nor peace of conſcience. Certaintie of ſaluation.

Rhem. 4. 17. Yet if they ſuffer.) Chriſts paines or paſſions haue not ſo ſatisfied for al, that Chriſtian men be diſcharged of their particular ſuffering or ſatisfying for eche mans parte: neither be our paines nothing worth to the attainment of heauen, becauſe Chriſt hath done ynough, but quite contrarie: he was by his paſſion exalted to the glorie of heauen: therfore we by compaſſion Notwithſtanding Chriſts ſatisfaction and paſſiõ, yet ours alſo is required.

paſſion or partaking with him in the like paſſions, ſhal attaine to be fellowes with him in his kingdome.

Fulke 4. Horrible blaſphemie againſt the effect of Chriſtes Paſſion, who ſatisfied for all, ſo that Chriſtian men are diſcharged of all ỹ they haue deſerued to ſuffer, as due to the iuſtice of God for punishment of their ſinnes. Yet muſt they ſuffer willingly to be made conformable, or like to him in ſuffring as they looke to be in glory. Our ſuffrings therfore are a cõdition required to our glorification, not a cauſe therof or ſatisfaction for our ſinnes. Merite. Satisfaction for ſinne.

Rhem. 5. 18. Condigne.) Our Aduerſaries ground hereon, that the workes or ſufferances of this life be not meritorious or worthy of life euerlaſting, where the Apoſtle ſaith no ſuch thing, no more then he ſaith that Chriſtes paſſion, be not meritorious of his glory, which I thinke they dare not much auouch in our Sauiour, actions. He expreſſeth onely, that the very afflictions of their owne nature, which we ſuffer with or for him, be but ſhort, momentanie and of no accoũt in compariſon of the reuerence which we ſhal haue in heauen, no more in deede were Chriſtes paines of their owne nature, compared to his glory, any whit comparable: yet they were meritorious or worthy of heauen, and ſo be ours. And therefore to expreſſe the ſaid compariſon, he ſaith, They are not condigne to the glory. He ſaith not, of the glory, as the Heretikes falſly tranſlate, though the Scripture ſpeaketh ſo alſo, when it ſignifieth only a compariſon, as Prou. 3. in the greeke, Omne pretioſum non eſt illa dignum. S. Auguſtine, illi dignum. S. Hierom, non valet hutic comparari. that is, No precious thing is worthy of wiſedom, or to be compared with it. See the like Eccle. 26, 20. Tob. 9, 2. But when the Apoſtle wil expreſſe that they are condigne, worthy, or meritorious of the glory, he ſaith plaine, That our tribulation which preſently is momentanie and light, worketh aboue meaſure exceedingly an eternal weight of glory in vs. The value of Chriſtes actions reſpecteth not the length or greatnes of them in them ſelues, though ſo alſo they paſſed al mens deings: but of the worthines of the perſon. And ſo the value of ours alſo reſpecteth of the grace of ſtie adoption, which maketh thoſe actions that of their natures be not meritorious nor ſufficiente to the ſo, as of heauen in them ſelues be worthy of heauen. And they might as wel proue that the workes of ſinne do not deſerue damnation. for, ſinne in deede for the quantity and meaſure of the worke, is not anſwerable in pleaſure to the paine of Hel: but becauſe it hath a leauing or an auerſion from God, be it neuer ſo ſhort, it deſerueth damnation, becauſe it alwayes proceedeth from the enemy of God, ſo good workes that be meritorious, proceede from the childe of God. Al ſuffering in this life is nothing in cõparation of the heauenly glory and yet is meritorious and worthy of the ſame. Heretikes tranſlation. and groſſe ignorance. Aduerſaries. Whence the merite of workes ſpringeth.

Fulke 5. What meane you by condigne, but worthy, or comparable in reſpect of worthines? The glory that ſhalbe reueiled in Gods childre, is a matter of much more excellencie then all their ſufferings can deſerue or be worthy of: not only in reſpect of the ſhortnes of the time in which we ſuffer or cõtinue in ſuffring, but alſo in the greatnes of the reward. And it is marueilous impudencie to deny that the Apoſtle ſaith no ſuch thing, when not only the words of the Apoſtle are ſo euident, and his purpoſe ſo plaine, to comfort and encourage the faithfull in their afflictions, by the excellent worthines of the reward, which is farre aboue ỹ value of the labour. You ſay, that Chriſtes paines were of no accompt of their owne nature compared with his glory, but yet meritorious, and ſo are ours. What monſtrous blaſphemie is this? If there were no compariſon betweene Chriſtes ſufferings, and the glory that he purchaſed by them, then his ſufferings were no ſatisfaction to Gods iuſtice, who required a ful and perfect recompence, both for our ſinnes and for the reward of iuſtice, which by his Paſſion he procured for vs. But his Paſſion being the Paſſion of the Sonne of God, was a full ſatisfaction and worthy deſert of the glory, which hee purchaſed for vs, and hath giuen to vs. Therefore it is not merited nor deſerued by our ſuffering. Merite. Your caril of worthy to the glory, and worthy of the glory, is but a vaine brable of wordes. for worthy being a relatiue, muſt haue his correlatum, whether it be whereof, or whereto he is worthy. And the compariſon of inequalitie, is not only in time, but alſo in excellencie. But our tranſlation, and this quarrell is at large diſcuſſed in my defence againſt Gr. Martine, cap. 9. from the firſt Section to the ſeuenth. Wherefore a good Argument may be drawen out of this place againſt the merit of our ſuffrings, becauſe there muſt be an equalitie or equall proportion betweene the labour and the reward, where the labour deſerueth the reward: but there is no equalitie or equal proportion betweene our ſuffrings of this life, and the reward of eternall glory: therefore the ſuffrings of this life doe not merite nor deſerue ỹ reward of eternal glory. But when the Apoſtle (ſay you) wil expreſſe that they are condigne, worthy, or meritorious of the glory he ſaith: that our tribulation which preſently is momentanie and light, worketh aboue meaſure exceedingly an eternal weight of glory in vs. Thus you ſay, but all the Logike of Themes cannot conclude in lawful forme of ſillogiſme out of this text, that our ſuffrings are condigne, worthy, or meritorious of that glory. The contrary may well be proued: where there is ſo great excellencie of the reward aboue the ſuffrings, there is no equalitie, and conſequently no merite of the reward. For condigne, worthy or meritorious, wil neuer be proued out of the verbe, worketh. The tribulations of the godly, are a cauſe working this reward, as they be the way by which God hath appointed that they muſt paſſe to glory, not as condigne, worthy, or meritorious of the glory. A man hath a troubleſome way to paſſe, that he may come to the poſſeſſion of his inheritance which his father hath giuen him. This iourney worketh or procureth to him the poſſeſſion of the inheritance which is farre more worthy then his labour, therefore this trauelle is not the cauſe meritorious of his inheritance. Caſtilling. Chryſoſtome vpon this text, Hom. 14. alledgeth this auctoritie of 2. Cor. 4. to beat downe the pride of deſert. Quando enim, &c. For when he ſheweth that the rewards to come are greater then the labours, he doth both exorteth them more, and doth not ſuffer them to be high minded, and proude as conquerors are, when they haue obteined the reward of Crownes. And in another place he ſaith: For the momentanie lightnes of our tribulation, doth worke an eternall weight of glory in vs, exceeding meaſure. S. Ambroſe ſaith, that God being as a good or prodigal giuer, ſeeketh occaſion how he may giue to vs being vnworthy. Theodoret ſaith vpon this text, The crownes doe excel the battels, the rewards are not compared with the labours, for the labour is ſmal, but great gaine is hoped for. And therfore he called theſe things that are looked for, not an hyre or reward, but glory. The auctour of the Commentaries in Hieroms name, ſaith: In this place the Apoſtle wil ſet forth the glory to come, that we may more eaſily tollerate the preſent afflictions. And in truth a man could ſuffer nothing worthy of the heauenly glory, although it were ſuch as our life is now. For whatſoeuer he ſhould ſuffer frõ death, is no more then he deſerued before for his ſinnes. But now both his ſinnes are forgiuen, and then alſo eternal life, fellowſhip with the Angels, brightnes of the Sunne, and the reſt which we reade to haue bene promiſed, ſhalbe performed. Cyrillus apud Oecumenium, ſaith: He ſheweth that the whole is in a maner of grace, becauſe God is more abundant in rewards, neither can we ſuffer any thing worthy of the reward that ſhalbe, or conferre any thing toward it.

Thus the ancient fathers gather out of the inequalitie of the labours vnto the reward, ỹ the labours are not worthy worthy of the reward, and the reward is of the free grace & mercie of God. But the value of our labours (you say) ariseth of the grace of our adoption, which maketh them meritorious. The reward in deede is freely giuen by the grace of our adoption, but that grace maketh not our workes meritorious and worthy of heauen, but freely giueth reward vnto our workes, which they deserue not. For nothing can be more contrary to grace, then merite or desert. Sinne doeth deserue eternal damnation, because it is a transgression of the Lawe of the eternall God, whether men take any pleasure therein, or no, but eternall life is the free gift of God, for Iesus Christs sake, and not for the merite of our workes, by what fantasie soeuer you goe about to foyst it in.

Rhem.6. 24. By hope saued.) That which in other places he attributeth to faith, is here attributed to hope. For whersoeuer there be many causes of one thing, the holy writers (as matter is ministred and occasion giuen by the doctrine then handled) sometimes referre it to one of the causes, sometime to an other: not by naming one alone, to exclude the other, as our Aduersaries captiously and ignorantly do argue: but at diuers times and in sundry places to expresse that, which in euery discourse could not, nor needed not to be vttered. In some discourse, faith is to be recommended: in others, charitie: in other, hope: sometimes, almes, mercie: els where, other vertues. One while, Euery one that beleeueth, is borne of God. 1.Io.5,1. An other while, Euery one that loueth, is borne of God. 1.Io.4,7. Sometimes, faith purifieth mans hart. Act.15,9. And an other time, Charitie remitteth sinnes. 1.Pet.4,8. Of faith it is said, The iust liueth by faith. Ro.1,17. Of charity, We know that we are transferred from death to life, because we loue, &c. 1.Io.3,14. As sometime faith only is named, so els where only hope, and only charitie, as the cause of our saluation.

Fulke 6. Iustification, is neuer attributed to hope, but to faith which goeth before hope: and to faith without workes, but we are heare said to be saued by hope, because our saluation is not in present, but in hope, or expectation of that which is promised. Not that by the merite or worthines of hope, we are saued. For hope hath relation to faith by which we are iustified freely, by the grace and mercie of God in Christ. Thereupon S. Augustine saith, Tota spes mea non nisi magna valde misericordia tua, &c. My whole hope is nothing, but thy exceeding great mercie, Conf. lib. 10 cap. 29. And againe, The only hope of all the godly groning vnder this burden of corruptible flesh, and in the infirmitie of this life is, that we haue an aduocate with the father Iesus Christ the righteous, and he is the propitiation or exoration for our sinnes. Cont. 2. Ep. Pel. lib. 3. cap. 5. Neither doeth the Scripture ascribe our iustification before God, to any thing in vs, but onely to faith. For when it is said, that euery one that beleeueth is borne of God, and euery one that loueth is borne of God, there is no contrarietie, for both faith and loue are the fruites of our regeneration by the spirit of God, yet their offices remaine seuerall and distinct: faith to iustifie vs before God, loue to declare vs to be iustified, or to iustifie declaratiuely. But where it is said, that faith purifieth mans heart, it is neuer said that loue purifieth his heart, no, nor that charitie remitteth sinnes, and therfore you falsifie the words of Scripture, which are, 1.Pet.4.8. Loue shall couer the multitude of sinnes: which saying declareth the nature of loue, which is to hide the sinnes of our brother, and not to vtter them to his defamation, as is the nature of hatred expressed by Salomõ, Pro.10.11. out of whom S. Peter boroweth these words. And wheras it is said, The iust shal liue by his faith, It is neuer said, The iust shall liue by his charitie. But we know by charitie (which is a fruite of that faith by which we are iustified) that we are translated from death to life, as the cause is knowen by his effects. Iustification by faith only.

Rhem. 7. 27. The Spirit desireth.) Arius and Macedonius old Heretikes had their places to contend vpon, against the Churches sense, as our new Maisters now haue. They abused this text to proue the holy Ghost not to be God, because he needed not to pray or aske, but he might command if he were God. Therfore S. Augustine expoundeth it thus, The Spirit praieth, that is, causeth and teacheth vs to pray, and what to pray or aske. Aug. de anima & eius orig. li.4.c.9. & ep.121.c.15. Scripture abused against the Godhead of the Holy Ghost.

Fulke 7. A simple quarrel to make vs resemble heretikes, because heretikes abuse the Scripture, vntill you can proue that we abuse the Scripture as they did, and as we proue that you doe, and not only abuse it, but plainly falsifie it, as in the Section next before, to make it serue your heretical purpose. Slander.

Rhem.8. 30. Whom he hath predestinated.) Gods eternal foresight, loue, purpose, predestination, and election of his deare children, and in time their calling, iustifying, glorifying by Christ, as al other actes and mentions of his diuine will and prouidence towards their saluation, ought to be reuerenced of al men with dread full humilitie, and not to be sought out or disputed on with presumptuous boldnes and audacitie, for it is the gulfe that many proud persons, both in this age and aduaries, haue by Gods iust iudgement perished in, founding thereon most horrible blasphemies against Gods mercie, nature and goodnes, and diuers damnable errors against mans free will, and against al good life and religion. This high conclusion is here set downe for vs, that we may learne to know of whom we ought to depend in all our life, by whom we expect our saluation, by whose prouidence al our graces, gifts and workes doe stand: by what an euerlasting gratious determination, our redemption, which is in Christ Iesus was designed: and to giue God inestimable thankes for our vocation and preferment to the state we be in, before the Iewes, who deserued no better then they, before the light of his mercie shining vpon vs accepted vs, and reiected them. But this said eminent truth of Gods eternal predestination standeth (as we are bound to beleeue vnder paine of damnation, whether we vnderstand how or no) and so S. Augustine in al his diuine workes written of the same (De gratia & lib. arb. De corrept. & gratia. Ad articulos falso impositos.) defendeth, declareth, proueth, and conuinceth, that it doth stand (I say) with mans free will and the true libertie of his actions, and forceth no man to be either il or good, to sinne or vertue, to saluation or damnation, nor taketh away the meanes or nature of merits, and cooperation with God to our own: and other mens saluation. The doctrine of predestination, how to be reuerenced, and what it teacheth vs. Gods predestination taketh not away free will.

Fulke 8. The eternal predestination of God, excludeth the merits of man, & the power of his will, thereby to atteine to eternall life: yet forceth not a mans will, to good or ill, but altereth the will of him, that is ordeined to life, from euill to good, and giueth power to chuse that which is good: and all meanes which hee hath appointed vnto saluation. And this is the doctrine of S. Augustine in all his bookes against the Pelagians, wherein hee declareth the effect of Gods Predestination: as hee that will reade them may easily perceiue. Let one example suffice, to shew how he defendeth, prooueth, &c. that mans free wil standeth, speaking of the reprobate, which are iustly condemned either for originall sinne onely, or also for other sinnes which they haue added by free-will, Arbitrium inquam liberum, sed non liberatum, liberum iustitiæ, peccati autem seruum. I say free will, but not made free, free from iustice, but slaue of sinne. De correct. & gratia cap. 13. Merite. Free will.

Rhem.9. 38. I am sure.) This speach is common in S. Paul according to the Latin translation, when hee had no other assured knowledge but by hope: as Ro.15,14.2. Ti.n.1,5. Heb.6,9: Where the Greeke word signifieth onely a probable persuasion. And therefore except he meane of himself by special reuelation, or of the predestinate in general, (in which two cases it may stande vide supra, Concilio. Hiero. q.9. ad Algas.

ſtand for the certitude of faith or infallible knowledge) otherwiſe that euery particular man ſhould be aſſured infallibly that him ſelf ſhould be iuſtified, and not that onely, but ſure alſo neuer to ſinne, or to haue the gift of perſeuerance, and certaine knowledge of his predeſtination: that is a moſt damnable falſe illuſion and preſumption, condemned by the Fathers of the holy Councel of Trent. Seſſ. 6. c. 9. 12, 13.

No man ordinarily is ſure of his ſaluation, but only in hope.

Fulke 9. The knowledge that we haue by hope grounded vpon Gods promiſes is ſo ſure, that it can not be deceiued, as it is plaine, Rom. 5. 5. The perſwaſion that the Apoſtle hath in other places, is alſo grounded vpon good Arguments: But here, vpon the immutable decree of God. And it is a good reaſon to proue that euery Chriſtian man which is endued with faith and hope, may and ought to be infallibly aſſured, that hee is iuſtified and ſhalbe ſaued, becauſe the word of God and his promiſe to all that beleeue in him, (and in faith call vpon him) can not faile, but be moſt infallibly true. But that any man can be ſure neuer to ſinne, it is deuiliſh and falſe preſumption. For we haue no promiſe that we ſhalbe preſerued from all ſinne, but onely from that which is irremiſſible. But that we ſhal alwayes perſeuere in the fauour of God, and ſo conſequently that we are predeſtinated to eternal life, the Apoſtle doth moſt plainely proue in this Chapter: wherefore by the ſpirit of adoption, and the effects or Gods grace agreeable, we may haue certaine knowledge that we ſhall inherite Gods kingdome, which none ſhall doe, but they that continue vnto the ende, and were appointed vnto it before the beginning of the world. And this is true humilitie, when we preſume nothing of our owne ſtrength or worthines, but depend wholy vpon the trueth of Gods promiſes, wherfore it was a damnable preſumption of the Popiſh Prelates of Trent, to condemne that for a falſe illuſion, which the word of Trueth doth ſo manifeſtly leade vs vnto, and by all meanes perſwade vs to acknowledge.

Certaintie of ſaluation.

CHAP. IX.

With a proteſtation of his ſorow for it (leſt they ſhould thinke him to reioyce in their perdition) he inſinuateth the Iewes to be reprobate, although they come of Abrahams fleſh, 6 ſaying, to be ſonnes of God, goeth not by that, but by Gods grace: 19 conſidering that all were one damned maſſe. 24 by which grace the Gentiles to be made his people: and ſo the prophets to haue foretold of them both. 30 And the cauſe hereof to be, that the Gentiles ſubmit themſelues to the faith of Chriſt, which the Iewes will not.

Fulke. 1. God reprobateth iuſtly whom he will, and condemneth the reprobate iuſtly for ſinne, but hereof it followeth not, that the reprobate, haue their wil free, but from coaction, for to ſinne it is thralle, and ſclaue, as S. Auguſtine ſaith. De cor. & gr. cap.13.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. IX.

Rhem. 1 Anàthema.) Anàthema, by vſe of Scripture is either that which by ſeperation from profane vſe, and by dedication to God, is holy, dreadful, and not vnlgarly to be touched: or contrariwiſe, that which is reiected, ſeuered, or abandoned from God as curſed and deteſted, and therefore is to be auoided. And in this latter ſenſe (according as S. Paul taketh it 1 Cor.16. If any loue not our Lord Ieſus Chriſt, be he Anathema, that is to ſay, Away with him, Accurſed be he, Beware you accompanie not with him) the Church and holy Councels vſe the word for a curſe and excommunication againſt Heretikes and other notorious offender, and blaſphemers. Now how the Apoſtle, wiſhing himſelfe to be Anathema from Chriſt to ſaue his Countries ſoules, did take this word, it is a very hard thing to determine. Some thinke, he deſired only to die for their ſaluation. Others, that being very loth to be kept from the fruition of Chriſt, yet he could be content to be ſo ſtil for to ſaue their ſoules. Others, he wiſhed what malediction or ſeperation from Chriſt ſo euer that did not implye the diſfauour of God towards him, nor take away his loue towards God. This only is certaine, that it is a point of vnſpeakable charitie in the Apoſtles breaſt, and a patern to al Biſhops and Prieſts, how to loue the ſaluation of their flocke. As the like was vttered by Moyſes when he ſayd, Exo.32.32. Either forgiue this people, or blot me out of thy booke.

Anathema

In what ſenſe S. Paul wiſheth to be Anathema.

6. Not al of Iſrael.) Though the people of the Iewes were many waies honored and priuiledged, and namely by Chriſtes taking fleſh of them, yet the promis of grace and ſaluation was neither onely made to them, nor to al them that carnally came of them or their fathers: Gods election and mercie depending vpon his owne purpoſe, wil, and determination, and not tied to any nation, ſmike, or perſon.

Gods promiſe not made to carnal Iſrael.

7. But in Iſaac.) The promiſe made to Abraham was not in Iſmael, who was a ſeede borne onely by fleſh and nature: but in Iſaac, who was a ſeede obtained by promiſſe, faith, and miracle: and was a figure of the Churches children borne to God in Baptiſme.

Iſaac preferred before Iſmael.

10. Of one copulation.) It is proued alſo by Gods chooſing of Iacob before Eſau (who were not onely brethren by father and mother, but alſo twinnes, and Eſau the elder of the two, which according to carnal count ſhould haue had the preeminence) that God in giuing graces foloweth not the temporal or carnal prerogatiues of men or families.

Iacob before Eſau.

Rhem. 2. 11. Not yet borne.) By the ſame example of thoſe twinnes, it is euident alſo, that neither nations nor particuler perſons be elected eternally, or called temporally, or preferred to Gods fauour before others, by their owne merites: becauſe God, when he made choiſe, and firſt loued Iacob, and refuſed Eſau, reſpected them both as il, and the one no leſſe then the other guilty of damnation for original ſinne, which was alike in them both. And therefore where iuſtly he might haue reprobated both, he ſaued of mercie one. Which one therefore, being as il and as void of good as the other, muſt hold of Gods eternal purpoſe, mercie, and election, that he was preferred before his brother which was elder then him ſelfe, and no worſe then him ſelfe. And his brother Eſau on the other ſide hath no cauſe to complaine, for that God neither did nor ſuffered any thing to be done towards him, that his ſinne did not deſerue. for although God elect eternally and giue his firſt grace without al merites, yet he doth not reprobate or hate any man but for ſinne, or the foreſight thereof.

By the example of Iacob & Eſau is ſhewed Gods mere mercie in the elect, and iuſtice in the reprobate.

Fulke. 2. Gods election and reprobation is moſt free, of his owne will, not vpon the foreſight of the merites, of either of them, for he hath mercie on whom he wil, and he hardeneth whom he will verſe 18. Yet he condemneth none, but for ſinne, either original onely, or els both original and actuall.

Merites

Rhem. 2 14. Is there iniquitie? Vpon the former diſcourſe that of two perſons equal, God calleth the one to mercie, and leaueth the other in his ſinne, one might inferre that God were vniuſt and an accepter of perſons. To which the Apoſtle anſweareth, that God were not iuſt nor indifferent in deede, ſo to vſe the matter where grace or ſaluation were due. As if two men being Chriſtened, both beleeue wel, and liue wel: if God ſhould giue heauen to the one, and ſhould damne the other, then were he vniuſt, partial, and forgetful of his promiſſe: but reſpecting or taking two, who both be worthy of damnation (as all are before they be firſt called to mercie) then the matter ſtandeth on mere mercie, and of the giuers will and liberalitie, in which caſe partialitie hath no place. As for example.

That God is not vniuſt, or an accepter of perſons, is declared by familiar examples.

S. Auguſtines example is of two debtors: the one forgiuen al, and the other put to pay al, by the ſame creditor, li. de gratia & gr. cap.4.

1 Two malefactors being condemned both for one crime, the Prince pardoneth the one and letteth the lawe proceede on the other.

1 So likewiſe, God ſeing al mankind and euery one of the ſame in a generall condemnation, and maſſe of ſinne, in and by Adam, deliuereth ſome, and not others ſome

2 The theefe that is pardoned, can not attribute his eſcape to his owne deſeruing, but to the Princes mercie.
3 The theefe that is executed, cannot challenge the Prince that he was not pardoned alſo: but muſt acknowledge that he hath his deſeruing.
4 The ſtanders by, muſt not ſay, that he was executed becauſe the Prince would not pardon him. for that was not the cauſe, but his offenſe.
5 If they aske further, why the Prince pardoned not both, or executed not both: the anſwer is, that as mercie is a goodly vertue, ſo iuſtice is neceſſary and commendable.
6 But if it be further demaunded why Iohn rather then Thomas was executed: or Thomas rather then Iohn pardoned: anſwer, that (the parties being otherwiſe equal) it hangeth purely and wholy vpon the Princes will and pleaſure.

2 All that be deliuered out of that common damnation, be deliuered by grace and pardon, through the meanes and merits of Chriſt.
3 Such as be left in the common caſe of damnation, cannot complaine, becauſe they haue their deſerning for ſinne.
4 We may not ſay that ſuch be damned, becauſe God did not pardon them, but becauſe they had ſinne, and therefore deſerued it.
5 That ſome ſhould be damned, and not al pardoned, and other ſome pardoned rather then al condemned, is agreable to Gods iuſtice and mercie: both which vertues in Gods prouidence towards vs are recommended.
6 That Saul ſhould be rather pardoned then Caiphas (I meane where two be equally euil and vndeſerning) that is onely Gods holy wil and appointment, by which many an an vnworthy man getteth pardon, but no good or iuſt or innocent perſon is euer damned.

Rhem. 3. In al this mercie of God towards ſome, and iuſtice towards other ſome, both the pardoned worke by their owne free will, and thereby deſerue their ſaluation: and the other no leſſe, by their owne free will, without al neceſſity, worke wickednes, and themſelues and only of themſelues procure their owne damnation. Therefore no man may without blaſphemie ſay, or can truely ſay, that he hath nothing to doe towards his owne ſaluation, but wil liue, and thinketh he may liue without care or cogitation of his end the one way or the other, ſaying, If I be appointed to be ſaued, be it ſo: if I be one deſigned to damnation, I can not helpe the matter: come what come may. Al theſe ſpeaches and cogitations are ſinfull and come of the enemie, and be rather ſignes of reprobation, then of election. Therefore the good man muſt without ſearche of Gods ſecretes, worke his owne ſaluation and (as S. Peter ſayth) make his election ſure by good workes, with continuall hope of Gods mercie, being aſſured that if he beleeue wel and doe wel, he ſhall haue well, for example, if a husband man ſhould ſay, If God will, I ſhal haue corne enough: if not, I cannot make it, and ſo neglect to till his ground: he may be ſure that he ſhal haue none, becauſe he wrought not for it. An other man vſeth his diligence in tilling and ploughing, and committeth the reſt to God, he findeth the fruite of his labours.

Predeſtination & reprobation take not away freewil, neither muſt any man be retchleſſe & deſperate.

2. Pet. 1, 10.

Fulke. 3. The elect worke willingly, toward their ſaluation, their wil by grace being made free in parte, from the ſeruery of ſinne, whereunto al are ſubiect by Adames fal, but they do not thereby deſerue their ſaluation. For ſaluation dependeth vpon their election, which you confeſſe to be without al reſpect of merits, or workes done or foreſeene, as S. Auguſtine ſheweth moſt plainely. Epiſt. 105 ad Sixtum. Yet they muſt worke their ſaluation, walking in that way by Gods grace, which he hath appointed, for al them that attaine to ſaluation. And they muſt make ſure their election, vnto themſelues (which is moſt ſure in Gods knowledg) by good workes which proceeding of faith, are the vndoubted fruits of Gods election.

Freewil. Grace. Merits.

Rhem. 4. 16 Not of the willer.) If our election, calling, or firſt comming to God, lay wholy or principally vpon our owne wil or workes: or if our willing or endeuouring to be good, would ſerue without the helpe and grace of God, as the Pelagians taught, then our election were wholy in our ſelues, which the Apoſtle denieth, and then might Pharao and other indurate perſons (whom God hath permitted to be obſtinate, to ſhew his power and iuſt iudgement vpon them) be conuerted when them ſelues liſt, without Gods helpe and aſſiſtance: whereas we ſee the contrary in al ſuch obſtinate offenders, whom God for puniſhment of former ſinnes, viſiteth not with his grace, that by no threates, miracles, nor perſuaſion, they can be conuerted. Whereupon we may not with Heretikes inferre, that man hath not free will, or that, our will worketh nothing in our conuerſion or comming to God: but this onely, that our willing or working of any good to our ſaluation, commeth of Gods ſpeciall motion, grace, and aſſiſtance, and that it is the ſecondary cauſe, not the principall.

Our election or conuerſion is not of our ſelues, but of Gods grace & mercie.

Fulke. 4. Our election, calling, & firſt comming to God, lyeth wholy in Gods mercie, and not eyther wholy, or principally, or any thing at al in our owne will or workes. But whom God elected before time, he calleth in time by him appointed, and of vnwilling, by his grace maketh them willing, to come to him: and to walke in good workes, vnto which he hath elected them. So that man hath no freewill, vntill it be freed, mans will worketh nothing in our conuerſion vntill it be conuerted, man hath no power to chang his wil vnto better, except it be geuen of God. Auguſt retract Lib. 1. Cap. 22.

Freewil.

Rhem. 5. 17 To this purpoſe haue I raiſed.) He doth not ſay, that he hath of purpoſe raiſed or ſet him vp to ſinne, or that he was the cauſe of the ſame in Pharao, or that he intended his damnation directly or abſolutely, or any otherwiſe but in reſpect of his demerits: but rather (as the Apoſtle ſaith ſtraight after in this chapter of ſuch hardened and obſtinate offenders) that he with long patience & tollerasion expected his conuerſion, and (as S. Chryſoſtome interpreteth this word, Excitaui) preſerued him aliue to repent, whom he might iuſtly haue condemned before. In the 9 of Exodus, whence this allegation is, we reade, Poſui te, I haue put or ſet thee vp, as here, I haue raiſed thee, that is to ſay, I haue purpoſely aduanced thee to be ſo great a king, and choſen thee out to be a notorious example both of the obdurate obſtinacie that is in ſuch whom I haue for ſo great ſinnes forſaken, and alſo to ſhew to the world, that no obſtinacie of neuer ſo mighty offenders can reſiſt me to doe any thing which ſhal not fall to my glorie. Which is no more to ſay, but that God often for the puniſhment of Nations, and to ſhew his iuſtice and glorie, giueth wicked Princes vnto them, and indueth them with power and al proſperitie, and taking his grace from them vpon their deſerts, hardeneth their harts ſo, as they withſtand and contemne God, and afflict his people, in whoſe end and fal, either temporal or eternal, at the length God will euer be glorified. Neither would he either raiſe or ſuffer any ſuch, or giue them power and proſperitie in this life, whereupon he knoweth they wil be worſe, but that he can worke al that to his honor and glorie may, that he vſeth not ſuch rigorous iuſtice on al that deſerue it, that is his great grace and mercie. And that he exerciſeth his iuſtice vpon ſome certaine perſons, rather then vpon other ſome of equal deſerts, that lieth wholy vpon his wil, in whoſe iudgements there be many things ſecrete, but nothing vniuſt.

Exo. 9, 16. In what ſenſe, God raiſed vp Pharao &c.

Fulke. 5. The purpoſe for which God ſet vp Pharao, is manifeſt, in the text, that in him he might ſhew his power &c. God made al things for him ſelf, euen the wicked man vnto the euil day. Therfore was Pharao, a veſſel of wrath ordained to deſtruction verſ. 22. His reprobation therefore was for the glorie of God, his condemnation moſt iuſt, for his obſtinate contempt of God and his word.

Rhem. 6. 20 Who art thou?) Here the Apoſtle ſtaieth the raſhnes and preſumption of ſuch poore wormes, as take vpon them to queſtion with God of their election or reprobation: as certaine impious Heritikes of our time haue done, ſitting out bookes furſed with moſt blaſphemous and erronous doctrine concerning this high and hidden myſterie, and hauing giuen occaſion to the ignorant which alwaies be curious to iangle, and perniciouſly to erre in theſe things, that are impoſſible to be underſtood of any, or wel thought of, but of the obedient and humble. Heretical bookes concerning predeſtination.

Fulke. 6. What bookes you meane, furſed with blaſphemous and erronious doctrine I know not. But I know diuerſe bookes of predeſtination, written by learned men in this time, that open the truth of this myſterie, as farforth as it is reueled in the ſcriptures to the glorie of God, and great comfort of his children: vpon the ſame principles for the moſt part, that you do acknowledge in theſe notes, wherein you confeſſe in effect, the ſubſtance of the doctrine, though you ſhew not the moſt comfortable vſe thereof, to the glorie of God, and the humbling of al fleſh before him, but flye from it, as much as you can, and ſeeke to obſcure it. Slander

Rhem. 7. 21 The Potter.) This example of the pot & potter reacheth no further but to declare, that the creature may not reaſon with God his maker, why he giueth not vnto one ſo great grace, as an other, or why he pardoneth not vnto one as wel as an other: no more then the chamber pot may chalenge the Potter why he was not made a drinking pot, as wel as an other. And therefore the Heretikes that extend this ſimilitude to proue that man hath no free will no more then a peece of clay, doe vnſkilfully and deceitfully apply the example, ſpecially when we may ſee expreſly in the booke of Exodus, that Pharao notwithſtanding his indurate hart, had free will: where both it is ſaid, He would not diſmiſſe the people, and He indurated his owne hart him ſelfe. Exo. c. 8. 15. and (in the Hebrue) v. 32. & c. 9. 35. 1. Reg. 6, 6. And this Apoſtle alſo writeth, that "a man may cleanſe him ſelfe from the filthy, and ſo become a veſſel of honour in the houſe of God. The example of pot and the potter

Fulke. 7. I ſuppoſe there was neuer man ſo madde, to ſay, that a man hath no more free will, then a peece of claye. But this example teacheth, that Gods election and reprobation dependeth no more of mans will, then the forme which the Potter giueth to the clay, dependeth vpon the wil of the clay, which it hath not. Neyther had man any more will, before he was. But being now created he hath a wil, free from coaction. And the firſt man, had wil free from ſeruitude of ſinne, which by ſinning he loſt, as witneſſeth S. Auguſtine Enchir. ad Lau. cap. 30. For free will, being made captiue, auaileth to nothing but to ſinne: but to iuſtice except it be made free and holpen by God, it auaileth not, conc. duas Ep. Pel. lib. 3. cap. 8. There is no doubt therefore but Pharao had his wil free from conſtraint, but yet ſclaue to ſinne. Neyther doth the Apoſtle ſay 2 Tim. 2. 21 that a man may cleanſe him ſelfe, from the filthy, and ſo become a veſſel of honor: but if a man doe or ſhal cleanſe him ſelfe, which he can not doe by the ſtrength of free will, but by the grace of God, conuerting his will and giuing him ſtrength, to performe that he willeth. CHAP. X.

The Law was not (as the Iewes ignorant zeale ſuppoſed) for them to iuſtifie them ſelues by it (conſidering that they could not fulfil it:) but to bring them to Chriſt, to beleue in him, and ſo for his ſake to be iuſtified by the grace of God: 5 according to Moyſes ſaying, and the Apoſtles preaching: 11 that ſo the Gentils alſo (according to the Prophets) hearing and beleeuing might come to iuſtice: the Iewes in the meane time (though inexcuſably) remaining incredulous.

BRethren, the will of my hart ſurely and praier to God, is for them vnto ſaluation

2 For I giue them teſtimonie that they haue zeale of God, but not according to knowledge.

3 For, not knowing ‖ the iuſtice of God and ſeeking to eſtabliſh their owne, they haue not bene ſubiect to the iuſtice of God.

‡ The Law was not giuen to make a man iuſt or perfect by it ſelfe, but to bring vs to Chriſt to be iuſtified by him Leu. 18, 5.

4 For, ‡ the end of the Law is Chriſt: vnto iuſtice to euery one that beleeueth.

5 For Moyſes wrote, ‡ that, the iuſtice which is of the Law, the man that hath done it ſhal liue in it.

6 But ‖ the iuſtice which is of faith, ſaith thus, Say not in thy hart, who ſhal aſcend into heauen? that is to bring Chriſt downe.

Deut. 30, 12. 7 Or who deſcendeth into the depth? that is to cal Chriſt againe from the dead.

8 But what ſaieth the Scripture? The word is nigh, in thy mouth, and in thy hart. this is the word of faith which we preach.

9 For if thou confeſſe with thy mouth our Lord Ieſus, and in thy hart beleeue that God hath raiſed him vp from the dead, thou ſhalt be ſaued.

10 For

BRethren, my harts deſire and prayer to God for Iſrael is, that they might be ſaued.

2 For I beare them record, that they haue a zeale of God: but not according to knowledge.

3 For they being ignorant of Gods righteouſneſſe, and going about to eſtabliſh their owne righteouſneſſe, haue not bene obedient vnto the righteouſneſſe of God.

4 For Chriſt is the end of the law, for righteouſneſſe to al that beleeue.

5 For Moſes writeth of the righteouſneſſe which is of the lawe, howe that the man which doth thoſe things ſhal liue by them.

6 But the righteouſnes which is of faith, ſpeaketh on this wiſe: Say not thou in thine hart, Who ſhal aſcend into heauen? that is, to fetch Chriſt downe from aboue.

7 Either who ſhal deſcend into the deepe? that is to fetch vp Chriſt againe from the dead.

8 But what ſaith he, The word is nigh thee, euen in thy mouth, and in thy hart. The ſame is the word of faith, which we preach.

9 For if thou ſhalt knowledge with thy mouth the Lord Ieſus, & ſhalt beleeue in thine hart that God raiſed him from the dead, thou ſhalt be ſaued

10 For

The Epiſtle vpon S. Andrewes day. Nouemb. 30.

10 For with the heart we beleeue vnto iuſtice: but with the mouth confeſſion is made to ſaluation.

11 For the Scripture ſayth: Whoſoeuer beleeueth in him, ſhall not be confounded.

Eſ. 28, 16.

12 For there is no diſtinction of the Iew & the Greeke: for one is Lord of al, rich toward all that inuocate him.

‡ To beleeue in him and to inuocate him, is to ſerue him with all loue & ſincere affection. Al that ſo do, ſhal doubtleſſe be ſaued and ſhal neuer be confounded.

13 For euery one ‡ whoſoeuer ſhall inuocate the name of our Lord, ſhal be ſaued.

Ioel 2, 32.

14 ‖How then ſhall they inuocate in whom they haue not beleeued? Or how ſhal they beleeue him whome they haue not heard? And how ſhall they heare without a preacher?

15 But how ſhall they preach ‖ vnleſſe they be ſent? as it is written: How beautifull are the feete of them that euangelize peace, of them that euangelize good things?

Eſa. 52, 7.

16 But all ‡ do not obey the Goſpel. For Eſay ſaith, Lord, who hath beleeued the hearing of vs?

Eſa. 53, 1.

17 Faith then, is by hearing: and hearing is by the word of Chriſt.

18 But I ſay, haue they not heard? And certes into all the earth hath the ſound of them gone forth: and vnto the ends of the whole world the wordes of them.

Pſal. 18, 5.

19 But I ſay, hath not Iſrael knowen? Moyſes firſt ſaith, I will bring you to emulation in that which is not a nation: in a fooliſh nation, I will driue you into anger.

Deut. 32, 21.

20 But Eſay is bold, and ſaith, I was found of them that did not ſeeke me: openly I appeared to them ‖ that asked not of me.

Eſa. 65, 1.

21 But to Iſrael he ſaith, All the day haue I ſpred my hands to a people that beleeueth not, and contradicteth me.

Eſa. 65, 2.

10 For with the heart man beleeueth vnto righteouſneſſe, and with the mouth confeſſion is made vnto ſaluation.

11 For the ſcripture ſayeth, Whoſoeuer beleeueth on him, ſhall not be confounded.

12 There is no difference betwene the Iewe and the Greeke: for the ſame Lorde ouer all, is rich vnto all that call vpon him.

13 For whoſoeuer ſhall call on the name of the Lord, ſhall be ſaued.

14 How then ſhal they call on him, on whom they haue not beleeued? Howe ſhall they beleeue on him of whome they haue not heard? How ſhal they heare without a preacher?

15 And how ſhall they preach, except they be ſent? As it is written, Howe beautifull are the feete of them which bring good tidings of peace, and bring good tidings of good things?

16 But they haue not all obeyed the Goſpell: for Eſaias ſaieth, Lorde, who hath beleeued our ſayings?

17 So then faith commeth by hearing, and hearing commeth by the word of God.

18 But (I aske) haue they not heard? No doubt, their ſound went out into all lands, and their wordes into the endes of the world.

*19 But I demand whether Iſrael did know, or not? Firſt Moſes ſaieth, * I will prouoke you to* Deut. 32, 21.
enuie by them that are no people, and by a fooliſh nation I will anger you.

MARGINAL NOTES. CHAP. X.

Rhem. 1. 5, That, the iuſtice.) The iuſtice of the Law of Moyſes went no further of it ſelf, but to ſaue a man from the temporal death and puniſhment preſcribed to the tranſgreſſors of the ſame.

Fulke. 1. The iuſtice of the law of Moſes, if any man could keepe it perfectly, was able to iuſtifie him to eternall life, as the tranſgreſſor therof deſerued the curſe of God vnto eternall death. So ſaith Chryſoſtome vpon this text, Hom. 17. For a man can not otherwiſe be iuſtified in the law, but he that hath fulfilled all things. But that as yet hath not beene poſſible for any man. Therefore that iuſtice is loſt. The auctor of the commentaries vnder the name of Hierom ſaith: Some of this place thinke that the Iewes deſerued this preſent life only by the workes of the law: which the words of our Lord declare not to be true, which being asked of eternall life, ſetteth forth the commandements of the law, ſaying: If thou wilt enter into life, keepe the commandements, wherof we vnderſtand that he which in his time hath kept the law, had life euerlaſting. Of the ſame iudgement are Theodoret, Occumenius, and Theophylactus, and thoſe ancient fathers, that ſeeme to ſay otherwiſe, meane of the ceremoniall lawe, not of the morall law, as it is plaine by S. Ambroſe in cap. 3. ad Gal.

Rhem. 2. 16. Do not obey.) We ſee then that it is in a mans free wil to beleeue or not to beleeue, to obey or diſobey the Goſpel or truth preached.

Fulke. 2. We ſee no ſuch thing in the text, for it is of grace and mercy that we beleeue and obey, not of the power of free will, which auayleth to nothing, but to ſinne, except it be made free by the grace of God. Aug. con. 2. ep. Pel. ad Boni. lib. 3. cap. 8. We read (ſayth he) in the Apoſtle, I obteined mercie, that, I might be faithfull: not becauſe I was faithfull. Retract. Lib. 1. cap. 23.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. X.

Rhem. 2. The iuſtice of God.) The iuſtice of God, is that which God giueth vs through Chriſt. the Iewes owne or proper iuſtice, is that which they had or chalenged to haue of themſelues and by their owne ſtrength, holpen onely by the knowledge God's iuſtice, and the Iewes owne iuſtice.

of the Law without the helpe or grace of Chriſt.

Rhem. 6 The iuſtice of faith.) The iuſtice which is of faith, reacheth to the life to come, making mã aſſured of the truth of ſuch articles as cõcerne the ſame, as, of Chriſts aſcenſiõ to heauẽ, of his deſcending to hel, of his cõming down, to be Incarnate, & his reſurrectiõ & return again to be glorified: by which his actiõs we be pardoned, iuſtified, & ſaued, as by the law we could neuer be. Iuſtice of faith Rhem. 3. 8. The word of faith.) The word of faith is the whole Law of Chriſt, concerning both his ſword doctrine, grounded vpon this, that Chriſt is our Sauiour, and that he is riſen againe. Which points (as all other) muſt both be beleeued in hart, and alſo be confeſſed by mouth. for though a man be iuſtified inwardly when he hath the vertues of faith, hope, and charitie from God: yet if occaſion be giuen, he is alſo bound to confeſſe with his mouth, and by all his externall actions, without ſhame or feare of the world, that which he inwardly beleeueth: or elſe he can not be ſaued. Which is againſt certaine old Heretikes that taught, a man might ſay or do what he would, for feare or danger, ſo that he kept his faith in heart. Open confeſſion and proteſtation of our faith is ſometime neceſſary. Euſeb. lib. 6. c. 31. Hiſt. Eccleſ.

Fulke. 3. The word of fayth, is the doctrine of iuſtification by fayth, without the workes of the lawe, as it is manifeſt by the ſixth verſe, out of which faith, proceedeth hope, loue, and confeſſion, and all good workes, but the roote of all is fayth onely, by which we are accompted iuſt, in the ſight of God. S. Ambroſe vpon theſe wordes of the text This is the word of fayth which we preach, giueth this onely interpretation. Nullum opus dicit legis, ſed ſolam fidem dandam in cauſa Chriſti. He ſaith that no worke of the Law, but fayth only, is to be giuen in the cauſe of Chriſt. Theodoret giueth this expoſition: Quod dixit Moſes de præceptis legitimis, hoc nos de fide dicimus. That which Moſes ſayd of the precepts of the Law, the ſame ſay we of fayth. Wherefore fayth which iuſtifieth before God, is not the whole law of Chriſt which conteineth both fayth and workes, but fayth onely, that is fayth conſidered without workes, yet as the roote of all good workes.

Rhem. 4. 14. How ſhall they inuocate?) This maketh not (as Heretikes pretend) againſt inuocation of Saincts: the Apoſtle ſaying nothing of it, but that they can not inuocate Chriſt as their Lord and Maiſter, in whome they do not beleeue, and whom they neuer heard of. For he ſpeaketh of the Gentils or Pagans, who could not inuocate him, vnleſſe they did firſt beleeue in him. To the due inuocation of Chriſt, we muſt beleeue him and our duties to him. And ſo is it true alſo that we cannot pray to our B. Lady nor any Sainct in heauen, till we beleeue and knowe their perſons, dignitie, and grace, and truſt that they can help vs. But if our aduerſaries thinke that we can not inuocate them, becauſe we can not beleeue in them: let them vnderſtand that the Scripture vſeth alſo this ſpeech, to beleeue in men: and it is the very Hebrew phraſe, which they ſhould not be ignorant of, that vſeth ſo much Exo.14,31. They beleeued in God and in Moyſes, & 3.Paral.20,20. in the Hebrew. Ep. ad Philem.v.5. And the ancient fathers did read in the Creede indifferently, I beleeue in the catholike church &, I beleeue the catholike church. Conc. Nicen. apud Epiph. in fine Ancorat. Hieron. contr. Lucif. Cyril. Hieroſ. Catech. 17. The place alleaged againſt inuocation of Saincts anſwered.

Fulke. 4. We cannot call vpon any, whom we do not know out of Gods word, and beleeue to bee both able and willing to helpe vs. Therefore Papiſts may haue a vaine perſwation, of the abilitie of Saincts to help them: but teſtimonie of the holy Scripture to aſſure their conſcience they haue none. And further, ſeeing we can inuocate none, but him in whome we beleeue, and we ought to beleeue in God onely: wee cannot without ſacriledge, inuocate any creatures. Howbeit, you defend that you may beleeue alſo in creatures. And that the ſcripture vſeth this ſpeech, Exod. 14.31. They beleeued in God and in Moſes, where your owne tranſlation hath Crediderunt Domino, & Moſi ſeruo eius, that is, they gaue the credite to the Lorde, and to Moſes his ſeruant. In the next text. 2.Paral.20.20, your owne tranſlation hath Credite in Domino Deo veſtro & ſecuri eritis, Credite prophetis eius & cuncta vobis ſuccedent proſpera. Beleeue in the Lorde your God, and you ſhall be ſure, beleeue his Prophets, & giue credite to his Prophets, and all ſhall fall out proſperouſly. But heere you muſt forſake your owne tranſlation though it be true, & flie to the Hebrew text, where the prepoſitiõ or ſeruile letter, is in both alike. Wherunto I anſwer you, that ỹ Hebrewes phraſe ought not in Greeke, or Latine, to be tranſlated with the prepoſition that ruleth an accuſatiue or ablatiue caſe, but with a datiue caſe, as your vulgar Latine interpreter hath wel obſerued: and ſo hath the Greeke text, in the firſt place, but in the ſecond a prepoſition before the Datiue. But in the Epiſtle to Philemon, the text is, Hearing of thy Loue & fayth which thou haſt toward our Lord Ieſus, and vnto all the Saincts where euery man, that is not obſtinately blinde, doth ſee, that fayth is referred to Chriſt, and loue to the Saincts, which diſtinction and diuerſe relation, is obſerued euen by your owne Latine interpretor, and by your ſelues. Therefore, the ſcripture vſeth no ſuch ſpeech, that can be tranſlated in Engliſh, whereby it ſhould appeare, that wee may beleeue in creatures, that is, put our whole truſt in creatures. For as S. Cyprian ſayth: Non credit in Deum, qui non in eo ſolo collocat, totius ſalutis ſuæ fiduciam. He doth not beleeue in God which doth not place in him alone, the truſt of his whole ſalcitie. De duplici martyrio. But the fathers (you ſay, further) did read in the creede indifferently, I beleeue in the Catholike Church, and I beleeue the Catholike Church. I graunt ſome did ſo, but in the ſame ſenſe: namely, that to beleeue in the Church, was no more but to beleeue that there is a catholike Church, as they ſayd alſo, I beleeue in one baptiſme, I beleeue in the reſurrection of the dead, and in the life to come. For that diſtinction in ſenſe, muſt be obſerued which Ruffinus ſheweth, to be alſo in the wordes: Non dixit in ſanctam eccleſiã, &c. He ſaid not I beleeue in the holy catholike church, nor in the remiſſion of ſinnes, nor in the reſurrection of the body, for if he had added the prepoſitiõ In, there ſhould haue bene the ſame force of meaning, with that which went before. But now in theſe words, in which is ſet forth our faith of the godhead, it is ſaid, In God the father, & in Ieſus Chriſt his ſonne, & in the holy ghoſt. But in the reſt where the ſpeach is not of the godhead, but of creatures & myſteries, the prepoſition In, is not added, that it ſhould be ſayd, In the holy church, but that we ſhould beleeue there is an holy church, not as God, but as a church gathered to God. And nõ ſhould beleeue that there is remiſſion of ſinnes, but in the remiſſion of ſinnes, & they ſhould beleeue the reſurrection of the body, not in the reſurrection of the body. Therefore by this ſyllable of prepoſition, the Creator is diſtinguiſhed from the creatures, & things pertaining to God, from things belonging to mẽ. Ruffin. in Symbolum: Agreeable to him writeth Euſebius Emiſſenus de ſymb. Hom. 2. Aliud eſt credere Deo, aliud in Deum credere. It is one thing to beleeue God, or to giue credite to God, another thing to beleeue in God. We ought of right to beleeue, both Paul and Peter, but to beleeue in Peter and Paul, that is to beſtowe vpon the ſeruants, the honor of the Lord, we ought not. To beleeue him, that is to giue credit to him, euery one may to a man: but to beleeue in him, know that then oweſt only to the diuine maieſty. But this alſo is to be marked. It is one thing Credere Deo, to beleeue that there is a God, another thing, to beleeue in God, for the deuill is found to beleeue that there is a God. But to beleeue in God, none is preſumed, but he which hath deuoutly truſted in him. And therefore to beleeue God, is to know naturally, but to beleeue in God, that is faithfully to ſeeke him, & with our whole loue, to paſſe into him. So likewiſe of the articles Iuuocation proper to God. Inuocation of Saincts departed.

*ticles of the catholike church,remiſſion of ſinnes,reſurrection,&c.*the ſaith: *Let vs beleeue in God,theſe things we do rehearſe, we doe not beleeue in them, but we doe beleeue them in God, theſe things I ſay we confeſſe,not as God, but as the benefits of God.*Primaſius alſo obſerueth this difference,Com.in Gal. cap.3.Fides perfecta eſt,non ſolum Chriſtum, ſed etiam in Chriſto credere.It is perfect faith not onely to beleeue that Chriſt is,but to beleeue in Chriſt. Seeing therefore it is proper to the diuinitie,to beleeue,that is (ſaith Cyprian) to put our whole truſt in God,to beleeue in creatures is ſacrilegious,and conſequently to call vpon them.

Rhem. 5. 15 Vnleſſe they be ſent.) This place of the Apoſtle inuincibly condemneth al the preachings,writings,ordinances,innouations and vſurpations of Church,pulpit,& whatſoeuer new Euangeliſts haue intruded themſelues & entred into by the windowe:ſhewing that they be euery one from the higheſt to the loweſt,falſe prophets,running & vſurping,being neuer lawfully called. Which is ſo euident in the Heretikes of our dayes that the Caluinijs confeſſe it in themſelues, and ſay that there is an exception to be made in them, becauſe they found the ſtate of the Church interrupted.

Preachers not lawfully called not ſent. Confeſſion des Egliſes Frances.

Fulke. 5. The Apoſtle ſpeaketh not of the ordinarie calling or ſending by the Church, nor of the teſtimonie of conſcience,that euery one which is called ought to haue,that he is called and ſent of God, but of the prouidence of God,by which the preachers of the goſpell are ſent, whether they haue lawfull calling by men or no, to preach the goſpel to any nation,which is an argument of Gods loue vnto that people, to whom the meſſage of ſaluation is offred.But that no man ought to intrude themſelues into the office of preaching,without lawful calling,it is proued ſufficiently by other places of ſcripture.And we(God be thanked)haue lawful calling,how ſoeuer you ſlander the confeſſion of the miniſters of the French church, which doe not require an exception to be made in them,becauſe they found the ſtate of the Church interrupted,but ſhew that the ordinary calling is not alwayes neceſſary,where the ſtate of the Church is ſo corrupted,that it cannot be had of them that are compted to hold the Church,but are in deed profeſſed enemies of the true Church.But that the ordinary calling or ſending is not neceſſary,where either there is no Church, or the Church is ſo corrupted with hereſie that it ceaſeth to be a member of Chriſt: we may learne by examples of nations conuerted to the faith by thē that had no calling at all of the Church. As a great nation of the Indians was by Aedeſius and Frumentius: *Ruffin.hiſt.lib.1.cap.9.Theodor.li.1.cap.24.*And the nation of the Iberians by a captiue woman,which after ſhe had conuerted the king and the Queene,they both became teachers of the goſpel to the people.Ruffin.lib.1.c. 10.The nation of Immeres,a moſt warlike people of Perſia, receiued the faith before they had any biſhop, as teſtifieth Nicephor.lib.16.cap.37. And who doubteth but the ſame may be done in a nation infected by hereſie? when euen in a catholike & ſound Church,Alexander biſhop of Ieruſalem,& Theoctiſtus of Caeſarea, defend themſelues againſt Demetrius biſhop of Alexandria,who reprehended them for ſuffring Origenes, before he was ordeined by the church,to teach in the Church,& to interprete the ſcriptures in the preſence of biſhops. Yea,they charge Demetrius with a lie,becauſe he had written that it was neuer heard of or done before, that lay men ſhould teach in preſence of a biſhop,& bring forth notable examples of the contrary cuſtome: namely,that Euelpius was required to teach by Neon biſhop of Larindi,Paulinus by Celſius at Iconium,Theodorus by Atticus at Synnadorum,and diuers other in other places.Yea Demetrius himſelfe which reprehended thē, ſeemeth to allow,that when no biſhop was preſent,ſome other lay man might teach, ſeeing he taketh occaſion to reprooue them,becauſe they ſuffred Origen to teach in preſence of the ordinary biſhop. *Euſeb.lib.6.cap.*20. Ruffinus concludeth hereof,in his tranſlation of Euſebius,that there is no doubt,*but many other lay man in other places,if there be any which can ſet forth the worke of God in word and doctrine, are prouoked by the biſhops to doe it, lib 6. cap.*11.How much more are they bound in charitie,where there is no ordinary catholike teachers,to indeuer to conuert heretikes to the catholike faith.And yet this is vainly obiected againſt Luther,Caluine and others that they lacked ſending or calling, of which ſome, as they had baptiſme, ſo they had calling of the popiſh church,to preach therein , other had ordinary calling of the catholike churches, ſeparated from the popiſh hereſie, to be preachers and paſtors of them.

Lawfull calling.

Slander.

Rhem.6. 20 That asked not.) That Chriſt was found of thoſe that neuer asked after him,it prooueth that the firſt grace & our firſt iuſtification is without merites.That God called ſo continually & earneſtly by his Prophets & by other his ſignes & wonders,vpon the Iewes, & they withſtood it: free will is proued,& that God would haue men ſaued,& that they be the cauſe of their owne damnation themſelues.

The firſt iuſtification of mere grace. Free will.

Fulke.6. The firſt grace & iuſtification being without merites by only faith,is ſufficient to glorificatiō, as the Apoſtle ſaith: *Whom God iuſtifieth,he glorifieth.*Neither doth the ſcripture teach any grace or iuſtification by merites.It hath bene often anſwered ỳ mans wil is free frō coaction,but yet thrall to ſinne, vntill by grace it be enlarged.

Our iuſtification to ſaluatiō. Freewill.

CHAP. XI.

Not all the Iewes were reprobate,but ſome elect: and they by grace obtained iuſtice,the reſt (according to the Prophets)being execrated. 11 Againſt whom notwithſtanding the Chriſtian Gentils(to whom by this occaſion (Chriſt is come) muſt not inſult:but rather feare euery man himſelfe to be likewiſe cut of the tree(which is the Catholike Church) 25 and know that when al the Gentils are brought into the Church,then (about the end of the world)ſhall the multitude of the Iewes alſo come in: 33 according to the diſpoſition of the wonderfull wiſdome of God.

I Say then: Hath god reiected his people? God forbid. for I alſo am an Iſraēlite, of ỳ ſeede of Abrahā,of the tribe of Ben-iamin.

I Say then,hath God caſt away his people? God forbid.For I alſo am an Iſraelite,of the ſeede of Abraham,of the tribe of Beniamin.

2 God hath not reiected his people which he foreknew. Or know you not in Elias what the ſcripture ſaith: how he requeſteth God againſt Iſraēl?

2 God hath not caſt away his people which he knewe before.Wot yee not what the Scripture ſayth of Elias? howe hee maketh interceſſion to God againſt Iſrael.

3.Reg.19,10 3 Lord, they haue ſlaine thy Prophets, they haue digged downe thine altares: and I am left alone,and they ſeeke my life.

11 I ſay then, haue they ſo ſtumbled, ‡that they ſhould fall? God forbid, but by their offence, ſaluation is to the Gentiles, that they may emulate them.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. XI.

Rhem. 3. 4. Seuen thouſand.) The Heretikes alleage this place and example very impertinently to proue that the Church may be wholy ſecrete, hid, or, vnknowen. for though the faithful were forced to keepe cloſe in that perſecution of Achab Gods anſwer to Elias of and Iezabel, which was onely in the kingdom of the ten tribes, that is, of Iſrael: yet at the very ſame time, in Hieruſalem and al the kingdom of Iuda, the external worſhip and profeſſion of faith was open to al the world, and wel knowen to Elias and the faithful, ſo many, that the very ſouldiars only were numbred al one ten hundred thouſand, beſides that there is a great difference betweene the Chriſtian Church and the Iewes, ours reſting vpon better promiſſes then theirs. And we wil not put the Proteſtants to proue that there were 7000 of their Sect, when their new Elias Luther began: but let them proue that there were ſeuen, or any one, either then or in al ages before him, that was in al pointes of his beleefe. Heretikes there were before him, as Iouinian, Vigilantius, Heluidius, Wicleffe &c. & with him, Zuinglius, Caluin, &c. Who beleeued as he did in ſome things, but not in al.

and

7000. maketh nothing for the Proteſtants inuiſible Church.

2 Tar. 17.

Fulke. 3. You may as well ſay, that S. Paule alleageth this example impertinently, to prooue that a remnant may be ſaued, which is vnknowen to men. But that the church at other times hath beene ſo hidden, that there was no publike exerciſe of religion in Iuda and Ieruſalem, the ſtory of ſcripture is full of examples. As in the dayes of Achas, when the altar of God was remoued, and an idolatrous altar by the high prieſtes conſent was ſet vp. 2. Reg. 16. And cap. 17. 19. it is ſaid, that neither Iuda did keepe the Lords commandements, but walked in the errors of Iſrael: where was then the viſible church? Likewiſe when Manaſſes built idolatrous altars in the temple. 2. Reg. 21. 4. & 5. Alſo in the dayes of Amon which walked in all the wayes of Manaſſes. 2 Reg. 21. 22. But you haue another helpe, to ſay that the church of Chriſt reſteth vpon better promiſes then the church of the Iewes. I pray you where is there any promiſe that the church of Chriſt ſhall neuer be hidden? we finde a prophecy that ſhe ſhall flie into the wilderneſſe: Apoc. 12. But for the perpetuall continuance of the church of the Iewes vntill the firſt comming of Chriſt, there be as many and as good promiſes, as for the church of the Gentils to continue vntill the ſecond comming of Chriſt. Howbeit, you will not put vs to proue that there were ſeuen thouſand but ſeuen, or any one of our beleefe when Luther began, wheras it is certaine there were many thouſands (beſide them that were ſcattered and hidden in England, France and other nations) in Calabria, Piemont, Morauia, Bohemia, and other places, which many hundred yeeres before Luther, profeſſed the ſame doctrine of Chriſt which Luther taught in Saxonie, and were called of the Papiſts Waldenſes, Pauperes de Lugduno, Leoniſtæ, Lollardi, Picardi, and by ſuch other opprobrious names: whoſe doctrine in all the cheefe points to be the ſame, witneſſeth Reinerius an inquiſitor, more then three hundred yeeres agoe. And their apologie againſt Rochezana, and other that ſubmitted themſelues to the councell of Baſill, ſet out An. 1431. Alſo by the treatiſe of Claudius Couſord a doctor of diuinity of Paris, which profeſſeth to confute the errors of the Waldenſes, Wickleuits, and other ancient heretikes (as he calleth them) becauſe they conteined in a maner (as he ſaith) all the hereſies of this time long agoe by the Popiſh church condemned. Therefore it is a fond and ridiculous euaſion to ſay: there was not any that did beleeue in all points as Luther did, when there is no ancient writer but hath ſome priuate opinions, and perhaps peculiar to himſelfe: yet they that conſent in the cheefe and neceſſary articles of faith, notwithſtanding they agree not in all points, haue beene alwayes accompted members of one true church: as Anicetus and Polycarpus, Victor and Irenæus, Cornelius and Cyprian, Epiphanius and Chryſoſtome, Hierome and Auguſtine, Hierome and Ruffinus, Theodoretus and Cyrillus, Leo and the councell of Chalcedon, and ſuch other. You your ſelfes will not refuſe the Thomiſts and Scotiſts, Dominicans and Franciſcans, Ieſuits and other papiſts, though they agree not in all points of doctrine.

The church hidden.

Rhem. 4. 6. Not now of workes.) If ſaluation be attributed to good workes done of nature without fayth and Gods helpe, the ſame can not be of grace, for ſuch workes exclude grace, fauour, and mercie: and chalenge onely of dette, and not of gift. Therefore take heede here of the Hereſikes expoſition, that vntruely exclude Chriſtian mens workes from neceſſity or merite of ſaluation, which are done with and by Gods grace, and therefore euidently conſiſt with the ſame, and be ioyned with Gods grace as cauſes of our ſaluation. Our aduerſaries are like ill Potecaries, euer taking quid pro quo, either of ignorance, or of intent to deceiue the ſimple.

What workes are not, and what are the cauſe of ſaluation.

Fulke 4. The apoſtle ſpeaketh of the election by grace by which all are ſaued, therfore he excludeth the merit of all works as well of the circumciſed Iewes and baptiſed Chriſtians, as of the vnbeleeuing Gentils: yet are Chriſtian men bound of neceſſitie to do good works, not as cauſes meriting ſaluation, but as the end of their election. Epheſ. 1. 4. Epheſ. 2. 8 9 10. where the apoſtle ſaith, We were choſen before the foundation of the world, that we ſhould be holy and vnblamable before him in loue. And you are ſaued by grace through faith, and that not of your ſelues, it is the gift of God. Not of workes, leſt any man ſhould boaſt. For we are his workemanſhip, created vnto good workes in Chriſt Ieſus, which God hath prepared that we ſhould walke in them. Wherefore the Papiſts be not like ill Poticaries, that for lacke of one medicine take another as good, or at leaſt not hurtfull, but like moſt venemous ſerpents that poiſon all things that they touch or come neere vnto.

Merit.

God is not author of ſinne.

Fulke 5. God worketh not as an euill auctor of ſinne, but as a iuſt iudge, in giuing the ſpirit of compunction, and ſending the ſpirit of error to them that haue deſerued to be deceiued.

God is not auctor of ſinne.

Rhem. 20. Becauſe of incredulity.) He repreſſeth the pride of the Gentiles vaunting themſelues of their receiuing, and of the Iewes reiection, namely in that they thought the Iewes to be forſaken for no other cauſe, but that they might come into their roomes: declaring that the direct and proper cauſe of their forſaking, was their incredulity, exhorting the Gentiles to beware of the ſame, becauſe they may fall as well as the other, and that God is as like to execute iuſtice againſt them as againſt the Iewes, as he hath done in many nations falling to hereſie.

A paraphraſticall explication of the text, concerning the Iewes & Gentils, their ſtanding, falling, riſing againe, &c.

28. According to the Goſpel.) In reſpect, or, as concerning beliefe in Chriſt and receiuing the Goſpell, they are Gods enemies: by occaſion of which their incredulitie, the Gentiles found mercie: otherwiſe in reſpect of his ſpeciall election of that nation, and the promiſſes made to the Patriarches, the Iewes are deere to him ſtill. For God neuer repenteth him ſelf of the priuileges giuen to that nation.

30. For as you.) As the Gentiles which before beleeued not, found mercie and come to faith, when the Iewes did fall:

ſo

ſo the Iewes not now beleeuing, when al the Gentils haue obtained mercie, ſhal in the end of the world by Gods diſpoſition obtaine grace and pardon as the Gentiles haue done.

Rhem. 6. 33. Concluded al.) That ſo God taking al Nations and al men in ſinne (which they fell into, not by his drift or cauſing, but of their owne free will) may of his mercie call and conuert whom and in what order he will: and the parties haue no cauſe to bragge of their deſeruings: But both countries and particular men may referre their eternal election and their firſt calling and conuerſion to Chriſt, & to his mercie only: no workes which they had before in their incredulitie, deſeruing any ſuch thing, though their workes afterward proceding of faith and grace doe merite heauen.

Fulke. 6. Not only our election, firſt calling, and conuerſion vnto Chriſt, is to be referred vnto Gods only mercie, but alſo our perſeuerance vnto the end, and the reward of eternal life in the end without end, (as S. Auguſtine ſaith) is of the only grace and mercie of God, and not of the merit of our works. Nam vnde mihi tantum meritum eſt, cui indulgentia pro corona eſt? For whence haue I ſo great merit when mercie is my crowne. Ambroſ. exhort. ad virgines. Grace. Merit.

Rhem. 7. 33, O depth.) The Apoſtle concludeth that no man ought to ſearch further into Gods ſecrete and vnſearcheable counſels of the vocation of the Gentils, and reiecting the Iewes, otherwiſe then thus, that al which be reiected, for their ſinnes be iuſtly reiected: and al that be ſaued, by Gods great mercie and Chriſts grace be ſaued. And whoſoeuer ſeeketh among the people to ſpread contagion of curioſity by ſeeking further after things paſt mans and Angels reach, they ouerreache and ouerthrow themſelues. If thou wilt be ſaued, beleeue, obey the Church, feare God & keepe his commandements: that is thy part and euery mans els. Thou muſt not examine whether thou be predeſtinate or reprobate, nor ſeeke to know the wayes of Gods ſecrete iudgement toward thy ſelf or other men. It is the common enemie of our ſoules, that in this vnhappy time hath opened blaſphemous tongues, and directed the proude pennes of Caluin, Beza, Verone, and ſuch reprobates, to the diſcuſſing of ſuch particulars, to the perdition of many a ſimple man, and ſpecially of yong Scholers in Vniuerſities, which with leſſe ſtudie may learne to be proude and curious, then to be humble, wiſe, and obedient. How far to deale and to know in the doctrine of predeſtination. The Heretikes writings of predeſtination.

Fulke. 7. All true Chriſtians may with humilitie ſearch ſo farre into the doctrine of predeſtination, as the ſcripture hath reuealed to our comfort. But out of the compaſſe of Gods word, all curious ſearching is dangerous and damnable. The bookes of Caluin, Beza and Verone keepe themſelues within the compaſſe of the holy ſcriptures, and holde no blaſphemous or other erronious opinions, that derogate any thing from the glorie of God, or be hurtfull to the ſaluation of men, as your ſlanderous and malicious penne ſuppoſeth, beſide your preſumptuous iudgement, that they be reprobates, whereof ſome be yet liuing, of whom it is hard to pronounce, although they were now blaſphemous heretikes, and you the Catholike church (as the contrarie is true) becauſe God might giue them repentance. Slander. Antichriſtian preſumption.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. XII.

Rhem. 1. A liuing hoſt.) Leſt man ſhould thinke by the former diſcourſe of Gods eternal predeſtination, that no reward were to be had of good life and workes, the Apoſtle now earneſtly recommendeth to them holineſſe of life.

1. A liuing hoſt.) Man maketh his body a ſacrifice to God by giuing it to ſuffer for him, by chaſtiſing it with faſting, watching, and ſuch like, and by occupying it in workes of charitie and vertue to Gods honour. Whereby appeareth how acceptable theſe workes are to God and grateful in his ſight, being compared to a ſacrifice, which is an high ſeruice done to him. The body chaſtiſed by penance is a grateful ſacrifice.

Rhem. 1. 6. According to the rule of faith.) By this, and many places of holy writ, we may gather, that the Apoſtles by the holy Ghoſt, before they were ſendered into diuers Nations, ſet downe among them ſelues a certaine Rule and forme of faith & doctrine, conteining not only the Articles of the Crede, but al other principles, grounds, and the whole plaſforme of al the Chriſtian religion. Which Rule was before any of the bookes of the new Teſtament were written, and before the faith was preached among the Gentils. by which not onely euery other inferiour teachers doctrine was tried, but al the Apoſtles, and Euangeliſtes preaching, writing, interpreting (which is here called prophecying) ware of Gods Church approued and admitted, or diſproued and reiected. This forme, by mouth and not by Scripture, euery Apoſtle deliuered to the countrie by them conuerted. For keeping of this forme, the Apoſtle before praiſed the Romanes, and afterward earneſtly warneth them by no meanes Lutſole ſpeeche to be drawen from the ſame. This he commendeth to Timothee, calling it his Depoſitum. For not holding this faſt and ſure, he blameth the Galatians, further alſo denouncing to him ſelf or an Angel that ſhould write, teach, or expound againſt that which they firſt receiued, Anathema, and commanding alwaies to beware of them that taught otherwiſe. For feare of miſſing this line of truth, him ſelf notwithſtanding he had the Holy Ghoſt, yet leſt he might haue preached in vaine and loſt his labour, he went to conferre with Peter and the reſt. for the faſt keeping of this Rule of truth, the Apoſtles held Councels, and their ſucceſſors by their example. For the holding of this Rule, and by the meaſure thereof, were al the holy Scriptures written. for and by the ſame, al the glorious doctors haue made their ſermons, commentaries, and interpretations of Gods word: al writings and interpretations moreouer admitted nor deemed to be of God, but as they be agreeable to this Rule. The Apoſtolical rule or analogie of faith. c.6.17.c.16, 17. 1.Tim.6,20. Gal.1.6. Gal.2.1. Act.15.6.

And this is the ſure Analogie and meaſure of faith, ſet downe and commanded to vs euery where for the Apoſtles tradition: and not the phantaſticall rule or ſquare that euery Sectmaiſter pretendeth to gather out of the Scriptures falſely vnderſtood and wreſted to his purpoſe, by which they iudge of doctor, Scripture, Church, and al. Arius had by that meanes a rule of his owne, Luther had his falſe weightes, and Caluin his owne alſo. According to which ſeuerall meaſure of euery Sect, they haue their expoſitions of Gods word: and in England (as in other infected Countries) they kept of late an apiſh imitation The Heretikes phantaſticall rule or rather rules of faith, many & diuers one from an other.

tion of this prophecying which S. Paul here and in other places ſpeaketh of, and which was an exerciſe in the Primitiue Church, meaſured not by euery mans peculiar ſpirit, but by the former Rule of faith firſt ſet downe by the Apoſtles. And therfore al this new phantaſtical Prophecying and al other preaching in Caluins ſchole, is iuſtly by this note of the Apoſtle condemned, for that it is not according to, but quite againſt the Rule of faith.

Fulke 1. First you tranſlate boldly, rationem fidei, the rule of faith, which is not the proper ſignification of the word Ratio. Secondly, where all the auncient writers, that comment vpon the text in a maner, vnderſtand the word Analogia, for the meaſure of euery mans faith, whereunto God giueth a gift agreeable, & not one vnderſtandeth it, for ſuch a rule of faith, as you ſuppoſe: what credite ſhal your interpretation haue, with any man of meane iudgement? But ſpecially where you affirme, that it was ſuch, as being deliuered without writing, all the writings of the new Teſtament were tried and approued by it: it is horrible blaſphemie againſt the holy Scriptures. That a rule of faith might be concluded of by the Apoſtles, to direct all teachers and beleeuers by it, we deny not, but that this rule was drawen out of all the holy Scriptures, and contained nothing but that which is grounded vpon them, it is manifeſtly proued, becauſe the Goſpell which they preached, was grounded wholy vpon the holy Scriptures, as teſtifieth S. Paul Rom. 1, 2. Act. 26, 22. and by many other places of Scripture. And therefore all your wrangling is in vaine, to perſwade men without argument of Scripture, that there was ſuch a rule vnwritten, that conteined more then the Scripture. The faith which S. Paule commended in the Romanes, was the faith of the Goſpel, which God had promiſed before by the Prophets, in the Scriptures. That forme of doctrine, which was committed to Timothy, was conteined in the holy Scriptures, wherein he had beene trained vp from a child, and which were able to make him wiſe vnto ſaluation, and perfectly inſtructed, to all partes of his office, 2. Tim. 2, 15. & 6. 17. It was the Goſpell which he preached to the Galatians ſet forth in the Scriptures, and not a ſecrete tradition, but the publike doctrine of iuſtification by faith, without all ceremonies and workes of the lawe. But that he feared to miſſe the rule of truth, when he went vp to Ieruſalem, after he had preached the Goſpel 14. yeeres, what is it but blaſphemous impudencie, to affirme? when he ſaith, he did declare to the reſt of the Apoſtles priuately, the doctrine that he preached publikely, not for feare leaſt he had miſſed him ſelfe, but that the reſt of the Apoſtles, might giue publike teſtimonie of his doctrine, to be the ſame, that theirs was, againſt them, that to hinder the profite of his preaching, reported that he taught otherwiſe then the reſt of the Apoſtles, Gal. 2. Finally, the Scriptures inſpired of God, were written to be the rule of trueth, for certeintie of faith: and not to mainteine ſuch an vnwritten tradition, but to defend the trueth and faith, from al heretical pretenſes of ſecrete tradition. Therfore the Apoſtle either ſpeaketh not at all, of any rule of trueth in this place, or els he ſpeaketh of the articles of the Creede, which being taken out of the Scriptures, and conteining a breefe ſumme of Chriſtian faith, may be called that rule of faith, according to which all prophecying, and interpretation of the Scripture, is to be framed. Where you ſay, that we haue ſeuerall rules of faith amongeſt vs, it is true in forme of wordes, but not in ſubſtance of matter. For as when hereſies aroſe, the moſt auncient rule of faith, called the Apoſtles Creede, was not ſufficient, but an other forme was deuiſed in the Nicen Councell, ſo (as Epiphanius teſtifieth) when other hereſies ſprong vp, the Catholikes were driuen to ſet out other confeſſions, or rules of faith, to defend the ignorant from their diueliſh ſubtilities, and to ſift out diſſemblers, that would hide their hereſies vnder the formes of wordes, vſed in the former confeſſions. After the ſame maner, are our confeſſions now diuers, yet all agreeing in the ſubſtance of faith, as the Booke of the Harmonie of confeſſions, doth euidently declare. The forme of conference, or prophecie, vſed in the Primitiue Church, and in diuerſe Churches at this day, obſerueth euen the ſame rule of faith, that S. Paule ſpeaketh of, and that was obſerued in the Primitiue Church, howſoeuer you ſcorne it, and ſclaunder it.

3 For rulers are not feareful to good workes, but to the euil. Wilt thou not feare the power? Doe wel, and thou ſhalt haue praiſe of the ſame.

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. XIII.

Rhem.1. 9 Fulfilled the law.) Here we learne, that the Law may be and is fulfilled by loue in this life: againſt the Aduerſaries, ſaying, it is impoſſible to keepe the commandements.

Fulke 1. Here we learne, that he which loueth his neighbour as himſelfe, hath fulfilled the Law of the ſecond Table. But wee neuer ſawe the man, nor euer ſhall, that loued his neighbour as himſelfe. Therefore vnperfect loue doth not perfectly fulfil the law: and it is ſtill impoſſible to keepe the commandements, in ſuch perfection, as the iuſtice of the law requireth. The Law vnpoſſible to be kept.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. XIII.

Rhem.2. 1 Euery ſoule be ſubiect.) *Becauſe the Apoſtle preached libertie by Chriſt from the yoke of the Lawe and ſeruitude of ſinne, and gaue all the faithfull both example and commaundements to obey God more then men, and withall euer charged them expreſſly to be obedient and ſubiect to their Prelates as to them which had cure of their ſoules, and were by the Holy Ghoſt placed ouer the Church of God: there were many in thoſe daies newly conuerted, that thoughe themſelues free from all temporall Poteſtates, carnall Lordes, and humane creatures or powers: whereupon the bondman took himſelfe to be looſe from his ſeruitude, the ſubiect from his Soueraine, were he Emperour, King, Duke, or whatother ſeculer Magiſtrate ſo euer, ſpecially the Princes of thoſe dayes being Heathens and perſecutors of the Apoſtles, and of Chriſtes religion. for which cauſe and for that the Apoſtles were vniuſtely charged of their Aduerſaries, that they withdrewe men from order and obedience to Ciuill Lawes and Officers: S. Paul here (as S. Peter doth 1. Chap. 2) cleereth himſelfe, and expreſſly chargeth euery man to be ſubiect to his temporall Prince and Superiour: Not euery man to all that be in Office or Superiority, but euery one to him whom God hath put in authority ouer him, by that he is his Maiſter, Lord, King, or ſuch like: Neither to them in matters of religion or regiment of their ſoules (for moſt part were Pagans, whom the Apoſtle could not will men to obey in matters of faith) but to them in ſuch things onely as concerne the publike peace and Policie, and what other cauſes ſo euer conſiſt with Gods holy will and ordinance. for * againſt God no power may be obeyed.* Obedience to temporall rulers, and in what caſes. Act.4,19.5,29

Fulke 2. Chryſoſtom vpon this place ſayth Hom. 23. he ſheweth, that theſe things are commaunded to all men, both Prieſts and Monkes, and not to temporall men onely, which he declareth in the beginning, when he ſayd, Let euery ſoule be ſubiect to the higheſt powers: although thou be an Apoſtle, although thou be an Euangeliſt, although thou be a Prophet, although thou be whatſoeuer thou art: for this ſubiection, doth not ouerthrow religion. And if heathen Princes are to be obeyed of all men, in all things that are not againſt Chriſtian religion, how much more Chriſtian Princes, in matters that are agreeable to Chriſtian faith and religion. Seing that (as S. Auguſtine ſaieth) they ſerue God as Kings, making iuſt lawes, and deſtroying Idolatrie as Ezechias did. The ſame father compteth him not ſober, that would ſay to Chriſtian Kings: Take no care in your kingdome, of whom the Church of your Lord is defended Auctoritie of Ciuill Princes.

Epiſt. 50. Bonifacio. Therefore it ſtandeth with Gods holy will and ordinance, that Princes ſhould make lawes to maintaine true religion, and to ſuppreſſe falſe religion, whereunto all men are commaunded to be obedient.

Rhem. Chryſoſt in ep. Ro. 13.

1. No power but of God.) S. Chryſoſtome here noteth, that power, rule, and Superioritie, is Gods ordinance, but not eſpecially al Princes: becauſe many may vſurpe, who reigne by his permiſſion onely, and not by his appointment. nor al actions that euery one doth in and by his ſoueraine power, as Iulians apoſtaſie and affliction of Catholikes, Pharaos tyrannical oppreſſion of the Iſraelites, Achabs perſecution of the Prophets, Neros executing of the Apoſtles, Herods and Pilats condemning of Chriſt: al which things God permitted them, by the abuſe of their power to accompliſh, but they were out of the compaſſe of his cauſing and ordinance. In what ſenſe, al power or ſuperioritie is of God.

2. They that reſiſt.) Whoſoeuer reſiſteth or beleeth not his lawful Superior in thoſe cauſes wherein he is ſubiect vnto him, withſtandeth Gods appointment, and ſinneth deadly, and is worthy to be puniſhed both in this world by his Superior, and by God in the next life. for in temporal gouernement and cauſes, the Chriſtians were bound in conſcience to obey their Heathen Emperours: though on the other ſide, they were bound vnder paine of damnation to obey their Apoſtles and Prelates, and not to obey their kings or Emperours, in matters of religion. Wherby it is cleere that when we be commaunded to obey our Superiors, it is meant alwaies and onely in ſuch things as they may lawfully commaund, and in reſpect of ſuch matters wherein they be our Superiors. In things lawfully commaũded it is mortal ſinne not to obey our Superiors.

Fulke 3.

If Heathen Princes commaund any thing in matters of religion that is agreeable to true religion, they are to be obeied, euen in matters of religion. As Cyrus in the lawe which he made for building the Temple. Ezra. 1. And Darius, as well for building, as for offring of ſacrifice. Ezra. 6. And Artaxerxes, for reformation of the Church, by the diſcretion and wiſedome of Ezra. Ezra. 7. And Darius the Median, for worſhipping of the true God. Dan. 6, 27. Authoritie of ciuill Princes in matters of religion.

4. Beareth not the ſword.) That the Apoſtle meaneth here ſpecially of temporal powers, we may ſee by the ſword, tribute, and external compulſion, which he here attributeth to them. And the Chriſtian men then had no doubt whether they ſhould obey their ſpiritual powers, but now the diſeaſe is cleane contrarie. for al is giuen to the ſecular power, and nothing to the ſpiritual, which expreſly is ordeined by Chriſt and the Holy Ghoſt: and al the faithful are commaunded to be ſubiect thereunto, as to Chriſts owne word and will. There were Heretikes called Begardi, that tooke away al rule and Superioritie: The Wickleſiſts would obey nor Prince nor Prelate, if he were once in deadly ſinne. The Proteſtants of our time (as we may ſee in al Countries where the ſecular ſword is drawen againſt their Sectes) care neither for the one nor for the other, though they extol onely the ſecular when it maketh for them. The Catholikes onely muſt humbly obey both, euen according to Gods ordinance, the one in temporal cauſes, and the other in Spiritual: in which order both theſe States haue bleſſedly floriſhed in al Chriſtian Countries euer ſince Chriſtes time, and it is the very way to preſerue both, as one day al the world ſhal confeſſe with vs. The Apoſtle ſpeaketh of temporal powers. Hereſies againſt rule and Superioritie. The obedience of Catholikes both to Spiritual and temporal Superiors

Fulke 4.

We giue no more to the ſecular power, then is due by the word of God. Wicklef was ſclaundered to deny obedience to Princes, & ſpirituall Paſtors, for he denied neither of both. But proued that the Pope was Antichriſt, & his Clergie were no Paſtors of the Church, but wolues. The Proteſtants (God be thanked) at this day, as alwaies, are obedient euen to wicked Princes vnto death and martyrdome. The Papiſtes conſpire moſt horribly treaſon to murder Chriſtian Princes, and to inuade their land with ſtrangers, as it is manifeſt, to the reproch and ſhame of that murthering hereſie. Slander.

Rhem. 5. Hiero. in Mat. 17.

6. You giue tributes.) Though euery man ought to be ready to ſerue his temporal Prince with his goods, by tributes or what other lawful taxes and ſubſidies ſo euer: yet they may exempt by priuiledges whom they think good. As in al Countries Chriſtian: Prieſts for the honour of Chriſt, whoſe Miniſters they be, haue by the graunces and auncient charters of kings bene excepted and exempted. Notwithſtanding they were neuer vnready to ſerue voluntarely their Soueraine, in al common cauſes, with whatſoeuer they had. See Annot. in Mat. 17, 26. The Clergie exempted from tribute.

Fulke 5.

The old Popiſh diuinitie, was, that the Popiſh Clergie were exempt from tribute, by the law of God: whereby they may claime, as well to be exempt from obedience, by the law of God, to ciuile Magiſtrates. And Antichriſt their head, doth yet claime, not onely to be exempt from obedience to any Prince, but alſo to be ſuperior to all Princes, and to haue right of both the ſwordes, ſpirituall and temporall: and to depoſe and depriue ciuill Princes of their moſt iuſt gouernment, as we haue a familiar example in the Full of Pius 5. againſt our moſt gratious Soueraigne Lady, whom God long preſerue to his glorie, and the ſubuerſion of Popiſh hereſie. CHAP. XIIII.

Like a moderator and peacemaker betweene the firme Chriſtians (who were the Gentils) and the infirme (who were the Chriſtian Iewes, hauing yet a ſcruple to ceaſe from keeping the ceremonial meates and daies of Moyſes Law) he exhorteth the Iew not to condemne the Gentil vſing his libertie: and the Gentil againe, not to condemne the ſcrupulous Iew: but rather to abſtaine from vſing his libertie, then offending the Iew, to be an occaſion vnto him of apoſtating.

AND him that is weake in faith, take vnto you: not in diſputations of cogitatiõs.

2 For one beleeueth that he may ‖ eate al things: but he that is weake, ¶ let him eate herbes.

3 Let not him that eateth, deſpiſe him that

2 One beleeueth that he may eate euery thing: another which is weake, eateth hearbes.

that eateth not: and he that eateth not: let him not iudge him that eateth. for God hath taken him to him.

4 Who art thou that iudgeſt an other mans ſeruant? To his owne Lord he ſtandeth or falleth. and he ſhal ſtand: for God is able to make him ſtand.

5 For one iudgeth ‖ betweene day and day: and an other iudgeth euery day. let euery one abound ‖ in his owne ſenſe.

6 He that reſpecteth the day, reſpecteth to our Lord. And he that eateth, eateth to our Lord: for he giueth thankes to God. And he that eateth not, to our Lord he eateth not, and giueth thankes to God.

7 For none of vs liueth to him ſelf: and no man dieth to him ſelf.

8 For whether we liue, we liue to our Lord: or whether we die, we die to our Lord. Therfore whether we liue, or whether we die, we are our Lords.

9 For to this end Chriſt died and roſe againe: that he may haue dominion both of the dead and of the liuing.

10 But thou, why iudgeſt thou thy brother? or thou, why doeſt thou deſpiſe thy brother? For * we ſhal al ſtand before the iudgement ſeate of Chriſt.

2.Cor.5,10.

11 For it is written, Liue I, ſaith our Lord, that euery knee ſhal bowe to me: and euery tongue ſhal confeſſe to God.

Eſ.45,23.

12 Therfore euery one of vs for him ſelf ſhal render account to God.

13 Let vs therfore no more iudge one another. but this iudge ye rather, that you put not a ſtumbling blocke or a ſcandal to your brother.

14 I know and am perſuaded in our Lord IESVS Chriſt, that nothing is ‡ common of it ſelf, but to him that ſuppoſeth, any thing to be common, to him it is common.

‡ Common, that is, vncleane. See Annot. Marc. 7, 2.

15 For if becauſe of meate thy brother be greeued: now thou walkeſt not according to charitie. * Do not with thy meate deſtroy him for whom Chriſt died.

16 Let not thē our good be blaſphemed.

17 For the kingdom of God is ‖ not meate and drinke: but iuſtice, and peace, and ioy in the holy Ghoſt.

18 For he that in this ſerueth Chriſt, pleaſeth God, and is acceptable to men.

19 Therfore the things that are of peace let vs purſue: and the things that are of edifying one toward an other let vs keepe.

20 Deſtroy not the worke of God for meate. * Al things in deede are cleane: but it eateth not: and let not him which eateth not, iudge him that eateth. For God hath receiued him.

4 What art thou that iudgeſt another mans ſeruant? To his owne maſter he ſtandeth or falleth: Yea, he ſhal be holden vp, for God is able to make him ſtand.

5 This man putteth difference betweene day and day. Another man counteth all dayes alike. Let euery man be fully perſwaded in his owne minde.

6 He that eſteemeth the day, eſteemeth it vnto the Lorde: and he that eſteemeth not the day, to the Lord he doth not eſteeme it. He that eateth, eateth to the Lorde, for he giueth God thankes: and he that eateth not, eateth not to the Lord, and giueth God thankes.

7 For none of vs liueth to him ſelfe, and no man dieth to him ſelfe.

8 For if we liue, we liue vnto the Lorde: and if we die, we die vnto the Lord: Whether we liue therefore, or die, we are the Lords.

9 For to this ende Chriſt both died, & roſe, and reuiued, that he might be Lord both of dead and quicke.

*10 But why doeſt thou then iudge thy brother? Either, why doeſt thou ſet at nought thy brother? * we ſhall all ſtand before the iudgement ſeate of Chriſt.* 2.Cor.1,10.

*11 For it is written, * I liue, ſayth the Lord, and all knees ſhal bowe to me, and all tongues ſhal giue praiſe to God.* Eſai.45.23. phil.2.10.

12 So ſhall euery one of vs giue account of him ſelfe to God.

13 Let vs not therfore iudge one another any more: but iudge this rather, that no man put a ſtumbling blocke, or an occaſion to fall, in his brothers way.

14 For I know, & am perſwaded by the Lord Ieſus, that there is nothing common of it ſelfe, but vnto him that iudgeth it to be common, to him it is common.

*15 But if thy brother be grieued with thy meate, now walkeſt thou not charitably: * deſtroy not him with thy meate, for whome Chriſt died.* 1.Cor. 8.11.

16 Let not your good be euill ſpoken of.

17 For the kingdome of God is not meate & drinke: but righteouſneſſe, and peace, and ioy in the holy Ghoſt.

18 For he that in theſe things ſerueth Chriſt, pleaſeth God, and is commended of men.

19 Let vs therfore follow thoſe things which make for peace, and things wherewith one may edifie another.

*20 Deſtroy not the worke of God for meates ſake: * all things are pure, but it is euill for that* Titus 1.15.

it is ill for the man that eateth by giuing offence.

21 It is good not to eate fleſh, and not to drinke wine, nor that wherein thy brother is offended, or ſcandalized, or weakened.

22 Haſt thou faith? ‖ haue it with thy ſelfe before God. Bleſſed is he that iudgeth not him ſelfe in that which he approueth.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. XIIII.

Rhem.1. 2. Eate all things.) By ſimilitude of wordes the ſimple are ſoone deceiued, and Heretikes make their vauntage of any thing to ſeduce the vnlearned. There were diuers meates forbidden in the Lawe of Moyſes, and for ſignification, made and counted vncleane, whereof the Iewe might not eate at all, as porke, hare, conny, and ſuch like, both of fiſhes, foules, and beaſtes, a great number. Chriſt diſcharged all them that became Chriſtians, after his paſſion, of that obſeruance and all other ceremonies of the olde Lawe: Notwithſtanding, becauſe diuers that were brought vp in the Lawe, had a religion and conſcience, ſuddenly to forſake their former maner, the Apoſtle here admoniſheth ſuch as be ſtronger and better inſtructed in the caſe, to beare with the weaker ſort, that being Chriſtians could not yet finde in their hartes to eate and vſe the meates forbidden by God in the Lawe: as on the other ſide he warneth the weake that would not eate, not to take offence or ſcandall at them that did eate without ſcruple, any of the irregular or forbidden meates in the Lawe, nor in any wiſe to iudge or condemne the eater, but to commit that to God, and finally that neither nother ſhould condemne the other for eating or not eating. Newe the Proteſtants fondly apply all this to the faſtes of the Church, and differences of meates in the ſame: as though the Church did forbid any meate wholy neuer to be eaten or taſted, or made any creatures vncleane, or otherwiſe preſcribed any abſtinence, then for chaſtiſing of mens bodies and ſeruice of God. It is a great blindneſſe that they can put no difference betwixt Chriſts faſt of fourtie dayes, Math.4. Ielus abſteining from all delicate meates and drinkes, Math.3,11. the widowe Anne, Luk.2,37. the Nazarites, Num.6. the Recabites, Ierem.35,14. the Niniuites, Iona.3. S. Paules, 2.Cor. 11,27. S.Timothees, 1.Tim.5,23. Ielus Diſciples and Chriſtes Diſciples faſt, Mat.9,14.15. (Which he ſaid they ſhould keepe after his departure from them:) and the ceremoniall diſtinction of creatures and meates, cleane and vncleane, in the olde Lawe. of which it is euident the Apoſtle treateth in all this Chapter, and of none other at all. Therefore when the Proteſtants by the wordes of this place would proue, that we be either made free from faſting and from obeying the Churches commaundement, or folowing Chriſtes example in that matter, or that the obſeruers of Chriſtian faſtes be weake in faith, and ought not in any wiſe condemne of ſinne the breakers of the preſcribed faſtes of the holy Church, they doe abuſe ignorantly or wilfully the Apoſtles wordes and diſcourſe.

The Apoſtles meaning about eating or not eating certaine meates.

The Heretikes fondly abuſe this place againſt the faſtes of the Church.

Fooliſh Heretikes ſee not the differences of things.

Fulke.1. We neuer went about to proue by this place, or by any other, that Chriſtians are free from faſting, or from obeying the Churches commaundement, or Chriſtes example in faſting without ſuperſtition. But wee condemne your Antichriſtian forbidding of meates to ſome men at all times, and to all men at ſome times for religions ſake, and for greater holineſſe, which is no faſting, but a change of diet. And where you ſay, you forbid no meate, but for chaſtiſing of mens bodies, it is falſe: for you leaue them all things that may inflame the body to luſt, beſide fleſh, as wine, ſpices, fruites, and all dayntie fiſhes in which of auncient time, was counted the greateſt delicacie. And Durande ſayth plainely, that fiſh is eaten in faſting dayes, becauſe God hath not curſed the waters, becauſe remiſſion of ſinnes ſhould be by the water of baptiſme: for this element is moſt worthy, which waſheth away filthineſſe, and vpon which the ſpirit of the Lord before the conſtitution of the world was caried: but he curſed the earth in the workes of man, here of it is, that it is not lawfull to eate in the faſting dayes, any kind of fleſh that liueth in the land: whereby it is plaine, howſoeuer you woulde cloke the matter, your prohibition of fleſh is, becauſe it was hypocritically deemed, not onely vncleane, but alſo accurſed. Dur.lib.6.cap.de alijs ieiunijs.

Faſtings.

Rhem.2. 5. Betweene day and day.) By the like deceite they abuſe this place againſt the Holy-dayes of Chriſt and his B. mother and Saintes, which concerneth onely the Iewes feſtiuities and obſeruation of times, whereof in the Epiſtle to the Galatians cap.4.10.

Diſtinction of dayes.

Fulke.2. We vſe no deceite, but ſhewe the Chriſtian libertie in reſpecting all dayes alike, that are not diſcerned by the commaundement of God. As for the dong of your feſtiuities, we condemne as open idolatrie, by manifeſt textes of Scripture, forbidding Gods honour to be giuen to creatures: and yet the dayes appointed by the Church for exerciſe of religion, we obſerue, and that without ſuperſtition.

Popiſh feſtiuities.

Rhem.3. 6. Euery one in his owne ſenſe.) The Apoſtle doth not giue freedome, as the Churches enemies would haue it, that euery man may doe or thinke what he liſt, but in this matter of Iudaical obſeruation of dayes and meates, and that for a time onely, till the Chriſtian religion ſhould be perfectly eſtabliſhed, he would haue no reſtraint made, but that euery one ſhould be borne withall in his owne ſenſe: yet ſo, that they ſhould not condemne one another, nor make neceſſitie of ſaluation in the obſeruation of the Iudaicall rites of meates, dayes, &c.

The text explicated concerning euery mans conſcience in Iudaical meates and drinkes.

Fulke.3. In things of their owne nature indifferent, the Apoſtle requireth, that euery man certainely be perſwaded, howe farre Chriſtian libertie extendeth, and howe it is to be vſed.

Rhem.4. 17. Not meate and drinke.) The ſubſtance of religion or the kingdome of God ſtandeth not in meate or drinke, and therefore the better might they vſe indifferencie and toleration in that point for a time, for peace ſake and to auoide ſcandall.

Not eating, but diſobedience damable.

but if the precept of Moyſes Lawe had bounde ſtill as before, then (not for the meates ſake, but for the diſobedience) is had beene damnable to haue eaten the vncleane meates.

22. Haue it with thy ſelfe.) Thou that art perfect, and beleeueſt or knoweſt certainely that thou art free from the Lawe concerning meates and feſtiuities, yet to the trouble and hinderance of the feeble that cannot yet be brought ſo farre, be diſcreete and vſe not thy ſelfe out of ſeaſon.

23. He that diſcerneth.) If the weake haue a conſcience, and ſhould be driuen to eate the things which in his owne hart he thinketh he ſhould not doe, he committeth deadly ſinne, becauſe he doth againſt his conſcience, or againſt his owne preſenſed knowledge. To doe againſt our cõſcience, is ſinne.

Rhem.4. 23. All that is not of faith.) The proper ſenſe of this ſpeach is, that euery thing that a man doeth againſt his knowledge or conſcience, is a ſinne, for ſo by the circumſtance of the letter, faith muſt here be taken. though S. Auguſtine ſometimes applieth it alſo to proue that all the actions of infidels (meaning thoſe workes which directly proceede of their lacke of faith) be ſinnes. But in any wiſe take heede of the Heretikes commentarie, who hereby would proue that the infidell ſinneth in honouring his parents, fighting for his countrie, tilling his ground, and in all other workes. And no maruell that they ſo holde of infidels, who maintaine that Chriſtian men alſo offend deadly in euery good deede. Chryſ. ho. 26. in epiſt. Rom. What actions of infidels are ſinne, & what are not. Luther.

Fulke.4. S. Auguſtine applieth this text, to proue that all the actions of infidels are ſinne, euen thoſe that ſeeme to be vertues, and good workes, ſaying that vertues muſt be defined not by the actions but by the endes. Contra Iuli. lib.4. Cap.3. where he handleth the queſtion at large and ſayth. When a man doth any thing, wherein he ſeemeth not to ſinne, if he doeth it not for that ende, for which he ought to doe it, he is conuinced to ſinne. Therefore though honouring of parents, & ſuch like actions be not ſinne of thẽ ſelues, yet are they ſinne in an infidell, becauſe he honoureth not his parents, for that ende he ought to doe. Againe, of all things which infidels doe, it is ſaide, all that is not of faith is ſinne. Againe to the Pelagian he ſayth, as we may ſay to the Papiſtes. Omnia proinde cætera &c. All the reſt of theirs, that ſeeme among men to haue ſome prayſe, let them ſeeme to thee to be true vertues, let them ſeeme to be good workes, and to be done without all ſinne. For my part I knowe this, that a good will doth them not: for an vnfaithfull and vngodly will is not good. Alſo contra duas epiſt. Pel. ad Bonifacium lib.3.cap.5. he ſayth. Sine ipſa &c. without faith euen thoſe which ſeeme to be good workes, are turned into ſinnes: for all that is not of faith is ſinne. That which Luther ſayeth of Chriſtian mens good deedes, is true in his meaning: namely in reſpect of the perfection of iuſtice, which Gods Lawe requireth, whereunto no man can atteyne in any good deede that he doeth. Therefore good deedes are rewarded according to grace, and not according to merite. All actions of Infidels are ſinne.

CHAP. XV.

He proceedeth to make peace betweene the Chriſtian Gentiles and Iewes. 8 with this reſolution, that the Iewes vocation is of promis in deede, but the Gentiles alſo of mercie, and foretolde by the Scriptures. 14 Then drawing to an ende, he excuſeth him ſelfe to the Romanes for writing thus vnto them, 21 hoping now at length to ſee them, after that he hath been at Hieruſalem, 29 whereunto alſo he requeſteth their prayers.

AND we that are the ſtronger, muſt ſuſteine the infirmities of the weake, and not pleaſe our ſelues.

WE which are ſtrong, ought to beare the fraileneſſe of the weake, & not to ſtand in our owne conceites.

2 Let euery one of you pleaſe his neighbour vnto good, to edification.

2 Let euery man pleaſe his neighbour in that that is good to edifying.

3 For, Chriſt did not pleaſe him ſelfe, but as it is written, The reproches of them that reproched thee, fell vpon me. Pſa.68,10.

3 For Chriſt pleaſed not him ſelfe, but as is written, The rebukes of them which rebuked thee, fell on me.

21 But as it is written, * To whom he was not ſpoken of, they ſhall ſee: and they that heare not, ſhall vnderſtand. Eſai.52.15.

partakers of their ſpirituall things : they ought alſo in carnall things to miniſter vnto them.

28 This therefore when I ſhall haue accompliſhed, and ſigned them this fruit, I will goe by you into Spaine.

29 And I knowe that comming to you, I ſhal come in abũdãce of ỹ bleſſing of Chriſt.

30 I beſeech you therefore brethren by our Lord IESVS Chriſt, and by the charitie of the holy Ghoſt, that you ‡ helpe me in your prayers for me to God,

‡ In that the Apoſtle deſired to be prayed for, we may be moued to ſeeke the ſame as a great benefite.

31 That I may be deliuered from the infidels that are in Iewrie, and the oblation of my ſeruice may become acceptable in Hieruſalem to the ſaincts, detters are they. For if the Gentiles be made partakers of their ſpirituall things, their duetie is to miniſter vnto them in carnall things.

28 When I haue performed this, and haue ſealed to them this fruite, I will come by you into Spaine.

29 And I am ſure that when I come vnto you, I ſhall come with abundance of the bleſſing of the Goſpel of Chriſt.

30 I beſeech you brethren for the Lord Ieſus Chriſtes ſake, and for the loue of the ſpirite, that ye helpe me in my buſineſſe with your prayers to God for me:

31 That I may be deliuered from them which beleeue not in Iurie, and that this my ſeruice which I haue at Hieruſalem, may be accepted of the Saincts:

32 That I may come vnto you with ioy by the will of God, and may with you be refreſhed.

33 The God of peace be with you all, Amen.

MARGINAL NOTES. CHAP. XVI.

Rhem. 1. 3. Salute.) The only ſalutatiõ of ſo worthy a man is ſufficiẽt to fill him with great grace that is ſo ſaluted. Chryſ. in 2. Tim. 4.

Fulke 1. The wordes going before, declare Chryſoſtomes meaning: They had no ſmall comfort of this ſalutation, for it declared tokens of honour and loue, and great fellowſhip of grace. The comfort therefore that they tooke in the honour and loue that was ſhewed to them by the Apoſtles ſalutation, was a great grace to perſwade them that they were partakers with him of the common grace of God.

Rhem. 2 14. Salute.) The Proteſtãts here reaſon thus, Peter is not here ſaluted, therfore he was neuer at Rome. See the Annotatiõ.

Fulke 2. The Proteſtants reaſon not ſo fondly as you doe falſly report them, but thus. Peter is not here ſaluted, Ergo it is not like, that he was this time at Rome. Slander.

Rhem. 3. 17. Learned.) Of the Prince of the Apoſtles, ſaith Theodorite vpon this place.

Fulke 3. The common opinion was, that Peter the chiefe of the Apoſtles did firſt preach to the Romanes, which peraduenture was ſo, peraduenture not ſo. And more like it was not ſo, becauſe neither S. Luke in the Actes ſheweth it, nor ẏ Apoſtle putteth them in mind of the credit & auctoritie of S. Peter by whom they were conuerted. Whether Peter preached at Rome.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. XVI.

Rhem. 4. 16. Salute one another.) Newer Sectmaiſters made more foule or hard ſhifts to proue or defend falſhod, than the Proteſtants: but in two points, about S. Peter ſpecially, they paſſe euen them ſelues in impudencie. The firſt is, that they hold he was not preferred before the other Apoſtles, which is againſt al Scriptures moſt euidently. The ſecond is, that he was neuer at Rome, which is againſt al the Eccleſiaſticall hiſtories, al the Fathers Greeke and Latine, againſt the very ſenſe and ſight of the monuments of his Seate, Sepulcher, doctrine, life, and death there. Greater euidence certes there is thereof and more weightie teſtimonie, then of Romulus, Numa, Ceſar, or Ciceros being there: yet were he a very brutiſh man that would deny this to the diſcredite of ſo many writers and the whole world. Much more monſtruous it is, to heare any deny the other. Theodorete ſaith he was there writing vpõ this chapter. Proſper alſo carmine de ingratis in principio. S. Leo de natali Petri. *S. Hieroſolym. Caius and Papias the Apoſtles owne ſcholers, and Dionyſius the B. of Corinth, alleaged by Euſebius li. 2. c. 14. & 24. Ignatius ep. ad Romanos. The holy Counſel of Chalcedon, and many other affirme it, yea Peter him ſelf (according to the iudgement of the ancient Fathers) confeſſeth he was at Rome, calling it Babylon 1. ep. c. 5. Euſeb. li. 2. c. 14. hiſt. Ec. Some of theſe tel the time and cauſe of his firſt going thither: ſome, how long he liued there: ſome, the maner of his death there: ſome, the place of his burial: and al, that he was the firſt B. that there. How could ſo many of ſuch wiſdom and ſpirit, ſo neere the Apoſtles time deceiue or be deceiued? how would Caluin and his, after fiftene hundred yeres know that which none of them could see? That S. Peter was at Rome. Chalced. Counc. act. 3. See the Annotations 1. Pet. c. 5. 13.

Some great argument muſt they needes haue to contraile the credit of the whole world. This of truth is here their argument, neither haue they a better in any place, to wit, If S. Peter had been at Rome, S. Paul would haue ſaluted him as he did others here in the end of his letter to the Romanes. Is not this an high point to diſproue al antiquitie by? Any man of diſcretion may ſtraight ſee, that S. Peter might be knowen vnto S. Paul to be out of the Citie, either for perſecutors buſines, when this epiſtle was written, (for he went often out as S. Epiphanius declareth), and ſo the omitting to ſalute him, can proue no more, but that then he was not in Rome, but it proueth not ſo much neither, becauſe the Apoſtle might for reſpect of his dignitie and other the Churches affaires, write vnto him ſpecial letters, and ſo had no cauſe to ſalute him in his common Epiſtle. Or how know they that this Epiſtle was not ſent incloſed to S. Peter, to be deliuered by his meanes to the whole Church of the Romanes in ſome of their aſſemblies? It is very like it was recommended to ſome one principal man or other that is not here named: and ſtraunge cauſes there may be vnknowen to vs, why he ſaluted him not: but no cauſe why our Aduerſaries vpon ſuch friuolous reaſons ſhould reprooue an approued truth. For euen as wel might they ſay that S. Iohn was neuer at Epheſus, becauſe S. Paul in his Epiſtle to the Epheſians doth not ſalute him. And plaine it is, that it is the Romane ſeate and faith of Peter, which they (as all Heretikes before them) do feare and hate, and which will be their bane: and they know that there is no argument which commeth in their conſcience, that Peter was neuer at Rome. Therfore to conclude, we ſay to them in S. Auguſtines wordes, Why call you the Apoſtolike chaire, the chaire of peſtilence? What hath the Church of Rome done againſt you, in which S. Peter did ſit, and from which by nefarious furie you haue ſeparated your ſelues? The Heretikes hatred of the Romane ſee. li. 2. con. lit. Petil. c. 51.

Fulke 4. In both theſe points cõcerning Peter, you paſſe your ſelues in impudencie, either whẽ you ſay that we hold he was not preferred before the other Apoſtles, for we acknowledge that he was in primacie of order, & confeſſion the firſt: or when you defend that he was ſo preferred aboue the reſt of the Apoſtles, that they were not equal with him in honour and auctority, but he made there head & Pope, and they but his inferior Biſhops or Chaplens. In the ſecond, where as you affirme vs to hold, that he was neuer at Rome, which none did but only one Vlricus Velſenus, whoſe reaſons you haue not yet ſatisfied: whereas we only affirme, ẏ he could not come thither ſo ſoone, nor tary there ſo long as ſome of ẏ ancient fathers affirme: becauſe the teſtimonie of ẏ Scripture doth proue the contrary. But where as you go about to conuince vs by very ſenſe and ſight of the monuments of his ſeat, and ſepulchre, it is a ridiculous matter. For how are you able to proue that Peter ſate in ſuch a Chaire, as is ſhewed at Rome? As for his Sepulchre, what mockeries haue you made of it, when haire his body is at S. Peters in Rome, the other halfe at S. Paules: and yet he hath an other head at S. Iohn Lateran. And his nether Iawe with the beard vpon it, is in Fraunce at Poyters. At Treiers many of his bones. At Geneua was part of his braine, which was found to be a Pumice ſtone: Like as S. Antonies arme was founde to be an Hartes piſſel. And but lately at Toures in an Agate, which was worſhipped as the Image of the Virgine Mary, was grauen the Image of Venus, lamenting the death of her minion Adonis that was ſlaine with a Bore. With in a ſiluer arme was founde none other relike, but a baudie ſong, written in paper, and a Carde called the knaue of Pickques, wrapped in many foldings of ſilke. Theſe and tenne thouſand ſuch other monuments of Saincts reliques, will make vs neuer to doubt, but Peter was buried, whereſoeuer you ſay his Sepulchre is. But touching Peters preaching at Rome, although the conſent of the moſt auncient writers, which you heape vp without Peters Primacie. Slander. Reliques.

without need, argueth that there was a common opinion thereof: yet ſeeing it is not ſet forth in the Scripture, it is no article of our beliefe. Many falſe things were reported immediatly after the Apoſtles death, and of many beleeued as true. Ireneus ſaith, that it was affirmed by all the auncients of Aſia, that Iohn the Euangeliſt tolde them, that our Sauiour Chriſt was betweene fourtie and fiftie yeeres olde when he ſuffered, yea, ſome of them that had ſeene other of the Apoſtles affirmed, that they heard the ſame of their mouthes. Ireneus lib. 2. c. 39. Yet this is proued to be moſt falſe, by the ſtorie of the Goſpel. And why might not the report of Peters preaching at Rome, come firſt from ſuch a beginning? which being once receiued, as a ſtory, by all that come after, is taken for a trueth: as in matters of hiſtories many fables are. But Peter himſelfe (you ſay) teſtifieth, that he was at Rome, calling it Babylon, as diuers ancient Fathers doe iudge: A ſimple teſtimonie for the credite of Rome, that Peter writing to the Iewes that were diſperſed in ſo many nations, defamed the See of his Biſhopricke, by the name of Babylon. Why ſhould we not rather thinke, that Peter being the chiefe Apoſtle of the circumciſion, was then at Babylon in Egypt: the rather, for that Marke which was Biſhop of Alexandria, neere vnto him, was then with him, or els at Babylon in Aſſyria? Concerning the time of his comming to Rome, the ancient writers doe not agree. Euſebius ſayth it was in the time of Claudius. But by Hierom, who ſaith he ſate there 25. yeeres vntill the laſt yeere of Nero, it muſt follow, that he came thither the ſecond or third of Claudius. Yet Damaſus ſayeth, he came to Rome in the beginning of Neroes Empire, and ſate there 25. yeres where as Nero reigned but 14. yeeres. Hee ſayeth alſo, that his diſputation with Simon Magus, was in the preſence of Nero the Emperour. Euſebius reporteth it vnder Claudius. Anterius Biſhop of Rome, (as Nicephorus teſtifieth) did write, that Peter was tranſlated from Antioche to Rome, & from thence he paſſed to Alexandria, becauſe he might more profite the Church there. Niceph. lib. 14. cap. 39. Damaſus ſaith, he conſecrated Clemens Biſhop in his place. Irenæus ſaith, that Linus was made Biſhop by Peter and Paul, and after him Anacletus, and the third was Clemens. lib. 3. cap. 3. Tertullian ſaith, Clemens was the firſt after Peter. So that although moſt of the ancient writers doe make mention of Peters being at Rome, yet there is great varietie of their reportes, as in a matter whereof they had no certaine grounde. Notwithſtanding, for the conſent of ſo many writers, and the ancient receiued opinion, we are content to acknowledge that he was there, as a matter of ſtorie, not as an article of faith. As for the fond imaginations and deuiſes that you haue, howe he might be at Rome, and not to be ſaluted by the Apoſtle, are to no purpoſe. Seeing it is manifeſt, that this Epiſtle needed not to haue bene written vnto them, if Peter had bene ſo long reſident with them. Beſide that, when Paul did write his Epiſtles from Rome, he was not there, as appeareth not onely by no ſalutations, ſent from him, as there are from other: But alſo, that S. Paul writeth, that at his firſt appearance, all men forſooke him, which Peter would not haue done. 2. Tim. 4. 16. All men ſought their owne, when he wrote to the Philippians. Phil. 2. 21. where he would haue excepted Peter, if he had then bene at Rome. Finally, when Paul was brought priſoner to Rome, Peter was not there, for he woulde haue giuen him entertainement, as the reſt of the brethren did. Act. 28. Where you ſay, that we might aſwell ſay, that S. Iohn was neuer as Epheſus, becauſe S. Paul ſaluteth him not, I anſwere we vſe not ſo to conclude. But we take it to be very vnlike, that S. Iohn was there at that time, when S. Paul did write. To conclude, the chayre of Peter, is Peters doctrine, which we doe moſt gladly embrace. The Church of Rome when it was the Church of Chriſt, was vniuſtly contemned by the Donatiſts. But now that the Pope ſitteth in Babylon, as Antichriſt, not in Peters chayre as Peters ſucceſſor, becauſe he teacheth not Peters doctrine, but in Simon Magus ſeat, where all things are to be ſold for money, the See of Rome is iuſtly called the chayre of peſtilence, and not the chayre of the Apoſtles.

Rhem. 5. 16. Holy kiſſe.) Hereof, and by the common vſage of the firſt Chriſtians, who had ſpeciall regard of vnitie and peace among themſelues, and for ſigne and proteſtation thereof, kiſſed one another, came our holy ceremonie of giuing the Pax, or kiſſing one another in the ſacrifice of the bleſſed maſſe. Orig. In 16. ad Ro. Kiſſing the Pax.

Fulke 5. Your Popiſh Pax, is ſcarce as good, as an apiſh imitation of the Apoſtles kiſſe: who doeth not inſtitute a ceremonie of a ſuperſtitious toy to be kiſſed at the maſſe, but willeth that the maner of ſalutation, (which was then vſuall, to be perfourmed with a kiſſe) ſhould be reuerendly vſed, in holineſſe and ſinceritie. And of ſuch a kiſſe ſpeaketh Origen vſed in the Church after prayers, not of the Paxe at Maſſe. The Popiſh Pax.

Rhem. 6. 17 To marke them.) He carefully warneth them to take heede of ſeditious ſowers of Sectes and diſtinſion in religion, and this is euer to be their marke, if they ſhould teach or moue them to any thing which was not agreeable to that which they had learned at their conuerſion: not bidding them to examine the caſe by the Scriptures, but by their firſt forme of faith and religion deliuered to them before they had or did reade any booke of the newe Teſtament. Againſt Sects: maſters how to examine our faith.

Fulke 6. The forme of doctrine, that was deliuered to the Romanes, was taken out of the holy Scriptures, although there had bene neuer a booke of the newe teſtament, written at that time, as you ſay: yet Euſebius ſaith that S. Markes Goſpel was written immediatly after their conuerſion. And about the ſame time, as Irenæus teſtifyeth. S. Matthewes Goſpell was written when Peter and Paul founded the Churches at Rome. lib. 3. c. p. 1. Yee by Euſebius, who citeth it out of Clemens, it appeareth that the Romanes not ſatiſfied with the diuine preaching of Peter by word of mouth only without writing, intreated Marke to put it in writing for their perpetual inſtruction of thoſe things which Peter preached, which when he had performed, Peter approued their deuotion, confirmed the writing, and by his auctoritie deliuered it to be read in the Church. Euſeb. li. 2. cap. 14. citing Clemens Hyp. 6 Hierom in Cat. Which teſtimonie (if it be true,) declareth manifeſtly, that S. Markes Goſpel containeth the forme of doctrine which S. Peter deliuered to the Romanes, and is that doctrine whereby S. Paul willeth them to examine all ſectes that riſe vp among them. But if that were a perpetuall and generall marke which you ſay he giueth, that men ſhould admit nothing but that which they haue learned at their conuerſion. Thoſe nations which were conuerted by the Arians, ſhould neuer haue become true Catholikes. The nations of the Ruſſians, Bulgarianes, and other conuerted by the Græcians ſince their ſchiſme, ſhould neuer be brought to the vnitie of the Church of Rome. And ſuch as from Iudaiſme, Paganiſme, Mahometiſme and ignorance, are conuerted by vs to Chriſtianitie, might neuer become Papiſts: if your owne marke be a good and perpetual rule (as you ſay it is) being giuen by the Apoſtle. But we muſt firſt know by whom, and vnto what religion The Scriptures ſufficient.

ligion, men were firſt conuerted vnto Chriſtianitie, and if it be certaine they were conuerted to pure and ſincere Religion at the firſt, they muſt alwayes hold it. Otherwiſe it is no conſtancie, but diuiliſh obſtinacie to continue in any error that is contrary to the holy Scriptures, vpon any pretence whatſoeuer.

Rhem. 18. THE ARGVMENT OF THE FIRST EPISTLE TO THE CORINTHIANS.

Rhem. HOw S. Paul planted the Church at Corinth, continuing there a yere and an halfe together, we reade Act. 18. After that, when he was at Epheſus Act. 19, about the end of the three yeres that he abode there, he wrote this firſt Epiſtle to the Corinthians. For euen as S. Luke there writeth, when theſe things were ended, Paul purpoſed in the Spirit, when he had gone ouer Macedonia and Achaia, to goe to Hieruſalem: ſo likewiſe doth S. Paul himſelfe write here: I wil come to you in Achaia, when I ſhal haue gone ouer Macedonia, for I wil go ouer Macedonia. but I wil tarie at Epheſus vntil Pentecoſt. Act 19.21. 1. Cor. 16,5.

The matter that he writeth of, is not one, as in the Epiſtle to the Romanes, but diuers. partly ſuch faultes of theirs, as were ſignified vnto him by them that were of Chloe 1. Cor. 1, 11. partly ſuch queſtions as them ſelues wrote to him of, And concerning the things that you wrote to me. *1. CHAP. I.

The 1. part of Schiſmes, that were about their baptizers and preachers.

After ſalutation, 4 hauing acknowledged the graces of their Church, 10 he dehorteth them from their Schiſmatical boaſting againſt one another in their baptizers (telling them that they muſt boaſt only in Chriſt for their Baptiſme) 17 and in their preachers, who had the wiſdom of wordes: telling them that it is the preaching of the Croſſe, whereby God ſtaieth the world, and wherein only Chriſtians ſhould boaſt: 26 ſeeing God of purpoſe choſe the contemptible, that ſo him ſelf might haue the glory.

PAul called to be an Apoſtle of IESVS Chriſt, by the wil of God, and Sóſthenes a brother,

3 Grace to you and peace from God our father and our Lord IESVS Chriſt.

4 I giue thankes to my God alwaies for you for the grace of God that is giuen you in Chriſt IESVS,

5 That in al things you be made riche in him, in al vtterance, and ‖ in al knowledge,

6 (As the teſtimonie of Chriſt is confirmed in you,)

7 So that nothing is wanting to you in any grace, expecting the reuelation of our Lord IESVS Chriſt,

The Tranſlation of the Church of England.

PAul called to be an Apoſtle of Ieſus Chriſt, through the will of God, and brother Soſthenes:

*2 Vnto the Church of God which is at Corinthus, to them that * are ſanctified in Chriſt Ieſus, Sainctes by calling, * with all that call on the Name of the Lorde Ieſus Chriſt in euery place, both of theirs and ours:* Actes 15.9. Rom. 1.17.

3 Grace be vnto you, and peace from God our father, and from the Lord Ieſus Chriſt.

4 I thanke my God alwayes on your behalfe, for the grace of God which is giuen you in Ieſus Chriſt,

5 That in all things ye are enriched in him, in all vtterance and in all knowledge:

6 As the teſtimonie of Ieſus Chriſt was confirmed in you.

7 So that ye are deſtitute of no gift, waiting for the appearing of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt.

8 Which ſhall alſo † ſtrengthen you vnto the ende, † Or, confirme.

end without crime, in the day of the comming of our Lord IESVS Christ.

9 God is faithfull: by whom you are called into the ſocietie of his ſonne IESVS Christ our Lord.

10 And I beſeech you brethren by the name of our Lord IESVS Christ, that you al ſay one thing, and that there be no ſchiſmes among you: but that you be perfect in one ſenſe, and in one knowledge.

11 For it is ſignified vnto me (my brethren) of you, by them that are of Chloé, that there be contentions among you.

12 And I meane this, for that euery one of you ſaith, ‡I certes am Paules, and I Apollos, but I Cephas, and I Chriſts.

‡The beginning of al Schiſmes is ouer much admiring & addicting mens ſelues to their owne particular Maiſters.

13 Is Chriſt deuided? Why, was Paul crucified for you? or in the name of Paul were you baptized?

14 I giue God thankes, that I baptized none of you, but * Criſpus and Caius. Act.18,8.

15 Leſt any man ſay that in my name you were baptized.

16 And I baptized alſo the houſe of Stephanas. But I know not if I haue baptized any other.

17 For Chriſt ſent me not to baptize, but to euangelize: not in wiſdom of ſpeach, that the croſſe of Chriſt be not made void.

18 For the word of the croſſe, to them in deede that periſh, is foliſhnes: but to them that are ſaued, that is, to vs, it is the power of God.

19 For it is writtē, I wil deſtroy the wiſdom of the wiſe: & the prudēce of the prudent I wil reiect Eſ.33,18.

20 Where is the wiſe? where is the ſcribe? where is the diſputer of this world? Hath not god made the wiſedom of this world foliſh?

21 For becauſe in the wiſdom of god the world did not by wiſdom know god: it pleaſed God by the foliſhnes of the preaching to ſaue them that beleue.

22 For both the Iewes aske ſignes, and the Greeks ſeeke wiſdom.

23 But we preach Chriſt crucified, to the Iewes certes a ſcandal, and to the Gentiles, foliſhnes:

24 But to the called Iewes and Greekes, Chriſt the power of God and the wiſdom of God.

The Epiſtle for S. Agatha. Febr. 5.

25 For that which is the foliſh of God, is wiſer then men: and that which is the infirme of God, is ſtronger then men.

26 For ſee your vocation brethren, that not many wiſe according to the fleſh, not many mightie, not many noble.

27 But

ende, that ye may be blameleſſe in the day of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt.

*9 God is faithfull, by whom ye haue bene called vnto the fellowſhip of his ſonne Ieſus Chriſt our Lord. 1.Theſſ.5.24

10 Now I beſeech you brethren by the name of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt, that ye all ſpeake one thing, and that there be no diſſentions among you: but that ye may be perfectly ioyned together in the ſame minde, and in the ſame meaning.

11 For it hath bene declared vnto me, my brethren, of you, by them which are of the houſe of Chloe, that there are contentions among you.

*12 This I ſay, that euery one of you ſaieth, I am of Paul, and I am of * Apollo, and I am of Cephas, and I am of Chriſt.* Act.18.24.

13 Is Chriſt deuided? was Paul crucified for you? either were ye baptized in the name of Paul?

*14 I thanke God that I baptized none of you but * Criſpus and Gaius:* Act.18.28.

15 Leaſt any ſhould ſay that I had baptized in mine owne name.

16 I baptized alſo the houſhold of Stephana: Beſids, I know not whether I baptized any other.

*17 For Chriſt ſent me not to baptize, but to preach the Goſpel: not with wiſedome of words, leaſt the croſſe of Chriſt ſhould be made of none effect. Gal.5.2. 2.Pet.1.16.

*18 For the preaching of the croſſe is to them that periſh, fooliſhnes: but vnto vs which are ſaued, * it is the power of God.*

*19 For it is written, I will deſtroy the wiſedome of the wiſe, and will caſt away the * vnderſtanding of the prudent.* Eſ.29.14. Rom.1.16.

20 Where is the wiſe? where is the Scribe? where is the diſputer of this world? Hath not God made the wiſedome of this world fooliſh?

21 For after that in the wiſedome of God, the world through their wiſedome knew not God, it pleaſed God through fooliſhnes of preaching, to ſaue them that beleeue.

*22 For * the Iewes require a ſigne, and the Greekes ſeeke after wiſedome.* Matt.12.38.

23 But we preach Chriſt crucified, vnto the Iewes a ſtumbling blocke, and vnto the Greekes, fooliſhneſſe:

24 But vnto them which are called, both Iewes and Greekes, Chriſt, the power of God, and the wiſedome of God.

25 For the fooliſhnes of God is wiſer then men: and the weakeneſſe of God is ſtronger then men.

26 Brethren, ye ſee your calling, how that not many wiſe men after the fleſh, not many mightie, not many noble are called:

27 But the foliſh thinges of the world hath God choſen, that he may confound the wiſe: & the weake thinges of the world hath god choſen, that he may confoũd the ſtrong.

28 And the baſe things of the world and the contemptible hath God choſen, & thoſe things which are not, that he might diſtroye thoſe things which are.

29 That no fleſh may glorie in his ſight.

30 And of him you are in Chriſt IESVS, ‖ who is made vnto vs wiſedom from God, and iuſtice, and ſanctification, & redemption

Ier.9.23. 31 That as it is written, He that doth glorie, may glorie in our Lod.

27 But God hath choſen the foliſh things of the world, to confound the wiſe: & God hath choſen the weake thinges of the world, to confound the things which are mightie.

28 And vnnoble things of the world, and things which are deſpiſed, hath God choſen, yea and thinges which are not, to bring to naught things that are.

29 That no fleſh ſhould glorie in his preſence,

30 And of him are ye in Chriſt Ieſus, which of God is made vnto vs wiſedom, & righteouſneſſe, and ſanctification, and redemption.

31 That according as it is written, * He that glorieth, let him glorie in the Lord. Ier.9.23.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. I.

Rhem. 1. 5. In al knowledge.) Obſerue that the Apoſtles neuer wrote their letters but to ſuch as were conuerted to Chriſtes faith before, for man can not lightly learne the Chriſtian religion by reading Scriptures, but by hearing, and by the preſence of their teachers, which may inſtruct them at large and particularly of euery Article, as clerely and briefely by letters they could not doe. Neither doth now any man learne his faith firſt, but by hearing of his parents and Maiſters, for if we ſhould when we come to yeres of diſcretion, be ſet to pike our faith out of the Scriptures, there would be a madde worke and many faithes among vs. Faith commeth by hearing rather then reading

Fulke. 1. The ordinary way of attayning to faith, is by hearing the word of God preached, yet many haue bene conuerted by reading only. The Berhæans at there firſt conuerſion, ioyned reading of the ſcriptures, with the Apoſtles preaching Act.17.11. Timothy was not only taught by his grãdmother, & mother, but euen from a yong child, brought vp in the reading of the ſcriptures 2. Tim.3.15. And this is the right order of bringing vp of Children in Chriſtian religion: That they be not only taught by their parentes, or maiſters, and paſtors, but alſo trayned vp in reading of the ſcriptures. But if they that haue the charge to ſee children Catechiſed, doe neclect their duties, children comming to the yeres of diſcretion, being ſtirred vp by Gods ſpirit to reade the ſcriptures, may learne there faith out of the ſcriptures only, which are able to make them wiſe vnto ſaluation (as the Apoſtle teacheth,) through faith in Chriſt Ieſus. And a wiſer worke may be made of onely reading the ſcriptures, then is vſually made among Papiſts, where the children are brought vp in ignorans and Idolatry, in ſteed of Chriſtian faith and religion. Reading of ſcriptures.

Rhem. 2. 30. Who is made.) He meaneth not, as our Aduerſaries captiouſly take it, that we haue no iuſtice, ſapience, nor ſanctitie of our owne, other then Chriſtes imputed to vs: but the ſenſe is, that he is made the author, giuer, and meritorious cauſe of al thoſe vertues in vs, for ſo the Apoſtle interpreteth him ſelfe plainely in the 6 Chapter following, when he writeth thus, You be waſhed, you be iuſtified, you be ſanctified in the name of Lord IESVS Chriſt and in the Spirit of our God. Chriſt is made our iuſtice, becauſe he is the author of the iuſtice in vs.

Fulke. 2. If we haue iuſtice, ſapience or ſanctity of our owne, we may glory in our own, and not in the Lord. But Chriſt is made to vs from God, not only the beginning, but the perfection of wiſdom, iuſtice, and ſanctification, as he is of redemption. For as rightly you may ſay, we haue redemption in vs of our owne, as that we haue iuſtice, wiſedom, holines, And 2. Cor. 5. 21 the Apoſtle ſaith: That we are made the iuſtice of God in Chriſt, as Chriſt was made ſinne for vs, which was none otherwiſe, then by imputing our ſinnes to him, as his iuſtice is imputed to vs. And for the giftes of wiſedom, iuſtice, holines, which we haue of Gods grace, they are in vs, but not ſufficient to make vs wiſe, holy, iuſte, before God, that we may deſerue eternal ſaluation, but of his mere grace, we are waſhed iuſtified, and ſanctified, in the name of our Lord Ieſus, by the working of gods ſpirit. Iuſtice inherent Chryſoſtome vnderſtandeth Chriſt to be ſo the auctor of wiſdom, holines, and iuſtice, as he is apprehended by faith: That Chriſt is made vnto vs wiſedom, iuſtice, and holines. It is not (ſaith he) of eſſence or ſubſtance, but of faith. Therefore he ſaith in an other place, that we are made the iuſtice of god in him In 1. Cor. Hom. 3. Theodoret vpon this text ſayth: You are not named by him, or by him, but you are accompted worthy of regeneration in Chriſt, he hath giuen you true wiſdom, he hath giuen you remiſſion of ſinnes, and vouchſafed you of iuſtice, and hath made you holy, being deliuered from the tyranny of the Deuil. It is meete therefore to reioyce, not becauſe of men, but of God which hath ſaued you. Ocumenius ſaith, he hath done al theſe things, that no man ſhould thinke himſelfe to be any thing, neither ſhould glorie in him ſelfe, but in God. Bede ſaith vpon this text: Chriſt the higheſt God, is the true iuſtice, or els he being the true God is the higheſt iuſtice, which truely we ought to hunger and thirſt for, the ſame is our iuſtice in this peregrination, and wherewith we hope to be ſatisfied hereafter, the ſame is our ful iuſtice in eternitie. The ſame alſo be the wordes of S. Auguſtine Epiſt. 85. The auctor of the Comentary in Hieromes name ſaith, Whereas Chriſt is the wiſdome of God, yet when man beleueth in him, Chriſt is made wiſedom to him. Theſe ancient fathers, ioyne with vs in the expoſition of this place.

CHAP. II.

That his owne preaching among them, was in humble maner in the ſight of men, 5. Howbeit it is moſt profound wiſdom (as they ſhould and would perceiue, if they were not carnal) which is taught in the Church of Chriſt.

AND I (brethren) when I came to you, I came not in loftyneſſe of ſpeache or

AND I, brethren, when I came to you, * came not in ‖ glorouſneſſe of wordes, or or of wiſedom, preaching to you the teſtimonie of Chriſt.

2 For I iudged not my ſelfe to know any thing among you but Ieſus Chriſt, and him crucified.

Act.18,1. 3 And * I was with you in infirmitie, and feare and much trembling.

4 And my ſpeach and my preaching was not in the perſuaſible wordes of humane wiſedom, but in ſhewing of ſpirit & power.

5 That your faith might not be in the wiſdom of men, but in the power of god. But we ſpeak wiſdom among the perfect.

6 But the wiſdom not of this world, neither of the princes of this world, that come to naught.

7 But we ſpeake the wiſdom of God in a myſterie, which is hid, which God did predeſtinate before the worlds, vnto our glory.

8 Which none of the princes of this world did know: for if they had knowen, they would neuer haue crucified the Lord of glorie.

Eſa.64,4. 9 But as it is written, That which eie hath not ſeene, nor eare hath heard, neither hath it aſcended into the hart of man, what thinges God hath prepared for them that loue him.

10 But to vs God hath reuealed by his Spirit. For the Spirit ſearcheth al things, yea the profoundities of God.

11 For what man knoweth the things of a man, but ‖ the ſpirit of a man that is in him? ſo the things alſo that are of God no man knoweth, but the ſpirit of God.

12 And we haue receiued not the ſpirit this world, but the ſpirit that is of God: ‖ that we may know the thinges that of God are giuen to vs.

13 Which alſo we ſpeake not in learned wordes of humane wiſdom: but in the doctrine of the ſpirit, comparing ſpiritual things to the ſpiritual.

14 But ‖ the ſenſual man perceiueth not thoſe things that are of the ſpirit of God. for it is foliſhnes to him, and he can not vnderſtand: becauſe he is ſpiritually examined.

15 But the ſpirituall man iudgeth all things: and him ſelfe is iudged of no man.

Eſa.40,13. 16 For * who hath knowen the ſenſe of our Lord that may inſtructe him? But we haue the ſenſe of Chriſt.

or of wiſedome, ſhewing vnto you the teſtimonie of God.

2 For I eſteemed not to knowe any thing among you, ſaue Ieſus Chriſt, and him crucified.

3 And I was among you in weakeneſſe, and in feare, and in much trembling.

*4 And my words and my preaching * was not with entiſing wordes of mans wiſedome, but in ſhewing of the ſpirit, and of power:* 2.Pet.1.10.

5 That your faith ſhould not ſtand in the wiſedome of men, but in the power of God.

6 And we ſpeake wiſedome among them that are perfect: not the wiſedome of this world, neither of the princes of this world, which come to nought:

7 But we ſpeake the wiſedome of God in a myſterie, euen the hid wiſedome which God ordained before the world, vnto our glorie.

8 Which none of the princes of this worlde knew: for had they knowen it, they would not haue crucified the Lord of glorie.

*9 But as it is written, * The eye hath not ſeene, and the eare hath not heard, neither haue entred into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that loue him.* Eſai.64.4.

10 But God hath reuealed them vnto vs by his ſpirit: for the ſpirit ſearcheth all things, yea the deepe things of God.

11 For what man knoweth the things of a man, ſaue the ſpirit of man which is in him? Euen ſo the things of God knoweth no man, but the ſpirit of God.

12 And we haue not receiued the ſpirit of the world, but the ſpirit which is of God, that we might know the things that are giuen to vs of God.

*13 * Which things alſo we ſpeake, not in the words which mans wiſedome teacheth, but which the holy Ghoſt teacheth: comparing ſpirituall things, with ſpirituall things.* 2.Pet.1.16.

14 But the naturall man perceiueth not the things of the ſpirit of God, for they are fooliſhnes vnto him: Neither can he know them becauſe they are ſpiritually diſcerned.

*15 * But he that is ſpiritual, diſcerneth all things, yet he himſelfe is iudged of no man.* Prou.27.19.

*16 * For who hath knowen the minde of the Lord, that he might inſtruct him? But we haue the minde of Chriſt.* Rom.11.34. Eſa.40.13.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. II.

Rhem. 1. 11. But the ſpirit of man.) *One man can not know an others cogitations naturally: but God giueth the Prophets and other, euen in this world oftentimes, by extraordinary grace to know mens ſecretes. As he did to S. Peter, to know the fraude of Ananias and Sapphira: and to Eliſeus, his ſeruants bribery in his abſence, and what was done in the king of Syria his chamber, and as he giueth to al * Angels and Saints (ſo far as is conuenient to our neceſſities and their heauenly glorie) to vnderſtand not only our vocal praiers, but our inward repentance and deſires.* How Angels and Saincts & mortal men know our cogitations.

Act.5.4.reg.5 & 6. *Luc.15,7.

Fulke. 1 You quote Luc.15.7. to proue, that god geueth extraordinary grace, to al Angels and Saints, to vnderſtand, not onely our vocal praiers, but alſo our inward repentance and deſires, ſo farre, as is conuenient to our neceſſitie. But firſt, there is no mention of Sainctſ, in that place, but generally, that there ſhalbe ioy in heauen, which is expounded in that 10. verſe, to be before the angels. Secondly there is no mention of any prayers, vocal or mentall, but of the repentance of a ſinner, when God, whoſe onely worke it is, to conuert a ſinner, doth reuele it. Thirdly neither in that place, nor in any other of the ſcripture, it can be proued, that God vſeth the miniſterie of Sainctſ departed, for our neceſſities. Therefore that place maketh nothing to ſhew, how Sainctſ here our prayers.

Rhem. 2. 12. That we may know.) The Proteſtaunes that doting a particular ſpirit reuea'ing to eth one his own predeſtination, iuſtification, & ſaluation, would draw this text to that purpoſe. Which importeth nothing els (as is plain by the Apoſtles diſcourſe) but that the holy ghoſt hath giuen to the Apoſtles, & by thē to other Chriſtian men, to know Gods ineffable gifts beſtowed vpon the beleeuers in this time of grace: that is, Chriſtes Incarnation, Paſſion, preſence in the Sacrament, and the incomprehenſible ioyes of heauen, which Pagans, Iewes, and Heretikes deride. The heretikes allegation for their vaine ſecuritie, anſwered.

Fulke. 2. We chalenge no particuler ſpirit, but the ſpirit of adoption, by which euery one of vs, doth cry Abba father, and is aſſured of the inheritance of Gods children, which Papiſts vnderſtand not, becauſe they are voyde of it. Yet the whole diſcourſe of the Apoſtle, proueth that he ſpeaketh thereof, and not onely of the reuelation of knowledge to the Apoſtles, by whom, without teſtimony of the ſame ſpirit, chriſtian men know the ſame. But if any man hath not the ſpirit of Chriſt (ſaith the Apoſtle) he is none of his Rom.8.9. S. Auguſtine ſo vnderſtandeth this place, that it perteyneth to the ſpecial reuelation of Gods ſpirit in euery true Chriſtian that is made iuſt. We be loued (ſaith he) that we may be our Lordes freindes: Let vs know whas our Lord doth, for he himſelfe maketh vs not onely men, but alſo iuſt men, and not we our ſelues. And that we may know this, who maketh but he himſelfe? For we haue not receyued the ſpirit of this world, but the ſpirit which is of God, that we may know thoſe things which are giuen to vs of God. In Ioan. Tract. 85.

Rhem. 3. 14. The ſenſual man.) The ſenſual man is he ſpecially, that meaſureth theſe heauenly myſteries by natural reaſon, humane prudence, external ſenſe, and worldly affection, as the Iew, Pagane, and Heretike doe: and ſometime both here and elſwhere, the more infirme and ignorant ſort of Chriſtian men be called ſenſual or carnal alſo, who being occupied in ſecular affaires, and giuen to ſenſual ioye and worldlines, haue no ſuch ſenſe or feeling of theſe great gifts of God, as the perfecter ſort of the faithful haue. Who trying theſe high pointes of religion, not by reaſon and ſenſe, but by grace, faith, and Spirit, be therefore called ſpiritual. The ſpiritual then is he, that iudgeth and diſcerneth the truth of ſuch things, as the carnal can not attaine vnto: that doth by the ſpirit of the Church, whereof he is partaker in vnitie of the ſame, not onely ſee the errours of the carnal, but condempneth them and iudgeth euery power reſiſting Gods ſpirit and word: the carnal Iew, Heathen, or Heretike, hauing no maner nor right to iudge of the ſaid ſpiritual man. For when the ſpiritual is ſaid to be iudged of none, the meaning is not that he ſhould not be ſubiect & obedient to his Paſtors and ſpiritual Powers and to the whole Church, eſpecially for the trial or examination of al his life, doctrine, and faith: but that a Catholike man and namely a teacher of Catholike doctrine in the Church, ſhould not be any whit ſubiect to the iudgement of the Heathen or the Heretike, nor care what of ignorance or infidelitie they ſay againſt him, for ſuch carnal men haue no iugdment in ſuch things, nor can attaine to the [ſ]o the Churches wiſdom in any ceremony, myſterie, or matter which they condemne.

Therefore S. Irenæus excellently declaring that the Church and euery ſpiritual childe thereof, iudgeth and condemneth al falſe Prophets and Heretikes of what ſort ſo euer, at length he concludeth with theſe notable wordes: The ſpiritual ſhal iudge alſo al that make ſchiſmes, which be cruel, not hauing the loue of God, & reſpecting their owne priuate, more then the vnitie of the Church, mangle, deuide, and (as much as in them lieth) kill for ſmall cauſes the great and glorious body of Chriſt, ſpeaking peace, and ſeeking battaile. He ſhal iudge alſo them that be out of the truth, that is to ſay, out of the Church, which Church ſhal be vnder no mans iudgement, for to the Church are al thinges knowen, in which is perfect faith of the Father, and of al the diſpenſation of Chriſt, and firme knowledge of the Holy ghoſt that teacheth al truth. The Church is vnder no mans iudgement. Ire. li.4.c.62.

Fulke. 3. The ſpiritual man, is he, that iudgeth and diſcerneth the truth of ſpiritual things, by the ſpirit of Chriſt bearing witneſſe to his worde, and by the ſame diſcerneth the true church from the falſe, the Church of God from the congregation of Heretikes. For the Church hath not a ſpirit, teaching otherwiſe, then the holy Ghoſt hath taught in the ſcriptures, but agreable thereunto, & confirming the doctrine taught in the ſcriptures, which Irenæus doth in part declare, in the next chapter, but more at large Cap.65. of the ſame booke: ſhewing by what meanes a member of the Church which is a ſpiritual man, atteyneth to ſuch knowledge, namely by diligent reading and ſtudying of the Scriptures. Reliqua omnia &c. He that is a ſpiritual man in deede, ſhal interprete euery one of theſe things, that are ſpoken, what ſoeuer we haue ſhewed, that the Prophets haue ſpoken in the whole courſe of the ſcripture, in what forme of our Lords diſpoſition it is ſpoken, and ſhewing the holy body of the worke of the Sonne of God, knowing alwaies the ſame God, and acknowledging alwaies, the ſame word of God, although he be now made manifeſt vnto vs and alwaies acknowledging the ſame ſpirit of God, although in theſe laſt times he is newly powred forth vpon vs, and from the creation of the world, to the end, vpon mankind it ſelfe by whom, they that beleeue God and follow his word, obtaine that ſaluation, which is of him. But they which depart from him, and diſpiſe his commandements, and by there workes do diſhonour him, that hath made them, and by their opinion doe blaſpheme him, that feedeth them, doe heape vnto themſelues, moſt iuſt iudgement. This man therefore trieth al men, he himſelfe is tryed of no man, neither blaſphemeth his father, nor making voyde his diſpoſitions, nor accuſing the fathers, nor diſhonoring the prophets, either ſaying that they are of another God, or againe, that the prophecies haue ben of diuers ſubſtances. And we ſay againſt all Heretikes, and firſt againſt thoſe that be of Marcions ſide, & againſt thoſe that are like to the, ſaying, that the prophets are of another God: Read ye more diligently the goſpel which is giuen vs by the Apoſtles, and read more diligently the prophets, and you ſhal find all the doing, and all the doctrine, and all the paſſion of our Lord preached or ſet forth in them. If al the doctrine of Chriſt be ſet forth in the ſcriptures, & ſo plainly that it may by diligent reading be founde euen of Heretikes, the ſpirit of the Church teacheth nothing, but that which is ſet forth in the ſcriptures. The Church is vnder no mans iudgement.

CHAP. III.

Rhem. 1. If they will not be carnal ſtil, they muſt boaſt in God only, and not in their preachers, which are but his miniſters, 10 and need to looke well how they preach: 12 becauſe not all preaching, though it be Catholike, is meritorious: but rather is buildeth matter to be purged by fire, when it is vaine and vnfruitful (as alſo any other like workes of other Catholikes.) marie if it be hereticall, deſtroying the temple of God, then it worketh damnation. 18 The remedie is, to humble themſelues and referre all to God.

Fulke. 1. The text ſpeaketh not of any preaching, or other worke that is meritorious.

AND I, brethren, could not ſpeake to you as to ſpiritual, but as to carnal. As it were to litle ones in Chriſt,

2 I gaue you ‡ milke to drinke, not meat: for you could not as yet. but neither can you now verely, for yet you are carnal.

3 For whereas there is among you emulation and contention, are you not carnall, and walke according to man?

4 For when one ſaith, I certes am Paules, and an other, I Apollos: are you not ‖ men? What is Apollo then? and what is Paul?

5 The miniſters of him whom you haue beleeued, and to euery one as our Lord hath giuen.

6 I planted, Apollo watered: but God gaue the increaſe.

7 Therefore neither he that planteth is any thing, nor he that watereth: but he that giueth the increaſe, God.

8 And he that planteth & he that watereth are one. And ‖ euery one ſhal receiue his owne reward according to his owne labour.

9 For we are [c] coadiutors: you are Gods husbandry, you are Gods building.

10 According to the grace that is giuen me, as a wiſe workemaſter haue I laied the foundation: and an other buildeth thereupon. but let euery one looke how he buildeth thereon.

11 For other foundation no mā can lay, beſide that which is laid: which is Chriſt IESVS.

12 And if any man build ‖ vpon this foundation, gold, ſiluer, pretious ſtones, wood, hay, ſtubble,

13 The worke of euery one ‖ ſhal be manifeſt: for ‖ the day of our Lord wil declare, becauſe it ſhal be reuealed in fire: and the worke of euery one of what kind it is, the fire ſhal trie.

14 If any mans worke abide, which he built thereupon: he ſhal receiue reward.

15 If any mans worke burne, he ſhal ſuffer detriment: but himſelfe ſhal be ſaued: yet ſo ‖ as by fire.

16 Know you not that you are the temple of God: and the Spirit of God dwelleth in you?

17 But if any violate the temple of God, God

‡ The Church onely hath truth both in her milke and in her bread: that is, whether ſhe inſtruct the perfect, or the imperfect who are called carnal. Aug. de. 15 c. 3, cont. Fauſt.

‖ carnal.

[c] ſynerg. A maruelous dignitie of ſpiritual paſtors, that they be not only the inſtruments or miniſters of Chriſt, but alſo Gods coadiutors in the worke of our ſaluation.

AND I could not ſpeake vnto you brethren, as vnto ſpirituall, but as vnto carnal, euen as vnto babes in Chriſt.

2 I haue nouriſhed you with milke, and not with meate: for ye then were not ſtrong, neither are ye as yet.

3 For ye are yet carnall: Seeing then there is among you enuying, and ſtrife, and ſects, are ye not carnal, and walke as men?

4 For while one ſaieth, I am of Paul, and an other, I am of Apollo, are ye not carnall?

5 For what is Paul? what is Apollo? but miniſters by whom ye beleeued, euen as the Lord gaue to euery man.

6 I haue planted, Apollo watered: but God gaue the encreaſe.

7 So then, neither is he that planteth any thing: neither he that watereth: but God that giueth the encreaſe.

*8 He that planteth, and he that watereth, are one: and euery man ſhall receiue his reward according to his labour. Pſal.63.13. gal.6.5.

9 For we together are Gods labourers, ye are Gods husbandry, ye are gods building.

10 According to the grace of God which is giuen vnto me, as a wiſe maſter builder haue I laid the foundation, and another buildeth thereon. But let euery man take heed how he buildeth vpon.

11 For other foundation can no man lay then that is laid, which is Ieſus Chriſt.

12 If any man build on this foundation, gold, ſiluer, precious ſtones, timber, hay, or ſtubble:

13 Euery mans worke ſhall bee made manifeſt. The day ſhall declare it, becauſe it ſhall be reuealed by the fire, and the fire ſhall try euery mans worke what it is.

14 If any mans worke that he hath built vpon, abide, he ſhal receiue a reward.

15 If any mans worke burne, he ſhall ſuffer loſſe, but he ſhall be ſafe himſelfe: yet as it were through fire.

*16 * Knowe yee not that yee are the temple of God, and that the ſpirite of God dwelleth in you?* 1.Cor.6.19.

17 If any man ‖ defile the temple of God, him ‖ Or, deſtroy.

God wil deſtroy him. For the temple of God is holy: which you are.

18 Let no man ſeduce himſelfe: if any man ſeeme to be wiſe among you in this world, let him become a foole that he may be wiſe.

19 For the wiſedom of this world is foliſhnes with God. For it is written, I will compaſſe the wiſe in their ſubteltie.

Iob 5,13.

Pſ 93,11.

20 And againe, Our Lord knoweth the cogitations of the wiſe that they be vayne.

21 Let no man therefore glory in men. For al things are yours:

22 Whether it be Paul, or Apollo, or Cephas, or the world, or life, or death, or things preſent, or things to come, for al are yours:

23 And you are Chriſtes, and Chriſt is Gods.

ſhall God deſtroy: for the temple of God is holy, which temple ye are.

18 Let no man deceiue himſelfe: If any man among you ſeeme to himſelfe to bee wiſe in this world, let him become a foole, that hee may be wiſe.

19 For the wiſedome of this world, is fooliſhneſſe with God: for it is written, *He compaſ- Iob 5.23.
ſeth the wiſe in their owne craftineſſe.

20 And agayne, The Lord knoweth the thoughts of the wiſe, that they be vaine.

21 Therefore let no man glory in men, for all things are yours:

22 Whether Paul, or Apollo, or Cephas, either the world, either life or death, whether things preſent, or things to come, all are yours.

23 But ye are Chriſts, and Chriſt is Gods.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. III.

Rhem. 2. 8 Euery man ſhall receiue according) A moſt plaine text for proofe that men by their labours, and by the diuerſities thereof, ſhall be diuerſly rewarded in heauen: and therefore that by their workes proceeding of grace, they doe deſerue or merite heauen, and the more or leſſe ioy in the ſame. for though the holy Scripture commonly vſe not this word merite, yet in places innumerable of the old and new Teſtament, the very true ſenſe of merite is conteined, and ſo often as the word merces, and the like be vſed, they be euer underſtood as correlatiues or correſpondent vnto it. for if the ioy of heauen be retribution, repaiment, hire, wages for workes (as in infinite places of holy Scripture,) then the workes can be none other but the valure, deſert, price, worth, and merite of the ſame. And in deed this word, reward, which in our Engliſh tonge may ſignifie a voluntary or bountifull gift, doth not ſo well expreſſe the nature of the *Latin word, or the Greeke, which are rather the very ſtipend that the hired workeman or iourneiman couenaunteth to haue of him whoſe worke he doth, and is a thing equally and iuſtly anſwering to the time & weighe of his trauels & worke (in which ſenſe the ſcripture ſaith, Dignus eſt operari* mercede ſua, the workeman is worthy of his hire) rather then a free gift. though, becauſe faithful men muſt acknowledge that their merites be the gifts and graces of God, they rather vſe the word reward, then hire, ſtipend, or repaiment. though in deed it be al one, as you may ſee by diuers places of holy write. as, * My merces (reward) is with me to render to euery one * according to his workes. And Our Lord wil render vnto me according to my iuſtice. Pſalm. 17. And the very word it ſelfe merite (equiualent to the Greeke) is vſed thus, Mercie ſhall make a place to euery one * according to the merite of workes. Eccleſiaſtici 16, 15. And if you doe your iuſtice before men, you ſhall not haue reward in heauen. Matth. 6, 1. Where you ſee that the reward of heauen is recompenſe of iuſtice. And the euaſion of the Heretikes is friuolous and euidently falſe, as the former and like wordes doe conuince, for they ſay heauen is our Merces or reward, not becauſe it is due to our workes, but to the promes of God: where the wordes be plaine, According to euery mans workes or labours, vpon which workes, and for which workes conditionally, the promes of heauen was made.

Good workes meritorious, & the rewards in heauen are different according to the ſame.

Fulke. 2. Euery man ſhall receiue reward according to his labours, but not according to the merite of his labours. Neither doth the Scripture in the originall tongues, euer vſe the wordes of meriting and deſeruing, in the caſe of reward, nor any wordes that is correlatiue vnto it. For the word Merces, or μισθὸς, or reward, hath relation vnto Gods promiſe, and not to the merite, worthineſſe or deſert of the worke. And where you ſay in the ende, that we haue a friuolous euaſion, to ſay that the reward is not due to our workes, but to Gods promiſe, we ſay not ſo, but that the reward is due to our workes, not in reſpect of their merite or worthineſſe, but in reſpect of Gods promiſe. As if a king ſhould make a proclamation, that euery one which laboureth one day in his building, ſhall receiue a thouſand pound; we ſay the reward is here due to the worke, but not in reſpect of the merite, worthineſſe or deſert of the labour, but in reſpect of the kings promiſe. Much more in the reward of eternall life, which is gods free gift, and is infinitely more worth, then our labour, yet due to his promiſe, who alſo giueth will and habilitie, to worke that whereunto he repayeth reward. But you adde, that the ſenſe of merite, is conteyned in the ſcripture, though the word be not, becauſe the ioy of heauen is called retribution, repayment, hire, wages, workes, then the workes can be none other, but the valure, deſert, price, worth, and merite of the ſame. Firſt, I anſwere, that the ioy of heauen is neuer called in Scripture by the ſlauiſh name of hire or wages. For μισθὸς, ſignifieth a reward of meere grace, as well as an hire or wages. And ſo the Apoſtle vſeth it plainly, Rom. 4. 4. ſaying: To him that worketh, μισθὸς, reward, is not reckoned according to grace, but according to debt. Therefore the word reward, doeth ſignifie as well that which is giuen according to grace, as that which is due in reſpect of deſert. And ſo it is alwayes taken, when the ioy of heauen is called a reward, becauſe as the Apoſtle ſaieth, we are ſaued of grace, and not of workes, Ephe. 2. 8. 9. And leaſt you ſhould flie to your diſtinction of the firſt grace and iuſtification, the Apoſtle ſaieth, we are ſo ſaued by grace, that when we were dead in ſinne, God hath quickened vs with Chriſt, and rayſed vs vp with him, and placed vs in heauen with Chriſt, and in Chriſt Ieſus. Wherein is comprehended grace of finall perſeuerance and glorification. For who ſhall bring vs downe, being once placed in heauen with Chriſt, and in Chriſt: he may as ſoone pull Chriſt out of heauen. Rom. 10. 6. Therefore, when the Scripture vſeth that word, reward, for hire and wages due to the worke, it ſpeaketh not of the reward of eternall life. As when it ſayth: The workeman is worthy of his hire: He meaneth the preacher is worthy of his maintenance of them to whom he preacheth, which his labour doth throughly deſerue. In the ſecond place Apoc. 22. Where Chriſt ſaieth, his reward is with him, to render to euery man according to his worke: The reward is of grace, and not of merite, and ſo of the like places. But where Dauid ſayth, Pſalm. 17. The Lord will render to him according to his worke, the reward is of grace, and not of merite, and ſo of the like places. But where Dauid ſayth, Pſalm. 17. The Lord will render to him according to his iuſtice, he meaneth the iuſtice of his cauſe againſt his perſecutors. For when he hath to doe onely with God, he ſayth: Enter not into iudgement with thy ſeruaunt, for no fleſh ſhall be iuſt in thy ſight. Pſalme 142. 2. The place of Eccleſiaſticus, (beſide that it is no Canonicall Scripture) is falſly tranſlated or corrupted in your vulgar Latine edition. For according to the Greeke, it is thus: Make a place to all kind of mercy, for euery man ſhall find according to his workes. In which ſentence, there is neither word nor meaning of merite. Finally, the reward due to almes, is of the mercy of the rewarder, not of the merite of the almes. For Math. 6. The word is almes, which your tranſlation calleth iuſtice. Our Sauiour Chriſt ſheweth Math. 25. 34. that the reward for almes is the inheritance of the kingdom of heauen which was prepared for the giuer, before the beginning of the world: Therefore, it is not the hire or wages due to the merite of almes, but a reward of the free grace and election of God, prepared and promiſed to the giuers of almes. So there is no place in the Scriptures, whereupon to ground your hereticall doctrine, of the valure, merite or worthineſſe of workes to deſerue the ioyes of heauen.

by

Rhem. 3. 12 Vpon this ſoundation.) The foundation is Chriſt, and fayth in him working by charitie. The vpper building may be either pure and perfect matter of gold, ſiluer, and precious ſtone, which (according to the moſt authentical and probable expoſition) be good workes of charitie and al Chriſtian iuſtice done by Gods grace: or els, wood, hay, ſtubble, which ſignifie the manifold actes of mans infirmitie and his venial ſinnes. Which more or leſſe mixed and medled with the better matter aforeſayd, require more or leſſe puniſhments or purgation at the day of our death. At which day, if by penance or other means in the Church, the ſayd venial ſinnes be before hand cleanſed, there ſhal need no purging at all, but they ſhal ſtraight receiue the reward due to them. Building of gold, or ſtubble.

Fulke. 3. The building of precious matter vpon the foundation, which the Apoſtle ſpeaketh of, is manifeſtly to be vnderſtood, of pure doctrine ſincerely deliuered. The building of combuſtible matter, is vaine affectation of eloquence, and other like trifling matter, not taking away the foundation, but handling it vnworthily. But admitting your interpretation, the Apoſtle ſpeaketh not of more or leſſe puniſhment or purgation, at the day of our death. And yet if that alſo were graunted, the Apoſtles wordes will allow no purging by penance, or other meanes of the Church. For he ſayth, the fire ſhall try euery mans worke, he ſayth not, the fire ſhall purge euery man. So that if this fire here ſhould ſignifie purgatory, (as S. Auguſtine ſayth, expreſly it cannot) and if euery man ſhould folow his worke, no man ſhould eſcape purgatory. Purgatory. Satiſfaction.

Rhem. 4. 13 Shal be manifeſt.) Whether our life and workes be pure and neede no cleanſing, now in this world is hard to iudge: but the day of our Lord, which is at our death, will make it plaine in what termes euery mans life is towards God, for then Purgatorie fire ſhall reueale and prooue it. For, whoſoeuer hath any impure matter of venial ſinnes or ſuch other deuices, to Gods iuſtice paiable and purgable, muſt into that fire, and after due payment and cleanſing, be ſaued through the ſame. Where the workes of the perfect men and ſuch as died with al dettes paied, cleanſed, or forgiuen, are quitted from the fire, & neuer incurre damage, payne, or loſſe thereby. The places of fathers expounding this for Purgatorie, be very many moſt euident, which are cited in the laſt Annotation folowing. Our workes ſhalbe manifeſted by fire.

Fulke. 4. The true text is, the day, and not the day of our Lord, and ſo doeth S. Auguſtine read, ſo the ſenſe is: Time wil declare, for God hath appointed a time, to examine as it were by fire, euery mans doctrine, as S. Ambroſe doth expound it. But of purgatory fire after this life, here is no mention. Purgatory.

Rhem. 5. 13 The day of our Lord ſhall declare.) That this purgation rather ſignifieth the place of Gods iuſtice after our death, then any affliction in this life, the Apoſtles preciſe ſignifying of fire declareth, and of reuealing notifying the difference of mens workes by the ſame: which is not done euidently euer in this life: and namely the word, day of our Lord: which commonly and properly ſignifieth in Scripture, & namely in this Apoſtle (1. Cor 5, 5. 2. Cor. 1, 13. Phil. 1, 10. 6. 1. Theſ. 5, 2. 2. Theſ. 2, 2.) either the particular, or the general iudgement: and therefore that the trial ſpoken of is not properly nor literally means any affliction or aduerſitie of this life, as Caluin alſo confeſſeth, coyning a foliſh new conſtruction of his owne. Where you may note alſo in that mans Commentarie, that this word, dies Domini, was ſo preiudicial againſt him and all other expoſitions of the trial to be made in this world, that he would gladly haue (Domini) out, reading thus, A day ſhall come which ſhall open, &c. Where vnderſtand, that if it were only Dies (as in the Greeke) yet thereby alſo the Scripture is wont to ſignifie the ſelfe ſame thing: as, 2. Tim. 1. 12. 18. and 2. Tim. 4, 8. and Heb. 10, 25. the day, as in this place, with the Greeke article only, which is al one with Dies illa, or Dies Domini. What is ſignified by the day of our Lord. Caluin in hunc locum. ἡ ἡμέρα.

Fulke. 5. As I ſayd before, that word (our Lord) is not of the Greeke text, nor in all copies of your vulgar Latine, but in Plantines print, is marked with a note of ſuperfluitie. Secondly, the text ſpeaketh not one word of purging, but of trying, & that not of the perſons, but of the works. And where you ſay the Apoſtles preciſe ſpecifying of fire, declareth a place of iuſtice after this life, it is a vaine and vnlearned collection. For fire is here taken allegorically, as all the reſt of the words, foundation, gold, ſiluer, &c. wood, hay, ſtubble, &c. The texts that you quote for the day of our Lord, pertayne not to this place: where the day of the Lord is not named, but generally, a day. And yet in all thoſe places, the day of the Lord, or the day of Chriſt, ſignifieth the day of iudgement, when Chriſt ſhall come to iudge the quicke and the dead, and not any particular iudgement before that day. Finally, let the article be taken demonſtratiuely, (as ſometimes it is) yet you can make none other day of it, but doomeſday. Purgatory.

Rhem.6. 15 As by fire.) S. Auguſtine vpon theſe wordes of the Pſalme,37. Lord rebuke me not in thine indignation, nor amend me in thy wrath. For it ſhal come to paſſe (ſaith he) that ſome be amended in the wrath of God, & be rebuked in his indignation. And not al perhaps that are rebuked, ſhal be amended, but yet ſome there ſhall be ſaued by amending. It ſhalbe ſo ſurely, becauſe amending is named: yet ſo as by fire. but ſome there ſhal be that ſhal be rebuked, and not amended. to whom he ſhal ſay, Goe ye into euerlaſting fire. Fearing therefore theſe more grieuous paines, he deſireth that he may neither be rebuked in indignation by eternal fire, nor amended in his wrath. that is to ſay, Purge me in this life, & make me ſuch an one as ſhal not need the amēding fire, being for them which ſhalbe ſaued, yet ſo as by fire. Wherefore? but becauſe here they build vpon the foundation, wood, hay, ſtubble? for if they did build gold, ſiluer, & precious ſtones, they ſhould be ſecure from both fires, not only from that eternal which ſhal torment the impious eternally: but alſo frō that which ſhal amend them that ſhal be ſaued by fire. for it is ſaid, he ſhal be ſafe, yet ſo as by fire. And becauſe it is ſayd, he ſhall be ſafe, that fire is contemned. Yea verely though ſafe by fire, yet that fire ſhalbe more greuous, then whatſoeuer a mā can ſuffer in this life. And you know how great euils the wicked haue ſuffered, and may ſuffer: yet they haue ſuffered ſuch as the good alſo might ſuffer. for what hath any malefactor ſuffered by the lawes, that a Martyr hath not ſuffered in the confeſſion of Chriſt? Theſe euils therfore that are here, be much more eaſie, & yet ſee how men, not to ſuffer them, doe whatſoeuer thou commandeſt. How much better doe they that which God commandeth, that they may not ſuffer thoſe greater paines? *Thus farre S. Auguſtine. See S. Leuit.

Two fires after this life: one eternall, the other temporal, that is, the purging or amending fire.

Purgatory fire paſſeth all the paines of this life.

Fulke.6. To the auctoritie of S. Auguſtine I oppoſe his owne iudgement vpon better aduiſe and examination of the text. Ignis de quo, &c. The fire whereof the Apoſtle ſpeaketh in this place, muſt be vnderſtood to be ſuch, that both do paſſe through it, that is, both he which buildeth vpon this foundation, gold, ſiluer, precious ſtones: and he which buildeth wood, hay, ſtubble. For when he had ſayd this, he added, The fire ſhal try euery mans worke of what qualitie it is. If any mans worke ſhal remaine which he hath built vpon the foundation, he ſhal receiue reward. if any mans worke ſhal be burnt, he ſhal ſuffer loſſe, but he himſelfe ſhalbe ſafe, yet ſo as it were by fire. Therefore the fire ſhall try not the worke of one of them, but of them both. And the fire truly is the temptation of tribulation, of which in an other place it is written playnely, The furnace doth proue the potters veſſels, and tentation of tribulation, iuſt men. This fire doeth the ſame in this life, which the Apoſtle ſayd, &c. Enchir. ad Laurent. cap.68. And as concerning purgatory, which opinion in his dayes began to be harkened vnto, he doubteth of it, ſaying: Tale aliquid, &c. It is not incredible, that ſome ſuch thing alſo is done after this life, & it may be enquired of, whether it be ſo: & either be forgiuen or be hidden ſtill, that ſome faithfull men are ſaued by a certaine purging fire, ſo much ſooner or later, by how much they haue loued corruptible goods more or leſſe. Ibid. & de Duc. Quæſt.9.1. But afterward writing againſt the Pelagians, he vtterly denieth any third place beſide heauen and hell. Primum &c. The faith of the Catholikes vpon diuine auctoritie hath beleeued the firſt place to be the kingdome of heauen, frō whence as I ſayd, he that is not baptized, is excepted. The ſecond place, hell, where euery one that falleth from Chriſt, or is a ſtranger from Chriſt, ſhall find eternall puniſhment. The third place we are vtterly ignorant of, yea and we find in the holy Scriptures that there is none. Contr. Pelagian. Iuſtinian. lib.5. Likewiſe he denieth all third or middle place, De verbis Apoſt. Ser. 14.

Purgatory.

S. Ambroſe vpon this text, vnderſtanding it of doctrine, that is to be tried by fire, ſaieth, that he whoſe euill doctrine ſhal periſh, ſhal ſuffer the paynes of fire, that being purged by fire, he may be purged. But expounding what he meaneth by the paynes of fire, he ſayth: Semper enim, &c. For he muſt alwayes be aſhamed, which ſeeth that he hath defended falſhood in ſtead of trueth, which cannot be vnderſtood of popiſh purgatory, but of other iudgements of God in this life, wherin he ſhalbe aſhamed when he ſeeth his errour conuinced. Thereupon alſo, Ser. 20.in Pſ.118. he ſaith, after he hath cited this text. Cognoſcentes itaque, &c. Knowing therfore that there be many iudgements, let vs examine all our workes, for a iuſt man the loſſe is grieuous, the learning of any worke is grieuous. So he vnderſtandeth the fire to be the triall of all Gods iudgements in this life, and not purgatory after this life. For he prayſeth the death of all the faithfull. Quia deteriorem ſtatum, &c. Becauſe it maketh not their ſtate worſe, but ſuch as it ſhall find in euery one, ſuch it reſerueth vnto the iudgement to come, and cheriſheth them in quiet reſt. De bono mortis cap. 4. Likewiſe in Pſ.40. he ſaieth: Bene addidit, &c. The Prophet hath well added, In the earth, for except he be here cleanſed, he cannot be cleane there. You ſee therfore by theſe teſtimonies, that all the faithfull are in reſt after this life, and can haue no purging after they are gone from hence. Therefore he cannot be vnderſtood of popiſh purgatory where there is ſo little reſt, and ſo great neceſſitie of purging pretended. Hierome hath nothing that ſoundeth for purgatory, whoſe words are theſe. Si is cuius opus, &c. If he whoſe worke is burnt and loſt, and hath ſuſtained loſſe of his labour, ſhall looſe in deed the reward of his labour, but ſhall himſelfe be ſaued, yet not without triall of fire, therefore he whoſe worke hath remayned, which he hath built vpon, ſhall be ſaued without triall of fire, ſo verily there ſhalbe ſome diuerſitie betweene ſaluation and ſaluation. Here is trial by fire, according to the text, but no purging by fire after this life. Nay, that this triall is by tentation in this life, he ſheweth in the ſame booke: In malis, &c. In euill works and ſinnes, our ſeedes are the incentiues and perfection of the deuill. For when he ſhall ſee vs build vpon the foundation of Chriſt, hay, wood, ſtubble, then he putteth fire to it. Let vs therfore build gold, ſiluer, precious ſtones, and he ſhal not be bold to tempt vs.

In the dayes of Gregory which was ſix hundred yeares after Chriſt, the opinion of purgatory had gotten ſome ground in the Latine church, though it was neuer receiued in the Greeke church, yet in the place by you quoted, he graunteth it, but for very ſmall offences. For after he had cited certaine teſtimonies of Scripture he addeth. Ex quibus ſententijs, &c. Of which ſentences it is manifeſt, that ſuch as euery man departeth hence, ſuch he is preſented in iudgement, but yet of certaine light faultes it is to be deemed, that the purging fire is before the iudgement. Becauſe the trueth ſaieth, that if any man ſpeake blaſphemie againſt the holy Ghoſt, it ſhall not be forgiuen him in this world, nor in the world to come. In which ſentence it is giuen to be vnderſtood, that ſome faultes may be releaſed in this world, ſome in the world to come. For that which is denied of one conſequent, vnderſtanding is open, that it is graunted of ſome. But yet as is ſayd before, that muſt be thought to be poſſible to be done, of litle, and of the leaſt ſinnes. As daily idle talke, immoderate laughter, or the ſtreit of houſhold care, which is ſcarce done without faults, euen of them which know how to decline from faults, or the errour of ignorance in no weightie matters, all which doe weigh downe after death, if they be not releſed to men while they continue in this life. For when Paule ſaith that Chriſt is the foundation, and addeth if any man ſhall build vpon it &c. (although this may be vnderſtood of the fire of tribulation left to vs in this life) yet if any man take it of the fire of purgation that ſhall be, we muſt carefully conſider that he ſaid: that man may be ſaued by fire, not which buildeth vpon this foundation, iron, braſſe, or lead, that is the greater ſinnes, and therefore harder, and which then are inſoluble, but wood, hay, ſtuble, that is ſmall, and moſt light ſinnes, which the fire may eaſily conſume. If Gregories opinion had continued, or yet might be admitted among the Papiſts, purgatorie would not be very gainefull vnto thē. Yet he confeſſeth alſo that this place may be otherwiſe vnderſtood then of purgatorie, which is contrary to your note. In pſ. 3. p. mihi. he acknowledgeth greeuous purgatorie flames, but he groundeth them not vpon this text. Origen allegoriſing of the text after his maner, yet ſpeaketh nothing of popiſh purgatorie. For in the former place he ſaith: Sicut furnus &c. As the furnace trieth golde, ſo tentation doth iuſt men: therefore all men muſt come to the fire, they muſt come to the melting pot. This you cannot vnderſtand of purgatorie, whither you confeſſe that all doe not come. In the ſecond place nothing can be concluded of purgatorie, but that as there be diuers kindes of ſinnes, ſo there be diuers qualities of puniſhments, all which the faithfull man may auoid. But that there was no purgatorie paine knowen in his time, he teſtifieth in theſe wordes: Nam priores &c. Men of former time did celebrate the day of birth, as they which loued this life onely, and hoped not for another after this. But now we doe not celebrate the day of natiuitie, ſeeing it is the entrance into ſorrowes and tentations, but we celebrate the day of death, as that which is the putting away of all ſorrowes, and the eſcaping of all tentations: we celebrate the day of death, becauſe they doe not die which ſeeme to die. Therefore we keepe memories of the ſainctes, and of our parentes, or of our friendes dying in the faith, we holde a memorie deuoutly, aſwell reioycing of their refreſhing, as alſo praying for a godly conſummation in the faith for our ſelues. So therefore we doe not celebrate the day of natiuitie, becauſe they that die ſhall liue for euer. And thus we celebrate it, we call together the deuout people with the prieſts, the faithfull with the clergie. Moreouer we inuite the poore and needy, and feed the fatherleſſe and widowes, that our feſtiuitie may be made in remembrance of the reſt, which is vnto the ſoules departed, whoſe memorie we celebrate, and may be vnto vs a ſauour of ſweetneſſe in the ſight of the eternall God. Heere you ſee that Origen acknowledged the ſoules of all the faithfull departed to be in reſt, in refreſhing, and diſcharged of all ſorrowes, therefore not in purgatorie.

CHAP. IIII.

He requireth to be eſteemed for his office, but regardeth not to be praiſed of man for his vertue: conſidering that neither his owne conſcience is a ſufficient iudge therof, but onely God who ſeeth all. 8 He toucheth them for conteming in their pride, the Apoſtles themſelues as miſerable: 18 threatening to come to thoſe proude Faiſeapoſtles who were the authors of all theſe ſchiſmes.

The Epiſtle vpon y fourth Sunday of Aduent.

SO let a man eſteeme vs as the miniſters of Chriſt, and the diſpenſers of the myſteries of God.

2 Here now is required among the diſpenſers that a man be found faithful.

3 But to me it is a thing of leſt account, to be iudged of you, or of mans day: but I iudge not my ſelf neither.

4 For I am not guilty in conſcience of any thing: ‖ but I am not iuſtified herein: but he that iudgeth me, is our Lord.

5 Therfore iudge not before the time: vntil our Lord do come, who alſo wil lighten the hidden things of darkenes, and wil manifeſt the counſels of the hartes: and then the praiſe ſhal be to euery man of God.

‡ Loe when he named him ſelf, and Apollo, & Cephas: he meant other ſeditious and factious preachers whoſe names he ſpared.

6 But theſe things, brethren, † I haue tranſſigured into my ſelf and Apollo, for you: that in vs you may learne, one not to be puffed vp againſt an other, aboue that is written.

7 For who diſcerneth thee? Or what haſt thou that thou haſt not receiued? And if thou haſt receiued, what doeſt thou glorie as though thou haſt not receiued?

8 Now you are filled, now are you become riche: without vs you reigne: and I would to God you did reigne, that we alſo might reigne with you.

‖ The Epiſtle vpon S. Iames day, Iul. 25.

9 ‖ For I thinke that God hath ſhewed vs

LEt a man ſo eſteeme of vs as the miniſters of Chriſt, and the diſpoſers of the ſecrets of God.

2 Furthermore, it is required in the diſpoſers, that a man be found faithfull.

3 With me it is but a very ſmall thing that I ſhould be iudged of you, either of mans iudgement: yea, I iudge not mine owne ſelfe.

4 For I know nothing by my ſelfe, yet am I not thereby iuſtified: but he that iudgeth me, is the Lord.

*5 * Therfore iudge nothing before the time,* Matt. 7. 1. vntill the Lord come, who will lighten the hid- rom. 2. 1. den things of darkeneſſe, and open the counſels of the hearts: and then ſhall euery man haue praiſe of God.

6 And theſe things brethren, I haue figuratiuely applied vnto my ſelfe and to Apollos, for your ſakes: that ye might learne by vs, not to be wiſe aboue that which is written, that you ſwell not one againſt another for any mans cauſe.

7 For who ſeparateth thee? And what haſt thou that thou haſt not receiued? If thou haſt receiued it, why doeſt thou glory as though thou hadſt not receiued it?

8 Now ye are full, now ye are rich, ye haue reigned as kings without vs, and I would God ye did reigne, that we alſo might reigne with you.

9 For me thinketh that God hath ſet forth vs vs Apoſtles the laſt, as it were deputed to death: becauſe [b] we are made a ſpectacle to the world, and to Angels and men.

[b] The Epiſtle for a Confeſſor that is not a Biſhop.

10 We are fooles for Chriſt: but you wiſe in Chriſt. we weake: but you ſtrong. you noble, but we baſe.

11 Vntil this houre we doe both hunger, and thirſt, and are naked, & are beaten with buffets, and are wanderers, 12 And labour working with our owne handes. we are curſed: and do bleſſe. we are perſecuted: and ſuſteine it.

13 We are blaſphemed: & we beſeeche. we are made the refuſe of this world, the droſſe of al euen vntil now.

14 Not to confound you, do I write theſe things: but as my deereſt children I admoniſh you.

15 For [c] if you haue ten thouſand pædagoges in Chriſt: yet not many fathers. For in Chriſt IESVS by the Goſpel I begat you.

16 I beſeeche you therfore be folowers of me.

17 Therfore haue I ſent to you Timothee, who is my deereſt ſonne and faithful in our Lord wil: and who wil put you in minde of my waies that are in Chriſt IESVS, as euery where in euery Church I teach.

18 As though I would not come to you, ſo certaine are puffed vp.

19 But I wil come to you quickly, if our Lord: wil know not the wordes of them that be puffed vp, but the power.

20 For the kingdom of God is not in wordes, but in power.

21 What wil you? ‖ in rodde that I come to you: or in charitie, and the ſpirit of mildnes?

vs which are the laſt Apoſtles, as it were men appointed to death. For we are made a gaſing ſtocke vnto the world, and to angels, and to men.

10 We are fooles for Chriſtes ſake, but ye are wiſe in Chriſt. We are weake, but ye are ſtrong: Ye are honorable, but we are deſpiſed.

11 Euen vnto this ‖ time we both hunger and thirſt, and are naked, and are buffeted, and haue no certaine dwelling place, ‖ Or, houre.

*12 And labor, working with our owne hands: being reuiled, we bleſſe: being perſecuted, we ſuffer it: Act.20.34. 1.theſ.2.9. 2.theſ.3.8.

13 Being defamed, we pray: we are made as the filthineſſe of the world, & are the offſcouring of all things vnto this day. Matt.5.44.

14 I write not theſe things to ſhame you, but as my beloued ſonnes I warne you.

15 For though ye haue ten thouſand inſtructers in Chriſt, yet haue ye not many fathers: For in Chriſt Ieſus I haue begotten you through the Goſpel.

16 Wherefore I deſire you, be ye folowers of me.

17 For this cauſe haue I ſent vnto you Timotheus, which is my beloued ſonne, and faithfull in the Lord, who ſhall put you in remembrance of my wayes which be in Chriſt, as I teach euery where in all churches.

18 Some are ſwollen, as though I would come no more at you:

*19 But I wil come to you ſhortely, if the Lord will, and will know, not the wordes of them which are ſwollen, but the power. Act.19.21. iam.4.15.

20 For the kingdome of God is not in word, but in power.

21 What will ye? Shall I come vnto you with a rodde, or in loue, and in the ſpirit of meekeneſſe?

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. IIII.

Rhem. 1. 15. If you haue.) So may S. Auguſtine our Apoſtle ſay to vs Engliſh men.

Fulke. 1. That Auguſtine whom you ſpeake of was no Apoſtle of Chriſt but of Gregorie, neither did he beget the nation of the Engliſhmen to Chriſt by the pure goſpell as S. Paule did the Corinthians, but with mixture of mens traditions. And that Chriſtian religion which he found in the Britans, he laboured to corrupt with Romiſh inuentions. Auguſtine the monke no apoſtle.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. IIII.

Rhem. 2. 4. But not iuſtified) The Heretikes are certaine that they le in Gods grace, but S. Paul though guiltie of no crime in his conſcience, durſt not aſſure him ſelf that he was iuſtified, neither could take vpon him to be iudge of his owne hart and cogitations, whether they were pure or no: but the trial thereof he left onely to Gods iudging day. No man ſure of grace or iuſtification.

Fulke. 2. S. Paule was moſt ſure of Gods grace, and his iuſtification thereby through faith: Rom. 8. 30. But he doth acknowledge that he is not iuſtified by his faithfull ſeruice and labor in the goſpell, therefore no man can be iuſtified by his works done of grace, in as great perfection as can be done of mortall men, which yet is farre vnable to ſtand before the iuſtice of God. Certeintie of faith. Iuſtification by workes.

Rhem. 21. In rodde.) The Apoſtles haue power of diſcipline and cenſures againſt offenders, and power of gentlenes, meekenes, and indulgence alſo: to vſe either puniſhing or pardoning, according to their wiſedom, and according to the occaſions of time and place. Spiritual power to punish or pardon.

CHAP. V.

Sharply reb'king their Clergies negligence, 3 him ſelf abſent excommunicateth that publike inceſtuous perſon: 6 commaunding that hereafter no Chriſtian be ſo tolerated in any open crime, but excommunicated.

The ſecond part of the Epiſtle: of the inceſtuous fornicator: and lawing before Infidels.

THERE is plainely heard fornication among you, and ſuch fornication, as the like is not among the heathen, ſo that one hath his * fathers wife.

2 And you are puffed vp: and ‡ haue not mourned rather, that he might be take away from among you, that hath done this deede.

3 ‖ I in deede abſent in body, but preſent in ſpirit, haue already iudged, as preſent, him that hath ſo done,

4 In the name of our Lord IESVS Chriſt, ‖ you being gathered together and my ſpirit, with the vertue of our Lord IESVS

5 To deliuer ſuch an one ‖ to Satan for the deſtruction of the fleſh, that the ſpirit may be ſaued in the day of our Lord IESVS Chriſt.

6 Your glorying is not good. Know yon not that a litle leauen corrupteth the whole paſte?

The Epiſtle vpon Eaſter day.

7 Purge the old leauen, that you may be a new paſte, as you are azymes. For our Paſche, Chriſt, is immolated.

8 Therfore ‖ let vs feaſt, not in the old leauen, nor in the leauē of malice & wickednes, but in the azymes of ſinceritie and veritie.

e Either this Epiſtle in the wordes before, or ſome other.

9 I wrote to you in [e] an epiſtle, Not to keepe companie with fornicatours.

10 I meane not the fornicatours of this word, or the couetous, or the extorſioners, or ſeruers of Idols: otherwiſe you ſhould haue gone out of this world.

11 But now I wrote to you, not to keepe companie, if he that is named a brother, be a fornicatour, or a couetous perſon, or [c] a ſeruer of Idols, or a railer, or a drunkard, or an extorſioner: with ſuch an one ‖ not ſo much as to take meate.

12 For what is it to me to iudge of them that are without? Do not you iudge of them that are within?

13 For them that are without, God wil iudge. Take away ‖ the euil one from among your ſelues.

THere goeth a common ſaying, that there is fornication among you, and ſuch fornication as is not named among the Gentiles: that one ſhould haue his fathers wife.

2 And ye are puffed vp, and haue not rather ſorowed, that he that hath done this deed, might be taken away from among you.

*3 For I verily, as abſent in body, but preſent in ſpirit, haue determined already, as though I were preſent, that he that hath ſo done this deed, Col.2.5.

4 In the name of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt, you being gathered together, and my ſpirit with you, with the power of the Lord Ieſus Chriſt,

*5 To deliuer ſuch a one vnto Satan for the deſtruction of the fleſh, that the ſpirit may be ſaued in the day of the Lord Ieſus. 1.Tim.1.20.

*6 Your glorying is not good, Know ye not that a litle leauen leaueneth the whole lumpe? Gal.5.9.

7 Purge out therfore the olde leauen, that ye may be a new lumpe, as ye are vnleauened. For euen Chriſt our Paſſouer is ‖ offered vp for vs. ‖ Or, is ſlaine.

8 Therfore let vs keepe holyday, not with old leauen, neither with the leauen of malicioufneſſe and wickednеſſe: but with the vnleauened bread of pureneſſe and trueth.

9 I wrote vnto you in an epiſtle, that ye ſhould not company with fornicators.

10 I did not meane not at all with the fornicators of this world, or with the couetous, or extortioners, or with idolaters: for then muſt ye needs haue gone out of the world.

11 But now this I write vnto you, not to companie together, if any that is called a brother be a fornicator, or couetous, or a worſhipper of idols, or a railer, or a drunkard, or an extortioner: with him that is ſuch, not to eate.

12 For what haue I to doe to iudge them that are without? doe not ye iudge them that are within?

13 Them that are without, God ſhall iudge. And ye ſhall put away from among you that wicked perſon.

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. V.

Rhem. 1. 11. [c] A ſeruer of Idols.) A notorious wilful corruption in the bible 1582: tranſlating in the verſe before, Idolaters: and here, worſhiper of images: the Apoſtles word being one, εἰδωλολάτρης, Idolater.

Fulke. 1. Nay rather a manifeſt example that our tranſlator meaneth that an Idolater and worſhipper of images, is all one. As in the proper ſenſe of the word, there is no difference. Therefore another tranſlation vſeth the terme Idolaters in both places, the third hath a worſhipper of Idols in the latter place. Slanderous cauilling.

Whereupon S. Chryſoſtome vpon theſe wordes,* Die Eccleſiæ, Tel the Church. Mat. 18: Complaine to the Church, that is, ſaith he, to the Prelats and Preſidents thereof.

The authoritie of Eccleſiaſtical cenſures is in the Clergie only, and is executed in the name of Chriſt.

Fulke. 3. The auctoritie of excommunication perteineth to the whole church, although the iudgement and execution thereof is to be referred to the gouernors of the church, which exerciſe that auctoritie as in the name of Chriſt, ſo in the name of the whole church whereof they are appointed gouernors, to auoid confuſion.

Rhem. 4. With the vertue.) All ſuch great power ouer ſoules, is holden & exerciſed in the name and vertue of CHRIST IESVS. And whatſoeuer ſetteth light by it, deſpiſeth our Lordes name and power.

Auguſtine.* And by this ſpiritual ſword (ſaith S. Cyprian) al muſt die in their ſoules, that obey not the Prieſts of Chriſt in the new law, as they that were diſobedient to the iudges of the old law, were ſlaine with the corporal ſword. Would God the world knew what a maruelous puniſhment Chriſt hath appointed the Prieſts to execute vpon the offenders of his lawes, and ſpecially vpon the diſobedient, as Heretikes namely.

The terrible ſentence of excommunication. Act. 5.

Locis citatis.

Fulke. 4. Without ſuch bodily tormenting by the deuill, we are ſufficiently aſſured, that whoſoeuer is diuided from the church of Chriſt, is in the power of Satan. That Chriſt did excommunicate Iudas we finde not in the ſcripture, nor that Peter did excommunicate Ananias and Saphira. The puniſhment in deed of excommunication is exceeding great, when it is iuſtly executed by the miniſters of the true church. But the banning of heretikes is no more to be feared, then their bleſſing is to be deſired. And if they alſo that be true members of the church will take vpon them to excommunicate ſuch as be not vnder their iuriſdiction, their excommunication is not to be regarded. As when Victor biſhop of Rome tooke vpon him to denounce all the churches of Aſia to be excommunicate, which did not keepe the feaſt of Eaſter as the church of Rome did. The churches of Aſia did iuſtly deſpiſe his vniuſt cenſure. And the biſhops of Aſia (ſaith Euſebius) εἰλικρινείᾳ did countermand him (as it is to be thought) gathered in councell againſt his vſurped excommunication, willing him to be better affected to peace and vnitie with his brethren. Beſide this many godly biſhops by their letters, did ſharply rebuke him for his doing, yea ſome of them that ioyned with him in the vſe of the ceremony: as Irenæus biſhop of Lyons in the name of the brethren of France. Hiſt. lib. 5, c. 25.

Excommunication.

The biſhop of Romes auctoritie.

Rhem. 5. 8. Let vs feaſt.) The Paſchal lambe, which was the moſt expreſſe figure of Chriſt euery way, was firſt ſacrificed and afterward eaten with azymes or vnleauened bread. ſo Chriſt our Paſchal, being then newly ſacrificed on the Croſſe, is recommended to them as to be eaten with al puritie and ſinceritie, in the holy Sacrament. Which myſterie the holy Church in theſe wordes commendeth to the faithful euery yere at the feaſt of Eaſter.*

Puritie in receiuing the B. Sacrament. Exo. 12.

Fulke. 5. S. Auguſtine referreth this feaſting not to the celebration of Eaſter, nor to the receiuing of the communion, whereunto we ought to be prepared with all ſinceritie, but to our whole life. Etenim paſcha noſtrum &c. Chriſt our paſſeouer (ſaith he) is ſlaine or offered, that they might learne by example of ſo great humilitie, to purge out the olde leauen, that is what pride ſoeuer had remained in them of the olde man. Therefore (ſaith he) let vs keepe holy day, not for one day onely, but for our whole life, not in the olde leauen, nor in the leauen of malice and malignitie, but in the vnleauened bread of ſinceritie and truth. Cont. ep. Parm. lib. 3. c. 2.

Eaſter day.

Rhem. 6. 11. Not to take meate.) It is not meant that we ſhould ſeparate our ſelues corporally from al ſinners, or that we might refuſe to liue in one Church or felowſhip of Sacraments with them, which was the errour and occaſion of the Donatiſtes great ſchiſme: nor that euery man is ſtraight after he hath committed any deadly ſinne, excommunicated, as ſome Lutherans hold: but that we ſhould auoid them when the Church hath excommunicated them for ſuch, though in minde, and condemnation of their faults, euery one ought to be alwaies far from them. As for the Heathen and Pagans, which be not vnder the Churches diſcipline, and at that time in external worldly affaires deals with Chriſtians and liued amongeſt them whether they would or no, the Apoſtle did not forbid Chriſtians their companie.

We are bound to auoid, not al ſinners, but the excommunicate openly, and them, except in certaine caſes.

Fulke. 6. I know not any Lutherans that hold that euery man ſtreight after he hath committed any deadly ſinne is excommunicated. But among papiſts there is for ſome offences excommunication ipſo facto, and de iure, and a canone, without any ſentence or denunciation. Extra. de ſent. Excom. Cum deſideres. And further I finde in your Canon law, this title, Vita non ſententia, ab eccleſia aliquem eijcit, vel ad eam recipit. The life and not the ſentence doth caſt any man out of the church, or receiueth him vnto it. Which is thus expounded, Cum aliquis &c. When any man goeth out from the truth, from the feare of God, from faith, from charitie, he goeth out of the campe of the church although he be not caſt out by the voice of the biſhop. As on the contrary ſide, ſome is caſt out by no right iudgement, but if he went not out before, that is if he did not that whereby he deſerued to goe out, he is nothing hurt. For ſometimes, he that is caſt out, is within, and he that is without, ſeemeth to be kept within. Decret. cauſa. 24. qu. 3. c. Cum aliquis &c. By this iudge, whether ſome Lutherans be iuſtly charged with that which is affirmed by many Papiſtes, as the Canon law is.

Slander.

Rhem. 13. The euil one.) He concludeth that though they can not, nor him ſelf neither, put of the Heathen that be publike offenders, yet the ill perſon by him excommunicated being one of their owne body, they may put of, as is aforeſaid, and auoid his company. Vpon which commandement of the Apoſtle, we ſee that we are bound by Gods word to auoid al companie and conuerſation with the excommunicats, except in caſes of neceſſitie, and the ſpiritual profite of the perſon excommunicated.

CHAP. VI.

He rebuketh them for going to law before Iudges that were not Chriſtians, 9 telling that extorſion (as many other offenſes likewiſe) is a mortal ſinne. 12 And with diuers reaſons he inueigheth againſt fornication, bidding alſo to flee al occaſion thereof.

DARE any of you hauing a matter againſt an other, to be iudged before the vniuſt, and not before the ſaincts?

‡ The faithful iudge and giue ſentence with God at the later day, ſpecially the Apoſtles and the perfect Chriſtians that haue forſaken al for Chriſtes ſake.

2 Or know you not that ‡ the ſainćts ſhal iudge of the world? And if the world ſhal be iudged by you: are you vnworthie to iudge of the leſt things?

3 Know you not that we ſhal iudge Angels? how much more ſecular things?

4 If therfore you haue ſecular iudgements: the contemptible that are in the Church, ſet them to iudge.

5 I ſpeake to you ſhame. So is there not among you any wiſe man, that can iudge betweene his brother.

6 But brother with brother ‖ contendeth in iudgement: and that before infidels?

7 Now certes there is plainely ‖ a fault in you, that you haue iudgements among you. Why do you not rather take wrong? why do you not rather ſuffer fraude?

8 But your ſelues doe wronge and defraude: and that to the brethren.

9 Know you not that the vniuſt ſhal not poſſeſſe the kingdom of God? Do not erre, Neither fornicatours, nor c idolatrie. c ſeruers of Idols, nor aduouterers, nor the effeminat, nor the liers with mankinde,

10 Nor theeues, nor the couetous, nor drunkards, nor railers, nor extorſioners ſhal poſſeſſe the kingdome of God.

11 And theſe things certes you were: but you are waſhed, but you are ſanctified, but you are iuſtified in the name of our Lord IESVS Chriſt, and in the Spirit of our God.

12 Al things are lawful for me, but al things are not expedient. Al things are lawful for me, but I wil be brought vnder the power of none.

13 The meate to the belly, and the belly to the meates: but God wil deſtroy both it and them: and the body not to fornication, but to our Lord, and our Lord to the body.

14 But God both hath raiſed vp our Lord, and wil raiſe vp vs alſo by his power.

For a Chriſtian man to draw an other to the iudgements ſeates and courtes of Heathen Princes (which then onely reigned) and not to ſuffer their controuerſies and quarels to be taken up among themſelues brotherly and peaceably, was a great fault: as, for one Catholike to draw an other for mere triſles, before ſecular or heretical Officers, is a very vnchriſtian part.* Going to law before heathen or heretical iudges.

10 But to them that be ioyned in matrimonie, not I giue commaundement, but our Lord, * that the wife depart not from her husband.

Mt.5.32.19.9. Mr.10.9. Lu.16.18.

11 And if ſhe depart, ‖ to remaine vnmaried, or to be reconciled to her husband. And let not the husband put away his wife.

12 For to the reſt, ‖ I ſay, not our Lord. If any brother haue a wife an infidel, and ſhe conſent to dwel with him: let him not put her away.

13 And if any woman haue a husband an infidel, and he conſent to dwel with her: let her not put away her husband.

14 For the man an infidel is ſanctified by the faithful woman: and the woman an infidel ‖ is ſanctified by the faithful husband: otherwiſe your children ſhoulde be vncleane: but now they are holy.

15 But if the infidel depart, let him depart. for the brother or ſiſter is not ſubiect to ſeruitude in ſuch. but in peace hath God called vs.

16 For how knoweſt thou woman, if thou ſhalt ſaue thy husband? or how knoweſt thou man, if thou ſhalt ſaue the woman?

17 But to euery one as our Lord hath deuided, as God hath called euery one, ſo let him walke, and as in al Churches I teach.

18 Is any man called being circumciſed? let him not procure prepuce. Is any man called in prepuce? let him not be circumciſed.

19 Circumciſion is nothing, and prepuce is nothing: but the obſeruation of the commaundements of God.

20 Euery one in the vocation that he was called, in it let him abide.

21 Waſt thou called being a bond man? care not for it: but and if thou canſt be made free, vſe it rather.

7 For I woulde that all men were euen as I my ſelfe: but euery man hath his proper gift of God, one after this maner, another after that.

8 I ſay therefore to the vnmaried and widowes, it is good for them if they abide euen as I:

9 But if they cannot abſtaine, let them marry: for it is better to marry then to burne.

*10 Vnto the maried commaund, not I, but the Lord, * Let not the wife depart from her husband:* Mat.5.32.& 19.9.

11 But and if ſhe depart, let her remaine vnmarried, or be reconciled to her husband againe: And let not the husband put away his wife.

12 But to the remnant ſpeake I, not the Lord, If any brother haue a wife that beleeueth not, and ſhe conſent to dwel with him, let him not put her away.

13 And the woman which hath to her husband an infidel, and he conſent to dwel with her, let her not put him away.

14 For the vnbeleeuing husband is ſanctified by the wife, and the vnbeleeuing wife is ſanctified by the husband: els were your children vncleane, but now are they holy.

15 But if the vnbeleeuing depart, let him depart. A brother or a ſiſter is not made ſubiect in ſuch things: but God hath called vs in peace.

16 For how knoweſt thou, O woman, whether thou ſhalt ſaue thy husband? or howe knoweſt thou, O man, whether thou ſhalt ſaue thy wife?

17 But as God hath diſtributed to euery man, as the Lorde hath called euery one, ſo let him walke, and ſo ordaine I in all Churches.

18 Is any man called being circumciſed? let him not adde vncircumciſion: Is any called in vncircumciſion, let him not be circumciſed.

19 Circumciſion is nothing, and vncircumciſion is nothing, but the keeping of the commandements of God.

*20 * Let euery man abide in the ſame calling wherein he was called.* Ephe.4.1.

21 Art thou called a ſeruant? care not for it: neuertheleſſe, if thou mayeſt be made free, vſe it rather.

22 For he that is called in the Lord being a ſeruant, is the Lordes free man: likewiſe alſo he that is called being free, is Chriſtes ſeruant.

23 You were bought with price, be not made the ‡ bondmen of men.

‡ You muſt not ſerue men ſo that you obey & pleaſe them more then God.

24 Euery ‖ brother wherein he was called, in that let him abide before God.

25 And as concerning virgins, a commaundement of our Lord I haue not: but ‖ counſel I giue, as hauing obteined mercie of our Lord to be faithful.

The Epiſtle for holy Virgins and Martyrs.

‖ one, brethren.

26 I thinke therfore that this is good for the preſent neceſsitie, becauſe it is good for a man ſo to be.

27 Art thou tied to a wife? ſeeke not to be looſed. Art thou looſe from a wife? ſeeke not a wife.

28 But if thou take a wife, † thou haſt not ſinned. And ‖ if a virgin marie, ſhe hath not ſinned. neuertheleſſe ‖ tribulation of the fleſh ſhal ſuch haue. but I ſpare you.

‡ Virginitie counſeled as the better: Mariage not forbidden, becauſe it is no ſinne.

29 This therfore I ſay brethren, the time is ſhort, it remaineth, that they alſo which haue wiues, be ‖ as though they had not:

30 And they that weepe, as though they wept not: and they that reioyce, as though they reioyced not: and they that bye, as though they poſſeſſed not.

31 And they that vſe this world, as though they vſed it not. for the figure of this world paſſeth away.

32 But I would haue you to be without carefulnes. He that is without a wife, is ‖ careful for the things that pertaine to our Lord, how he may pleaſe God.

33 But he that is with a wife, is careful for the things that pertaine to the world, how he may pleaſe his wife: and he is deuided.

34 And the woman vnmaried and the virgin, thinketh on the things that pertaine to our Lord: that ſhe may be holy both in body and in ſpirit. But ſhe that is maried, thinketh on the things that pertaine to the world, how ſhe may pleaſe her husband.

35 And this I ſpeake to your profit: not to caſt a ſnare vpon you, but to that which is honeſt, and that may giue you power without impediment to attend vpon our Lord.

36 But if any man thinke that he ſeemeth diſhonoured vpon his virgin, for that ſhe is paſt age, and if it muſt ſo be, let him doe that he wil. He ſinneth not if ſhe marie.

37 For he that hath determined in his hart being ſettled, not hauing neceſsitie, but hauing power of his owne wil, and hath iudged this in his hart, to keepe his virgin, doeth wel.

38 Therefore both he that ioyneth his virgin

23 Ye are bought with a price, be not ye the ſeruants of men. 1. Cor. 6. 20.

25 Now concerning virgins, I haue no commaundement of the Lord: yet giue I counſell, as one that hath obtained mercy of the Lord to be faithfull.

26 I ſuppoſe therefore that it is good for the preſent neceſſitie, that I ſay, it is good for a man ſo to be.

30 And they that weepe, as though they wept not: and they that reioyce, as though they reioyced not: and they that bye, as though they poſſeſſed not:

31 And they that vſe this world, as not abuſing it: for the faſhion of this worlde goeth away.

32 I woulde haue you without care. He that is vnmarried, careth for the thinges that belong to the Lorde, howe hee may pleaſe the Lord:

33 But he that hath married, careth for the things that are of the world, how he may pleaſe his wife.

34 There is difference betweene a virgine and a wife: the vnmarried woman careth for the thinges that are of the Lorde, that ſhe may be holy both in bodie and in ſpirite: but ſhe that is married, careth for the thinges that pertaine to the worlde, howe ſhee maye pleaſe her husband.

35 This ſpeake I for your profite: not that I may caſt a ſnare vpon you, but for comelines ſake, and ſitting faſt vnto the Lord without ſeparation.

36 But if any man thinke that it is vncomely for his virgin if ſhe paſſe the time of mariage, and neede ſo require, let him doe what he will, he ſinneth not: let them be married.

37 Neuertheleſſe, he that ſtandeth ſtedfaſt in his heart, hauing no neede, but hath power ouer his owne will, and hath ſo decreed in his heart that hee will keepe his virgine, doeth well.

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. VII.

Rhem.2. 5. That you may.) If the lay man cannot pray, vnlesse he abstaine from his wife: the Priest that alwayes must offer sacrifices, and alwayes pray, must therefore alwayes be free from matrimonie. Hiero.li.1.c.19.aduer.Iouin.

Fulke.2. Hierome was an immoderate extoller of virginitie, to the reproch and dishonour of matrimonie, as appeareth by his sayings in the same booke. Si bonum est &c. If it be a good thing not to touch a woman, ergo, it is an euill thing to touch a woman: for nothing is contrary to good but euill. This was S. Hieromes logike, in his heate against Iouinian. To touch a woman and not to touch a woman, be contraries, which euery childe knoweth to be otherwise. Againe he saith in deprauing the goodnesse of Matrimonie. Oro te quale &c. I pray you what good thing is that which forbiddeth to pray? which permitteth not the body of Christ to be receiued. So long as I fulfill the duetie of an husband, I fulfill not the office of a Christian. The same Apostle commaundeth in an other place, that we should pray alwaies. If we must alwayes pray, ergo we must neuer serue mariage: for so often as I render debt to my wife, I cannot pray. I omit what he writeth against second and third mariages, which afterward he was driuen to retract. You see if we must stand to his auctoritie, all men must absteine from mariage, as from an euill thing: as that forbiddeth to pray or to communicate with the Lordes body: as in doing the duetie whereof, they cannot doe the duetie of Christian men. And seeing that maried men also ought alwayes to pray, euen maried men must neuer yeelde to the duetie of mariage, which causeth that they cannot pray. These opinions are farre worse then that Iouinian held, of the equall worthinesse of virginitie with mariage. Therefore leauing his auctoritie, let vs examine his reason. If the lay man cannot pray vnlesse he absteine from his wife, then the priest must alwayes absteyne from mariage. This antecedent is false, for a lay man may not onely pray, but ought to pray alwayes, as Hierome also confesseth, though he doe not alwayes absteine from his wife. S. Paul willeth maried men not to defraude one another, except it be for a time with consent, that they may giue them selues to fasting and prayer, which kinde of prayer with fasting, is not alwayes necessarie, but sometimes conuenient, vpon some speciall occasion, that requireth most feruent prayers, with humiliation by fasting, and abstinence from all worldly delightes: and yet in such occasion, consent is necessarie for abstinence from matrimoniall companie, as it is plaine by the text. Yet it is so farre of, that the lay man cannot pray, vnlesse he absteine from his wife, that often times he prayeth more quietly and purely, then he that hath no wife, or absteyneth from her, if he haue not dominion ouer bodily lust. Wherefore matrimonie shall no more hinder ỹ priest to offer sacrifice and prayer, then it doeth the lay man, who is bound alwayes to offer sacrifice & prayers as much as the priest. And therefore we must oppose against S. Hieromes auctoritie, the auctoritie of Paphnutius, and the whole Councell of Nice that condescended vnto his reason, alledging that the companie of priestes and deacons, as well as of all other Christian men with their lawfull wiues, is chastitie. Socrates lib.1.cap.11. Virginitie. Mariage of Priestes.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. VII.

Rhem.3. 2. His owne wife.) He sayth not, as the Protestants here pretend to excuse the vnlawfull coniunction of Votaries, Let euery one marry: but, let euery one haue, keepe or vse his owne wife to whom he was maried before his conuersion. for the Apostle answereth here to the first question of the Corinthians, which was not, whether it were lawfull to marry, but whether they were not bound vpon their conuersion, to absteine from the companie of their wiues married before in their infidelitie, as some did persuade them that they ought to doe. Hiero.li.1.cont.Iouin.c.4. Chrys.in hunc locum hom.19. The Apostle biddeth not all to marie, but to keepe their wiues before maried.

Fulke.3. The Apostles wordes are generall, that to auoide fornication, euery man and woman ought to liue chastly in holy matrimonie. Hierome in deede more iniurious to matrimonie, then a Catholike doctor ought to haue beene, sayth thus: Non dixit eorum &c. He said not, let euery man marry a wife to auoide fornications: for then by this excuse he shoulde haue let loose the bridle to lust, that as often as the wife dyeth, so often another wife must be maried, that we doe not commit fornication: but let euery man haue his owne wife. You see plainely, if Hieromes auctorie be good in this place, it is good to condemne seconde or thirde mariages, after a mans wife be dead, which is litle better then Heresie, and therefore Hierome reuoked his opinion therein. Chrysostome sayeth nothing to restreyne the wordes onely to maried men, but sayeth, that this saying: It is good for a man &c. is not restreyned to priestes, but extendeth to all men. For hee would not vniuersally haue admonished onely priestes, if hee had written these things for them, but haue said: it is good for a teacher not to touche a woman: but now hee hath spoken vniuersally, when hee sayeth, it is good for a man. Therefore this is not saide onely to a Priest. And againe, Art thou loose from a wife, seeke not a wife: he sayeth not, thou Priest and Teacher, but generally, and throughout all the Epistle, his speache goeth generally: but when he sayeth, for fornication let euery man haue his wife, by the very cause of indulgence, he bringeth into continencie. Priestes mariage.

Rhem.4. 3. Let the husband render.) These wordes open the Apostles intention and talke to be onely of such as are al- ready maried, and to inſtruct them of the bond and obligation that is betweene the maried couple for rendring of the debte of carnall copulation one to an other: declaring that the maryed perſons haue yeelded their bodies ſo one to an other, that they cannot without mutuall conſent, neither perpetually nor for a time, defraude one the other.

Fulke.4. Theſe wordes doe not reſtraine the vniuerſalitie of the Apoſtles former wordes, ſeeing auoiding of fornication, is the ſame cauſe in them that are vnmaried to take wiues, and in them that are maried, to vſe the company of their wiues.

Rhem.5. 5. Giue your ſelfe to prayer.) This time, and the Heretikes doctrine, and high eſtimation of matrimoniall actes, are farre from the puritie of the Apoſtolike and primitiue Church, when the Chriſtians to make their prayers and faſtings more acceptable to God, abſtained by mutuall conſent euen from their lawfull wiues. our newe Maſters not much abſteining (as it may be thought) from their wiues for any ſuch matter. And yet S. Auguſtine ſayth, the Prelate ſhould paſſe other in this caſe, and thinke that not to be lawfull for him, that may be borne in others, becauſe he muſt dayly ſupply Chriſtes roome, offer, baptize, and pray for the people. So ſayth he li.1.q.ex vtroque reſt.q.127. in fine. See S.Hiero.li.1.c 19.aduerſ.Iouin.S.Ambr.li.1.Offic.c.vlt. But alas for the people, whoſe maried Paſtors are in this point farre worſe then the vnlearned ſort, neither teaching continencie, nor giuing good example.

Continence in maried folkes for prayer ſake.

Fulke.5. We haue none other eſtimation of the matrimoniall act, then the Apoſtle doth teach. And it may well be thought, that many of our miniſters vſe more continencie in lawfull mariage, then popiſh prieſtes doe that are not lawfully maried, yet vſe other wicked meanes to ſatisfie their vnlawfull luſtes, as the world knewe too well, when they liued at eaſe amongſt vs. That it is lawfull for a Biſhop to be maried, the auctoritie of the Scripture is more to be regarded then of any mortal man. S. Paul (as euen S. Hierome confeſſeth) deſcribeth a Biſhop, the husband of one wife, and hauing children in all chaſtitie, as Samuel, who was brought vp in the tabernacle, and as many prieſts in his time were maried: cont. Iou. lib. 1. That you cite for the contrary out of S. Auguſtine, lib. quæſt. &c. is neither of Auguſtines, neither of any learned mans writing, but of a late brabler, as his barbarous phraſes doe declare. in many places alſo, confuting that which S. Auguſtine doeth earneſtly defend, as in the cenſure of Eraſmus before that treatiſe, euery man may ſee. S. Ambroſe for ſuch puritie as is required of the miniſters ſayth, De caſtimonia &c. Of chaſtitie what ſhould I ſpeake, when one onely mariage is permitted, and not repeated? Euen in mariage it ſelfe, there is a lawe not to marie againe, nor to haue the continuation of a ſeconde wife. You ſee therefore, that mariage with one wife in his time was compted chaſtitie, and lawfull for a miniſter of the Church: yea he addeth moreouer, that the ſecond wife was not forbidden as a fault, but as againſt a lawe, which was, that he which had one wife before baptiſme, and another after, was not admitted into the miniſterie. In coniugio &c. In the mariage there is no fault but a lawe. Finally by the councell of Gangra, If any man make difference of a maried prieſt, as though through occaſion of his mariage he ought not to offer, and therefore doth refrain him ſelfe from his oblation, he is accurſed, Cap. 4.

Prieſtes mariage.

Rhem. 6. By indulgence, not commandement.) Leſt ſome might miſconſtrue his former wordes, as though he had preciſely commanded maried perſons not to abſteine perpetually from carnall copulation, or not to giue their conſent one to another of continencie but for a time onely: he declareth plainely that he gaue no rule or precept abſolutely therein, but that he ſpake all the foreſaid, condeſcending to their infirmities onely, inſinuating that continencie from carnal copulation is much better, and that him ſelfe kept it continually, Aug de bon. coniug. c. 10. Perpetual continencie, euen in maried folks, better then carnall copulation.

Rhem.6. 7. A proper gift.) To ſuch as may lawfully marry, or be already maried, God giueth not alwayes that more high and ſpeciall gift or grace of continencie, though euery one of them all that duely aske and labour for it, might haue it: but ſuch are not bound to endeuour or ſeeke for it alwayes, and therefore cannot be commaunded to abſtaine further then they like. but whenſoeuer a man is bound to abſtaine, either by vowe or any other neceſſarie occaſion (as if one of the parties be in priſon, warre, baniſhment, ſickneſſe, or abſent perpetually by lawfull diuorce) the other muſt needes in paine of damnation abſtaine, and cannot excuſe the want of the gift of chaſtitie. for he is bound to aske it and to ſeeke for it of God by faſting, prayer, and chaſtiſing his body: and ſo labouring duely for it, God will giue the grace of chaſtitie. So had S. Paul it, and ſo had all the holy men that euer liued chaſt. Therefore deteſt the doctrine of the Proteſtants in this point, that when they liſt not faſt nor pray for it, ſay they haue not the gift. And it were a great maruell why ſo fewe of the newe Sectes or rather none at all in a dayes haue that gift, but that we ſee it is obtained by theſe meanes which our forefathers vſed, and they vſe not at all. To liue in mariage continently without the breach of coniugall fidelitie, is a gift of God alſo, but men muſt not breake their faith of wedlocke for want of it, but muſt knowe that God giueth that gift to ſuch as humbly aske it of him. Auguſt. de grat. & lib. arbitrio. c. 4. de continent. cap. 1.

Who are bound to liue continently: and that God giueth this gift to all that aske it.

*See S. Auguſtine li. 2. c. 19. 20. de Adult. Coniug. c. 6.

Fulke.6. It cannot be called a proper gift, if euery one that labour for it, may haue it. Our Sauiour Chriſt teacheth, that all men cannot take it, but let him (ſayth he) that can take it, take it and vſe it, Mat. 19. 11. 12. They that bind them ſelues by a raſh and vnaduiſed vow, before they were ſure of the gift, haue no promiſe to be heard in their prayer for continencie. But where there is ſuch neceſſitie, as they neither are cauſe of them ſelues, nor can otherwiſe auoide, as in long or perpetual ſickneſs, it is certaine, that God will giue the gift, being ſought for by ſuch meanes as it is conuenient, becauſe he hath promiſed al things neceſſarie for our ſaluation: as for impriſonment, baniſhment, warre, &c. I doe not take to be ſuch neceſſitie, but the husband is bound to followe his wife in them, and the wife her husband. As for abſence by lawfull diuorce, which is onely for fornication, doth not reſtraine matrimonie, ſeeing that caſe is excepted by our Sauiour Chriſt, and there is no reaſon but that the exception ſhould extend as well to the ſecond mariage, as to the diuorce. There is no cauſe therefore to deteſt the Proteſtants doctrine, when they ſay they haue not the gift of continencie, but rather to deteſt both the doctrine, and the doings of the papiſts, which ſay they haue the gift, and teach that all men may haue it if they will, and yet leade a filthy and abominable life out of mariage. Whether we vſe prayer and faſting, to trie whether it will pleaſe God to giue that gift, it is vnknowen to you. Some I am ſure haue vſed it, & many among vs, both in the miniſterie, and out of it, haue the gift of continencie, though they make no raſh vowes of it, nor deſpiſe them that haue it not. Howe well you keepe your vowes that liue abroad, we knowe not, but your forefathers the popiſh Clergie, that liued here amongſt vs, we knowe, that as fewe of them liued chaſtly, as of vs doe liue out of mariage continently.

All cannot haue the gift of continencie.

Rhem.7. 9. If they conteine not.) He meaneth of ſuch as be free: for if they marry after they haue made vowe or promes to God of chaſtitie, they are worthely damned, ſuch being bound to conteine, and ſo may conteine if they liſt. Auguſt de bono viduit. c.8.9. & de adul. coniug. li.1. c.15. & de fide ad Petrum c.3. in fine. Ambroſ. ad virg. lapſam c.5.

The Apoſtle permitteth mariage to the that be free, not to vowed perſons.

Fulke.7. He ſpeaketh generally, and therefore his precept extendeth alſo to them that haue made raſh vowes of continencie, if they doe not conteyne: and if they may conteyne if they liſt, the fauk of many popiſh prieſtes is the greater, that they doe not conteyne. S. Auguſtine de bono viduitatis, although he compt it a ſinne, to forſake continencie in them that haue vowed it, yet he condemneth not the mariage of ſuch as haue vowed. Non quia ipſe nuptiæ vel talium &c. Not that the mariage it ſelfe, euen of ſuch perſons, is iudged to be condemned Cap.9. and in the next Chapter he proueth, that ſuch mariages are not to be diſſolued: for though he condemne ỹ breaking of that vow to be euill, yet he affirmeth the mariage to be good. S. Ambroſe in the place quoted, although he affirmeth, that ſuch as haue vowed, ought not to marry, yet he compteth it more intollerable for ſuch to commit fornication. Epiphanius teſtifieth what the iudgement of the Church was in his time. Contra apoſtolicos, Hær. 61. Melius eſt itaq; &c. It is better to haue one ſinne, and not many: It is better for him that is fallen from his courſe, openly to take vnto him a wife according to the lawe, and to repent a long time from his virginitie, and ſo to be brought againe vnto the Church, as he that hath wrought euill, as he that is fallen and broken, and hath neede to be bound vp, and not to be dayly wounded with ſecret dartes of that impiety, which is offered to him by the deuil: ſo knoweth the Church to preach. Theſe are the medicines of healing &c. Contrary to this doctrine, ſome papiſtes haue preached, that it is leſſe ſinne for a vowed prieſt to keepe many concubines, then to mary a wife: and as you affirme in the next ſection.

Vow of continencie.

Rhem.8. 9. Better to marry.) *It is better to marry for the ſaid perſons that be free, then to be ouerthrowen and fall into fornication. for, to burne, or, to be burnt, is not to be tempted onely (as the Proteſtants thinke that picke quarels eaſely to mary) but it ſignifieth * to yeelde to concupiſcence either in mind or externall worke. We ſay alſo, for ſuch as be free. for concerning others lawfully made prieſtes, and ſuch as otherwiſe haue made vow of chaſtitie, they cannot marry at all, and therefore there is no compariſon in them betwixt mariage and fornication or burning. for their mariage is but pretenſed, and is the worſt ſort of incontinencie and fornication or burning.*

Theodoret in hunc locum.

Fulke.8. By Epiphanius iudgement, it is better for vowed perſons to mary, then to burne: which is not onely to be tempted, as you falſly ſlander vs to thinke, but to be ſo continually inflamed with luſt, that the will doeth conſent, and deſire quenching, which cannot be auoided in them that haue not the gift of continencie, whether they be vowed, or free from vowes. That you affirme the mariage of vowed prieſtes to be but pretenſed, and to be the worſt ſort of incontinencie, and fornication, and burning, you are contrary to Auguſtine de bono viduitatis Cap.9. who ſayth, That the mariage euen of ſuch is not to be condemned. And moreouer he ſayth. Damnantur tales &c. Such are condemned, not becauſe they haue entred into the faith of mariage afterward, but becauſe they haue made voide the firſt faith of continencie, which thing that the Apoſtle might briefely inſinuate, he would not ſay, that theſe widowes haue damnation which marry after the purpoſe of greater holineſſe, not becauſe they are not condemned, but leſt the mariage it ſelfe in them might be thought to be condemned. And in the 10. chapter he ſayeth. Therefore they which ſay, that the mariage of ſuch is no mariage, but rather adulteries, ſeeme to me, not to conſider throughly and diligently what they ſay: for a ſimilitude of trueth doeth deceiue them. Againe, Fit autem &c. There commeth to paſſe by this inconſiderate opinion (whereby they thinke that the mariage of women that are fallen from their holy purpoſe, if they be maried, to be no mariage) no ſmall euill, that wiues are ſeparated from their husbands, as though they were adultereſſes, and not wiues. And when they will reſtreine them to continencie after they be ſeparated, they make their husbands adulterers, when they mary other women, while their owne wiues are aliue. Wherefore I cannot ſay, that if women that are fallen from a better purpoſe doe mary, that they are no mariages but adulteries: But plainely I would not doubt to ſay, that their fallings and ruines from more holy chaſtitie, which is vowed vnto God, are worſe then adulteries.

Mariage of votaries. Slander.

You ſee therefore by his hard iudgement, that the mariage is true and not pretenſed, ſuch as cannot be diſſolued, though the breach of the vow be a grieuous ſinne, and more grieuous then adulterie.

Epiphanius alſo is cleane contrary to your filthy cenſure againſt marying, as is ſhewed before: and further he ſayth againſt thoſe apoſtolike Heretikes, that profeſſed continencie and kept it not, as many popiſh prieſts doe and haue done. Qui virginitatẽ &c. He that hath corrupted virginitie, is reiected out of that courſe, and deprined of crowne and reward: but yet iudgement is better then condemnation. For they that commit fornication priuilie, leſt they ſhoulde be aſhamed before men, and exerciſe filthy luſt vnder ſhewe of ſolitarineſſe and continencie, haue not confeſſion before men, but with God, which knoweth all ſecretes, and reproueth all fleſh at his comming, as euery man hath ſinned. Therefore it is better to haue one ſinne, and not many &c. as in the former ſection, and in the end concludeth. Theſe be the medicines of healing, theſe be the ſpices for confection of the ointments, this is the preparation of the holy oyle in the Lawe, this is good faith giuing ſmell of ſweete odours, binding in deede the champions to his battell, and preaching vnto him to continue his courſe that he may be crowned. This is Gods marchandize, gathering all men to his royall ordinance, both purpule out of the ſea, and wooll from the ſheepe, and flaxe from the earth, and fine linnen, and ſilke, and ſkins dyed redde, and the precious Emeralde, and the pearle, and the Agate, ſtones differing in colours, but equall in price: But yet not reiecting golde, and ſiluer, wood that roteth not, braſſe and yron, nor Goates haire. And this was then the tabernacle, but nowe the building of the tabernacle is eſtabliſhed in God, and the foundation in trueth. And let all Hereſie ceaſe, which is rayſed vp againſt the trueth, or rather which diuerteth it ſelfe from the trueth. Thus it is manifeſt by the iudgement of the Church in Epiphanius time, that that was accompted Hereſie, which you deliuer for wholeſome doctrine.

Rhem.9. 11. To remayne vnmarried.) Neither partie may diminiſſe the other and mary an other for any cauſe. for though they bee ſeparated for fornication, yet neither may marry againe. Auguſtine de adulte. coniug. lib. 1. cap. 8.9. and lib. 2. cap. 5.19. See Annotations Math. 19. and S. Auguſtine in his whole bookes de adulter. coniugũs tom. 6.

After diuorce not to marie.

Fulke.9. It is manifeſt, that the Apoſtle ſpeaketh of ſuch departings as were not lawfull diuorces, and ſo doeth S. Ambroſe vnderſtand the place ſaying, Subauditur autem excepta fornicationis cauſa. You muſt vnderſtand except this departure be for the cauſe of fornications, Quia viro luxe &c. Becauſe it is lawfull for the husbande to mary a wife,

Mariage after diuorce.

if he haue put away his wife offending. In which place although hee thinketh the woman haue not the like right, if ſhe forſake her husband for adulterie, yet in deede the caſe is all one. Chryſoſtome vnderſtandeth the text of ſuch departings, as are not for the cauſe of fornication, and ſo doth Theodoret.

Rhem.10 12. I ſay, not our Lord.) By this we learne, that there were many matters ouer and aboue the things that Chriſt taught or preſcribed, left to the Apoſtles order and interpretation: wherein they might, as the caſe required, either command or counſell, and we bound to obey accordingly. The Apoſtles precepts.

Fulke.10 The Apoſtles had not particular precepts for euery caſe, but they had generall rules in Chriſtes doctrine, which they were bound to followe in their precepts and counſels. The precepts of the Apoſtles.

Rhem.11 14. Sanctified.) When the infidell partie is ſaide to be cleane or ſanctified by the faithfull, or the children of their mariage to be cleane, we may not thinke that they be in grace or ſtate of ſaluation thereby, but onely that the mariage is an occaſion of ſanctification to the infidell partie and to the children. for S. Auguſtine (lib.3.de pec.mer.& remiſ.c.12.) concludeth againſt the Pelagians, as we may doe againſt the Caluiniſts, holding Chriſtian mens children to be holy from their mothers wombe and not to neede baptiſme, that what ſoeuer ſanctification ſoeuer it be that is here meant, it cannot be ynough to ſaluation without faith, Baptiſme, &c. How the infidell, or infidels childeare ſanctified by the Christian. Hiero.lib.1 c.5. aduerſ Iouin.

Fulke.11 It is an impudent ſlander, ẏ the Caluiniſts holde Chriſtian mens children to be ſo holy from their mothers wombe, that they neede not Baptiſme. For Caluine cleane contrariwyſe doeth argue againſt the Anabaptiſts vpon S. Pauls wordes: They are holy, ergo they are to be baptized. And the Sacrament is not to be denied vnto them that are therefore called holy, becauſe they are comprehended in Gods couenant: where he ſaith, I will be thy God, and the God of thy ſeede after thee. Gen.17.7. Slander.

Rhem. 19. But the obſeruation) Neither to bee Iewe nor Gentile, bond or free, maried or ſingle, nor the faith it ſelfe which is proper to Chriſtian men, will ſerue to ſaluation, without good workes and keeping the commaundements. S. Hierome adu.Iouin.lib.1.cap.16.

25. Counſell I giue.) A counſell is one thing, a commaundement is an other. To doe that which is counſelled, is not neceſſarie, becauſe one may be ſaued notwithſtanding. But he that will doe that which he is counſelled vnto, ſhall haue a higher degree of glory. He that fulfilleth not a commaundement, except he doe penance, cannot eſcape puniſhment. Auguſt.lib.de virg.cap.13.& 14. The difference of counſels & precepts.

Rhem.12 28 If a virgine marie.) He ſpeaketh not of that virgine which hath dedicated her ſelfe to God, (for if any ſuch marry, ſhe ſhal be damned for breaking her firſt vowe) but onely of yong maides vnmaried in the worlde. Hiero. adu. Iouin.lib. 1.cap.7. Chryſoſtome Hom 20. Theodoret, Photius, and the other Greeke Doctors vpon this place apud Occum. Epiph. hæreſ.61. A profeſſed virgine may not marrie.

Fulke.12 If a virgine, or any other that is vowed marry, ſhe ſinneth not in mariage, as S. Auguſtine ſayth, De bono vid. Cap.9.10. but in breaking her vowe. So meane the reſt of the Doctors, and we agree thereunto, if ſhe be able to liue continently, ſhe ſinneth grieuouſly to breake her vowe: but if ſhe be not able to conteyne, then that hath place which I cited before out of Epiphanius, Hæreſ.61. And that which S. Hierome writeth ad Demetr. Sanctum virginum propoſitum &c. The name of conteyne women, which behaue not them ſelues well, doeth defame the holy purpoſe of virgins, and the glory of the heauenly and angelike familie: to whom is muſt be ſaide openly, that eyther they ſhould marry, if they cannot conteyne, or conteyne if they will not marry. Mariage of vowes.

Rhem.13 28. Tribulation of the fleſh.) They are marueilouſly deceiued (ſayeth S. Auguſtine lib.de virg. cap.13) that thinke the Apoſtle counſelleth virginitie rather then mariage, onely for that mariage hath many miſeries and moleſtations ioyned vnto it, which by virginitie ſhalbe auoyded. and not in reſpect of the greater reward in heauen. for the Apoſtles prouident counſeling to virginitie, is for the next life, and he alleageth theſe troubles of mariage in that reſpect ſpecially as they be a hinderance from the ſeruice of God here, and therefore an impediment to vs toward the next life, and the more ample ioyes thereof. Virginitie counſelled as more meritorious.

Fulke.13 S. Auguſtines wordes, if they were graunted to be as true as the Goſpel, yet proue not, that virginitie is counſelled as more meritorious. Merite.

Rhem. 29. As though they had not.) He exhorteth that ſuch as haue wiues, ſhould not wholy beſtowe them ſelues in the vaine tranſitorie pleaſure and volupt uouſneſſe of their fleſh, but liue in ſuch moderation, that their mariage hinder them as little as may be, from ſpirituall cogitations. Which is beſt fulfilled of them that by mutuall conſent doe wholy conteyne, whether they haue had children or none, contemning carnal iſſue for the ioyes of heauen. And theſe mariages be more bleſſed then any other, ſaith S Auguſtine de Ser: Do. in monte lib.1.cap.14. The continencie of maried folke. Their perpetuall continencie, beſt.

Rhem.14 32. Carefull for the things of our Lord.) The Proteſtants might here learne if they liſt, firſt that virginitie is not onely preferred before mariage, for that it is a more quiet ſtate of life in this world, but for that it is more conuenient for the ſeruice of God. Secondly that virginitie hath a grateful puritie and ſanctitie both of body and ſoule, which mariage hath not. Thirdly, they may learne the cauſe why the Church of God requireth chaſtitie in the clergie, and forbiddeth not onely fornication, but all carnall copulation euen in lawfull wedlocke: Which is not onely to the ende that Gods Prieſtes be not diuided from him by the clogges of mariage, but alſo that they be cleane and pure from the fleſhly actes of copulation. Virginitie preferred, & why. Why continencie is required in the clergie.

Fulke.14 We acknowledge, that virginitie in them that haue the gift, is more conuenient for the ſeruice of God, then mariage: but hereof it followeth not, that mariage which God hath permitted to all miniſters of the Church, ſhould be forbidden them by the popiſh Church, as cloggес and prophanation of ſacred orders: for ſo doth Gregorie Martin terme it, Diſcou.cap.15.ſect.11. This is not with the Apoſtle to counſaile virginitie as conuenient, but to commaund it as neceſſarie, and to forbid mariage as prophane, which is the doctrine of deuils, and a right badge of Antichriſtian apoſtaſie. 1.Tim.4. Mariage of prieſtes.

CHAP. VIII.

He rebuketh the learned who in pride of their knowledge did eate Idolothyta, that is things offered to Idols, vſing (as they ſaid) their libertie: but not conſidering that the ignorant tooke their doing as an example for them to frequent ſuch meates ſo, as they did before in their Paganiſme, with opinion that they did ſanctifie the eaters. The 4.part. Of meates ſacrificed to Idols.

And

AND concerning thoſe things that are ſacrificed to Idols, we know that ‖we al haue knowledge. ‡ Knowledge puffeth vp: but charitie edifieth.

‡ Knowledge without charitie puffeth vp in pride, and profiteth nothing at al. when it is ioyned with charitie, then it edifieth. Aug. li. 9. cir. Dei c. 10.

2 And if any man thinke that he knoweth ſomething, he hath not yet knowen, as hee ought to know.

3 But if any man loue God, the ſame is knowen of him.

4 But as for the meates that are immolated to Idols, we know that an Idol is nothing in the world, and ỽ there is no God, but one.

5 For although there be that are called gods, either in heauen, or in earth (for there are many gods, and many lordes)

6 Yet to vs there is one God, the Father, of whom all things, and we vnto him: and one Lord, IESVS Chriſt, by whom al things, and we by him.

7 But there is not knowledge in all. For ‖ſome vntil this preſent with a conſcience of the Idol, eate as a thing ſacrificed to Idols: & their conſcience being weake, is polluted.

8 But meate doeth not commende vs to God. For neither if we eate, ſhal we abound: nor if we eate not, ſhal we lacke.

9 But take heede leſt perhaps this your libertie be an offenſe to the weake.

10 For if a man ſee him that hath knowledge, ſit at table ‖in the Idols temple: ſhal not his conſcience, being weake, be edified, to eate things ſacrificed to Idols?

11 And through thy knowledge ſhal the Ro.14,15. the *weake brother periſh, for whom Chriſt hath died?

12 But ſinning thus againſt the brethren, and ſtriking their weake conſcience: you ſinne againſt Chriſt.

Ro.14,21. 13 Wherfore if *meate ſcandalize my brother: I wil neuer eate fleſh, leſt I ſcandalize my brother.

AS touching things offered vnto idols, wee know that we all haue knowledge. Knowledge maketh a man ſwell: but charitie edifieth.

2 If any man thinke that hee knoweth any thing, hee knoweth nothing yet as hee ought to know.

3 But if any man loue God, the ſame †is knowen of him. †Or, taught.

4 As concerning therefore the eating of thoſe things that are offered in ſacrifice vnto idols, we knowe that an idol is nothing in the worlde, and that there is none other God but one.

5 And though there bee that are called gods, whether in heauen or in earth (as there bee gods many, and lords many:)

*6 Yet vnto vs is there but one God, which is the father, of whom are all things, and we in him, and one Lorde Ieſus Chriſt, by whome are all things, and we by him. Iohn 13.13. 1.cor.12.3.

7 But there is not in euery man that knowledge: for ſome hauing that conſcience of the idol vnto this houre, eate as a thing offered vnto idols, and their conſcience being weake, is defiled.

8 But meate doeth not commend to God. For neither if we eate, haue wee the more: neither if we eate not, haue we the leſſe.

9 But take heede leaſt by any meanes this libertie of yours become a ſtumbling to them that are weake.

10 For if any man ſee thee which haſt knowledge, ſit at meate in the idols temple: ſhall not the conſcience of him which is weake, be boldened to eate thoſe things which are offered to idols?

11 And through thy knowledge ſhall the weake brother periſh, for whom Chriſt died?

12 But when ye ſinne ſo againſt the brethren, and wound their weake cõſcience, ye ſinne againſt Chriſt.

*13 Wherefore, if meate offend my brother, I Rom.14.21. will eate no fleſh while the world ſtandeth, leaſt I ſhould offend my brother.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. VIII.

Rhem. 1. We al haue knowledge.) The ſpiritual and perfectly inſtructed Chriſtians knew no meates now to be vncleane, neither for ſignification, as in the Law of Moyſes: nor alwaies by nature and creation, as the Manichees thought: nor by any other pollution, as in that they were offered to Idols: and therefore they did eate boldly of ſuch meates as were ſacrificed, contemning & condemning their Idols as mere nothing, and the worſhip of them as the honour of things imaginarie, which their faſte, for their want of diſcretion and charitie, and for the vſe of that their libertie to the offenſe & ſcandal of the weake, the Apoſtle doth here reprehend.

No meates vncleane.

Giuing of ſcandal reprehended.

Rhem. 1. 7. Some with a cõſcience.) The perfecter mens fault was, that they gaue offenſe by their eating, to the weaker Chriſtian, who ſeeing them whom they reputed wiſe and learned, to eate the meates offered to Idols, conceiued that there was ſome vertue and ſanctification in thoſe meates, from the Idol to which they were offered: and thought that ſuch things were or might be eaten with the ſame conſcience and deuotion as before their conuerſion.

Therefore the caſe ſtanding thus, and the Apoſtles diſcourſe of eating or not eating meates being ſo as is declared (a thing ſo euident that it admitteth no other interpretation) if the Proteſtants apply any of this admonition againſt our faſtes in the Cath. Church, they be to to ridiculous.

CHAP. IX.

Rhem. 1. To them that ſo vaunted their libertie about Idolothytes, he bringeth his owne example, to wit, that he alſo had libertie to liue by the Goſpel, but yet that he vſed it not, ſo to auoid ſcandal of the infirme, and becauſe it was more meritorious. 24 Declaiming againſt their ſecuritie, and ſhewing them by ſimilitudes and examples, 24 both of himſelf, 1 And of the Iſraelites, that ſaluation is not ſo lightly come by: 14 and ſo concludeth againe againſt eating of Idolothyta, becauſe it is alſo to commit idolatrie, 22 and not only to giue ill example to the infirme.

Fulke 1. S. Paul abſteined not to liue by the Goſpel becauſe it was more meritorious, but to auoyde offence, and to declare that he did it freely, and not as an hireling. Mein.

5 Haue we not power to lead about ‖ a womā a ſiſter, as alſo the reſt of the Apoſtles, and our Lords brethren, and ‡ Cephas?

6 Or I onely and Barnabas haue not we power to doe this?

8 Speake I theſe things according to mā? Or doth not the Law alſo ſay theſe things?

9 For it is written in the Law of Moyſes, Thou ſhalt not mooſel the mouth of the oxe that ‡ treadeth out the corne. Why, hath God care of oxen?

Deut. 25, 4. ‡ In that countrie they did tread out their corne with oxen, as we do threſh it out.

10 Or for vs certes doth he ſay it? For they are written for vs. becauſe he that eateth, ought to eate in hope: and he that treadeth, in hope to receiue fruite.

11 If we haue ſowen vnto you ſpirituall things, is it a great matter if we reape your carnal things?

12 If other be partakers of your power: why not we rather? Howbeit we haue not vſed this power: but we bear al things, leſt we ſhould giue any offenſe to ỹ Goſpel of Chriſt.

2 If I be not an Apoſtle vnto other, yet doubtleſſe am I vnto you: for the ſeale of mine Apoſtleſhip are ye in the Lord.

3 Mine anſwere to them that aske me, is this,

4 Haue we not power to eate and to drinke?

5 Haue we not power to lead about a ſiſter a wife, as well as other apoſtles, and as the brethren of the Lord and Cephas?

6 Is the libertie of not labouring † taken from me and Barnabas onely? † With the hands.

7 Who goeth a warfare any time at his owne coſt? who planteth a vineyard, and eateth not of the fruit thereof? or who feedeth a flocke, and eateth not of the milke of the flocke?

8 Say I theſe things after the maner of men? or ſaith not the lawe the ſame alſo?

9 For it is written in the lawe of Moſes, Thou ſhalt not mooſell the mouth of the oxe that treadeth out the corne. Doth God take care for oxen?

10 Either ſaith hee it not altogether for our ſakes? For our ſakes no doubt this is written: that hee which eareth, ſhoulde eare in hope: and that he which threſheth in hope, ſhould be partaker of his hope.

11 If we haue ſowen vnto you ſpiritual things, is it a great thing if wee ſhall reape your carnall things?

12 If others be partakers of their power ouer you, wherfore are not we rather? Neuertheleſſe, we haue not vſed this power: but ſuffer all things, leaſt we ſhould hinder the Goſpel of Chriſt.

13 Doe ye not know that they which miniſter about holy things, eate of the things of the temple? and they which waite at the altar, are partakers with the altar?

14 Euen ſo hath the Lorde ordained, that they which preach the Goſpell, ſhoulde liue of the Goſpel.

15 But

15 But I haue vſed none of theſe. Neither haue I written theſe things, that they ſhould be ſo done in me: for it is good for me to die rather, then that any man ſhould make my glorie void.

16 For and ‖ if I euangelize, it is no glorie to me: for neceſſitie lieth vpon me: for woe is to me if I euangelize not.

17 For if I doe this willingly, I haue reward: but if againſt my wil, a charge is committed to me.

18 What is my reward then? That preaching the Goſpel, I yeld the Goſpel without coſt, that I abuſe not my power in ỹ Goſpel.

19 For whereas I was free of all, I made my ſelf the ſeruant of al: that I might gaine the moe.

20 And I became to the Iewes as a Iew, that I might gaine the Iewes.

21 To them that are vnder the Law, as though I were vnder the Law (whereas my ſelfe was not vnder the Law) that I might gaine them that were vnder ỹ Law. to them that were without the Law, as though I were without the Law (whereas I was not without the Law of God, but was in the Law of Chriſt) that I might gaine them that were without the Law.

22 To the weake I became weake, that I might gaine the weake. To al men ‡I became al things, that I might ſaue al.

‡ Not by fiction or ſimulation, but by compaſſion of the infirmities of al ſorts. Aug. ep. 9.

23 And I doe all things for the Goſpel, ‖ that I may be made partaker thereof.

The Epiſtle vpon the Sunday of Septuageſime.

24 Know you not that they that runne in the race, al runne in deede, but one receiueth the price? ‖ So runne that you may obteine.

25 And euery one that ſtriueth for the maiſtrie, refraineth him ſelf from al things: and they certes, that they may receiue a corruptible crowne: but we an incorruptible.

26 I therefore ſo runne, not as it were at an vncertaine thing: ſo I fight, not as it were beating the aire:

27 But ‖ I chaſtiſe my body, and bring it into ſeruitude, ‖ leſt perhaps when I haue preached to others, my ſelfe become reprobate.

15 But I haue vſed none of theſe things. Neuertheleſſe, I wrote not theſe things, that it ſhould be ſo done vnto me: For it were better for mee to die, then that any man ſhould make my †reioycing vaine. †Or, boaſting.

16 For if I preach the Goſpel, I haue nothing to †reioyce of: for neceſſitie is layde vpon mee. But woe is vnto me if I preache not the Goſpell. †Or, boaſt of.

17 For if I doe this thing with a good will I haue a reward: but if againſt my will, the diſpenſation is committed vnto me.

18 What is my reward then? Verily that when I preach the Goſpel, I may make the Goſpell of Chriſt free, that I miſuſe not mine authoritie in the Goſpell.

19 For though I be free from all men, yet haue I made my ſelf ſeruant vnto all men, that I might winne the more.

20 Vnto the Iewes, I became as a Iewe, that I might winne the Iewes: to them that are vnder the lawe, as vnder the lawe, that I might winne them that are vnder the lawe:

21 To them that are without lawe, as without lawe (when I was not without lawe as pertaining to the lawe of God, but was in the lawe of Chriſt) that I might winne them that are without lawe.

22 To the weake became I as weake, that I might winne the weake: I haue bene made all things to all men, that I might by all meanes ſaue ſome.

23 And this I doe for the Goſpels ſake, that I might be partaker thereof.

24 Know ye not, that they which runne in a race, runne all, but one receiueth the reward? So runne, that ye may obtaine.

25 Euery man that proueth maſteries, abſtaineth from all things: and they do it to obteine a corruptible crowne, but we to obteine an incorruptible crowne.

26 I therefore ſo runne, not as at an vncertaine thing: ſo fight I, not as one that beateth the aire:

27 But I tame my body, and bring it into ſubiection: leaſt by any meanes that when I haue preached to other, I my ſelfe ſhoulde be a caſtaway.

Fulke 3. This was no corruption of the tranſlators, but a fault of the Printers. For the tranſlatour, (as in the Bible Printed in King Henries time, is to be ſeene) did ſay altars, not Temple. And why ſhould we not ſuffer the Iewiſh altar to ſtand, as well in this place, as in an hundreth places of the Bible beſide. Therefore it is a vaine Cauilling.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. IX.

Rhem. 4. 1. My worke.) As he called him ſelf before Gods creatures, ſo here he boldly alſo challengeth the Corinthians conuerſion to be his handy worke in our Lord: nothing derogating thereby from Chriſt, as the Proteſtants rudely charge the Fathers and Catholike men (vnder pretenſe of Gods honor) for vſing ſuch phraſes or ſpeaches in the Apoſtles ſenſe, of the Saincts or Sacraments. The Heretikes falſe pretenſe of Gods honour.

Fulke 4. The Proteſtants doe not charge the fathers, for vſing of any ſuch ſpeach of the Saincts and Sacraments as doe ſignifie no more, but that they be appointed miniſters and inſtruments of Gods working to our benefite.

Rhem. 5. 5. A woman a ſiſter.) *The Heretikes peruerſely (as they do al other places for the aduantage of their Sect) expound this of the Apoſtles wiues, and for, woman, translate, wife, as before ſounding wedding to them. Where the Apoſtle meaneth plainely the deuout women that after the maner of Iewrie * did ſerue the preacher of neceſſaries, of which ſort many followed Chriſt, and ſuſtained him and his of their ſubſtance. So doth S. Chryſoſtome, Theodoret, and al the Greekes (Oecumin collect ſuper hunc lo.) take it. So doth S. Auguſtine* De op. Monach. c. 4. and S. Hierom li. 1. aduerſus Iouinianum c. 14. both diſputing & proouing it by the very words of the text. S. Ambroſe alſo vpon this place. And the thing is moſt plaine, for to what end ſhould he talke of burdening the Corinthians with finding his wife, when him ſelf (c. 7. 7. 8) cleerely ſaith that he was ſingle? Hereticall tranſlation. New Teſt. 1580. Mar. 27. 55.

Fulke 5. Our tranſlation is according to the plaine words and meaning of the Apoſtle. For firſt, the word is not γυναῖκα ἀδελφὴν a woman ſiſter, but ἀδελφὴν γυναῖκα a ſiſter a wife, for no man would ſay, a ſiſter a woman, becauſe the word ſiſter implieth a woman. Therefore of neceſſitie, the latter word ſignifieth a wife ſpecially, and not a ſiſter generally. Chryſoſtome whome you cite impudently, ſaith neuer a word of the matter in controuerſie, onely rehearſing the wordes of the text. Theodoret ſaith: Some doe interprete it ſo, that as certaine faithfull women followed our Lord, miniſtring neceſſary foode to his diſciples, ſo ſome ſhewing more feruent faith, followed ſome of the Apoſtles, depending of their doctrine, and helping their diuine preaching. This interpretation hee doeth neither allow, nor diſalow, and therefore you ſay falſly, that he among the reſt doth take it ſo. But Oecumenius in deede, doth ſo take it. S. Auguſtine although he allow this 1. interpretation, yet he ſheweth that ſome did interpret the word γυναῖκα uxorem a wife, and rehearſing the text he ſaith, not as your vulgar Latine hath mulierem ſororem, a woman a ſiſter, but ſororem mulierem, a ſiſter a woman, which if he had obſerued, he had not bene ſo lightly deceiued, to reprehend the true interpretation of them that did tranſlate it ſororem uxorem a ſiſter a wife. S. Ambroſe leaueth out the worde ſiſter, and readeth mulieres in the plurall nomber, women: By which corrupt reading, hee might more eaſily be deceiued in the true meaning. As Hierome, who alſo readeth mulieres, being ready to take any thing that ſoundeth neuer ſo litle againſt mariage. Adde here vnto, that Tertullian to defende his hereſie of Monogamy, doeth ſo take it, againſt the Catholike doctors of his time. But Clemens Alexandrinus before him, by this text, doeth proue that the Apoſtles had wiues, and did leade them about, in theſe wordes: Doe they alſo reiect the Apoſtles? For Peter and Philippe did beget children, Philippe alſo did giue his daughters in marriage, and Paul ſpeaketh not in a certaine Epiſtle, to ſpeake to his yokefellow, which he did not lead about with him, becauſe he had no needs of great ſeruice. Therefore hee ſaith in a certain Epiſtle: Haue we not power to leade about a ſiſter a wife, as the reſt of the Apoſtles? But they truely as it was meete, becauſe they could be not ſpare their Miniſteric, attending to preaching, ledde them not about as wiues, but as ſiſters, which ſhould miniſter together with them among the women, which kept the houſes, by whome alſo without any reprehenſion or euil ſuſpition, the doctrine of our Lorde might enter into the cloſet of women. Stromat. lib. 3. And who would not thinke it agreeable to reaſon, that the Apoſtles which had wiues, would not leade them about, rather then ſtrange women, at leaſt wiſe in the company of ſtrange women? The Apoſtles wiues.

Againe, the word of leading about, declareth that they were their wiues that were ledde about, for the Apoſtles had no auctoritie to leade other women about with them. We reade that certaine women did followe our Sauiour Chriſt, we reade not that he did leade them about. The word ſignifying the auctoritie of the huſband ouer his wife, or of the Maſter ouer his mayde. Finally, the ſcope of the text, is againſt the expoſition of riche women, which ſhould miniſter of their ſubſtance to the Apoſtles neceſſitie, for by them the Church ſhould not haue bene charged, but their ductifull charge releeued. Whereas by the Apoſtles wiues that were poore as their husbands, the Church was charged. But it is a pithy reaſon that is conteined in that your queſtion, What ſhould he talke of burdening the Corinthians with finding his wife, when him ſelf cleerely ſaith, hee was ſingle? As though he might not declare what was lawful for him to doe, namely, to haue a wife as wel as other Apoſtles, and to charge the Church with finding of her, although he meant not to vſe that libertie. Our interpretation therefore, is not ſo hereticall as yours in the next verſe is ridiculous, who playeth the ſouldier, as though to goe a warfare were a play.

Rhem. 7. Who playeth the ſouldiar?) He proueth by the Scripture and naturall reaſons that Preachers and Paſtors may challenge their finding of their flocke, though him ſelf for cauſe had not yet intended not to vſe his right and libertie therein. Paſtors and preachers due.

Rhem. 6. 16. If I Euangelize.) If I ſhould preach either of compulſion and ſeruil feare, or mere neceſſitie, not hauing other wiſe to liue and ſuſtaine my ſelf in this world, I could not looke for reward in heauen, but were onely as ouerſeene Ione, but alſo as of cauſed charitie, and I freely without putting any man to coſt, and ſeeking onely and of very deſire I haue my Lauors, I ſhal haue my reward of God, yea and a reward of Supererogation, which is giuen to them that of their owne deuot charitie do more in the ſeruice of God then they be commanded, as S. Auguſtine expoundeth it. De op. Mon. c. 5. Worke of ſupererogation.

Fulke 6. S. Auguſtine hath no ſuch wordes as you faine, neither doeth he name a reward of Supererogation, but he ſaith, Paul did beſt, when more then was neceſſarie for him to do, who in his warre had his owne finding, according to the ſaying of the Samaritane to the Innekeper, Whatſoeuer thou ſhalt beſt we more. But that S. Paules abſtinence of his libertie was his ductie in this caſe, (though generally hee might vſe that libertie) his owne wordes are manifeſt, when he ſheweth, He abſtained that hee ſhould giue no offence, which was neceſſarie for him to auoyde, that hee ſhould not abuſe his power in the Goſpell. Therefore this reſrayming of his libertie in this caſe, was of ductie, and not of Supererogation, more then ductie. And of Supererogation of more then we haue receiued grounded vpon the words of the Samaritane, S. Auguſtine ſaith in his Confeſſions to God: Supererogatur Supererogation.

gaine tibi videbeas &c. There is giuen more to thee, that thou mayest be a debter, and who hath any thing, which is not thy owne, By which he sheweth, that God is not properly brought in debt by any superogation, when no man hath any thing but that which is Gods owne, and therefore is dew to him.

Rhem. 7. 23: That I may be partaker.) A singular place to conuince the Protestants, that will not haue men worke wel in respect of reward at Goos hand: the Apostle confessing expressly, that al this that he doth either of duety or of Supererogation aboue duety (as to preach of freecost, and to worke with his owne handes to get his owne meate and his fellowes, and to abstaine from many lawful things) al is, the rather to attaine the reward of heauen.

Doing wel in respect of reward.

Fulke. 7. This place doth rather proue, that the Apostle did willingly abstaine from vsing his libertie, because it was his duty in this case, for otherwise, he could haue no part of the Gospel. Although you slander the protestants, that they will not haue men worke wel in respect of reward at Gods hand: for they would haue men work wel, not only in respect of reward, but also for feare of punishment, due to them that worke not wel, yet not only for these respectes, nor chiefly, but principally of louing obedience, and duety as becommeth children to the glory of God there father, and not only for reward, as hirelings, nor only for feare, as slaues.

Supererogation. Slander

Rhem. 24. So runne.) If such as runne for a price, to make them selues more swift and to winne the game, abstaine from many meates and pleasures: what should we do or suffer to winne the crowne of glorie, purposed and promised to none but such as runne traual, and endeuour for it?

Running for the game.

Rhem. 8. 27. I chastise.) The goale of euerlasting glorie is not promised nor set forth for only faith men, for such runne at random: but it is the price of them that chastice & subdue their bodies and fleshly desires by fasting, watching, voluntary penaltie, & other afflictions. Lord, how farre is the carnal doctrine of the Sectaries and the maners of these daies from the Apostoles spirit. Wherein euen we that be Catholikes, though we do not condemne with the Protestants these voluntarie afflictions as superfluous (much lesse as superstitious or iniurious to Christ death,) but much commend them, yet we vse nothing the zeale and diligence of our first Christian auncesters herein, and therefore are like to be more subiect to Gods temporal chastisments, as the least in the next life then they were.

Penance meritorious.

Fulke. 8. This impudent rotten slander commeth so often, that it woulde make a man cast his gorge, to heare it so lothsomly repeated. We cry out as loud as we can: That faith, which only iustifieth, is not alone, but accompanyed with good workes, is not idle, but worketh by loue. But that the goale of euerlasting glory, is merited by chastising the body &c. the Apostle doth not teach. It is a reward, infinitly aboue the value of al mens workes, therfore geuen of grace not deserued of merit. Another impudent slander it is, to say, that we condemne voluntarie chastising of the body to such end, and in such maner, as the Apostle speaketh, as superfluous and superstitious: As though the Apostle spake, of the counterfeet chastising of Popish hypocrites to merite, or satisfie Gods iustice by them, which we condemne as iniurious to Christes death, and not watching to prayer, fasting

Aug. apud Per. Lomb. in hunc locum 27. Least perhaps.) Here may we lambes tremble (saith a holy father) when the ramme, the guide of the flocke, must so labour and punish him selfe (besides al his other miseries adioyned to the preaching of the Gospel) least perhaps he misse the marke. A man might think: S. Paul should be as sure and as confident of Gods grace and saluation as we poore wretched caitiues: but the Heretikes vnhappy security, presumption, and faithles persuasion of their saluation is not fides Apostolorum but fides dæmoniorum, not the faith of the Apostles, but the faith of Diuels.

S. Paul had not the Protestants securitie of saluation. Certeintie of saluation. Slander

Fulke. 9.

S. Paule did not presume of the ende without the meanes and waies by which God bringeth vs vnto it. Yet did he not doubt of his saluation, which had bene to doubt of Gods promises. Our security of saluation, is noe vayne presumption, but an assurance vpon the word of God, that through faith in God, and walking in the way that God hath appointed vs, we shal vndoubtedly come to the end of eternal life.

17 For being many, we are ‖ one bread, one body, al that participate of one bread.

18 Behold Iſrael according to the fleſh: ‖ they that eate the hoſtes, are they not partakers of the altar?

19 What then? do I ſay that that which is immolated to Idols', is any thing? or that the Idol is any thing?

9 Neither let vs tempt Chriſt, as ſome of them tempted, and were deſtroyed of Serpentes.

10 Neither murmure yee, as ſome of them murmured, and were deſtroyed of the deſtroyer.

11 All theſe things happened vnto them for enſamples: but they are written for our admonition, vpon whom the ends of the world are come.

13 There hath no temptation taken you, but ſuch as foloweth the nature of man: but God is faithful, which ſhal not ſuffer you to be tempted aboue that you are able: but ſhal with the temptation make a way to eſcape, that ye may be able to beare it.

17 For we that are many, are one bread, and one body, in as much as we all are partakers of one bread.

18 Behold Iſrael which is after the fleſh, are not they which eate of the ſacrifices, partakers of the altar.

19 What ſay I then? that the idol is any thing? or that it which is offered in ſacrifice to idols is any thing.

20 But this I ſay that the things which the Gentiles offer in ſacrifice, they offer to deuils, and and not to God: And I would not that ye ſhould haue felowſhip with the deuils.

21 Ye cannot drinke the cuppe of the Lord, and the cuppe of the deuils: Ye cannot be partakers of the Lordes table, and of the table of deuils.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. X.

Rhem. 2. 3.The ſame.) The redſea and the cloud, a figure of our Baptiſme: the Manna from heauen and water miraculouſly drawen out of the rocke, a figure of the holy Sacrament of Chriſtes body and blood: our Sacraments containing the things and graces in truth, which theirs only ſignified. And it is an impudent forgerie of the Caluiniſts, to write vpon this place, that the Iewes receiued no leſſe the truth and ſubſtance of Chriſt and his benefites in their figures or Sacramentes, then we do in ours: and that they and we al eate and drinke of the ſelfe ſame meate and drinke: the Apoſtle ſaying onely, that they among themſelues did al feede of one bread, & drinke of one rocke: which was a figure of Chriſt, herein eſpecially, that out of Chriſts ſide ſwarued vpon the Croſſe, guſhed out bloud and water for the matter of our Sacraments.

Fulke. 2. The red ſea,the cloud,and Manna,were not onely figures of baptiſme and the Lords Supper, but baptiſme in deede and the ſacramental Communication of the body and bloud of Chriſt,in deed. Therefore the Apoſtle ſaith,they were al baptiſed,they dranke of the ſpiritual rocke,which was Chriſt.And the argument of the Apoſtle,were of no force to proue his purpoſe,if the Iſraelits were not in the Sacraments equal vnto vs,both in ſignes,and in the things ſignified.S.Cyprian Ep.76.ſaith,Marc illud &c. That the ſea was the ſacrament of baptiſme,the Apoſtle declareth ſaying: I would not &c. Where you ſay it is an impudent forgery of the Caluiniſts,to write,that the Iewes receyued no leſſe the truth and ſubſtance of Chriſt,and his benefits in there ſacraments, then we do in ours, and that they and we eate and drinke, of the ſelfe ſame meate,and drinke, it is impudent malice, againſt the truth to denye it: which the Apoſtle doth ſo plainely affirme. For what doe we eate and drinke but Chriſt? ſo did they, for the Apoſtle ſayth, they dranke of the ſpiritual rocke which followed them, and that rocke was Chriſt.But you haue a ſhift to ſay,they among themſelues,did feed of one bread and drink of one rocke,which was a figure of Chriſt: that is true,and ſo do we,but they did eate the ſame ſpiritual meate & drink the ſame ſpiritual cupp that we do. And ſo ſaith S.Auguſtine expreſly. *Eundem inquit cibum ſpiritualem &c. whoſoeuer ſought only to fil there bellies of Manna, which were the fathers of the vnfaithfull, they haue eaten and are dead, ſo alſo the ſame drinke, for the rocke was Chriſt. Therefore they dranke the ſame drinke that we do, but ſpiritual drinke, that is which was receyued by faith, not which was drawen in with the body. The ſame iudgement he declareth in Pſ.77. In Ioan Tr.26. and in many other places of his workes, by which the groſſe maner of eating, of the natural body of Chriſt defended by the Papiſts is vtterly ouerthrowne: and conſequently the ſacrifice for which you fight ſo ſtoutly in this Chapter, is declared to be none ſuch as you would haue it, but a ſacrifice of praiſe, and thankes giuing.

Fulke. 3 The Apoſtle ſpeaketh not one word, of the ſacrifice of the body & bloud of Chriſt in the ſacrament, but ſheweth, that it is the nature of al ceremonies, to declare them that vſe them, to be partakers of that religion, whereof they be ceremonies, as the ſacrifices of the Iewes, the ſacraments of Chriſtians, and the execrable ſacrifices & ceremonies of the gentils, declared the ſeueral vſers of them, to be partakers of theſe ſeueral religions. Therfore the Chriſtians, which were conſecrated to Chriſt, ought to haue nothing to do, w̃ the wicked ceremonies of the gentils, Wherby they ſhould partake with deuils, & not with Chriſt. Becauſe noman can be partaker of Chriſt that is partaker of ỹ deuils. The fathers in there admonition, Norunt fideles &c. The faithful know &c. ſpeak not of the ſacrifice of the Maſſe, but of the myſterie of the Lords Supper, which they called a ſacrifice, becauſe therein is offred a ſacrifice of praiſe & thanks giuing not of the natural body of Chriſt. Hoc eſt &c. This is (ſaith S.Auguſtine) the ſacrifice of the Chriſtians, we being many are one body in Chriſt, which thing alſo in the ſacrament of the Aultar, knowen vnto the faithful, the Church doth frequent, where it is ſhewed vnto her, that in that oblation which ſhe offreth, ſhe her ſelfe is offred. De ciuit lib 10.Cap.6. In the ſame Chapter, he intreateth of ſpiritual ſacrifices of praiſe & thankes giuing which are the works of mercie and mortification of our bodies, vnto which he referreth this ſacrifice of the Chriſtians, wherein the Church is offred. In the 20. Chapter of the ſame booke, he writeth, ſpeaking of the ſacrifice of Chriſts death and of the ſacrament thereof. Per hoc &c. By this he himſelfe is the prieſt that offreth and he him ſelfe is the oblation. A ſacrament of which thing he would haue the dayly ſacrifice of the Church to be. ſeing he is the head of his owne body, and ſhe is the body of her owne head, aſuel ſhe by him, as he by her, being accuſtomed to be offred. Here we ſee, the ſacrifice of the Church is a ſacrament of the death of Chriſt, in which Chriſt is none other wiſe offred by the Church, then the Church is offred by Chriſt, that is ſpiritually and figuratiuely, in praiſe and thankeſgiuing, not properly or propitiatorily. So ſaith Chriſoſtome. We offer the ſame ſacrifice alwaies, or rather, we celebrate the remembrance of that ſacrifice. In Ep.ad Heb.Cap.10 Hom.17. Againe Ieſus died. If Ieſus did not die, whereof or of whom is this ſacrifice a ſigne or token? In Math.Hom.83. As for Origen, he doth not ſo much as name the ſacrament a ſacrifice, but ſpeaketh of it, as a memorial of the death of Chriſt, by which we are redeemed, like as the ſacrifices of the lawe were figures of the death of Chriſt before he ſuffred. Sacrifice of the Maſſe.

Rhem. 4. 16 Which we bleſſe.) That is to ſay, the Chalice of conſecration which we Apoſtles and Prieſts by Chriſtes commiſſion do conſecrate, by which ſpeach as well the Caluiniſtes (that vſe no conſecration of the cuppe at al, blaſphemouſly calling it magical murmuration, and peruerſely referring the benediction to thankes giuing to God) as alſo the Lutherans be refuted, who affirme Chriſtes body and bloud to be made preſent by receiuing and in the receiuing onely. For the Apoſtle expreſly referreth the benediction to the chalice, and not to God, making the holy bloud and the communicating thereof the effect of the benediction. The Apoſtles bleſſed the Chalice, & ſo conſecrated. Calix cui benedicimus. 1 Cor.10.

Fulke. 4. We confeſſe, that to bleſſe ſignifieth here, to ſanctifie or to conſecrate, and that the cupp is bleſſed or conſecrated by vs, to be a ſacrament of the bloud of Chriſt, not by magical murmuration of wordes ouer it, but by the whole action according to Chriſtes inſtitution, in which receiuing is a neceſſary parte. Therefore Chryſoſtome ſaith. He called it the cupp of bleſſing, becauſe, when we haue it in our hands, with admiration and a certeyne horror of that vnſpeakable gift, we praiſe and bleſſe him, becauſe he hath ſhed his bloud, that we ſhould not remaine in error, and hath not onely ſhed it, but made vs al partakers of it. So did Photius and Oecumenius expound this word: Which we bleſſe, which hauing in our hands, we bleſſe him, which hath graciouſly giuen vs his bloud, that is we giue him thankes, or which we prepare, when we bleſſe or giue thankes. You ſee therefore, by the iudgement of the ancient fathers, how the Apoſtle referreth the benediction to the cuppe and to God alſo, when they ſhew that by giuing praiſe and thankes to God, and receiuing it accordingly, the cuppe is bleſſed, and not by ſaying, the wordes of conſecration (as you terme them) ouer it. Where you ſay, the Caluiniſts vſe no conſecration of the cuppe at all, it is an impudent ſlander, which is true of you, when you miniſter the cuppe to the lay people. Conſecration

Rhem. 5. 16. The participation of the body.) The holy ſacrament and Sacrifice of Chriſts body and bloud being receiued of vs, ioyneth vs in ſoul and body & engraffeth vs into Chriſt him ſelfe, making vs partakers and as a peece of his body and bloud. For not by loue or ſpirit only (ſayth S.Chryſoſtome) but in very deede we are vnited in his fleſh, made one body with him, members of his fleſh and bones. Chryſ.ho.45 in Io.ſub finem. And S.Cyril, Such is the force of myſtical benediction that it maketh Chriſt corporally by communicating of his fleſhe to dwel in vs. Cyril.li.10. in Io. c.13. Our vniting to Chriſt by the B.ſacrament

Fulke. 5. The ſacrament worthily receiued by faith, ioyneth vs with Chriſt, in ſoul and body, and engraffeth vs vnto him, after a ſpiritual maner of coniunction. Therefore the words of Chryſoſtome be theſe: Vt autem non ſolum &c. But that not only by loue, but in very deed, we be turned into that fleſh, it is brought to paſſe, by that meate, which he hath giuen vs. For when he would declare his loue towardes vs, he hath myngled him ſelfe vnto vs by his body, and brought himſelfe into one with vs, that the body might be vnited with the head. Theſe wordes muſt needes be vnderſtood of a ſpirituall coniunction, whereby we are made members of Chriſtes bodye, for we are not Communion of Chriſt.

corporally turned into the ſubſtaunce of Chriſt his fleſh, neyther doth Chriſt corporally mingle himſelfe to vs by his body, but ſpiritually after an vnſpeakeable maner. So meaneth Cyrillus that Chriſt dwelleth in vs corporally by participation of the fleſh of Chriſt, that is, by the meane that Chriſt hath geuen his fleſh to be in deed our nouriſhment vnto eternall life, whereof we are made partakers in the holy ſacrament, not after a carnall maner, but after a diuine and ſpirituall maner of participation.

Rhem.6. 17 One bread and body.) *As we be firſt made one with Chriſt by eating his body and drinking his bloud, ſo ſecondly are we coniogned by this one bread which is his body, and cup which is his bloud, in the perfect vnion and fellowſhip of all Catholike men, in one Church which is his body Myſtical. Which name of body myſtical is ſpecially attributed and appropriated to this one commonwealth and Societie of faythful men, by reaſon that al the true perſons & true members of the ſame, be marueloußly knit together by Chriſtes owne one body, and by the ſelfe ſame bloud in this diuine Sacrament. Our vnion among our ſelues by the B. Sacrament.

Fulke.6. Our myſticall vnion with Chriſt, and with his Church is teſtified and ſealed vnto vs by this Sacrament, not firſt made or wrought by receyuing this Sacrament, but by the ſpirite of God, whereby alſo in baptiſme, we are made one with Chriſt, and doe verily eate and drinke the fleſh and bloud of Chriſt, and are incorporated into his myſticall body the Church. And this place ſheweth playnely, that the maner of our communication with the naturall body of Chriſt, is ſpirituall, as it is of our participation with the myſticall body of Chriſt. S. Auguſtine in the place by you quoted, prooueth and playnely affirmeth, that wicked men although they receyue the Sacrament, yet receyue not the body and bloud of Chriſt. Becauſe they be not members of his body. Nec iſti duo, &c. Neyther are theſe two ſortes of men to be ſayd to eate the body of Chriſt, becauſe they are not to be accompted the members of Chriſt. For that I ſpeake not of other things, they cannot at once be both the members of Chriſt, and the members of an harlot. Finally, he himſelfe ſaying: He which eateth my fleſh & drinketh my bloud, dwelleth in me, and I in him, ſheweth what it is not only in a Sacrament, but in very deed, to eate the body of Chriſt & to drinke his bloud, that is, that he may dwell in Chriſt and Chriſt may dwell in him. For ſo he ſpake it, as though he had ſayd, he that dwelleth not in me, and in whom I dwell not, let him not ſay or thinke, that he eateth my body or drinketh my bloud. This ſaying of S. Auguſtine, being contrary to your hereſie (which affirmeth that wicked men eate the body of Chriſt, & drinke his bloud) doeth alſo ouerthrow your doctrine of tranſubſtantiation by which you are driuen to this abſurd error.

Communion with Chriſt & his Church.

Spiritual communication of the body of Chriſt.

The wicked eate not the body of Chriſt in deed.

Tranſubſtantiation.

To the ſame effect ſaieth Hilary, De Trinit. lib. 8. That we doe truly receyue the fleſh of Chriſtes body vnder a myſterie, and thereby we ſhall be one with him: but the wicked ſhall neuer be one with him, therefore they neuer truly eate the fleſh of Chriſt vnder a myſterie.

Rhem. 18 They that eate the hoſtes.) It is playne alſo by the example of the Iewes in their Sacrifices, that he that eateth any of the hoſte immolated, is partaker of the Sacrifice, and ioyned by office and obligation to God, of whoſe ſacrifice he eateth.

Rhem.7. 20 I will not haue you.) I conclude then (ſayth the Apoſtle) thus: that as the Chriſtian which eateth and drinketh of the Sacrifice or Sacrament of the altar, by his eating is participant of Chriſtes body, and is ioyned in fellowſhip to all Chriſtian people that eate and drinke of the ſame, beyng the hoſt of the new Law: and as all that did eate of the hoſtes of the ſacrifices of Moyſes Law, were belonging and aſſociated to that ſtate and to God to whom the Sacrifice was done: euen ſo who ſoeuer eateth of the meates offered to Idols, he ſheweth and profeſſeth himſelfe to be of the Communion and Societie of the ſame Idols.

Participation in Sacrament or ſacrifice, ſheweth of what ſocietie we are.

Fulke.7. The Apoſtle ſaith not, that the Sacrament is the ſacrifice or hoſt of the new law, for then he would haue ſayd. The cup which we offer, & the bread which we offer, but now he ſayth, which we bleſſe, which we breake. And although ſome of the fathers call it an oblation of the bread and cup, yet they ſpeake figuratiuely, and vnproperly, meaning an oblation of prayſe and thankſgiuing, in remembrance of the onely ſacrifice of Chriſt his body and bloud once offred on the croſſe, and neuer to be repeated: ſeeing by that one oblation once offred, he hath made perfect for euer, them that are ſanctified. Heb. 10. 14.

Sacrifice of the Maſſe.

Rhem.8. 21 You cannot drinke.) *Vpon the premiſſes he warneth them playnely, that they muſt eyther forſake the ſacrifice and fellowſhip of the Idols and Idolaters, or els refuſe the Sacrifice of Chriſtes body and bloud in the Church. In all which diſcourſe we may obſerue that our bread and chalice, our table and altar, the participation of our hoſt and oblation, be compared or reſembled point by point, in all effects, conditions, and proprieties, to the altars, hoſtes, ſacrifices and immolations of the Iewes and Gentils. Which the Apoſtle would not, nor could not haue done in this Sacrament of the Altar, rather then in other Sacraments or ſeruice of our religion, if it only had not bene a Sacrifice and the proper worſhip of God among the Chriſtians, as the other were among the Iewes and Heathen. Fulke. 8. The Apoſtle ſpeaketh not of refuſing the ſacrifice of Chriſtes body and bloud in the Church, but of the cuppe of the Lord, and of the table of the Lord. Neyther doth he in all this diſcourſe, ſpeake of our altar, hoſte, or oblation, or compare our Sacrament in any point, effect, condition or propertie, to the altars, hoſtes, ſacrifices or immolations of the Iewes or Gentiles, which is proper or peculiar to altar, hoſt, ſacrifice or immolation: but onely in that there is a feaſt in thoſe ſacrifices of the Iewes and Gentiles, as there is in our Sacrament: and in that point which is common to all ceremonies, to declare them that vſe them, to be partakers of that religion, whereof they be ceremonies. And therefore the Apoſtle might in this reſpect haue vſed the example of our other Sacrament, which is baptiſme, by which alſo we haue participation with Chriſt and his Church, but he did rather chooſe the Sacrament of the Lordes ſupper, becauſe it being a ſpirituall feaſt of our religion, doeth more reſemble the curſed feaſts of the Gentiles, from which he doth diſſwade them. Whereas if this Sacrament had bene alſo a ſacrifice, he would not haue ſpared to enforce the compariſon alſo in that reſpect, which thing ſeeing he hath not done, there is no reaſon to gather a ſacrifice out of this diſcourſe. In deed many of the fathers doe call it by the name of a ſacrifice or oblation figuratiuely, as I haue ſayd before. But where you ſay all the fathers doe acknowledge it, calling it onely and continually almoſt by ſuch names as ſignifie a ſacrifice, it is falſe. For Iuſtinus, Clemens Alexand. Origen, Tertullian, Epiphanius, Hilarius, Baſilius, and diuers other doe not at all, or elſe very ſeldome call it a ſacrifice. That the fathers call this Sacrament as they doe none other Sacrament or ceremonie of Chriſtian religion, what meruaile is it? ſeeing it hath a proper difference, as euery thing hath, whereby it is diſtinguiſhed from all other things.

The councell of Nice ſayth not, that the very naturall body of Chriſt is offered vpon the aultar, but that the Sacrament which is figuratiuely called the Lambe of God, (as it is called the body of Chriſt) is layd on the table. And therfore they ſay alſo, that Chriſt is ſacrificed, without ſacrifice, becauſe Chriſt is not properly ſacrificed, but the remembraunce of his ſacrifice celebrated in the Sacrament. The councell of Epheſus ſayth: We celebrate in the Churches the vnbloudy ſeruice of ſacrifice, But how, they declare in the wordes going immediately before, Shewing or preaching the death according to the fleſh, of the onely begotten ſonne of God, that is of Ieſus Chriſt, and likewiſe confeſſing his reſurrection and aſcenſion into heauen. By which wordes, they ſhew playnly that the ſeruice of the ſacrifice, which they did celebrate, was onely a memoriall of the death, reſurrection and aſcenſion of Chriſt. Dionyſius calleth it μυστὴ μυστῶν, that is, the myſterie of myſteries, or the chiefe myſterie, or the chiefe ceremonie, for ſo doth the word ſignifie any myſterie or ceremonie of religion, and not ſacrifice properly.

So doeth Pachymere expound it, comparing this Sacrament with baptiſme, which he calleth alſo μυστὴ. Therefore this terme is vnlearnedly alleaged out of a partiall tranſlation, for to prooue this Sacrament to be called a ſacrifice. That which you cite out of Cyrill, Anath. 11. is an impudent forgerie: For there is no word of quickening holy ſacrifice, vnbloudy hoſt, or victime. But when you haue ſo notably paſt the bonds of modeſtie, what marueile, it you paſſe your ſelfes in greater impudencie? As when you ſay, it is called the propitiatory ſacrifice for the quicke and the dead, by Tertullian, Chryſoſtome, Cyprian, Auguſtine, which is ſo monſtrous a lye, as none but ſuch as had ſold themſelues to mainteine falſhood, durſt for ſhame affirme vnto the world. Firſt Tertullian De corona mil. hath nothing that ſoundeth toward ſuch a matter, but oblationes pro defunctis, pro natalitijs annua die facere, to make oblations for the departed, for the birth-day on the yeerely day. He ſayth not, that the Sacrament, or Chriſt in the Sacrament was offered. But what oblations were offred, it is eaſie to gather, by that he ſayeth, They were offred for mens birth dayes, which could be none other but prayſe and thankſgiuing, both for the departure of men out of the world, and for their birth into the world.

Chryſoſtome in the firſt place ſayth, That prayer was made for all that ſleepe in Chriſt, at the celebration of the myſteries, which was the error of his time, but that the ſacrament is a ſacrifice propitiatory, he ſaieth not, one word. He ſayeth that ſome comfort may come to them that ſleepe if we offer for them. But how he would haue vs to offer for them, he expreſſeth, ſaying: Offring prayers for them, prayers are the common ſacrifice of the whole world. In the ſecond place he nameth the Sacrament a ſacrifice, & ſpeaketh of prayer for the dead, vſed at the celebration thereof, but a ſacrifice propitiatory, or offred for the dead, he calleth it not. In the third place, he doth not once ſpeake of the Sacrament or ſacrifice. But how he doth vnderſtand the terme of ſacrifice, which he vſeth diuers times, he declareth in Ep. Heb. Hom. 17. ſaying: This ſacrifice is an exemplar of that ſacrifice. And agayne, This that we doe, is in remembraunce of that which was done. For doe ye this (ſaieth he) in remembrance of me. We offer not another ſacrifice, as the high prieſt, but the ſame we doe alwayes, but rather we celebrate the remembrance of a ſacrifice. Cyprian Ep. 66. ſpeaketh not a word of the Sacrament, but ſayth that foraſmuch as Geminius Victor, had made a prieſt his executor contrary to the decree of a councell, there ſhould be no oblation celebrated for his falling a ſleepe, which is meant of prayſe and thankſgiuing. For if they had held the popiſh opinion of purgatory, it had bene to extreme puniſhment, to deny him prayers, or the ſacrifice of the maſſe. But in what ſenſe he called the Sacrament a ſacrifice, he doth beſt expound himſelfe. Becauſe we make mention of his paſſion in all our ſacrifices, for the ſacrifice which we offer, is the paſſion of our Lord, we ought to doe nothing but that which he did. The Sacrament is called a ſacrifice, as it is called the paſſion of Chriſt, which it is not properly, but figuratiuely: becauſe we celebrate a memory of his paſſion and ſacrifice in it. And becauſe the Sacrament beyng receiued woorthily, is a ſure ſeale and pledge of the vertue of Chriſtes ſacrifice, once offered offered to be continually applied vnto vs by faith for remiſſion of our ſinnes. Therefore ſaith Cyprian, When we doe theſe things we doe not prepare our teeth to bite, but with ſyncere faith we breake and deuide the holy bread. De cœna Dom.

S. Auguſtine Enchir. cap. 110. calleth the Sacrament the ſacrifice of our mediator, and ſaieth that it was offered for the dead, as almes were, meaning onely prayers and thankeſgiuing that were offered at the celebration of the Sacrament, and at the gathering of almes, and that he declareth in few lines after, when he ſaieth, Cum ſacrificia, &c. when ſacrifices either of the aultar, or of any almes, are offered for all the departed that are baptiſed, for very good perſons they be thankeſgiuing, for not very euill perſons, they be propitiations or prayings of mercy: for very euill perſons, although they be no helpe of the dead, yet are they ſome comfort of the liuing. You ſee that he matcheth the ſacrifices of almes, with the ſacrifices of the aultar, both in name and in effect. Therefore he meaneth not that the body of Chriſt is a ſacrifice propitiatorie offered in the Sacrament: which were no wayes to be matched with almes. Qu. 2. ad Dulcit. he hath the ſame wordes that are before ſet downe out of Enchir. and in the ſermon De verbis Apoſt. The like of prayer for the dead in the celebration of the ſacrifice. What you meane by lib. 9. cap. 13. I know not, but lib. 3. c. 19. De Baptiſm. S. Auguſtine ſaieth, That our Sauiour Chriſt, did ſend thoſe whom he cleanſed of leproſie, to the ſacraments of the old lawe, that they ſhould offer a ſacrifice for them, to the prieſtes, becauſe as yet there had not come in their place, that ſacrifice, which afterward he would haue to be offred for them all.

In theſe wordes, he ſpeaketh doubtleſſe of a ſacrifice of thankſgiuing, as that was, which the lepers by the law were bound to offer for their cleanſing. But to make this matter moſt cleare, that he meaneth not a ſacrifice propitiatory, but a Sacrament of remembraunce for proyſe and thankeſgiuing, he writeth thus Cont. Fauſt. Manichæum, lib. 20. c. 21. Sed quid agam, &c. But what ſhall I doe, and when ſhall I ſhew to ſo great blindneſſe of theſe hereticks, what force that hath which is ſung in the Pſalmes? The ſacrifice of proyſe ſhall glorifie me, and there is the way where I ſhall ſhew my ſaluation. The fleſh and bloud of this ſacrifice was promiſed before the comming of Chriſt by ſacrifices of ſimilitudes, in the paſſion of Chriſt it was giuen in the very trueth it ſelfe, after the aſcenſion of Chriſt it is celebrated by a Sacrament of remembraunce. Likewiſe epiſt. 23. he ſaieth. Was not Chriſt offered once in himſelfe? and yet in a Sacrament, not onely at euery ſolemnitie of Eaſter, but alſo euery day he is offered to the people. And he that being aſked, doth anſwere that he is ſacrificed, doth not lye. For if Sacraments had not a certaine likeneſſe of thoſe things whereof they be Sacraments, they ſhould be no Sacraments at all. Theſe places are ſufficient to ſatiſfie any reaſonable man, that the auncient fathers in calling the Sacrament a ſacrifice, did not meane that Chriſt was properly and really ſacrificed: but in a figuratiue ſpeach: as Sacraments are called by the names of thoſe things whereof they be Sacraments.

And therefore Gratian doth well conclude this matter out of S. Auguſtine, as he ſaith, Sicut ergo, &c. Therefore as the heauenly bread, which is the fleſh of Chriſt, is called after the proper manor thereof, the body of Chriſt, when in deed and trueth it is the Sacrament of the body of Chriſt, of that body, I ſay, which beyng viſible, which beyng palpable and mortall, was put on the croſſe, and the ſame oblation of the fleſhe, which is made by the handes of the prieſt, is called the paſſion, death, and crucifying of Chriſt, not in trueth of the thing, but in a ſignifying myſterie, ſo the Sacraments of faith, which is vnderſtood to be baptiſme, is faith. De Conſ. diſt. 2. c. Hoc eſt.

Cyprian de Cœn. Num. 2. doeth not call this Sacrament The onely inconſumptible victime, without which there is no religion, but ſpeaketh of the groſſe imagination of the Capharnaites, who thought, That if the fleſhe of Chriſtes perſon, were cut in pieces, it could not ſuffice all mankind, which beyng once conſumed, it might ſeeme that religion were loſt, to whome remayned no more any ſacrifice. But in ſuch cogitations, fleſhe and bloud profiteth nothing, for as the maſter himſelfe hath expounded, theſe wordes are ſpirite and trueth, neither doth carnall ſenſe pearce to the vnderſtanding of ſo great depth, except fayth come to it. In theſe wordes is nothing for your propitiatory ſacrifice, but rather againſt it. How Chryſoſtome vnderſtandeth the Sacrament to be a ſacrifice. Homil. 17. ad Heb. I haue ſhewed before by his owne wordes out of the ſame homilie. Now we come to the ſacrifice prefigured by Melchiſedech, and prophecied by Malachie: which the fathers doubtleſſe doe vnderſtand of a ſacrifice of prayſe and thankes giuing, and not of the naturall body of Chriſt. Firſt Cyprian ſaieth, Epiſt. 63. That Chriſt offered the ſame thing which Melchiſedech had offered, that is bread and wine, that is to ſay, his body and bloud. If Chriſt offered bread and wine, which is the ſame thing that Melchiſedech offered, he offered not his naturall body and bloud, but a type thereof in bread and wine. But according to your hereſie he offered not bread and wine, but his body and bloud.

In the ſame epiſtle Cyprian ſaieth, The ſacrifice which we offer is the paſſion of Chriſt. Agayne, He ſpeaketh againſt them which thought that onely water was to be offered in the Lordes cuppe. Agayne, we finde that the cuppe was mixed which our Lord offered, and that it was wine which he called his bloud. Agayne, That the cuppe which is offered in remembraunce of him, be offered mixt with wine. For when Chriſt ſaieth, I am the true vine, the bloud of Chriſt, is not water but wine. What can be more euident, to declare? that he vſeth the terme offering figuratiuely, in reſpect of the ſacrifice of prayſe and thankeſgiuing, which is offered in the celebration of the ſupper, in remembrance of the onely ſacrifice of Chriſt. And when he ſaith ſo often, that Chriſt offred wine, and that his bloud is wine, it is manifeſt that the Sacrament is called by the name of that whereof it is a ſigne, not properly but figuratiuely.

Iuſtinus dial. Cum Tryphon. ſpeaketh yet more plainly to prooue that the Church in his time knew no ſacrifice, but the ſacrifice of thankſgiuing, which he ſayth was offered by all Chriſtians, that are ſpirituall prieſts in the celebration of the Lordes ſupper. Ἐτοι ἡμεῖς, &c. Sowe, which by the name of Ieſus (as all ſhall be one man in God the worker of all things) being ſtript out of our filthy garments, that is our ſinnes, by the name of his firſt begotten ſonne, and being ſet on fire by the word of his calling, are a right kind of high prieſts of God, as God himſelfe doth witneſſe. That in all places among the Gentiles, acceptable and pure ſacrifices, are offered to him. But God receyueth no ſacrifice of any, but of his prieſtes. Wherefore God ſheweth before hand, that he doth accept all them that offer by this name, the ſacrifices which Ieſus Chriſt hath deliuered to bee made, that is in the Euchariſt or thankes giuing of the bread and the cuppe, which are done in euery place of Chriſtians. Agayne, As concerning thoſe ſacrifices which are offered to him by vs Gentiles in euery place, that is, of the bread of thankeſgiuing, and likewiſe of the cup of thankeſgiuing, he foreſheweth, when ſaying: that we doe glorifie his name, and that you doe profane it. And yet more playnly following the ſame matter, he ſayth: Ὅτι ἐγώ, &c. For I my ſelfe doe affirme, that prayers and thankeſgiuing, made by worthy perſons, are the onely perfect and acceptable ſacrifices to God. For theſe are the onely ſacrifices that Chriſtians haue receyued to make, to be put in mind by their dry and moyſt nouriſhment, of the paſſion which God the ſonne of God, is recorded to haue ſuffered for them. Thus Iuſtinus by theſe wordes, hath acquited himſelfe and all the Catholike fathers, that call the Sacrament by the name of a ſacrifice, of the ſacrifice propitiatory wherewith you vniuſtly burden them. Irenæus alſo, lib.4.c.32. ſpeaketh manifeſtly of a ſacrifice of thankeſgiuing, wherein the bread and wine are dedicated to God, to become the Sacrament of the body and bloud of Chriſt, his words are theſe. Giuing counſaile to his diſciples, to offer to God the firſt fruites of his creatures, not as though he had need, but that they themſelues ſhould neither be vnfruitfull nor vnthankefull, he tooke that bread which is of the creature, and gaue thanks, ſaying, this is my body. And the cup likewiſe which is of the creature, that is with vs, he confeſſed to be his bloud, and taught the new oblation of the new Teſtament, which the Church receyuing from the Apoſtles, offreth in all the world to God the firſt fruites of his gifts in the new Teſtament, euen to him which giueth nouriſhment vnto vs, of which in the twelue Prophets, Malachie foreſhewed, &c. And in the next chapter expounding that incenſe and pure ſacrifice, which the Prophet nameth, he ſayth: Seeing therefore the name of the ſonne pertayneth to the father, and the Church offereth in God almightie by Ieſus Chriſt, he ſayd well in reſpect of both: In euery place incenſe is offered to my name and a pure ſacrifice. But the incenſe ſaith Iohn in the Apocalypſe, are the prayers of the ſaincts. And chap.34. he ſaith, That theſe ſacrifices doe not ſanctifie a man, becauſe God hath no need of ſacrifice, but the conſcience of him that offreth, being pure, doth ſanctifie the ſacrifice and cauſeth God to accept it, as of a friend. You ſee therefore moſt clearly, he ſpeaketh not of the body of Chriſt ſacrificed, but of prayers and thankeſgiuing, and of bread and wine offered to be the Sacrament of thankſgiuing. S. Auguſtine as we haue ſhewed already, vnderſtandeth the name of ſacrifice, for a Sacrament of remembraunce, when he calleth the celebration of the Lordes ſupper a ſacrifice of the new Teſtament, after the order of Melchiſedech, that ſucceeded the ſacrifices of the old lawe, as he doeth, lib.17. cap.20. De Ciuitate & lib.10.c.5. he ſaieth: The viſible ſacrifice is a Sacrament, that is an holy ſigne of the inuiſible ſacrifice. That which he writeth lib.1.Cont.aduerſ. leg. & Proph.cap.18. of the onely true and ſingular ſacrifice, ſignified by many figures of ſacrifices in the law, is the ſacrifice of Chriſtes death: but that which followeth, of the ſacrifice of prayſe and thankeſgiuing out of the 50. Pſalme, he referreth to the Sacrament, as appeareth in theſe wordes. Of the ſaluation of God, that it is Chriſt himſelfe, I haue made mention and ſhewed before, But what ſacrifice of prayſe is more holy then in thankeſgiuing? And for what are greater thankes to be giuen to God, then for his grace by Ieſus Chriſt our Lord. All which matter, the faithfull doe know in the ſacrifice of the Church, whereof all thoſe former kindes of ſacrifices were ſhadowes. See you not playnely, that the ſacrifice of the Church, is the ſacrifice of prayſe and thankſgining for the ſaluation of God by Chriſt? who offered that onely true and ſingular ſacrifice, whereby he redeemed vs from our ſinnes. Thus without iudgement, you quote as well that which is directly againſt you, as that which ſeemeth to haue ſome ſhew for you. The next place lib.3, De Bap. cap.19. We haue declared already what it is. Leo ſer.8.De paſſ. ſpeaketh of the ſacrifice of Chriſt his body and bloud vpon the croſſe, as I haue ſhewed plainly vpon Luke 22. ſect.25.

Now for the name of Miſſa, although it be not greatly materiall what it was called when we know what was meant by that name: Firſt you quote S. Ambroſe in the margent, epiſt.33. where he writeth, that as he was inſtructing certain perſons that deſired baptiſme in the baptizing place of the Church, word was brought him that a certaine Church in the citie was taken by the hereukes, for which he had had great ſtrife: whereupon he ſaith: Ego tamen manſi in munere, niſſam facere cepi, which is in Engliſh, Yet I taried in my office, I began to let it goe, for that ſignifieth Miſſam facere: or els you muſt ſay, to make maſſe, which is abſurd. Therefore the name of maſſe is not ſo auncient as S. Ambroſe. Next to him you quote two counterfeict ſermons vnder the name of S. Auguſtine, which the phraſe ſheweth to be of much later time, and the matter alſo. As that Serm.251. he ſaieth: That the mightie men of the world, when they come to Church, compell the prieſt to make ſhort his maſſe, which maner agreeth not with S. Auguſtines age. In the 91. ſermon, the auctor ſpeaketh of a leſſon that was to be read ad Miſſas, in the plurall number, maſſes. Neuertheleſſe, about S. Auguſtines time, the name of Miſſe began to be in vſe as it ſeemeth by Concil. Mileuitan.Can.12. ſignifying rather prayers then ſacrifices. But howſoeuer the name was afterward receyued and vſed for the celebration of the Lordes ſupper, the auncient fathers knew no ſacrifice of Chriſtes naturall body and bloud, offered really in the Sacrament, but onely a ſacrifice of prayer, of prayſe and thankeſgiuing, in remembraunce of the ſacrifice of Chriſtes death, which is the onely true ſingular and vnſacrificable ſacrifice, as it is called by S. Auguſtine, contr. aduerſ. leg. & Propher. lib.1.cap.18. and by Gregor. Nazianz. in ſanct. paſc. orat.4. See Luc.22.ſect.5. Therefore in all your quotations, you haue gained nothing but a litle droſſe out of Chryſoſtome and Auguſtine, touching prayer for the dead: which errour being firſt brought in by the Montaniſts, although it had gotten ſome liking in thoſe times, yet was it far from the ſuperſtition and blaſphemie of purgatory, which in later times as Antichriſt drew neerer to his full manifeſtaion, preuailed in the Romiſh church, without all ground or warrant out of the holy Scriptures.

The name of Maſſe.

Rhem.9. 21 Partakers of the table.) Though the faythfull people be many wayes knowen to be Gods peculiar, and be ioyned both to him and among themſelues, and alſo ſeuered and diſtinguiſhed from al others that pertayne not to him, as wel Iewes and Pagans, as Heretikes and Schiſmatikes, by ſundry other external ſignes of Sacraments, doctrine and gouernment: yet the moſt proper and ſubſtantial union or difference conſiſteth in the Sacrifice and Altar: by which God ſo ſpecially bindeth his Church vnto him, and himſelfe vnto his Church, that he acknowledgeth none to be his, that is not partaker of his one onely Table and Sacrifice in his Church: and acquitteth himſelfe of all ſuch as ioyne in fellowſhip with any of the Heathen at their Idolatry, or with the Iewes at their Sacrifices, or with Heretikes and Schiſmatikes at their prophane and deteſtable table. Which becauſe it is the proper badge of their ſeparation from Chriſt and his Church, and an altar purpoſely erected, erected against Christes Altar, Priesthod, and Sacrifice, is in deede a very sacrifice, or (as the Apostle here speaketh) a table and cuppe of Diuels, that is to say, wherein the Diuel is properly serued, and Christes honour (no lesse than * by the altars of Ieroboam or any prophane superstitious rites of Gentilitie) defiled. And therfore al Catholike men, if they looke to haue fellowship with Christ and his members in his body and bloud, must deeme of it as of Idolatrie or sacrilegious superstition, and al steine from it and from al societie of the same, as good Tobie did from Ieroboams calues and the altars in Dan and Bethel: & as the good faithful did from the Excelses, and from the temple and sacrifices of Samaria. Now in the Christian times we haue no other Idols, but heresies, nor Idolothytes, but their false seruices shifted into our Churches in steede of Gods true and onely worship. Cypr. de vnit. Ec. nu. 2. Hiero. in 11 Osee. & 8. Amos. & in 2. Habac. Aug. in ps. 10. De Ciu. Dei li. 18. c. 51.

The heretikes Communion is the very table and cup of Diuels. 3. reg. 12. Tob. 1. 3. reg. 12.

Fulke. 9. In the popish sacrifice of the masse consisteth no vnion of Christian men, neither doth the most proper and substantiall vnion or difference consist in the sacrament of the Lords supper. But there is as proper and as substantiall difference of true Christians from other sects, and vnion with Christ and his church in baptisme: or els they that are baptised should not be properly & substantially Christians. For although baptisme as the other sacrament may be receiued out of the church, yet haue they no vertue but in the church. Where you blaspheme the celebration of the Lords supper, which we keepe after the institution of Christ most purely, saying it is an altar erected against Christes altar, priesthood and sacrifice, beside that it is most impious, it is most ridiculous that you say. For we haue none altar, sacrificing priesthood, or sacrifice propitiatory, but only the altar of the crosse, the eternall priesthood of Christ, the only sacrifice of his death once offered by himselfe, and vnpossible to be repeated by any other. Whereas you to ouerthrow that altar haue erected manie thousands of popish altars, consecrated infinite priests after the order of Melchisedech, which is proper only to Christ: and blasphemously affirme that euery priest may daily offer vp Christ to his father. Further, where you say we haue a table and cuppe of deuils, wherein the deuill is properly serued: what colour of truth hath this blasphemous slander? seeing there is nothing done about our table and cuppe (that is the table & cuppe of the Lord) but that which Christ himselfe commanded to be done, & to that end he appointed it to be done: wheras your masse neither obserueth the forme nor the end of his institution, but peruerteth both, not only by your idol of transubstantiation, but also by robbing the people of the cuppe of the Lords bloud, and by turning the sacrament of remembrance to a sacrifice of propitiation. And how can it be said that we serue the deuill properly in our celebration? when all things are done according to the word and commandement of Christ, without adding or detracting any thing from his holy institution. What resemblance haue we with Ieroboams calues and altars, or any heathenish idolatrie which are expresly forbidden by Gods commandement? which doe square all our forme of celebration and worship of God according to the streight line of Gods word and commandement. Where you say that now in the Christian times you haue none other idols but heresies, nor idolothytes but their false seruices, it is to make your ignorant adherents beleeue, that your grosse worshipping of images (contrarie to the expresse commandement of God) is no idolatry. And how impudently you doe quote the fathers, to proue that there can be none other idols nor idolothytes, but heresies and their seruices, it may be manifest to your owne consciences, when in Cyprians time the world was full euen of these idols and idolothytes of the Gentils that were in the apostles time, beside heresies and their heretical seruices. S. Augustine also condemneth professors of the Christian name, that were worshippers of pictures, of superstition and idolatrie, and void of true religion. De mor. eccles. catth. lib. 1. c. 34. S. Ambrose saith, it is heathenish error and vanitie of the vngodly to worship the crosse whereon Christ died: De obitu Theodos. What would he haue said if he had seene creeping to an idoll of the crosse? Epiphanius saith, it is a deuilish attempt to make images of the virgine Mary or other saincts departed, and to worship them: as the Collyridian heretikes did their image of the virgine Mary. Hær. 79.

Sacrifice of the masse. Slander. The popish masse. Idolatrie.

Rhem. 22. Al things are lawful.) Hitherto the Apostles arguments and examples wherebi he would auert them from the meates offered to Idols, seeme plainly to condemne their fact as Idolatrical, or as participant and accessory to Idolatrie, and not onely as of scandal giuen to the weake brethren: and so no doubt it was in that they went into the very temple of the Idols, and did with the rest that serued the Idols, eate and drinke of the flesh and liuaments directly offered to the Idol, yea and feasted together in the same bankets made to the honour of the same Idols: which could not but defile them & entangle them with Idolatrie: not for that the meate it self was iustly belonging to any other but to God, or could be defiled, made noisome or vnlawful to be eaten, but for and in respect of the abuse of the same & detestable dedicating of that to the diuel, which belonged not to him, but to God alone. Of which sacrilegious act they ought not to be partakers, as needes they must, entering and eating with them in their solemnities. to this end hath S. Paul hitherto admonished the Corinthians. Now he declareth that otherwise in prophane feasts it is lawful to eate without curious doubting or asking whether this or that were offered meates, and in markettes to buy whatsoeuer is there sold, without scruple and without taking knowledge whether it be of the Idolsbytes or no. with this exception first, that if one should inuite him to eate, or bye this or that as sacred and offered meates, that then he should not eate it, least he should seeme to approue the offering of it to the Idol, or to like it the better for the same. Secondly, when the weake brother may take offence by the same. For though it be lawful in it self to eate any of these meates without care of the Idol: yet al lawful things be not in euery time and place expedient to be done,

How by participatiō with idolaters, idolatrie is committed. How to auoid scandal in things indifferent.

CHAP. XI.

Rhem. 1. He commendeth them for keeping his Traditions generally. 3 and in particular for this, that a man praied and prophecied bareheaded, a woman veiled, he bringeth many reasons. 17 About another, he reprehendeth the riche that at the Charitable supper supped vncharitably, 23 telling them that they receiued therfore vnworthely the B. Sacrament, & shewing them what an heinous sinne that is, seeing it is our Lordes body and the representation of his death, as he by tradition had taught them.

The 5. part. Of his Traditions.

Fulke. 1. S. Paules traditions which he deliuered, were either concerning matters of doctrine and faith, which are perpetuall, and they be all expressed in the scriptures, or els of ceremonies which are mutable by auctority of the church, according to times, places, and persons, obseruing the generall rules prescribed by the apostle, that all things be done in order and comlinesse, and to edification.

BE ye folowers of me, as I alſo of Chriſt.
2 And I praiſe you brethren, that in al things you be mindeful of me: and as I haue
c In ỹ greeke, Traditions, ordinances. deliuered vnto you, you keepe ‖ my c precepts.
3 And I wil haue you know, that the head of euery man, is Chriſt: and the head of the woman, is the man: and the head of Chriſt, is God.
4 Euery man praying or propheeying ẅ his head couered: diſhoneſteth his head.
5 But ‖ euery woman praying or prophecying with her head not couered: diſhone-ſteth her head: for it is al one as if ſhe were made balde.
6 For if a woman be not couered, let her be polled. but if it be a foule thing for a woman to be polled or made balde: let her couer her head.
7 The man truely ought not to couer his head, becauſe he is the image and glorie of God, but the womā is the glorie of the man.
8 For the man is not of the woman, but the woman of the man.
Gen.2.21. 9 For * the man was not created for the woman, but the woman for the man.
10 (Therfore ought the woman to haue power vpon her head for the Angels.)
11 But yet neither the man without the woman: nor the woman without the man, in our Lord.
12 For as the woman is of ỹ man, ſo alſo
the man by the womā: but al things of God.
13 Your ſelues iudge: doth it become a woman not couered to pray vnto God?
14 Neither doth nature it ſelf teache you, that a man in deede if he nouriſh his heare, it is an ignominie for him:
15 But if a woman nouriſh her heare, it is a glorie for her, becauſe heare is giuen her for a veile?
16 But if any man ſeeme to be contentious, we haue no ſuch cuſtome nor the 17 And this I commaund: not praiſing it that you come together not to better, but to worſe.

The Epiſtle vpon Maundy Thurſday. 18 Firſt in deede when you come together into the Church, I heare that there are ſchiſmes among you, and in part I beleeue it.
19 For ‖ there muſt be hereſies alſo: that they alſo which are approued, may be made manifeſt among you.
20 When you come therfore together in 21 For euery one taketh his owne ſupper

gred,

BE * ye folowers of me, euen as I am of Chriſt. 2.Theſ.3.9.

2 I commend you brethren, that ye remember al my ‖ things, and kéepe the ordinances, as I deliuered them to you. ‖ Or, preachings.

*3 * But I will that ye know, that Chriſt is the head of euery man: and the man is the womans head, and God is Chriſtes head.* Ephe.5.23.

4 Euery man praying or propheeying, hauing any thing on his head, ſhameth his head.

5 But euery woman that prayeth or propheeieth bareheaded, diſhoneſteth her head: for that is euen all one as if ſhe were ſhauen.

6 If the woman be not couered, let her alſo be ſhorne: if it be a ſhame for a woman to be ſhorne, or ſhauen, let her be couered.

*7 A man ought not to couer his head, * for as much as he is the image and glory of God: but the woman is the glory of the man.* Gen.1.26. col.3.10.

8 For the man is not of the woman: but the woman of the man.

*9 Neither was the man created for the woman: but the woman for the man. Gen.2.23.

10 For this cauſe ought the woman to haue power on her head for the angels ſakes.

11 Neuertheleſſe, neither is the man without the woman, neither the woman without the man, in the Lord.

12 For as the woman is of the man, euen ſo is the man alſo by the woman, but all thinges of God.

13 Iudge in your ſelues, whether it be comely that a woman pray vnto God bareheaded?

14 Doth not nature it ſelfe teach you, that it is a ſhame for a man, if he haue long heare?

15 But if a woman haue long heare, it is a praiſe for her: for her heare is giuen her for a couering.

16 If any man luſt to ſtriue, we haue no ſuch cuſtome, neither the churches of God.

17 This I warne you of, and commend not, that ye come together not for the better, but for worſſe.

18 For firſt of all, when ye come together in the church, I heare that there be diſſentions among you, and I partly beleeue it.

19 For there muſt be alſo hereſies among you, that they which are ‖ approoued among you, might be knowen. ‖ Or tried.

20 When ye come together therefore into one place, ‖ you cannot eate the Lords ſupper: ‖ Or, this is not to eate.

21 For euery one preuenteth other, in eating his owne ſupper: and one is hungrie, and an o-

gred, and another is drunke.

22 Why, haue you not houſes to eate & drinke in? or contemne ye the Church of God: and confound them that haue not? What ſhal I ſay to you? praiſe I you in this? I do not praiſe you.

The Epiſtle vpon Corpvs Chriſti day. Mat.26,26. Mr.14,22. Luc.22,19.

23 For I receiued of our Lord that which alſo ‖ I haue deliuered vnto you, ‡ that our Lord IESVS ‖ in the night that he was betraied, ‖ tooke ‖ bread:

24 And giuing thankes brake, and ſaid: Take ye and eate, ‖ THIS IS ‖ MY BODY WHICH SHAL BE DELIVERED FOR YOV: ‖ this doe ye for the commemoration of me.

25 In like maner alſo the chalice after he had ſupped, ſaying, THIS CHALICE IS THE NEW TESTAMENT IN MY BLOVD. this doe ye, as often as you ſhal drinke, for the commemoration of me.

26 For as often as you ſhal eate this bread, & drinke the chalice, ‖ you ſhal ſhew the death of our Lord, vntil he come.

27 Therfore whoſoeuer ſhal eate this bread, or drinke the chalice of our Lord vnworthily, he ſhal be ‖ guilty of the body and of the bloud of our Lord.

28 But let a man proue him ſelf: and ſo, let him eate of that bread, and drinke of the chalice.

29 For he that eateth and drinketh vnworthily: eateth and drinketh iudgement to him ſelf, ‖ not diſcerning the body of our Lord.

30 Therfore are there among you many weake and feble, and ‖ many ſleepe.

31 But if we did ‖ iudge our ſelues: we ſhould not be iudged.

32 But whiles we are iudged, of our Lord we are chaſtiſed: that with this world we be not damned.

33 Therfore my brethren, when you come together to eate, ‖ expect one an other.

34 If any man be an hungred, let him eate at home: that you come not together vnto iudgement. And the reſt ‖ I wil diſpoſe, when I come.

ther is drunken.

22. What, haue ye not houſes to eate and to drinke in? Or deſpiſe ye the church of God, and ſhame them that haue not? What ſhall I ſay vnto you, ſhall I praiſe you? in this I prayſe you not.

23 That which I deliuered vnto you, I receined of the Lord, that the Lord Ieſus the ſame night in which he was betrayed, tooke bread:

*24 And when he had giuen thanks, he brake it, and ſaid, Take ye, eate ye, this is my body which is broken for you: this doe ye in remembrance of me. Mat.26.26. mar.14.22. luke 22.17.

25 After the ſame maner alſo he tooke the cup when he had ſupped, ſaying, This cup is the new Teſtament in my bloud: this doe ye, as oft as ye drinke it, in remembrance of me.

26 For as often as ye eate this bread, and drinke this cup, ye doe ſhew the Lordes death till he come.

27 Wherfore, whoſoeuer ſhall eate this bread, and drinke this cuppe of the Lord vnworthilie, ſhall be guiltie of the bodie and blood of the Lord.

*28 But let a man examine himſelfe, and ſo let him eate of this bread, and drinke of this cuppe. 2.Cor.13.5.

29 For hee that eateth and drinketh vnworthilie, eateth and drinketh damnation vnto him ſelfe, making no difference of the Lordes bodie.

30 For this cauſe many are weake and ſicke among you, and many ſleepe.

31 For if we would iudge our ſelues, we ſhould not be ‖ iudged. ‖ Or, punished.

32 But when we are ‖ iudged, we are ‖ chaſtened of the Lord, that we ſhould not be damned with the world. ‖ Or, punished. ‖ Or, inſtructed.

33 Wherefore my brethren, when ye come together to eate, tary one for another.

34 If any man hunger, let him eate at home, that ye come not together vnto condemnation. The reſt will I ſet in order, when I come.

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. XI.

Rhem. 2. 23. That our Lord.) The Apoſtles drift in al that he ſaith here of the Sacrament, is againſt vnworthy receiuing (as S. Auguſtine alſo noteth Ep.118, c.3.) & not to ſet out the whole order of miniſtration, as the heretike do ignorantly imagine.

Fulke. 2. The apoſtles drift being againſt vnworthy receiuing, and to teach men how to receiue worthily, he could not otherwiſe atteine to his drift and purpoſe, except he did ſet downe whatſoeuer is neceſſare to be obſerued in the adminiſtration of this ſacrament, according to Chriſts inſtitution, after which he reformeth their abuſe, and teacheth how all abuſes may likewiſe be reformed. S. Auguſtine noting that the apoſtle teacheth in this place who receiueth vnworthily, doth not deny but that he ſetteth forth the whole order of miniſtration in all neceſſarie and ſubſtantiall parts of Chriſts inſtitution. Chryſoſtome ſaith: How doth he ſay that he receiued it of the Lord? for he was not then preſent, but he perſecuted Chriſt, that thou maiſt vnderſtand, that this table had nothing more afterward, for euen at this day it is he that worketh all things & deliuereth as he did then. S. Cyprian reproueth the error of of them that vſed only water in the cup by the inſtitution of Chriſt: ſaying that in the celebration of this myſtery we ought to do nothing els, but that which he did. For the ſcripture ſaith, as often as you ſhall eat this bread, and drinke this cuppe, you ſhall ſhew the Lords death vntill he come. Therefore ſo often as we offer the cuppe in remembrance of our Lord and his paſſion, let vs doe that which it is certeine that our Lord did. Againe he ſaith, that our Lord by his example and inſtitution hath taught vs what to doe. ep.63. Cæcilio. S. Ambroſe ſaith, That they might correct their errour & know that to be true which they learned at the firſt, he repeateth the forme which was giuen by our ſauiour in this matter. Therefore the whole order of miniſtration for the ſubſtance of the ſacrament, is expreſſed in the inſtitution of Chriſt, deſcribed by three Euangeliſts, and the Apoſtle Paule. As for matters of ceremony and circumſtance, which are not materiall or eſſentiall parts of the ſacrament, they are neither all expreſſed, nor all that be expreſſed ar neceſſary to be obſerued.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. XI.

Rhem. 3. 2. My precepts.) Our Paſtors and Prelates haue authoritie to commaund, and we are bound to obey. And the Gouernors of the Church may take order and preſcribe that which is comely in euery ſtate, as time and place require, though the things be not of the ſubſtance of our religion.

Fulke. 3. In things that be of the ſubſtance of religion, the gouernors of the church may command nothing but that which hath warrant of Gods word. In matters of ceremonie, which be not of the ſubſtance of religion, they muſt alſo haue reſpect that they be agreeable to order, decency, and edification, and ſo they are to be obeyed. And though they doe ſomewhat decline from theſe rules, yet ſo long as the ſubſtance of religion remaineth whole, no ſchiſme muſt be made for matters of ceremony and externall rites. Auctoritie of the church.

Rhem. 5. Euery woman.) What gifts of God ſo euer women haue, though ſupernatural, as ſome had in the Primitiue Church, yet they may not forget their womanly ſhamefaſtnes, but ſhew them ſelues ſubiect and modeſt, and couer their heads with a veile.

Rhem. 4. 16. Cuſtome.) If women or other, to defend their diſorder and malipertnes, diſpute or alleage Scriptures and reaſons, or require cauſes of their preachers why and by what authoritie they ſhould be thus reſtrained in things indifferent, make them no other anſwer but this, This is the cuſtome of the Church, this is our cuſtome. Which is a goodly rule to repreſſe the ſaucineſſe of contentious ianglers, which being out of al modeſtie and reaſon, neuer want words and replies againſt the Church. Which Church if it could then by preſcription of twenty or thirty yeres, and by the authority of one or two of their firſt preachers, ſtoppe the mouthes of the ſeditious: what ſhould not the cuſtome of fiftene hundred yeres, and the decrees of many hundred Paſtors, graue of reaſonable, modeſt, and humble men? The Cuſtome of the church, is a good anſwer againſt al wranglers.

Fulke. 4. S. Paule ſaith the apoſtles and church haue no ſuch cuſtome to be contentious. (Chry. hom. 27. in ep. 1 Cor.) for matters of externall order, yet doth he giue reaſons for that order of couering womens heads. By whoſe example the preachers are likewiſe to endeuour to ſatiſfy by reaſon both men and women, that humbly deſire their reſolution for quiet of their conſcience, and not to beat them downe with the clubbe of cuſtome onely. For ſo the Apoſtle doth not. As for the preſcription of 1500 yeeres that you bragge of, for your popiſh ceremonies and cuſtomes, it is vaine and falſe. For either you haue nothing of that antiquitie, or if you haue, you haue cleane peruerted the vſe of it. Cuſtome.

Rhem. 5. 16. There muſt be hereſies.) When the Apoſtle ſaith, Hereſies muſt be: He ſheweth the euent, and not that God hath directly ſo appointed it as neceſſarie. For, that they be, it commeth of mans malice and free will: but that they be conuerted to the manifeſtation of the good and conſtant in faith and the Churches vnitie, that is Gods ſpecial worke of prouidence that worketh good of euil. And for that there ſhould fall Hereſies and Schiſmes, ſpecially concerning the Article and vſe of the B. Sacrament of the Aultar, whereof he now beginneth to treat, it may make vs maruel the leſſe, to ſee ſo great diſſenſions, Hereſies, and Schiſmes of the wicked and weake in faith concerning the ſame. Such things then will be, but woe to him by whom ſcandal, or Sectes do come. Let vs vſe Heretikes, ſaith S. Auguſtine, not to that end to approue their errours, but that by defending the Catholike doctrine againſt their deceites, we may be more watchful and wary: becauſe it is moſt truely written, There muſt be hereſies that the tried and approued may be manifeſted or diſcouered from the holow hartes among you. Let vs vſe this benefite of Gods prouidence for Heretikes be made of ſuch as would erre or be naught, though they were in the Church: but being out, they profit vs exceedingly, not by teaching the truth which they know not, but by ſtirring vp the carnal in the Church to ſeeke truth, & the ſpiritual Catholikes, to cleere the truth. for there be innumerable holy approued men in the Church, but they be not diſcerned from other among vs, nor manifeſt, ſo long as we had rather ſleepe in darkenes of ignorance, then behold the light of truth. therfore many are raiſed out of their ſleepe by Heretikes to ſee the day of God, and are glad thereof. Auguſt. c. 8. de vera relig. That hereſies ſhal come, and wherfore. What commoditie we may make of hereſies.

Fulke. 5. Though God be not auctor of hereſies, which are contrarie to his reuealed will, yet they are according to his ſecret ordinance and appointment, for the vſe and end mentioned in the text. And ſeeing the Apoſtle not only foreſhewed that there ſhould be hereſies concerning the B. ſacrament, but alſo hath ſhewed the meanes how they ſhould be confuted and beaten downe, namely by the pure and ſincere inſtitution of Chriſt, as he doth the ſchiſme and abuſe of the Corinthians: we maruell not that papiſts continue ſo obſtinate, becauſe there muſt be hereſies, but we maruell they are ſo impudent to defend them againſt ſo plaine and manifeſt inſtitution of Chriſt. Inſtitution of Chriſt.

Rhem. 6. 20. Our Lords ſupper.) The Chriſtians at or about the time of the Churches onely Sacrifice and their communicating thereof, kept great feaſtes: which continued long, for that the reliefe of the poore vpon the common charges of the richer ſort, and the charitie & vnitie of al ſortes were much preſerued thereby, for which cauſe they were called ἀγάπαι, that is Charities, of the auncient Fathers, and were kept commonly in Church houſes or porches adioyning, or in the body of the Church (whereof ſee Tertullian Apolog. c. 39. Clemens Alexand. S. Iuſtine, S. Auguſtine cont. Fauſt. li. 20 c. 20.) after the Sacrifice and Communion was ended, as S. Chryſoſtom ho. 27. in 1 Cor. in initio indeeth. Thoſe feaſtes S. Paul here calleth Cœnas Dominicas, becauſe they were made in the Churches which then were called Dominicæ, that is, Our Lordes houſes. The diſorder therfore kept among the Corinthians in theſe Church-feaſtes of Charitie, the Apoſtle ſeeketh here to redreſſe, from the foule abuſes expreſſed here in the text. And as S. Ambroſe in hunc locum, and moſt good authors Agape or ſuppers of charitie. Conc. Gang. can. 11. Conc. Laodic. can. 27. 28. Whether the apoſtle meane by our Lords ſupper, the B. Sacrament.

thinke, this which he calleth Dominicam cœnam, is not meant of the B. Sacrament, as the circumſtances alſo of the text do giue, namely, the reiecting of the poore, the rich mans priuate deuouring of al, not expecting one an other, gluttony and drunkenneſſe in the ſame, which can not agree to the holy Sacrament. And therfore the Heretikes haue fond reaſon, vpon this place, to name the ſaid holy Sacrament, rather, the Supper of the Lord, then after the maner of the Primitiue Church, the Euchariſt, MASSE, or Liturgie. But ly like they would bring it to the ſupper againe or Euening ſeruice, when men be not faſting, the rather to take away the old eſtimation of the holines therof.

Fulke 6. The feaſtes of loue, that were vſed after the celebration of the Lordes Supper, were abuſed to matter of ſchiſme, and to the prophanation of the Lordes Supper, which ought to be celebrated of all the Church together, according to Chriſts inſtitution. As for Church houſes, porches, or bodies of Churches, there was no ſuch diſtinction in the Apoſtles time, nor long after, before Churches were builded, but they were kept in the ſame place, where the Lords Supper was celebrated, but yet after ỹ celebration where they were rightly kept, as Chryſoſtome affirmeth Hom 27 in 1. Cor. And it may be gathered out of Tertullian, Apologetico, where he ſheweth, that the Chriſtians were defamed, after the murthering of an infant to keepe a riotous feaſt. By murthering of the infant, they meant the celebration of the Sacrament of the body and bloud of Chriſt. Photius alſo ſayth, they were after the participation of the holy myſteries. Neither doth S. Paule cal thoſe feaſtes, the Lords Supper, but ſayth, that their comming together in that ſchiſmatical maner, was not to eate the Lords Supper, which was no feaſt of the belly, but of the ſoule, as he proueth by the inſtitution. Therefore S. Paule calleth the Sacrament the Lords Supper, as we doe. Neither doth S. Ambroſe ſay, that the Sacrament is not called the Lordes Supper, but vpon the inſtitution, he ſayth, the Apoſtle ſheweth that the myſterie of the Euchariſt, which was celebrated at ſupper, is not a ſupper, but a ſpirituall medicine. That is, it is not a prophane ſupper to feede the body, but the Lords Supper, to heale the ſoule.

The Communion rightly called the Lordes Supper.

Chryſoſtome vpon this place, vnderſtandeth the Lords Supper to be ſpoken of the holy Sacrament, ſaying: The Apoſtle teacheth them farre more terribly, in theſe wordes: This is not to eate the Lordes Supper, referring them to that night in which our Lord deliuered thoſe wonderfull myſteries. Therefore he called it by the name of the laſt Supper, for that Supper comprehended all in generall. Theodoret ſayth: He calleth the Lords Sacrament the Lords Supper. Photius apud Oecumenium, agreeth hereunto, ſaying: He calleth it the Lordes Supper, according to the imitation of that fearfull and myſtical Supper, when our Lord did eate together with his Diſciples: as if he ſhould ſay, that which was inſtituted and ordained by our Lord. You come together to eate our Lords Supper, but you doe it not. The like writeth Theophylact: He calleth the Lords Supper, a common feaſt, where many eate together, as an imitation of that fearfull and wonderfull Supper, in which our Lord did eate together with his Diſciples. Hierome, or the auctor of the Comment vnder his name, ſayth: The Lordes Supper ought to be common to all, becauſe he deliuered the Sacraments equally, to all his Diſciples, that were preſent. Beda vpon this text, ſayth: He calleth the receauing of the Euchariſt the Lordes Supper. So doth S. Auguſtine Ep. 118. Et de ſer. Dom. in mont. lib. 2. Finally, S. Cyprian. or the auctor of that worke, in time not much inferiour to Cyprian, by entituling his booke of the Sacrament, De Cana Domini, of the Supper of the Lord, declareth, that it was ſo taken and called in his time. And therefore you ſee what newfangled vanitie, occupieth the Papiſts heads at this time, to quarel with vs for vſing that terme, and to ſay we haue ſmal reaſon, to name the bleſſed Sacrament, the Lords Supper, when we haue both the auctoritie of the Apoſtle, and the conſent of the ancient Fathers, which ſo called it. As for the names of Euchariſt & Liturgy, becauſe they be Greeke, and not vnderſtood of the people, we vſe not in Engliſh ſpeach. And your horrible ſacrilege of the Maſſe, is the cauſe why we vſe not that terme, which alſo but lately in a maner, came into the Church.

Rhem. 7. 23. I haue deliuered.) As al other partes of religion were firſt deliuered by preaching and word of mouth to euery Nation conuerted, ſo this holy order and vſe of the B. Sacrament was by S. Paul firſt giuen vnto the Corinthians by tradition. Vnto which as receiued of our Lord he remoketh them by this Epiſtle, not putting in writing particularly al things perteining to the order, vſe, and inſtitution, as he afterward ſaith: but repeating the ſumme and ſubſtance therof, and leauing the reſidue to his returne. But his wordes and narration here written we wil particularly proſecute, becauſe the Heretikes make profeſſion to folow the ſame in their pretended reformation of the MASSE.

Tradition with our writing.

Whether the Catholikes or Proteſtants do more imitate Chriſts inſtitution of the B. Sacrament.

Fulke 7. The Apoſtles did not deliuer their doctrine, only by word of mouth, but deliuered the holy Scriptures alſo, of the old Teſtament, and added their owne writings, conteining that which they had preached. So doth S. Paul in this place by your owne confeſſion, deliuer the ſumme and ſubſtance of Chriſtes inſtitution, as for other variable orders and circumſtances, ſo the ſumme and ſubſtance be reteined, and ſo there be obſerued in thoſe orders, the rule of edification and decencie, we would not greatly contend, but in your Maſſe there is neither of both obſerued, for the end and vſe, (which is of the ſumme and ſubſtance,) is altogether peruerted, and your forme of celebration vtterly voyd of edifying.

Tradition of Apoſtles.

Rhem. 8. 23. In the night.) *Firſt the Aduerſaries may be here conuinced that al the circumſtances of time, perſon, and place which in Chriſtes action are noted, needs not to be imitated. As, that the Sacrament ſhould be miniſtred at night, to men only, to onely twelue, after or at ſupper, and ſuch like: becauſe (as S. Cyprian ep 63. nu. 7. and S. Auguſtine ep. 118. c. 6. note) there were cauſes of thoſe accidents in Chriſt that are not now to be alleaged for vs. He inſtituted then this holy act: we do not. he made his Apoſtles Prieſts, that is to ſay, gaue them commiſſion to do and miniſter the ſame: we do not. he would haue this the laſt act of his life and within the bounds of his Paſſion: it is not ſo with vs. he would eate and make an end of the Paſchal to accompliſh the old Law: that can not be in our action. therfore he muſt needes doe it after ſupper and at night: we may not do ſo. he excluded al women, al the reſt of his Diſciples, al lay men: we inuite al faithful men and women. In many circumſtances then, neither we may imitate Chriſtes firſt action, nor the Heretikes as yet do: though they ſeeme to encline by abandoning other names ſauing this (calling it Supper) to haue it at night and after meate, though (as is before noted) they haue no iuſt cauſe to cal it ſo vpon Chriſts fact, ſeeing the Euangeliſts do plainely ſhew * that the Sacrament was inſtituted after Supper, as the Apoſtle him ſelf here recordeth of the later part in expreſſe ſpeach. And moſt men thinke a long ſermon and the waſhing of the Apoſtles feete came betweene, yea and that the ſupper was quite finiſhed, and grace ſaid. But in al theſe and ſuch like things, the Catholike Church only, by Chriſtes Spirit can tel, which things are imitable, which not, in al his action.*

Al circumſtances in our Saiuours action about the B. Sacrament, needs not be imitated.

Io. 13. 2.

Fulke 8. We were neuer ſo madde, to thinke, that all circumſtances of Chriſts action, were neceſſary to be followed, or conuenient to be vſed at all times, and in all places. And yet by this example we learne, that the Sacrament may be miniſtred at night, if nuſt occaſion require, and after ſupper, and to men alone, if no women be preſent, &c. Although you can not proue, that only twelue were preſent, or that no women were preſent: ſeeing it was miniſtred in ſuch an houſe, wherein were other men and women, which were doubtles pertakers of the Paſcall Lambe. For a ſheepe of a yeare old, could not be eaten of 13. perſons, and another ſupper alſo (as appeareth by the broth, wherein the ſoppe was dipped) whom there is no reaſon to exclude from the inſtitution of the Sacrament, ſeeing they were Chriſts diſciples. Where you ſay, we ſeeme to incline, by calling it Supper, to haue it at night, and after meate, it is a vaine conceite, when you ſee our vſuall and ordinarie practiſe, to the contrary. Where you ſay, we abandon other names, ſauing this, you declare what conſcience you haue to lye, when we doe commonly vſe, the name of Communion of the body and bloud of Chriſt, which the Apoſtle alſo teacheth vs, 1. Cor. 10. 16. and in our ſermons and writings, the Sacrament of the body and bloud of Chriſt, the Euchariſt, and ſuch like. What iuſt cauſe we haue to call it the Lords ſupper, I haue ſhewed before. And it is a vaine argument, to proue, that it is not called the Lordes ſupper, becauſe it was inſtituted after ſupper: ſeeing there were three ſuppers that night: the firſt of the Paſchall Lambe, the ſecond, for a free ſupper to ſatisfie the body, and the third, the Lords ſupper, which was the holy Sacrament, to feede the ſoule, inſtituted after that ſupper, wherein the body was fed. Now what is to be followed of neceſſitie, & what not, the Church knoweth by the ſpirit of Chriſt, and by his word. For to challenge his ſpirit without his word, is plaine Antichriſtian arrogance.

Circumſtances not neceſſary.

Authoritie of the Church.

Rhem. 9. 23. Tooke.) *Chriſt tooke bread into his hands, applying this ceremonie, action, and benediction to it, and did bleſſe the very elements, vſed power and actiue word vpon it, * as he did ouer the bread and fiſhes which he multiplied: and ſo doth the Church of God: and ſo do not the Proteſtants, if they folow their owne booke and doctrine, but they let the bread and cuppe ſtand a looſe, and occupy Chriſtes wordes by way of report and narration, applying them not at all to the matter propoſed to be occupied: and therfore howſoeuer the ſimple people be deluded by the rehearſal of the ſame wordes which Chriſt vſed, yet conſecration, benediction, or ſanctification of bread and wine they profeſſe they make none at al. At the firſt alteration of religion, there was a figure of the Croſſe at this word,* He bleſſed: and at the worde, He tooke, there was a gleſſe or rubriſe that appointed the Miniſter to imitate Chriſts action, and to take the bread into his hands: afterward that was reformed and Chriſtes action aboliſhed, and his bleſſing of bread turned to thankes giuing to God.

Luc 9, 16

The Proteſtats imitation: Chriſt in breaking the bread and wine.

Fulke 9. Chriſt tooke bread into his handes, and did bleſſe or conſecrate the ſame element, to the vſe of this holy myſtery. So doe we. But you ſay, we let the bread and cuppe ſtand a looſe, whereas we take it, and deliuer it as Chriſt did: You ſay, we occupy Chriſts words, by way of report and narration, applying them not at all to the matter propoſed to be occupied, which is vtterly falſe: for we pray, that we receiuing theſe creatures of bread and wine, according to Chriſts holy inſtitution, which is rehearſed in theſe words of the Euangeliſt, in remembrance of his death and paſſion, may be pertakers of his moſt bleſſed body and bloud: which is a manifeſt applying of them, to the matter propoſed to be occupied. Againe, it is a monſtrous lie, when you ſay we profeſſe that we make no conſecration, benediction, or ſanctification of the bread and wine at all, for we profeſſe the contrary: that by praiſe & thankes giuing, for the death of Chriſt, & by praier vnto God, that we may be partakers of the body & bloud of Chriſt, we conſecrate, bleſſe, and ſanctifie the bread and wine, to be the holy and bleſſed Sacrament: of the body and bloud of Chriſt. Neither had the firſt alteration, any other meaning, though there was a Croſſe vſed, and a rubricke appointed the Miniſter, to take the bread into his hand when the words of inſtitution were read, which needles ceremonies are altered, ſeeing Chriſt vſed not the one, and the other is ſufficiently imitated, when we take bread, breake it, and deliuer it, as Chriſt did.

Slanders.

Rhem. 10 23. Bread.) Chriſt made the holy Sacrament of vnleauened bread, and al the Latin Church imitateth him in the ſame, as a thing much more agreable to the ſignification both in it ſelf and in our liues, then the leauen. Yet our Aduerſaries neither folow Chriſt, S. Paul, nor the moſt Church in the ſame: but rather purpoſely make choiſe of that kind that is in it ſelf more vnſeemely, and to the firſt inſtitution leſſe agreeable. In the other parts of the Sacrament they contemne Chriſt and his Church much more impudently and damnably. For Chriſt and al the Apoſtles and al Catholike Churches in the world haue euer mixed their wine with water, for great myſterie and ſignification, ſpecially for that water ſhed together with blood out of our Lordes ſide. This our Lord did (ſaith S. Cyprian Ep. 63. ad Cæcilium. nu. 4. 7.) and none rightly offereth, that foloweth not him therein. Thus Irenæus (li. 5. c. 1.) Iuſtine (Apolog. 2. in fine.) and al the Fathers teſtifie the Primitiue Church did, and in this ſort it is done in al the MASSES of the Greekes, S. Iames, S. Baſil. S. Chryſoſtome: and yet our Proteſtants pretending to reduce al to Chriſt, will not doe as he did, and al the Apoſtles and Churches that euer were.

They imitate him not in vnleauened bread and mingling water with wine.

Fulke 10. Chriſt vſed vnleauened bread, becauſe it was the vſuall bread at that time: ſo doe we vſe that, which is the vſual bread in our time. S. Paule ſpeaketh of that bread, which was vſual among the Gentils, when he ſaith: The bread which we breake, and in this chapter: As often as you eate of this bread, &c. which ſeeing it was the ſame bread, which was vſed in the feaſts of loue, it was doubtles leauened bread. And although you ſay, all the Latin Church imitateth Chriſt in vnleauened bread, it is true perhaps of the Popiſh Church, but not of all the Weſt Church, nor of the Latine Church of old time, who in their celebration did not vſe ſuch thinne wafer cakes, as you doe. Greg. lib. Dial. 4. Cap. 55. ſheweth, that they were loaues or cakes of great quantitie, ſeeing two of them were giuen to a poore man (as it was ſuppoſed by the Prieſt that gaue them) in almes, and for reward of his ſeruice in diuers daies. Epiphanius in Anchorato, teſtifieth, that they were of a long ſhape, as it were rolles of bread, that were vſed in the Greeke Church. And the Greeke Church hath alwaies vſed leauened bread, as doubtles the Apoſtles did, out of the time of vnleauened bread preſcribed by the lawe, and when they were among the Gentiles. But it is a greater matter, wherein you ſay, we doe impudently and damnably contemne Chriſt and his Church, in that we mixe no water with the wine. Whereto I anſwere, we finde no ſuch mixture vſed by Chriſt, and therefore as not neceſſarie, we vſe it not. In the Primitiue Church, it appeareth by Iuſtinus, Irenæus, & Cyprian, that they vſed to mingle water with their wine: becauſe they vſed commonly ſo to drinke it, ſpecially in hot Countries, where their wines are ſtrong. Cyprian alſo maketh a myſterie of the water, to ſignifie

The Liturgie bearing the name of S.Baſill,ſheweth it ſelfe to be none of his, becauſe it obſerueth not that forme of Doxologie, that is, giuing praiſe to the holy Ghoſt,with the Prepoſition σὺν,which S.Baſil doeth ſo earneſtly defend to haue come from the Apoſtles tradition,and to haue bene the forme vſed in the Church in his time. *De ſpirit. ſanct.Cap.*27.28. 29.Wherefore in not mingling water,which we neither read that Chriſt did,and diuers Churches of ancient time did not vſe,we depart not from Chriſtes inſtitution, but come neerer to it then they which mingle water,and are not able to proue,that it was mingled by Chriſt. Although (ſo the opinion of neceſſitie be taken away) we count it an indifferent thing,to mingle water,or to miniſter with wine alone.

Auguſtine ſaith) when the wordes come, that is to ſay, actiuely and preſently be applied to the elements of the ſame. The wordes of conſecration, to be ſaid ouer the bread and wine, the which the Proteſtants do not.

Fulke 11. We rehearſe theſe wordes, which Chriſt vttered, when he inſtituted this Sacrament, not as a magicall charme,to be ſaid ouer the bread and wine,to conuert their ſubſtances,but as they import in deede,to declare what the bread and wine are made to vs,by Chriſtes inſtitution of this Sacrament, namely, his body & bloud. Neither doth S.Auguſtine meane,your fantaſie of the wordes of conſecration, when he ſaith: The word muſt come to the element,that it may be a Sacrament: but that the element muſt haue the word of God,for the inſtitution of it,which maketh it a Sacrament,as appeareth plainly,by his whole diſcourſe,in that place. Quare non ais, &c.Why doth he not ſay,you are cleane for Baptiſme,wherewith you are waſhed? but he ſaith,for the word which I haue ſpoken vnto you,but that euen in the water, the word doth cleanſe.Take away the word, and what is water but water? The word commeth to the element,and it is made a Sacrament,euen it ſelfe being a viſible word. For this verely he ſaid, when he waſhed his Diſciples feete,he that is waſhed,hath no need, but that he waſh his feete,but is all cleane. Where is this ſo great vertue of the water,that it toucheth the body,and waſheth the hart,but by the word which cauſeth it? Not becauſe it is ſaid, but becauſe it is beleeued,for euen in the word it ſelfe,the ſound that paſſeth away,is one thing,the vertue which remaineth, is another thing.This is the word of faith,ſaith the Apoſtle,&c. In this ſaying,S.Auguſtine is directly againſt you,that the word ſayd ouer the element,is the forme of the Sacrament,and word of conſecration. Where you ſay,we neuer apply the words to the elements,it is falſe,though we apply them not,after your magicall fantaſie, for we ſo apply the wordes of Chriſtes inſtitution, to confirme our faith, that we following the commaundement of Chriſt, giuen vs in his inſtitution, are aſſured, that the elements of bread and wine, which are before vs, ſhal be the ſame to vs, that they were to the Apoſtles, and that our Sauiour Chriſt by thoſe wordes declared that they were. And therefore, as we apply the wordes of Baptiſme to the childe, ſo doe we apply the wordes of the ſupper, to the Communicants. But if the wordes ſhould be ſo applied to the elements, as the wordes of Baptiſme are to the child, we ſhould not ſay,This is my body,this is my bloud, but this is the body of Chriſt,this is the bloud of Chriſt.But that the wordes of the text, be the onely forme of this Sacrament,and to be ſpoken ouer,or vpon the bread, you will beare vs downe,with a multitude of quotations. Firſt S.Ambroſe De ſacr.lib. 4. c.p. 4. who ſayth no ſuch thing, but that the Sacrament is made by the worde of Chriſt, which we confeſſe. By what wordes then, and by whoſe ſpeaches is the conſecration? of our Lord Ieſus. For all the reſt that is ſayde, prayſe is giuen to God, prayer is made for the people, for Kinges, for the reſte, when wee come to that, the reuerende Sacrament is to be made, nowe the Prieſt vſeth not his owne wordes, but the wordes of Chriſt. Therefore the worde of Chriſt, doeth make this Sacrament. which worde? namely, that whereby all thinges were made. The Lorde commaunded, and the heauen was made. The Lorde commaunded, and the earth was made.

Slander.

made. The Lord commaunded, and the ſea was made. The Lord commaunded, and euery creature was brought forth. Doeſt thou ſee therefore, how effectuall the word of Chriſt is? If therefore there was ſo great force in the wordes of our Lorde Ieſus, that thoſe thinges ſhould beginne to be, which were not, how much more effectuall is it, that thoſe thinges which were, ſhould be, and be changed into another thing. How can it be proued, out of this ſaying? that theſe wordes onely, (this is my bodie, this is my bloud,) ſhould be the onely forme of the Sacrament, and to be ſayde ouer the bread and wine: when the wordes of Chriſt are more then theſe: namely, take, eate, drinke ye all of this, Doe this in remembrance of me, This cuppe is the new Teſtament in my bloud. Ambroſe therefore was ignorant of your forme of conſecration, but ſheweth, that by the commaundement of Chriſt (which is expreſſed in the wordes of the inſtitution) whereby all things were made, when they were not: the bread and wine are the ſame that they were before in ſubſtance, and yet are changed into another thing, namely into the Sacrament of the body and bloud of Chriſt. In the ſecond place, De iis qui myſt. Cap. 9. he hath no more but that. This Sacrament is made by the word of Chriſt, and therefore is verely a Sacrament of his fleſh. Our Lord Ieſus himſelfe crieth out, this is my body. Before the bleſſing of the heauenly wordes, it is named another kinde: after conſecration, the body of Chriſt is ſignified. He him ſelfe ſaith, it is his bloud, before conſecration it is called another thing, after conſecration, it is called bloud. Thus Ambroſe proueth not your purpoſe, for ſaying of the wordes ouer the creatures, nor, that thoſe onely wordes, are the forme of conſecration, but ſheweth what force the wordes of Chriſt haue, to make of common bread and wine, the Sacraments or myſticall tokens and ſignes, of his bodie and bloud.

Iuſtinus Apol. 2. hath as litle, or leſſe, for your purpoſe. His wordes are theſe. The foode for which thankes are giuen by the word of praier, which is from him, by which foode our fleſh and bloud by change are nourriſhed, we are taught to be the fleſh and bloud of Ieſus, which was incarnate: you ſee here, that by word of praier, the conſecration is made, and not by ſaying the wordes of Chriſt only, ouer the bread and wine. And deſcribing the very forme of their adminiſtration, he ſpeaketh of nothing, but praier and thankes giuing. Cyprian De Cana Domini, is directly againſt you, ſaying: Before thoſe wordes, that common meate was profitable only to nouriſh the body, and did miniſter aide of corporall life, but after it was ſaid of our Lord, Doe this in my remembrance, this is my fleſh, and this is my bloud, ſo often as it is done, with theſe wordes, and with this faith, that ſubſtantiall bread and cuppe being conſecrated with ſolemne benediction, doth profit to the life and ſaluation of the whole man.

Cyprian therefore, requireth all the wordes of Chriſt, and that to be done, which Chriſt commaunded, and with that faith: therefore, he is cleane contrary to your Popiſh forme of Conſecration. S. Auguſtine ſaith litle to the matter, Ser. 28. De verb. Dom. ſec. Matth. Before the wordes of Chriſt, that which is offred is called bread, after the wordes of Chriſt are vttered, now it is not called bread, but his body. Why ſhould we not thinke, that he meaneth as Cyprian ſayth? after the wordes of Chriſt: Doe this in remembrance of me, &c? and yet here is neither the forme of Conſecration deſcribed, nor the wordes ſayd ouer the bread, and cuppe. Tertullian Contr. Marcion. Lib. 4. ſayth, that Chriſt made the bread which he tooke and diſtributed to his Diſciples his body, ſaying: This is my body, that is to ſay, a figure of my body. Here you ſee, he rehearſeth briefly the whole action of Chriſt, and not thoſe wordes onely, then he doth ſo interprete thoſe wordes, as they can make litle for popiſh conſecration.

Chryſoſtome in 2. Tim. Hom. 2. hath theſe wordes. The holy oblation, whether Peter or Paule doe offer it, or any other Prieſt, of what worthines ſoeuer he be, is the ſame which Chriſt gaue to his Diſciples, and which the Prieſts doe nowe make. This hath nothing leſſe, then that: why ſo? Becauſe men doe not ſanctifie this, but Chriſt, which did conſecrate that before. For as the wordes which Chriſt ſpake, are the ſame which the Prieſts doe now pronounce, ſo the oblation is the ſame, and the ſame reaſon is of Baptiſme, ſo all things conſiſt of faith. By theſe wordes of Chryſoſtome, you can neuer conclude your purpoſe, but contrary to your doctrine, he ſayth, that the Prieſt doeth not conſecrate nowe, but Chriſt, as he did at the firſt: and by the wordes which then he vttered. As alſo in the Hom. de prod. Iud. And now Chriſt is alſo preſent, which garniſhed that table, he alſo doth conſecrate this table. For it is not man, which doth make thoſe things, that are ſet forth of the conſecration of the Lordes table, the body and bloud of Chriſt, but euen the ſame Chriſt that was crucified for vs. Words are vttered by the mouth of the Prieſt, and by the power of God and grace they are conſecrated. This (ſaith he) is my body, by this word, the things ſet forth, are conſecrated. And as that voice which ſaith: Growe and multiply, and fill the earth, was ſpoken but once, but hath alwaies effect, nature working to generation, ſo that voice was once ſpoken, but it performeth continuance to the ſacrifice, throughout all tables of the Church, vnto this day, and vnto his comming againe. By theſe wordes of Chryſoſtome, Chriſt did conſecrate, by pronouncing thoſe wordes once for all, and not the Prieſt ſo often as he vttereth them ouer the bread. Although we muſt vnderſtand a Synecdoche, in Chryſoſtomes ſpeach, whereby naming a part, he meaneth the whole: or els we may aſwell exclude the conſecration of the cuppe, as the reſt of the wordes of Chriſtes inſtitution. The oration of Greg. Nyſſ. hath many things foyſted in, by Heretikes, as Nicephorus writeth Lib. 11. Cap. 19. Among which, we may number that which in the 37. Chapter, is ſo often repeated of the tranſmutation of the bread, which is not found in many ancient copies, and yet he ſaith, it is ſanctified by the word of God, and by praier. Damaſcen lib. 4. Cap. 14. hath theſe wordes cleane contrarie to your poſition. God ſaid in the beginning, let the earth bring forth greene hearbes, and euen till this time, being watered with raine, is bringeth forth braunches, being aided and ſtrengthened by Gods commaundement. God ſaid, this is my body, and this is my bloud, and doe ye this in my remembrance: and by his Almightie commaundement, it is brought to paſſe vntill he come. For ſo he ſaid vntill I come: and the ouerſhadowing vertue, by inuocation of the holy ſpirit, is made raine to this new husbandry: for as all things which God hath made, he hath made by operation of the holy Ghoſt: ſo he worketh theſe things, by operation of the holy Ghoſt, aboue nature, which faith only can conceiue. Againe he ſaith: The bread, wine, and water, that are ſet forth, by inuocation and comming of the holy Ghoſt, are ſupernaturally changed into the body and bloud of Chriſt. Thus not one of the Fathers whome you haue quoted, ſaith, that the wordes are to be ſpoken ouer, or vpon the bread or wine, not one of them ſaith, that thoſe only words that you meane, are the only forme of this Sacrament. I know not alſo how you agree with the elder ſort of your ſect, which define not theſe wordes to be the only forme of the Sacrament, crament,except they be pronounced by a prieſt,with one breath,and with intention of conſecration,which if it be lacking,though he ſay the wordes neuer ſo often,he maketh no conſecration. In ſo much that if a prieſt intending to conſecrate only twelue ſinging cakes,there chance to be a thirteenth, they determine that none of them all be conſecrated, becauſe none can be conſecrated without his intention, and ſeeing his intention extendeth not to one,&it is not knowen which that is,ſeeing any one of the thirteene is no more conſecrated then an other of them,they are al vnconſecrated.The intention being therefore ſo neceſſarie to the being,it is meruaile howe you leaue it out of the forme: but with your owne inuentions, you may doe what you liſt, and euery day haue a newe deuiſe,as the maner of Heretikes is.

Rhem.12 24. My body.) When the wordes of Conſecration be by the ſaid impietie of the Proteſtants, thus removed from the elements: no marueil if Chriſtes holy body and blood be not there,or that it is nowe no more a Sacrament,but common bread and wine. So they that vniuſtly charge the Cath. Church with defrauding the people of one peece of the Sacrament, haue in very deede left no part nor ſpice of Sacrament, neither following Chriſt, as they pretend, nor S.Paul, nor any Euangeliſt, but their owne deteſtable Sect, hauing boldly defaced the whole inſtitution, not in any accident all indifferent circumſtances, but in the very ſubſtance and all.The right name is gone, the due elements both gone, no bleſſing or conſecration, or other action, nor them,the formes be gone: and conſequently the body and blood, the Sacrament and the Sacrifice. The Proteſtãts haue taken away the B. Sacrament altogether.

Fulke.12 This note conteyneth nothing but impudent ſlanders, for we receyne the wordes of Chriſt,the name of the ſacrament, the due elements, the right forme of Conſecration, and therefore are partakers of the very body and blood of Chriſt, after a ſpirituall maner of eating and drinking, to aſſure vs of our perpetuall dwelling in in Chriſt,and Chriſt in vs. Slander.

Rhem.13 24. This doe.) By theſe wordes, authoritie and power is giuen to the Apoſtles, and by the like in the Sacrament of Orders, to all lawfull Prieſtes onely. No marueil then that the newe hereticall Miniſters being lay men, giue the people nothing but bare bread and wine,prophane,naked,and naturall elements voide of Sacrament and all grace. See the Annotation vpon S.Luke chap.22,19. The power to conſecrate giuen to prieſtes onely.

Fulke.13 Popiſh prieſtes are ordeyned to ſacrifice for the quicke and the dead,which order is not of Chriſtes inſtitution, but we by lawfull calling are ordeyned to be miniſters of Chriſt, and diſpenſers of the myſteries of God, whereby wee doe as lawfully adminiſter the ſacraments,as the Apoſtles that were of Chriſtes onely election and ordeyning. Lawfull miniſters of the Sacrament.

Rhem.14 24. Take and eate.) This pertaineth to the receiuing of thoſe things which by conſecration are preſent and ſacrificed before: as when the people or Prieſtes in the olde Lawe did eate the hoſtes offered or part thereof, they were made partakers of the ſacrifice done to God before. And this is not the ſubſtance, or being, or making of the Sacrament or Sacrifice of Chriſtes body and blood: but it is the vſe and application to the receiuer, of the things which were made and offered to God before. There is a difference betwixt the making of a medicine or the ſubſtance and ingredience of it,and the taking of it.Now the receiuing being but a conſequence or one of the endes why the Sacrament was made, and the meane to apply it vnto vs: the Aduerſaries vnlearnedly make it all and ſome, and therefore improperly name the whole Sacrament and miniſtration thereof, by calling it the Communion. Which name they giue alſo rather then any other, to make the ignorant beleeue that many muſt communicate together: as though it were ſo called for that it is common to many. By which colluſion they take away the receiuing of the prieſt alone, of the ſicke alone, of reſerued the conſecrated Hoſt and the whole Sacrament. Againſt which deceite, knowe that this part of the MASSE is not called Communion, for that many ſhould concurre together alwayes in the externall Sacrament: but for that we doe communicate or ioyne in vnitie and perfect fellowſhip of one body, with all Chriſtian men in the world, with all (we ſay) that eate it through the whole Church, and not with them only which eate with vs at one time. And this fellowſhip riſeth of that, that we be, euery time we receiue either alone or with compañie, partakers of that one body, which is receiued throughout all the world. The Sacrament conſiſteth not in the receiuing. Why the Proteſtants call it the Communion. Communion, which is a part of the MASSE, what it ſignifyeth. lib.4.c.14.de orthod.fide. It is called communion(ſaith S.Damaſcen)and ſo in deede it is, for that by it we communicate with Chriſt, and be partakers of his fleſh and diuinitie, and by it doe communicate and are vnited one with another. onely let vs take heede that wee doe not participate with Heretikes. And when the Apoſtle ſaith,that all be one bread and one body that are partakers of one Bread, he meaneth not of them onely that communicate at one time and place: but that all be ſo, that communicate in vnitie through the whole Church. Then the name Communion is as ignorantly vſed of them, as the name of Supper.

Fulke.14 The receiuing is as neceſſarie,as the waſhing in Baptiſme to the eſſence of the ſacrament: for not the water,although it be conſecrated by prayer, nor the pronouncing of the wordes, I baptiſe thee &c. doeth make the ſacrament of Baptiſme, except there be one that is baptized. Therefore it is not rightly compared, to the ſacrifices that were offered to God, which conſiſted both of oblation to God, and of participation of that which was offered. But in Chriſtes inſtitution, hee did not offer the ſacrament to God, but to his diſciples: therefore your argument of compariſon, concludeth nothing. And although there be difference betwixt the making of a medicine, and the taking of it, yet can it not bee truely called a medicine, but when it being receiued doeth heale: for of healing, it is called a medicine. And yet this ſimilitude is vnſufficient to declare your purpoſe: for (except it be by petition of principle) you cannot proue that the elements of the ſacrament, haue vertue of healing in them, although they bee not receyued, as medicine hath though it bee neuer taken: for to the participation of the body and blood of Chriſt, faith of the receiuer is neceſſarie, which is not required in a medicine. Therefore your ſimilitude holdeth not in the very point for which it is brought. Where you ſay, wee doe vnlearnedlie make the receiuing,all and ſome, you doe vnſhamefaſtlie belie vs:for as we compt it neceſſarie for the perfection of the ſacrament,ſo we doe acknowledge other things alſo,as neceſſarie vnto it. As for learning whereof you bragge ſo much,condemning vs ſo often of vnlearndnednes, thankes be to God, we ſhall be found in triall nothing inferiour to the beſt of you in any kind of knowledge,that euer was taken for good learning: whereas a great number of yon, that make a great ſounde of learning like emptie veſſels, when you are gaged, will be founde to haue more winde of vaine boaſting, then ſubſtance of good literature within you. One high point of your learning you ſhew,when you ſay,we vnproperly name the whole ſacrament & miniſtration thereof,by Receiuing neceſſarie.

The ſacrament of communiō.

calling it the communion. And why doe we call ỹ ſacrament vnproperly, the communion of ỹ body & blood of Chriſt, when the Apoſtle calleth it ſo? But we call it ſo you ſay, to make ỹ ignorant beleeue, that many muſt communicate together. Verely S. Paul doth giue that reaſon, why it is called communion: becauſe we being many, are made one bread, and one body: for we are all partakers of one bread, 1. Cor. 10. 17. and that excludeth both your ſole receyuing, and reſeruation. But you haue a more learned expoſition of communion, that it is ſo called in your Maſſe, becauſe you cōmunicate with all ỹ eate it, and not w̄ them onely which eate with you at one time. If this be graunted, yet onely they that eate it, doe ſo cōmunicate: for howe are they partakers of the body of Chriſt, which doe not eate it? And if the prieſt onely doe eate it, as it is vſuall among you, where is the cōmunion ỹ S. Paul ſpeaketh of? when he ſaith: for we being many, are one bread, one body, for we are all partakers of one bread, after he had ſaid, the bread which we breake, is it not the cōmunion of the body of Chriſt, declaring plainely, that he ſpeaketh of ſacramental cōmunion, which is only of them ỹ pertake the ſacrament, and not of the general cōmunion, which al ỹ members of the Church haue one with another, by the ſpirit of Chriſt: yea many ỹ neuer receiued the ſacrament, and they alſo that haue receiued it, not only while they receiue it, but alwayes communicate with the whole Church. Which ſpirituall cōmunion, whether you doe ignorantly, or malitiouſly confound, with the ſacramentall communion, let God iudge, and all good men learne to beware of you. The ſaying of Damaſcen, maketh nothing for your vaine confuſion, but againſt it (if you rightly waygh him) for he admoniſheth vs, neither to receiue ỹ ſacrament of Hereſikes, nor to giue the ſacrament to Heretikes, which he ſayth, is voluntarily to communicate with them, therefore he ſpeaketh manifeſtly of ſacramentall communion; and ſo doe al the ancient fathers vnderſtand the text of al them that communicate at one time. Theodoret vpon that text ſayth: We which receiue the holy myſteries, doe we not communicate with our Lord him ſelfe, whoſe body and blood we ſay that they are? ſeeing we all are partakers of one bread. Chryſoſtome ſaith. What is the bread? the body of Chriſt. And what are they made, which receiue the body of Chriſt? not many bodies, but one body. You ſee then, theſe fathers vnderſtand the text of ſacramentall communion, whereof they onely are partakers which receiue the ſacrament, hauing a ſpirituall communion beſide with all the Church, whereof the ſacramentall is a ſeale. Oecumenius and the reſt of the greeke fathers with him, conſent in the ſame matter and wordes, ſo doth Theophylact. Bede out of S. Auguſtine, vnderſtandeth the communion here ſpoken of, to be of them ỹ receiue ỹ ſacrament together &c. In ſacramēto. In the ſacrament it iſo done, and the faithfull knowe howe they eate the fleſh of Chriſt. Euery one receiueth his part. Againe S. Auguſtine ſayth ſer. ad infant. apud Redam. Let vs heare the Apoſtle him ſelfe. Therefore when he ſpake of this ſacrament he ſayth, we being many are one bread one body, vnderſtand ye, and reioyce ye. Againe vpon the ſame text ſayth Bede out of Auguſtine. By his mercie, we are that which we receiue. Therefore they onely which receiue together, doe communicate in ſacramentall communion at that time, and not all other that cōmunicate with the body of Chriſt in ſpirituall communion. And this difference of ſacramentall communion, and ſpirituall communion of the body of Chriſt. S. Auguſtine in the ſame ſermon ad infantes, doth plainely ſet forth in theſe wordes. Qui accipit &c. He that receiueth the myſterie of vnitie, and keepeth not the bond of peace, receiueth not the myſterie for him ſelfe, but a teſtimonie againſt him ſelfe. No man ought to doubt any thing, that euery man is then made partaker of our Lords body and blood, when in Baptiſme he is made a member of Chriſt, and that he is no ſtranger from that bread and cuppe, although before he eate of that bread and drinke of that cuppe, he depart out of the worlde in the vnitie of the body of Chriſt. For he is not depriued of the participation and benefite of that ſacrament, when he hath found the ſame thing, which the ſacrament doeth ſignifie. The ſame doth Cyprian de cœna Dom. So often as we doe theſe things, we doe not whette our teeth to bite, but with ſyncere faith we breake and diuide the holy bread, while we diſtinguiſh and ſeparate that which is diuine, and that which is humane, and likewiſe ioyning together that we haue diſtinguiſhed, we confeſſe one God and man. And wee our ſelues being made his body, are knit and vnited to our head, both by the ſacrament, and by the matter of the ſacrament, being euery one the members of another, ſhewing foorth the miniſterie of loue one for another, we communicate in charitie, we pertake in mutuall carefulneſſe, eating the ſame meate, and drinking the ſame cuppe, which iſſueth and floweth from the ſpirituall rocke, which is meate and drinke, our Lord Ieſus Chriſt. We ſee therefore moſt cleerely, that the fathers making a difference of communion in ſacrament, from communion in ſpirit, that is in the matter of the ſacrament, did vnderſtand communion in ſacrament, to be of all them that receiued the ſacrament together, of whom ſome perhaps did not communicate in ſpirit. And ſpirituall communion to be generall of all them, that by the ſpirit of Chriſt, were vnited together, although they neuer receiued this ſacrament. Dyoniſius alſo, after he hath ſhewed that this ſacrament is called cōmunion, becauſe it doth moſt ſpecially teſtifie our participation with Chriſt & his Church, doth very often call it communion, of the common diſtribution thereof to all that are preſent. Hierarch. Eccleſ. cap. 3. in that part which is called the myſterie of the collection or communion. The Biſhop, after he hath prayſed the holy workes of God, he conſecrateth thoſe things that are moſt diuine, and bringeth into ſight, thoſe things that haue beene praiſed, by the figures which are ſet foorth after an holy maner. And after he hath ſhewed foorth the giftes of the diuine workes, he him ſelfe communeth to the holy communion of them, and exhorteth the reſt thereunto. And after hee hath receiued and diſtributed the diuine communion, he endeth in holy thankeſgiuing. This was the forme of celebration of the holy communion in the ancient time, and thus that ancient father vſeth the name of communion. The ſame auctor in that part of the Chapter which is called the contemplation neere the beginning, hath theſe wordes. That diuine, common, and peaceable diſtribution of one and the ſame bread and cuppe, doth preſcribe and decree a diuine agreement of maners, to them that are ſo fedde together, and bringeth to holy remembrance, that moſt diuine ſupper and firſt paterne of theſe things which are done: in which the author him ſelfe of theſe ſignes, moſt iuſtly depriueth him of his portion, which at the ſupper receiued with him, the holy things, not holily, nor charitably, teaching purely and diuinely, that the comming to the diuine things which is true in deede, doth giue the communion to them that come to it, like vnto them ſelues. Georgius Pachymer, the greeke interpreter of Dyoniſius, in the very beginning of the expoſition of this Chapter ſayth. He calleth this ſacrament the communion, becauſe at that time all that were worthy, did communicate, or were partakers of the myſteries. Therefore whether we doe ignorantly and vnlearnedly vſe the names of the communion, and the Lords ſupper, let them that be learned iudge, when we vſe them as the ancient fathers vſed them, and vnderſtand them according to the holy Scriptures.

26. You

Rhem. 15 26. You ſhall ſhewe.) Vpon this word the Heretikes fondly ground their falſe ſuppoſition, that this Sacrament can not rightly be miniſtred or made without a ſermon of the death of Chriſt: and that this and other Sacraments in the Church, be not profitable, when they be miniſtred in a ſtrange language. As though the grace, force, operation, and effectis together with the inſtruction and repreſentation of the things which they ſignifie, were not in the very ſubſtance, matter, forme, vſe, and worke it ſelfe of euery of the ſacraments: and as though preaching were not one way to ſhewe Chriſtes paſſion, and the Sacraments an other way: namely this Sacrament, conteyning in the very kindes of the elements and the action, a moſt liuely repreſentation of Chriſtes death. As wiſely might they ſay, that neither Abels ſacrifice nor the Paſchal lambe could ſignifie Chriſtes death without a Sermon.

How Chriſtes death is ſhewed by the B. Sacrament it ſelfe, without ſermon or otherwiſe.

Fulke. 15 We hold no ſuch ſuppoſition, that this ſacrament cannot be rightly miniſtred without a ſermon of ꝧ death of Chriſt, (as you vnderſtand a ſermon,) but we doe rightly conclude out of this place, that the ſacrament cannot be rightly miniſtred, except there be a declaration of the Lords death, vntil he come againe. Not onely in the viſible action of breaking & diſtributing of the elements, but alſo in ſhewing ꝧ end of Chriſtes death out of the word of God, to ſtirre vp ꝧ remembrance of his benefites to confirme ꝧ faith of the receiuers, in the participation of the ſame, and to exhort to thankfulnes to God, & vnitie and agreement with our fellow members. For which cauſes principally the ſacrament was ordeined, as is manifeſt by ꝧ very words of the inſtitution, where it is not only ſaid, that Chriſt tooke bread and brake it, and gaue it &c. but that he gaue thankes & ſaid, take, eate, this is my body which is broken for you, drinke you al of this: this is the cuppe of the new teſtament in my blood which is ſhed for you, and for many, to the remiſſion of ſinnes, doe this in remembrance of me. Therefore we muſt not ſeparate the preaching of ꝧ word, from the ſacrament which is a ſeale of the doctrine, which were as abſurd, as if a man ſhould deliuer a ſeale without any writing: for the worde may be preached without the ſacrament, but the ſacrament may not be adminiſtred without the word. Wherefore though there be not a long ſermon alwayes preached, when the ſacrament is miniſtred, yet there ought to be ſhewing of the Lords death, at the leſt wiſe briefly and ſummarily declaring the inſtitution and vſe of the ſacrament, and that is alwayes obſerued in our Church, though there be not alwayes (as it were to be wiſhed) a ſermon, or more large explication thereof. Where you ſay we might as wiſely ſay, that neither Abels ſacrifice, nor the paſcall lambe could ſignifie Chriſtes death without a ſermon, we anſwere, that ꝧ cleare ſacraments of the newe teſtament in this point, of cleare declaration of Chriſtes death are falſly cõpared with the obſcure figures of the old teſtament. And yet they had according to their inſtitution, not only a diuine action, or ſilent ceremonie, but alſo a preaching or declaration of Chriſtes death, and the benefite thereof. For although there be no expreſſe mention of the forme of Abels ſacrifice, yet ſeeing ꝧ ſcripture teſtifieth that Abels ſacrifice was offered and accepted by faith: and faith hath alwayes relation to the word and promiſe of God, there is no doubt but Abel preſented his ſacrifice with ſuch wordes, as declared his faith in the worde, whereby he was taught to ſacrifice, and in the ſeede which was promiſed to breake the ſerpents head, and to deſtroy the workes of ꝧ deuill. As for the paſcall lambe, hath an expreſſe commandement, that ꝧ Iſraelites ſhould declare to their children, the inſtitution & vſe of the ſacrifice, whereby (though obſcurely) yet according to the inſtitution thereof, the Lords death was preached, before he came in the fleſh. And therefore according to Chriſtes inſtitution and expreſſe commandement, his death ought to be preached moſt clearely and plainely, to all that partake this ſacrament to their edification, which cannot be in a ſtrange tongue, which they vnderſtãd not: therefore this ſacrament ought not to be miniſtred in a ſtrange language, nor any thing els ought to be done in the congregation, but to edifying. Chryſoſtome vpon this text ſayth, there muſt be commemoration of the death of Chriſt, according to his cõmandement, who declared the cauſe why he gaue this myſterie. For when thou ſhalt vnderſtand (ſayth he) what our Lorde ſuffered for thee, thou ſhalt be made wiſer. He that ſheweth the Lords death (ſaith Oecumenius vpon this text) ſheweth all his gift, all his gentleneſſe and kindneſſe, & all our ſaluation together. S. Hierome on the ſame text ſayth. When we receiue this ſacrament, we are admoniſhed by the prieſtes, that it is the body and bloud of Chriſt, that we ſhould not be vnthankefull for his benefites. Primaſius ſayth, God our Sauiour gaue example, that ſo often as we doe this, we ſhould haue in mind, that Chriſt dyed for vs all. Therefore it is ſaid vnto vs, The body of Chriſt, that when we remember this thing, we ſhould not be vnthankefull to his grace. Againe, you ſhall ſhew the Lords death in your hartes when you heare, The body of Chriſt. Therefore according to the iudgement of the fathers, the Lords death muſt be ſhewed, not onely by the action, but alſo by wordes that may be vnderſtood, and ſtirre vs vp to the remembrance of Chriſtes death, and the benefites thereof, and to thankfulneſſe in the ſame. To that effect ſpeaketh S. Baſil, gathering vpon this text De Baptiſmo. What then doe theſe wordes profite vs? that eating and drinking, we ſhould alwayes call to remembrance, him that dyed and roſe againe for vs, and ſo ſhould be inſtructed of neceſſitie, to obſerue before God and his Chriſt, that leſſon which is deliuered by the Apoſtle, where he ſaith: for the loue of Chriſt doth conſtraine vs, iudging thus, that if one haue dyed for all, then all are dead &c. Wherefore inſtruction is needefull aſwell as the action.

Shewing of ꝧ Lords death.

Rhem. 16 27. Guiltie of the body.) Firſt hereupon marke well, that ill men receiue the body and blood of Chriſt: be they infidels or ill liuers. For in this caſe they could not be guiltie of that which they receiue not. Secondly, that it coulde not be ſo heinous an offence for any man to receiue a peece of bread or a cuppe of wine, though they were a true Sacrament. For it is a deadly ſinne to receiue any Sacrament with will and intention to continue in ſinne, or without repentance of former ſinnes: but yet by the vnworthy receiuing of no other Sacrament is men guiltie of Chriſtes body and blood, but here, where the vnworthy (as S. Chryſoſtome ſayth) doth vilanie to Chriſtes owne perſon, as the Iewes or Gentiles did, that crucified it. Chryſoſtho. de non cõtemn. Ec. &c. Ho. 60. & 61. ad po. Antioch. Which inuincibly proueth againſt the Heretikes that Chriſt is really preſent.

The wicked receiue ꝧ body and blood. The reall preſence is proued by the heinous offence of vnworthy receiuing.

Fulke. 16 It followeth not of the text, that wicked men receiue the body and blood of Chriſt, which vnworthely eate of this bread, and drinke of this cuppe. He that contumeliouſly receiueth the princes ſeale, is guiltie of the maieſtie of the prince, not which he receiueth, but which he deſpiſeth. And we ſee howe heynous an offence it is, to receiue a princes ſeale contemptuouſly, although in ſubſtance, it be but printed waxe: ſo we may ſee, that he which eateth this bread, and drinketh this cuppe vnworthely, being the ſeale of Chriſtes paſſion, cõmitteth an heynous offence, although in earthly ſubſtance, they be but bread and wine. And is not he guiltie of the blood of Chriſt, which deſpiſeth Baptiſme, that he hath receiued as a ſeale of his waſhing in the blood of Chriſt, although he were waſhed with water? Doth not the Apoſtle ſay of wicked men that fall from Chriſtian religion, that they crucifie againe vnto them ſelues the ſonne of God, and make a ſcorne of him? Heb.6.6. That they treade vnder their feete the ſonne of God, and accompt his blood wherewith they haue been ſanctified as vncleane? Heb.10.29. Can this be ſaide onely for receiuing the ſacrament vnworthely? yet doe thoſe vilanie to Chriſtes owne perſon, as the Iewes or Gentiles did that crucified him. Not that his perſon ſuffereth any thing of them in deede, for he is now impoſſible, but that their malice is as great, and their wickednesſe as heynous in offence againſt him, as that the Iewes or Gentiles did to his body when he ſuffered. And therefore this doth nothing in the world make for the popiſh reall preſence. Neither doeth Chryſoſtome in any place of his writings affirme, that wicked men receiue the body of Chriſt really, as you meane: yea he ſayth expreſly Hom.60. ad pop. Antioch. Let no Iudas ſtand to, no couetous perſon, if any be a diſciple, let him be preſent: for this table receiueth not ſuch perſons: for Chriſt ſaith, I kepe my paſſouer with my diſciples. Nowe it is certaine, that the Lordes table receiueth many wicked men to the participation of the outward ſacrament, but not to the matter, or heauenly ſubſtance of the ſacrament, which is the body and blood of Chriſt. And becauſe the outward ſacrament is called the body of Chriſt, euen the wicked in ſome ſenſe, may be ſaid to eate the body of Chriſt, but in proper ſpeach, and according to your meaning, Chryſoſtome doeth no where ſay, that infidels doe eate the body of Chriſt. Chryſoſtome in Math. hom.83. ſayth, that the wicked which receiue vnworthely, according to the ſaying of the Apoſtle, doe tread Chriſt vnder feete, and eſteeme the blood of the couenant vncleane: yet he meaneth not, that the naturall body of Chriſt is troden vnder the feete of men: no more doth he meane, that it entreth into the mouth and body of wicked men, that receiueth the ſacrament thereof. Againe in the ſame homily he ſaith: Let none communicate, except he be of the diſciples, let no man with impure mind as Iudas, take the bread, leſt he ſuffer the like puniſhment. Euen this multitude alſo is the body of Chriſt: wherefore, thou that doeſt miniſter theſe myſteries, muſt take heede, that thou prouoke not the Lord by not purging this body, leſt thou deliuer a ſharpe ſword inſteade of meate. You ſee Chryſoſtome chargeth the negligent miniſter, to be guiltie of the body and blood of Chriſt, that purgeth not the multitude committed to him, which are the body of Chriſt, deliuering not the body of Chriſt, which is the ſpirituall meate of our ſoules, but a ſword for their deſtruction. Origen in 15. Math. ſayth expreſly, that No euill man can eate the worde made fleſh. But S. Auguſtine in many places is moſt plaine in this caſe, that wicked men receiue not the body of Chriſt, and that no man receiueth the body of Chriſt to his damnation. Ep.50. ad Bonifac. he ſayth of the wicked. They haue the ſacrament of the body of Chriſt outwardly, but the thing is ſelfe, whereof that is a ſacrament, they hold not within, and therefore they eate and drinke their owne iudgement. In Ioan. T.26. He that abideth not in Chriſt, and in whom Chriſt abideth not, out of doubt eateth not ſpiritually his fleſh, nor drinketh his blood, although carnally and viſibly he preſſe with his teeth, the ſacrament of the body and blood of Chriſt: but rather he eateth and drinketh the ſacrament of ſo great a thing vnto his iudgement. Againe in the ſame treatiſe. The ſacrament of this thing, is prepared on the Lords table, and is receiued from the Lords table of ſome vnto life, of ſome vnto deſtruction, but the thing it ſelfe whereof it is a ſacrament, is receiued of euery man to life, and of no man to deſtruction, whoſoeuer ſhall be partaker of it. De ciuit. Dei. lib.21. cap.25. It is not to be ſaid that he receiueth the body of Chriſt, which is not in the body of Chriſt. Againe. They are not to be ſaid to eate the body of Chriſt, becauſe they are not to be counted among his members. To omit other things: they cannot be at one time the members of Chriſt, and the members of an harlot. Finally he him ſelfe ſaying, he that eateth my fleſh, and drinketh my blood, abideth in me, and I in him, ſheweth what it is, not as in a ſacrament only, but in very deede to eate the body of Chriſt, and to drinke his blood. This is S. Auguſtines iudgement vttered expreſly, diſtinctly, and dogmatically, not in rhetoricall amplifications or figuratiue formes of ſpeaking: that infidels and wicked men receiue not the body of Chriſt, much leſſe brute beaſtes, as many papiſts doe hold.

Rhem.17 28. Let him proue.) *A man muſt examine his life diligently whether he be in any mortall ſinne, and muſt confeſſe him ſelfe of euery offence which he knoweth or feareth to be deadly, before he preſume to come to the holy Sacrament. Fulke.17 S. Auguſtine willeth euery man to examine himſelfe, he biddeth him not to ſhew himſelfe to the prieſt. Neither is the neceſſitie of confeſſion laid vpon euery man by the Apoſtles doctrine, or the practiſe of the primitiue Church, for many hundred yeeres after Chriſt. S. Cyprian de lapſis, ſpeaketh manifeſtly of them that were to make open confeſſion, becauſe they had openly fallen in time of perſecution, or els of them that of their owne accord, vncompelled, accuſed their owne purpoſe of ſhrinking, though they did not fall in deede. The booke de Dogmat. Eccleſ. is none of Auguſtines, and yet in the place quoted, the auctor ſpeaketh of publike confeſſion, & not of priuate or auriculer ſhrift. Chryſoſtome vpon this text ſaith. He doth not command that one ſhould be examined of an other, but euery man of himſelfe, not making a publike iudgement, but an action without witneſſe. To the ſame effect writeth Theodorete: but of confeſſion ſee more, Math.3. ſect.3. Fulke 18 S. Auguſtine ſpeaketh not of adoration of the Sacrament, ſuch as is vſed in Popery, with kneeling & holding vp of hands to it, as though Chriſt were cõcined within the compaſſe of that which is ſeene, but of a reuerent eſtimation, ſpecially due to the Sacrament aboue all other meates, becauſe it is a ſeale and pledge of our ſpiritual nouriſhment by the body and bloud of Chriſt. The like reuerent eſtimation is to be had of Baptiſme, aboue all other waſhings, becauſe it is a ſeale and pledge of our ſpiritual waſhing by the bloud of Chriſt, and of our regeneration by the ſpirit of God. S. Auguſtine therefore ſpeaking of two, whereof one (according to the cuſtome of the Church where he liued) receiued the Sacrament euery day, Another following likewiſe the cuſtome of his Church, receiued only at certaine times in the yeere. Neither of both (ſaith he) diſhonoureth the body and bloud of our Lord, if they ſtriue which of them may moſt honour the moſt holſome Sacrament. For Zacheus and the Centurion did not contend one with the other, or the one of them preferre himſelfe before the other, when the one with ioy receiued the Lord into his houſe, the other ſaid, I am not worthy that thou ſhouldeſt enter vnder my roofe. Both of them honouring our Sauiour after a diuers, and as it were a contrary maner, both being miſerable through ſinnes, both obteined mercie. It commeth alſo vnto this ſimilitude, that in the firſt people Manna did taſte in euery mans mouth according to his owne will: ſo in the mouth of euery Chriſtian man, that Sacrament is to be eſteemed as it is taken. For the one in honouring it, dare not take it euery day, and the other in honouring it, dare not pretermit any day. Only concempt that meate cannot abide, as Manna loathſomed. For hereof the Apoſtle ſaith, that it is vnworthily receiued of them, which did not diſcerne it frõ other meates, (Veneratione ſingulariter debita) by reuerence ſpecially due vnto it. For immediatly after he had ſaid, he eateth and drinketh iudgement to himſelfe, he added and ſaith, Not diſcerning the body, &c. The Sacrament therefore is to be honoured, reuerenced & highly eſteemed, as a certaine and vndoubted pledge of the body and blood of Chriſt giuen and ſhed for vs, and to vs, but not to be adored or worſhipped as Chriſt were perſonally preſent in it. But by this verſe it is inuincibly proued, that wicked men eate not the body of Chriſt. For the Apoſtle ſaith: That which they eate and drinke is iudgement to themſelues. The body of Chriſt is not iudgement to any, but life to all that receiue it, Therefore that which they eate and drinke, is not the body and bloud of Chriſt. The ſame Auguſtine in Pſal 98. plainly ſheweth, that the naturall body of Chriſt is not in the Sacrament, and therefore the Sacrament is not to be adored as Chriſt were preſent there, but the fleſh of Chriſt (that is the humanitie of Chriſt,) is to be adored and acknowledged, as ioyned in perſonal vnion with the Sonne of God, of euery Chriſtian man before he can eate the fleſh of Chriſt, either in the Sacrament or otherwiſe by faith. Quæro, &c. I enquire what is his footeſtoole, and the Scripture ſaith vnto me, The earth is my footeſtoole. Wauering, I come to my ſelfe to Chriſt, becauſe I ſee him here, and I finde how without impietie earth may be adored, his footeſtoole may be adored without impietie. For of the earth he tooke earth, becauſe fleſh is of the earth, and of the fleſh of Mary he tooke fleſh. And becauſe hee walked here in the ſame fleſh, and gaue vs the ſame fleſh to be eaten vnto ſaluation, and no man eateth that fleſh, except hee firſt adore it, it is found out how ſuch a footeſtoole of the Lord may be adored, and we doe not only not ſinne in adoring, but we ſinne in not adoring it. In theſe wordes, he ſheweth that the naturall body of Chriſt is to be adored. Now that the ſame is not really preſent in the Sacrament, he ſheweth in theſe wordes: After he had ſhewed how vniuſtly the Capernaites were offended, he declareth how Chriſt inſtructed his diſciples that remained with him, when he ſaid. It is the ſpirit which quickeneth, the fleſh profiteth nothing. The words which I haue ſpoken to you, be ſpirit and life. Vnderſtand ye ſpiritually, that which I haue ſpoken. You ſhall not eate this body which you ſee, and drinke this bloud, which they ſhall ſhed which ſhall crucifie me, I haue commended to you a certaine Sacrament, which being ſpiritually vnderſtoode ſhall quicken you. And albeit it be neceſſary that the ſame be celebrated viſibly, yet it muſt be vnderſtood inuiſibly. There can nothing be ſpoken more plainely and directly againſt the groſſe and carnall maner of preſence, which they call the real preſence of Chriſtes body and bloud in the Sacrament, then that which Auguſtine here affirmeth, as in the perſon of Chriſt. We eate not that body which his diſciples ſaw, nor drinke that bloud which the Iewes did powre out, but that was the natural body and bloud of Chriſt, therefore we doe not eate the naturall body and bloud of Chriſt really, but Sacramentally, ſpiritually, in a myſterie by faith, not corporally with our mouth. Whereof it followeth, we ought not to worſhip the Sacrament, but Chriſt which is ſignified and repreſented by the Sacrament. S. Ambroſe ſaith in effect, as S Auguſtine of adoring the footeſtoole, We adore the fleſh of Chriſt in the myſteries, which he ſpeaketh not onely of this Sacrament, but of all the myſteries of Chriſtian Religion, as it appeareth plainely within three lines after, where he gathereth of that he ſaid before. Cum igitur incarnationis adorandum ſit Sacramentum. Therefore ſeeing the Sacrament of his incarnation is to be adored, &c. Therefore S. Ambroſe ſpeaketh not of adoration of the Sacrament, as Chriſt and God, no more then the myſterie of the incarnation is God and Chriſt in proper ſpeach, but of worſhipping Chriſt in the myſteries of his Supper, of Baptiſme, of his incarnation, of his death and reſurrection, &c. Chryſoſtomes words Hom.24.in Cor.10. are both falſified and wreſted cleane from his meaning, for he exhorteth his hearers to come reuerently and worthely to the participation of the body and bloud of Chriſt, by example of the ſages, and not to adore the Sacrament, but Chriſt himſelfe in heauen. As we receiue the greater benefit (ſaith he) ſo much more we ſhalbe puniſhed, when we ſhall appeare vnworthy. This body the wiſe men did reuerence in the manger, being both both vngodly men and barbarous men, after they had taken a long iourney, they adore him with feare and trembling. Therefore at leſt let vs which are citizens of heauen, follow theſe barbarous men. For they when they ſaw that manger and ſtraunge only, and ſaw none of thoſe things which thou doeſt now behelde, came to him with great reuerence and trembling. But thou ſeeſt it not in the manger but in the altar, not a woman which holdeth him in her armes, but the Prieſt preſent, and the ſpirit moſt aboundantly powred out vpon the ſacrifice, which is ſet forth. Neither doeſt thou behelde his ſimple body as they did, but alſo his power, and knoweſt all his adminiſtration, and art ignorant of none of thoſe things which were done by him, and art diligently inſtructed in all things. Let vs be ſtirred vp therefore and tremble, and ſhewe greater pietie then thoſe barbarous men, that we come not barely and coldly, and ſo offer our lord to a more vehemente fire.

Theſe wordes (as euery man may ſee plainely) make nothing for adoration of the Sacrament, but for ſpiritual reuerence to be giuen to Chriſt, of them that come to receiue the Sacrament, by which we are aſſured (if we come worthely) that we are made partakers of the very body and bloud of Chriſt, after a ſpiritual maner, by faith on our behalfe, and by the working of the holy Ghoſt, on the behalfe of Chriſt. I omit other emphatical ſpeaches which Chryſoſtome vſeth, of aſcending vp to the gates of heauen, and of ſhewing Chriſt him ſelfe to be ſeene, handled, eaten, &c. Which declare manifeſtly, that he ſpeaketh of a ſpiritual and myſticall beholding, handling, eating by faith, not of a carnal ſight, handling, eating with the eyes, handes and mouth. Gregory Nazianzenes words are likewiſe falſified, and racked out of ioynt, for he ſaith: When his ſiſter had any reſpite from her ſickenes in the night, ſhe fel downe before the altar with faith, calling vpon him who is honoured at it. He ſaith not that ſhe praied to the Sacrament, but to God which was worſhipped at the altar or Communion table: for ſuch one it was, made of bords, and ſo placed, as men might ſtand round about it. And concerning the Sacrament, he ſheweth further how the behaued her ſelfe towarde it. καὶ εἶτα, &c. And if her hand had layd vp any where any part of the figures of the precious body, or of the bloud, that ſhe mingled with teares, O marueilous thing! And immediatly departed feeling hath. You ſee ſhe came not to the altar to worſhip the Sacrament hanging ouer it, or lying on it, but ſhe brought theſe fragments of the Sacrament with her, and ſhe vſed them to ſtirre vp her zeale in prayer: ſuperſtitiouſly (I graunt) and ſo I thinke wil you. For you will not ſuffer women to touch your Chalice with their hands, much leſſe the Sacrament it ſelfe, and to blubber it with their teares, which behauiour of hers was nothing like Popiſh adoration. To omit, that Gregorie calleth the Sacrament not the very body and bloud of Chriſt, but the figures and tokens thereof.

Theodoret ſaith: The myſticall ſignes after ſanctification, doe not depart from their nature. For they remaine in their former ſubſtance, forme and ſhape, they may both be ſeene and touched as before. But they are vnderſtood to be thoſe things which they are made to be, and are beleeued & reuerenced, as thoſe which are the ſame things that they are beleeued to be. Compare therefore the image with the exemplar or patterne. For the figure ought to be like the trueth. In theſe wordes Theodoret denieth both tranſubſtantion and the real preſence. Therefore you may eaſily vnderſtand what kinde of reuerence or eſtimation, he would haue to be giuen to the outward Sacrament, namely ſpiritual and by faith. Not that the ſubſtance of bread and wine which is the image not the patterne, the figure not the trueth of Chriſt, ſhould be adored as Chriſt himſelfe.

S. Denis an ancient writer, (though no immediate ſcholer of S. Paul) is impudently ſlandered to haue made ſolemne inuocation of the Sacrament after conſecration. For if you reade the whole Chapter (in which he ſheweth all the forme of celebration of the Communion in his time) you ſhall neuer finde that the ſymboles or tokens were adored as Chriſt, but according to Chriſts inſtitution diſtributed and receiued. That which hath any ſhew of your ſlander, is neither before nor after conſecration, but in the contemplation of the myſterie of the Lords Supper, which he vndertaking by the helpe of Ieſus to ſet forth more at large, breaketh out into a Rhetorical exclamation (or if you wil ſo haue it) an inuocation of the myſterie which is Chriſt himſelfe: ſaying, ἀνάδειξον, &c. But thou, (O moſt diuine and holy myſterie, reuealing or laying open the couerings of darke ſpeaches, which are compaſſed about thee by ſignes,) ſhew thy ſelfe clerely vnto vs, and fill the eyes of our minde with that ſingular light which cannot be hidde. You ſee hee doeth manifeſtly diſtinguiſh the moſt diuine myſterie, which is Chriſt himſelfe, from the ſignes which are the outward elements, to whom he maketh no prayer, but to Chriſt himſelfe: ſo doeth Pachymeres expound him, ſaying, He ſpeaketh to the myſterie it ſelf, as to a liuing thing, and worthely. Euen as the great diuine Gregorie. But thou, O great and holy Paſtour. For our Paſtour, & ſo ſuch an holy myſterie, is Ieſus Chriſt our Lord himſelf, and to him the holy man maketh his ſpeach, that he would vncouer the couerings, and fill him with ſingular light. Therefore this ſpeach of Dionyſe doth no more proue that he prayed to the Sacrament, then the like of Gregory, that he prayed to the Paſchal lambe. And although ỹ Popiſh Church do cõmit moſt deteſtable idolatrie in praying to it, yet the Church of Chriſt did neuer make any ſuch prayer to the Sacrament, but only to God through Ieſus Chriſt, whoſe Sacrament it is. Where you adde further, ỹ for diſcerning of Chriſts body, you are called from prophane houſes to Churches, from tables to altars, from vulgar apparell to holy veſtments to Corporals & chalices, frõ mariage to chaſtitie, &c. You offer heinous iniurie to our Sauiour Chriſt himſelfe, and to his Apoſtles & to the Primitiue Church, for many hundred yeres after Chriſt, who knew none of theſe meanes, to diſcerne the Lords body, nor any ſuch preſcribed or vſed. But let vs examine them particularly. For better diſcerning of this diuine meate (you ſay) you are called from cõmen prophane houſes, to Gods Church. Who hath called you for ſuch ende? or who hath taught you to cal thoſe, cõmon & prophane houſes, in which Chriſt miniſtred, and his Apoſtles & the Primitiue Church for many hundred yeres, and where Chriſt himſelf is preſent? Mat. 18. 20. Who hath taught you to diſcerne the Lords body better then Chriſt, then his Apoſtles, then the Primitiue Church? We are called by S. Paul frõ priuat houſes, to ỹ place of publike aſſembly, for order, comlines, & more conuenience to edifying, but for better diſcerning of the Lords body, or for any greater holines of ỹ place, we are neuer called by Chriſt, nor his ſpirit in his Apoſtles & Euangeliſts. You adde further, That for this, you are forbidden to make it in vulgar apparel, and are appointed ſacred ſolemne veſtments. From whom came this prohibition? By whõ are you appointed? You quote Hiero in ep. Nepot. where there is no ſuch matter, nor any thing ſounding toward ſuch a matter, except you meane thoſe words, which Nepotianus ſpake immediatly before his death, to his Vncle, ſaying, Send this coat which I did wear in the ſeruice of Chriſt, to my beſt beloued father by age &c.

Diſcerning of Chriſtes body.

Which

Which coate by the circumſtance of the place could be none other, then ſuch as he then ware at that inſtant, or had preſent before him, peraduenture his hearen coate, whereof Hierome ſpake before, that he ware it vnder his cloke and white linnen, while he was a Courtier. What garment ſoeuer it was, you ſhall neuer proue that it was your masking veſtments, except you can proue that Tunica ſignificth an Albe, a Cheſible, and ſuch like trumpery, and moreouer that there is none other miniſterie or ſeruice of Chriſt, but ſaying of Maſſe. In the ſecond place: Hierom ſaith, The Prieſtes of the myſtical temple, which is interpreted the Church, the ſonnes of Sadoch goe not forth vnto the people with the garments of their miniſtery, leſt being ſanctified, they ſhould be defiled with humane conuerſation. And thou in the midſt of the common people, and one of the people, deaſt thou beleeue that thou art cleane? Who is ſo blinde not to ſee that all true Chriſtians are Prieſtes of the myſtical temple, which is the Church, and muſt haue care not to defile their garments? Therefore Hierom ſpeaketh nothing of apparell worne by the Miniſters of the Church in the celebration of this Sacrament, but ſheweth by the charge giuen to the Prieſt, Ezech 44. that no man liuing in this world can be cleane. In the Epiſtle of Paulinus, I know not what you imagine ſhould make for your purpoſe, except it be two verſes written ouer a certaine Cloſet, that was in the great Church or minſter of Nola.

Hic locus eſt veneranda penus qua conditur, & qua
Promitur alma ſacri pompa Miniſterij.

This is the place where the venerable ſtore is layed vp, and from whence the reuerend pompe of the holy Miniſtery is brought forth. This you imagine to be the Veſtrie where all Popiſh veſtments are kept. But Paulinus meaneth, that all ſuch things as were occupied about the holy Miniſterie, except bookes (for they were in another cloſet) were kept and brought out of this place: as bread and wine and veſſels for both, and ſuch other things as they occupied in their ceremonies, among which if there were any garments appointed for the celebration of the Lords ſupper, it ſoloweth not that they were ſo many, and ſuch maner of Veſtments as you vſe in your Maſſe. By Chryſoſtome it may be gathered, they had none other apparel in his Church but a white veſture. In Matt. Hom. 85. nor in the Church of Rome, by Hierom cont. Pelag. li. 1. But it will neuer be proued that they vſed any garments to diſcerne the Lords body by them, as you pretend. As for the fables of Idin Diacen, that wrote the life of Gregorie almoſt 900. yeeres after Chriſt, deſerue ſmall credite with wiſe men, to proue what garments and for what ende, were worne in the Primitiue Church, fiue hundred yeres before he was borne.

But you proceede and tell vs, that for this, namely, for diſcerning our Lords body, is the hallowing of Corporals and chalices, calling to witnes Ambroſe Off. 2. c. 28. who ſpeaketh neuer a worde of Corporals, but of golden veſſels dedicated to the miniſterie of the Sacrament, which as he himſelfe had broken and melted to redeeme captiues, ſo he iudgeth that it is the beſt vſe that they can be put to: If they be giuen to the poore, if they be employed for redeeming of captiues, or for building of Churches and enlarging the burial places. In theſe three kindes (ſaith he) it is lawfull to breake, melt, and ſell the veſſels of the Church, euen after they be dedicated. It is needfull that the forme of the myſticall cup gee not out of the Church, leſt the Miniſterie of the holy cup be transferred to wicked vſes. Therefore within the Church firſt there were ſought out veſſels that were not dedicated: then being broken, and laſt of all melted, they were diſpenſed to the poore by ſmall portions, alſo they helped for the redemption of captiues. But although there want new veſſels, and ſuch as ſeeme not to be dedicated, I thinke they may be all conuerted with pietie to ſuch vſes, as I haue ſaid before. The Church in his time therefore had golden veſſels dedicated for the holy vſe of the Sacrament, but not to diſcerne the Lords body, which might be diſcerned ſufficiently without them, and neuer a whit by them. Exuperius biſhop of Tholoſa, is commended by Hierom to be ſo rich, as no man was richer then he, which caried the Lords body in a wicker basker, and his bloud in a glaſſe, becauſe he beſtowed all vpon reliefe of the poore: Yet there is no doubt, but he diſcerned the Lords body better with his wicker basket and brittle glaſſe, then Papiſts doe with their golden Corporals and chalices. Corporals and chalices.

Nazianzen purging himſelfe of prophaning the myſteries of Chriſtian religion, allegorically alludeth to the prophanation of the veſſels of the Iewiſh temple by Nabuzardan and Balthaſar, as his wordes doe plainely declare: ſaying, What miſtring veſſels not to be touched of many, or the multitude? Haue I deliuered to the handes of the wicked, either to Nabuzardan or to Balthaſar, which vſed wickedly in holy things, & ſuffred puniſhment worthy of his madnes? Where is hallowing of Corporals & chalices for diſcerning of the Lords body? Optatus lib. 6. ſpeaking againſt the rage of the Donatiſts, ſaith, that beſide their breaking and ſcraping of the Cómunion tables or altars, which were tables of wood, You haue doubled your wickednes, while you haue broken alſo the Cuppes, the carriers of the blood of Chriſt. What hallowing of cuppes or Corporals (to ſuch ende as you affirme) can be concluded out of theſe wordes? We know they had Cuppes ſpecially appointed, (or if you will) conſecrated, as we haue to the vſe of the holy Sacrament, but without any Popiſh hallowing, or as neceſſary to diſcerne the Lords body and bloud by them. The auctour of the imperfect worke vnder the name of Chryſoſtome Hom. 11. ſaith: If it be a ſinne and danger to transferre the ſanctified veſſels vnto priuate vſes, as Balthaſar doeth teach vs, who drinking in the hallowed Cuppes, was depoſed out of his kingdome and his life. If therefore it be ſo dangerous to transferre to priuate vſes, theſe ſanctified veſſels, in which is not the true body of Chriſt but a myſterie of his body is conteined, how much more the veſſels of our body, which God hath prepared for an habitation for himſelfe, we ought not to giue as a place for the deuil, to doe what he will with them. You ſee they had ſanctified veſſels, and yet confeſſed that the true body of Chriſt was not in them. The Real preſence.

But you proceede and ſay, For this prophane tables are remoued, and altars conſecrated. Chriſt and his Apoſtles were to blame (if it be as you ſay,) to miniſter vpon prophane tables, without conſecrating of altars. But who ſhall beare witnes for conſecration of altars? Who but S. Auguſtine Sermo. 255. de tempore? And who ſhall warrant vs that this Sermon is not falſly intituled to S. Auguſtine, (as a great nomber of thoſe Sermons are?) But admit it be Auguſtines owne auctoritie, yet he ſpeaketh onely of conſecrating of altars, not for this ende to diſcerne the Lords body and bloud. For that their tables & altars were dedicated to the holy vſe of miniſtration, it is not the matter we ſtand vpon, but whether they were conſecrated for this end. They were called altars vnproperly, as the Sacrament was called a Sacrifice, the Miniſters ſacrificing Prieſts & Leuites, yet were they neither in matter, forme, nor vſe, like vnto your Popiſh altars of ſtone, that were ſet againſt a wall. For Altars.

they were tables of wood, and ſo commonly were called, as it is manifeſt by S. Auguſtine Ep.50. Bonifacio. And Optatus lib.6. both ſpeaking of the rage of the Donatiſts, which brake, or ſhaued, or ſcraped the boardes of the altar or table. It ſtood in the middeſt, that the people might ſtand round about it. Euſeb. lib.10.c.4. ad Paulin. Tyr. ep. Aug. de verb. Dom. ſecund. Ioan. ſer.46. It was remoueable and caried by the clearkes. Auguſt. Quæſt. vet. & nou teſt. Qu.101. Or otherwiſe, as appeareth by Optatus lib.6. Therefore it was nothing like Popiſh altars. But you goe on, and ſay: That for this, the very Prieſts themſelues, are honourable, chaſt, ſacred. The Lords body may be diſcerned of the receiuers, though the Prieſt be a very varlet, vnchaſte, and vnholy. For the dignitie of the Sacrament, dependeth not vpon the worthines of the Miniſter. We confeſſe that the Miniſter ought to be chaſte, and holy, that in reſpect of himſelfe, he may diſcerne the Lords body, and that his Miniſterie is honourable, both in this Sacrament, and in the other. And ſo ſaith Hierome ad Heliodorum. Farre be it from me, that I ſhould ſpeake any thing amiſſe of them, which ſucceeding the order of Apoſtles, doe make the body of Chriſt with their holy mouth, by whom alſo we are made Chriſtians. By making the body of Chriſt, he meaneth the celebration of the Sacrament of his body, as by making vs Chriſtians, the Sacrament of Baptiſme. For otherwiſe in proper ſpeach, they neither make the body of Chriſt, nor vs Chriſtians, but onely Miniſter the Sacraments, whereby the bodie of Chriſt is repreſented vnto vs, and by vſe of them we are aſſured that we are by Gods grace and ſpirituall regeneration, become Gods children, that is, Chriſtians. In the other place againſt Iouinian, Hierome in deede and Ambroſe in 1.Tim.3. thinketh it moſt conuenient, that Miniſters of the Sacraments ſhould be continent, either vnmarried or abſteining from their wiues. But the Councel of Nice that decreed the contrary, is of greater auctoritie. Socrat. lib.1.Cap.11. And Athanaſius ad Dracontium. Yet S. Ambroſe denieth not, but that it is lawfull to haue wife and children, as the Apoſtle ſaith: For theſe are the ſignes (ſaith he) of Biſhoplike dignitie. But if any man following better things, and hath dedicated both his body and ſoule to God, that he cannot himſelfe in Matrimonie, he ſhalbe made ſo much the more worthy. And in the 2.Corinth.11. He ſaith, that All the Apoſtles except Iohn and Paul had wiues. Yet you proceede and ſay, For this the people is forbidden to touch it with their common handes. Nazianzen. Or. ad Arianos. What Gregorie ſaith of the veſſels of the Iewiſh temple, I haue ſhewed before. But that the people were not forbidden to touche the Sacrament, it is manifeſt by that which hee writeth of his ſiſter Gorgonia, which did not onely touche it with her handes, but alſo bewette it with her teares. And by that which S. Baſile of the ſame time writeth vnto Cæſarea Patritia of the very caſe of the people handling the Sacrament, and putting it to their owne mouthes. And Cyrill Hier. Myſtag. 5. biddeth them take it in the hollow of their hande. That care is had that no part fall to the ground, it is of reuerence to the holy myſteries, not as though the Sacrament were the naturall body and bloud of Chriſt, for no part can fall to the ground from his body and bloud, though crummes of bread and droppes of wine may fall. Cyrill Hieroſ. ſaith: Take heede leaſt any part of it fall from thee. For what ſoeuer thou ſhouldeſt looſe, (as it were a part of thine owne member,) thou ſhouldeſt leeſe it. For if any man ſhould giue thee graines of golde, wouldeſt thou not holde them with great diligence, taking heede leſt any part of them ſhould be loſt, and thou ſhould ſt ſuffer damage? And wilt thou not prouide much more diligently for this which is more precious then golde or precious ſtones, that no crumme of it doe fall away?

Chaſtitie of Prieſtes.

Touching of the Sacrament.

Falling of crummes or drops.

Theſe wordes declare, that although the Sacrament was highly eſteemed by him, yet not taken to be the very bodie and bloud of Chriſt, for then hee woulde haue ſaide, that euery crumme is a part of his bodie, or his whole bodie. The like is to be ſaide of that ſuperſtitious conſecrating of their eyes, forehead, and organes of their ſenſes, with the moyſter that remaineth on their lippes, after they haue drunke of the Cuppe, which he preſcribeth, declaring that he tooke it not for the natural bloud of Chriſt, as you perſwade men.

Origen alſo ſaith: In 27.Ex. I will admoniſh you by examples of your Religion, You knowe that are accuſtomed to be preſent at the diuine myſteries, how when you receiue the Lords body, with all heede and reuerence you kepe it, that neuer ſo ſmall a piece fall from it, leſt any part of the conſecrated gift doe fall away. For you thinke you are blame worthy, and you thinke rightly if any part fall from it by negligence. And if you vſe, and worthily vſe ſo great heede to keepe his body, howe doe you thinke it is a matter of leſſe heinous offence, to neglect his word then his body? Thus the neglect of the word (by Origens iudgement) is as great an offence, as the neglect of the Sacrament. But that he eſteemed not thoſe parts that by negligence might fall to be the natural bodie of Chriſt (although he called it the body of Chriſt, which is a Sacrament thereof) hee declareth moſt plainely in his Commentarie vpon Matthewe Chap.15. Where he affirmeth, that the material part of the Sacrament, goeth into the belly, and is caſt foorth into the draught: Quod ſi, &c. If whatſoeuer enter into the mouth goeth into the belly, & is caſt out into the draught, euen the meate alſo which is ſanctified by the word of God and by prayer, according to that which is hath materiall, goeth into the belly, and is caſt out into the draught: but according to prayer which is added vnto it according to the portion of faith it is made profitable, cauſing that the minde is made of cleare ſight, looking to that which is profitable. Neither doth the matter of bread, but the word that is ſaide vpon it, profite him which receiueth it not vnworthely. And theſe things are ſaid of the figuratiue or ſignificatiue bodie. Many things alſo may be ſaid of the word himſelfe which was made fleſh and very meate, whom whoſoeuer ſhall eate, he ſhall doubtleſſe liue for euer, whome no euill man can eate. For if it could be that he which continueth ſtill an euill man, might eate the word made fleſh, (ſeeing he is the word and bread of life,) it ſhould not haue bene written, Whoſoeuer ſhall eate this bread ſhall liue for euer. You ſee therefore how Origen and other fathers meane, when they call the Sacrament the body of Chriſt, (as our Sauiour himſelfe doeth) namely, that it is the typical, ſymbolical, that is, figuratiue and ſignificatiue body of Chriſt, not his true and naturall body in deede, but onely by faith to the worthy receiuer.

But ſtill you goe on and ſay: For this ſacred prouiſion is made, that if any hoſtes or parts of the Sacrament doe remaine vnreceiued, they be moſt religiouſly reſerued, with all honour and diligence poſſible. Here come in all cautels and prouiſions of ỹ Maſſe, if it be eaten by a mouſe, a dogge, an hogge, if a ſpider or a flie fal into the cup, if it be poyſoned, if it be vomited vp by a Prieſt, or a lay man: if it be mouldie and corrupt (ſo that wormes breede of it,) with an hundred like caſes, which Chriſt & his Apoſtles did not prouide for, nor the Primitiue Church did know, there is ſacred prouiſion made by the Church of Antichriſt, who as in al things aduanceth himſelfe aboue Chriſt, ſo in wiſe and holy prouiſion, farre exceedeth Chriſt & his ſpirit in the Goſpel. As for examination of cõſciences, confeſſion confeſſion of ſinnes, continence from vncleane luſtes, we confeſſe ought to be preparations, for men to receiue worthely, but not Popiſh excarnification of conſciences, auricular confeſſion, and a more ſcrupulous preſcription of continence in maryed perſons, then the ſcripture doth require, As for receiuing faſting, is a thing indifferent, of conuenience according to the order of the Church, but not of neceſſitie, neither doth S. Auguſtine teach otherwiſe. Ep. 118. For euen in his time, on the day of the inſtitution of the ſupper, the cuſtom of the Church was, to receiue after dinner, as he ſheweth in that Epiſtle, and it appeareth by the councel of Carthage 3. C. 29. Matiſcon. 2. C. 6. Receiuing faſting

But now after you haue ſhewed, how you Papiſts diſcerne the Lords body, you wil proue, that we diſcerne it not, becauſe after the order of our booke, if any thing remaine after our Communion, the Curate or clarke may take it home to his owne vſe. A ſubſtantial argument, I promiſe you. But we diſcerne the Lords body, as the Apoſtle hath here taught vs. Let a man therefore examine himſelfe &c. not by making ſuperſtitious prouiſions, for the bread and wine, which remaineth after the Communion: whereof there is no greater account, to be made, then of the water after baptiſme, for the conſecration extendeth to no more bread and wine, then is beſtowed according to Chriſts inſtitution. Therefore Euagrius teſtifieth, that by an olde cuſtome of the Church of Conſtantinople, that which remayned after the Communion, was geuen to yong children that went to ſchoole. In the Church of France by the Matiſcon 2. Councel Cap. 6. it was decreed, that the remnants of the ſacrament, on wedneſday or friday ſhould be giuen to yong children faſting, ſprinkled with wine. And the church of England by as good auctoritie, hath appointed, for auoiding of ſuperſtition, and al other inconueniences, that the miniſter, ſhal haue the bread and wine to his priuate vſe. As for the ceremony of bread, that was giuen to the Catechumeni in S. Auguſtines time, we haue no more to doe with it, then you, and leſſe with your ſuperſtitious holy bread. That which remaineth after the communion. Holy bread

But ſeeing in our celebration of the Lodes ſupper, we haue al thinges material and eſſential, according to the inſtitution of Chriſt, and the doctrine and practiſe of his Apoſtles, and you do manifeſtly peruert the end of his inſtitution, by your blaſphemous ſacrifice, and Idolatrous worſhiping of the creatures, by not ſhewing the Lordes death, by your ſacrilegious depriuing of the people of the one halfe of the ſacrament, and other your ſuperſtitious prophanations, if any of you, that gathered theſe notes, pertaine to Gods election, I beſeech him in his good time, to cal you to his knowledge & acknowledging of his truth. To the reſt I ſay with the Apoſtle, the Lord reward you according to your workes.

Rhem. 19 30. Many ſleepe.) Wee ſee here by this, it is a fearefull caſe and crime to defile by ſinne (as much as in vs lyeth) the body of Chriſt in the Sacrament, ſeeing God ſtrooke many to death for it in the Primitiue Church, and puniſhed others by greeuous ſickpes. No marueil that ſo many ſtrange diſeaſes and deathes fal vpon vs now in the world. Vnworthy receiuing

Fulke. 19 The body of Chriſt, is not ſo in the ſacrament, that it can be defiled by any mans ſinne, or otherwiſe be abuſed, by any act of man or beaſt. For Chriſt is now in heauen glorified, and can ſuffer no more of wicked men. Yet it is an heynous offence, to defile by ſinne, the Sacrament of the body and bloud of Chriſt. Defiling of Chriſts body.

Rhem. 20 31 Iudge your ſelues.) We may note here that it is not ynough, onely to ſinne no more, or to repent lightly of that which is paſt: but that we ſhould puniſh our ſelues according to the weighe of the faults paſt and forgiuen: and alſo that God wil puniſh vs by temporal ſcourges in this life or the next, if we do not make our ſelues very cleane before we come to receiue his holy Sacrament, whoſe heauy hands we may eſcape by puniſhing our ſelues by faſting and other penance. Penance and ſatisfaction.

Fulke. 20 He that ſinneth no more, doth not lightly, but earneſtly repent of his ſinnes paſt. As for popiſh ſatisfaction by puniſhment of our ſelues, otherwiſe then by hartie ſorrow for our ſinnes, (which yet is no ſatisfaction for them) there can none be concluded out of this text. Nor that god doth puniſh his children, in the next life, although he chaſtiſe them with temporal ſcourges in this life to bring them to repentance & amendment, not to make ſatiſfaction for there ſinnes forgiuen. By true and faithful repentance therefore, with prayer, faſting, almes and other workes by God allowed, as the fruites of repentance and faith, we may auoide Gods heauy iudgement which our ſinnes haue deſerued, through the merits of Chriſt, and not by the merit or ſatisfaction of our workes, but by the mere mercy of God. Satisfaction.

Rhem. 21 33. Expect one an other.) Returning now to their former faults and diſorder for the which he tooke this occaſion to talke of the holy Sacrament, and how great a fault it is to come vnworthely to it: he exhorteth them to keepe their ſaid ſuppers or feaſtes in vnitie, peace, and ſobrietie the riche expecting the poore &c.

Fulke. 21 The wordes that follow, (If any be an hungred, let him eate at home,) do declare moſt manifeſtly, that this expectation, and tarying one for an other, is to receiue the communion of the Lords ſupper together, & not to the eating of there loue ſuppers: which were cheefely to releeue the poore, that were hungry. Photius vpon theſe wordes ſaith. Tary one for another. Wherefore I deſire you be prouoked to receiue the Lordes body and bloud vnworthely, leſt partaking vnworthely, being made guiltie of the murder of his body, and the ſhedding of his bloud, you receiue iudgement vnauoydable. S. Ambroſe vpon this text ſaith, He ſaith that they muſt tary one for an other, that the oblation of many be celebrated together, and that all may be ſerued, and if any be impatient, he may be fed with earthly bread at home. That you come not together to iudgement, that is that you keepe not the myſterie ſo, as you be worthy to be reprehended, with offence. S. Hierome or the auctor of the coment in his name, vpon this place ſayth. Becauſe none taryed for other, that the offring might be made in common, therefore they came together, not vnto ſanctification but vnto iudgement. To the ſame effect writeth Primaſius. Becauſe is was offred to him which came firſt, and he did eate and went his way, they came together vnto iudgement and not to ſanctification. Chryſoſtome and Theoplylact referre it, both to the ſacrament, & to the loue ſupper. But now ſeeing they are fallen to ſo palpable blindnes, that their doing is directly oppoſite to the very Scripture alſo, which they pretend to follow only, and haue quite deſtroied both the name, ſubſtance, and al good accidents of Chriſtes principal Sacrament we truſt al the world will ſee their folly and impudencie.* Aug.tract.84. in Io. & Chryſo. ho.21.in Act.

Fulke.22 It your laſt note be true, he ſpeaketh not here of matters pertaining to the celebration of the ſacrament, but concerning ordering of the feaſts of loue. And in deed S. Ambroſe, Chryſoſtome, Photius, Theophylact, do vnderſtand theſe matters generally of other thinges, to be reformed, and which needed his preſence rather then wordes. But admit that he ſpeaketh ſpecially, of the order of celebration of the ſacrament, how can you proue any part of your popiſh maſſe to haue bene ſet downe, by tradition from the Apoſtles. Greg. confeſſeth, that it was the cuſtome of the Apoſtles to conſecrate the hoſt of oblation, at the onely ſaying of the Lordes prayer Lib.7.Ep.63. And yet you are not aſhamed to ſay, the whole adminiſtration of your maſſe, is agreable thereto, and ours wholy repugnant vnto the ſame. Yet you ſay, we do confeſſe, that it doth not agree vnto theſe vnwritten traditions. In deede we acknowledge, that we are not bounde to any vnwritten traditions, but that the forme of your maſſe, commeth from the Apoſtles tradition, we doe vtterly denye, and your owne auctors doth teſtifie, that euery patch of it, was thruſt in, by popes of later tyme then the Apoſtles. But let vs ſee what you can confirme out of the ancient writers, to haue bene of the Apoſtles tradition, which we obſerue not. Firſt to take it onely faſting. Auguſt.Ep.118. Wherein I haue diſcouered your falſehood before. For it was not in Auguſtines time, nor long after, appointed to be taken onely of them that were faſting. Secondly we haue taken away conſecration, with the ſigne of the croſſe, without which S. Auguſtine ſaith, no ſacrament is rightly perfited. In deede S. Auguſtine in Io Tr.118. ſaith, that the ſigne of the croſſe, was a ceremony vſed in al the ſacramentes, which if it were not vſed, nihil eorum rite perficitur, nothing is performed or done according to rite or cuſtome, but that this ſigne, was neceſſary vnto the conſecration, or that it was of the Apoſtles tradition, he ſayeth not. Chryſoſtome likewiſe ſaith that the ſigne of the croſſe, was vſed to put men in minde of the death of Chriſt, but neyther that it was neceſſary to conſecration, nor that it was taught by the Apoſtles to be vſed in ſuch maner. And the forming of it with the finger in the body, he accounteth litle worth, except it be formed in the minde, with great fayth. Therefore that which Chryſoſtome requireth, we haue in our adminiſtration, the ſhewing of the Lordes death and paſſion, though we haue not that which in his time, was vſed as a bare ſigne, to put men in remembrance of it. Thirdly you ſay, the Apoſtles taught to keepe a memory or inuocation of Saints in this ſacrifice, which we haue not, for which you quote Aug.tract.84.in Ioan & Chryſo.Hom.21.in act. of which neither of both ſayth, that the Apoſtles taught the Church to keepe any ſuch memory: and Chryſoſtome ſayth neuer a worde of inuocation of Saints. They both indeed ſay, that at the celebration of the Supper, they kept a memory of Martyres. Chryſoſtome ſayth, they offred for them, and that was no diſhonor to them. But what ſhould they offer, but thankeſgiuing? S. Auguſtine ſayth: We do not ſo make mention of them at the very table it ſelfe, as we do for other that reſt in peace, ſo that we alſo pray for them, but rather that they might pray for vs, that we may followe there ſteppes. Not that they did properly inuocate the Saintes, but that this commemoration of the Martyrs, might moue them, to pray for them. For the ancient memory, or commemoration as appeareth by Epiphanius Cont. Aerium hær.79. was both for iuſt men and for ſinners, for the Patriarkes, Prophets, Apoſtles, Martyrs, Confeſſors &c. as he ſaith, to ſeparate or diſtinguiſh Chriſt from the order of men: as S. Auguſtine ſaith, to offer thankes for them *Ench.C.*110. In which although, there were neither expreſſe prayers for the dead, nor to the Saints, but a memory and reherſall of there names, yet by litle and litle the errors of prayer for the dead and inuocation of ſaincts, gathered ſtrength, and increaſe.

Laſt of al you ſay, the Apoſtles decreed, that in this facrifice, there ſhould be ſpecial praiers for the dead, we haue none. Witnes of this decree Chryſo.In Phil.Hom.3 Aug.de cur.pro mort. Chryſoſtome in deede ſayth, That it was not in vayne decreed by the Apoſtles, that in the celebration of the reuerend myſteries, memory or mention ſhould be made of them, which are departed from hence. Which he doth interprete, to haue bene for that ende, men ſhould pray for them, to procure ſome litle helpe for them, for ſo he ſayth in his exhortation. Let vs procure them ſome helpe, ſmal in deede, but let vs helpe them. S. Auguſtine alledgeth no decree of the Apoſtles, but the cuſtome of the Church in this time. That in the praiers of the prieſt, which are powred forth to the Lord God, at his altar, the commendation of the dead, alſo hath his place. Thus haue you but one witnes, who alſo without any good ground, affirmeth this memory to be of the Apoſtles decree. Iuſtine Martyr neerer to the Apoſtles times by 200. yeres reherſing the order of celebration according to the Apoſtles writinges, hath no memory or mention of the dead. Dionyſius, of whom it is vncertein in what time he lyued, yet certein it is, he is ancient & of ſome thought to be that Dionyſe Biſhop of Alexandria, of whom Euſebius maketh often mention in the 6. and 7. bookes of his hyſtories, declareth that there was none other memory of the dead in his time, but of the Saincts onlie, whoſe commendation was ſet forth, to the prayſe of God, and to the imitation of the liuing. Eccl.Hier Cap.3. part 3. who if he were the Apoſtles immediate ſcholler, as you contend, giueth ſentence flatly againſt you, touching inuocation of Saints, and prayer for the dead, to be the doctrine and tradition of the Apoſtles: when handling the whole forme of adminiſtration of the Lords ſupper, ſo diligently & particularly, he can tel vs nothing either of inuocation of the dead, or prayer for the dead, but only of memory or mention, for ſuch endes as I haue ſhewed before. Yea euen in the 7. Chapter where he treateth of burial of the dead, and the ceremonies vſed about that office. He denieth, that any praiers for the dead are profitable to them, but only ſuch as being being made by the Biſhop or miniſter of the church in faith,gounded vpon Gods promiſes,as by the interpreter of Gods wil, do rather declare what God hath already granted to them that depart in the faith of Chriſt, then deſire any thing to be performed,as there cenſure in pardoning and reteyning of ſinnes, in binding and loſing of ſinners is an interpretation and declaration of the iudgement of God, not that God is miniſter of the corrupt iudgement of men,but that men which are appointed by Gods ſpirit,to enterpret Gods wil,do ſeperate thoſe that are iudged of God, according to there worthines. Therefore in ſuch ſort. The diuine Biſhop (ſaith he) doth take thoſe thinges,that are promiſed by God,and are acceptable to God, and ſhal doubtles be granted, both ſhewing to God which loueth the good,his owne diſpoſition reſembling the good, and declareth as an interpreter, or by way of interpretation,to them that are preſent,thoſe rewardes,which ſhalbe to them that are holy. And this is the reſolution of that queſtion,which he moueth,whether prayers are auaileable for the dead,and in what reſpect they may be profitable. Whereby we ſee,that this error was very yong in his time,and had not yet obteyned ſtrength, when prayers for the dead,were not taken ſimply for praiers,but rather as declarations of the performance of Gods promiſes,to al his elect after this life,namely,that they are pardoned of al there ſinnes committed of frailtie,and are placed in reſt with Abraham,Iſaac and Iacob. For theſe things onely were required in thoſe prayers,which were vttered by the Biſhop,for them that were buryed. Concerning the mixing of water with wine,I haue anſwered before in the notes of this Chapter,Sect. 10. That it is neyther of Chriſtes inſtitution, nor of the general practiſe of the Church,but a thing indifferent ſo it be vſed without ſuperſtition. Caluine therefore and the reformed Churches in theſe dayes made no new adminiſtration according to the Apoſtles vnwritten wordes, but reformed the new adminiſtration of the popiſh Church according to the moſt ancient inſtitution, and practiſe of Chriſt and his Apoſtles,and of the primitiue Church,in al neceſſarie and eſſential points ſet forth in the worde written. And as for thoſe thinges which the Apoſtle did diſpoſe at his preſence, we know, that eyther they perteyned not to the adminiſtration of the ſacrament. or elſe they were accidental orders, mete for the Church of Corinth, which are not neceſſary to bethe ſame,in all times and places. How agreable our doctrine and practiſe of this ſacrament, is to Chriſtes inſtitution, ſet forth in the ſcripture,in name,ſubſtance,and al eſſential poynts, let the world ſee, & God iudge.

CAHP. XII.

The 6. part Astouching the Gifts of the Holy Ghoſt.

They muſt not make their diuerſitie of Gifts an occaſion of Schiſme,conſidering that al are of one Holy Ghoſt, and for the profit of the one body of Chriſt which is the Church: 12 Which alſo could not be a body, without ſuch varietie of members: 12 Therefore neither they that haue the inferiour gifties, muſt be diſcontent, ſeing it is Gods diſtribution: nor they that haue the greater, contemne the other, conſidering they are no leſſe neceſſarie: 25 but al in al ioyne togethers: 28 And euery one know his owne place.

The Epiſtle vpon the 10 Sunday after Pentecoſt.

AND concerning ſpirituall things, I wil not haue you ignorant,brethren.

2 You know that when you were heathen,you went to dumme Idols according as you were ledde.

3 Therefore I doe you to vnderſtand that no man ſpeaking in the Spirit of God, ſaith Anathema to IESVS. And no man can ſay, Our Lord IESVS: but in the holy Ghoſt.

4 And there are diuiſions of graces, but one Spirit.

5 And there are diuiſions of miniſtrations:but one Lord.

6 And there are diuiſions of operations, but one God,which worketh al in al.

7 And the manifeſtation of the Spirit is giuen vnto euery one to profit.

8 To one certes by the ſpirit is giuen ‡ the word of wiſdom:and to an other, the word of knowledge according to the ſame Spirit.

9 To an other‖,faith in ỹ ſame ſpirit:to an other,the grace of doing cures in one Spirit.

10 To an other,the working of miracles: to an other,prophecy:to an other,diſcerning of ſpirites:to an other,kindes of tongs: to an other,interpretation of languages.

11 And al theſe things worketh one and the ſame Spirit,diuiding to euery one according as he wil.

4 There are diuerſities of giftes, but it is the ſelfe ſame ſpirit.

5 And there are differences of adminiſtrations,but it is the ſelfe ſame Lord.

6 And there are diuers maners of operations,but it is the ſelfe ſame God,which worketh all in all.

7 The manifeſtation of the ſpirit, is giuen to euery man to profit withall.

8 For to one is giuen‖ by the ſpirit the word of wiſedom, to another the word of knowledge by the ſame ſpirit.

Rom.12.3. Ephe.4.7.

12 For as the body is one, and hath many members, and al the members of the body whereas they be many, yet are ‡ one body: ſo alſo Chriſt.

‡ A marueilous vnion betwixt Chriſt and his Church & a great comfort to al Catholikes being members therof, that the church and he, the head & the body, make & be called one Chriſt. Aug. de vair. &c. One body.

13 For in one Spirit were we al baptized into one, whether Iewes, or Gentiles, or bondmen, or free: and in one Spirit we were al made to drinke.

14 For the body alſo is not one member, but many.

15 If the foote ſhould ſay, becauſe I am not the hand, I am not of the body, is it therfore not of the body?

16 And if the eare ſhould ſay, becauſe I am not the eie, I am not of the body: is he therefore not of the body?

17 If the whole body were the eie: where is the hearing? If the whol were the hearing: where is the ſmelling?

18 But now God hath ſet the members, euery one of them in the body as he would.

19 And if al were one member, where were the body?

20 But now there are many members in deede, yet one body. And the eie can not ſay to the hand: I neede not thy helpe, or againe the head to the feete, You are not neceſſarie for me.

21 But much more thoſe that ſeme to be the more weake members of the body, are more neceſſarie:

22 And ſuch as we think to be the baſer members of the body, vpon them we put more aboundant honour: and thoſe that are our vnhoneſt partes, haue more aboundant honeſtie.

23 And our honeſt partes neede nothing: but God hath tempered the body, giuing to it that wanted, the more aboundant honour.

24 That there might be no ‖ ſchiſme in the body, but the members together might be careful one for an other.

25 And if one member ſuffer any thing, al the members ſuffer with it. or if one member do glorie, al the members reioice with it.

26 And you are the body of Chriſt, and members of member.

Eph.4.11. 27 And *ſome verily God hath ſet in the Church firſt Apoſtles, ſecondly prophetes, thirdly doctors, next miracles, then the graces of doing cures, helpes, gouernementes, kindes of tonges.

members, and al the members of that one body, being many, are one body: euen ſo is Chriſt alſo.

13 For by one ſpirit are we al baptized into one body, whether we be Iewes or Gentils, whether we be bond or free: and haue all drunke of one ſpirit.

14 For the body is not one member, but many.

15 If the foote do ſay, Becauſe I am not the hand, I am not of the body: is it therefore not of the body?

16 And if the eare do ſay, Becauſe I am not the eye, I am not of the body: is it therefore not of the body?

17 If all the body were an eye, where were then the hearing? If all were hearing, where were the ſmelling?

18 But now hath God ſet the members, euery one of them ſeueral in the body, as it hath pleaſed him.

19 If they were all one member, where were the body?

20 Now are there many members, yet but one body.

21 And the eye can not ſay vnto the hand, I haue no neede of thee: nor againe, the head to the feete, I haue no neede of you.

22 Yea rather a great deale thoſe members of the body which ſeeme to be more feeble, are neceſſary:

23 And vpon thoſe members of the body which we thinke to be leſſe honourable, we beſtow more honour: and our vncomely partes haue more comelineſſe.

24 For our comely members neede it not: but God hath tempered the body together, hauing giuen the more honour to that part which lacked.

25 That there ſhould be no ſtrife in the body: but that the members ſhould haue the ſame care one for another.

26 And if one member ſuffer, all the members ſuffer with it. If one member be honoured, al the members reioyce with it.

27 Ye are the body of Chriſt, and members in part.

*28 * And God hath ordained ſome in the Church, firſt Apoſtles, ſecondarily, Prophetes, thirdly, Teachers, then them that doe miracles: after that, the gifts of healing, helpers, gouernors ‖ diuerſities of tonges,* Eph.4.11. ‖ Or kindes.

31 Couet after the beſt giftes: And yet ſhew I vnto you a more excellent way.

MARGINAL NOTES. CHAP. XII.

Rhem. 1. 8 The word of wiſedome.) All theſe giftes be thoſe which the learned call Gratias gratis datas: which be beſtowed often euen vpon ill liuers, which haue not the other graces of God whereby their perſons ſhould be gratefull, iuſt and holy in his ſight.

Fulke. 1. This is an vnlearned diſtinction of the popiſh learned, which ſheweth no difference betweene things of diuers natures. For all Gods graces be freely geuen, as well thoſe that are beſtowed vpon the elect, as vpon the reprobate, neither are men gratefull, iuſt, and holy in Gods ſight, by any gifts of iuſtice or holineſſe inhærent, but onely by Ieſus Chriſt. Eph.1.6. Eph.2.7.8. Dividing to every man as he will, (ſaith Ambroſe) He ſaith as he will not as it is due. Exhort. ad virg. Iuſtice inhærent.

Rhem. 2. 29 Are al miracles? S. Auguſtine ep. 137. giueth the ſame reaſon, why miracles and cures be done at the memories or bodies of ſome Saincts more then at others: and by the ſame Saincts in one place of their memories rather then at other places.

Fulke. 2. S. Auguſtine ſaith not, that any miracles are done by any Saincts, at any place of their memories, but by God where it pleaſeth him. Is not Africa (ſayth he) full of the bodies of the holy Martyrs? And yet we know not that any ſuch things are done here in any place. For as that which the Apoſtle ſaith: all the Saincts haue not the gifts of healing, neyther haue all the diſcerning of ſpirites: So neyther in all memories of the Saincts it is not his will, that theſe things ſhould be done, which deuideth his owne to every man as he will. Therefore when it is certaine, that God hath or doth worke miracles in any place, we muſt not call him to account, why he doth not the ſame in all places. But hereof it followeth not, that fayned and lying miracles of popery, be wrought by God or by his Saincts, but ſeeing they tend to maintaine hereſie and Idolatry, we muſt ſay ſtill with S. Auguſtine. Away with theſe fayned miracles of lying men, or wonders wrought by deceiuing deuils. De vnit. Eccl. c. 16. Myracles.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. XII.

Rhem. 3. 9 Faith in the ſame.) This faith is not an other in ſubſtance then the common faith in Chriſt, but is of an other accidental qualitie onely, that is, of more feruor, deuotion, zeale, and confident truſt, ſpecially for doing of miracles. Zealous faith.

Fulke. 3. Fayth of doing miracles may be in wicked men as you confeſſe, ſect. 1. therefore differeth in ſubſtance, from iuſtifying fayth, which worketh by loue. He calleth fayth here, not this common fayth, but that whereof he ſpeaketh a litle after: If I haue all faith, ſo that I can remoone mountaines. Theodoret vpon this place. Photius and Occumenius ſay: Abſolutely he calleth the effect, by the name of the thing.

Rhem. 13 If the foote.) The Church is of exceeding great diſtinction of members, gifts, orders, and offices: yet of great concord, concurrence, mutual communion and participatiō in al actions of her members among themſelues, and with Chriſt the head of the Body. Vnitie.

25 Schiſme in the body.) As Charitie and vnitie of ſpirit, is the proper bond and weale of the common Body: ſo is diuiſion or Schiſme, which is the interruption of peace and mutual Societie betweene the partes of the ſame, the ſpecial plague of the Church, and as odious to God as rebellion to the temporal Soueraine. Schiſme.

CHAP. XIII.

That aboue al other Gifts they ſhould ſeeke after Charitie: as that without which nothing profiteth, 4 and which doth al as is to be done, and remaineth alſo in heauen.

The Epiſtle vpon the Sunday of Quinquageſme, called Shrouetuesday.

IF I ſpeake with the tonges of men and of Angels, and haue ‖ not charitie: I am become as ſounding braſſe, or a tinkling cymbal.

2 And if I ſhould haue prophecie, and knew al myſteries, and al knowledge, and if I ſhould ‡ haue al faith ſo that I could remoue mountaines, and haue not charitie, I am nothing.

3 And if I ſhould diſtribute al my goods to be meat for the poore, and if I ſhould ‖ deliuer my body ſo that I burne, and haue not charitie, it doth profit me nothing.

4 Charite is patient, is benigne: Charitie enuieth not, dealeth not peruerſly: is not puffed vp,

5 Is not ambitious, ſeeketh not her own, is not prouoked to anger, thinketh not euil:

6 Reioyceth not vpon iniquitie, but reioyceth with the truth:

THough I ſpeake with the tongues of men, and of angels, and haue not charitie, I am as ſounding braſſe, or as a tinckling Cymbale.

2 And though I haue prophecie, and vnderſtand all ſecrets, and all knowledge: yea if I haue all faith, ſo that I can remoone mountaines, and haue not charitie, I am nothing.

3 And though I beſtow all my goods to feed the poore, and though I giue my body that I ſhould be burned, and haue not charitie, it profiteth me nothing.

4 Charitie ſuffereth long, and is courteous: Charitie enuieth not, charitie doth not frowardly, ‖ ſwelleth not, ‖ Or, is not puft vp.

5 Dealeth not diſhoneſtly, ſeeketh not her owne, is not bitter, thinketh not euil,

6 Reioyceth not in iniquitie, but reioyceth in the trueth:

7 Suffereth

7 Suffereth al things, beleeueth al things, hopeth al things, beareth al things.

8 Charitie neuer falleth away: whether prophecies ſhall be made voyd, or tongues ſhal ceaſe, or knowledge ſhall be deſtroyed.

9 For in part we know, and in part we prophecie.

10 But ‡when that ſhal come that is perfect, that ſhal be made void that is in part.

11 When I was a litle one, I ſpake as a litle one, I vnderſtood as a litle one, I thought as a litle one. But when I was made a man, I did away the things that belonged to a litle one.

12 We ſee now by a glaſſe in a darke ſort: but then face to face. Now I know in part: but then I ſhall know as alſo I am knowen.

13 And now there remayne, faith, hope, charitie, ‖ theſe three. but the ‡ greater of theſe is charitie.

7 Suffereth all things, beleeueth all things hopeth all things, endureth all things.

8 Though that prophecyings faile, eyther, tongues ceaſe, or knowledge vaniſh away, yet charitie falleth neuer away.

9 For our knowledge is ‖ vnperfect, and our prophecying is vnperfect: [Or, in part.

10 But when that which is perfect is come, then that which is vnperfect ſhalbe done away.

11 When I was a childe, I ſpake as a childe, I vnderſtood as a child, I imagined as a childe: but as ſoone as I was a man, I put away childiſhneſſe, 12 Now we ſee in a glaſſe, euen in a darke ſpeaking: but then ſhall we ſee face to face. Now I know vnperfectly: but then ſhall I know, euen as I am knowen.

13 Now abideth faith, hope, and charitie, theſe three, but the chiefe of theſe is charitie.

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. XIII.

Rhem. 1. 2 Haue al faith.) This proueth that faith is nothing worth to ſaluation without workes, and that there may be true fayth without charitie.

Fulke. 1. That fayth which is voyd of good workes, is nothing worth vnto ſaluation. Yet a man is iuſtified by fayth without workes, but yet by ſuch a fayth as worketh by loue, Rom. 3. for a iuſtifying fayth cannot be without charitie. Good life (ſaieth S. Auguſtine) is inſeparable from fayth, which worketh by loue. De fide & oper. c. 23. S. Ambroſe vpon this text ſayth: To worke wonders, and to caſt out deuils by fayth, is nothing worth, except a man be an earneſt follower of good conuerſation. Gennadius apud Oecumium, ſayth: He doth not now ſpeake of that fayth of the beleeuers which is common and generall, but of the gift of fayth. For there was a certayne kind of gifts, that was called by the ſame name of fayth, which was giuen to many at that time, for the manifeſtation of the preſence of the ſpirite. Of this gift alſo, our Lord ſayth in the Goſpell, If you ſhall haue fayth as a graine of muſtard ſeed, you ſhall ſay to the mountaine, remoue and be caſt into the ſea and it ſhall be done vnto you. For our Lord ſpake not of the common fayth, to them as vnbeleeuers, but his ſpeach was to his diſciples: that is, if you ſhall haue the gift of fayth: And that which our Lord in the Goſpell ſayd, to be the greateſt, namely, to remoue mountaines, the Apoſtle ſaith, is nothing without charitie. Iuſtification by faith only.

Rhem. 2. 10 When that ſhal come.) By this text S. Auguſtine li. 22 Ciu. c. 29 proueth that the Saincts in heauen haue more perfect knowledge of our affaires here, then they had when they liued here.

Fulke. 2. S. Auguſtine ſpeaketh in that place neuer a word of the Saincts that are in heauen knowing our affaires here in earth, but of the perfect knowledge, that all the Saincts ſhall haue after the reſurrection. If the Prophet Helizæus being abſent in body, ſaw his ſeruaunt Giezi, taking the gifts which Naaman the Syrian, whom the Prophet had clenſed from his leproſie, gaue him, which the wicked ſeruaunt thought to haue done cloſely, becauſe his maſter ſaw him not: How much more in the ſpirituall body (ſaith he) the Saincts ſhall ſee all things, not onely if they ſhall ſhut their eyes, but alſo if they be abſent in body. For then ſhall that be perfect whereof the Apoſtle ſpeaketh, &c. Therfore either ignorance or impudencie, was the auctor of this note. Saincts in heauen know not our affaires.

Rhem. 3. 13 Greater of theſe.) Charitie is of all the three the greateſt: How then doth onely fayth, being inferior to it, ſaue and iuſtifie, and not Charitie?

Fulke. 3. Charitie is greateſt, becauſe it is of longeſt continuance. Iuſtification is attributed to faith onely, becauſe fayth onely doeth apprehend the mercy of God promiſed in Chriſt, and not charitie, though it continue, when fayth and hope ceaſe, becauſe that is obteined which is beleeued and hoped. And that in reſpect of continuance, the Apoſtle ſayth, that charitie is greateſt, the ancient fathers doe conſent. Chryſoſtome ſaieth vpon this text. The greateſt of theſe is charitie, namely in this poynt, becauſe they paſſe away. Charitie continueth, In 1. Cor. Hom. 34. Primaſius ſaith: In this preſent life, there are three, in the life to come onely the loue of God and his Angels, and of all Saincts. Therefore that is greater which is alwayes needfull, then that which ſhall once haue an end. S. Auguſtine De doct. Chriſt. lib. 1. cap. 39. ſaieth vpon this text. The greateſt of theſe is charitie, becauſe when euery one ſhal come to eternall life: the other two departing, charitie ſhal continue more encreaſed, and more certaine. Iuſtification by fayth.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. XIII.

Rhem. 1 Not Charitie.) Without Charitie, both toward euery particular perſon, and ſpecially toward the common body of the Church, none of all the gifts and graces of God be profitable. Charitie.

Rhem. 4. 3 Deliuer my body.) Beleeue (ſaith S. Auguſtine) aſſuredly and hold for certaine, that no Heretike and Schiſma-

Schiſmatike, that vaiteth not himſelfe to the Catholike Church agayne, how great almes ſo euer he giue, yea or ſhed his bloud for Chriſtes name, can poſſibly be ſaued. For, many Heretikes by the cloke of Chriſtes cauſe, deceyuing the ſimple, ſuffer much. But where true faith is not, there is no iuſtice, becauſe the iuſt liueth by faith. So it is alſo of Schiſmatikes, becauſe where charitie is not, iuſtice can there be none: which if they had, they would neuer plucke in pieces the body of Chriſt which is the Church. Auguſt. ſeu Fulg. de fid. ad Pet. c. 39. So ſaith S. Auguſtine in diuers places, not onely of Heretikes that died directly for defence of their hereſie, as the Anabaptiſts and Caluiniſts now a dayes doe (for that is more damnable:) but of ſome Heretikes and Schiſmatikes that may die among th' Heathen or Turkes for defence of truth or ſome Article of Chriſtes religion. Aug. de verb. Do. ſer. 50. c. 2. & in Pſ. 34. conc. 2. prope finem. Cypr. de vnit. Ec. nu. 8.

False Martyrs.

Fulke. 4. Put in papiſts, in ſtead of Caluiniſts, and this note is true. Adde alſo, that papiſts ſuffring death for treaſon, agaynſt their prince and countrey, are no martyrs though they ſhould repent at their death, and renounce their falſe fayth: much leſſe continuing Antichriſtian heretikes.

Martyrs.

Rhem. 5. 13 Theſe three.) Theſe are the three vertues Theological, each one by nature and definition diſtinct from an other. and faith is by nature the firſt, and may be and often is before, and without Charitie: and truly remayneth in diuers after they haue by deadly ſinne loſt Charitie. Beware therefore of the Heretikes opinion, which is, that by euery mortal ſinne fayth is loſt no leſſe then charitie.

The 3 vertues Theological. Charitie is loſt by mortall ſinne, not faith.

Fulke. 5. The gift of fayth to doe myracles, ſpoken of in the beginning of the chapter, may be without charitie, but a iuſtifying fayth which worketh by loue, cannot poſſibly be without loue. A good life (ſayth Auguſtine) is inſeperable from faith. De fid. & oper c. 23. Bede vpon this text, out of S. Auguſtine, ſaieth: Pia fides, &c. A godly faith will not be without hope and without charitie? And therefore though all ſinne be againſt fayth and charitie, yet we doe not hold that either fayth or charitie in them that are iuſtified, is vtterly loſt by deadly ſinne, though both be much weakened and diminiſhed thereby.

Iuſtifying faith.

CHAP. XIIII.

Againſt their vayn childiſhnes, that thought it a goodly matter to be able to ſpeake (by miracle) ſtrange Languages in the Church, ‖ preferring their Languages before prophecying, that is, opening of Myſteries: he declareth that this Gift of Languages is inferior to the Gift of prophecie. 26 Giuing order alſo how both giftes are to be vſed, to wit, the Prophet to ſubmit himſelfe to other Prophets: and the Speaker of languages not to publiſh his inſpiration, vnles there be an interpreter. 34 Prouided alwayes, that women ſpeake not at all in the Church.

‖ Much like to ſome fond Linguiſts of our time, who thinke themſelues better then a Doctor of Diuinitie that is not a Linguiſt.

FOlow Charitie, earneſtly purſue ſpirituall things: but ‖ rather that you may prophecie.

2 For he that ſpeaketh with tongue, ſpeaketh ‖ not to men, but to God: for no man heareth. But in ſpirite he ſpeaketh myſteries.

3 For he that prophecieth, ſpeaketh to men vnto edification, and exhortation, and conſolation.

4 He that ſpeaketh with tongues, edifieth himſelfe: but he that prophecieth, edifieth the Church.

5 And I would haue you al to ſpeake with tongues, but rather to prophecie. For greater is he that prophecieth, then he that ſpeaketh with tongues: vnleſſe perhaps he interprete, that the Church may take edification.

6 But now brethren ‖ if I come to you ſpeaking with tongues: what ſhall I profite you, vnleſſe I ſpeake to you either in reuelation, or in knowledge, or in prophecie, or in doctrine?

7 Yet the things without life that giue a ſound, be it pipe or harpe, vnleſſe they giue a diſtinction of ſoundes, how ſhall that be knowen which is piped, or which is harped?

8 For ‖ if the trumpet giue an vncertaine voice,

FOllow after charitie, and couet ſpirituall giftes: but moſt chiefly that yee may prophecie.

2 For he that ſpeaketh with an vnknowen tongue, ſpeaketh not vnto men, but vnto God: For no man heareth him: Howbeit, in the ſpirit he ſpeaketh myſteries.

3 But he that prophecieth, ſpeaketh vnto men to edifying, and exhortation, and comfort.

4 Hee that ſpeaketh with an vnknowen tongue edifieth himſelfe: but he that prophecieth, edifieth the Church.

5 I would that ye all ſpake with tongues, but rather that ye prophecied: For greater is he that prophecieth, then he that ſpeaketh with tongues, except hee expound it, that the Church may receiue edifying.

6 Now brethren, if I come vnto you ſpeaking with tongues, what ſhall I profite you, except I ſhall ſpeake to you either by reuelation, or by knowledge, or by prophecying, or by doctrine?

7 And euen things without life, giuing ſound, whether it be a pipe, or an harpe, except they giue a diſtinction in the ſounds, how ſhall it be knowen what is piped or harped?

8 For if the trumpet giue an vncertain ſound, voice, who ſhal prepare himſelfe to battel?

9 So you alſo by a tongue vnleſſe you vtter manifeſt ſpeach, how ſhal that be knowen that is ſaid? for you ſhal be ſpeaking into the aire.

10 There are (for example) ſo many kindes of tongues in this world, and none is without voyce.

11 If then I know not the vertue of the voyce, I ſhal be to him to whom I ſpeake, barbarous: and he that ſpeaketh, barbarous to me.

12 So you alſo, becauſe you be emulators of ſpirites: ſeeke to abound vnto the edifying of the Church.

13 And therefore he that ſpeaketh with the tongue, ‖let him pray that he may interpret.

14 For if I pray with the tongue, ‖my ſpirit prayeth, but my vnderſtanding is without fruit.

15 What is it then? I wil pray in the ſpirite, I wil pray alſo in the vnderſtanding: I wil ſing in the ſpirit, I wil ſing alſo in the vnderſtanding.

16 But if thou bleſſe in the ſpirit: he that ſupplieth the place [c] of the vulgar how ſhal he ſay, Amen, vpon thy bleſſing? becauſe he knoweth not what thou ſayeſt.

17 For thou in deed giueſt thanks well: but the other is not edified.

18 I giue my God thankes, that I ſpeake ‖with the tongue of you al.

19 But in the Church I wil ſpeake fiue wordes with my vnderſtanding that I may inſtruct others alſo: rather then tenne thouſand wordes in a tongue.

20 Brethren, be not made children in ſenſe, but in malice be children: and in ſenſe be perfect.

21 In the Law it is written, That in other tongues and other lippes I wil ſpeake to this people: and neither ſo will they heare me, ſaith our Lord.

22 Therefore languages are for ‖a ſigne not to the faithfull, but to infidels: but prophecies, not to infidels, but to the faithful.

23 If therefore the whole Church come together in one, and al ſpeake with tongues, and there enter in vulgar perſons or ‖infidels, will they not ſay that you be madde?

24 But if al prophecie, and there enter in any infidel or vulgar perſon, he is conuinced of al, he is iudged of al.

25 The ſecrets of his hart are made manifeſt, who ſhalbe prepared to the warre?

9 So likewiſe you, except ye vtter wordes by the tongue eaſie to be vnderſtood, how ſhall it be knowen what is ſpoken? For ye ſhall ſpeake in the ayre.

10 There are happily ſo many kinds of voyces in the world, and none of them are without ſignification.

11 Therefore if I know not the meaning of the voyce, I ſhall be vnto him that ſpeaketh an aliant, and he that ſpeaketh ſhall be an aliant vnto me.

12 Euen ſo ye, for as much as ye couet ſpirituall gifts, ſeeke that ye may excel, vnto the edifying of the Church.

13 Wherefore, let him that ſpeaketh with tongue, pray that he may interprete.

14 For if I pray with an vnknowen tongue, my ſpirit prayeth, but my vnderſtanding is vnfruitfull.

15 What is it then? I will pray with the ſpirit, and will pray with the vnderſtanding alſo: I will ſing with the ſpirit, and wil ſing with the vnderſtanding alſo.

16 For when thou ſhalt bleſſe with the ſpirit, how ſhall he that ‖occupieth the roome of the vnlearned ſay Amen, at thy giuing of thanks, ſeeing he vnderſtandeth not what thou ſayeſt? ‖Or, filleth.

17 Thou verily gineſt thankes well, but the other is not edified.

18 I thanke my God, I ſpeake with tongues more then ye all.

19 Yet had I rather in the Church to ſpeake fiue wordes with my vnderſtanding, that by my voyce I might teach other alſo, then ten thouſand words in an vnknowen tongue.

20 Brethren, be not children in vnderſtanding: howbeit, as concerning ‖naughtineſſe be ye children, but in vnderſtanding be perfect. ‖Or, malice.

*21 In the law it is written, With men of ſundry tongues and ſundry lips, will I ſpeake vnto this people: and yet for all that, will they not heare me, ſaieth the Lord. Eſ.28.11.

22 Wherefore tongues are for a ſigne, not to them that beleeue, but to them that beleeue not: but prophecying ſerueth not for them that beleeue not, but for them which beleeue.

23 If therfore all the Church be come together into one place, and all ſpeake with tongues, and there come in they that are vnlearned, or they which beleeue not, will they not ſay that ye are mad?

24 But if all prophecie, and there come in one that beleeueth not, or one vnlearned: he is rebuked of all men, he is iudged of all men.

25 And ſo are the ſecrets of his heart made manifeſt,

[c] By this word are meant al rude vnlearned men, but ſpecially the ſimple which were yet vnchriſtened, as the Catechumens, which came in to thoſe ſpiritual exerciſes, as alſo infidels did at their pleaſures. < Aliens. ‖ with tongues more then you all.

Eſ.28,11.

and ſo falling on his face he wil adore God, pronouncing that God is in you in deede.

26 What is it then brethren? when you come together, euery one of you hath ‖ a pſalme, hath a doctrine, hath a reuelation, hath a tongue, hath an interpretation: let all things be done to edification.

27 Whether a man ſpeake with tongue, by two, or at the moſt by three, and ‖ in courſe, and let one interpret.

28 But if there be not an interpreter, let him hold his peace in the Church, & ſpeake to himſelfe and to God.

29 And let prophets ſpeake two or three, and let the reſt iudge.

30 But if it be reuealed to an other ſitting, let the firſt hold his peace.

31 For you may al prophecie one by one: that al may learne, and al may be exhorted.

32 And the ſpirites of prophets are ſubiect to prophets.

33 For God is not the God of diſſenſion, but of peace: as alſo in all the Churches of the ſaincts I teache.

1.Tim.2,12. Gen.3,16. 34 ‖ Let * women hold their peace in the Churches: for it is not permitted them to ſpeake, but to be ſubiect, as alſo * the Law ſaith.

35 But if they learne any thing, let them aske their owne husbands at home. For it is a foule thing for a woman to ſpeake in the Church.

36 Or did the word of God proceede from you? came it vnto you onely?

37 If any man ſeeme to be a prophet, or ſpiritual, let him know the things that I write to you, that they are the commaundements of our Lord.

38 But if any man know not, he ſhal not be knowen.

39 Therfore, brethren, be earneſt to prophecie: & to ſpeake with tongues prohibit not.

40 But let al things be done honeſtly and according to order among you.

manifeſt, and ſo hauing fallen downe on his face, he will worſhip God, ſaying that God is in you of a truth.

26 How is it then brethren? When ye come together, euery one of you hath a Pſalme, hath a doctrine, hath a tongue, hath a reuelation, hath an interpretation: Let all things be done vnto edifying.

27 If any man ſpeake with tongue, let it be by two, or at the moſt by three, and that by courſe, and let one interpret.

28 But if there be no interpreter, let him keepe ſilence in the Church, and let him ſpeake to himſelfe, and to God.

29 Let the Prophets ſpeake two or three, and let the other iudge.

30 If any reuelation be made to another that ſiteth by, let the firſt hould his peace.

31 For ye may all prophecie one by one, that all may learne, and all may be comforted.

32 And the ſpirits of the Prophets are ſubiect to the Prophets.

33 For God is not the authour of confuſion, but of peace, as in all Churches of the ſaincts.

*34 * Let your women keepe ſilence in the Churches: for it is not permitted vnto them to ſpeake, but* they are commanded *to be vnder obedience, * as ſaith the law.* 1.Tim. 2.12. Gene. 3. 16.

35 If they will learne any thing, let them aske their husbands at home: For it is a ſhame for a woman to ſpeake in the Church.

36 Sprang the word of God from you? either came it vnto you only?

37 If any man thinke himſelfe to be a Prophet, either ſpirituall, let him know that the things that I write vnto you, are the commandements of the Lord.

38 But if any man be ignorant, let him be ignorant.

39 Wherefore brethren, couet to prophecie, and forbid not to ſpeake with tongues.

40 Let all things be done ‖ honeſtlie, and in order. ‖ Or, comly.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. XIIII.

Rhem. 1. Rather prophecie.) The gift of prophecying, that is, of expounding the hard points of our religion, is better then the gift of ſtrange tonges, though both be good. A paraphraſticall expoſition of this Chapter concerning vnknowen tongues.

Rhem. 1. 2. Not to men.) To talke in a ſtrange language, vnknowen alſo to him ſelf, profiteth not the hearers, though in reſpect of God who vnderſtandeth all tonges and thinges, and for the myſteries which he vttereth in his ſpirit, and for his owne edification in ſpirit and affection, there be no difference: but the Preplet or Expoſitor treating of the ſame matters to the vnderſtanding of the whole aſſemblie, edifieth not him ſelf alone but al his hearers.

Fulke. 1. The Apoſtle by occaſion of the abuſe of the gift of tongues, ſheweth that in the congregation, all thinges that are preached, prayed, or ſong, muſt be vttered in a language knowne vnto the people, that they may vnderſtand and be edified by that which is preached, prayed and ſong. But where you ſay, to talke in a ſtrange language, vnknowne alſo to himſelfe, profiteth not the hearers, Chryſoſtome ſaith, Such an one profiteth not himſelfe, nor his hearers, & that the apoſtle in this place ſpeaketh of him that vnderſtandeth what he ſaith in a toong vnknowne to others. In ep. 1. Cor. Hom. 35. Thou wilt ſay the doth the toong edifie no man? not ſo. For he ſaith, He that ſpeaketh Prayers in an vnknowen tongue.

ſpeaketh with tongues edifieth himſelf, which verilie cannot be, except he know what he ſpeaketh. And hitherto he ſpeaketh of them which underſtand what they ſpeake, they underſtand themſelues, but they are not able to vtter them vnto others. So ſaith Photius, when the apoſtle ſaith, he that ſpeaketh with the tongue edifieth himſelfe. He ſpeaketh of them which underſtand thoſe things which they ſpeake, but cannot interpret them to other. S. Ambroſe ſaith vpon the ſame wordes: By that he perhaps alone knoweth what he ſpeaketh, he edifieth himſelfe alone. Whereby it is manifeſt that he which ſpeaketh in a tongue which he vnderſtandeth not himſelfe, doth not edifie himſelfe, much leſſe others. But if there were any that ſpake myſteries in a tongue which they themſelues vnderſtood not (as ſome of the fathers thinke) therfore they ſpake to God myſteries in the ſpirit, becauſe they vttered to God their ſpeech according to their ſpirituall gift, yet was this gift (if any ſuch were) both to themſelues and to others vnprofitable, without interpretation, and ought not to be vſed in the church, where all things are to be done vnto edification. Wherfore, theſe words are no protection for him which hath not the ſpirituall gift of tongues, to pray or ſing in a tongue which he vnderſtandeth not, whereby he cannot be edified himſelfe, much leſſe ought to be tollerated in the church, where others are not edified by him.

Rhem. 2. 6. If I come.) That is, If I your Apoſtle and Doctor ſhould preach to you in an vnknowen tongue, and neuer vſe any kinde of expoſition, interpretation, or explication of my ſtrange wordes, what profite could you take thereby?

Fulke. 2. What if he read to them the ſcriptures, and the interpretation and exhortations of the doctors vpon them as the Papiſts doe often times in their nine leſſons? Is it not all one caſe, and as little profit to be taken by the one as by the other? Reading in an vnknowen tongue.

Rhem. 3. 8. If the trumpet.) As the Trumpetter can not giue warning to or from the fight, vnles he vſe a diſtinct & intelligible ſound or ſtroke known to the ſouldiars: euen ſo the preacher that exhorteth to good life, or dehorteth from ſinne, except he doe it in a ſpeach which his hearers vnderſtand, can not attaine to his purpoſe, nor doe the people any good.

Fulke. 3. Euen ſo, he that readeth the ſcriptures of the olde or new teſtament, the homilies of the ancient fathers, conteining exhortation to good life, and dehortation from ſinne, except he doe it in a ſpeech which his hearers vnderſtand (if he meane that his people ſhould profit thereby) cannot attaine to his purpoſe, nor doe the people any good at all: ſuch is the reading of popiſh ſeruice which hath any good matter in it, the reſt doth leſſe hurt, becauſe it is not vnderſtood. Reading in an vnknowen tongue.

Rhem. 13. Let him pray that) He that hath onely the gift of ſtrange tonges, let him pray to God for the gift of interpretation: that the one may be more profitable by the other. for, to exhort or preach in a ſtrange tongue was not vnlawful nor vnprofitable, but ſeldome to God. ſo that the ſpeach had bene either by him ſelf, or by an other, afterward expounded.

Rhem. 4. 14. My ſpirit praieth.) Alſo whē a man praieth in a ſtrange tongue which him ſelf vnderſtandeth not, it is not ſo fruitfull for inſtruction to him, as if he knew particularly what he praied. Nowithſtanding the Apoſtle forbiddeth not ſuch praying neither, confeſſing that his ſpirit, hart, and affection praieth well toward God, though his minde and vnderſtanding be not profited to inſtruction, as otherwiſe it might haue bene if he vnderſtood the wordes. Neither yet doth he appoint ſuch an one to get his ſtrange prayer tranſlated into his vulgar tongue, to obteine thereby the foreſaid inſtruction. See the Declaration following of this Chapter.

Fulke. 4. If a man pray in a tongue which he himſelfe vnderſtandeth not, (as I haue prooued before) it is nothing fruitfull to his owne inſtruction, he edifieth not himſelfe: no although he had a miraculous gift to pray in the tongue which he vnderſtandeth not: for if ſuch perſon doe vtter words of prayer, his ſpirit, that is, his ſpirituall gift prayeth, and not he. But if a man haue not the gift, neither he nor his ſpirit prayeth: for the ſpirit heere ſignifieth the ſpirituall gift of tongues: as witneſſeth S. Chryſoſtome vpon this text, in 1. Cor. hom. 35. My ſpirit prayeth, that is, the gift graunted to me, and mouing my tongue. The ſame words hath Theophylact. So ſaith Theodoret vpon this place: He calleth the gift, the ſpirit. Photius ſaith vpon theſe words: My ſpirit prayeth, that is, my ſpirituall gift to ſpeake with tongues. Then, what prayeth in them that are void of this gift, if they pray in a tongue that they vnderſtand not? not their ſpirit which they haue not. Therefore theſe wotds are no approbation of ſuch prayers as are vttered in a tongue vnknowne to him that vttereth them. But you ſay, the Apoſtle forbiddeth not ſuch praying, confeſſing that his ſpirit, hart and affection prayeth well toward God, though his minde and vnderſtanding be not profited to inſtruction. Verely God himſelfe abhorreth ſuch praying, where men come neere him with their lips, when their heart is farre from him, and the apoſtle forbiddeth in the church all that is not edifying or inſtructing, both him that prayeth, and the church that is preſent. And where you ſay the apoſtle confeſſeth that his ſpirit, heart, and affection, prayeth well, without his minde and vnderſtanding: it is falſe. For he ſpeaketh not of his ſpirit, heart, & affection, but of his ſpirituall gift, as I haue proued by the interpretation of the ancient fathers, and the text is plaine, that the word ſpirit in this place ſo ſignifieth, and not the heart or affection. You adde further moſt impudently, that he doth not appoint ſuch an one to get his ſtrange prayer tranſlated into his vulgar tongue, to obteine thereby the foreſaid inſtruction. But yet he willeth ſuch one that hath the gift of tongues, to pray that he may interpret his ſtrange tongue himſelfe, or that ſome other ſhould enterpret what he ſaith, or if neither he nor any other be preſent that can interprete it, he willeth him to keepe ſilence in the church. ver. 13. 28. And if ſpirit were to be taken for heart and affection, without minde and vnderſtanding (as you doe newly and abſurdly expound it) the apoſtle willeth ſuch to pray not only with ſpirit, but alſo with minde and vnderſtanding, ver. 15. therefore he willeth them, to get the interpretation of their prayer. Therefore Chryſoſtome, vpon this place, ſheweth that prayers not vnderſtood, of him that vttereth them, are altogether vnprofitable, although he vtter them by a miraculous gift. Hom. 35. Thou ſeeſt (ſaith he) how by little and little ſhe is come to this point, that he declareth him to be vnprofitable, not only to others, but euen alſo to himſelfe, ſeeing the mind of ſuch a man (ſaith he) is void of fruite. For if a man ſpeake onely in the Perſians language, or in any other ſtrange tongue, and doe not vnderſtand thoſe things which he ſpeaketh, he ſhall be euen to himſelfe a ſtranger, as he which vnderſtandeth not the meaning of the voice. For there were many of olde time which had the gift of praying & of the tongue ioyned together, and they prayed and ſounded, vſing the tongue of the Perſians or the Romans, but with their minde they did not vnderſtand what they had ſaid. Therefore (ſaith he) if I pray with the tongue, my ſpirit, that is the gift graunted to me, and mouing my tongue, prayeth, but my minde is void of fruite. What then is beſt and moſt profitable to be done? ye what ought he to doe, and what thinges to pray for? he ought to pray both with ſpirit and minde. I will pray (ſaith he) with ſpirit, I will pray with minde, I will ſing with ſpirit, I will ſing alſo with minde. Alſo he teacheth here, that he ought to ſpeake with the tongue, and that his minde alſo ought to vnderſtand the wordes. For except that be done, another confuſion muſt needes riſe of it. This ſaith Chryſoſtome of them that had the gift of tonguss (as he ſuppoſeth) without vnderſtanding of that they ſpake: what would he haue ſaid, if he had heard the vnlearned Papiſts, both men and women, babling on their beades and primars, that which they vnderſtand not? and for want of vnderſtanding, are not able to vtter it, but miſerably, ſhamefully, and ridiculouſly choppe and change, clippe and mangle the wordes, the accents, the quantity, the diſtinction of thoſe thinges which they found in their barbarous tongue, ſo that they haue either no ſenſe at all, or ſometime contrary or ridiculous ſenſe. The clearke of S. Michaels is not yet out of remembrance in Cambridge, who founded a dirge leſſon after this maner: Homo natus de muliere brevi vivens tempore repletur multis miſerijs. Peccam, peccas, peccani, peccatis, peccant. Nor the prieſt in Cambridge ſhire that read in the goſpell Rundis for Reſpondit, Bumpizes for Baptizas. It is not ſo notorious but as true that an vnlearned olde woman ſaid her Aue Marie, after this ſound: Aui mari gratis plinam damſtrum, benedictatu in mulabs yeth benedictus fructus frantris tui ſweet Ieſus Amen. And though ſome women hitte better vpon the ſound of the wordes, yet you ſhall hardly heare any one that is vnlearned, which readeth, and much leſſe which ſaith by roate their ordinary prayers aright. Therefore if you were not paſt all ſhame, and void of remorſe of conſcience, you would neuer ſay that the apoſtle alloweth ſuch lippe labour for prayers.

Rhem. 22. A ſigne.) The extraordinarie gift of tonges was a miraculous ſigne in the primitiue Church, to be vſed ſpecially in the Nations of the Heathen for their converſion.

Rhem. 5. 23. Infidels.) In the primitiue Church, when Infidels dwelt neere or among Chriſtians, and oftentimes came vnto their publike preaching and exerciſes of exhortation and expoſition of Scriptures and the like: it was both vnprofitable and ridiculous to heare a number talking, teaching, ſinging Pſalmes and the like, one in this language, and another in that, all at once like a blacke ſaunts, and one often not vnderſtood of an other, ſometime not to them ſelues, and to ſtrangers or the ſimple ſtanders by, not at all. Where otherwiſe if they had ſpoken either in knowen tongues, or had done it in order, hauing an expoſitor or interpreter withal, the Infidels might haue bene conuicted.

Fulke. 5. Although it appeareth by the text, that there was ſome diſorder in the Church of the Corinthians, yet you doe leudly charge the Primitiue church generallie with this diſorder. Alſo by your blacke ſaunts, you charge the Corinthians with greater diſorder then you are able to prooue them guiltie of. But if I euer heard a blacke ſaunts in the church, it was in Paules church on S. Paules day, when in time of Proceſſion, a great multitude of hornes blowing the death of the bucke, which the hunters brought into the Church with them, and the great Organes playing together with the confuſe ſhowting of the people, made a noyſe meete for the triumph of the Popiſh Church. What edifying the vnlearned, faithfull or vnfaithfull may haue by your Latine ſeruice, your owne tongue confeſſeth while you deſcribe the diſorder of the Corinthians. Slander.

Rhem. 6. 26. A Pſalme.) We ſee heere that thoſe ſpiritual exerciſes conſiſted ſpecially, firſt, in ſinging or giuing forth new Pſalmes or prayers and laudes: ſecondly, in Doctrine, teaching or reading lectures: thirdly, in Reuelation of ſecret things either preſent or to come: fourthly, in ſpeaking Tonges of ſtrange Nations: laſtly, in tranſlating or interpreting that which was ſaid, into ſome common knowen language, as into Greeke, Latin, &c. All which gifts they had among them by miracle from the holy Ghoſt. Of what ſpiritual exerciſe the Apoſtle ſpeaketh Fulke. 6. Whether the Pſalme were new or olde, the concluſion is that all things in the church muſt be done to edifying. And ſo were Pſalmes and Hymnes ſung in the Primitiue church, by the whole congregation together. In olde time (ſaith Chryſoſtome) they ſung Pſalmes altogether, ſo doe we. In Cor. Hom. 36. The ſame teſtifieth Dionyſius Hier. cap. 3. par. 2. The whole aſſemblie of the church (ſaith he) ſing a generall confeſſion of praiſe. The biſhop beginneth to ſing the Pſalmes, and all the orders of the church ſing with him. Singing of Pſalmes by the whole church.

Rhem. 7. 27. In courſe.) All theſe things they did without order, of pride and contention they preached, they prophecied, they prayed, they bleſſed, without any ſeemely reſpect one of an other, or obſeruing of turnes and entercourſe of vttering their Gifts. Yea women without couer or veile, and without regard of their ſexe or the Angels or Prieſts or their owne husbands, malepartly ſpake tonges, taught, or prophecied with the reſt. This was then the diſorder among the Corinthians, which the Apoſtle in this whole chapter reprehendeth and ſought to redreſſe, by forbidding women vtterly that publike exerciſe, and teaching men, in what order and courſe as wel for ſpeaking in tonges, as interpreting and prophecying, it ſhould be kept. The diſorders in the ſame.

Fulke. 7. It was not only againſt order, but againſt edifying, that ſome of them prayed, bleſſed, ſung Pſalmes in a tongue which the people did not vnderſtand. And ſo much worſe it is in the Popiſh church, where praying, bleſſing, curſing, ſinging, ſaying, reading, and all other rites of the church are done in a ſtrange language, whereunto the people cannot ſay amen by S. Paules doctrine, becauſe they know not what is ſaid or ſung. But the Papiſts wiſer then the Holy ghoſt, haue inuented how they may not onely ſay Amen where they vnderſtand not, but alſo pray in a tongue that they vnderſtand not, namely of intention proceeding of faith implicit, of I cannot tell what ſpirit, heart, and affection, though his minde and vnderſtanding be not profited to inſtruction. A MORE AMPLE DECLARATION OF THE ſenſe of this 14 Chapter.

Rhem. 8. This then being the ſcope and direct driſt of the Apoſtle, as is moſt cleere by his whole diſcourſe, and by the record of all antiquitie: let the godly, graue, and diſcrete Reader take a taſt in this one point, of the Proteſtants deceitful dealing, abuſing the ſimplicitie of the popular, by peruerſe application of Gods holy word, vpon ſome ſmal ſimilitude and equiuocation of certaine termes, againſt the approued godly vſe and truth of the vniuerſal Church, for the ſeruice in the Latin or Greeke That S. Paules place maketh nothing againſt the ſeruice in the Latin tongue.

Greeke tongue: which they ignorantly, or rather wilfully, preſume to be againſt this diſcourſe of S. Paul touching ſtrange tongues. Know therfore, firſt, that here is no word written or meant of any other tongues but ſuch as were ſpoke in the Primitiue Church by miracle, and that nothing is meant of thoſe tongues which were the cõmon languages of the world or of the Faithful, vnderſtood of the learned and ciuil people in euery great citie, and in which the Scriptures of the Old or new Teſtament were written, as the Hebrew, Greeke, and Latin. for though theſe alſo, might be giuen by miracle & without ſtudy, yet being knowen to the Iewes, Romans, or Greekes in euery place, they be not counted among the differences of barbarous and ſtrange tongues here ſpoken of, which could not be interpreted commonly, but by the miraculous gift alſo of interpretation. And therfore this Apoſtle (as the Euangeliſts alſo and others did their bookes) wrote his Epiſtles in Greeke to the Romans and to al other Churches. Which when he wrote, though he penned them not in the vulgar language peculiar to euery people, yet he wrote them not in Tongue, that is, in any ſtrange tongue not intelligible without the gift of interpretation, whereof he ſpeaketh here: but in a notable known and learned ſpeach interpretable of thouſands in euery countrie. No more did S Auguſtine our Apoſtle, ſpeaking in Latin, and bringing in the Scriptures and Seruice in Latin, preach and pray in Tonges according to the Apoſtles meaning here, for the Latin was not, nor is not, in any part of the Weſt, either miraculous or Strange, though is be not the Natiõal tongue of any one countrie this day. And therfore S. Bede ſaith, (li. 1. hiſt. Angl. c. 1.) that being there fiue diuers vulgar Languages in our countrie, the Latin was made common to them al. And in deede of the two (though in truth neither ſort be forbidden by this paſſage of S. Paul) the barbarous languages of euery ſeuerall prouince in reſpect of the whole Church of Chriſt, are rather the ſtrange Tonges here ſpoken of, then the common Latin tongue, which is vniuerſally of al the Weſt Church more or leſſe learned, and pertaineth much more to vnitie and orderly coniunction of al Nations in one faith, Seruice, and worſhip of God, then if it were in the ſundry barbarous ſpeaches of euery Prouince. Wherein al Chriſtians that trauel about this part of the world or the Indes either, where ſo euer they come, ſhal finde the ſelf ſame Maſſe, Matins, and Seruice, as they had at home. Where now, if we goe to Germanie, or the Germans or Grecians come to vs, the others Seruice ſhal be thought ſtrange and barbarous. Yea and the Seruice of our owne language within a few hundreth yeres (or rather euery age) ſhal wholy become barbarous and vnknowen to our ſelues, our tongue (as al vulgar) doth ſo often change.

By ſtrange tonges the Apoſtle meaneth not the latin, Greeke, or Hebrue.

S. Auguſtine our Apoſtle brought in the latin tongue.

The latin ſeruice one and the ſame in al countries and ſtrange to none.

The ſeruice in vulgar tongue ſtrange and barbarous to euery ſtranger.

Fulke. S. What conſent you haue of antiquitie, that prayers not vnderſtood of him that vttereth them, are profitable to edifie him, I haue ſhewed by the teſtimony of ancient writers, whereas you haue not ſo much as one blinde and dumbe quotation for your aſſertion. And let the indifferent reader in Gods name examine our dealing, in applying the authoritie and arguments of the Apoſtle againſt popiſh Latine ſeruice, which is not vnderſtood of the common people. And where you ſay it is the approued godly vſe of the vniuerſall church, for the ſeruice in the Latine or Greeke tongue, you vtter many vntruethes together. For the primitiue church for more then ſixe hundred yeers after Chriſt, neuer approued any vſe of ſeruice in a tongue vnknowne to the common people. Origen cont. Celſ. lib 8. num. 13. anſwering the blaſphemer which charged the Chriſtians to call the angels by barbarous names in their publike prayers: Forgetting (ſaith he) that he hath to doe with Chriſtians which offer their prayers to God onely by Ieſus, he imagineth ſtrange matter, rather confounding them with the aſſaires of Chriſtians, and ſaying (whom if a man call by barbarous names they haue verily, if by Greeke or Latine names they haue not) For whome doe we call vpon by a barbarous name? wherefore let all men be perſuaded, that Celſus doth object theſe things to vs vnderſtanding, and let them know that true Chriſtians doe not vſe in their prayers the names of God, which are vſed in the holy ſcripture, but Greekes doe vſe Greeke names. Romans vſe Latine names, and men of euery nation doe pray and praiſe God with all their might in their owne mother tongue. And the Lord of all tongues doth heare them praying in all tongues, vnderſtanding them that ſpeake ſo diuerſlie none otherwiſe then if they were men of one ſpeach or language. This teſtimony of Origen doth plainly declare what was the approued vſe of the vniuerſall church in his time, that all nations had their publike prayers in their mother tongue, and alſo that their prayers were not made to angels or ſaincts, but only to God by Ieſus Chriſt.

Popiſh Latine ſeruice.

Prayers to angels & ſaincts.

Baſil in ep. 62. to the clergie of Neocæſarea ſpeaking of the vigils and publike exerciſe of prayers and ſinging of pſalmes in true faith, ſaith: While it is yet night, the people riſeth early with vs vnto the houſe of prayer, and in labour and affliction, and continuall teares, making their confeſſion to God: at laſt riſing from their prayers, they come to ſinging of Pſalmes. And one while being diuided into two parts, they ſing by courſe, one ſide ouer againſt another, confirming thereby their meditation of the diuine ſentences together, and alſo keeping one another for attention, and intention of the heart ſeparated from other things. Then againe ſuffering one to beginne the ſong, the reſt doe follow, and ſo in diuerſitie of ſinging of Pſalmes, and praying betweene: after they haue paſſed ouer the night, when the day beginneth to ſhine, altogether as it were out of one mouth, and one heart doe offer to the Lord a Pſalme of confeſſion, euery one of them making proper, or applying to himſelfe the words of repentance. Therfore if for theſe things ye flee from vs, you ſhall flie from the Egyptians, from both the Lybians, the Thebanes, the Paleſtines, the Arabians, the Phenicians, the Syrians, and thoſe that dwell by Euphrates, & generally from all them that haue watchings & prayers, and common ſinging of Pſalmes in honor. This teſtimony of Baſil proueth that all nations, of what language ſoeuer they were, had their common prayers and ſeruice in their vulgar tongue: for els they could not apply vnto themſelues the words of repentance that were in the Pſalmes, nor meditate vpon the diuine ſentences. And it cannot be thought that all nations vnderſtood the Latine or Greeke tongues, ſpecially the Arabians, Syrians, Phœnicians, and inhabiters of Euphrates. S. Hierome teſtifieth that at the buriall of Paula, whereunto the whole multitude of the cities of Paleſtine reſorted. The Pſalmes were ſong in order, in the Hebrue, Greeke, Latine, and Syrian languages. In Epitaph. As there were people of theſe diuers nations and languages preſent. So he ſaith in Epitaph. Nepotiani: Now both the voices and letters of all nations doe ſound the paſſion of Chriſt, and his reſurrection. I ſpeake true of the Hebrues, Greeks, and Latins, which nations our Lord hath dedicated in the title of his croſſe. The ſauage nature of the Beſſes, and the multitude of people that were skinners, which ſometime offered men in ſacrifice to the ghoſts of the dead, haue now broken their barbarous language into the ſweet ſong of Chriſt. So that there was no nation ſo barbarous which did not in their naturall language praiſe God, & ſing pſalmes to Chriſt. Bonfinius teſtifieth, that there is a nation of the Sclauonians inhabiting the region called Lipna, to whom S. Hierome framed an order of ſeruice, wherein they continue to this day, although Ludouicus a laboured to bring them from it. Dec. 2. lib. 10. Nicholas the firſt allowed the Sclauonians that were conuerted to haue their ſeruice in their mother tongue. Anno. Syl. hiſt. Bohem. c. 13.

The

The Armenians, Ruſſians, Syrians, Aethiopians, at this day haue their Seruice in their ſeuerall languages, as their ſeuerall Churches and ſtories declare. Yea the Pope alloweth ſome of them in Rome, to celebrate in their owne language. The Councell of Laterane vnder Innocentius the third, decreed Cap. 9. That for as much as in many places, within the ſame Citie and Dioceſſe, there be nations mingled of diuers tongues, hauing diuers rites and maners, vnder one faith, we ſtraightly commaund, that the Biſhops of ſuch cities or dioceſſes, prouide meete men, which according to the diuerſitie of their rites and tongues, may celebrate the diuine ſeruice vnto them, and miniſter the Sacraments of the Church. It is not long therefore, ſince euen the Church of Rome approued Seruice in other languages, then the Greeke and Latine, and ſo doth the Pope him ſelfe this day at Rome. And this diſcourſe of S. Paule, touching ſtrange tongues, toucheth alſo the Greeke and Latine tongues, vſed in ſuch aſſemblies, where the people doe not vnderſtand them. But let vs heare, what reaſon you haue to the contrary. Firſt you ſay, we muſt know, that there is no word written or meant, but only of ſuch tongues, as men ſpake by miracle. That graunted, it followeth more ſtrongly, vpon S. Paules arguments, that ſtrange tongues not ſpoken by miracle, nor vnderſtoode of the people, ought not to be vſed in the Church, when ſuch as were ſpoken by miracle, might not be vſed, becauſe they did not edifie. Secondly you ſay, that nothing is meant of the common languages of the world, or of the faithfull, vnderſtood of the learned, or ciuill people in euery great clue, and in which the Scriptures were written, as Hebrue, Greeke, and Latine. I anſwere, the Apoſtles wordes and meaning are manifeſt, of all tongues not vnderſtoode of the vnlearned in the Congregation, verſ. 16. 23. 24. Where the vulgar, by your owne note, ſignifieth all rude and vnlearned men: which in Corinth vnderſtood neither Hebrue, nor Latine, although the Greeke language was their mother tongue. The Scriptures alſo were firſt written, moſt in Hebrue & Greeke, and ſome part in Chaldee, but in Latine, no part was firſt written. But they were tranſlated, aſwell into the Syrian, Arabike, Aethiopian, and other tongues, as into Latin. Wherfore, euen the Latine, and Hebrue tongues, were forbidden to be ſpoken in the Corinthian Church, except they were interpreted, that the Congregation might be edified. And therefore you ſay impudently, that only ſuch tongues are ſpoken againſt here, as could not commonly be interpreted, but by the miraculous gift of interpretation. For although, ſome had the miraculous gift of interpretation, yet if any could interprete without that gift, it was ſufficient for S. Paules purpoſe, that all thinges in the Church might be done to edification. Therefore he ſayth, let one interprete, but if there be not an Interpreter, let him holde his peace in the Church. For what skilleth it, whether he interprete by miraculous gift, or by learning in that tongue, in reſpect of the edifying and inſtruction of them that vnderſtande not the tongue? Therefore S. Paule, and the reſt of the Euangeliſtes, and Apoſtles, did write in the Greeke tongue, which was moſt vniuerſally vnderſtoode, not of euery Romane, Arabian, Aegyptian, &c. but becauſe there were in all thoſe places, either men that had the miraculous gift of interpretation, or that by learning, and common vſe, vnderſtanding the Greeke tongue, coulde expounde their writings to men of all languages. And yet euen the Greeke tongue, to him that vnderſtoode it not, was barbarous and ſtrange, as the Apoſtle ſayth: for of all tongues that be in the world, generally, and of euery one of them, he ſayth: If I vnderſtand not the vertue of the voyce, I ſhall be to him to whome I ſpeake barbarous, or ſtrange, and he that ſpeaketh barbarous to me, verſ. 10. 11. Whereupon Primaſius ſaith: Euery language, that is not vnderſtoode, is barbarous or ſtrange, to him that heareth it. Therefore euen the Hebrue, Greeke, and Latine tongues, are barbarous and ſtrange to them which heare them, and vnderſtand them not. So Greeke Seruice and Latine Seruice, muſt needes for all your wrangling, be barbarous and ſtrange, to them that vnderſtand them not, and therefore forbidden by the Apoſtle. And if Auguſtine brought in the Latine Seruice, (as you ſay without proofe,) to the Saxon nation that vnderſtood it, it was not barbarous or ſtrange to them. But to them that vnderſtand it not, it is ſtrange and barbarous. And though in ſtudie and meditation of the Scriptures, as Bede ſayth, the Latine tongue was made common to all the foure tongues of this Iſland, yet to the Saxons, Britanes, Pictes, and Scots, which vnderſtood it not, it was ſtrange and barbarous, according to the ſaying of S. Paule, and Primaſius. Therefore, aſwell learned tongues, as barbarous tongues, that are not vnderſtoode, are forbidden by the Apoſtle to be vſed in the Church, not becauſe they were miraculous, but becauſe the Church was not edified by them: and ſuch tongues are commaunded to be vſed, as ſerue to edifying. Let all be done to edification, therefore the barbarous tongues of euery nation, in the Church of that nation where they ſerue to edifying, are commaunded to be vſed. For this rule is perpetuall, Let all things be done vnto edification, as well as this: Let all thinges be done decently, and according to order: and is not to be reſtreyned to miraculous tongues, more then the other. Therefore your vayne reaſons, of vnitie and orderly coniunction of all nations in one faith, muſt giue place to the expreſſe commaundement of the Holie Ghoſt. Although it is a wretched ſignification of the coniunction of all nations in one faith by ſeruice in one tongue, ſeeing you allow Seruice in Greeke alſo, and perhaps in Hebrew, as your Comperes doe, which by the ſame Logike, muſt argue, the vnitie of all nations in two or three faithes, rather then in one faith. And what if the Seruice of the Germaines, or French men, be as barbarous to vs, as our Engliſh, Welſhe, and Iriſhe Seruice is to them? The Seruice of euery Nation, is framed to the vnderſtanding and edifying of the Church of the ſame Nation: and it is ſufficient, if it be not barbarous to them, for whome it is ordeyned. And I pray you, what is Latine Seruice to Græcians, or Greeke and Hebrew Seruice, to Papiſtes that vnderſtande them not? And if after certeyne hundred yeeres, our Engliſhe tongue bee altered, (as it is not ſo eaſily altered, when religion is continued in it, example of the Syrian tongue, which is nowe the ſame vulgar language, that it was one thouſande fiue hundred yeeres agoe) yet I ſay, if it be altered, our Seruice may eaſily bee reduced, to any Dialect or alteration, that our tongue can receiue.

Whether the Seruice in vulgar tongue doe more edifie.

Rhem. 9. And for edification, that is, for increaſe of faith, true knowledge, and good life, the experience of a few yeres hath giuen all the world a full demonſtration whether our forefathers were not as wiſe, as faithful, as deuout, as fearefull to breake Gods lawes, and as likely to be ſaued, as we are in al our tongues, tranſlations, and Engliſh praiers. Much vanitie, curioſitie contempt of Superiors, diſputes, emulations, contentions, Schiſmes, horrible errors, profanation and diuulgation of the ſecrete Myſteries of the dreadful Sacraments, which of purpoſe were hidden from the vulgar (as S.Denys* Eccl.Hier.c.1. and S.Baſil de Sp.Sanct.c.27. teſtifie) are fallen by the ſame, but vertue or ſound knowledge vnto al.

* See Annot. Cor 10.15.

Fulke 9. That ſeruice in a knowne tongue doth not edifie, you goe about to proue, by the great vertues of our forefathers vſing Latine ſeruice, and the manifold vices of theſe times, vſing praiers and tranſlations in Engliſh, as though the vices of theſe times, were the effects of Engliſh tranſlations and praiers, and the former vertues were the effects of Latine ſeruice or ignorance. Which if it were true, S.Paul did amiſſe, to require vnderſtanding in praiers and Pſalmes, that they might ſerue to edifying, ſeeing better edification vnto faith and good life, commeth by praiers and Pſalmes not vnderſtoode, and all vices proceede of prayers and Pſalmes and tranſlations of the Scriptures, that are vnderſtood. Are not theſe perilous learned Clearkes of Rhemes, that thus doe argue? Although, (God be thanked,) there ſhineth more vertue in the life and converſation of true Chriſtians that haue knowledge, then in the ignorant of former times, who, as they knew not God, and his lawes, ſo they could not truely ſerue him according to his will, though many of them were ſuperſtitiouſly religious, and ciuilly honeſt, as many are among the Turkes and Pagans. The vices, errors, and enormities, that are riſen ſince knowledge hath bene enlarged, proceede not of knowledge, but of the wickednes of men that abuſe knowledge, as they doe all other good giftes of God. Where you cite Dionyſe and Baſill, to proue that the myſteries of the Sacraments, were of purpoſe hid from the vulgar or common people, you doe ſhamefully abuſe both their names. For Dionyſe chargeth Timothy, not to communicate the myſteries of Chriſtian religion, to vnholy perſons, that were heathen men, or vnperfect Chriſtians, ỳ were not yet baptiſed. But it appeareth by his whole booke, that all perfect Chriſtian men of the common people, were preſent, & did ſee and heare, whatſoeuer was ſayd or done, about either of the Sacraments, and al rites vſed in the Church in his time. S. Baſill ſayth, that many things are vſed in the Church, which are not expreſſed in the Scriptures, naming diuers ceremonies, that are not neceſſary, and formes of praiers, confeſſions of faith, and praiſes, which yet are grounded on the Scripture, but are deliuered by vſe and tradition. In which diuers things are not eaſie to be vnderſtoode, for what cauſe they be vſed, as praying toward the Eaſt, praying ſtanding, and not kneeling one Sunday and in Pentecoſt, &c. But that the myſteries of the Sacrament were hidden from the common people, by vttering them in a ſtrange tongue, or otherwiſe of purpoſe, that they ſhould not be knowne. S. Baſill ſayth not.

Seruice in a knowne tongue doth edifie.

Rhem.10 Wherein this alſo is a groſſe illuſion and vntruth, that the force and efficacie of the Sacraments, Sacrifice, and l common prayer, dependeth vpon the peoples vnderſtanding, hearing, or knowledge: the principal efficacie of ſuch thinges and of the whole miniſterie of the Church, conſiſting ſpecially of the very vertue of the worke, and the publike office of the Prieſts, who be appointed in Chriſtes behalfe to diſpoſe theſe Myſteries to our beſt good: the infant, innocent, idiote and vnlearned, taking no leſſe fruite of Baptiſme and al other diuine offices, meete for euery ones condition, then the learnedſt Clerke in the Realme: and more, if they be more humble, charitable, deuout, and obedient, then the other, hauing leſſe of theſe qualities and more learning.

The vertue of the Sacraments and Seruice conſiſteth not in the peoples vnderſtanding.

Fulke 10. This is both a groſſe illuſion, petition of principle and falſe coniunction of things not to be matched together. For firſt we acknowledge no ſuch ſacrifice, as you vſurpe. Secondly, the force or efficacie of the Sacrament, and of common praiers, or the forme of adminiſtration of the Sacraments, is vnfitly and ſophiſtically matched together. For though the force of the Sacraments, depend not vpon the peoples vnderſtanding, yet the forme of adminiſtring them, & of common praiers, requireth the peoples vnderſtanding, or els it edifieth them not by S. Paules doctrine. For although we ſhould yet grant another beggerly principle, that the effect of the Sacraments, conſiſteth eſpecially of the worke wrought, & the office of the Prieſt, as it doth not, but of the grace & worke of Gods ſpirite: yet it followeth not, that praiers doe edifie, by the vertue of the worke wrought, & the publike office of the Prieſt, though they be not vnderſtood. S. Paule ſayth, that praiers and Pſalmes, vttered by him ſelfe, in a tongue not vnderſtood, ſhould not profite a whit, by vertue of the worke wrought, or of his publike office, verſ. 6. 11. 14. 15. 16. for of theſe fine points of Popiſh diuinitie, S. Paule was ignorant, or els forgetful, by which, it might be replied vnto him, that his praying and praiſing of God, yea his preaching alſo, might be profitable to edifying, by vertue of the worke wrought, & his publike office, though neuer a word that he ſpake were vnderſtood of his hearers. But although the vertue of the Sacraments, conſiſteth not in the peoples vnderſtanding, yet the Sacraments ought to be miniſtred in a tongue that the people vnderſtandeth, that they may be taught, what is the vertue of them, & wherin it conſiſteth, that being edified & inſtructed in faith, they may be ſtirred vp to be thankful, & bleſſe God with the Miniſter, for thoſe his benefites, & to ioine in praier to God with the Miniſter, that the outward ſignes, by his grace, may be effectual to the receiuers, and ſo may ſay Amen, to that which the Miniſter ſayth, which S. Paule ſaith, they can not doe, except they vnderſtand what he ſaith. verſ. 16.

Sacraments not to be miniſtred in an vnknowne tongue.

Rhem.11 Which we ſay not, as though it were inconuenient for the people to be wel inſtructed in the meaning of the Sacraments and holy ceremonies and Seruice of the Church (for, that to their comfort and neceſſarie knowledge, both by preaching, Catechizing, and reading of good Catholike bookes, Chriſtian people do learne in al Nations much more in thoſe countries where the Seruice is in Latin, then in our Nation, God knoweth:) But we ſay that there be other waies to inſtruct them, and the ſame leſſe ſubiect to danger and diſorder, then to turne it into vulgar tongues. We ſay, the ſimple people and many one that thinke them ſelues ſome body, vnderſtand as litle of the ſenſe of diuers Pſalmes, Leſſons, and Oraiſons in the vulgar tongue, as if they were in Latin: yea and often take them in a wrong, peruerſe, and pernitious ſenſe, which lightly they could not haue done in Latin. We ſay, that ſuch as would learne in deuotion and humilitie, may and muſt rather with diligence learne the tongue: that ſuch Diuine things be written in, or vſe other diligence in hearing ſermons and inſtructions: then for a few mens not neceſſary knowledge, the holy vniuerſal order of Gods Church ſhould be altered. For if in the kingdom of England onely, it be not conuenient, neceſſarie, nor almoſt poſſible, to accommodate their Seruice booke to euery prouince and people of diuers tongues: how much leſſe ſhould the whole Church ſo do, conſiſting of ſo many differences? Neither doth the Apoſtle in al this Chapter appoint any ſuch thing to be done, but admoniſheth them to pray and labour for the grace of vnderſtanding and interpretation, or to get others to interprete or expound vnto them. And that much more we may doe concerning

The people is to be taught the meaning of Sacraments and ceremonies, and are taught in al Catholike countries.

cerning the Seruice in Latin, which is no ſtrange nor miraculouſly gotten & vnderſtood tongue, but common to the moſt and cheefe Churches of the world, and hath bene, ſince the Apoſtles time, daily with al diligence throughout al theſe parts of Chriſtendom, expounded in euery houſe, ſchoole, Church, and pulpit: and is ſo wel knowen for euery neceſſarie part of the diuine Seruice, that by the diligence of parents, Maiſters, and Curates, euery Catholike of age almoſt, can tel the ſenſe of euery ceremonie of the Maſſe, what to anſwer, when to ſay Amen at the Prieſtes benediction, when to confeſſe, when to adore, when to ſtand, when to kneele, when to receiue, what to receiue, when to come, when to depart, and al other dueties of praying and ſeruing, ſufficient to ſaluation. And thus it is euident that S. Paul ſpeaketh not of the cõmon tonges of the Churches Seruice.

Catholike people in euery Countrie vnderſtandeth euery ceremonie, and can behaue them ſelues accordingly.

Ignorance.

Fulke 11. You thinke it not inconuenient, that the people ſhould be wel inſtructed in the meaning of ỹ Sacraments, & ſeruice, & yet that which is the cheefe & moſt neceſſary meane to inſtruct them, you wil deny them. Your principles & practiſe in this caſe, are ſo monſtrous to be heard in Chriſtian religiõ, that you cannot tell which way to turne you. For in the next ſentence before, (ſaue one,) you complained of maruelous inconueniences, that came of diuulgation of the myſteries of the Sacraments, which you ſay, were of purpoſe hidden from the vulgar. And ſo would you haue all profitable knowledge, by your old principle, Ignorance is the mother of deuotion, taken away from the people, that you might exerciſe your old tyranny ouer their blind ſuperſtition. But becauſe you are halfe aſhamed, euen among your owne fauourites, in this cleare light of knowledge, to maintaine that helliſh principle of darkenes, now you gather your ſelfe in againe, and ſay not this, as though it were inconuenient, that the people ſhould be wel inſtructed. And yet you dare not ſay, it is conuenient, it is neceſſary to ſaluation, that the people ſhould be wel inſtructed. What Papiſtes doe learne commonly, in other nations by preaching, catechizing, and reading, pardon vs, if we beleeue not your report, for we know you lie without ſhame. For albeit in ſome fewe cities, where the conuerſion of the people vnto the Goſpel, is feared, there is more paines taken in teaching the people, then hath bene accuſtomed in the daies of deepe Ignorance, and a few in compariſon of the multitude, are more inſtructed in the myſteries of Popiſh religion, then they were wont to be in times paſt, yet in moſt places, both of cities and countrie, where the Goſpell is not preached, the vulgar people are as blind & ignorant, as euer they were, I ſay not of the truth, but euen of the meaning of Popiſh ceremonies, Sacraments, & ſeruice. If you were the onely farre trauelled men in the world, you would tell vs of great wonders. But it is wel, that other haue ſeene France, Flanders, Spaine, & Italy, as wel as you. But you ſay, there be other waies, to inſtruct the people, leſſe ſubiect to danger & diſorder, then to turne the ſeruice into vulgar tongues. O that you had liued in the Apoſtles time, & could haue taught him thoſe other waies. For he commaunded the Pſalmes, praiers, & prophecie, which men had euen by miracle & gift of the holy Ghoſt in ſtrang tongues, to be turned into the vulgar tongue, for inſtruction of the people, or els to be remoued from the publike ſeruice, verſ. 26. 27. 28. No maruaile, for he knew not what danger and diſorder, that interpretation was ſubiect vnto, as the great profound learned Doctors, of the Popes Seminary of Rhemes doe. And therfore you ſay, there be other waies, and this way is ſubiect to danger, & diſorder. But what ſayth the Scripture? read the text, for it is plaine, whatſoeuer you ſay, and muſt haue credite in Gods Church, though you ſay nay. And yet you proceede to ſay, that the ſimple people, and many that thinke them ſelues ſome body, vnderſtand as litle of the ſenſe of diuers Pſalmes, leſſons, and Oraiſons, in the vulgar tongue, as if they were in Latine. What an impudent ſaying is this? For albeit, they vnderſtand not the whole ſenſe of ſome hard and obſcure places, by only reading or hearing, yet is there no Pſalme, nor Leſſon, that is read vnto them, in which many things are not plaine and manifeſt to euery mans vnderſtanding. Whereas to them that are ignorant in the Latine tongue, no word is knowne, nor any one ſentence, of the Pſalme or Leſſon. And as for Oraiſons, or praiers, we haue none in our Seruice, that are not playne, and eaſie to be vnderſtood, of euery one that heareth them. Nay but often times, the ſimple people doe take the Pſalmes and Leſſons in a wrong, peruerſe, and pernicious ſenſe, which lightly they could not haue done in Latine. In deede, this is a learned reaſon why they ſhould not be in Engliſh, euen as this is. Many abuſe their meate and drinke, by ſurfetting, dronkennes, gluttony, which they could not lightly doe, if they did neuer eate, nor drinke, therefore it were good, that to auoide ſurfetting, dronkennes, and gluttony, men did neuer eate nor drinke. But I pray you Sirs, doe not learned men alſo, that vnderſtand the Scriptures both in Greeke and Latine, often take them in a wronge, peruerſe, and pernicious ſenſe, which they could not lightly doe, if they neuer read them? Therefore it were good, to auoid all hereſies, and errours, that no man either learned or vnlearned, did read the Scriptures. O you ciuill Papiſtes of England, are you not aſhamed to heare theſe learned concluſions of your learned Fathers of Rhemes? If you ſend your children to them to be enſtructed, they ſhall learne ſuch Logike, as they could neuer haue learned in our Vniuerſities of Cambridge and Oxford. But as though you had ſayd litle yet, as you haue proued nothing, you ſay againe, that ſuch as would learne in deuotion and humilitie, may and muſt rather learne the Latine tongue, or vſe other diligence in hearing Sermons and inſtructions. A hard peece of worke, for all men and women, olde and yonge, of the Citie, and of the Countrie, Maiſters, and Seruants, one and other, that knowe not the Latine tongue, to be nowe ſet to Schoole to learne it, rather then the Seruice to be turned into Engliſh, which is but one meanly learned mans eaſie labour. Yet you ſay, they both may, and muſt with diligence learne that tongue: which if it be true, you may or muſt ſet vp at leaſt a thouſand more Grammar Schooles, then be in England. Beſide a great many other caſes, that you muſt prouide for, while ſo many hundred thouſand people, giue their diligence to learne the Latine tongue. And if it once be brought to paſſe, that all men and women be learned in that tongue, as you ſay they may and muſt, then will the Latine tongue alſo be as vulgar vnto them, as the French is to many in Flanders, and the Engliſh to many in Wales and Ireland. And as for hearing of Sermons and inſtructions, whereunto you remit ſuch as will not learne Latine, (for all you ſay, may learne) will neuer bring them to the vnderſtanding of all prayers in the Seruice, whereunto they ſhould ſay, Amen. But ſuch knowledge, you ſay, is not neceſſarie, and there are but fewe, that can haue any vſe of it. For you ſay, The holye vniuerſall order of Gods Church, muſte not bee altered, for a fewe mans not neceſſarye knowledge. But where was this holye order taken? For the Primitiue Church vſed it not, yea the Romiſhe Churche in generall Counſels, as I haue prooued before, tooke a contrarye order: and thought ſuch knowledge neceſſarye for all men. But ignorance is more for your profite, then knowledge. And compt you all men and women, that vnderſtande not the Latine tongue, to be but a fewe? or are there but a fewe Papiſtes, that would in deuotion and humilitie learne. Verely I feare, that if the Goſpel be now hidden in England, it is hidden from them that periſh, whoſe eyes the God of this world, hath blinded the vnderſtanding of the vnbeleeuers, that the brightnes of the glorious Goſpel of Chriſt doth not ſhine vnto them. But to returne to your reaſon, from the leſſe to the more, I ſay it is both conuenient, neceſſarye, and poſſible, and is already performed, that the ſeruice booke of England, is accommodated to the ſufficient vnderſtanding of all the people of England, and ſo may and ought the ſeruice of euery nation, throughout the whole church of God, to be framed to the vnderſtanding of euery nation, in ſuch language as the people may be edified by their vnderſtanding: although there were ten times as many differences as there are. For this commaundement of God, muſt alwaies ſtand. Let all things in the Church be done to edifying. And therefore you ſay moſt vntruly, that the Apoſtle in all this chapter, doth not appoint any ſuch thing, when it is the whole ſcope of the chapter. For he that commaundeth or appointeth the ende, commaundeth and appointeth all things that are neceſſary to bring vs to that ende. And what other thing doth he meane, when he admoniſheth them to pray for the grace of vnderſtanding, and interpretation, or to get others to interprete or expound vnto them? but that you ſay may be obteined without tranſlating of the ſeruice into Engliſh, becauſe the Latine tongue is not ſtrange or miraculouſly gotten. Very well. Then by S. Paules doctrine, the Prieſt that ſaith it, muſt either expound it in Engliſh him ſelfe, if he be able, or ſome other body for him. But if there be no Interpreter, the Prieſt muſt hold his peace in the Church. But why doth the Apoſtle allow any ſtrange tongue, which is not to edifying, to be ſpoken in the Church with interpretion? Verely, becauſe thoſe ſtrange tongues were giuen of God miraculouſly. And therfore when they were interpreted, ſerued to the edifying of the people, that ſaw and heard the wonderful worke of Gods ſpirite, ſpeaking in thoſe tongues. But ſeeing the Latine tongue in theſe daies, is no miraculous gift, it were but loſſe of time, and deluſion of the Church, to ſay the ſeruice firſt in Latine, & then in the vulgar tongue. And therfore, if a marchant or other man learned in the tongues, by ſtudy & practiſe, would haue offred to pray or ſing in a ſtrange tongue, & afterward haue expounded it him ſelfe, the Apoſtle would neuer haue ſuffred, ſuch a vaine and vnprofitable exerciſe. That you ſay the Latine ſeruice, hath bene expounded in euery houſe, ſchoole, Church, pulpit, ſo that the people know all partes of the ſeruice ſufficient to ſaluation, it is vtterly falſe and vntrue, for although the people in Poperie, by long vſe and cuſtome, haue learned to performe certaine dumbe geſtures, and to vtter certaine ſpeaches not vnderſtood, like Pies and Popingayes, yet if S Paule be more to be credited then you, how can they that occupy the place of the vnlearned, ſay Amen to the Prieſts benediction, ſeeing they know not what he ſayth? And therefore, though you burſt for malice, S. Paule ſpeaketh againſt any tongue, vſed in the Church ſeruice, which is not vnderſtood of the vnlearned.

Rhem. 12 Secondly, it is as certaine, that he meaneth not nor writeth any word in this place of the Churches publike Seruice, praier, or miniſtration of the holy Sacrament, wherein the Office of the Church ſpecially conſiſteth: but onely of a certaine exerciſe of mutual conference, wherein one did open to an other and to the aſſemblie, miraculous giftes and graces of the Holy Ghoſt, and ſuch Canticles, Pſalmes, ſecrete Myſteries, ſorts of Languages, and other Reuelations, as it pleaſed God to giue vnto certaine both men and women in that firſt beginning of his Church. In doing of this, the Corinthians committed many diſorders, turning Gods gifts to pride and vanitie, and namely that gift of tongues: which being in deede the leaſt of all gifties, yet moſt puffed vp the hearers, and now alſo doth commonly puffe vp the profeſſors of ſuch knowledge, according as S. Auguſtine writeth thereof. This exerciſe and the diſorder thereof was not in the Church (for any thing we can vnderſtande in antiquitie) theſe foure tene hundreth yeres: and therfore neither the vſe nor abuſe, nor S. Paules reprehenſion or redreſſing thereof, can concerne any whit the Seruice of the Church. Furthermore this is euident, that the Corinthians had their Seruice in Greeke at this ſame time, and it was not done in thoſe miraculous tongues. Nothing is meant then of the Church Seruice. Againe the publike Seruice had but one language: in this exerciſe they ſpake in many tongues. In the publike Seruice euery man had not his owne ſpecial tongue, his ſpecial Interpretation, ſpecial Reuelation, proper Pſalmes: but in this they had. Againe, the publike Seruice had in it the miniſtration of the holy Sacraments principally: which was not done in this time of conference. For into this exerciſe were admitted Catechumens and Infidels and whoſoeuer would: in this women, before S. Paules order, did ſpeake and propheſie: ſo did they neuer in the Miniſtration of the Sacrament. with many other plaine differences, that by no meanes the Apoſtles wordes can be rightly and truely applied to the Corinthians Seruice then, or ours now. Therfore it is either great ignorance of the Proteſtants, or great guilfulnes, if vntruely and peruerſly to apply them.

Aug. de ſt. Chr. li. 1. c. 15. That he ſpeaketh not of the Churches ſeruice, is proued by inuincible arguments.

Fulke 12. It is certaine, that he writeth & meaneth, that all things in the Church, are to be done to edification, verſ. 26. & that there can be no edification, where the tongue is not vnderſtood, verſ. 16. 17. Therefore he writeth, & meaneth, that the Churches publike ſeruice, praiers, and miniſtration of the Sacraments, ought to be done vnto edification, in a tongue that is vnderſtoode of the vnlearned. And it is intollerable impudencie, to reſtraine that general ſentence: (Let all things be done to edifying) to any ſpecial exerciſe, that was peculiar to the Church at that time. Seeing the Apoſtle by neceſſitie of that general rule of edification, conuinceth the abuſe of that particular exerciſe of the gift of tongues. And yet where he ſpeaketh expreſly of praiers, and Pſalmes, vttered openly in the Church, what madnes is it to thinke, he ſpeaketh not of publike praiers, ſeruice, and adminiſtration of Sacraments, ſeeing the people came together ſpecially, for thoſe ends, and for hearing the word of God preached? And you may aſwell ſay, that it is lawfull to preach vnto the people in Latine, and Greeke, as to haue the publike prayers, & adminiſtration of the Sacraments in Latine or Greeke, ſeeing preaching is not now, as it was then, a miraculous gift, but an exerciſe gotten by ordinary meanes of ſtudy, & learning. But ſeeing you note in the margent, that S. Paul ſpeaketh not of the Churches ſeruice, it is proued by inuincible argumentes, let vs view theſe victorious arguments. Firſt, this exerciſe was not in the Church theſe 1400. yeres, that you know of, and therefore neither the vſe, nor abuſe, nor S. Paules reprehenſion or redreſſing thereof, can concerne any whit, the ſeruice of the Church. I deny this inuincible argument. For who would grant, that which ſhould be the propoſition or maior, if this concluſion ſhould ſtand? What exerciſe ſoeuer is out of vſe, neither the vſe, nor abuſe, nor any reprehenſion, or redreſſing thereof vttered in the Scriptures, can concerne any whit the ſeruice of the Church.

Publike ſeruice

Church. For hereof I might conclude. The exerciſe of Iewiſh ſacrifice, hath not beene in the Church this 1500. yeeres, ergo neither the vſe nor abuſe, nor any reprehenſion or redreſſing thereof by the Prophets, or our Sauiour Chriſt and his Apoſtles, can any whit concerne the Church ſeruice, although the ſame vſe, or like abuſe be in the Church ſeruice, which was in the exerciſe of ſacrifice: which concluſion none but a twoe-footed aſſe will affirme. The ſecond inuincible argument is, It is euident that the Corinthians had their ſeruice in Greeke at this ſame time, and it was not done in theſe miraculous tongues: Nothing is meant then of the Church ſeruice. I denie this miſhapen argument. It is euident, the Corinthians ought to haue their ordinarie and publike ſeruice onely in Greeke at that time, becauſe their vulgar tongue was Greeke: but whether they had any ſet forme of ſeruice, it cannot be proued. And it is manifeſt by the text, that they which abuſed the gift of miraculous tongues, exerciſed the ſame in publike prayers, and ſinging of Pſalmes, which was a part of the Church ſeruice: therefore ſome thing is ſpoken and meant of the Church ſeruice. The third inuincible reaſon. The publike ſeruice had but one language, in this exerciſe they ſpake many tongues. Firſt it is not certaine, whether they had any ſet forme of liturgie. Secondly if they had any, the ſame ought to haue beene in one tongue ordinarily: though extraordinarily, while the gift of tongues continued, ſome place might be giuen to the exerciſe of that gift, if there were interpretation. And therefore they might ſpeake two or three at the moſt in the gift of ſtrange tongues, ſo there were one to interprete, that the Church might be edified: and this euen in the publike ſeruice. The fourth inuincible argument. In the publike ſeruice euery man had not his owne ſpeciall tongue, his ſpeciall interpretation, ſpeciall reuelation, proper Pſalmes, but in this they had. I denie firſt the minor: for euery ſingular man had not all theſe giftes, euery man had not his interpretation, at leſt, when the Apoſtle willeth ſome to pray, that they might interprete, but ſome had one gift, and ſome an other, and the ſame they had in the publike ſeruice, therefore the maior alſo is falſe. The fifth inuincible argument: The publike ſeruice had in it the miniſtration of the holy Sacrament principall: which was not done in this time of conference, becauſe Infidels and Catechumens were admitted. I denie this argument, which is as good, as if a Papiſt woulde reaſon thus: Maſſe is publike ſeruice principally, ergo Mattens and Euenſong, Dirge and Compline, Prime and Houres, and generall Proceſſion, is no publike ſeruice at all. The ſixt inuincible reaſon: In this exerciſe, women before S. Pauls order, did ſpeake and prophecie: ſo did they neuer in the miniſtration of the Sacrament. This minor may be doubted of, but admit it to bee true, and the concluſion alſo, that this exerciſe was not the adminiſtration of the Sacrament, doeth it therefore folowe, that it was no publike ſeruice? And if it were no publike ſeruice in which S. Paul reprehended and redreſſed this diſorder of women ſpeaking in the Church, then for any thing that S. Paul hath ſaide, women may ſpeake in the Church ſeruice, and at high Maſſe alſo: for if you ſaide true before, Neither the vſe nor abuſe of that exerciſe, nor S. Pauls reprehenſion or redreſſing, can concerne any whit the ſeruice of the Church. Shall I ſay this is ignorance of the Papiſtes thus to peruert the Scriptures? I woulde it were not Antichriſtian impudence and plaine Atheiſme, ſhadowed vnder the name of popiſh religion.

Rhem. 13 Neither is here any thing meant of the priuate prayers which deuoute perſons of all ſortes and ſexes haue euer vſed, ſpecially in Latine, as well vpon their Primars as Beades. For, the priuate prayers here ſpoken of, were Pſalmes or Hymnes and Sonnets newely inſpired to them by God, and in this conference or prophecying, vttered to one an others comfort, or to themſelues and God onely. But the Prayers, Pſalmes, and holy wordes of the Chriſtian people vſed priuately, are not compoſed by them, nor diuerſely inſpired to them ſelues, nor newe to be approued or examined in the aſſemblies: but they are ſuch as were giuen and written by the Holy Ghoſt, and preſcribed by Chriſt and his Church for the faithfull to vſe, namely the Pater noſter, the Aue Maria, and the Creede, our Ladies Mattins, the Litanies, and the like. Therefore the Apoſtle preſcribeth nothing here thereof, condemneth nothing therein, toucheth the ſame nothing at all. But the deuoute people in their auncient right may and ought ſtill vſe their Latin Primars, Beades and Prayers, as euer before. Which the wiſedome of the Church for great cauſes haue better liked and allowed of, then that they ſhoulde be in vulgar tongues, though ſhee wholy forbiddeth not, but ſometimes graunteth to haue them tranſlated, and would gladly haue all faithfull people in order and humilitie learne, as they may, the contentes of their prayers: and hath commaunded alſo in ſome Counſels, that ſuch as can not learne diſtinctly in Latine (ſpecially the Pater noſter and the Creede) ſhould be taught them in the vulgar tongue. And therefore as wee doubt not but it is acceptable to God, and auailable in all neceſſities, and more agreeable to the vſe of all Chriſtian people euer ſince their converſion, to pray in Latine, then in the vulgar, though euery one in particular vnderſtand not what he ſayth: ſo it is plaine that ſuch pray with as great conſolation of ſpirit, with as litle tediouſneſſe, with as great deuotion and affection, and ſometimes more, then the other: and alwayes more then any Schiſmatike or Heretike in his knowen language.

The Apoſtle ſpeaketh not of the peoples priuate prayers in Latine, as vpon primars, beades, or otherwiſe.

Latine prayers tranſlated, or the people taught the contentes thereof.

The peoples deuotion nothing the leſſe, for praying in Latine.

Fulke. 13 The Apoſtle ſpeaketh of prayers, and yet by your expoſition he ſpeaketh neither of publike prayers, nor priuate prayers. In deede of prayers vpon popiſh Primars and Beades, he ſpeaketh not: for there were none ſuch in any vſe, or abuſe in his time. But againſt all prayers not vnderſtood, ſpecially publike prayers, he ſpeaketh expreſſely, and by conſequẽce againſt priuate prayers, not vnderſtood of him that vttereth them. For he ſayeth. The vnlearned cannot ſay Amen, that is, giue his conſent to an other mans prayer, which he vnderſtandeth nor, becauſe he knoweth not what it is, becauſe he is not edified by it, therefore much leſſe can hee pray him ſelfe in ſuch a tongue as he vnderſtandeth not, and is not him ſelfe edified by his prayer. But let vs examine your argument. The Apoſtle (ſay you) ſpeaketh not of popiſh priuate prayers in Latine: for the priuate prayers here ſpoken of, were Pſalmes, Hymnes and Sonets newely inſpired, theſe are not newely inſpired, but written by the Holy Ghoſt, and preſcribed by the Church, therefore the Apoſtle preſcribeth nothing of them, condemneth nothing therein, toucheth the ſame nothing at all. Admitting your minor as true, which is not true of all popiſh prayers, as of the Aue Maria and Creede, which are no prayers, nor of your Latine Mattens and Liturgie, which are full of idolatrous and ſuperſtitious prayers: yet your concluſion is a groſſe paralogiſme, becauſe it conteyneth much more then is in the maior or minor. For the Apoſtle findeth no fault with thoſe Hymnes, Pſalmes, and Sonettes in reſpect of their inſpiration, but becauſe they were not vſed to the right ende, namely, to edification, therefore hee preſcribeth generally, that all prayers ſhoulde be vſed to the edifying of the Church, and priuate prayers, to the edifying of him that vttereth them, and condemneth in all priuate prayers, want of vnderſtanding and edifying: therefore toucheth and condemneth popiſh prayers pronounced in Latine, not vnderſtood of him that pronounceth them. Therefore the people haue no right to vſe any ſuch priuate prayers as they doe not vnderſtand: whereby they edifie not them ſelues, they ſpeake no myſterie in the ſpirite which they haue not, they cannot bleſſe well, nor ſpeake to God, nor them ſelues. For the babling in an vnknowen tongue, is no more to be called ſpeaking, then the pratling of a Dawe, a Pie, or Popingaye, which are taught to vtter the ſouude of ſome wordes, but yet cannot iuſtly be called ſpeaking: for that ſpeaking is an expreſſing of the inward conceipte of the mind, whether it be true or falſe. Therefore the popiſh Church, which taketh vpon her greater wiſedome, then the holy Ghoſt hath reueiled by the Apoſtle, to like of that which he condemneth, ſheweth her ſelfe plainely to be the Church of Antichriſt, and not of Chriſt. But yet you ſay, ſhe doeth not wholy forbid, but ſome times graunteth to haue them tranſlated. The Church of Chriſt is more conſtant in her doctrine, and doth not ſome times denie, and ſome time graunt the knowledge of faith to her children. But the popiſh Church in the laſt blind dayes (as you cannot altogether denie) hath not permitted the articles of the faith, the tenne commaundements, and the Lords prayer to be knowen of the people in their mother tongue. And yet you ſay, your Church would haue all faithfull men knowe the contents of their prayers, which is not poſſible for them, nor meant by you, ſo long as you will not ſuffer them to learne them in that tongue which they doe vnderſtand. But the Church (you ſay) hath commaunded in ſome Councels, that they which cannot learne them diſtinctly in Latine, ſhould be taught them in their vulgar tongue. In deede when the knowledge of the Latine tongue among the common people beganne to decay, in the Weſt Churches of Germany and France, there was ſome care to ſupply that defect by inſtruction, and therefore it was decreed Conc. Tur. 3. cap. 17. That euery Biſhop ſhoulde haue Homilies, and prouide that they be plainely tranſlated into the ruſticall Latine tongue, or into the Dutch tongue, that all men may more eaſily vnderſtand thoſe things that were ſaide. Alſo in the Councell of Magunce. Cap. 2. it was decreed, That there ſhould neuer want a man on the Lordes dayes, and on holy dayes, which ſhoulde preache the worde of God, and ſo as the common people may vnderſtand them. And in the 45. Chapter of the ſame Councell it was decreed, that hee which cannot otherwiſe, ſhould learne the Creede, and the Lords prayer in his owne tongue. That men were willed to ſend their children to learne in the ſchoole, in Monaſteries, of prieſts, it was becauſe many did then vnderſtand the plaine and rude Latine, as appeareth by the Canon of Turon. before mentioned, and alſo by the 43. of this Councell of Magunce: where it is ſaide, that no Prieſt (as wee thinke) can rightly ſing Maſſe alone: For howe ſhall he ſay, The Lorde be with you, or admoniſh men to lift vp their hearties, and many other things like theſe, when there is none other preſent with him? By this Canon you ſee, not onely priuate Maſſes condemned, but alſo that the people did vnderſtand the Latine which was ſpoken in the Maſſes, or elſe it was all one to ſay theſe wordes alone, or in the hearing of them that vnderſtand them not. As you do in your Maſſe, turne about and ſay: Orate &c. Pray for me brethren and ſiſters: when there is none preſent, but a ſely boy that helpeth you to Maſſe, and perhaps at that time is in the Churchyard or veſtrie.

Yea euen in the Councell of Rhemes, from whence you ſende the contrary doctrine: it was thus decreed in the yeere of our Lorde eight hundred and thirteene: The firſt Chapter is of the reaſon of faith, that euery man according to the vnderſtanding of ſuch his capacitie as the Lorde giueth, ſhoulde learne and vnderſtand it, and in his workes fully obſerue it. The ſeconde Chapter, that they learne and vnderſtande in ſenſe and meaning, the prayer which our Lorde Ieſus Chriſt taught his Diſciples to pray, becauſe it is lawfull for no Chriſtian man to bee ignorant of it. And that their people all this while vnderſtood the Latine tongue, beſide theſe Canons, it may appeare by the Councell of Aquiſgran Cap. 133 Where ſuch are appointed to reade and ſing in the Church, as more deſire in reading and ſinging, the edifying of the people then moſt vaine popular flattering. Therefore the people vnderſtoode that which was ſung or ſaide in Latine: for without vnderſtanding, there coulde be no edifying. So that although prayer in Latine was alowable when men vnderſtoode Latine, yet when Latine is not vnderſtood, it is not tollerable to pray in Latine, by the elder Churches iudgement, and ſpecially by the doctrine of the Scripture. Wherefore they that pray in a tongue vnknowen, can haue no comfort of ſpirite, no true zeale or affection of prayers (though they haue neuer ſo great ſuperſtition, and blinde deuotion) when it is not poſſible for the heart to thinke, that which the tongue ſoundeth.

Rhem. 14 *Such holy Oraiſons be in maner conſecrated and ſanctified in and by the Holy Ghoſt that firſt inſpired them, and there is a reuerence and Maieſtie in the Churches tongue dedicated in our Sauiours Croſſe, and giueth more force and valure to them ſaide in the Churches obedience, then to others. The children cried * Hoſanna to our Sauiour, and were allowed, though they knewe not what they ſaide. The ſimple ſort cannot vnderſtand all Pſalmes, nor ſcarſe the learned, no though they be tranſlated or read in knowen tongues: men muſt not ceaſe to vſe them for all that, when they are knowen to conteyne Gods holy prayſes. It is not neceſſarie to vnderſtand our prayers.

How farre is ſufficient for the people to vnderſtand.

is not neceſſarie. And the tranſlation of ſuch holy things often breedeth manifolde danger and irreuerence in the vulgar (as to thinke God is auctor of ſinne, when they reade, Leade vs not into tentation) and ſeldome any edification at all. For, though when the prayers be turned and read in Engliſh, the people knoweth the wordes, yet they are not edified to the inſtruction of their minde and vnderſtanding, except they knowe the ſenſe of the wordes alſo and meaning of the Holy Ghoſt. For if any man thinke that S. Paul ſpeaking of edification of mans minde or vnderſtanding, meaneth the vnderſtanding of the wordes onely, hee is foully deceiued. for, what is a childe of fiue or ſixe yeeres olde edified or increaſed in knowledge by his Pater noſter in Engliſh? It is the ſenſe therefore, which euery man cannot haue, neither in Engliſh nor Latine, the knowledge whereof properly and rightly edifieth to inſtruction, and the knowledge of the wordes onely, often edifieth neuer a whit, and ſome times buildeth to errour and deſtruction: as it is plaine in all Heretikes and many curious perſons beſides. finally both the one and the other without charitie and humilitie maketh the Heretikes and Schiſmatikes with all their Engliſh and what other tongues and intelligence ſo euer, to be as Sonans & Cymbalum tinniens, ſounding braſſe and a tinkling cymbal. How the mind or vnderſtanding is edified. 1. Cor. 13.

Fulke. 14 If the holy Ghoſt did euer conſecrate and inſpire holy prayers in any language, they are prophaned and abuſed by them that pronounce them, and doe not vnderſtand them, as theſe of the Corinthians, which were inſpired doubtles by the holy Ghoſt, yet were prophanely abuſed, when they were vttered of pride and ambition, and not interpreted for the Churches edification. But there is a great reuerence (you ſay) in the Churches tongue dedicated in our Sauiours Croſſe. But why ſhould there not be as great reuerence & Maieſtie in all languages, that were ſanctified by the holy Ghoſt, to expreſſe the great prayſes of God? Act. 2. As for the dedication vpon the Croſſe, is a friuolous reaſon grounded vpon Pilates auctoritie, who ſet vp that inſcription in three moſt notorious languages. And yet for the Hebrue tongue that is there named, it is moſt like it was the Syrian tongue, which in the newe Teſtament is often called the Hebrue tongue, becauſe it was the vulgar tongue of the Iewes that were Hebrues, Act. 22. 2. and twiſe in the 19. of S Iohn verſe 13. 17. And where you pretend the Churches obedience, to giue force and valure to ſuch prayers, it is vaine. For the Church hath no power graunted of Chriſt, but to edification, 2. Cor. 10. 8. therefore can require no obedience, where edification is not ſought but hindred. But yet you will not giue ouer the matter ſo: for the children cried Hoſanna to our Sauiour, and were allowed, though they knewe not what they ſaide. Howe dare you affirme they knewe not what they ſaid? for firſt they ſpake in their owne tongue. Secondly they expreſſe plainely, that they did acknowledge our Sauiour Chriſt and his kingdome, and prayſed God for the ſame, and prayed to God in the higheſt to proſper the ſame. Howe then are you not aſhamed to ſay, they knewe not what they ſaid? becauſe they were children? doth not our Sauiour Chriſt acknowledge that they were inſpired of God? what? like Parates to ſound thoſe wordes? or to acknowledge in heart alſo that which they ſpake with their tongues? Moreouer you ſay, it is wel neere a thouſand yeeres ſince our people which could nothing elſe but bray barbarouſly, did ſing Alleluia, and not, Prayſe ye the Lord. That the Saxons ſung Alleluia, it was when they vnderſtood it to be, prayſe ye the Lord, as we doe nowe vnderſtand Amen, to be all one with, So be it. If I ſhould ſtand in contention with you, whether al the Saxons were then altogether ignorant of the Latine tongue, and void of Chriſtianitie, notwithſtanding Gregories auctoritie, I might trouble you to anſwere all that I could obiect, but I will not ſtand vpon that point. But long before that (you ſay) the husbandmen ſung the ſame at the plough in other countries. Hierome telleth you in what countrie, namely in Paleſtine, about Bethlehem, where it was in maner the vulgar tongue of the countrie. And Gregorie telleth you, it was brought from the Church of Hieruſalem, firſt by Hierome in the dayes of Damaſus lib. 7. ep. 63. That Surſum corda, and the pſalmes were ſung in Latine in the Weſt Church where they were vnderſtood, becauſe the Latine tongue was then vulgar to all the nations of Italie, Spaine, France, Africa &c. you neede not haue brought ſo many quotations: for we doe eaſily graunt it, as alſo ỳ Hieromes tranſlation was read in Africa, for then the Latin tongue was cõmonly ſpoken and vnderſtood in all ſuch places as the ſeruice was in Latine. S. Auguſtine confeſſeth, that he learned the Latine tongue from his infancie among the flatterings and playing of his nurces, not teaching him, but ſpeaking to him. Conf. lib. 1. cap. 14. The vulgar people therefore ſpake Latine in Africa, no marueile then if they had Latine ſeruice. And although ſome Biſhops & miniſters of the Church vſed ſoleciſmes and barbariſmes, it was either of purpoſe, as S. Auguſtine himſelfe did, that the people might vnderſtand him the better, who though they ſpake Latine, yet not ſo finely as Cicero, or other learned Romanes, but vnderſtood beſt ſuch barbarous termes and phraſes, as they were beſt acquainted withall, as witneſſeth S. Auguſt. in pſ. 123. 128. de Doct. Chriſt. li. 2. cap. 13. Or if they vſed any ſoleciſmes or falſe Latin of ignorance, ſo that they did not vnderſtand ſome words, which they pronounced and kept not right diſtinctions, S. Auguſtine ſaith: they were to be reformed, that the people may ſay Amen, to that which they vnderſtand plainely. De Catech. Rud. cap. 9. All things ſanctified by ỳ holy Ghoſt.

Nowe for Kyrieleiſon and Chriſteleiſon, which are Greeke wordes ſignifying, Lorde haue mercie vpon vs, Chriſt haue mercie vpon vs: Gregorie acknowledgeth that he was the firſt that brought them into the Latine Church, more then ſixe hundred yeeres after Chriſt, to be ſaid by the Clerkes onely, and not by the people. Yet it is not to be thought but the people did ſufficiently vnderſtand the meaning of theſe wordes, which was eaſily learned. But prayers were not made (you ſay) to teache or encreaſe knowledge, but their ſpeciall vſe is to offer our heart, deſires, and wantes to God. S. Paul requireth in prayers, that they ſhoulde teache and inſtruct others, if they be publike, and our ſelues at leſt if they be priuate: for wee can no more ſay Amen to a prayer pronounced by our ſelues, then we can to a prayer pronounced by an other, if wee vnderſtande it not. Neyther is it the ſpeciall vſe of prayers, to offer our heartes, deſire, and wantes to God, who knoweth them before wee pray, but to ſtirre vp our ſelues in true faith and obedienc, to depende vpon Gods promiſes, and to acknowledge his infinite benefites towardes vs: which can not bee by any wordes of prayer, that is not vnderſtoode of vs. For as for offering our heartes, deſire, wantes &c. the ſpirite maketh intereceſſion for vs with gronings that can not be vttered. You adde moreouer, That the ſimple ſort cannot vnderſtande all Pſalmes, nor the learned alwayes in the vulgar tongue. What then? there are pſalmes ynough that they may vſe as prayers, and ſtudy to vnderſtand the reſt at more leaſure: yet againe you preſſe vs. The ſimple people when they deſire any thing of God ſpecially, are not bounde to knowe, neyther can they tell to what petition of their Pater noſter, their demaunde perteyneth. At the leſt wiſe they are bound to knowe, that all things meete for them to demaund, and God to graunt, are comprehended in that forme of prayer, becauſe Chriſt hath taught them when they pray, to ſay: Our father, &c. And they can according to their owne want & meaning ſay. Lord graunt this or that, although they can not alway tell to which petition their demaund pertaineth: for it may pertaine to diuers petitions. But where you ſay: They can tell no more what is, Thy kingdome come, then Aduenias regnum tuum. I thinke the ſimpleſt Papiſts in England, that hath any loue of trueth, will ſay you ſpeake vntruely. For though they knowe not ſo well as learned men, ſpecially if they be not any thing inſtructed wherein the kingdome of God doth chiefely conſiſt: yet common ſenſe teacheth them, that there is great glory, power, and maieſtie wiſhed vnto God by the very worde of kingdome: whereas they can haue no true and certaine concept of the Latine wordes which they doe not vnderſtand. Whether the requeſt for their ſicke children perteine to (Thy will be done, or Leade vs not into temptation:) you would make them very ignorant that knowe not. Our people (God be thanked) are taught, that all things perteyning to this life, are conteyned in dayly bread, with the condition of Gods will in all things, which goeth before. But whereas you ſay: There is no more neceſſarie for them to knowe, but that this Oraiſon is appointed to vs to call vpon God in all our deſires: you affirme boldly as your maner is, without all proofe or reaſon. For our Sauiour Chriſt deliuered this forme of praier, to teach vs what things we ſhould aske at Gods hands, and what not. How we ſhould aske them in faith at our heauenly fathers hands, what things chiefely, namely, ſuch things as perteyne to Gods glory, and what thoſe be: ſuch things as be neceſſarie for our ſelues, & what they be. Theſe and ſuch things by Chriſtes inſtitution, that taught this forme of prayer, are neceſſarie to be knowen, and not onely to knowe, that this oraiſon is appoointed vs to call vpon God in all our deſires. For we are not ſo bound to this forme of prayer, that we muſt alwayes vſe it, and onely, but we may vſe other formes by the example of the Apoſtles, but this is appointed to be the paterne of all other formes of prayers: therefore there is more neceſſitie for all men to know that ſhall pray aright, or vſe this principall forme of prayer rightly, then that it is appointed to vs to call vpon God in all our deſires. Further you ſay, the tranſlation of ſuch holy things often breedeth manifold dangers and irreuerence in the vulgar, as to thinke God is auctor of ſinne, when they reade, Leade vs not into temptation, and ſeldome any edification at all. You may as truely ſay, the teaching of theſe holy things by Chriſt, to his vnlearned diſciples, might breede ſuch dangers and irreuerence, as the tranſlation of them, and ſo you ſhould blaſpheme directly, as you doe now couertly. But neither the teaching, nor the tranſlation, breedeth any ſuch danger, but rather keepeth men from ſuch inconueniences: and breedeth properly edification of Gods children: though wicked men both learned and vnlearned, peruert all that good is, to their condemnation. Where you ſay, the people to their right edification, muſt aſwell know the ſenſe, as the wordes, I agree with you: but firſt they muſt knowe the wordes, and after they muſt be taught the ſenſe and meaning, if any thing be obſcure, or hard to be vnderſtood in the wordes. And S. Paul ſpeaking of the edification of mens mindes, will haue both the wordes, and the ſenſe to be vnderſtood, but you by your will, would haue neither: for it is not poſſible to vnderſtand the ſenſe of wordes, before the wordes be vnderſtood. But to haue ỹ words vnderſtood, you haue no care, nor thinke it neceſſarie, howe ſhould then the ſenſe of thoſe wordes be vnderſtood? Children with vs are firſt taught to ſpeake, and then learne to vnderſtand, becauſe the wordes muſt needes be knowen before the ſenſe. And therefore the learning of the Scripture euen from infancie, is commended by S. Paul, though you would malignely cauill and ſay: what? was Timothie being a childe of fiue or ſixe yeeres olde, edified or increaſed in knowledge, by knowing the holy Scriptures? We confeſſe therefore, that the ſenſe is neceſſarie to be had, by teaching of parents and paſtors: but the vnderſtanding of the wordes muſt be had before there can any meaning of them be taught, and both in charitie, humilitie, and faith muſt be practiſed, that men may learne to pray rightly. 1. Tim. 3. 15.

Rhem. 15 To conclude, for praying either publikely or priuately in Latin which is the common ſacred tongue of the greateſt part of the Chriſtian worlde, this is thought by the wiſeſt and godlieſt to be moſt expedient, and is certainely ſeene to be nothing repugnant to S. Paul. If any yet will be contentious in the matter, we muſt anſwere them with this ſame Apoſtle, The Church of God hath no ſuch cuſtome, and with this notable ſaying of S. Auguſtine, ep. 118. c. 5. Any thing that the whole Church doth practiſe and obſerue throughout the world, to diſpute thereof as though it were not to be done, is moſt inſolent madneſſe. 1. Cor. 11. 16. A notable rule of S. Auguſt.

Fulke. 15 Your concluſion therefore, is a moſt beggerly and ſhameles petition of the whole matter in queſtion. That it is thought by you (which are the wiſeſt and godlieſt) that prayers priuate or publike in Latin, be moſt expedient and nothing repugnant to S. Paul. For that the wiſeſt and godlieſt in the primitiue Church, yea of the later Church for 800. or 900. yeeres after Chriſt, were of a contrary iudgement, I haue proued before ſufficiently. And by the very wordes of S. Paul I haue ſhewed, that publike prayer expreſly and principally, and priuate prayer conſequently in a tongue not vnderſtoode, is repugnant to S. Paul. I haue alſo ſhewed, that the Latin tongue is no more holy then any other tongue, ſeeing God by ſending his Spirit in fierie tongues, hath conſecrated all tongues to ſpeake the great and worthie prayſes of God. Act. 2. Therefore for Gods trueth, and the edifying of his Church, it is the cuſtome of Gods Church, to ſtriue euen to the death. And the ſaying of S. Auguſtine doth nothing touche this caſe, ſeeing prayers in an vnknowen tongue, was neuer practiſed nor obſerued of the whole Church through the whole world, as I haue proued before.

Rhem. 16 34. Let women hold their peace.) There be, or were, certaine Heretikes in our Countrie (for ſuch euer take the Scriptures diuerſely for the aduantage of time) that denied women to hold Lawfully any kingdome or temporall Soueraintie: but that is falſe and againſt both reaſon and the Scriptures. This onely in that ſexe is true, that it is not capable of holy orders, ſpirituall Regiment or Cure of ſoules: and therefore can not doe any function proper to Prieſtes and Biſhoppes: not ſpeake in the Church, and ſo not preache, nor diſpute, nor haue or giue voyce either deliberatiue or definitiue in Councels and publike Aſſemblies, concerning matters of Religion, nor make Eccleſiaſticall lawes concerning the ſame, nor binde, nor looſe, nor excommunicate, nor ſuſpende, nor degrade, nor abſolue, nor miniſter Sacraments, Women may haue any temporall Soueraintie, but no Eccleſiaſticall function.

other then Baptiſme in the caſe of meere neceſsitie, when neither Prieſt nor other man can be had: much leſſe preſcribe any thing to the Clergie, how to miniſter them, or giue any man right to rule, preach, or execute any ſpiritual function as vnder her and by her authoritie: no creature being able to impart that whereof it ſelfe is incapable both by nature and Scriptures. This Regiment is expreſſly giuen to the Apoſtles, Biſhops, and Prelates: they onely haue authoritie to bind and looſe, Mat.18: they only are ſet by the Holy Ghoſt to gouerne the Church, Act.20: they only haue cure of our ſoules directly, and muſt make account to God for the ſame, Heb.13.

Fulke 16 The errour of them that did write againſt the regiment of women, is eaſily confuted by the fifth Commandement, where ciuil auctoritie and gouernment is eſtabliſhed as well to the Mother, Myſtres, Lady and Queene, as to the Father, Maſter, Lord and King, the natural order of ſexe, neuertheles obſerued. But the ſexe of woman kinde is not capable of ſpiritual gouernement, and therefore may not ordinarily exerciſe any Eccleſiaſtical function of auctoritie in the Church, as preaching, miniſtring the Sacraments, excommunication, &c. And yet the Scripture alloweth a miniſterie or ſeruice of women to the Church, Namely to comfort and helpe the poore, as we reade Rom.16.1. Phebe a miniſter of the Church of Cenchris: aud 1. Tim.5. The widowes that ſerued the Church in the ſame office. But when you exclude them from all ſpiritual regiment, Eccleſiaſtical function, and cure of ſoules, I marueile whether the office of an Abbeſſe, or Prioreſſe among you, be compted meere ciuil and temporal functions, and haue no cure of ſoules directly pertayning to them. But howſoeuer they are accompted with you, in the Church of God, to whomſoeuer God committeth auctoritie and gouernment, he committeth alſo directly and ſpecially the care of ſoules, and not of bodies only, yet this cure to be exerciſed according to the diſtinct and ſeueral limits of Eccleſiaſtical and ciuil functions. Therefore the father and mother, maſter and myſtres, Lord and Lady, King and Queene, haue care of the ſoules of their children, ſcholers, ſeruants and ſubiects, and not of their bodies onely. Parents are commanded to bring vp their children in the diſcipline and inſtruction of the Lord, Epheſ 6.4. Wherby it is manifeſt they muſt haue care of their ſoules, and ſo muſt all other gouernours, as maſters, Magiſtrates and Princes, euery one in his calling, and according to his auctoritie. Therefore Princes (be they men or women) ought to haue care of their ſubiects ſoules, and to prouide for the ſame by making Eccleſiaſtical lawes, and compelling their ſubiects to ſerue God according to his Lawes. Therefore to denie vnto women all care of ſoules, and to ſay they haue no auctoritie to make Eccleſiaſtical lawes, by which their ſubiects ſhalbe compelled to ſerue God according to his word, is in effect to denie them all auctoritie & gouernement, and not ſpiritual gouernement only. S. Auguſtine compteth him madde that will denie that Princes ought to haue no care of their ſubiects ſoules. Ep.50. Bonifacio. Quis mente ſobrius &c. Who being in his right wittes would ſay to Kings, Take you no care by whom in your kingdome the Church of your Lord God is defended or oppugned, let it not pertaine vnto you who in your kingdome wilbe religious or ſacrilegious, to whom it cannot be ſaid, Let it not pertaine vnto you, who in your kingdome wilbe chaſte or vnchaſt.

The gouernment of women, and of ciuil Princes.

And concerning their auctoritie and duetie in making Eccleſiaſtical lawes, He ſaith likewiſe: Aliter enim ſeruit, &c. The Prince ſerueth otherwiſe as a man, and otherwiſe as he is a King. Becauſe he is a man he ſerueth God liuing faithfully, but becauſe he is a King, he ſerueth God by making lawes in conuenient ſtrength, which command iuſt things, and forbid the contrary, as Ezechias ſerued God in deſtroying the groues and temples of Idoles. Therefore Princes without confuſion of the functions ciuil and Eccleſiaſtical, may command and preſcribe Eccleſiaſtical perſons to execute any ſpiritual function (according to the word of God) and puniſh the neglect of their duties in them. And this may a Queene doe by her Soueraigne auctoritie, though ſhe may not execute any of thoſe functions in her owne perſon. Dauid, Salomon, Ioſaphat, Ezechias, &c. commanded the Prieſtes to execute their office according to the Lawe of God, yet was it not lawfull for them to execute any thing that was proper to the Prieſtes office in their owne perſons. So did Conſtantine, Theodoſius, Martianus, Iuſtinianus, make Eccleſiaſtical lawes to compel Eccleſiaſtical perſons to doe their duties, and called general Councels to decide queſtions of Religion, and gaue order how to proceede in them according to the Scriptures. Conſtantinus ſpake thus in the Nicen Councel: The bookes of the Goſpels and Apoſtles, and the Oracles of the ancient Prophets (ſaith he) doe plainely inſtruct vs in the vnderſtanding of God. Therefore ſetting all hatefull diſcord aſide, let vs take out of the ſayings of God the explication of the queſtions. Theod. hiſt. lib.1. Cap.7. Theodoſius in the Councel of Conſtantinople the firſt, elected Nectarius biſhop of that See Sozom. lib.7. c.8. Alſo when the Councel had decreed among other things that the See of Conſtantinople ſhould be in dignitie next to the See of Rome, and in priuiledges and auctoritie equal. The Emperour gaue his voice of aſſent and made a lawe, that the faith of the Nicene Councel ſhould preuaile. Sozom. lib.7. c.9. Theodoſius the yonger (ſaith Euagrius lib.1. cap.12.) made a lawe, whereby he condemned the Neſtorian heretikes; and made other lawes accommodated, or made fit for our Religion. Valentinianus called the Councel of Chalcedon, where Martianus himſelfe was preſent, and appointed Iudges and a Senate to order the Councel, by whoſe auctoritie Dioſcorus biſhop of Alexandria, was commaunded to ſit in the Councel, (contrary to the commaundement of Leo biſhop of Rome giuen to his Legates and there vttered,) vntil good cauſe was ſhewed, why he ought not to ſit in Councel. Conc. Chal. Action 1. The ſame Iudges with the Councel decreed, that the biſhop of Conſtantinople ſhould haue the ſame honour and auctoritie that the biſhop of Rome hath, notwithſtanding the contradiction of the biſhop of Romes Legates. Act.16. And the Emperour confirmed the ſame. Liberat. c.13. S. Auguſtine teſtifieth, that an Eccleſiaſtical cauſe was committed to the hearing of Melchiades biſhop of Rome, by the commaundement of Conſtantinus the Emperour. De vnico baptiſmo cap.16. Socrates witneſſeth that he comprehendeth in his ſtorie the Romane Emperours: Becauſe vpon them (ſince they began to be Chriſtians) the Eccleſiaſtical matters doe depend, and the greateſt Councels by their decree, haue bene gathered and are gathered, Lib.5. in prom.

Now let vs ſee what ſubſtantial reaſons you bring, to proue that a woman (being a Prince) may not preſcribe any thing to the Clergie how to miniſter the Sacraments, or giue any man right, to rule, preach, or execute any Spiritual function, as vnder her, and by her auctoritie. Firſt you ſay, No creature is able to impart that whereof it ſelfe is incapable, both by nature and Scriptures. I anſwere, Firſt a woman being a Prince, hath as great auctoritie as a man. But I haue ſhewed before, that godly Kings of the Iſraelites commanded and preſcribed the Prieſts to miniſter the Sacrifices, and Sacraments of the old Teſtament, which it was not lawful for them to do themſelues. And although the auctoritie of ordeyning Eccleſiaſtical Miniſters, perteineth not to ciuil Magiſtrates, yet may they cõmand meete perſons to be ordeined, (and being ordeined) to execute all partes of their function according to the word of God, vnder their auctoritie, and by their auctoritie: although the ſpiritual vertue of their office doe depend vpon an higher auctoritie of Chriſt, which is not ſubiect to men. The Prince may commande a biſhop or miniſter to baptiſe a perſon, whom by Gods word it is lawfull for them to baptiſe. But the vertue of regeneration is not ſubiect to the Princes commandement, and ſo of all other partes of their office.

Your ſecond reaſon is: Their regiment is expreſly giuen to the Apoſtles, biſhops and prelates, they only haue auctoritie to binde and looſe. I anſwere, The auctoritie of ciuil Magiſtrates doeth giue them nothing that is peculiar to Eccleſiaſtical miniſters, yet is it of power to commande them to doe and execute all thoſe things, as they ought to doe by the word of God, and not after the corrupt affection of the Prince. Thirdly you ſay: They only are ſet by the holy Ghoſt to gouerne the Church, Act.20. I anſwere, Their gouernment doeth not exclude the auctoritie of the Chriſtian Magiſtrate, which is no way contrary to their ſpirituall gouernment, but is appointed to maintaine it, and to ſee it to be exerciſed, as it ought to be. Fourthly you ſay: They onely haue cure of ſoules directly, and muſt make accompt to God for the ſame, Heb.13. The text ſaith not, That they onely haue cure of ſoules, but Princes alſo haue cure of ſoules in their office, and muſt giue accompt to God for the ſame, as parents, maſters, and all that haue any auctoritie commited by God vnto them, haue it for the benefite of mens ſoules, more ſpecially then for their bodies.

CHAP. XV.

The 7. part. Of the reſurrection of the dead.

He proueth the Reſurrection of the dead by the Reſurrection of Chriſt, and with many other argumentes: and 31 anſwereth alſo obiections made againſt it. 49 And then exhorteth in reſpect of it, vnto good life.

The Epiſtle vpon the 11. Sunday after Pentecoſt.

AND I doe you to vnderſtand, brethren, the Goſpel which I preached to you, which alſo you receiued, in the which alſo you ſtand,

10 But by the grace of God I am that which I am: and his grace in me hath not been ‡ void, ☞ but I haue laboured more aboundantly then all they: yet not I, but the grace of God ‖ with me.

11 For whether I, or they, ſo we preach, and ſo you haue beleeued.

12 But if Chriſt be preached that he is riſen againe from the dead: how doe certaine among you ſay, that there is no reſurrection of the dead?

13 And if there be no reſurrection of the dead, neither is Chriſt riſen againe.

14 And if Chriſt be not riſen againe, then vaine is our preching, vaine alſo is your faith.

11 Therefore, whether it were I or they, ſo we preach, and ſo haue ye beleeued.

12 If Chriſt be preached, howe that he roſe from the dead: how ſay ſome amõg you, that there is no reſurrection of the dead?

13 If there bee no riſing of the dead, then is Chriſt not riſen.

14 If Chriſt be not riſen, then is our preaching vaine, and your faith is alſo vaine.

16 For if the dead riſe not againe, neither is Chriſt riſen againe.

17 And if Chriſt be not riſen againe, vaine is your faith, for yet you are in your ſinnes.

22 For as by† Adam all die, euen ſo† by Chriſt ſhal all be made aliue, † Or, in Adam. † Or, in Chriſt.

23 But euery man in his owne order. The firſt fruites is Chriſt, afterward, they that are Chriſts at his comming.

24 Then commeth the ende, when hee ſhall haue deliuered vp the kingdome to God the father, when he ſhall haue put downe all rule, and all authoritie, and power.

25 For he muſt reigne till hee ſhall haue put all his enemies vnder his feete. Pſal.110.1. actes 2.34. heb.1.13.

26 The laſt enemie that ſhall be deſtroyed, is death.

*27 For hee hath put downe all things vnder his feete: But when he ſaith, All things are put vnder him, it is manifeſt that hee is excepted which did put all things vnder him. Pſal.8.7. hebr.2.8.

28 When all things ſhalbe ſubdued vnto him, then ſhall the ſonne alſo him ſelfe be ſubiect vnto him that put all things vnder him, that God may be all in all.

29 Els what ſhall they doe which are baptized for the dead, if the dead riſe not at all? Why are they then baptized for the dead?

30 And why ſtande we in ieopardie euery houre?

31 I proteſt by our reioycing which I haue in Chriſt Ieſus our Lord, I die dayly.

*32 If I haue fought with beaſtes at Epheſus, after the maner of men, what aduãtageth it me, if the dead riſe not? Let vs eate and drinke, for to morowe we die. Eſai 22.13.

33 Be ye not deceiued: Euill wordes corrupt good maners.

34 Awake to righteouſneſſe, and ſinne not: for ſome haue not the knowledge of God, I ſpeake this to your ſhame.

35 But ſome man will ſay, How are the dead raiſed vp? With what body doe they come?

36 Thou

36 Foole, that which thou ſoweſt is not quickened, vnleſſe it die firſt.

37 And that which thou ſoweſt, not the body that ſhal be, doeſt thou ſow: but bare graine, to wit, of wheate, or of ſome of ỹ reſt.

38 And God giueth it a body as he wil: and to euery ſeede his proper body.

39 Not al fleſh, is the ſame fleſh: but one of men, an other of beaſts, an other of birdes, an other of fiſhes.

40 And bodies celeſtial, and bodies terreſtrial: but one glorie of the celeſtial, and an other of the terreſtrial.

41 One glorie of the ſunne, an other glorie of the moone, and an other glorie of the ſtarres. For ‡ ſtarre differeth frō ſtarre in glory:

42 So alſo the reſurrection of the dead. It is ſowen in corruption, it ſhall riſe in incorruption.

43 It is ſowen in diſhonour, it ſhal riſe in glorie. It is ſowen in infirmitie, it ſhall riſe in power.

44 It is ſowen a natural body: it ſhal riſe a ‡ ſpiritual body. If there be a natural body, there is alſo a ſpiritual,

Gen.2,7. 45 As it is written, The firſt man Adam was made into a liuing ſoul: the laſt Adam into a quickening ſpirit.

46 Yet that is not firſt which is ſpiritual, but that which is naturall: afterward that which is ſpiritual.

47 The firſt man of earth, earthly: the ſecond man from heauen, heauenly.

48 Such as is the earthly, ſuch alſo are the earthly. and ſuch as the heauenly, ſuch alſo are the heauenly.

49 Therfore as we haue borne the image of the earthly, let vs beare alſo the image of the heauenly.

‡ Fleſh and bloud ſignifie not here the ſubſtance of thoſe things, but the corrupt qualitie incident to them in this life by the fal of Adam.

50 This I ſay brethren, that ‡ fleſh & bloud can not poſſeſſe the kingdom of God: neither ſhal corruption poſſeſſe incorruption.

51 [b] Behold I tel you a myſterie. We ſhal al in deede riſe againe: but we ſhal not al be changed.

52 In a moment, in the twinkling of an eie, at the *laſt trompet (for *the trompet ſhal ſound) and the dead ſhal riſe againe incorruptible: and we ſhal be changed.

53 For this corruptible muſt doe on incorruption: and this mortal doe on immortalitie.

54 And when this mortall hath done on immortalitie, then ſhall come to paſſe the ſaying that is written, Death is ſwallowed vp in victorie.

Of 13,14.

55 Death

36 Thou † foole, that which thou ſoweſt, is not quickened, except it die. † Or, makle mā.

37 And that which thou ſoweſt, thou ſoweſt not that body that ſhalbe, but bare corne, it may chaunce of wheate, or of ſome other corne.

38 But God giueth it a body, as it hath pleaſed him, and to euery ſeede his owne body.

39 All fleſh, is not † the ſame fleſh, but there is one maner of fleſh of men, another fleſh of beaſtes, another of fiſhes, and another of birdes. † Or one maner of fleſh.

40 There are alſo celeſtial bodies, and bodies terreſtrial: but the glory of the celeſtial is one, and the glory of the terreſtrial another.

41 There is one glory of the Sunne, and another glory of the Moone, and another glory of the ſtarres: For one ſtarre differeth from another ſtarre in glory.

42 So is the reſurrection of the dead. It is ſowen in corruption, it riſeth in incorruption.

43 It is ſowen in diſhonour, it riſeth in honour. It is ſowen in weakeneſſe, it riſeth in power.

44 It is ſowen a naturall body, it riſeth a ſpirituall body: There is a naturall body, and there is a ſpirituall body.

*45 And ſo it is alſo written: The firſt man Adam was made a liuing ſoule, and the laſt Adam was made a quickening ſpirit. Gene.2.7.

46 Howbeit, that is not firſt which is ſpiritual, but that which is naturall, and then that which is ſpirituall.

47 The firſt man is of the earth, earthy, the ſecond man is the Lord from heauen:

48 As is the earthy, ſuch are they that are earthy: and as is the heauenly, ſuch are they alſo that are heauenly.

49 And as we haue borne the image of the earthy, we ſhall alſo beare the image of the heauenly.

50 This ſay I brethren, that fleſh and blood can not inherite the kingdome of God: neither doeth corruption inherite incorruption.

51 Beholde, I ſhewe you a myſterie. We ſhall not all ſleepe, but we ſhall all be changed.

*52 In a moment, in the twinckling of an eye, at the laſt trumpe (for the trumpe ſhal blow) and the dead ſhall riſe incorruptible, and we ſhall be changed. Matt. 24.31. 1.the.4.16. ioan.5.28.

53 For this corruptible muſt put on incorruption, and this mortall muſt put on immortalitie.

54 When this corruptible ſhall haue put on incorruption, and this mortall ſhall haue put on immortalitie, then ſhall be brought to paſſe the ſaying that is written, Death is ſwallowed vp in victorie.

*55 O death

55 Death where is thy victorie? death where is thy ſting?

56 And the ſting of death, is ſinne: and the power of ſinne is the Law.

57 But thanks be to God that hath giuen vs the victory by our Lord IESVS Chriſt.

58 Therefore my beloued brethren, be ſtable and vnmoueable: abounding in the worke of our Lord alwaies, knowing that your labour is not vaine in our Lord.

55 O death, where is thy ſting? O hell, where is thy victorie?*

56 The ſting of death is ſinne, & the ſtrẽgth of ſinne is the law.

57 But thankes be vnto God, which giueth vs the victorie through our Lord Ieſus Chriſt.

58 Therfore my beloued brethren, be ye ſtedfaſt, vnmoueable, alwaies abounding in the worke of the Lord, for as much as ye know that your labour is not in vaine in the Lord.

Rhem. 1. 3 I deliuered vnto you) This deliuerie in the Latin and greeke importeth tradition, ſo by Tradition did the Apoſtles plant the Church in al truth, before they wrote any thing.

Fulke. 1. The text is plaine, which I maruayle not, if your blind eyes cannot ſee, that S. Paul deliuered the doctrine of Chriſtes death and reſurrection, according to the ſcriptures, he deliue red no vnwritten veritie. Vn written veritie.

Rhem. 2. 10 Void, but I) In him Gods grace is not void, that worketh by his free wil according to the motion and direction of the ſame grace.

Fulke. 2. It hath bene often anſwered, mans will is free from conſtraynt, but not from thraldome vnto ſinne. Therefore I may ſay, with S. Auguſtine. Why doe men preſume ſo much of the poſſibilitie of nature? is wounded, it is maymed, it is vexed, it is loſt, it hath neede of a true confeſſion, and not of a falſe defence. De nat. & grat. Rhem. 3. 15 Falſe witnes of God.) So may we ſay, If the Cath. faith in al points be not true, then our firſt Apoſtles were falſe witneſſes, then hath our Countrie beleeued in vaine al this while, then are al our fathers dead in their ſinnes and periſhed, which (preſuppoſing Chriſt to be God) were the greateſt abſurditie in the world.

Fulke. 3. Our firſt Apoſtles, were the Apoſtles of Chriſt and not of Gregorie. But although Gregorie, and Auguſtine, in all pointes did not teach the true fayth to the Saxons, yet ſeeing they taught the true fayth, in all pointes neceſſary to ſaluation, our Countrey hath not beleeued in vayne, nor all our forfathers are dead in there ſinnes. True Apoſtles Rhem. 5. 44 Spiritual body.) As to become ſpiritual doth not take away the ſubſtance of the body glorified: no more when Chriſtes body is ſaid to be in ſpiritual ſort in the Sacrament, doth it import the abſence of his true body, and ſubſtance.

Fulke. 5. We acknowledge the true body and bloud of Chriſt, to be eaten, and dronke of the worthy receyuer after a ſpiritual maner. But your hereticall deuiſe of the preſence of his body carnally, and corporally in the Sacrament, deſtroyeth the truth and ſubſtance of his naturall body, which though it be now ſince his reſurrection a ſpiritual body, yet it reteyneth all eſſential properties of a true body, and ſo ſhall our bodies after the reſurrection, being made comformable to his glorious body. Phil. 3. 21. not be incircumſcriptible, inſenſible, without quantity, and dimenſion, and extenſion of place, or in many places at once, as you are inforced to affirme the body of Chriſt to be. The real preſence. The body of Chriſt.

He preſcribeth an order for their contributing to the Chriſtians at Hieruſalem, 3 promiſing to come vnto them. Of Timothie and of Apolles comming thither. 13 and ſo with exhortation, and diuers commendations, he endeth.

AND concerning the collections that are made for the ſaincts, as I haue ordained to the churches of Galatia, ſo do ye alſo.

That is Sunday Hieron. 9. 4. Hedibia. So quickly did the Chriſtians kepe Sunday, holiday, and aſſembled, to Diuine Seruice on the ſame.

2 In the firſt of the Sabboth let euery one of you put a part with him ſelfe, laying vp what ſhal wel like him: that not whē I come, then collections be made.

3 And when I ſhal be preſent: whom yov ſhal approue by letters, them will I ſend to carie your grace into Hieruſalem.

4 And if it be worthie that I alſo go, they ſhal goe with me.

5 And I wil come to you, when I ſhall haue paſſed through Macedonia. for I will paſſe through Macedonia.

6 And with you perhaps I will abide, or wil winter alſo: that you may bring me on my way whetherſoeuer I goe.

7 For I wil not now ſee you by the way, for I hope that I ſhall abide with you ſome litle time, if our Lord wil permit.

8 But I wil tary at Epheſus vntil Pentecoſt.

9 For a great doore and euident is opened vnto me: and many aduerſaries.

10 And if Timothee come, ſee that he be without feare with you, for he worketh the worke of our Lord, as alſo I.

11 Let no man therefore deſpiſe him, but conduct ye him in peace: that he may come to me. for I expect him with the brethren:

12 And of brother Apollo I do you to vnderſtand, that I much intreated him, to come vnto you with the brethren: and at all it was not his minde to come nowe, but he wil come when he ſhal haue leiſure.

13 Watch ye, ſtand in the faith, doe manfully, and be ſtrengthened.

14 Let al your things be done in charity.

15 And I beſeeche you brethren, you know the houſe of Stephanas, and of Fortunatus, that they are the firſt fruits of Achaia, and haue ordained them ſelues to the miniſterie of the ſaincts:

16 That you alſo be ſubiect to ſuch, and to euery one that helpeth and laboureth with vs.

17 And I reioice in the preſence of Stephanas and

4 And if it be meete that I goe alſo, they ſhal goe with me.

5 I will come vnto you, after that I ſhal haue gone ouer Macedonia, (For I doe now paſſe thorough Macedonia.)

6 And it may be that I wil abide, yea, or winter with you, that ye may bring me on my way, whither ſoeuer I goe.

7 For I wil not ſee you now in my paſſage, but I truſt to abide a while with you, if the Lord ſuffer me.

8 I will tarry at Epheſus vntill Whitſuntyde. [Or Pentecoſt.

9 For a great doore and effectuall is opened vnto me, and there are many aduerſaries.

10 If Timotheus come, ſee that he may bee without feare with you: for he worketh the worke of the Lord, as I doe.

11 Let no man therefore deſpiſe him, but conuey him forth in peace, that he may come vnto mee: for I looke for him with the brethren.

12 A touching our brother Apollo, I greatly deſired him to come vnto you with the brethren, but his wil was not at all to come at this time: but he wil come when he ſhal haue conuenient time.

13 Watch ye, ſtand ye faſt in the faith, quite you like men, be ſtrong.

14 Let all your thinges bee done with charitie.

15 I beſeech you brethren, (ye know the houſe of Stephana, that it is the firſt fruits of Achaia, and that they haue addicted themſelues to the miniſterie of the ſainctes.)

16 That ye be alſo obedient vnto ſuch, and to all that helpe with vs, and labour.

17 I am glad of the comming of Stephana,

MARGINAL NOTES. CHAP. XVI.

Rhem. 1. Pentecoſt.) The Heretikes and other new fangled ſtriue among them ſelues, whether Pentecoſt ſignifie here the terme of fiftie daies, or elſe the Iewes holy day ſo called. But it commeth not to their mindes that it is moſt like to be the feaſt of Whitſuntide kept and inſtituted euen then by the Apoſtles, as appeareth by the Fathers. See S. Aug. ep. 119. c. 15 & 16. Ambr. in c. 17. Lucæ.

Fulke. 1. That the feaſt of Pentecoſt, was not inſtituted and kept by the Apoſtles, as it was in the later time, it is manifeſt by the diſſention, that aroſe betwene Anicetus and Polycarpus, Victor and the eaſt Churches, about the celebration of Eaſter, for Whitſontyde, followeth the accompt of Eaſter. If the Apoſtles had kept and inſtituted thoſe feaſtes, they ſhould haue bene vniformly kept of al, but there was no certaine order, of keeping theſe feaſtes, before the councel of Carthage 4. C. 65. Neither do Ambroſe or Auguſtine ſay, that theſe feaſtes were inſtituted by the Apoſtles, as they were obſerued afterwarde. By this place, it can no more be proued, that Whitſontide was inſtituted and obſerued by the Apoſtles, then that the feaſt of vnlearned bread, was inſtituted and obſerued by them, of that which is written Act. 20. 6. or the Iewiſh faſt Act. 27. 9. But the matter of feſtiuities, is not ſo great, that we wil ſtriue, one with another for them, as Victor did with the Biſhops of the Eaſt, and was countermaunded by them, and ſharply rebuked hy other Biſhops of the Weſt, for his contention about matters vnneceſſary. Euſeb. lib. 5. C. 25. 26. The feaſt of Pentecoſt.

THE ARGVMENT OF THE SECOND EPISTLE TO THE CORINTHIANS.

Rhem. 1. FOR the time when this Epiſtle was written, looke the Argument of the epiſtle to the Romanes: to wit, about the eighteenth yere after his converſion, and our Lordes paſſion, becauſe in the 11 Chapter he maketh mention of 14 yeres, not onely after his Converſion, as to the Galathians, but alſo after his rapte, which ſeemeth to haue bene when he was at Hieruſalem Act. 9. 26 foure yeres after his Converſion (Gal. 1. 18.) in a traunce or exceſſe of minde, as he calleth it, Act. 22. 17. It was written at Troas (it is thought) and ſent by Titus, as we reade Chap. 8. 1.Cor.11.2. Gal.2.1.

It is for the moſt part againſt thoſe falſe Apoſtles whom in the firſt part of the firſt to the Corinthians, he noted, or rather ſpared, but now is conſtrained to deale openly againſt them, and to defend both his owne perſon which they ſought to bring into contempt, making way thereby to the correption of the Corinthians, and withall to maintaine the excellencie of the Miniſterie and Miniſters of the new Teſtament, about which they did magnifie the Miniſterie of the old Teſtament: bearing them ſelues very high becauſe they were Iewes.

Againſt theſe therefore S. Paul auoucheth the preeminent power of his Miniſterie, by which power alſo he giueth a pardon to the inceſtuous fornicator whom he excommunicated in the laſt Epiſtle, ſeeing now his penance, and againe threatneth to come and excommunicate thoſe that had greeuouſly ſinned and remained impenitent. Two chapters alſo he interpoſeth of the contributions to the Church of Hieruſalem, mentioned in his laſt, exhorting them to doe liberally, and alſo to haue all in a readines againſt his comming.

Fulke. 1. The text is playne, that he conſenteth, that the Church ſhould pardon him, that was excommunicated 2. Cor. 2. 10. Pardon.

THE SECOND EPISTLE OF PAVL TO THE CORINTHIANS.

CHAP. I.

By his troubles in Aſia he conforteth them, and (againſt his aduerſaries the falſe Apoſtles of the Iewes) alledgeth to them the teſtimonie of his owne and alſo of their conſcience. 17 anſwering them that obiected lightnes againſt him, for not comming to Corinth according to his promis.

The tranſlation of Rhemes.

PAVL an Apoſtle of IESVS Chriſt by the wil of God, and Timothee our brother: to the Church of God that is at Corinthe, with all the ſainctes that are in al Achaia.

2 Grace vnto you and peace from God our father, and from our Lord IESVS Chriſt.

3 Bleſſed be the God and father of our Lord IESVS Chriſt, the father of mercies, & God of al comfort.

The Epiſtle for a Martir that is a Biſhop

4 Who comforteth vs in al our tribulation: that we alſo may be able to comfort thē that are in al diſtreſſe, [c] by the exhortation wherewith we alſo are exhorted of God.

[c] διὰ τῆς παρακλήσεως: τῆς παρηγορίας.

5 For as the paſſions of Chriſt abound in vs: ſo alſo by Chriſt doth our cōfort abound.

6 And whether we be in tribulation: for your exhortation and ſaluation, whether we be exhorted, for your exhortation and ſaluation, which worketh the toleration of the ſame paſſions which we alſo do ſuffer.

7 And our hope is firme for you: knowing that as you are partakers of the paſſions, ſo ſhal you be of the conſolation alſo.

8 For we wil not haue you ignorant brethren: concerning our tribulation, which hapened in Aſia, that we were preſſed aboue meaſure aboue our power, ſo that it was tedious vnto vs euen to liue.

9 But we in our ſelues had the anſwer of death: that we be not truſting in our ſelues, but in God who raiſeth vp the dead.

10 Who hath deliuered and doth deliuer vs out of ſo great dangers: in whom we hope that he wil yet alſo deliuer vs.

11 You helping wal in praier for vs, ỳ by many mens perſons, thankes for ỳ gift which is in vs, may be giuē by many in our behalfe.

12 For our glorie is this, the teſtimony of our conſcience, that in ſimplicity & ſincerity of God, & nor in carnal wiſdom, but in the grace of God wee haue conuerſed in this world: and more aboundantly towards you.

13 For we write no other things to you then that you haue read & know. And I hope that you ſhal know vnto the end.

14 As alſo you haue knowen vs in part, ỳ we are your glory, as you alſo ours in the day of our Lord IESVS Chriſt.

14 And

The tranſlation of the Church of England.

PAul an Apoſtle of Ieſus Chriſt, by the wil of God, & brother Timotheus, vnto the church of god, which is at Corinthus, with al the ſainctes which are in al Achaia.

2 Grace be with you, and peace from God the father, and from the Lord Ieſus Chriſt.

*3 Bleſſed be God the father of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt, which is the father of mercies, and the God of al comfort: Ephe.1.3. 1.pet.1.3.

4 Which comforteth vs in al our tribulation, that we may be able to comfort them which are in al maner trouble, with the comfort wherewith we our ſelues are comforted of God.

5 For as the afflictiōs of Chriſt are plenteous in vs: euen ſo is our conſolation plenteous by Chriſt.

6 Whether we be troubled, it is for your conſolation & ſaluation, which ſaluation is wrought by the ſuffering of the ſame afflictions which we alſo ſuffer: or whether we be comforted it is for your conſolation and ſaluation, and our hope of you is ſtedfaſt:

7 Knowing ỳ as ye are partakers of the afflictions, ſo ye ſhalbe partakers alſo of the cōſolation.

8 For we would not, brethrē, haue you ignorāt of our trouble which came vnto vs in Aſia, that we were greued out of meaſure, paſſing ſtrength, in ſo much that we were in great doubt, euen of life.

9 But we receiued the ſentence of death in our ſelues, that we ſhould not put our truſt in our ſelues, but in God, which raiſeth the dead.

10 Who deliuered vs from ſo great a death, and doeth deliuer: in whom we truſt that hereafter alſo he wil deliuer vs.

*11 You alſo helping together by prayer for vs, that for the benefites beſtowed vpon vs by the meanes of many perſons: thankes may be giuen of many on our behalfe. Rom.15.30.

12 For our reioycing is this, the teſtimony of our conſcience, that in ſimplicitie and godly pureneſſe, not with fleſhly wiſedome, but by the grace of God, we haue had our conuerſation in the world, and moſt of al you towards.

13 For we write none other thinges vnto you then that ye read, and alſo that ye acknowledge: and I truſt you ſhal acknowledge vnto the end.

14 Euen as ye haue acknowledge vs partly, that we are your reioycing, euen as ye are ours in the day of the Lord Ieſus.

14 And

15 And in this confidēce I would firſt haue come to you, ỷ you might haue a ſecōd grace:
16 And by you paſſe into Macedonia, & againe from Macedonia come to you, and of you be brought on my way into Iewrie.
17 Whereas then I was thus minded, did I vſe lightnes? Or the things that I mind, doe I minde according to the fleſh, that there be with me, It is and It is not?
18 But God is faithful, becauſe our preaching which was to you, there is not in it, ‖It is, and It is not.
19 For the Sonne of God IESVS Chriſt, who by vs was preached among you, by me and Syluanus and Timothee, was not, It is, and It is not, but It is, was in him.
20 For al the promiſes of God that are, in him It is: therefore alſo by him, Amen to God, vnto our glory.
21 And he that confirmeth vs with you in Chriſt, and that hath anointed vs, God:
22 Who alſo ‖ hath ſealed vs, and giuen the pledge of the Spirit in our hartes.
23 And I call God to witneſſe vpon my ſoule, that ſparing you, I came not any more to Corinth,
24 ‖ Not becauſe we ouerrule your faith: but, we are helpers of your ioy. for in the faith you ſtand.

15 And in this confidence was I minded firſt to haue come vnto you, that ye might haue had ‖ one pleaſure more: ‖ Or, the ſecond time.
16 And to paſſe by you into Macedonia, and to come againe out of Macedonia vnto you, and to be led forth of you into Iurie.
17 When I therefore was thus minded, did I vſe lightneſſe? or mind I carnally thoſe things which I mind, that with me ſhould be yea, yea, and nay, nay?
18 Yet God is faithfull, for our preaching to you, was not yea, and nay.
19 For Gods ſonne Ieſus Chriſt, which was preached among you by vs, euen by me, and Syluanus and Timotheus, was not yea and nay, but in him it was yea.
20 For all the promiſes of God in him are yea, and are in him, Amen, vnto the glory of God through vs.
21 And he which ſtabliſheth vs with you in Chriſt, and hath anointed vs, is God:
22 Which hath alſo ſealed vs, and hath giuen the earneſt of the ſpirit in our hearts.
23 I call God for a record vnto my ſoule, that to ſpare you, I came not as yet vnto Corinthus.
24 Not that we be lordes ouer your faith, but are helpers of your ioy: for by faith ye ſtand.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. I.

Rhem. 1. 5. Paſſions of Chriſt) All the afflictions of the faithful be called Chriſtes owne paſſions, not onely becauſe they be ſuffered for him, but for that there is ſo ſtraite coniunction and communion betwixt him being the head, and euery of the liuing membres of his body, which is the Church, that whatſoeuer is ſuffered by any one of the ſame, is counted as a peece of his owne Paſſion. As likewiſe whatſoeuer good workes be done to any of them or by any of them, be accepted as done to or by Chriſt himſelf. Which thing if the Proteſtants wel weighed, they would not marueil that the Catholike Church attributeth ſuch force of merite and ſatisfaction to the worke of holy men. All our afflictions be Chriſtes afflictions, for the coniunction betwene the head & body. Merite and ſatisfaction.

Fulke. 1. The communion betwene Chriſt & his mēbers being rightly weighed, proueth not ỷ any force of merite or ſatisfaction, is to be attributed to the works of holy men. It only proueth ỷ ſuch works are accepted of God for the righteouſnes of Chriſt, which is imputed to all his mēbers, not that their workes merite, iuſtifie or ſatisfie. Merite. Satisfaction.

Rhem. 2. 5. The comfort abound.) Worldly men that ſee onely the exterior miſeries and afflictions that Catholikes do ſuffer being perſecuted by the Heathen or Heretikes, deeme them exceding miſerable, but if they felt or could conceaue the abundance of conſolation which Chriſt euer giueth according to the meaſure of their affliction, they would neuer wonder at the voluntary toleration of what torments ſoeuer for Chriſtes ſake, but would wiſh rather themſelues to be in any dungeon in England with the comfort that ſuch haue from God, than to liue out of the Church in all the wealth of the world. Worldly men feele not the comfort of afflicted Catholikes.

Fulke. 2. The cauſe and not the puniſhment maketh Martyrs of God, and therfore the Papiſts ſuffering in England for horrible treaſon and rebellion, or for their hereſie, may be brought into a fooles paradiſe, but neuer can haue the true comfort of ſpirit, that Gods children haue, which ſuffer for the trueth, and for righteouſnes. Popiſh martyrs, traitors.

Rhem. 3. 11. You helping in praier.) *S. Paul knew that the helpe of other mens praiers was nothing derogatorie to the office of Chriſtes mediation or interceſſion for him, nor to the hope that he had in God: and therfore he craueth the Corinthians aide herein as a ſupport and ſuccours for him ſelf in the ſight of God. With what reaſon or Scripture then can the Proteſtants ſay that the praiers of Saincts be iniurious to Chriſt, or not to ſtand with the confidence we haue in him? As though it were more diſhonour to God that we ſhould vſe the aide of Saincts in heauen, then of ſinners in earth: * or that the interceſſion of theſe our fellowes beneath, were more auailable then the prayers of thoſe that be in the glorious ſight of God aboue.* Interceſſion of Saincts or holy men for vs, no derogation to Chriſt. Hieron. Vigil.

Fulke. 3. The prayers of the faithful in this life, haue teſtimony & warrant of the ſcripture, & therfore ought of charitie to be deſired, & granted. So haue we not for inuocatiō of ſaincts, which is a ſufficient reaſon, why we ought not to cal vpon thē. And it is iniurious to Chriſt, to make any more mediators in heauen, then Chriſt. For we haue but one mediator (ſaith S. Paul) the man Ieſus Chriſt, whē he ſpeaketh expreſly, of prayers & interceſſiō, 1. Tim. 2. 5. Agayne, they ſtand not with our confidence in Chriſt, ſeeing we cannot cal vpon them, in whō we beleeue not, Rom. 10. 14. And our fayth ought to be only in God by Chriſt, 1. Pet. 1. 21. By prayer to Saincts in heauen, we ſhould aſcribe vnto them, that which is proper to the diuinitie, to know our hartes, & to heare ſo many mens prayers at once. Whether they pray for vs, becauſe the Scripture doth not teach vs, we cannot define, we know the mediation, aduocation, and interceſſion of Chriſt, is ſufficient for vs. Innocation of Saincts.

Rhem. 4. 11 By many mens.) He meaneth, that as the prayers of many ioyned together for him, ſhall be rather heard, then of any alone: ſo their common thanks giuing to God for graunting their requeſt, ſhall be more acceptable and glorious to God, then any one mans thanke alone. Which thing doth much commend the holy Churches publike prayers, proceſſions, ſtations, and pilgrimages, where ſo many meete and vniformely ioyne their prayers and laudes together vnto God. Publike prayers and faſtes.

Fulke 4. The thankeſgiuing of many in the Church, is acceptable to God, but hereof it followeth not, that Idolatrous proceſſions, ſtations and pilgrimage of Papiſts, be acceptable any more, then the like ſolemnities of Paganes and Turkes. Proceſſions, Stations, Pilgrimage.

Rhem. 5. 14 Your glory.) The Apoſtles, teachers and preachers that conuert countries or particular perſons to Chriſt, and the peoples or parties by them converted, ſhal in the day of iudgement haue much mutual ioy and glory of and for each other, one giuing to the other great matter of merite in this life, and of reward in the next. See 1. Theſſ. 2. v. 19. Their glory in heauen that conuert other.

Fulke 5. The trauell of teachers, and the obedience of their hearers, giueth matter of reward, according to Gods merciſull promiſe, but not merite of worke, or reward in reſpect of merite. Merite.

Rhem. 6. 18 It is, it is not.) As he diſcharged him ſelfe of al other leuitie touching his promis or purpoſe of comming to them, ſo much more of al inconſtancie in preaching Chriſtes doctrine and fayth. Wherein, one day to affirme, another day to deny, to diſſent from his fellowes or from himſelfe, to change euery yere or in euery epiſtle the forme of his former teaching, to come daily with new deuiſes repugnant to his owne rules, were not agreeable to an Apoſtle and true teacher of Chriſt, but proper to falſe prophets and Heretikes. Whereof we haue notorious examples in the Proteſtants: who being deſtitute of the ſpirit of peace, concord, conſtancie, vnitie and veritie, as they varie from their owne writings which they retract, reforme or deforme continually, ſo both in their preachings and forme of Seruice, they are ſo reſtles, changeable, and repugnant to themſelues, that if they were not kept in awe with much a do, by temporall lawes or by the ſhame and rebuke of the world, they would coine vs euery yere or euery Parliament, new Communions, new faiths, and new Chriſtes, as you ſee by the manifold endeuours of the Puritans. And this to be the proper note of falſe Apoſtles and Heretikes, See in S. Irenæus, li. 1. c. 18. & Tertul. de præſcript. S. Baſil. ep 82. The Proteſtants inconſtancie in chaſging their writings, tranſlations, ſeruice bookes, &c.

Fulke. 6. They are not voyd of the ſpirit of peace, conſtancie, and veritie, that retract ſome of their writings, in which they perceiue, that they haue declined from the trueth. But ſeeing they confeſſe themſelues to bee men that may be deceiued, they are indued with the ſpirit of humilitie, that retract their owne writings, and ſubmit them to the trueth. So did S. Auguſtine writing ſpeciall bookes of retractations. But concerning the ſubſtance of doctrine neceſſary to ſaluation, God be prayſed, the Proteſtants continue conſtant without any alteration or change. As for ceremonies and formes of ſeruice, they may be changed ſo often as the Church ſhall ſee cauſe. Yet haue we made no great alteration theſe fortie yeares: and therefore our doctrine beyng alwayes the ſame, agreeable to the Scriptures, the note of falſe apoſtles and Heretikes, doth by no meanes agree to vs, but rather to Papiſtes. Who as their doctrine is contrary to the Scriptures, ſo are they driuen daily to inuent new ſhifts of deſcant to couer their ſhame, as their new doctrine of merite of condignitie, of the firſt and ſecond iuſtification, of the ſhedding of Chriſtes blood in the ſacrifice of the Maſſe, and many other like fantaſies, vnknowen or vnallowed of their teachers the Schoole men, beſide the olde controuerſies of the Schoole men themſelues, and of the Diuines and Cannoniſts, among which, that famous Queſtion is not yet decided: whether the Councell be aboue the Pope, or the Pope aboue the Councell. And whether of them cannot erre, to omit your newe Portoiſes, Primars, Callenders, and alteration of the whole courſe of the yeare, whereby it is manifeſt, that in chaunges and alterations you goe farre beyond vs. Conſtancie in faith. Change in forme and ceremonies.

Rhem. 7. 22 Hath ſealed.) The learned Diuines proone by this place, and by the like in the fourth to the Epheſians, that the Sacrament of Baptiſme doth not onely giue grace, but imprinteth and ſealeth the ſoule of the baptized, with a ſpirituall ſigne, marke, badge or token, which can neuer be blotted out, neither by ſinne, hereſie, apoſtaſie, nor other wayes, but remayneth for euer in man for the cogniſance of his Chriſtendome, and for diſtinction from others which were neuer of Chriſtes folde. by which alſo he is as it were conſecrated and deputed to God, made capable and partaker of the rightes of the Church, and ſubiect to her lawes and diſcipline. See S. Hierome in 4. Epheſ. S. Ambroſe lib. 1. de Sp. Sancto, cap. 6. S. Cyrill Hieroſol. Catechel. 17 at the ende, and S. Dionyſius Areopag. cap. 2. Eccl. Hierarch. The which ſheweth expreſſe that ſpirituall ſigne by diuers agreeable names, which the Church and moſt Diuines, after S. Auguſtine, call the character of Baptiſme, by the trueth and force of which ſpirituall note or marke of the ſoule, he ſpecially conuinceth the Donatiſtes, that the ſayd Sacraments though giuen and miniſtred by Heretikes or Schiſmatikes, or who elſo euer, can neuer be reiterated. See ep. 57. & lib. 6. cont. Donatiſt. cap. 1. & lib. 2. cont. Parmenianum cap. 13. As the like indeleble characters giuen alſo by the Sacraments of Confirmation and Orders, do make thoſe alſo irreiterable and neuer to be receiued but once. Whereas all other Sacraments ſauing theſe three, may be often receyued of the ſelfe ſame perſon. And that holy orders cannot be iterated, See S. Auguſtine lib. 2. cont. Parmen. c. 13. li. de bono coniug. c. 24. and S. Gregorie lib. 2. Regiſt. ep. 32. The like of Confirmation is decreed in the moſt ancient Councel Tarracon, cap. 6. Finally that this character is giuen onely by theſe ſayd three Sacraments, and is the cauſe that none of them can be in any man repeated or reiterated, ſee the decrees of the Councels Florentine and Trent. Which yet is no new deuiſe of them, as the Heretikes falſly affirme, but agreeable (as you ſee) both to the Scriptures and alſo to the auncient fathers and Counels. Eph. 4. 30. The indeleble character of Baptiſme, Confirmation, Holy Orders. See Conc. Tarraco. 2. Concil.

Fulke. 7. The Apoſtle ſpeaketh manifeſtly of the ſpirituall and inward ſeale of Gods ſpirite, whereof baptiſme is an outward ſeale in our bodies, and giueth not grace of the worke wrought, for then the baptiſme of heretikes out of the Church ſhould giue the grace of regeneration, before the baptized come into the Church, which is a foule abſurditie. Auguſt. ep. 50. And although the baptiſme of Chriſt is not to be repeated, being giuen in the Church, or out of the Church, yet hauing no vertue but in the Church: yet the popiſh fantaſie of the indeleble character, hath no ground in the Scripture. And it were a monſtrous abſurditie, to hold that hee that hath vterly, maliciouſly, and aduiſedly, renounced Chriſtianitie, blaſphemed Chriſt, and circumciſed himſelfe to be a Iew, or a Mahometiſt, ſhould ſtill reteine this character of baptiſme, as a cogniſance of his Chriſtendome. In deed there is a difference of him from one that was neuer baptized, for his caſe is more damnable and vnrecouerable, Heb. 6. And in that he was once conſecrated to God, and hath not ignorantly The worke wrought. Indeleble character. Apoſtaſie.

nor of infirmitie, but wilfully and maliciouſly reiected his profeſſion, he hath no intereſt in the right of the Church, neither can he be renewed by repentaunce.

S. Hierome in 4. ad Epheſ. doth not referre the ſeale of the ſpirit to baptiſme. In the ſhort Comment. that goeth vnder his name, he ſayth: You haue receyued the ſeale of the holy ghoſt, in the day of your baptiſme you began to haue a new ſeale, but that this ſeale is indeleble, he ſayth not. S. Ambroſe proueth, that we are ſealed not onely in body by the water, but alſo in heart by the holy ghoſt, but that the ſeale of baptiſme by water is indeleble, he ſayth nor, nor any thing to that effect. Cyrillus hath wordes ſounding to the contrary. If thou deſt counterfeit, yet nertheleſſe, men doe baptiſe thee, but the ſpirit doeth not baptiſe thee. But if thou commeſt of fayth, man truly doth miniſter that which may be ſeene, and with all the holy ghoſt doth worke great things inuiſible. Againe, Thou ſhalt receyue armour, terrible to the deuils, which armour if thou ſhalt not caſt away, thou ſhalt haue a ſeale vpon thy ſoule, vnto which the deuill will not come. Dionyſe hath nothing the purpoſe. Thus you delude your Reader commonly with blind quotations.

S. Auguſtine in deed doth rightly conuince the Donatiſtes, that the ſacrament of baptiſme ought not to be reiterated, becauſe it is the ſeale or character of regeneratiō, which being once giuen, by Gods ordinance is not to be repeated, the like he ſayth of ordination. But the generall Councell of Nice, decreed contrary to his opinion, of them that came from the Nouatians, that they ſhould be ordeyned agayne, and ſo continue in the Clergie, Can. 8. Likewiſe of them that were Clerkes among the Paulianiſtes and Cataphyges, if they were found blameleſſe and vnreproueable, that they ſhould be ordained agayne by a biſhop of the Catholike Church. Can. 19. As for confirmation by impoſition of hands, S. Auguſtine doubteth not, but it might be reiterated, becauſe it was no Sacrament, but prayer ouer a man. De baptiſmo cont. Donatiſt. lib. 3. cap. 16. Neither hereof doth follow, nor of any thing that he ſayth, the indeleble character, which a man cannot looſe by any apoſtaſie and wilfull renouncing of Chriſtian religion. For confirmation, you quote the Councell of Tarracon which is of good antiquitie, yet not moſt ancient, for it was holden about 500. yeeres after Chriſt, & yet there is no ſuch matter in the acts of that Councell. Gratian in deed citeth ſuch a decree which is not there to bee found, therefore it is either forged, or els taken out of ſome other Councell of Tarracon of later tyme. And therefore as your conceipt of indeleble character, hath no iote in the Scriptures to maintaine it, ſo hath it no teſtimonie of the ancient fathers and Councels to auow it.

Rhem. 8. 24 Not becauſe we ouerrule.) Caluin and his ſeditious Sectaries with other like which deſpiſe dominion, as S. Iude deſcribeth ſuch, would by this place deliuer themſelues from al yoke of ſpirituall Magiſtrates and Rulers: namely, that they be ſubiect to no man touching their faith, or for the examination and trial of their doctrine, but to God and his word only. And no marueil that the malefactors and rebels of the Church would come to no tribunal but Gods, that ſo they may remaine vnpuniſhed at leaſt during this life. for though the Scriptures plainly condemne their hereſies, yet they could writhe themſelues out by falſe gloſes, conſtructions, corruptions, and denials of the bookes to be Canonical, if there were no Lawes or iudicial ſentence of men to rule and repreſſe them.

The Caluiniſts will be ſubiect to no tribunal in earth, for trial of their religion.

Notwithſtanding then theſe words of S. Paul, whereby onely tyrannical, inſolent, & proud behaulor and indiſcrete rigour of Prelates or Apoſtles towards their flocke is noted, as alſo in the firſt of S. Peter c. 5. (the Greeke word in theſe places, and κλαυριεύτ. in the Goſpel, Mt. 20, 25. Mr. 10, 42. ſignifying lordly and inſolent dominion:) yet he had and exerciſed iuſt rule, preeminence and preiudice euer them, not only for their life, but alſo and principally touching their faith. for he might and did call them to account for the ſame, and excommunicated heretikes for forſaking their faith. 1. Cor. 4, 5. 2. Cor. 10, 4. 13, 10. 1. Tim. 1, 20. Tit. 1, 11. And all Chriſtian men are bound to obey their lawfull Prelates in matters of fayth and doctrine ſpecially, and muſt not vnder that ridiculous pretence of obeying God. word only (which is the ſhift of all other Heretikes, as Anabaptiſts, Arians, and the like, as well as the Proteſtants) diſobey Gods Church, Councels, and their owne Paſtors and Biſhops, who by the Scriptures haue the regiment of their ſoules, & may examine and puniſh as wel Iohn Caluin as Simon Magus. for falling from the Catholike faith. for though God alone be the Lord, author & giuer of fayth, yet they are his co-operators and coadiutors by whom the faithfull do beleeue and be preſerued in the true faith, and be defended from wolues, which be Heretikes ſeeking to corrupt them in the ſame. And this ſame Apoſtle * chale geth to be their father as he that begate and formed them by his preaching in Chriſt.*

Tyrannical dominion is forbid in Prelates, not Eccleſiaſtical Soueraintie for examination of faith or maners.

compol. 1. Cor. 3, 9.

1. Cor. 4, 15.

Fulke. 8. This is nothing els but a lewd and ſenſeleſſe ſlander of Caluin and vs, that we deſpiſe lordſhip, becauſe we wil not be ſubiect to the tyranny of Antichriſt: that would be Lord of our fayth, and arrogateth vnto himſelfe auctoritie, to make new articles of fayth, which haue no ground or warrant in the word of God. But Caluine did willingly acknowledge all auctoritie of the miniſters of the Church, which the Scripture doth allow vnto them, and both practiſed, and ſubmitted himſelfe to the diſcipline of the Church, and the lawfull gouernours thereof, although he would not yeeld vnto the tyrannicall yoke of the Pope, who is neither ſoueraigne of the Church, nor any true member of the ſame. Yea, Caluine and we ſubmit our ſelues, not only to the auctoritie of the Church, but alſo of the Ciuile magiſtrates to be puniſhed, if we ſhal be found to teach or doe any thing contrary to the doctrine of fayth, receyued and approoued by the Church, where as the Popiſh clergy, in cauſes of religion, will not be ſubiect to the temporal gouernors, iudgement, and correction.

CHAP. II.

Proſecuting the true cauſe which in the laſt chapter he gaue of his not comming, 6 he pardoneth now after ſome part of penaunce, him that for inceſt he excommunicated in the laſt epiſtle, requiring them obediently to conſent thereunto. 12 Then, of his going from Troas into Macedonia, God euery where giuing him the triumph.

AND I haue determined with my ſelfe this ſame thing, not to come to you agayne in ſorow.

BVT I determined this in my ſelfe, that I would not come agayne to you in heauineſſe.

2 For

2 For if I make you ſorie: and who is it that can make me glad, but he that is made ſory by me?

3 And this ſame I wrote to you: that I may not, when I come, haue ſorow vpon ſorow, of the which I ought to reioyce: truſting in you all, that my ioy is the ioy of you all.

4 For of much tribulation and anguiſh of hart I wrote to you by many teares: not that you ſhould be made ſory: but that you may know what charitie I haue more aboũdantly toward you.

5 And if any man hath made ſorowfull, not me hath he made ſorowful, but in part, that I burden not al you.

6 To him that is ſuch a one, ‖this rebuke ſufficeth that is giuen of many:

7 So that contrary wiſe you ſhould rather pardon and comfort him, leſt perhaps ſuch an one be ſwallowed vp with ouer great ſorow.

8 For the which cauſe ‖I beſeech you that you confirme charitie toward him.

9 For therfore alſo haue I written that I may know the experiment of you, whether in al things you be ‖ obedient.

10 And whom you haue pardoned any thing, ‖ I alſo. For, my ſelfe alſo that which ᶜI pardoned, if I pardoned any thing, ‖for you ‖ in the perſon of Chriſt, 11 That we be not ‖ circumuented of Satan. for we are not ignoraunt of his cogitations.

12 And when I was come to Troas for the Goſpel of Chriſt, and a doore was opened vnto me in our Lord, 13 I had no reſt in my ſpirit, for that I found not Titus my brother, but bidding thẽ farewel, I went forth into Macedonia.

14 And thanks be to God, who alwayes triumpheth vs in Chriſt IESVS, and manifeſteth the odour of his knowledge by vs in euery place.

15 For we are the good odour of Chriſt vnto God in them that are ſaued, & in them that periſh.

16 To ſome in deed the odour of death vnto death: but to others the odour of life vnto life. And to theſe things who is ſo ſufficient?

17 For we are not as very many, ‖ adulterating the worde of God, but of ſinceritie, and as of God, before God, in Chriſt we ſpeake.

2 For if I make you ſory, who is he that maketh mee glad, but the ſame which is made ſorie by me?

3 And I wrote this ſame vnto you, leſt when I came, I ſhould take heauines of them of whom I ought to reioyce, hauing confidence in you all, that my ioy is the ioy of you all.

4 For in great affliction and anguiſh of heart I wrote vnto you with many teares: not that yee ſhould be made ſory, but that ye might perceiue the loue which I haue moſt aboundantly vnto you.

5 But if any man hath cauſed ſorow, the ſame hath not made me ſory, but partly, leaſt I ſhould ouergrieue you all.

6 It is ſufficient vnto the ſame man that hee was rebuked of many.

7 So that now contrarywiſe ye ought rather to forgiue him, and comfort him, leaſt that ſame perſon ſhould bee ſwallowed vp with ouer much heauineſſe.

8 Wherefore, I pray you, that you would confirme your loue towards him.

9 For to this ende alſo did I write, that I might know the proofe of you, whether ye be obedient in all things.

10 To whom ye forgiue any thing, I forgiue alſo: For if I forgaue any thing, to whom I forgaue it, for your ſakes forgaue I it in the ſight of Chriſt, 11 Leaſt we ſhould be circumuented of Satan: for we are not ignorant of his deuiſes.

12 Furthermore, when I came to Troada, to preach Chriſtes Goſpell, and a doore was opened vnto me of the Lord,

13 I had no reſt in my ſpirit, becauſe I found not Titus my brother, but when I had taken my leaue of them, I went away into Macedonia.

14 Now thankes bee vnto God, which alwayes cauſeth vs to triumph in Chriſt, and openeth the ſauour of his knowledge by vs in euery place.

15 For we are vnto God the ſweete ſauour of Chriſt in them that are ſaued, & in them which periſh.

16 To the one are we *the ſauour of death, vnto death: and vnto the other, the ſauour of life, vnto life: * And who is meete vnto theſe things?* Rom.11.16.

17 For we are not as many are, which chop and change with the word of God: but as of pureneſſe, but as of God in the ſight of God, ſpeake we ‖ in Chriſt. ‖Or, of Chriſt.

MARGINAL NOTES. CHAP. II.

Rhem. 1. 10. I pardoned.) Κεχάρισμαι. Though he did great Penance (ſaith Theodoret) yet he calleth this pardoning, χάριν, a grace, becauſe his ſinne was greater then his penance.

Fulke. 1. Theodorets words be theſe: Saying more abundant ſorrow, he ſheweth that his repentance was great, yet he calleth the remiſſion grace, ſhewing that his ſinne was greater then his repentance.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. II.

Rhem. 2. 6. This rebuke ſufficeth.) This Corinthian for inceſt was excommunicated and put to penance by the Apoſtle, as appeareth in the former Epiſt. c. 5. And here order is giuen for his abſolution and pardoning. Wherein firſt we haue a plaine example and proofe of the Apoſtolike power, there of binding, and here of looſing: there of puniſhing, here of pardoning: there of retaining ſinnes, here of remiſſion. Secondly we may hereby proue that not onely amendment, ceaſing to ſinne, or repentance in hart and before God alone, is alwaies ynough to obtaine full reconcilement, whereas we ſee here his ſeparation alſo from the faithful, and the Sacraments, and from all companie or dealing with other Chriſtian men, beſides other bodily affliction: all which called of the Apoſtle before interitus carnis, the deſtruction of the fleſh, and named here Rebuke, *or (as the * Greeke word alſo importeth) mulct, penaltie, correction, chaſtiſement, were enioyned him by the Apoſtles commaundement in the face of the Church, and by the offender patiently ſuſteined ſo long. Thirdly we ſee that it lieth in the handes of the Apoſtles, Biſhops, and ſpiritual Magiſtrates, to meaſure the time of ſuch penance or diſcipline, not onely according to the weighe of the offence committed, but alſo according to the weaknes of the perſons puniſhed, and other reſpectes of time and place, as to their wiſedom ſhal be thought moſt agreable to the parties good, and the Churches edification. Laſtly by this whole handling of the offenders caſe, we may refute the wicked hereſie of the Proteſtants, that would make the ſimple beleeue, no puniſhment of a mans owne perſon for ſinnes committed, nor penance enioyned by the Church, nor any paines temporall or ſatisfaction for our life paſt, to be neceſſarie, but al ſuch things to be ſuperfluous, becauſe Chriſt hath ſatisfied ynough for all. Which Epicurian doctrine is refelled, not onely hereby, but alſo by the Prophets, Iohn the Baptiſte, Chriſtes, and the Apoſtles preaching of penance and condigne workes or fruites of repentance, to euery man in his owne perſon, and not in Chriſtes perſon onely: and by the whole life and moſt plaine ſpeaches and penitential canons of the holy doctors and Councels preſcribing times of penance, commending penance, enioyning penance, and continually vſing the word ſatisfaction in this caſe throughout al their workes, as our Aduerſaries them ſelues can not but confeſſe.*

The Apoſtle excommunicateth, enioyneth penance: and afterward pardoneth & abſoluеth. 1. Cor. 3. 5. παραδοῦναι.

Pardon or remiſſion of penance enioyned.

Penance and ſatisfaction euidently proued againſt the Proteſtants. Ioel. 2. 12. Mt. 3. & 4. Act. 2. & 26.

Fulke. 2. This Corinthian was excommunicated vntill his repentance ſhould appeare, which when it was ſufficientlie declared to the ſatisfaction of the Church, the Apoſtle taketh order for his abſolution and reſtitution, reuerſing the band of excommunication wherein he ſtood bound. And this in deede is a plaine example of the power of the Apoſtles and of the church, in binding and looſing, reteining and remitting of ſinne, which is puniſhing and pardoning, according to the diſcipline of the Church. We acknowledge alſo, that in ſuch open and notorious ſinnes, whereby the Church is offended, inward repentance is not ſufficient for reconcilement, but after ſharpe diſcipline, the penitent muſt in outward behauiour of ſorrow and humble confeſſion, make ſome peece of ſatisfaction to the Church. For bodily puniſhment or pecuniarie mulct, whereby you ſet the diſcipline of the Church to ſale, it may be laid on by the diſcretion of the Chriſtian magiſtrate, but it is not proper to the diſcipline of the Church, neither can it be gathered by the word νουθεσία, which ſignifieth rebuke, reprehenſion, chiding, &c. as the text is plaine.

Satisfaction of the church.

Thirdly, we acknowledge that the gouernours of the Church are to meaſure the time of correction, as it may be moſt agreeable to the parties good, and the Churches edification. But your laſt collection of the whole handling of this offenders caſe is an impudent and malicious ſlander of the Proteſtants, that all eccleſiaſticall diſcipline is ſuperfluous, becauſe Chriſt hath ſatisfied enough for all. We affirme in deede, that no puniſhment laid vpon any mans perſon, either by himſelfe, or by the Church, is any ſatisfaction to the iuſtice of God for his ſinnes, becauſe Chriſt onely hath and was able to make ſuch ſatisfaction: yet temporall puniſhment for chaſtiſement, eccleſiaſticall diſcipline, for ſatisfaction of the Church, and amendment of open offenders are neceſſarie by the ordinance of Gods word, and in our Church are practiſed by vs.

Slander.

Satisfaction to God.

The doctrine of the Prophets, Iohn Baptiſt, Chriſt, and the Apoſtles, of repentance to be ſhewed by euery man in his owne perſon, we acknowledge: but not to ſatisfie the iuſtice of God, which was performed onely by Ieſus Chriſt, who in his owne perſon hath purged vs from our ſinnes, and is ſet downe at the right hand of magnificence in the higheſt, Heb. 1. 3. and from thence ſhall come to iudge all them, that vnder hypocriticall colour, goe about to derogate from the glorie of his perfect redemption.

That which the ancient fathers and councels doe ſpeake and preſcribe of times of repentance, and enioyning of penance, perteineth to the diſcipline of the Church, which we acknowledge. And the word ſatisfaction which they vſe, ſignifieth the performance of the ſame to the ſatisfaction of the Church, and not to the iuſtice of God: as though all puniſhment due for our ſinnes were not ſatisfied by Chriſt, who was ſmitten for our ſinnes, and wounded for our tranſgreſſions, and by whoſe ſtripes we are healed. Eſa. 53. 1. Pet. 2. 24.

I beſeech you.) They which at the beginning did beare ſo much with the offender, and ſeemed loth to haue him excommunicated in ſo auſtere maner: yet through their obedience to the Apoſtle became on the other ſide ſo vigorous, and ſo farre diſlyked the malefactor after he was excommunicated, that the Apoſtle now meaning to abſolue him, was glad to intreat and commaund them alſo to accept him to their companie and grace againe.

Zeale againſt the excommunicate.

Rhem. 3. 9. Obedient.) Though in the laſt chapter he diſcharged him ſelf of tyrannical dominion ouer them, yet he chalengeth their obedience in al things as their Paſtor and Superior, and conſequently in this point of receiuing to mercie the penitent Corinthian. Wherby we ſee, that as the power and authoritie of excommunicating, ſo of abſoluing alſo was in S. Paules perſon, though both were to be done in the face of the Church: els he would not haue commaunded or required their obedience.

The Apoſtle chalengeth their obedience to his Eccleſiaſtical authoritie.

Fulke. 3. The Apoſtle chalengeth their obedience in all things that were agreeable to the commandement of God, and not abſolutely in any thing that he ſhould command of his owne will. For if I my ſelfe (ſaith he) preach an other goſpell, let me be holden accurſed. Gal. 1. Obedience.

Rhem. 4. 10. I alſo.) The Heretikes and others not well founded in the Scriptures and antiquitie, maruel at the Popes pardons, counting them either fruitles or vnlawful or no elder then S. Gregorie. But in deede the authoritie, power, and right of them is of Chriſtes owne word and commiſſion, principally giuen to Peter, and ſo afterward to al the Apoſtles, and in their perſons to al the cheefe Paſtors of the Church, when it was ſaid, Whatſoeuer you looſe in earth, ſhal be looſed in heauen. By which commiſſion the holy Biſhops of old did cut of large peeces of penaunce enioyned to offenders, and gaue peace, grace, or indulgence, before they had accompliſhed the meaſure of their appointed or deſerued puniſhments, and thus is to giue pardon. And ſo S. Paul here did towardes the Corinthian, whom he aſſiſted of more grace and mercie, as the word* donare or condonare doth ſignifie, when he might longer haue kept him in penaunce and temporall affliction for his offence. Whereof though he had already before God inwardly repented, yet was he iuſtly holden vnder this correction for ſome ſatisfaction of his fault paſt, during the Apoſtles pleaſure. To remit then the temporal puniſhment or chaſtiſement due to ſinners after the offence it ſelf and the guilt therof be forgiuen of God, is an Indulgence or pardon. which the principal Magiſtrates of Gods Church by Chriſtes warrant and the Apoſtles example, haue euer done, being no leſſe authoriſed to pardon then to puniſh, and by imitation of our Maiſter (who forgaue the aduoutereſſe and diuers other offenders, not only their ſinnes, but alſo often the temporal puniſhments due for the ſame) are as much giuen to mercie as to iuſtice* The authoritie of Indulgences whereupon it is grounded. Mat. 18. 18. Cypria. ep. 13. 14. 15. * χαίρομαι. See Theodoret in hunc loc. What is a pardon or indulgence. Io. 8, 11.

Fulke. 4. Al men may worthily maruell at the high pride of Antichriſt, that preſumeth by his bulles to giue pardons of ſo many thouſands yeeres, or els plenarie for all ſinnes a pœna & culpa both from the paine and the fault, which is not ſo ancient as S. Gregories time by many hundred yeeres. For the firſt inſtiuutor of lubely pardons was Boniface the eighth, Anno 1300. And not long after, the councell of Vienna, found may abuſes in pardoners, & made orders for them which tooke little place, becauſe their occupation was ſo greatly for the popes profit. But becauſe you goe about to eſtabliſh them by auctoritie of ſcripture: firſt it is manifeſt that the auctoritie of binding and looſing, remitting and reteining of ſinnes, perteineth generallie to all the apoſtles alike, and to euery paſtor in his cure: And therefore Allen himſelfe confeſſeth, that the pope hath no more power to remit ſinnes then euery ſimple prieſt. Yea we attribute a great deal more power (ſaith he) to any ſimple and baſe prieſt in this caſe, and by the force of the ſacrament of penance, then we doe to the higheſt pope or patriarch in the world out of the ſacrament in his booke of pardons. cap 2. Secondly, concerning the power of binding and looſing in diſcipline, we acknowledge that the church hath power to releaſe or remit and pardon ſuch exerciſe of humiliation and penance, as is appointed by the ſame, for triall of the repentance of notorious offenders. So did Cyprian and the churches of Affrica with him, when they ſaw it moſt conuenient for the edifying of the church, and confirming of the parties to endure perſecution that was at hand. But this maketh nothing for the popes pardons that are bought and ſolde for money, beſide his vſurpation of pardoning not onely the penalties, but alſo the ſinnes, as I haue proued ſufficiently againſt Allen in my confutation of his booke before named. But where you ſay S. Paule might longer haue kept this offender in temporall puniſhment, when his repentance was ſufficiently prooued and declared, you ſpeake beſide the booke. As alſo, when you ſay (he was iuſtly holden vnder correction for ſome ſatisfaction of his fault paſt during the apoſtles pleaſure) you would aſcribe vnto him a tyrannicall power, from which he was moſt free, to holde men in puniſhment during his pleaſure. But he acknowledgeth that his power was to edifie, and not to deſtroy, and therfore fearing leaſt he ſhould be preuented by Satan, to the deſtruction of him whom he deſired to ſaue, he ſheweth that it is high time to reconcile the offender: and ſaith this rebuke is ſufficient that was giuen of many, therefore the church ought to be ſatisfied therwith. Wherfore heere is not properly any pardon of longer time appointed, but releaſe and looſing of the cenſure and bond of excommunication. Yet you will ſay that the apoſtle for his pleaſure, notwithſtanding any doubt of Satans preuention, notwithſtanding this rebuke was ſufficient, might ſtill haue kept him in temporall affliction, which were as great tyranny as any could be. As for ſatisfaction to Gods iuſtice for his fault paſt, the ſcripture knoweth no ſuch, neither doth Theodoret once mention any ſuch matter, but rather the contrarie, as appeareth by his words vpon the firſt verſe, which I haue ſet downe ſect. 1. He ſheweth that his repentance (though it were great) was no ſatisfaction to God, ſeeing his reconciliation which was in the name of God, is called grace, which muſt be free & without all reſpect of merit or ſatisfaction. Therfore a Chriſtian indulgence and pardon is not a remiſſion and pardon of temporall puniſhment due to the iuſtice of God for ſinnes by God forgiuen: but either a declaration and aſſurance of Gods remiſſion of ſinnes, moſt freely for Chriſtes ſake, to all them that are truly penitent: or els a releaſe of the cenſure of the church to them that haue ſhewed tokens of repentance and ſorrow for their ſinnes, ſufficient for the ſatisfaction of the church, that by the euill example was offended. As for ſickneſſe & other temporall ſcourges, wherewith God chaſtiſeth his children for their reformation, and not for ſatisfying of his iuſtice: all the popes pardons that euer were, are not able to releaſe one fitte of an ague, much leſſe any thing due to Gods iuſtice not ſatisfied by Chriſt. Where you ſay Chriſt forgaue the adultereſſe, not only her ſinnes, but alſo temporall puniſhment due for the ſame: firſt it is vnfitly gathered that he forgaue the puniſhment due by the law for adulterie, becauſe he did not condemne her, being not appointed to execute ſuch ciuill and temporall puniſhment. He forgaue the theefe vpon the croſſe, but he did not deliuer him from execution. Secondlie, it is fondly collected of that extraordinarie example, what the ſeruants of Chriſt muſt doe, or may doe at their pleaſure, hauing a rule whom to caſt out, and whom to receiue, whoſe ſinnes to binde, and whoſe to looſe. Pardons. Libelles. Satisfaction.

Rhem. 5. 10. For you.) Theodoret vpon this place ſaith that the Apoſtle gaue this pardon to the Corinthian at the interceſſion of the bleſſed men Timothee and Titus. And we may read in ſundrie places, of S. Cyprian namely, that Indulgences or remiſſions were giuen in the primitiue Church by the mediation of holy Confeſſors or Martyrs, and by communicating the ſatisfactorie workes of one to an other, to which end they gaue their letters to Biſhops in the behalfe of diuers their Chriſtian brethren, a thing moſt agreable to the mutual entercourſe that is betweene the members of Chriſtes myſtical body, and very anſwerable Indulgences or pardons in the primitiue Church. Cypr. locis citatis.

*ſwerable to Gods iuſtice, * which by ſupply of the one ſort that abounderh, ſtandeth entire in reſpect of the other ſort alſo that wanteth. In which kinde the Apoſtle confeſſeth that him ſelfe by his ſuffering and tribulations, ſupplieth the wantes of ſuch paſſions as Chriſt hath to ſuffer, not in his owne perſon, but in his body, which is his Church. Whereupon we inferre moſt aſſuredly, that the ſatisfactorie and penal workes of holy Sainctes ſuffered in this life, be communicable and applicable to the vſe of other faithfull men their fellow-members in our Lord, and to be diſpenſed according to euery ones neceſſitie and deſiring, by them whom Chriſt hath conſtituted ouer his familie, and hath made the diſpenſers of his treaſures.* 2.Cor.8. Col.1.24.

Fulke. 5. That remiſſions were granted in the Primitiue church ſometimes at the requeſt of the Confeſſors and Martyrs, it is true, yet ſo, that they were admoniſhed alſo, not to be too pitifull in making ſuch requeſts whereby the rigor of diſcipline without iuſt cauſe might be weakened, as appeareth by Cyprian. Ep. 11. where he writeth to the Martyrs and Confeſſors for the ſame purpoſe. But where you ſay thoſe remiſſions and indulgences were granted by communicating the ſatisfactorie workes of one to another, citing the epiſtles of Cyprian, it is an impudent forgerie, as many other you commit, for there is no ſuch thing in theſe epiſtles. And where you ſay they gaue their letters to that end to Biſhops in the behalfe of diuers their Chriſtian brethren: the trueth is, they gaue their letters of requeſt for the reſtitution of ſuch as had fallen, but not to communicate the ſatisfactorie workes of one to an other. Ancient pardons and remiſſions. Communicating of ſatisfaction and merits.

Cyprian writing to the Martyrs about their letters, ſaith: Whereas you directed your letters vnto me, in which you required that your deſires might be examined, and that peace might be giuen to certeine that had fallen, when after the perſecution ſhould be ended, we ſhould begin to be gathered together againe with the Clergie, they contrarie to the Law of the Goſpell, and alſo contrary to your honourable petition before repentance performed, before confeſſion made of a moſt grieuous & extreme offence, before hand was laid on by the biſhop & the clergie vnto repentance, were bold to offer peace to them that were fallen, and to giue them the Euchariſtie, that is, to prophane the holy body of our Lord. Ep. 11. You ſee plainelie their letters were of petition and deſire, and not of communicating their ſatisfactorie workes. Or if you will needes ſay, without warrant, they were of communicating their ſatisfactorie works, you cannot be ignorant what Cyprian writeth of theſe letters in Ep. 15. which you cite: that without diſcretion and examination of euery perſon, thouſands of letters were dayly giuen contrary to the law of the goſpell, by the Martyrs and Confeſſors which were corrupted and drawen to giue them by the ambitious and importunate intreatie of ſuch as had polluted themſelues with wicked ſacrifices. That ſuch communication of ſatisfactorie works is agreeable to the intercourſe of Chriſtes members, and the iuſtice of God, you cite 2. Corinth 8. Where the apoſtle ſpeaketh of the mutuall communication of Gods graces and gifts, not of ſatisfactory works, as we ſhall declare more at large when we come to that text and your note vpon it. But where the apoſtle confeſſeth the want of ſuch paſſions as Chriſt had to ſuffer in his members, he is farre from that blaſphemie that Chriſt ſhould want the ſatisfactorie workes of his ſeruants to ſupply the want of his paſſion. And therefore you can neuer in any lawfull forme of argument inferre either that any works of men are ſatisfactorie to Gods iuſtice, or that they are communicable or applicable to others, or that the pope or any other hath the diſpenſing or application of them. Make your ſyllogiſmes when you dare, you blaſphemous heretiks, and the world ſhall ſee how aſſuredlie you inferre theſe things.

Rhem. 6. 10 In the perſon of Chriſt.) For that many might of ignorance or pride reproue the practiſe of Gods Church and her Officers, or deny the Apoſtles authoritie to be ſo great ouer mens ſoules as to puniſh and pardon in this ſort, S. Paul doth purpoſely and preciſely tell them that he doth giue pardon as Chriſtes Vicar, or as bearing his perſon in this caſe: and therfore that no man may maruel of his power herein, except he thinke that Chriſtes power, authoritie and commiſſion is not ſufficient to releaſe temporal puniſhments due to ſinners. And this to be the proper meaning of theſe wordes, In the perſon of Chriſt, and not as the Proteſtants would haue it (the better to auoyd the former concluſion of the Apoſtles giuing indulgence) In the face or ſight of Chriſt, you may eaſily vnderſtand by the Apoſtles like inſinuation of Chriſtes power, when he committed this offender to Satan, affirming that he gaue that ſentence in the name and with the vertue or power of our Lord IESVS CHRIST. In all which caſes the Proteſtants blindnes is exceeding great, who cannot ſee that this is not the way to extoll Chriſtes power, to deny it to his Prieſts, ſeeing the Apoſtle chalengeth it by that that Chriſt hath ſuch power, and thus himſelfe doth it in his name, vertue, and perſon. So now in this, and in no other name, giue Popes and Biſhops their pardons. Which pertaining properly to releaſing only of temporall puniſhment due after the ſinne & the eternall puniſhment be forgiuen, is not ſo great a matter as the remiſſion of the ſame it ſelfe: which yet the Prieſt by expreſſe commiſſion doe alſo remit.* Al pardon and remiſſion is in the vertue and name of Chriſt. ἐν προσώπῳ χριστοῦ. 1.Cor.5.4. Heretical tranſlation.

Fulke. 6. It is well that you confeſſe that Chriſt hath more vicars in earth then S. Peter and his ſucceſſors. But as for our tranſlation, the circumſtance of the text doth rather require that the apoſtle did pardon, not of any priuate corrupt affection, but ſincerely in the ſight of Chriſt: yet doe we neither condemne your tranſlation, nor miſlike the ſenſe. That the miniſters in the perſon of Chriſt doe binde and looſe, remit and reteine ſinnes. But that our tranſlation is not heretical, the ancient fathers doe teſtifie which approue it. Theodoret expounding theſe words, ſaith: I doe this (ſaith he) Chriſt beholding and ratifying that which is done. Chryſoſtome ſaith in 2. Corinth. hom. 3. What is in the face of Chriſt? either after God, or vnto the glorie of Chriſt. Oecumenius vpon this place ſaith: Doing this according to Chriſt, and doing this as it were in the ſight of Chriſt, or vnto the glory of Chriſt, that his name and perſon may be glorified, ſeeing the benignitie of his diſciples is the glorie of Chriſt. Theſe fathers of the Greeke church were as like to vnderſtand the Greeke phraſe as any other, at leſt wiſe they diſcharge vs of hereticall tranſlation. That Popes pardons releaſe not onely temporall puniſhment, you ſhall be conuicted by the Popes pardons themſelues. Pope Boniface the eigth in his grand and firſt Jubiley pardon that euer was granted, doth grant, Non ſolum plenam &c. Not only full and large pardon, but a moſt full pardon of all their ſinnes. And many other pardons doe teſtifie that the Pope doth grant pardon not onely of many thouſand yeeres and lents of penance, but alſo remiſſion of the ſeuenth parr, or the third part of all their ſinnes, yea the full remiſſion of all their ſinnes. As is to be ſeene in a printed pardon granted by Pope Leo the tenth Anno 1513. to the hoſpitall of S. Spiritus in ſaxia almæ vrbis. In whoſe name he preſumeth thoſe things it is not materiall, but who gaue him the auctoritie. As for the power to remit all ſinnes granted to euery prieſt, by Alkens confeſſion, pertaineth nothing to the Popes pardons. Chriſtes vicars. Cauillings. Popiſh pardons.

Rhem. 7. 11. Circumuented of Satan.) We may ſee hereby, that the diſpenſation of ſuch diſcipline, and the releaſing of the ſame, be put into the power and handes of Gods miniſters, to deale more or leſſe rigorouſly, to pardon ſooner or later, puniſh longer or ſhorter while, as ſhal be thought beſt to their wiſdom. For the end of al ſuch correction or pardoning muſt be the ſaluation of the parties ſoul, as the Apoſtle noted 1. Cor 5, 5. Which to ſome, and ſome certaine times, may be better procured by rigour of diſcipline then by indulgence, to ſome others, by lenitie and humane dealing (ſo pardoning of penance is called in old Councels) rather then by ouermuch chaſtiſement. For conſideration whereof, in ſome ages of the Church, much diſcipline, great penance and ſatisfaction was both enioyned and alſo willingly ſuſteined, and then was the leſſe pardoning and fewer indulgences, becauſe in that voluntary vſe and acceptation of puniſhment, and great zeale and feruor of ſpirit, euery man fulfilled his penance, and few asked pardon. Now in the fall of deuotion and lothſomnes that men commonly haue to do great penance, though the ſinnes be far greater then euer before, yet our holy mother the Church knowing with the Apoſtle the cogitations of Satan, how he would in this delicate time, driue men either to deſperation, or to forſake Chriſt and his Church and all hope of ſaluation, rather then they would enter into the courſe of canonicall diſcipline, enioyneth ſmall penance, and ſeldom vſeth extremitie with offenders as the holy Biſhops of the primitiue Church did, but condeſcending to the weakneſs of her children, pardoneth exceeding often and much, not onely all enioyned penance, but alſo al or great part of what puniſhment temporal ſo euer due or deſerued, either in this world or in the next. As for the Heretikes which rather like the Churches lenitie and pardoning in theſe daies, nor the old rigor of the primitiue Church, they be like to the Iewes that condemned Iohn the Baptiſt of auſteritie, and Chriſt of to much freedom and libertie: not knowing nor liking in deede either Chriſtes ordinance and commiſſion in binding or loſing, or his prouidence in the gouernement of the Church.*

All binding & looſing muſt be vſed to the parties ſaluation.

Conc. Nic. can. 12. Ancyran. can. 2. & 5.

The great penance of the primitiue Church.

Why more pardons and Indulgences now then in old time.

Mat. 11. 18.

Fulke. 7. By the circumſtance of the text it is manifeſt, that the earneſt and heartie repentance of the partie bound, being ſufficiently knowne, is the cauſe that ſhould moue the Church to releaſe the bond of excommunication. So decreeth the councell of Nice. Can. 11. That chiefly their minde and fruites of repentance muſt be obſerued, and they that ſhew their repentance, not only in wordes, but alſo in truth, the biſhop is appointed to deale more gently with them, then that they ſhould tarie the time of triall inioyned them. So by the ſecond Can. of the Ancyran councell, the biſhop being priuie to the labour, humilitie, and mildneſſe of ſuch Deacons as had fallen in perſecution, may remit ſomewhat of the ſeueritie of the diſcipline toward them. In the firſt Canon it is ſaid: That the biſhop muſt haue his libertie, that conſidering the converſation of euery one of them that had eaten in the idols temples, he appoint vnto them a forme and rule of converſation, that is, that he deale more gently, appointing to ſome according to the manner of their life, a ſhorter time of repentance, to other a longer, as ſhall be neceſſarie for their correction: and let their former converſation, and their later of all theſe to be conſidered, and let the gentleneſſe of the prieſt moderate it ſelfe a'outs them. By theſe Canons it appeareth, that the heartie repentance and ſpeedie reformation of the offenders is the onely cauſe that ſhould moouе them to deale more gently, and to grant remiſſion.

Chriſtian abſolution and pardon.

Therefore the practiſe of the popiſh church is prepoſterous, and contrary to the ancient diſcipline of the church, which confeſſing the ſinnes of this time to be farre greater, with the fall of deuotion, and lothſomneſſe that men commonly haue to doe great penance, is ſo free of her pardons in this time to all that will pay for them, and ſometime offereth them when no man will deſire them, nor pay for them. Whereas the generall councell of Nice decreed, that they which made no great accompt of their ſinne, and thought it ſufficient for them that they came into the church, ſhould in any wiſe fulfill the times appointed, and not be receiued except it were at their death. Can. 11. & 12. It is not therfore the wiſdome of the popiſh church, but the couetouſneſſe of the pope, that in latter daies hath granted ſuch monſtrous pardons for thouſands and hundred thouſands of yeers, and leuts, beſide full remiſſion of all ſinnes. Whoſe inſatiable ſymonie, ſeeing the popiſh church approueth ſhe ſheweth her ſelfe to be rather a baud vnto ſinne, then a fauorable mother, who if ſhe ſpare the rodde, by Salomons iudgement, hateth her children. But all this gloſſe is nothing els but a ſhameleſſe ſhift to colour the pride, couetouſneſſe, and tyranny of Antichriſt, who if he were a biſhop, as he is a biteſheepe, ſhould not arrogate more auctoritie in pardoning then his fellow biſhops. But he limiting them to their fortie daies pardons, is lauiſh himſelfe of his tenne thouſands of yeeres, by what ſcripture? by what example of the primitiue church doth he either reſtraine them, or grant ſuch libertie to himſelfe? ſeeing it was ſaid to all apoſtles of the diſcipline of the church, whatſoeuer you ſhall binde or looſe, ſhall be bound & looſed in heauen. Mat. 18. As for our allowing of ancient rigor, or preſent lenitie, it is according to the ſcripture, and the practiſe of the Primitiue church, whatſoeuer you falſlie auow to the contrary. For that moderation muſt be obſerued, that neither men by too much remiſſion be emboldened to ſinne, nor by ouermuch ſeueritie be ſwallowed vp of ſorrow, and ſo become a pray for the deuill. But of pardons, who would require at my handes a larger diſcourſe, I remit him to my confutation of Allens booke of pardons.

4 And ſuch confidence we haue by Chriſt to God:

5 Not that we be ſufficient to thinke any thing ‖ of our ſelues, as of our ſelues: but our ſufficiencie is of God.

6 Who alſo hath made vs meete miniſters of the new Teſtament: not in the letter, but in the Spirit. For ‖ the letter killeth: but the Spirit quickeneth.

7 And if the miniſtration of death with letters figured in ſtones, was in glorie, ſo that the children of Iſraël could not behold the face of Moyſes, for the glorie of his countenance, that is made voide:

8 How ſhal not the miniſtration of the Spirit be more in glorie?

9 For if the miniſtration of damnation be in glorie: ‖ much more the miniſterie of iuſtice aboundeth in glorie.

10 For neither was it glorified, which in this part was glorious, by reaſon of the excelling glorie.

11 For if that which is made void, is by glorie: much more that which abideth, is in glorie.

12 Hauing therfore ſuch hope, we vſe much confidence:

Exo.34,33. 13 And not * as Moyſes put a vele vpon his face, that the children of Iſraël might not behold his face, which is made voide,

14 But their ſenſes were dulled. For vntil this preſent day, ‖ the ſelf ſame vele in the lecture of the old teſtament remaineth vnreuealed (becauſe in Chriſt it is made voide)

15 But vntil this preſent day, when Moyſes is read, a vele is put vpon their hart.

16 But when he ſhal be conuerted to our Lord, the vele ſhal be taken away.

Io.4,14. 17 And * our Lord is a Spirit. And where the Spirit of our Lord is, there is ‖ libertie.

18 But we al, beholding the glorie of our Lord

DO we begin to commend our ſelues againe? Or neede we, as ſome other, Epiſtles of commendation vnto you? or letters of commendation from you?

2 Ye are our Epiſtle written in our hearts, † vnderſtoode and read of all men: † Or, knowen.

3 For as much as ye are manifeſtly declared that ye are the Epiſtle of Chriſt miniſtred by vs, written not with inke, but with the ſpirit of the liuing God, not in ſtony tables, but in fleſhy tables of the heart.

4 Such truſt haue we through Chriſt to Godward.

5 Not that we are ſufficient of our ſelues, to thinke any thing, as of our ſelues: but our ſufficiencie is of God:

6 Which hath made vs able miniſters of the new teſtament, not of the letter, but of the ſpirit: for the letter killeth, but the ſpirit giueth life.

7 But if the miniſtration of death in letters figured in ſtones, was with glory, ſo that the children of Iſrael could not ſtedfaſtly behold the face of Moſes, for the glory of his countenance, which glory is done away:

8 How ſhall not the miniſtration of the ſpirit be much more in glory?

9 For if the miniſtration of condemnation be glorie: much more doeth the miniſtration of righteouſneſſe exceede in glory.

10 For euen that which was glorified, was not glorified in this behalfe, becauſe of the exceeding glory.

11 For if that which is put away was glorious: much more that which remaineth, is glorious.

12 Seeing then that we haue ſuch hope, we vſe great boldneſſe of ſpeech:

13 And not as Moſes, which put a vaile ouer his face, that the children of Iſrael ſhould not ſtedfaſtly looke into the ende of that which is aboliſhed.

14 But their mindes were † blinded: for vntill this day remaineth the ſame vaile vntaken away in the reading of the old teſtament, which vaile is put away in Chriſt. † Or, hardened.

15 But euen vnto this day when Moſes is read, the vaile is laid vpon their heart.

16 Neuertheleſſe, when it ſhall turne to the Lord, the vaile ſhall be taken away.

*17 * The Lord is the ſpirit: and where the ſpirit of the Lord is, there is libertie.* Iohn 4.24.

18 But we all beholding as in a myrrour,

Lord with face reuealed, are transformed into the ſame image from glorie vnto glorie, as of our Lordes Spirit.

the glory of the Lorde, with his face open, are changed vnto the ſame image from glory to glory, euen as of the ſpirite of the Lord.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. III.

Rhem. 1. 3. The Epiſtle of Chriſt.) S. Paul and other holy writers of Scriptures did ſet downe many things in writing, by penne, inke, and paper, al which be of the Holy Ghoſt: but the ſpecial and proper booke of Chriſtes truth and Goſpel, is not the external writing in thoſe dead creatures, but in the hartes of the faithful, being the proper ſubiectle of theſe truthes and graces preached in the new Teſtament, and the habitacle of the Holy Ghoſt. In the which booke of faithful mens hartes S. Paul wrote diuers thinges not vttered in any Epiſtle: as ſundry of the Apoſtles wrote the Chriſtian religion in the hartes of their hearers onely, and in other material bookes not at al. Whereof S. Irenæus li. 3. c. 4. ſaith, What and if the Apoſtles alſo had left no Scriptures, ought we not to folow the order of the tradition, which they deliuered vnto them to whom they committed the Churches? to the which ordinance many nations of thoſe barbarous people that haue beleeued in Chriſt, do conſent, without letter or inke, hauing ſaluation written in their hartes, and keeping diligently the tradition of the elders. And S. Hierom, (cont. Io. Hieroſ c. 9. ad Pam.) In the Creede of our faith and hope, which being deliuered by tradition from the Apoſtles, is not written in paper and inke, but in the tables carnal of the hart. And this is the Churches booke alſo, wherein ſhe keepeth faithfully al truth written in the hartes of thoſe to whom the Apoſtles did preach, with the like diligence as ſhe keepeth and preſerueth the other booke which is of holy Scriptures, from al corruption of Heretikes and other iniuries.

The Apoſtles wrote the Goſpel in mens hartes much more then in paper.

Scripture written, and Tradition vnwritten.

Fulke 1. The Corinthians were Chriſtes teſtimoniall letter, of S. Paules ſinceritie and trauell, in their conuerſion vnto the faith, which was the worke of Gods ſpirit, by his miniſterie. But may we thereof conclude, that the writings of the Apoſtles, are not the ſpecial and proper Booke of Chriſtes trueth and Goſpell? O horrible blaſphemie. Verely the doctrine of trueth, and the Goſpel of Chriſt, is truely and perfectly conteined in them. And although the ſame doctrine be not effectuall to ſaluation, neither as it is read, nor as it is preached, but when it is beleeued, yet the trueth thereof, is preſerued in all ages of the Church, in the certeine Canon of the holy Scriptures, and not in the ſlipperie memorie of men onely. Neither are you euer able to proue, that S. Paule did write any thing in any mans heart, which is not written in the holy Scriptures. And though diuers of the Apoſtles did write no Bookes at all, yet they preached nothing, but that which was and is conteined in the Scriptures of the olde and new Teſtament. For that which they then preached (ſayth Irenæus) afterward, by the will of God, they deliuered to vs in the Scriptures, which ſhould be the foundation and piller of our faith, lib. 3 c. 1. Therefore he meaneth not by the other ſaying, Cap. 4. that either the Scriptures are needles, or that the Church had any tradition, beſide the Scriptures. For although ſome beleeued, that knew neuer a letter of the booke, yet they were inſtructed by them that learned the trueth out of the Scriptures. And although the Creede, whereof Hierom ſpeaketh, be not written in that forme of wordes, yet the doctrine of the whole, and of euery article, is moſt cleerly conteined and expreſſed in the holy Scriptures, and writings of the Apoſtles. Therefore the Church of Chriſt hath no doctrine written in mens hearts by Gods ſpirite, but that which is written in the Scriptures by Gods ſpirite, by which, all that men beleeue, muſt be examined and tried, whether it be the doctrine of the ſpirite of God or no. So did the Berhæans daily examine the doctrine of the Apoſtles by the Scriptures, which they coulde not haue done, if the Apoſtles had taught any doctrine, which was not conteined in the Scriptures. Act. 17. 11.

The Apoſtles writings are the proper booke of Chriſt.

Sufficiencie of the Scriptures.

Rhem. 2. 5. Of our ſelues.) This maketh firſt againſt the Heretikes called Pelagians, that hold our meritorious actions or cogitations to be of free wil onely, and not of Gods ſpecial grace. Secondly againſt the Proteſtants, who on the contrary ſide referre al to God, and take away mans freedom and proper motion in his thoughtes and doings: the Apoſtle confeſſing our good cogitations to be our owne, but not as comming of our ſelues, but of God.

Gods grace and free wil both muſt concurre.

Fulke 2. This maketh againſt the Papiſtes, which defend their preparations, without the grace of God. But againſt vs, it maketh no whit, who referre all to God, as the Apoſtle doth, and take away all freedom of mans will vnto good, vntill it be enlarged by the ſpirite of God. Yet doe we acknowledge mans will to be free from compulſion, and his cogitations to be his owne, but all goodnes in them, to be of Gods meere gift and grace, Iam. 1, 17. Chryſoſtom vpon this text, ſayth: I ſpeake not this, as hauing confidence, that to thinke any good, it is partly ours, and partly Gods, but I doe attribute and aſcribe the whole to him. In 2. Corinth. Hom. 6.

Preparatory workes. Freewil.

Rhem. 3. 6. The letter killeth.) As the letter of the old Law not truely vnderſtood, nor referred to Chriſt, commanding and not giuing grace and ſpirit to fulfil that which was commanded, did by occaſion kil the carnal Iew: ſo the letter of the new Teſtament not truely taken nor expounded by the Spirit of Chriſt (which is onely in his Church) killeth the Heretike: who alſo being carnal and void of ſpirit, gaineth nothing by the external precepts or good leſſons of the Scriptures, but rather taketh hurt by the ſame. See S. Auguſtine to. 10. Serm. 70. & 100. de tempore. & li. de Sp. & lit. c. 5. 6. & ſeq.

The letter killeth both Iew and Heretike.

Fulke 3. Although it be true, that the Scripture of the new Teſtament and the preaching alſo, to the reprobate is the ſauour of death, yet the Apoſtle meaneth not by the letter, the Scripture, either of the old or new Teſtament, but the Law or commaundement written, without power to keepe it: and by the ſpirite, the grace of Gods ſpirite, exhibited in the new Teſtament, effectuall to all, that beleeue the doctrine of the Goſpell.

The Scripture is not the letter that killeth.

Rhem. 4. 9. Much more.) The preeminence of the new Teſtament and of the prieſthod or Miniſterie thereof before the old, is, that the new, by al her Sacraments and Prieſts as miniſters immediate of grace and remiſſion of ſinnes, doth ex opere operato giue the ſpirit of life and charitie into the hartes of the faithful, as the old did giue the letter or external act of the Law.

The preeminence of the new Teſtament, Sacraments, &c.

Fulke 4. That the Sacraments of the new Teſtament, of the worke wrought doe giue the ſpirite of life and charitie, it can not be concluded out of the text, more then that preaching of the Goſpell doth giue grace or the ſpirite of life, of the worke wrought. But the ſpirite of God, by the miniſterie of preaching, and the Sacraments,

The worke wrought.

doeth moſt freely giue life and grace in Gods elect, and in none other. For if this preeminence were in the Sacraments, Ex opere operato, S. Paule neglected a great part of this preeminence, whereof he glorieth, in that he baptized ſo few, among the Corinthians. 1. Cor. 1. Therefore S. Luke ſayth, that at the preaching of the Apoſtles, ſo many beleeued as were before ordeined vnto life. Act. 13. 48.

Rhem. 5. 14. The ſelfe ſame vele.) As the Iewes reading the old Teſtament, by reaſon of their blindnes (which God for the puniſhment of their incredulitie ſuffereth to remaine as a couer vpon their eies and hartes) can not ſee Chriſt in the Scriptures which they daily heare read in their Synagogs, but ſhal, when they beleeue in him and haue the couer removed, perceiue al to be moſt plainely done and ſpoken of him in their law and Scriptures: euen ſo Heretikes hauing (as S. Auguſtine noteth) a farre greater couer of blindnes and incredulitie ouer their hartes in reſpect of the Catholike Church which they impugne, then the Iewes haue concerning Chriſt, can not ſee, though they read or heare the Scriptures read neuer ſo much, the marueilous euidence of the Catholike Church and truth in al points: but when they ſhal returne againe to the obedience of the ſame Church, they ſhal finde the Scriptures moſt cleere for her and her doctrine, and ſhal wonder at their former blindnes.

The Heretikes more blinde in not ſeing the Church, then the Iewes in not ſeing Chriſt.

Aug. in Pſal. 30. Conc. 2.

Fulke 5. No maruaile, though the Papiſtes can ſee neither Chriſt nor his Church, in the Scriptures, becauſe they ſeeke neither of both in the Scriptures, but as the Donatiſts did in their owne preſumptions, and ſclander the Scriptures of inſufficiencie and imperfectnes, as the Valentinians did, ſaying, they can not be vnderſtoode of them that know not their tradition. Lib. 3. Cap. 2.

Rhem. 17. Libertie.) The Spirit and grace of God in the new Teſtament diſchargeth vs of the bondage of the Law and ſinne, but it is not a warrant to vs of fleſhly licence, as S. Peter writeth: nor diſchargeth Chriſtians of their obedience to order, Law, and power of Magiſtrates ſpiritual or temporal, as ſome Heretikes of theſe daies do ſeditiouſly teach.

Rhem. 1. That according as ſo glorious a miniſterie requireth, he liueth and preacheth ſincerely. 7 the which glorie his Aduerſaries can not count vaine, conſidering his perſecutions, becauſe perſecution is to Gods glorie, and to our humilitie and hope, and meritorious of increaſe of grace in this life, and of moſt glorious bodies and ſoules afterward.

Fulke 1. In the text is neuer a worde to proue that perſecutions are meritorious, either of increaſe of grace in this life, or of glory in the life to come.

THerefore hauing this miniſtration: according as we haue obteined mercie, we faile not,

7 But we haue this treaſure in earthen veſſels, that the excellencie of the power may be Gods, and not of vs.

8 We are troubled on euery ſide, yet are we not † without ſhift: We are in pouertie, but not in extreme pouertie.

† Or, driuen into a narrow corner.

9 We are perſecuted, but are not forſaken therein: we are caſt downe, but we periſh not:

11 For we that liue, are alwaies deliuered vnto death for IESVS: that the life alſo of IESVS may be manifeſted in our mortal fleſh.

12 Death then worketh in vs, but life in you.

13 And hauing the ſame ſpirit of faith, as Pſ.115,10. it is written, I beleeued, for the which cauſe I haue ſpoken, we alſo beleeue, for the which cauſe we ſpeake alſo:

14 Knowing that he which raiſed vp IESVS, wil raiſe vp vs alſo with IESVS and ſet vs with you.

15 For al things are for you: that the grace abounding by many in giuing of thankes, may abound vnto the glory of God.

dying of our Lord Ieſus, that the life of Ieſus might alſo be made manifeſt in our body.

11 For we which liue, are alwayes deliuered vnto death for Ieſus ſake, that the life alſo of Ieſus might be made manifeſt in our mortal fleſh.

12 So then, death worketh in vs, but life in you.

13 Seeing then that we haue the ſame ſpirit of faith (according as it is written, I beleeued, Pſal.116.10. and therefore haue I ſpoken:) We alſo beleeue, and therefore ſpeake:

And it is here to be noted againſt the Heretikes, that tribulations do worke or cauſe the ſaid ſaluation, which they deny to be giuen for ſuch thinges, but for or by faith onely. S. Auguſtine maketh ſuch tribulations for Chriſt ſo much the meritorious cauſe of euerlaſting life and reſt, that he ſaith it is ſalable and bought thereby. Fulke 4. You are not able to bring one of the ancient Fathers interpreting this place, which gathereth of it, that the perſecutions of the godly, are meritorious. Neither doth S. Auguſtine ſay, that tribulation is the meritorious cauſe of eternall life or reſt, when he ſayth, that it is ſalable, or to be bought thereby, but cleane contrary, as when God by the Prophet, calleth men to buy without money, Eſay 55. 1. Thou heareſt (ſaith Auguſtine) *that thou haſt labour here, but hearken, what kinde of reſt he promiſeth: canſt thou conceiue it? ſighnes of our tribulation &c. Againe, when he talketh of the ſale you ſpeake of: that you may knowe he ſpeaketh not of the merite of condignitie, he ſayth. What labor is worthy of eternall reſt? if thou wilt compare the trueth and iudge the trueth, eternall reſt is rightly bought with eternall Labour. This is true, but be not afraide, God is mercifull. In the ende repeting this text, he ſayth. Behold howe great a price we giue, as it were one graine, or one ſhale, to receiue eternal treaſures. A graine, or ſhale of labor, to incredible reſt, as it is ſaid: it worketh an incredible & exceeding great weight of eternall glory. Therefore this working is not of the merite of the labor, but of the infinite mercie of him, that giueth eternall life, to all them whom he iuſtifieth freely by faith. And therefore S. Auguſtine ſayth alſo in the ſame treatiſe of the perſecutions of the iuſt. Toleret &c. Let the iuſt tolerate the vniuſt, let the temporall Labor of the iuſt, tolerate the temporall impunitie of the vniuſt, but yet the iuſt man liueth by faith. For there is none other iuſtice of a man in this life, but to liue by faith which worketh by loue: for if he liue by faith, let him believe alſo, that he ſhall haue reſt after his labor, and they ſhall haue eternall torments after their preſent ioy. What faces haue theſe men to ſay, that S. Auguſtine maketh theſe tribulations, the meritorious cauſe of eternall life? when he acknowledgeth none other iuſtice of a man in this life, but to liue by faith: where as if tribulations ſo ſuffered, ſhould be the meritorious cauſe of eternall life, they ſhould be the iuſtice of a man in this life, but that are they not, but faith onely which worketh by loue, as S. Auguſtine iudgeth. That which you cite out of Sap. 10. chap. though it be no canonicall ſcripture, yet it is falſely tranſlated. For whether it be God or wiſdome, that hath rendred to iuſt men the reward of their labors (meaning the deliuerance of the children of Iſrael out of Egypt) he rewarded the labors of his children as of mercie, not of hirelings, as of merite.

CHAP. V.

That after death of the body the ſoule may to heauen: therefore, although naturally we abhorre death, by grace he deſireth it rather: 9 in conſidering of Chriſtes iuſt iudgement, liuing as in the ſight of God, yea and of their conſciences. 12 Which he ſpeaketh not to praiſe him ſelfe, but becauſe of his Aduerſaries who did glorie in carnall reſpects: but he and the other Apoſtles regard nothing but their reconciliation vnto God by Chriſt, and to reconcile others alſo, as being his legates for that purpoſe.

FOR we knowe that if our earthly houſe of this habitation be diſſolued, that wee haue a building of God, a houſe not made with hand, eternall in heauen.

2 For in this alſo doe we grone, deſirous to be ouerclothed with our habitation that is from heauen:

3 Yet ſo, if wee be found clothed, not naked.

4 For we alſo that are in this tabernacle, grone being burdened: becauſe we woulde not be ſpoyled, but ouerclothed, that that which is mortall, might be ſwallowed vp of life.

5 And hee that maketh vs to this ſame, is God, who hath giuen vs the pledge of the Spirit.

6 Being bolde therefore alwayes, and knowing that while we are in the body, wee are pilgrimes from God,

7 (For we walke by faith & not by ſight)

8 But we are bolde, and haue a good will to be pilgrimes rather from the body, and ‡ to be preſent with our Lord.

9 And therefore wee endeuour, whether abſent or preſent, to pleaſe him.

10 For *wee muſt all be manifeſted before the iudgement ſeate of Chriſt, that euery one may receiue ‖ the proper things of the body, according as hee hath done, ‖ either good or euill.

11 Knowing therefore the feare of our Lord we vſe perſuaſion to men: but to God we are manifeſt. And I hope alſo that in your conſciences we are manifeſt.

12 We commend not our ſelues againe to

‡ This place proueth that the Saincts departed nowe ſince Chriſt, ſleepe not till † day of iudgement, and that they be not holden in any ſeuerall place of reſt frō the fruition of God till † reſurrection of their bodies, but that they be preſent with God in their ſoules. Rom. 14, 10.

FOR wee knowe that if our earthly houſe of this tabernacle were deſtroied, wee haue a building of God, euen an habitation not made with hands, but eternall in heauen.

2 For therefore ſigh wee, deſiring vpon our clothing to be further clothed with our houſe which is from heauen.

*3 If ſo be that we * being clothed, ſhall not be found naked.* Apoc. 16. 15.

4 For we that are in this tabernacle, ſigh, being burdened, becauſe wee would not put off our clothing, but vpon the ſame put on more, that mortalitie might be ſwalowed vp of life.

5 He that hath ordeined vs for the ſelfeſame thing, is God, which hath alſo giuen vnto vs the earneſt of the ſpirit.

6 Therefore we are alway of good cheare, and knowe that as long as we are at home in the body, we are abſent from the Lord.

7 (For we walke by faith, not after outward appearance.)

8 Neuertheleſſe, we are of good comfort, and had rather to be abſent from the body, and to be preſent with the Lord.

9 Wherefore, whether we be at home, or from home, we endeuour our ſelues to be accepted vnto him.

*10 For we muſt all appeare before the iudgement ſeate of Chriſt, that euery man may receiue the workes of his body, acording to that he hath done, whether it be good or bad. Rom. 14. 10.

11 Knowing therefore the feare of the Lord, we perſwade men, for we are knowen well ynough vnto God: I truſt alſo that we are knowen in your conſciences.

12 For wee commende not our ſelues againe to you, but giue you occaſion to glory for vs: that you may haue againſt them that glorie in face, and not in hart.

13 For whether we exceede in mind, to God: or whether we be ſober, to you.

14 For the charitie of Chriſt vrgeth vs: iudging this, that if one died for all, then all were dead.

15 And Chriſt died for all: that they alſo which liue, may not now liue to them ſelues, but to him that died for them and roſe againe.

16 Therefore we from henceforth know no man according to ỹ fleſh: And if we haue knowen Chriſt according to the fleſh: but nowe we know him no more.

17 If then any be in Chriſt a newe creature: the old are paſſed, beholde *all things are made newe.

Eſa.43,19. Apoc.21,5.

18 But all of God, who hath reconciled vs to him ſelfe by Chriſt: and hath giuen ‖ vs the miniſterie of reconciliation.

19 For God in deede was in Chriſt, reconciling the worlde to him ſelfe, not imputing to them their ſinnes, and hath put in vs the word of reconciliation.

20 For Chriſt therefore wee are legates, God as it were exhorting by vs. For Chriſt we beſeeche you, be reconciled to God.

21 Him that knewe no ſinne, for vs he made ᶜ ſinne: that wee might be made ‖ the iuſtice of God in him, vnto you, but giue you an occaſion to glory on our behalfe, that ye may haue ſomewhat againſt them which glory in the face and not in the hart.

13 For if we be too feruent, to God are we too feruent: Or if we keepe meaſure, for your cauſe keepe we meaſure.

14 For the loue of Chriſt conſtraineth vs, becauſe we thus iudge, that if one died for all, then were all dead.

15 And he dyed for all, that they which liue, ſhould not henceforth liue vnto them ſelues, but vnto him which dyed for them, and roſe againe.

16 Wherefore henceforth knowe we no man after the fleſh: Inſomuch though we haue knowen Chriſt after the fleſh, now yet henceforth know we him no more.

*17 Therefore if any man be in Chriſt, he is a newe creature: Old things are paſſed away, behold, all things are become newe, Eſa.43.19. Apoc.21.5.

18 And all things are of God, which hath reconciled vs vnto himſelfe by Ieſus Chriſt, & hath giuen to vs the miniſterie of reconciliation.

19 For God was in Chriſt, reconciling the world to himſelfe, not imputing their ſinnes vnto them, and hath committed to vs the preaching of the atonement.

20 Now then are we meſſengers for Chriſt, euen as though God did beſeech you through vs: ſo pray we you in Chriſtes ſteade, that ye be reconciled vnto God.

21 For he hath made him to be ſinne for vs, which knewe no ſinne, that we ſhould be made the righteouſneſſe of God in him.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. V.

Rhem.1. 10. The proper things of his body.) S. Auguſtine (Enchirid.c.110) obiecteth this ſpeach of the Apoſtle, as in the perſon of ſuch as deny the prayers, almes, and ſacrifices of the liuing to be auaileable for the dead, and he anſwereth as followeth. This practiſe (ſaith he) of Gods Church in the commendation of the dead, is nothing repugnant to the ſentence of the Apoſtle, where he ſayth, that we ſhall all ſtand before the iudgement ſeate of Chriſt, that euery one may receiue according to his deſertes in the body, either good or euill. For, in his life and before death he deſerued this, that theſe workes after his death might be profitable vnto him. for in deede they be not profitable for all men. and why ſo? but becauſe of the difference and diuerſitie of mens liues whiles they were in fleſh. The like he hath in diuers other places Auguſt lib. de Praed. Sanct. cap. 12. & ad Dulcit. q. 2. And ſo hath S. Denys c.7. Ec. Hierarch. The obiection againſt prayers for the dead, anſwered by S. Auguſtine.

Fulke.1. S. Auguſtine holding that errour without auctoritie of Scripture, that prayers were profitable to the dead, is driuen to inuent a diſtinction, howe they may ſeeme to ſtand with this text, and not be contrary to the Scriptures. But you falſefie his wordes in tranſlating this text: for hee ſaith not, that euery one may receiue according to his deſertes in the body, but vt referat vnuſquiſq; ſecundum ea quæ per corpus geſſit, that euery man may receiue according to thoſe things which he hath done in his body. But euen as S. Auguſtine in the place by you quoted de prædeſt ſanct. cap. 10. (where he ſpeaketh nothing of prayers for the dead) vrgeth the wordes of this text againſt the Palagianes which ſaid, that infantes were iuſtified not by mere grace, but by workes, which God foreſeeth that they ſhoulde haue done, if they had liued longer. Geſſit inquit, non adiungit vel geſturus fuit. The Apoſtle ſayth which he hath done, he addeth not which he would haue done: So we may vrge the wordes of the text againſt prayers, almes, or any other workes done for the dead. The Apoſtle ſayth, euery man ſhall receiue according as he him ſelfe hath done, he addeth not, as other men ſhall doe for him. But S. Dionyſe Hier. Ec. cap. 7. proueth by this text, that no prayers for the dead are auaileable, but ſuch as are made by the miniſter of the Church in faith, & doe rather declare what God hath done according to his promiſes, then deſire any thing which he hath not done already, as in the ſentence of excommunication and abſolution: where the miniſter is but an interpreter of Gods iudgement. Therefore the godly Biſhop (ſaith he) aſketh thoſe things which God hath remitted, and which are acceptable to him, and which doubtleſſe are to be graunted, wherein he both declareth to God the good diſpoſition of his mind, reſembling the goodneſſe of God, who loueth them that are good, and to them that are preſent, Prayers for the dead.

declareth as an interpreter, the giftes which ſhalbe vnto the holy. So alſo the Biſhops haue auctoritie of ſeparation, as interpreters of Gods iudgements, not that the moſt wiſe Godhead (that I may vſe a gentle terme) doth follow as a miniſter, their vnreaſonable affections, but that they doe ſeperate thoſe which according to their worthineſſe, are iudged already of God, by that ſpirit which is the author of the myſteries, meaning them as interpreters. This was his iudgement of prayers for ỹ dead in that time, when the error was not yet confirmed. The effect of them is alſo ſo ſet forth by S. Auguſtine, that they which ſhould ſeeme to haue moſt neede of them, haue leaſt helpe by them: that they auaile no further, then a mans good workes deſerued while he liued: ſecondly they auaile (ſaith he) eyther that there may be full releaſe, or that their damnation may be more tollerable. But whether there be any purgatorie paines after this life, S. Auguſtine ſayth, it may be doubted, and eyther be found, or be ſtill hidden. De octo quæſt. dulc. quæſt. 1. But in his latter dayes writing againſt the Pelagianes, he vtterly denieth any third place to be found in the Scripture cont. Pel. Hypog. lib. 5. So he writeth de verb. Apoſt. ſer. 14. This he calleth the kingdome, this damnation with the deuill: there is no middle place left, where you may ſet infantes. Iudgement ſhalbe of the quicke and the dead, ſome ſhalbe at the right hand, ſome at the left hand, I knowe none other. Thou that bringeſt in the middle place, get thee from the middeſt, let not him offend thee which ſeeketh the right hand, & adminiſheth thee to depart from the middeſt, but goe not to the left hand. If therefore there ſhalbe the right hand and the left hand, and we knowe no middle place in the Goſpel, beholde in the right hand is the kingdome of heauen. That which he ſpeaketh againſt the middle place inuented by the Pelagians for infants, may as truely be ſaid of Purgatorie inuented for them, to whom prayers ſhould be profitable. In the Scriptures we finde no third place: in the Goſpel we knowe no middle place, but Heauen and hell. Seeing therefore neither the place, nor the prayers haue any ground in the ſcriptures, mans auctoritie is vnſufficient to perſwade ſo great a matter.

Purgatorie.

Rhem. 2. 10 Eyther good or cuill.) Heauen is as well the reward of good workes, as Hell is the ſtipend of ill workes. Neither is faith alone ſufficient to procure ſaluation, nor lacke of faith the onely cauſe of damnation: by good deedes men merite the one, and by ill deedes they deſerue the other. This is the Apoſtles doctrine here and in other places, howe ſoeuer the Aduerſaries of good life and workes teach otherwiſe.

Workes meritorious and demeritorious.

Fulke. 2. Heauen is the reward of good workes, not due by ỹ merite of them, but by the grace & mercie of God, who hath promiſed to giue it freely to them that beleeue in him by Chriſt, and bring forth the fruites of a liuely faith. It is ỹ free gift of God in Chriſt Ieſus (ſaith S. Paul) Rom. 6. 23. You are ſaued by grace through faith, and that not of your ſelues, it is the gift of God, not of workes, leaſt any man ſhould boaſt, Epheſ. 2. 8. 9. But hell is the ſtipend of ill workes, deſerued by the merite of ſinne. That faith void of workes, is ſufficient to procure ſaluation, none of vs affirmeth. But that onely lacke of faith is ſufficient to damnation, the ſcripture is plaine, becauſe it is not poſſible to pleaſe God without faith Hebr. 11. And where faith lacketh, there can be no good workes: for what ſo euer is not of faith is ſinne. Therefore though wicked men by ill deedes, deſerue damnation, yet the Apoſtle ſayth not heare, nor any where elſe, that men by good deedes merite ſaluation, but the contrary, howſoeuer the enemies of Gods grace, of faith and of good workes, renewing the old hereſie of the Pelagians teach otherwiſe. For what could Pelagius ſpeake more blaſphemouſly againſt the grace of God, then to ſay: Heauen is as well the reward of good woorkes, as hell is the ſtipend of ill workes.

Merite.

Slaunde.

Pelagianiſme.

Rhem. 3. 18. The miniſterie of reconciliation.) Chriſt is the chiefe Miniſter, according to his manhod, of all our reconcilement to God: and for him, as his miniſters, the Apoſtles and their ſucceſſors the Biſhops and Prieſts of his Church, in whom the word of reconcilement, as well by miniſtring of the ſacrifice and Sacramentes for remiſſion of ſinnes, as by preaching and gouernement of the world to ſaluation, is placed. And therefore their preaching muſt be to vs, as if Chriſt himſelfe did preach: their abſolution and remiſſion of ſinnes, as Chriſtes owne pardon: their whole office being nothing els (as we ſee by this paſſage) but the Vicarſhip of Chriſt.

Biſhops and Prieſts vnder Chriſt miniſters of our reconciliation.

Fulke. 3. The Apoſtles and their ſucceſſors, haue no worde of reconcilement commited to them by miniſtring the ſacrifice, but that is proper to Chriſt, whoſe ſacrificing prieſthod paſſeth not from himſelf to any other by ſucceſſion Heb. 7. 24. He hath offred himſelfe once for euer, & found by ỹ one oblation eternal redemption, Heb. 9. 12. & 10. 14. Therefore in offering the ſacrifice propitiatorie, he hath no Vicars, but performed al himſelfe.

Sacrifice propitiatorie.

Rhem. 4. 21. The iuſtice of God.) Euen as (ſayth S. Auguſtine) when we reade, Saluation is our Lordes, it is not meant that ſaluatiō whereby our Lord is ſaued, but whereby they are ſaued whom he ſaueth: ſo when it is ſaid, Gods iuſtice, that is not to be vnderſtood wherewith God is iuſt, but that wherewith men are iuſt whom by his grace he iuſtifieth. See S. Auguſt. de Sp & lit. c. 18. & ep. 120. ad Honorat. and abhorre Caluins wicked and vnlearned gloſe on this place, that teacheth iuſtice no otherwiſe to be in man, then ſinne in Chriſt. Whereas the Scriptures call men iuſt, becauſe * he doth iuſtice: but not ſo call they Chriſt ſinne, becauſe he doth ſinne, but becauſe he taketh away ſinne, and is a ſacrifice for ſinne, as the Heretikes knew very well, that knowe the vſe and ſignification of the Hebrew word in all the old Teſtament, namely Pſa. 39, 8 and in the booke of Leuiticus very often, c. 5. 6. 9. 12. 14. 16. and Num. c. 29.

Gods iuſtice, wherewith he maketh vs iuſt.

1. Io. 3. 7.

חטאת

Fulke. 4. This text inuincibly proueth, that we are not iuſtified in Gods ſight by iuſtice inherent in vs, but by ỹ iuſtice of Chriſt, imputed to vs through faith. And that is the iuſtice whereof S. Auguſtine ſpeaketh, wherewith men are iuſt, whom God by his grace doth iuſtifie through faith: and therfore he ſayth expreſly in ỹ ſame chapter. Hanc miniſtrationem &c. The Apoſtle ſayth, that this miniſtration of iuſtice is not of our merites, but of the mercie of God. Againe he ſayth vpon the Pſalme which the ſame Apoſtle citeth for teſtification of this grace. Bleſſed is he to whom the Lord imputeth not ſinne, neither is there guile in his hart. This is the confeſſion of humble Saincts, which boaſt not them ſelues to be that they are not. Againe. When the Apoſtle commending the ſame grace more abundantly in our Lord Ieſus Chriſt, commeth to the ſame clothing of the iuſtice of faith wherewith being clothed, we ſhal not be found naked &c. See what he addeth. He which hath made vs (ſaith he) vnto this ſame end is God, which hath giuen vs the pledge of his ſpirite, and after a few wordes he inferred, that we might be the iuſtice of God in him. This is that iuſtice of God, not whereby he is iuſt, but whereby we are made iuſt by him. And Ep. 120. Honorato. He expoundeth theſe wordes. That we might be made the iuſtice of God in him, that is, in his body, which is his Church where of he is head. We are the iuſtice of God, which they not knowing, & willing to ſet vp their owne, that is, as it were glorying of their owne workes, are not ſubiect to the iuſtice of God. Againe he ſayth. To this iuſtice of God pride is contrary, whereby men haue truſt, as in their owne workes: therefore is ſaid: with there, let not the foote of pride come vpon me. This is the iuſtice of God, whereby they are iuſt by his faith, which Iuſtificatiō by imputation, not by iuſtice inherent.

liue now of faith. Againe. De verbis Apoſtoli Ser. 6. expounding this text, he ſayth Videte duo, &c. See theſe two things, that is, the iuſtice of God, not our iuſtice, in him, not in vs. Therefore Caluines collection of the manifeſt words of the text, that a man is iuſt in Gods ſight, by imputation of the iuſtice of Chriſt, as Chriſt was ſinne, by imputation of our ſinne, doth plainely agree with S. Auguſtines doctrine. As for the iuſtice whereof S. Iohn ſpeaketh, is in deede inherent, and is a fruite and effect of iuſtification by faith, not a cauſe thereof. Therefore S. Auguſt. ſaith, That good or iuſt workes doe follow him that is iuſtified, they goe not before him that is to be iuſtified. De fide & operibus Cap. 14. That Chriſt was made ſinne for vs, becauſe he was a ſacrifice for ſinne we confeſſe, but therefore he was a ſacrifice for ſinne, becauſe our ſinne was imputed to him, and puniſhed in him. And therefore the ſacrifices of the law that were for ſinne, were called by the name of ſinne, becauſe the ſinne of the offender, was ſacramentally imputed to the ſacrifice which was ſlaine, as though it had deſerued, that which the offender had merited, for whom it was offered. Therefore alſo Chriſt was made a curſe for vs, Galat. 3. 13. becauſe the curſe which we had deſerued, was imputed to him, that the bleſſing of Abraham might be vpon vs. And that the auncient fathers confirme this interpretation of Caluine, you ſhall heare by their owne wordes. Firſt Chryſoſtom vpon this text, Hom. 11. in 2. Cor. That we ſhould be made the iuſtice of God in him (ſaith he) what ſpeach, what mind, can ſet forth theſe things worthely? For him that was iuſt (ſaith he) he made a ſinner, that he might make ſinners iuſt: but rather he ſaid not ſo, but that which was much more: for he named not the qualitie, but the eſſence, he ſaide not a ſinner, but ſinne it ſelfe, not onely him which ſinned not, but him which knewe no ſinne, that we might be made, he ſaide not iuſt, but iuſtice it ſelfe, and the iuſtice of God. For this is the iuſtice of God, when iuſtification commeth not of workes. ſeeing it is neceſſary that no ſpot be found, but by grace: by this meanes all ſinne vaniſheth cleane away. In the meane time he ſuffereth them not to be extolled, ſeeing God performeth all, and ſheweth the greatneſſe of the giuer: that former iuſtice was of the lawe and of workes, but this is the iuſtice of God. Primaſius vpon this text ſaith. God the father made his ſonne ſinne for vs, that is, a ſacrifice for ſinne for vs. The ſacrifice offered for ſinne, was called ſinne in the lawe, although it did not ſinne at all, as it is written. And he ſhall lay his hand vpon the head of his ſinne: by the blood of which ſacrifices, that blood which was ſhead for vs was prefigured, ſo Chriſt being offered for our ſinnes, was called by the name of ſinne, that we might be made the iuſtice of God, not our iuſtice, in him, not in vs. Theodoret vpon this text ſaith. For when he was free from ſinne, he ſuffered the death of ſinners, that he might looſe the ſinne of men, and being called that which we were, made vs that which he was: for he gaue vs the riches of his iuſtice. S. Ambroſe vpon this text ſaith. He which did no ſinne, was ſlaine as a ſinner, that ſinners might be iuſtified before God in Chriſt. Oecumenius ſayth. He made him ſinne, that as a ſinner he ſhould be condemned, that we might be made the iuſtice of God in him: he ſaid not, that we might be made iuſt, but that which was more, iuſtice it ſelfe, and the iuſtice of God. And that is the iuſtice of God which is not of workes, but: that we might be iuſtified in him, that is, by him, forgiuing and pardoning vs. Theophylacte ſaith. What is this that God gaue his ſonne, which knewe no ſinne, that is, which was iuſtice it ſelfe to death for vs, and cauſed him to die as a ſinner and wicked man? for curſed is he that hangeth on the tree, and he was reputed among the wicked. He ſaith. Not that he made him a ſinner, but ſinne it ſelf which is more: why was this done? that we might be iuſtified not of workes, and the lawe, but of the grace of God. For this is the iuſtice of God, when a man is iuſtified by grace, ſo that no blemiſh or ſmall ſpot is found in him: for therefore he ſaide not, that we might be made iuſt, but the iuſtice of God, ſhewing the excellencie of grace. I will conclude with S. Auguſtine, that your impudencie in citing him for the contrary ſenſe, may be more manifeſt. Enchir. Chapter. 41. expounding this text, he ſayth. God made Chriſt ſinne for vs, ſo whom we are to be reconciled, that is, a ſacrifice for ſinnes, by which we might be reconciled. He therefore was made ſinne, that we might be made iuſtice, not our iuſtice, but Gods iuſtice, neither in vs, but in him, as he declared ſinne, not to be his, but ours, not placed in him, but in vs, by the ſimilitude of ſinfull fleſh in which he was crucified. Therefore you muſt not abhorre Caluines interpretation, as wicked and vnlearned, except you will abhorre the iudgement of all the auncient Fathers, as wicked and vnlearned: for his iudgement is their iudgement vpon this text, and none other.

Rhem. 1. He proceedeth to exhort them to puritie, and to receiue him into their charitie. 3 Which leſt they ſhould thinke he ſpeaketh to accuſe them, he commendeth them highly, both for their behauiour toward Titus, and for their penance which they had done vpon his other epiſtle.

Fulke. 1. The Apoſtle commendeth the Corinthians for their repentance, not for Popiſh ſatisfactorie penance.

HAuing therefore theſe promiſſes, my deereſt, let vs cleanſe our ſelues from al inquination of the fleſh and ſpirit, perfiting ſanctification in the feare of God.

2 Receiue vs. We haue hurt no man, we haue corrupted no man, we haue circumuented no man.

3 I ſpeake not to your condemnation. for I ſaid before that you are in our hartes to die together and to liue together.

4 Much is my confidence with you, much is my glorying for you: I am repleniſhed with conſolation: I do exceedingly abound in ioy in al our tribulation.

5 For alſo when we were come into Macedónia, our fleſh had no reſt, but we ſuffered al tribulation: without, combats: within, feares.

6 But God that comforteth the humble, did comfort vs, in the comming of Titus.

7 And not only in his comming, but alſo in the conſolation, wherewith he was comforted among you, reporting to vs your deſire, your weeping, your emulation for me, ſo that I reioyced the more.

8 For although I made you ſorie in an epiſtle, it repenteth me not: albeit it repented me, ſeeing that the ſame epiſtle (although but for a time) did make you ſorie.

9 Now I am glad: not becauſe you were made ſorie, but becauſe you were made ‖ ſorie to penance. For you were made ſorie according to God, that in nothing you ſhould ſuffer detriment by vs.

10 For ‡ the ſorow that is according to God, worketh penance vnto ſaluation that is ſtable: but the ſorow of the world worketh death.

11 For behold this very thing, that you were made ſorie according to God, howe great carefulnes it worketh in you: yea defenſe, yea indignation, yea feare, yea deſire, yea emulation, yea reuenge. in al things you haue ſhewed your ſelues to be vndefiled in the matter.

HAuing therefore theſe promiſes (dearly beloued) let vs cleanſe our ſelues from all filthineſſe of the fleſh and ſpirit, perfecting holineſſe in the feare of God.

3 I ſpeake not this to condemne you, for I haue ſhewed you before, that ye are in our hearts to die and liue with you.

4 I vſe great boldneſſe of ſpeach toward you, I glory greatly in you: I am filled with comfort, and am exceeding ioyous in all our tribulation.

5 For when wee were come into Macedonia, our fleſh had no reſt, but we were troubled on euery ſide: without were fightings, within were feares.

6 Neuertheles, God that comforteth the humble, comforted vs by the comming of Titus.

7 And not by his comming onely, but alſo by the conſolation which hee receiued of you, when hee told vs your vehement deſire, your weeping, your feruent minde toward me: ſo that I reioyced the more.

8 For though I made you ſory with a letter, I repent not, though I did repent: For I perceiue that the ſame Epiſtle made you ſorie, though it were but for a ſeaſon.

9 I nowe reioyce: not that ye were made ſorie, but that ye were made ſorie to repentance: for ye were made ſorie to Godward, that in nothing ye might be hurt by vs.

*10 For godly ſorow, cauſeth repentance vnto ſaluation, not to be repented of: but the ſorowe of the world cauſeth death. 1. Pet. 2. 19.

11 For beholde, this ſelfe ſame thing that ye were made ſorie to Godward, how much carefulneſſe it hath wrought in you: yea what clearing of your ſelues, yea what indignation, yea what feare, yea what vehement deſire, yea what zeale, yea what puniſhment? for in all things ye haue ſhewed your ſelues that ye were cleare in that matter.

12 Wherefore, though I wrote vnto you, I did

14 And if to him I gloried any thing of you, I am not confounded: but as we ſpake al things to you in truth, ſo alſo our glorying that was to Titus, is made a truth,

15 And his bowels are more aboundantly toward you: remembring the obedience of you al, how with feare and trembling you receiued him.

13 Therfore we are comforted in your cõfort: yea & exceedingly the more ioyed we for the ioy of Titus, becauſe his ſpirit was refreſhed by you al.

14 But if I haue boaſted any thing vnto him of you, I haue not bene aſhamed therin, for as we ſpeake all things vnto you in trueth, euen ſo our boaſting which I made vnto Titus, is foũd a truth.

11 But now performe ye it alſo in deede: that as your minde is prompt to be willing, ſo it may be alſo to perfourme, of that which you haue.

And this place proueth plainely that the faſtings and ſatisfactorie deedes of one man, be auailable to others, yea and that holy Saincts or other vertuous perſons may in meaſure and proportion of other mans neceſsities and deſeruings, allotte vnto them, as wel the ſupererogation of their ſpiritual workes, as theſe that abound in worldly goods, may giue almes of their ſuperfluities, to them which are in neceſsitie. Which enterchange and proportion of thinges the Apoſtle doth euidently ſet downe.* Temporal benefites vpon ſpiritual perſons. One may ſatisfie and ſupererogate for an other.

Fulke. 3. This place proueth not, that one may ſatisfie or ſupererogate for him ſelfe, much leſſe for any other or that there can be any cõmunication of merits, neither can any ſuch thing be gathered out of ỹ text, neither do any of the auncient fathers conclude any ſuch thing out of the text. But that as euery one aboundeth in the giftes & graces of God, ſo he ſhould be willing and readie, to communicate them vnto other, & that God rewardeth this louing and charitable communication of his gifts, bringing al in the end, to an equalitie, though his gifts be diuerſe for this preſent, in that he wil reward euery man according to his good wil, though euery mans abilitie be not equal, as he ſayeth in the 12. verſe. And the equalitie of Manna was not made by mens ſuperogation, but by the wonderful worke of God, therefore here is no place for men, to allotte or ſell their merits ſpiritual, for giftes or rewardes temporall, which is the marke you ſhoote at. Chryſoſtome ſaith. Hom. 16. You floriſh in ryches, they in life, and truſt in God, therefore giue you them of the ryches in which you abound and they haue not, that you may receiue of the truſt according to which they be rich and you are poore. Theodoret ſaith, Your reward ſhalbe very great, and giuing leſſer things, you ſhal receiue greater things, for you ſhalbe partakers with them, of communicable patiõs. And verie conueniently he addeth the teſtimony of ſcripture. For in the gathering of Manna, the Lord ſheweth the ſame equalitie, for it did nothing more profit him which gathered more. For God being bountifull, ioyned a meaſure to his gift. Primaſius ſaith. Riche men be in this world, as an elme le tering vp a vyne. By helpe of it, the vine bringeth forth plentifull fruite. And by the fertility of the vyne, the elme is ſeene full of fruite. So the ſeruants of God and poore in ſpirit, are as the vyne, which are ſuſteyned with the welth of ryche men, and communicate that wherein they abound one to an other, and both come ſafe to eternal lyfe. To the ſame effecte write S. Ambroſe, Photius, Occumenius, Theophylact. Therefore, here is no chopping and changing, of merites, or ſatisfactory works, but the holy communion of Saincts, which the ſpirit of God worketh in al the members of Chriſt. 8 For and if I ſhoulde glorie ſomewhat more of our power, which our Lord hath giuen vs ‖ vnto edification and not to your deſtruction: I ſhal not be aſhamed.

9 But that I may not be thought as it were to terrifie you by epiſtles.

10 For his epiſtles in deede, ſay they, are ſore and vehement: but his bodily preſence weake, and his ſpeache contemptible.

11 Let him this thinke that is ſuch a one, that ſuch as we are in word by epiſtles, abſent: ſuch alſo we are in deede, preſent.

12 For we dare not matche or compare our ſelues with certain, that commend them ſelues: but wee meaſure our ſelues in our ſelues, and compare our ſelues to our ſelues.

13 But we wil not glorie aboue our meaſure:

I Paul my ſelfe beſeech you by the meekeneſſe and gentleneſſe of Chriſt: which in preſence am lowly among you: but am bold toward you being abſent.

2 I beſeech you, that I may not neede to be bolde when I am preſent, with that ſame boldneſſe, Wherewith I ‖ am ſuppoſed to haue bene bolde againſt ſome, which repute vs as though we walked according to the fleſh. ‖ Or, Wherewith I meane to be bolde.

3 For walking in the fleſh, yet we do not warre according to the fleſh.

4 (For the weapons of our warfare are not carnal, but mightie through God, to the ouerthrowing of ſtrong holdes.)

5 Wherewith we ouerthrowe counſels, and euery high thing that is exalted againſt the knowledge of God, and bring into captiuitie all imagination to the obedience of Chriſt.

6 And hauing in a readineſſe wherewith to take vengeance on al diſobedience, when your obedience is fulfilled.

7 Loke je on thinges after the viter appearance? If any man truſt in him ſelfe that he is Chriſtes, let him conſider this agayn of him ſelfe, that as he is of Chriſt, euen ſo are we of Chriſt.

8 For though I ſhould boaſt ſomewhat more of our auctority, which the Lord hath giuen to vs for edification, and not for your deſtruction, I ſhould not be aſhamed.

9 Leaſt I ſhould ſeeme as it were to make you afraide by letters.

10 For the letters (ſaith he) are ſore & ſtong: but his bodily preſence is weake, and his ſpeache nothing worth.

11 Let him that is ſuch a one, thinke on this wiſe, that as we are in worde by letters when we are abſent, ſuch alſo are we in deede when we are preſent.

12 For we dare not nomber or compare our ſelues with certaine which praiſe them ſelues: neuertheleſſe, while they meaſure them ſelues with them ſelues, and compare them ſelues with them ſelues: they vnderſtand not.

13 But we wil not boaſt aboue meaſure, but ſure but according to the meaſure of the rule, which God hath meaſured to vs, a meaſure to reach euen vnto you.

14 For not, as though we reached not vnto you, do we extend our ſelues beyond. For we are come as farre as to you in the Goſpel of Chriſt.

15 Not glorying aboue meaſure in other mens labours: but hauing[c] hope of your faith increaſing, to be magnified in you according to our rule aboundantly.

16 Yea vnto thoſe places that are beyond you, to euangelize: not in an other mās rule, to glorie in thoſe things that are prepared before.

14 For we ſtretch not out our ſelues beyonde meaſure, as though we reached not vnto you: For euen to you alſo haue we come with the Goſpel of Chriſt.

15 Not boaſting our ſelues out of meaſure in other mens labours: but hoping when your faith is encreaſed, to be magnified among you according to our meaſure abundantly:

He reaſoneth the matter with the Corinthians, why they ſhould preferre the falſe Apoſtles before him. 16 And becauſe they giue them leaue to braggе and commend them ſelues, and to abuſe them ſo miſerably, he truſteth they will alſo giue him the hearing: 21 and ſo he beginneth, and firſt ſhewing him ſelfe in al Iudaical reſpectes wherein onely ſtood al their boaſting) to be as they are, he addeth afterwarde ſuch a long roll of his ſufferings for Chriſt, as is incomparable.

The Apoſtles and their ſucceſſors did eſpouſe the people whom they conuerted, to Chriſt, in al puritie & Chaſtity of truth, & wholy vndefiled and void of errour and hereſie.

5 For I ſuppoſe that I haue done nothing leſſe then the great Apoſtles.

6 For although ‖ rude in ſpeach, yet not in knowledge. but in al things we are made manifeſt to you.

7 Or did I commit a ſinne, humbling my ſelfe, that you might be exalted? becauſe I euangelized vnto you the Goſpel of God gratis?

8 Other churches I ſpoyled, taking a ſtipend, for your miniſterie.

9 And when I was with you, and had neede, I was burdenous to none: for that which I wanted, the brethren ſupplied that came from Macedonia: and in all things I haue kept my ſelfe without burden to you, and wil keepe.

10 The truth of Chriſt is in me, that this glorying ſhal not be infringed toward me in the countries of Achaia.

11 Wherefore? becauſe I loue you not? God doth know.

12 But that which I doe, I will alſo doe, that I may cut away the occaſion of them that deſire occaſion: that, in that which they glorie, they may be found euen like vs.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. XI.

Rhem. 3 From the ſimplicitie.) People fall from their firſt fayth, virginitie, and ſimplicitie in Chriſt, not by ſodein reuolt, but by litle and litle, in giuing eare to the ſubtil perſuaſion of the Serpent, ſpeaking to them by the ſweete mouthes and illaruements of Heretikes, of which kind of ſeduction, he giueth Eue for an example, who was by her greedy deſire of knowledge & the Diuels promis of the ſame, drawen from the native ſimpliciti and obedience to God, as at this day, promis and preteníe of knowledge drineth many a poore ſoule from the ſure, true, ſincere, and onely beliefe of Gods Church. As Eue by the Serpent, ſo the people are ſeduced by Heretikes.

Thanks

Fulke. 1. Thanks be to God that hath enduced the miniſters of his Church,not with vaine eloquence,but with ſound learning,that they are able euen by teſtimony of the ancient doctors of the Church,(beſide the manifeſt auctoritie of the holy Scriptures)both to iuſtifie the doctrine which they teach,and to confute your hereſies, in the moſt neceſſary pointes of difference betweene vs.Therefore this is but an hereticall bragge to chalenge the doctors to be yours,for two or three of the leaſt of your errors,which are ſparingly found in ſome of them, not in all,nor in the moſt ancient of them,nor in any ſo maintained,as they are holden by you: when in the greateſt matters,and thē ſo many,they are all, or moſt,expreſly & directly as it were your profeſſed enemies.

CHAP. XII.

He telleth of his incomparable viſions, 5 but for humilitie liketh better to talke of his infirmities: 11 putting the fault in the Corinthians for that he is faine thus to rehearſe his owne commendations. 13 Where againe he reaſoneth the matter with them like a father,why they ſhould preferre thoſe falſe Apoſtles before him. 20 And feareth leſt at his comming he ſhall be compelled to excommunicate many of them.

IF I muſt glory (it is not expediēt in deed) but I wil come to the ‖ viſions and reuelations of our Lord.

2 I know a man in Chriſt aboue fourteene yeeres agoe (whether in the body, I know not: or out of the body, I know not: God doth know) ſuch a one ‡ rapt euen to the third heauen.

3 And I know ſuch a man (whether in the body, or out of the body, I know not: God doth know)

4 That he was rapt into Paradiſe: and heard ſecret wordes, which it is not lawful for a man to ſpeake.

5 For ſuch an one I wil glorie:but for my ſelfe I wil glorie nothing,ſauing in my infirmities.

6 For and if I will glorie, I ſhall not be fooliſh: for I ſhal ſay truth.but I ſpare, leaſt any mā ſhould eſteme me aboue that which he ſeeth in me, or heareth any thing of me.

7 And leaſt the greatnes of the reuelations might extoll me, there was giuen me a pricke of my fleſh,an angel of Satan,to buffet me.

8 For the which thing thriſe I beſought our Lord,that it might depart from me:

9 And he ſayde to me, My grace ſufficeth thee,for power is perfited in infirmitie. Gladly therefore will I glorie in mine infirmitie, that the power of Chriſt may dwell in me.

10 For the which cauſe I pleaſe my ſelfe in infirmities,in contumelies, in neceſſities, in perſecutions, in diſtreſſes for Chriſt. for when I am weake,then am I mightie.

11 I am become fooliſh: you haue compelled me. For I ought to haue bene commended of you: for I haue bene nothing leſſe then they that are aboue meaſure Apoſtles: although I am nothing.

12 Yet the ſigns of my Apoſtleſhip haue bene done vpon you in al patience, ‖ in ſigns and wonders and mightie deeds.

IT is not expedient doubtleſſe for me to glory, I will come to viſions and reuelations of the Lord.

*2 * For I knew a man in Chriſt aboue fourteene yeeres agoe (whether in the body I cannot tell,or whether out of the body I cannot tel, God knoweth) taken vp into the third heauen:* Acts 9.3.

3 And I knew the ſame man (whether in the body, or out of the body, I cannot tell, God knoweth.)

4 How that hee was taken vp into paradiſe, and heard vnſpeakable words,which is not lawfull for man to vtter.

5 Of ſuch ‖ a man will I glory,yet of my ſelfe will I not glory,but in mine infirmities.

6 For though I would deſire to glory of thē, I ſhall not be a foole,for I will ſay the trueth, but I now refraine,leaſt any man ſhould thinke of me aboue that which he ſeeth me to be, or that he heareth of me.

7 And leaſt I ſhould be exalted out of meaſure through the abundance of the reuelations, there was giuen to mee a pricke to the fleſh, the meſſenger of Satan to buffet mee, becauſe I ſhould not be exalted out of meaſure.

8 For this thing beſought I the Lord thriſe, that it might depart from me.

9 And he ſaid vnto me, My grace is ſufficient for thee: for my ſtrength is made perfect in weakeneſſe. Moſt gladly therefore I will rather glory in my infirmities, that the power of Chriſt might dwel in me.

10 Therefore haue I delectation in infirmities,in rebukes, in neceſſities, in perſecutions, in anguiſhes for Chriſtes ſake: For when I am weake,then am I ſtrong.

11 I am become a foole in glorying,yee haue compelled me:for I ought to haue bene commended of you.For nothing was I inferiour vnto the chiefe Apoſtles,though I be nothing.

12 Truely the ſignes of an Apoſtle were wrought among you,in all patience,in ſignes and wonders,and mightie deeds.

13 For what is there that you haue had leſſe then the other churches: but that I my ſelfe haue not burdened you? Pardon me this iniurie.

14 Behold, now the third time I am ready to come to you: and I wil not be burdenous vnto you. For I ſeeke not the things that are yours: but you. For neither ought the children lay vp treaſures for the parents, but the parents for the children.

15 But I moſt gladly will beſtow, and will my ſelfe moreouer be beſtowed for your ſoules: although louing you more, I am loued leſſe.

16 But be it ſo: I haue not burdened you: but being craftie, I tooke you by guile.

17 Haue I circumuented you by any of them whom I ſent to you?

18 I requeſted Titus, and I ſent with him a brother. Did Titus circumuent you? walked we not with one ſpirit? not in the ſelfe ſame ſteps?

'Againe. 19 'Of olde thinke you that we excuſe our ſelues to you? Before God, in Chriſt we ſpeake: but al things (my deareſt) for your edifying.

20 For I feare leſt perhaps when I come, I find you not ſuch as I would: & I be found of you, ſuch an one as you would not. leaſt perhaps contentiõs, emulatiõs, ſtomakings, diſſenſions, detractions, whiſperings, ſwellings, ſeditions be among you.

21 Leſt againe when I come, God humble me among you: & I mourne many of thẽ that ſinned before, and ‡ haue not done penance for the vncleannes & fornication and incontinencie that they haue committed.

13 For what is it wherein ye were inferiour vnto other Churches, except it be that I was not chargeable vnto you by my idleneſſe? forgiue me this wrong.

14 Behold now the third time I am readie to come vnto you, and yet will I not be chargeable vnto you by my idleneſſe. For I ſeeke not yours, but you. For the children ought not to lay vp for the parents, but the parents for the children, 15 I will very gladly ſpend, and will be ſpent for your ſoules, though the more aboundantly I loue you, the leſſe I be loued againe.

16 But be it, that I was not chargeable vnto you: neuertheleſſe, being craftie, I caught you with guile.

17 Did I pill you by any of them whom I ſent vnto you?

18 I deſired Titus, and with him I ſent a brother: Did Titus defraud you of any thing? Haue we not walked in the ſame ſpirit? not in the ſame ſteps?

19 Againe, thinke you that we excuſe our ſelues vnto you? We ſpeake in Chriſt in the ſight of God: but we doe all things dearely beloued for your edifying.

20 For I feare leaſt when I come, I ſhall not find you ſuch as I would, and that I ſhal be found vnto you, ſuch as ye would not: leaſt there be debates, enuyings, wraths, ſtrifes, backbitings, whiſperings, ſwellings, and ſeditions:

21 And that when I come againe, my God bring me low among you, and I ſhal bewaile many of them which haue ſinned alreadie, & haue not repented of the vncleannes, and fornication, and wantonneſſe which they haue committed.

Fulke. 2. To repent and amend their liues, is the ſame that S. Auguſtine ſpeaketh of. But there be degrees of ſorow in repentance, as there be degrees of offences. S. Auguſtine maketh three, One of them that repent before baptiſme: the ſecond of them that repent for hainous ſinnes that deſerue excommunication, as thoſe named in this text: and the third of repentance for daily tranſgreſſions, all which he termeth by the ſame word Agere pœnitentiam, to repent or to be ſorowful for ſinne. To all which three kinds of repentance, our tranſlation agreeth better then yours. Cauilling.

Rhem. 3. 1 Viſions.) S. Cyprian (ep. 69. nu. 4.) complaineth that the Aduerſaries of Gods Church & Prieſts, giue no credite to viſions, but their incredulitie is much more in our dayes, that condemne all ſuch reuelations, though they be reported & recorded for moſt certaine, of holy S. Gregory, S. Bede, or who els ſo euer. Yea they are ſo wicked in this caſe, that the viſion which the holy author of the booke of Machabees " calleth fide dignum, *worthy of credite, is one cauſe why they deny the whole booke to be Canonicall: and as well might they for this viſion deny al S. Whoſoeuer reporteth any viſion tending to mainteine any falſe doctrine contrary to the ſcriptures, or to teach vs any other Goſpell or doctrine of ſaluation, or any other church then that which is builded vpon the foundation of the prophets and apoſtles: we muſt be bolde to condemne them, and ſay as S. Auguſtine ſaith of the viſions and miracles of the Donatiſts, De vnitate eccl. ſic cap. 16. Let them not ſay it is true, becauſe Donatus or Ponticus, or any other man hath done theſe or theſe miracles, or becauſe men at the memories of our dead, doe pray and are heard, or becauſe theſe or theſe things doe happen there, or becauſe this our brother, or that our ſiſter ſaw ſuch a viſion waking, or dreamed ſuch a viſion ſleeping. Away with theſe fained miracles of lying men, or monſters of deceiuing ſpirits. For either theſe things are not true which are reported, or if heretikes haue any ſuch miracles, we ought the rather to take heed of them. But whether they holde the church or no, let them ſhew none otherwiſe but by the canonicall bookes of the holy ſcriptures. If I my ſelfe (ſaith Paule) or an angell from heauen ſhould preach another goſpell &c. Gal. 1. But if any viſion be reported that tendeth to mainteine the trueth deliuered in the ſcriptures, we doe not condemne the auctor, or the booke for the viſions ſake. And therefore you ſay vntruely that for the viſions ſake reported by the auctor of the ſecond booke of Macchabes, we refuſe the whole booke to be canonicall, we haue other maner of reaſons, which if you could confute, you would not forge this. Rhem. 4. 11. Aboue meaſure Apoſtles.) Though al were in that they were Apoſtles, of one and the ſame order, yet we may ſee that ſome had marueilous great preeminence and priuilege aboue others in the ſame office: ſpecially S. Peter and S. Iohn, whom S. Paul ofte calleth great Apoſtles, aboue meaſure or paſſing Apoſtles, the pillers, &c. 2. Cor. 11, 5. 12, 11. Gal. 2, 9. The Apoſtles ſome greater then other.

Fulke. 4. You can ſee that ſome of the apoſtles are greater then other, yet you can not ſee that S. Paule was equall with them that were greateſt, and therfore Peter was not greateſt of all, but had ſome fellowes euen in that preeminence wherein he excelled other, as in dignitie and authoritie of apoſtleſhip all the reſt were equall with him. Therfore Chryſoſtome ſaith vpon this text. Hom. 23. He doth not now compare himſelfe with them, but euen with Peter and the reſt. Peters preeminence.

Rhem. 5. 12. In ſignes.) Miracles be neceſſarie, and be great ſignes of truth, when it is firſt newly taught. And therfore let al Catholike men hold faſt that faith which was firſt preached and confirmed by miracles, as in England by S. Auguſtine, and in other nations by other holy Apoſtolike men. And let the Heretikes that preach extraordinarily, newly, and otherwiſe then we receiued at our firſt conuerſion, ſhew their calling and doctrine by miracles, or els let them be taken for falſe Apoſtles as they be. We muſt ſtick to the faith firſt planted by miracles.

Fulke. 5. Let all men be aduiſed what doctrine they holde, howſoeuer confirmed by miracles, if it be not confirmed by the word of God. As for the doctrine of Auguſtine we are neither certeine what miracles he did to confirme it, or if he did any, whether it was to confirme any of that corruption which he brought in. Certeine it is, the catholike Britans would not receiue him, with whom Chriſtian religion had continued in ſucceſſion ſince the Apoſtles time. As for the doctrine that we teach, ſeeing it is none other but the doctrine of Chriſt and his Apoſtles (as we proue manifeſtly by the holy ſcriptures) it is not needfull for vs to confirme by miracles, which hath ſo long ſince bene confirmed by all the miracles of Chriſt and his Apoſtles. And yet in the chiefe and moſt eſſentiall points of faith, we teach the ſame that Gregory and Auguſtine his legate taught, as appeareth by many euidences of ſtory and writings of Gregory, Bede, Aelfrike, and others. Miracles.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. XIII.

Rhem. 1. 5. Trie your ſelues.) The Heretikes argue hereupon, that euery man may know himſelf certainely to be in grace: where the Apoſtle ſpeaketh expreſly and onely of faith, the act whereof a man may know and feele to be in him ſelf, becauſe it is an act of vnderſtanding, though he can not be aſſured that he hath his ſinnes remitted, and that he is in al points in ſtate of grace and ſaluation: becauſe euery man that is of the Catholike faith, is not alwaies of good life and agreable thereunto, nor the actes of our will ſo ſubiect to vnderſtanding, that we can know certainely whether we be good or euil. See S. Auguſtine to. 7 de perfect. iuſtitiæ c. 15. Li. de Cor. & grat. c. 13. & S. Thomas 1. 2. q. 112. art. 5.

We may know that we haue faith, but not that we are in grace.

Fulke. 1. Seeing you confeſſe that we may know certeinly that we haue faith, it is eaſie to proue that we may know that we are in grace, and aſſured of ſaluation. For by faith (S. Paule ſaith) we haue acceſſe vnto this grace, in which we ſtand, and glorie in the hope of the glory of the ſonnes of God: which hope ſhall not deceiue vs. Rom. 5. 2. 5. Againe when the apoſtle ſaith, we may know that Chriſt is in vs, how ſhould we not know that we are in the grace and fauor of God? For Chriſt is not in the reprobate that are out of the fauor of God, but in his elect, in whom after they be called, he dwelleth by faith. Eph 3. 17. If Chriſt therfore dwell in our hearts by faith, we are aſſured that our ſinnes are forgiuen vs for Chriſt his ſake, and therefore are aſſuredly in the ſtate of grace and ſaluation. Your reaſon of the contrarie is that euery one that is of the catholike faith, is not alwayes of good life agreeable thereunto. In deed euery one that outwardly profeſſeth the catholike faith, is not of good life agreeably, but he that beleeueth in heart confeſſeth with his mouth, and is of good life agreeably, though not void of all ſinne. For a good life (ſaith S. Auguſtine) is inſeparable from faith, which worketh by loue. Therfore the popiſh catholike faith, is not the apoſtolike catholike faith, which worketh by loue, and is vnſeparable from a good life. Yea is it ſelfe a good life, as S. Auguſtine ſaith, De fide & oper. cap. 23. Your ſecond reaſon is, that the actes of our will are not ſo ſubiect to vnderſtanding, that we can know certainly whether we be good or euill. O miſerable and damnable ſtate of papiſts, which haue no certeintie of ſaluation grounded vpon Gods promiſes apprehended by faith, but depend vpon the acts of their will, and their carnall vnderſtanding. Wherby they ſhew themſelues void of Gods ſpirit, which teſtifieth to our ſpirits that we are the ſonnes of God, if ſonnes then heires, heires in deed of God, and ioynt heires with Chriſt. Rom. 8. S. Auguſtine whom you quote, teacheth no ſuch doctrine. De perfectione iuſtitiæ, he ſaith: It is ſinne when either there is not loue, which ought to be, or it is leſſe then it ought to be, whether this may be auoided by our will, or whether it cannot. For if it may, our preſent will doth it, or if it cannot, our will that is paſt hath done it. And yet it may be auoyded, not when a proud will is praiſed, but when an humble will is helped. In the other place he ſheweth, that the number & ſaluation of the elect is certaine, yet no man in this mortalitie muſt preſume that he is of the number of the predeſtinate, except he abide in Chriſt, and bring forth the fruites of election, by the gift of perſeuerance, which is giuen to euery one of the elect. As for the auctoritie of Thomas Aquinas is not to be regarded, though ſometime he writeth not farre from the truth in this matter. To conclude, our certeintie dependeth not vpon our will or works, but vpon the promiſe of God through faith, that Chriſt is in vs, and we in him, therefore we ſhall not miſſe of the performance of his promiſes.

Certeintie of ſaluation.

THE

THE ARGVMENT OF THE EPISTLE OF S. PAVL TO THE GALATIANS.

THAT this Epiſtle may ſeeme to be the firſt that S. Paul wrote, was declared in the Argument of the Epiſtle to the Romans, notwithſtanding that in the ſecond chapter it is euident to haue bene written 14 yeres at the leaſt after his Converſion, and (as it is ſaid) from Epheſus, belike at that time of his being there, which is mentioned Act. 18.

The occaſion of it were ſuch False apoſtles, as we read of, Act. 15. Et quidam deſcendentes, &c. And certaine comming downe from Iewrie, taught the brethren (that is the Chriſtian Gentiles at Antioche) that vnles you be circumciſed according to the manner of Moyſes, you can not be ſaued. Such commers alſo to the Galatians (whom S. Paul had converted Act. 16, as himſelf mentioneth Gal. 1. & 4.) did ſeduce them, ſaying, that al the other Apoſtles to whom they ſhould rather harken, then to Paul (who came they knew not from whence) did vſe Circumciſion: yea and that Paul himſelf, when he came among them, durſt do none other. And to winne them more eaſily, they did not lay on them the burden of the whole Law, but of Circumciſion only Againſt theſe deceiuers, S. Paul declareth, that he receiued his Apoſtleſhip and learned the Goſpel that he preacheth of Chriſt himſelf after his Reſurrection: and that the other Apoſtles (although he learned nothing of them) receiued him into their ſocietie, and allowed wel of his preaching to the Gentiles, though themſelues being Iewes, and liuing among the Iewes, had not yet left the ceremonies of the Law: howbeit they did not put in them any hope of iuſtification, but in Chriſt alone without them. He declareth moreouer, that the ſaid falſe apoſtles belied him, in ſaying that he alſo preached Circumciſion ſometimes. Againe, that they themſelues in preaching no more but Circumciſion, did againſt the nature of Circumciſion, becauſe it is a profeſſion to obſerue the whole Law: finally, whatſoeuer they pretended, that in deed they did it onely to pleaſe the Iewes, of whom otherwiſe they ſhould be perſecuted.

So that in this Epiſtle he handleth the ſame matter, which in the Epiſtle to the Romans: but here leſſe exactly and more briefly, becauſe the Galatians were very rude, and the Romanes contrariwiſe, repleti omni ſcientia (Rom. 15) repleniſhed with al knowledge.

THE EPISTLE OF PAVL TO THE GALATIANS.

CHAP. I.

After the foundation laide in the ſalutation, 6 he exclaimeth againſt the Galatians, and their falſe apoſtles, 11 conſidering that the Goſpel which he preached to them, he had it immediatly of Chriſt him ſelf. 13 Which to ſhew he beginneth to tel the ſtorie of his converſion and preaching ſince then, that as he learned nothing of the other Apoſtles, ſo yet he had their approbation.

c The Epiſtle vpon the Cõmemoration of S.Paul, Ian. 30.

11 cFor I doe you to vnderſtand, brethren, the Goſpel that was euangelized of me, that it is not according to man.

12 For neither did I receiue it of man, nor learne it: but by the reuelation of IESVS Chriſt.

13 For you haue heard my conuerſation ſometime in Iudaiſme, that aboue meaſure I perſecuted the Church of God, and expugned it,

Act.9,1.

14 And profited in Iudaiſme aboue many of mine equals in my nation, being more aboundantly an emulator of the traditions of my fathers.

15 But when it pleaſed him that ſeparated me from my mothers wombe, and called me by his grace, to reueale his ſonne in me,

16 That I ſhould euangelize him among the Gentils, incontinent I condeſcended not to fleſh and bloud, 17 Neither came I to Hieruſalem to the Apoſtles my anteceſſors: but I went into Arabia, and againe I returned to Damaſcus.

18 Then, after three yeres I came to Hieruſalem ‖ to ſee Peter: and taried with him fiftene daies.

19 But other of the Apoſtle ſaw I none: ſauing Iames ‡ the brother of our Lord.

‡ S. Iames was called our Lordes brother after the hebrew phraſe of the Iewes, by which neere kinſmen are called brethren, for they they were not brethren in deede, but rather ſiſters children.

20 And the things that I write to you: behold before God, that I lie not.

21 After that, I came into the partes of Syria and Cilicia.

22 And I was vnknowen by ſight to the churches of Iewrie, that were in Chriſt:

23 But they had heard only, That he which perſecuted vs ſometime, doth now euangelize the faith which ſometime he expugned:

24 And in me they glorified God.

9 As we ſaid before, ſo ſay I now againe, If any man preach any other Goſpel vnto you, then that ye haue receiued, let him be accurſed.

10 Doe I now perſuade men, or God? Either doe I ſeeke to pleaſe men? For if I yet pleaſed men, I ſtould not be the ſeruant of Chriſt.

*11 I certifie you, brethren, that the Goſpel which was preached of me, is not after man. 1.Cor.15,1.

12 For I neither receiued it of man, neither was I taught it, but by the reuelation of Ieſus Chriſt.

*13 For ye haue heard of my conuerſation in time paſt, * in the Iewes religion,* how that beyond meaſure I perſecuted the Church of God, & ſpoiled it: Act.9,1.

14 And profited in the Iewes religion aboue many of my ‖ companions in mine owne nation, being a very feruent maintainer of the traditions of my fathers. [Or, mine age.

15 But when it pleaſed God, which ſeparated me from my mothers wombe, and called me by his grace,

16 To reueale his ſonne by me, that I ſhould by the Goſpel preach him among the heathen: immediatly I communed not with fleſh and bloud:

17 Neither went I vp to Hieruſalem, to them which were Apoſtles before me: but went my wayes into Arabia, and came againe vnto Damaſcus.

18 Then after three yeers, I went vp to Hieruſalem to ſee Peter, & abode with him fifteene dayes.

19 But other of the Apoſtles ſaw I none, ſaue Iames the Lords brother.

20 The things therefore which I write vnto you, behold, before God I lie not.

21 Afterward I came into the coaſts of Syria and Cilicia, and was vnknowen in face vnto the Churches of Iewrie which were in Chriſt:

22 But they had heard onely, that he which perſecuted vs in times paſt, now preacheth the faith, which before he deſtroyed.

23 And they glorified God in me.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. I.

Rhem. 1. 1. Neither by man.) Though he were not firſt by mans election, nomination, or aſſignement, but by Gods owne ſpeciall appointment, choſen to be an Apoſtle: yet by the like expreſſe ordinance of God he tooke orders or impoſition of hands of men, as u plaine Act. 13. Let vs beware then of ſuch falſe Apoſtles, as now a daies intrude themſelues to the office of Miniſterie and preaching, neither called of God, nor rightly ordered of men. S. Paul ſent to preache by ordinarie impoſitiõ of hands.

Fulke. 1. The text is heere plaine, that S. Paules calling was not by man, therefore that impoſition of hands, Act. 13. was not the giuing of holy orders, but the commending of his labors vnto God. Except you will ſay that he preached euer ſince his conuerſion, vntill he went from Antioch, without holy orders, which is a ſhamefull abſurditie. Yet they that intrude themſelues into the miniſterie without calling of God, and lawfull ordeining of Lawfull calling.

of men, are not excused by his example. Much leſſe, they that ſet vp a new ſacrificing Prieſthood, to deface the glory of the eternall Prieſthood of Chriſt.

Rhem. 2. 8. Or an Angel.) Many worthie obſeruations are made in the fathers writings, of the earneſt admonition of the Apoſtle, and much may we gather of the text it ſelf. firſt, that the credit of any man or Angel for what learning, eloquence, ſhew of grace or vertue ſo euer, though he wrought miracles, ſhould not moue a Chriſtian mã from that truth which he hath once receiued in the Catholike Church: of which point Vincentius Lirinenſis excellently treateth. li. cont. prophan. hæreſ. Nouitates. Whereby we may ſee what it is great pitie and ſhame, that ſo many follow Luther and Caluin and ſuch other leude fellowes, into a new Goſpel, which are ſo farre from Apoſtles and Angels, that they are not any whit comparable with the old Heretikes in giftes of learning or eloquence, much leſſe in good life.

No ſhew of learning or vertue muſt moue vs from the faith.

Fulke 2. Luther and Caluine taught not a new Goſpell, but for the ſubſtance of their doctrine, they taught the ſame which S. Paule taught vnto the Galathians, and which is fully ſet downe in the holy Scriptures. For giftes of learning and eloquence, all the Popiſh Heretikes of Rhemes, are not worthy to beare their bookes after them, and yet they nether deſired nor deſerued credite by learning or eloquence, but only by demonſtration of trueth out of the holy Scriptures. For good life, though Heretiks haue inuented ſuch impudent ſclanders of them, as their forefathers did againſt Chriſt, and his Apoſtles, and the Arrians againſt Athanaſius, yet the teſtimonie of the Churches in which they liued, is ſufficient to teſtifie, that in compariſon of the beſt Popes, that haue bene theſe 500. yeeres, their life was Angel-like, and before men vnreproueable. Yet no more for their life, then for their learning, they were to be accepted, but only for the truth which they taught plainly, out of the holy Scriptures, confirmed both with learning and holines of life.

Slander.

Rhem. 3. Tract. 98. in Ioan. Secondly S. Auguſtine noteth vpon the word, Beſide, that was al other teaching, or more preaching then the firſt, is forbidden, but ſuch as is contrary and diſagreeing to the rule of faith. The Apoſtle did not ſay, ſaith he, If any man euangelize to you more then you haue receiued, but, beſide that you receiued. for if he ſhould ſay that, he ſhould be preiudicial to him ſelf, who coueted to come to the Theſſalonians, that he might ſupply that which was wanting to their faith. Now he that ſupplieth, addeth that which was lacking, taketh not away that which was, &c. By which we ſee how friuolouſly and calumniouſly the Heretikes charge the Church with addition to the Scriptures.

Preaching contrary to the faith receiued is forbidden, not other preaching.

Fulke 3. Firſt, the words are plaine, that not only a contrary Goſpel, but alſo an other Goſpel is condemned, & therefore all addition of Goſpels, to the only true Goſpel, is execrable, both by this text, & by the curſe that God addeth to them, that adde vnto his word. Therfore, he is voyd of common ſenſe, that vnderſtandeth not S. Auguſtine, to ſpeake of them which haue not receiued the Goſpell all at once, whoſe want muſt be ſupplied. But they that once haue receiued the Goſpel fully, as it is taught in the holy Scriptures, muſt receiue no addition, though it be not directly contrary vnto that which they haue receiued. Herevpon Chryſoſtom ſaith: That he might ſhew, that a very ſmal matter added amiſſe, doth corrupt the whole, he ſaith, the Goſpel is ſubuerted. Againe, Let them beare what Paul ſayth, that they had ſubuerted the Goſpel, which brought in but a very litle of new matters. Vincentius Lirinenſis vpon this text, concludeth, in theſe words: Admunciare, &c. To declare or preach vnto Catholike Chriſtians, any thing beſide that which they haue receiued, it was neuer lawful, it was no where lawful, it ſhal neuer be lawful. And to accuſe them which teach any thing beſide that which hath once bene receiued, it was alwaies neceſſary, it is euery where neceſſary, it ſhal be alway neceſſary. To the Goſpel therefore, fully receiued from the Apoſtles, according to the holy Scriptures, nothing may be added afterward. S. Cyprian alſo vſeth this text, to the ſame ende, ſaying: Seeing therfore, neither an Apoſtle, nor any Angel from heauen, can preach or teach otherwiſe, beſide that which Chriſt once taught, and his Apoſtles preached, I maruaile how this hath bene vſed, that contrary to the rule of the Goſpell, and the Apoſtle, in ſome places, water is offred in the Lords cuppe, which being alone, can not expreſſe the bloud of Chriſt. Ep. 63. Theodoret vpon this text, ſayth: Being incenſed by remembrance of contraries, and moued with iuſt indignation, he calleth euen him an enemy to platy, which goeth about to preach other things, and crieth out. But if we, &c. and in the ende concludeth the Apoſtles purpoſe to be: That he might driue away all nouelties of men. Oecumenius vpon this text, ſayth: Beſide that, ſignifieth, although it be neuer ſo litle differing from that which he had preached. Finally, Chryſoſtom vpon this text, in Gal. Hom. 1. hath theſe wordes: He ſaid not, if they preach contrary things, or if they ouerthrow the whole Goſpel, but if they euangelize or preach, but a litle beſide the Goſpel, which you haue receiued, if they weaken it in any point, let them be accurſed. And that he meaneth of the ſecond Scriptures, his words declare vpon the ſame ſentence repeated. Chriſt him ſelfe bringeth in Abraham, ſpeaking in the parable, declaring that he will haue more credite to be giuen to the Scriptures, then if the dead ſhould reuiue againe. But Paule, (when I ſay Paule, I ſay Chriſt him ſelfe, for it was he which moued his minde,) preferreth the Scriptures before Angels, deſcending from heauen, and very rightly. For the Angels, be they neuer ſo great, are ſeruants and miniſters. But all the Scriptures came vnto vs, not from ſeruants, but from the Lord of all. For this cauſe he ſaith, if any ſhall preach vnto you, beſide that which we preach vnto you, &c. By this you may ſee how iuſtly, and agreeably to the ancient Fathers iudgement, we charge the Popiſh Church, with addition to the Scriptures.

Addition to the Goſpell or Scriptures. The ſufficiencie of the ſcriptures.

Rhem. 4. Thirdly, as wel by the word euangelizamus (we euangelize) as the word accepiſtis (you haue receiued) we may note that the firſt truth, againſt which no ſecond Goſpelling or doctrine may be admitted, is not that onely which he wrote to the Galatians, or which is conteined either in his or any other of the Apoſtles or Euangeliſtes writings, but that which was by worde of mouth alſo preached, taught, or deliuered them firſt, before he wrote to them. Therefore the Aduerſaries of the Church that meaſure the word of God or Goſpel by the Scriptures onely, thinking them ſelues not to incurre S. Paules curſe, except they teach directly againſt the written word, are foully beguiled. As therein alſo they ſhamefully erre, when they charge the Catholikes with adding to the Goſpel, when they teach any thing that is not in expreſſe wordes written by the Apoſtles or Euangeliſtes, not marking that the Apoſtle in this Chapter, and els where, commonly calleth his and his fellowes whole preaching, the Goſpel, be it written or vnwritten.

The Goſpel is not onely in the written word of Scripture, but in vnwritten tradition alſo.

Fourthly by the ſame wordes we ſee condemned al after preachings, later doctrines, new ſectes and authors of the ſame: that only be not true, which was firſt by the Apoſtles and Apoſtolike men as the lawful husbandmen of Chriſtes field, ſowed and planted in the Church: and that falſe, which was later and as it were ouerſowen by the enemy. By which rule not onely Tertullian (de præſcript. cap. 6. & 9.) but al other ancient Doctors, and ſpecially S. Irenæus (li. 3. c. 2. 3. 4.) tried truth from falſhod, and condemned old Heretikes, preuing Marcion, Valentine, Cerdon, Menander, and ſuch like, falſe Apoſtles, becauſe they came in with their nouelties long after the Church was ſetled in former truth.

After preaching and ouerflowing of nouelties, ariſeth falſe doctrine.

Fifthly, This curſe or execration pronounced by the Apoſtle, toucheth not onely the Galatians, or thoſe of the Apoſtles time, that preached otherwiſe then they did, but it pertaineth to al times, preachers, and teachers, vnto the worldes end, and it concerneth them (as Vincentius Lirinenſis ſayth) that preach a new faith, or change that old faith which they receiued in the vaine of the Catholike Church.

Lirinen. proph. hær. nouis. To preach any thing to Chriſtian Catholike men (ſaith he) beſides that which they haue receiued, neuer was it lawful, neuer is it, nor neuer ſhal it be lawful, to ſay anathema to ſuch, it hath been, and is, and ſhal be alwaies behoouful. So S. Auguſtine by this place holdeth al accurſed, that draw a Chriſtian man from the ſocietie of the whole Church, to make the ſeueral part of any one ſect: that call to the hidden counticles of Heretikes, from the open and knowen Church of Chriſt: that allure to the priuate, from the common: finally al that draw with chaſting curioſitie the children of the Catholike Church, by teaching any thing beſides that they found in the Church. ep. 48. Pſal. 103. Con. 2. * mentioning alſo that a Donatiſt feined an Angel to haue admoniſhed him to cal his ſtrende out of the Communion of the Catholike Church into his ſect. and he ſaith, that if it had been an Angel in deede, yet ſhould he not haue heard him. Laſtly S. Hierom vſeth this place, wherein the Apoſtle giueth the curſe or anathema to al falſe teachers not once but twiſe, to proue that the zeale of Catholike men ought to be ſo great toward al Heretikes and their doctrines, that they ſhould giue them the anathema, though they were neuer ſo deere vnto them. In which caſe, ſaith this holy Doctor, I would not ſpare mine owne parents. Ad Pammach. c. 3. cont. Io. Hieroſ.

Fulke 4. Wee acknowledge, that as well that which the Apoſtles preached, as that which they did write, is the Goſpell. But we affirme, that they preached nothing for the Goſpell, but that which was written in the Scriptures, of the olde Teſtament, Rom. 1. 2. Act. 26. 22. And afterward, was alſo written in the Scriptures of the new Teſtament. Therefore when wee teach neither one nor other, beſide the word written, we are ſure to auoid the Apoſtles curſe whereinto all Papiſtes incurre, teaching both contrary, and beſide the Scriptures, vnder colour of vnwritten traditions. But we know what ſoeuer the Apoſtles taught, is conteined in the Scriptures. For the Gſpel which they preached (ſayth Irenæus) afterward by the will of God, they deliuered in writing, to be the foundation and pillar of our faith. Lib. 3. Cap. 1. Tertullian againſt Hermogenes the Heretike, ſayth: Let him ſhew that the opinion is written, if it be not written, let him be afraid of that woe, which is appointed for them that adde or take away. Athanaſius in the beginning of his booke againſt Idols, ſayth: The holy Scriptures inſpired of God, are by them ſelues ſufficient to teach the truth. Cyrillus In Ioan. lib. 12 cap. vltimo, hath theſe wordes: All things which our Lord did, are not written, but ſuch things as they which did write, thought to be ſufficient, as well for maners, as for doctrine, that gliſtering in right faith, and workes, and vertue, we might come to the kingdome of heauen, by our Lord Ieſus Chriſt. Hierom in Aggæ. cap. 1. ſayth: Other things, which without the auctoritie and teſtimonie of the Scriptures, they inuent and faine of their owne accord, the ſword of Gods word doth ſtrike. Therefore, all after preaching, and ſowing of nouelties, beſide the holy Scriptures, is that which Tertullian, Irenæus, Vincentius, Auguſtine, and Hierom condemne, which ought to be accurſed of all Chriſtian Catholikes.

Rhem. 5. 18. To ſee Peter.) In what eſtimation S. Peter was with this Apoſtle, it appeareth: ſeing for reſpect and honour of his perſon, and of duety as Tertullian de præſcript. ſaith (notwithſtanding his great affaires Eccleſiaſtical) he went ſo farre to ſee him, not in vulgar maner, but (as S. Chryſoſtom noteth the Greeke word to import) to behold him as men behold a thing or perſon of name, excellencie, and maieſtie, for which cauſe, and to fil him ſelf with the perfect view of his behauiour, he abode with him fiftene daies. See S. Hierom ep. 103. ad Paulinum. no. 3. who maketh alſo a myſterie of the number of daies that he taried with S. Peter. See S. Ambroſe in Comment. huius loci, *and S. B. Paul doth viſite S. Peter of honour and reuerence toward him.

Fulke 5. That S. Paule doeth viſite Peter, of honour and reuerence to him, it ſhall eaſily be graunted, but that he ought any duety to him as Pope, and his great ſuperiour in auctoritie, you are neuer able to proue. That he came ſo farre of ductie, you alledge Tertullian de præſcr. pt. who ſayth: He came vp to Hieruſalem to know Peter, of office and ductie and right veritie of the ſame faith and preaching. For both they would not haue marueiled, that of a perſecuter, he was made a Preacher, if he had preached any thing contrary, neither would they haue magnified the Lord, becauſe Paule his aduerſarie was come to them. Therefore they gaue him the right hand, in ſigne of concord and agreement, and ordeined betweene them, the diſtribution of the office or ductie, not ſeparation of the Goſpell. Therefore his comming was about his office and auctoritie of preaching, not of ductie vnto Peter as his ſuperiour in auctoritie, who willingly yelded vnto him, the greateſt and largeſt charge of preaching among the Gentiles. But he came to ſee Peter, as Chryſoſtome ſayth: to behold him as men behold a thing, or perſon of name, excellencie, or maieſtie. It is well he came not to kiſſe his foote, as Emperours doe to the Pope. But Chryſoſtoms words are theſe: He came to ſee him, as they are wont to ſpeake, which goe to ſee great and noble cities, to know them. Where is the perſon of excellencie and maieſtie? But what writeth Chryſoſtome immediatly before, vpon this text? What can be more modeſt then this mind? After ſo great and ſo many good actes, when he had no neede at all of Peter, neither wanted his voice, but was equall in honour vnto him (for I will here ſay no more) yet he went vp vnto him, as to his greater and elder. Againe, that bleſſed man went not to learne any thing of him, nor to receiue any correction, but onely to ſee him, and honour him with his preſence. Hierom making a myſterie of the number of the daies, maketh not Peter Pope: and ſayth in his Commentaries, that he went not to learne of him, but to giue honour to him, which was an Apoſtle before him, for he had no neede of great inſtruction, and therefore taried but a ſhort time with him. S. Ambroſe ſayth: It was meete that he ſhould deſire to ſee Peter, becauſe he was firſt among the Apoſtles, to whom our Sauiour committed the charge of the Churches, not to learne any thing of him, who had already learned of that auctor, by whom Peter him ſelfe was inſtructed, but for affection of Apoſtleſhip, that Peter might know that the ſame licence was giuen to him, that he him ſelfe had receiued. Therefore when he came to him, he was lodged and abode with him 15 daies, as a fellow Apoſtle of the ſame mind and agreement. Chryſoſtom in Ioan. Hom. 87. ſayth, that Paule went to ſee him, becauſe he was the mouth and chiefe of the Apoſtles. And yet as he ſayth vpon this text, he was equall in honour with Peter, And vpon the next Chapter, he ſayth: Paule was equal in dignitie with Peter the higheſt.

CHAP. II.

He telleth forth the ſtorie begonne in the laſt chapter, and how he reprehended Peter. 15 and then ſpecially vrgeth the example of the Chriſtian Iewes, who ſought vnto Chriſt for iuſtification, and that by warrant alſo of their Law it ſelf, as alſo becauſe otherwiſe Chriſts death had been needles.

THen after fourtene yeres I went vp againe to Hieruſalem with Barnabas, taking Titus alſo with me.

2 And I went vp according to reuelation: and ‖ conferred with them the Goſpel which I preach among the Gentiles, but apart with them that ſeemed to be ſomething, leſt perhaps ‖ in vaine I ſhould runne or had runne.

THen fourteene yeeres after, I went vp againe to Hieruſalem with Barnabas, and tooke Titus with me.

8 2 I went vp by reuelation, and I declared vnto them the Goſpell which I preach among the Gentiles: but priuately with them which were eſteemed the chiefe, leaſt by any meanes I ſhould runne, or had runne in vaine.

3 But neither Titus which was with mee, being a Greeke, was compelled to be circumciſed:

4 And that becauſe of incommers, being falſe bretheren, tely brought in, which craftely came in to eſpie our libertie that we haue in Chriſt IESVS, that they might bring vs into ſeruitude.

5 To whom we yelded not ſubiection no not for an houre, that the truth of the Goſpel may remaine with you.

6 But of them that ſeemed to be ſomething, (what they were ſometime, it is nothing to me. *God accepteth not the perſon of man) for to me, they that ſeemed to be ſomething, ‖ added nothing.

Deu.10,17.

7 But contrariwiſe when they had ſeen, that to me was committed the Goſpel of the [c] prepuce, as ‖ to Peter of the circumciſion.

c See the marginal Annotation Rom.3.v. 25.

8 (For he that wrought in Peter to the Apoſtleſhip of the circumciſion, wrought in me alſo among the Gentils)

9 And when they had knowen the grace that was giuen me, Iames and Cephas and Iohn, which ſeemed to be pillers, ‖ gaue to me and Barnabas the right handes of ſocietie: that we vnto the Gentiles, and they vnto the circumciſion:

10 Only that we ſhould be mindeful of the poore: the which ſame thing alſo I was careful to doe.

11 And when Cephas was come to Antioche, ‖ I reſiſted him [c] in face, becauſe he was ‖ reprehenſible.

c openly

12 For before that certaine came from Iames, he did eate with the Gentiles: but when they were come, he withdrew and ſeparated him ſelf, fearing them that were of the circumciſion.

13 And to his ſimulation conſented the reſt of the Iewes, ſo that Barnabas alſo was ledde of them into that ſimulation.

14 But when I ſaw that they walked not rightly to the veritie of the Goſpel, I ſaid to Cephas before them al: If thou being a Iewe, liueſt Gentile-like and not Iudaically: how doeſt thou compel the Gentils to Iudaize.

15 We are by nature Iewes, and not of the Gentils, ſinners.

16 But knowing that *man is not iuſtified by the workes ‡ of the Law, but by the faith of IESVS Chriſt: we alſo beleeue in Chriſt IESVS, that we may be iuſtified by the faith of Chriſt, and not by the workes of the Law: for the which cauſe, by the workes of the Law no fleſh ſhal be iuſtified.

Ro.3,19.20.

17 But if ſeeking to be iuſtified in Chriſt, our ſelues alſo be found ſinners: is Chriſt then a miniſter of ſinne? God forbid.

18 For brethren, which came in priuily to ſpie out our libertie which we haue in Chriſt Ieſu, that they might bring vs into bondage.

5 To whome, no not for an † houre, we gaue place by ſubiection, that the trueth of the Goſpell might continue with you. † Or, moment.

*6 Of them which ſeemed to be ſomewhat (what they were in times paſſed it maketh no matter to me, * God accepteth no mans perſon:) for they which ſeemed chiefe, added nothing* to me. Deut.10.17. Iob.34.19.

7 But contrariwiſe, when they ſawe that the Goſpell of the vncircumciſion was committed vnto me, as the Goſpell of the circumciſion was committed vnto Peter:

8 (For he that was mightie in Peter to the Apoſtleſhip of the circumciſion, the ſame was mightie in me toward the Gentiles:)

9 When they perceiued the grace that was giuen vnto me, then Iames, Cephas, and Iohn, which ſeemed to be pillers, gaue to me and Barnabas the right handes of fellowſhip: that we ſhould be Apoſtles vnto the Heathen, and they vnto the circumciſion.

10 Onely † that we ſhoulde remember the poore: wherein alſo I was diligent to doe the ſame. † They admoniſhed.

11 But when Peter was come to Antioch, I withſtoode him to the face, becauſe he was to be blamed.

12 For before that certaine came from Iames, he did eate with the Gentiles: but when they were come, he withdrew, and ſeparated him ſelfe, fearing them which were of the circumciſion.

13 And the other Iewes diſſembled likewiſe with him: inſomuch that Barnabas alſo was brought into their ſimulation.

14 But when I ſawe that they went not the right way to the trueth of the Goſpel, I ſaid vnto Peter before them all, If thou being a Iewe, liueſt after the maner of the Gentiles, and not as doe the Iewes: Why compelleſt thou the Gentiles to liue as doe the Iewes?

15 We which are Iewes by nature, and not ſinners of the Gentiles,

16 Know that a man is not iuſtified by the deedes of the law, but by the faith of Ieſus Chriſt: and we haue beleeued in Ieſus Chriſt, that we might be iuſtified by the faith of Chriſt, and not by the deedes of the law, becauſe by the deedes of the Lawe no fleſh ſhall be iuſtified.

*17 * If then while we ſeeke to be made righteous by Chriſt, we our ſelues alſo are found ſinners: is therfore Chriſt the miniſter of ſinne? God forbid.* Rom.3.19.

18 For if I build the ſame things againe which I haue deſtroied, I make my ſelf a preuaricatour.

19 For I by the Law, am dead to the Law, that I may liue to God: with Chriſt I am nailed to the croſſe.

20 And I liue, now not I: but Chriſt liueth in me. And that that I liue now in the fleſh, I liue in the faith of the ſonne of God, who loued me, and deliuered him ſelf for me.

21 I caſt not away the grace of God. For if iuſtice be by the Law, then Chriſt died in vaine.

18 For if I builde agayne the thinges which I deſtroied, then make I my ſelfe a treſpaſſer.

19 For I, through the Lawe, am dead to the Lawe, that I might liue vnto God: I am crucified with Chriſt.

20 Neuertheleſſe, I liue: yet now not I, but Chriſt liueth in me: and the life which I nowe liue in the fleſh, I liue by the faith of the Sonne of God, which loued me, and gaue him ſelfe for me.

21 I reiect not the grace of God: For if righteouſneſſe come of the Law, then Chriſt is dead in vaine.

Rhem. 2. 16. Of the Law.) By this and by the diſcourſe of this whole epiſtle, you may perceiue, that when iuſtification is attributed to faith, the workes of Charitie be not excluded, but the workes of Moyſes law: that is, the ceremonies, ſacrifices and ſacraments thereof principally, and conſequently al workes done merely by nature and free will, without the faith, grace, ſpirit, and aide of Chriſt.

Fulke 2. It is manifeſt, that iuſtification by faith without the workes of the Lawe, excludeth not onely ceremoniall workes, but all morall workes, from being cauſe of iuſtification, but not the worke of charitie, from being the effects of iuſtification, and of a iuſtified man. Iuſtification by faith.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. II.

Rhem. 3. 2. Conferred with them.) Though S. Paul were taught his Goſpel of God and not of man, and had an extraordinarie calling by Chriſt him ſelf, yet by reuelation he was ſent to Hieruſalem to conferre the ſaid Goſpel which he preached, with his elders the ordinarie Apoſtles and Rulers of the Church, to put both his vocation and doctrine to their trial and approbation, and to ioyne in office, teaching, and ſocietie or communion with them. For there is no extraordinarie or miraculous vocation, that can ſeuer or ſeparate the perſon ſo called, in doctrine or fellowſhip of Chriſtian life and religion, from the ordinarie knowen ſocietie of Gods people and Prieſtes. Therfore whoſoeuer he be (vpon what preſence ſo euer) that will not haue his calling and doctrine tried by the ordinarie Gouerners of Gods Church, or diſdaineth to go vp to the principal place of our religion, to conferre with Peter and other pilles of the Church, it is euident that he is a falſe teacher, a Schiſmatike, and an Heretike. By which rule you may trie al your new teachers of Luthers or Caluins ſchoole: who neuer did nor euer durſt put their preaching to ſuch conference or triall of holy Councel or Biſhops, as they ought to do, and would do, if it were of God, as S. Paules was. S. Paul conferreth with S. Peter and the reſt, for trial of his doctrine. The heretikes ſubmit their doctrine to no trial of Biſhops or Councels, Fulke 3. S. Paule went not to put his doctrine and calling vnto the triall of others, for then he ſhould haue done ſo at the firſt, for his doctrine and calling was of as high auctoritie as theirs, but he went to declare vnto other, vpon occaſion of ſclanders, his conſent and agreement with the reſt of the Apoſtles. It is one thing to conferre (ſayth S. Hierom,) an other thing to learne. Among them that conferre, there is an equalitie, but of him that teacheth, and him that learneth, he is leſſe that learneth. Therefore Paule went to conferre, as with his equals, not that any triall or approbation of his calling or doctrine were neceſſarie, as if he had bene their inferiour. But for them which haue not the like extraordinarie calling, and auctoriſing, as Paule had, it is neceſſary for them, to ſubmit their calling and doctrine, to the ordinarie gouerners of Gods Church. I ſay to the lawfull gouernors of Gods Church, not to Antichriſt and the enemies of Gods Church, what place ſo euer they vſurpe. As for going vp, to any principall place of our religion, we know none, but when a generall Councell is kept, neither is there any meanes to conferre with Peter and the Apoſtles, but by ſubmitting our ſelues to their holy writings. As for Luther and Caluine, or they that ioine in doctrine with them, neuer refuſed to put their doctrine to ſuch conference of lawful Councell or holy Biſhops as they ought to doe: but haue often deſired that ſuch a generall Councell, by conſent of Chriſtian Princes, might be gathered. But your quarrell againſt them, is becauſe they will not, put their preaching in iudgement of your vnlawfull Chapter of Trent, where the Pope which is accuſed of hereſie, ſhould be the only Iudge, which particular aſſembly, for many other preiudices, the Popiſh Church of Fraunce alſo hath refuſed to acknowledge for a lawfull Councell. Peters primacy. Lawful calling. Conference with Peter. Slander.

Rhem. 4. 2. In vaine.) Though S. Paul doubted not of the truth of the Goſpel which he preached, knowing it to be of the holy Ghoſt: yet becauſe other men could not, nor would not acknowledge ſo much, til it were allowed by ſuch as were without al exception knowen to be Apoſtles and to haue the ſpirit of truth, to diſcerne whether the vocation, ſpirit, and Goſpel of Paul were of God, he knew he ſhould otherwiſe without conference with them, haue loſt his labour, both for the time paſt and to come. He had not had (ſaith S. Hierom) ſecuritie of preaching the Goſpel, if it had not been approued by Peters ſentence and the reſt that were with him. Hiero. ep. 89. c. 2. See Tertul. li. 4. Cont. Marc. nu 8. Therfore by reuelation he went to conferre with the Apoſtles at Hieruſalem, that by them hauing his Apoſtleſhip and Goſpel liked and approued, The approbation of S. Paules doctrine by Peter and the reſt was very requiſite.

proued, he might preach with more fruite. Wherein we ſee, this holy Apoſtle did not as the ſeditious proud Heretikes doe now a dayes, which refuſing all mans atteſtation or approbation, will be tryed by Scriptures onely. As alſo we may learne that it is no ſuch abſurditie as the Aduerſaries would make it, to haue the Scriptures approued by the Churches teſtimonie. Seeing the Goſpel which S. Paul preached (being of as much certaintie and of the ſame Holy Ghoſt that the Scriptures be) was to be put in conference and examination of the Apoſtles, without all derogation to the trueth, dignitie, or certaintie of the ſame. And the cauilling of Heretikes, that we make ſubiect Gods Oracles to mans cenſure, and the Scriptures to haue no more force then the Church is content to graunt vnto them, is vaine and falſe For, to beare witneſſe or to giue euidence or atteſtation that the preaching or writing of ſuch, is true and of the Holy Ghoſt, is not to make it true: no more then the Goldſmith or touch-ſtone that trie and diſcerne which is true gold, make it good gold, but they giue euidence to man that ſo it is. And therefore that diſputation alſo, whether the Scripture or the Church be of greater auctoritie, is ſuperfluous: either giuing teſtimonie to the other, and both aſſured by the Holy Ghoſt from all error: the Church yet being before the Scriptures, the ſpouſe of Chriſt, and proper dwelling, temple, or ſubiect of God and his graces: for the which Church the Scriptures were, and not the Church for the Scriptures. In which Church there is iudiciall auctoritie by office and iuriſdiction to determine of doubtfull queſtions touching the ſenſe of the Scriptures and other controuerſies in religion, and to puniſh diſobedient perſons. Of which iudiciall power the Scriptures be not capable, as neither the trueths and determinations of the ſame can be ſo euident to men, nor ſo agreeable and fit for euery particular reſolution, as diuerſitie of times and perſons requireth. Certaine is the trueth, and great is the auctoritie of both: but in ſuch diuers kindes, as they can not be well compared together. The controuerſie is much like as if a man touching the ruling a caſe in Lawe or giuing ſentence in a matter of queſtion, ſhould aske, whether the iudge, or the euidence of the parties, be of more auctoritie or credit, which were as friuolous a diſpute, as it were a diſordered part for any man to ſay, he would be tryed by no other iudge but by his owne writings or euidences. With ſuch triflers and ſeditious perſons haue we to doe now a dayes in diuinitie, as were intollerable in any prophane ſcience or faculty in the world.

No abſurditie that the ſcriptures be approued by the Churches teſtimonie.

The Church maketh not Canonicall Scripture, but declareth that it is ſo.

The Scripture and Church compared together for antiquitie, auctoritie, &c.

Fulke. 4. The approbation of S. Pauls doctrine by the reſt of the Apoſtles, was requiſite to confute the ſlander of the falſe Apoſtles, which reported that he agreed not in doctrine with the other Apoſtles: not that all other men could not, or would not acknowledge that his doctrine was of the holy Ghoſt, till it were allowed by ſuch as were without all exception knowen to be Apoſtles, or that without conference he knewe, he ſhould haue loſt his Labor, both for the time paſt and to come: for then he ſhould, and would haue ſought approbation at the firſt, not haue preached ſo many yeeres without conference: not that Paul feared (ſayth Hierome vpon this text) leſt by the ſpace of 17. yeeres, he had preached a falſe Goſpel among the Gentiles, but that he might declare to them that were Apoſtles before him, that he neyther did nor had runne in vaine, as Ignorant men thought. If he feared not &c. he had ſecuritie of preaching the Goſpel, before it was confirmed by the ſentence of Peter, and the reſt of the Apoſtles that were with him. You ſee therefore, that Hierome vpon deliberation in his Commentarie, writeth contrary to that he did write in heate of contention, againſt S. Auguſtine. That he went vp by reuelation it proueth not, that hauing his Apoſtleſhip & Goſpel liked and approued by them, he might preach with more fruite: for he preached before with as great fruite, to the conuerſion of many nations, but that to ſtop the mouths of the ſclanderers, and to confirme the weake, it was expedient, that he ſhould haue the approbation of the reſt of the Apoſtles, and their acknowledging of the Apoſtleſhip of the Gentiles, to be chiefly committed to him. Tertullian writeth againſt Marcion, which receiued but one Goſpel of S. Luke, ſhewing that Paul (of whom S. Luke learned his Goſpel) refuſed not to haue it confirmed by the teſtimonie and auctoritie of the auncient Apoſtles, and ſo ſhould Marcion receiue the Goſpel of Matthewe and Iohn, as well as of Luke. What Heretikes thoſe be that will be tryed onely by the Scriptures, and not by men iudging according to the Scriptures, I know not: but ſure I am, thoſe men whom you ſpecially maligne, are none ſuch. An other matter you gather out of this place, that it is no abſurditie, to haue the Scriptures approued by the Churches teſtimonie, as the Aduerſaries make it. But we make no ſuch abſurditie, but that you ſhould holde, that the auctoritie of the ſcriptures doth depend vpon the Churches approbation. For to giue teſtimonie vnto the trueth, and to diſcerne trueth from falſehood, is no derogation to the dignitie or certeyntie of trueth. But when yon affirme, that the Church might haue refuſed the Goſpel of Matthew or Iohn, and taken the Goſpel of Bartholmew or Nicodemus, this we affirme to be a foule abſurditie. And when you ſay, that diſputation whether the Scripture or the Church, be of greater auctoritie is ſuperfluous: you ſeeme to graunt equall auctoritie to the Church with the ſcripture, which is to match the auctoritie of men, with the auctoritie of God. Therefore let vs conſider your reaſons. Firſt you ſay, either giueth teſtimonie to other. This is a fond reaſon: for the lawyer may giue teſtimonie to the written lawe, and the written lawe giueth teſtimonie to him if he ſay true, but yet is of greater auctoritie then the lawyer: for the lawier muſt obey the lawe, and the law written, will conuince the lawyer of error, if he giue a wrong teſtimonie. So the Church muſt obey the ſcripture, which is able to conuince her of error (if ſhe goe aſtray) the ſcripture is not ſubiect to the Church, therefore of greater auctoritie. Further you ſay, they be both aſſured by the holy Ghoſt from all error. Of the ſcripture it is certeine: but that the Church is aſſured from error, it cannot be proued. For the ſcriptures were needeles, if the Church without them be aſſured from error. But the Church is no longer aſſured from error, then ſhe followeth the word of God deliuered in the ſcriptures, which is the rule of trueth. But by your correction that followeth: The Church yet being before the Scriptures, the ſpouſe of Chriſt, and proper dwelling temple, or ſubiect of God and his graces, it ſeemeth you meane, that the Church in this reſpect, ſhould be of greater auctoritie then the ſcripture: wherein you commit a foule paralogiſme or ſophiſtication, by the ſcriptures, meaning ỹ writing of them, and not the matter that is written, which is the word of God. For ỹ word of God which is written in the ſcriptures, was doubtles before the Church was the ſpouſe of Chriſt. For by the word of God, the Church was firſt gathered, to haue any being or excellẽcie that it hath. Your other argument is as abſurd as this. The ſcriptures were for the Church, and not the Church for the Scriptures. Which is as good, as if a man would ſay, the Prince is for the people, and not the people for the Prince: therefore the people is of greater auctoritie then the Prince. Or thus, the lawe is made for people, and not people for the lawe, therefore the lawe is not aboue the people, neither are they ſubiect to it. Moreouer you ſay, in the Church there is iudiciall auctoritie by office and iuriſdiction to determine of doubtfull queſtions, touching the ſenſe of the ſcriptures, and other controuerſies of religion, of which iudiciall power the ſcriptures be not capable. I anſwere, there is no other iudiciall auctoritie in the Church, then in the com-
